2. Their Objection againſt this Journey, v. 18. Maſter, the Jews of late ſought to ſtone thee, and goeſt thou thither again? Here, 1. They mind him of the Danger he had been in there not long ſince. Chriſt's Diſciples are apt to make a greater Matter of Sufferings than their Maſter doth, and to remember Injuries longer. He had put up the Affront, 'twas over and gone, and forgotten, but his Diſciples could not forget it, of late, νῦν, Now, as if it were this very Day, they ſought to ſtone thee. Tho' it was at leaſt two Months ago, the Remembrance of the Fright was freſh in their Minds. 2. They marvel he will go thither again. Wilt thou favour thoſe with thy Preſence, that have expell'd thee out of their Coaſts? Chriſt's Ways in paſſing by Offences are above our Ways. Wilt thou expoſe thy ſelf among a People that are ſo deſperately enraged againſt thee? Goeſt thou thither again, where thou haſt been ſo ill us'd? Here they ſhew'd great Care for their Maſter's Safety, as Peter did, when he ſaid, Maſter, ſpare thy ſelf; had Chriſt been minded to ſhift off ſuffering, he did not want Friends to perſwade him to it; but he had opened his Mouth to the Lord, and he would not, he could not go back. Yet while the Diſciples ſhew a Concern for his Safety, they diſcover at the ſame time, (1.) A Diſtruſt of his Power; as if he could not ſecure both himſelf and them now in Judea, as well as he had done formerly. Is his Arm waxen ſhort? When we are ſollicitous for the Intereſts of Chriſt's Church and Kingdom in the World, yet we muſt reſt ſatisfied in the Wiſdom and Power of the Lord Jeſus, who knows how to ſecure a Flock of Sheep in the midſt of a Herd of Wolves. (2.) A ſecret Fear of ſuffering themſelves, for they count upon that if he ſuffer. When our own private Intereſts happen to run in the ſame Channel with the Publick, we are apt to think our ſelves zealous for the Lord of Hoſts, when really we are only jealous for our own Wealth, Credit, Eaſe and Safety, and ſeek our own Things, under Colour and Umbrage of ſeeking the Things of Chriſt, we have therefore need nicely to diſtinguiſh upon our Principles.

3. Chriſt's Anſwer to this Objection, v. 9, 10. Are there not twelve Hours in the Day? The Jews divided every Day into twelve Hours, and made their Hours longer or ſhorter, according as the Days were, ſo that an Hour with them was a twelfth Part of the Time between Sun and Sun; ſo ſome. Or, they lying much more South than we, their Days were nearer twelve Hours long than ours. The Divine Providence has given us Day-light to work by, and lengthens it out to a competent Time; and reckoning the Year round, every Country has juſt as much Day-light as Night, and ſo much more as the Twilights amount to. Man's Life is a Day, this Day is divided into divers Ages, States, and Opportunities, as into Hours, ſhorter or longer, as God has appointed; the Conſideration of this ſhould make us not only very buſy, as to the Work of Life; if there were twelve Hours in the Day, each of them ought to be fill'd up with Duty, and none of them trifled away; but alſo very eaſy as to the Perils of Life; our Day ſhall be lengthen'd out till our Work be done, and our Teſtimony finiſh'd. This Chriſt applies to his Caſe, and ſhews why he muſt go to Judea, becauſe he had a clear Call to go. For the opening of this,

1. He ſhews the Comfort and Satisfaction which a Man has in his own Mind, while he keeps in the Way of his Duty, as it is in general preſcrib'd by the Word of God, and particularly determin'd by the Providence of God: If any Man walk in the Day, he ſtumbles not; that is, if a Man keep cloſe to his Duty, and mind that, and ſet the Will of God before him as his Rule, with an impartial Reſpect to all God's Commandments, he doth not heſitate in his own Mind, but walking uprightly, walks ſurely, and with a holy Confidence. As he that walks in the Day ſtumbles not, but goes on ſteddily and chearfully in his Way, becauſe he ſees the Light of this World, and by it ſees his Way before him; ſo a good Man, without any collateral Security, or ſiniſter Aims, relies upon the Word of God as his Rule, and regards the Glory of God as his End, becauſe he ſees thoſe two great Lights, and keeps his Eye upon them, he is furniſhed with a faithful Guide in all his Doubts, and a powerful Guard in all his Dangers, Gal. 6. 4. Pſal. 119. 6. Chriſt, where-ever he went, walk'd in the Day, and ſo ſhall we if we follow his Steps.

2. He ſhews the Pain and Peril a Man is in, who walks not according to this Rule, v. 10. If a Man walk in the Night he ſtumbles. If a Man walk in the Way of his Heart, and the Sight of his Eyes, and according to the Courſe of this World, if he conſult his own carnal Reaſonings more than the Will and Glory of God, he falls into Temptations and Snares, is liable to great Uneaſineſſes, and frightful Apprehenſions; trembles at the ſhaking of a Leaf, and flees when none purſues; while an upright Man laughs at the ſhaking of a Spear, and ſtands undaunted when ten thouſand invade. See Pſal. 33. 14, 15, 16. He ſtumbles, becauſe there is no Light in him; for Light in us is that to our Moral Actions, which light about us is to our natural Actions. He has not a good Principle within; he is not ſincere; his Eye is evil. Thus Chriſt not only juſtifies his Purpoſe of going into Judea, but encourageth his Diſciples to go along with him, and fear no Evil.

Secondly, The Death of Lazarus is here diſcourſed of between Chriſt and his Diſciples, v. 11, 16. Where we have,

1. The Notice Chriſt gave his Diſciples of the Death of Lazarus, and an Intimation that his Buſineſs into Judea was to look after him, v. 11. After he had prepared his Diſciples for this dangerous March into an Enemies Country, he then gives them,

1. Plain Intelligence of the Death of Lazarus, tho' he had received no Advice of it; Our Friend Lazarus ſleepeth. See here how Chriſt calls a Believer, and a Beliver's Death. 1. He calls a Believer his Friend; Our Friend Lazarus. Note, (1.) There is a Covenant of Friendſhip between Chriſt and Believers, and a friendly Affection and Communion purſuant to it, which our Lord Jeſus will own and not be aſhamed of. His ſecret is with the Righteous. (2.) Thoſe whom Chriſt is pleas'd to own as his Friends, all his Diſciples ſhould take for theirs. Chriſt ſpeaks of Lazarus as their common Friend: Our Friend. (3.) Death it ſelf doth not break the Bond of Friendſhip between Chriſt and a Believer. Lazarus is dead, and yet he is ſtill our Friend. 2. He calls the Death of a Believer a Sleep; he ſleepeth. 'Tis good to call Death by ſuch Names and Titles as will help to make it more familiar and leſs formidable to us. The Death of Lazarus was in a peculiar Senſe a Sleep, as that of Jairus's Daughter, becauſe they were to be rais'd again ſpeedily; and ſince we are ſure to riſe again at laſt, why ſhould that make any great difference? And why ſhould not the believing Hope of that Reſurrection to Eternal Life make it upon this Matter as eaſy to us to put off the Body and die, as it is to put off our Cloaths and go ſleep? A good Chriſtian when he dies doth but ſleep: He reſts from the Labours of the Day paſt, and is refreſhing himſelf for the next Morning. Nay, herein Death has the Advantage of Sleep, that Sleep is only the Parentheſis, but Death is the Period of our Care and Toils. The Soul doth not ſleep but becomes more active; but the Body ſleeps without any Toſs, without any Terror; not diſtemper'd nor diſturb'd. The Grave to the Wicked is a Priſon, and its Grave-cloaths as the Shackle of a Criminal reſerv'd for Execution; but to the Godly it is a Bed, and all its Bands as the ſoft and downy Fetters of an eaſy quiet Sleep. Tho' the Body corrupt, 'twill riſe in the Morning as if it never had ſeen Corruption; 'tis but putting off our Cloaths to be mended and trim'd up for the Marriage Day, the Coronation Day, to which we muſt riſe. See Iſa. 57. 2. 1 Theſ. 4. 14. The Greeks call'd their Burying-places, Dormitories, κοιμητήρια.

2. Particular Intimations of his favourable Intentions concerning Lazarus; but I go that I may awake him out of ſleep. He could have done it, and yet have ſtay'd where he was; he that recover'd at a diſtance one dying, John 4. 50. cou'd have rais'd at a diſtance one dead; but he would put this Honour upon the Miracle to work it by the Grave-ſide, I go to awake him. As Sleep is a Reſemblance of Death, ſo a Man's awaking out of Sleep when he is called, eſpecially when he is called by his own Name, is an Emblem of the Reſurrection, Job 14. 14. Then ſhalt thou call. Chriſt had no ſooner ſaid, our Friend ſleeps, but preſently he adds, I go that I may awake him. When Chriſt tells his People at any Time how bad the Caſe is, he lets them know in the ſame Breath how eaſily, how quickly he can mend it. Chriſt's telling his Diſciples that this was his Buſineſs to Judea, might help to take off their Fear of going with him thither; he did not go upon a publick Errand to the Temple, but a private Viſit, which would not ſo much expoſe him and them; and beſides it was to do a Kindneſs to a Family they were all obliged to.

2. Their Miſtake of the Meaning of this Notice, and the Blunder they made about it, v. 12, 13. They ſaid, Lord, if he ſleep he ſhall do well. This ſpeaks,

(1.) Some Concern they had for their Friend Lazarus, they hoped he would recover, σωθήσεται He ſhall be ſaved from dying at this Time. Probably they had underſtood by the Meſſenger who brought News of his Illneſs, that one of the moſt threatning Symptoms he was under, was, that he was reſtleſs and could get no Sleep; and now they heard he ſlept, they concluded the Fever was gone off, and the worſt was paſt. Sleep is often Nature's Phyſick, and reviving to its weak and weary Powers. This is true of the Sleep of Death; if a good Chriſtian ſo ſleep, he ſhall do well, better than he did here.

(2.) Yet it ſpeaks a greater Concern for themſelves, for hereby they inſinuate that it was now needleſs for him to go to him, and expoſe himſelf and them. If he ſleep he will be quickly well, and we may ſtay where we are. Thus we are willing to hope that good Work which we are called to do will do it ſelf, or will be done by ſome other Hand, if there be Peril in the doing of it.

This Miſtake of theirs is here rectified, v. 13. Jeſus ſpake of his Death. See here, 1. How dull of Underſtanding Chriſt's Diſciples as yet were. Let us not therefore condemn all thoſe for Hereticks, who miſtake the Senſe of ſome of Chriſt's Sayings. 'Tis not good to aggravate our Brethren's Miſtakes, yet this was a groſs one; for it had eaſily been prevented, if they had remember'd how frequently Death is called a Sleep in the Old Teſtament. They ſhould have underſtood Chriſt when he ſpoke Scripture Language. Beſides it would ſound odd for their Maſter to undertake a Journey of Two or Three Days only to awake a Friend out of a natural Sleep, which any one elſe might awake him out of. What Chriſt undertakes to do, we may be ſure is ſomething great and uncommon, and a Work worthy of himſelf. 2. How carefully the Evangeliſt corrects this Error; Jeſus ſpake of his Death. Thoſe that ſpeak in an unknown Tongue, or uſe Similitudes, ſhould learn hence to explain themſelves, and pray that they may interpret to prevent Miſtakes.

3. The plain and expreſs Declaration which Jeſus made to them of the Death of Lazarus, and his Reſolution to go to Bethany, v. 14, 15.

(1.) He gives them Notice of the Death of Lazarus; what he had before ſaid darkly he now ſaith plainly, and without a Figure; Lazarus is dead, v. 14. Chriſt takes cognizance of the Death of his Saints, for 'tis precious in his Sight, Pſal. 116. 15. and is not pleaſed if we do not conſider it, and lay it to Heart. See what a compaſſionate Teacher Chriſt is, and how he condeſcends to thoſe that are out of the Way; and by his ſubſequent Sayings and Doings explains the Difficulties of what went before.

(2.) He gives them the Reaſon why he had delay'd ſo long to go and ſee him; I am glad for your ſakes that I was not there. If he had been there Time enough he would have healed his Diſeaſe, and prevented his Death, which would have been much for the Comfort of Lazarus's Friends, but then his Diſciples would have ſeen no further Proof of his Power than what they had often ſeen, and conſequently their Faith had received no Improvement; but now he went and raiſed him from the Dead; as there were many brought to believe on him who before did not, v. 45. ſo there was much done towards perfecting of what was lacking in the Faith of thoſe that did, which Chriſt aim'd at, to the Intent that yea may believe.

(3.) He reſolves now to go to Bethany, and take his Diſciples along with him, Let us go unto him. Not let us go to his Siſters to comfort them, which is the utmoſt we can do, but let us go to him; for Chriſt can ſhew Wonders to the dead. Death, which will ſeparate us from all our other Friends, and cuts us off from correſpondence with them, yet cannot ſeparate us from the Love of Chriſt, nor put us out of the reach of his Calls; as he will maintain his Covenant with Duſt, ſo he can make Viſits to the Duſt. Lazarus is dead, but let us go to him; tho' perhaps thoſe who ſaid, if he ſleep, there's no need to go, were ready to ſay, if he be dead 'tis to no purpoſe to go.

4. Thomas exciting his Fellow Diſciples, chearfully to attend their Maſter's Motions. v. 16. Thomas which was called Didymus. Thomas in Hebrew, and Didymus in Greek ſignify a Twin; 'tis ſaid of Rebekah, Gen. 25. 24. that there were Twins in her Womb. The Word is Thomim; probably Thomas was a Twin; he ſaid to his Fellow Diſciples, who probably look'd with Fear and Concern upon one another; when Chriſt ſaid ſo poſitively, Let us go to him; he ſaid very couragiouſly, Let us alſo go that we may die with him. With him, That is,

1. With Lazarus, who was now dead; ſo ſome take it. Lazarus was a dear and loving Friend both to Chriſt and his Diſciples, and perhaps Thomas had a particular Intimacy with him. Now if he be dead, ſaith he, Let us e'en go and die with him. For, (1.) If we ſurvive we know not how to live without him. Probably Lazarus had done them many good Offices, ſheltered them, and provided for them, and been to them inſtead of Eyes; and now he was gone, they had no Man like minded, and therefore, ſaid he, we had as good die with him. Thus we are ſometimes ready to think our Lives bound up in the Lives of ſome that were dear to us; but God will teach us to live, and to live comfortably upon himſelf, when thoſe are gone whom we thought we could not have lived without. But that is not all. (2.) If we die we hope to be happy with him. Such a firm Belief he has of a Happineſs on t'other Side Death, and ſuch good Hope through Grace of their own and Lazarus's Intereſt in it, that he is willing they ſhould all go and die with him. 'Tis better die and go along with our Chriſtian Friends to that World which is enrich'd by their Removal to it, than ſtay behind in a World that's impoveriſh'd by their Departure out of it. The more of our Friends are traſlated hence, the fewer Cords we have to bind us to this Earth, and the more to draw our Hearts Heaven-wards. How pleaſantly doth the good Man ſpeak of dying, as if 'twere but undreſſing and going to Bed.

2. Let us go and die with our Maſter, who is now expoſing himſelf to Death by venturing into Judea, and ſo I rather think it is meant. If he will go into danger, let us alſo go and take our Lot with him, according to the Command we receiv'd, follow me. Thomas knew ſo much of the Malice of the Jews againſt him, and the Counſels of God concerning him, which he had often told them of, that it was no foreign Suppoſition that he was now going to die. And now Thomas diſcovers, (1.) A gracious Readineſs to die with Chriſt himſelf, flowing from ſtrong Affections to him, tho' his Faith was weak, as appear'd afterwards, chap. 14. 5. and 20. 25. Where thou dieſt I will die, Ruth 1. 17. (2.) A zealous Deſire to help his Fellow Diſciples into the ſame frame, Let us go, one and all, and die with him; if they ſtone him, let them ſtone us; who would deſire to ſurvive ſuch a Maſter? Thus in difficult Times Chriſtians ſhould animate one another. We may each of us ſay, Let us die with him. Note, The Conſideration of the dying of the Lord Jeſus, ſhould make us willing to die whenever God calls for us.

17 Then when Jeſus came, he found that he had lien in the grave four days already. 18 (Now Bethany was nigh unto Jeruſalem, about fifteen furlongs off.) 19 And many of the Jews came to Martha and Mary, to comfort them concerning their Brother. 20 Then Martha as ſoon as ſhe heard that Jeſus was coming, went and met him: but Mary ſat ſtill in the houſe. 21 Then ſaid Martha unto Jeſus, Lord, if thou hadſt been here, my brother had not died. 22 But I know, that even now whatſoever thou wilt ask of God, God will give it thee. 23 Jeſus ſaith unto her, thy brother ſhall riſe again. 24 Martha ſaith unto him, I know that he ſhall riſe again in the reſurrection at the laſt day. 25 Jeſus ſaid unto her, I am the reſurrection and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet ſhall he live; 26 And whoſoever liveth and believeth in me, ſhall never die. Believeſt thou this? 27 She ſaith unto him, Yea, Lord: I believe that thou art the Chriſt, the Son of God, which ſhould come into the world. 28 And when ſhe had ſo ſaid, ſhe went her way, and called Mary her Siſter ſecretly, ſaying the Maſter is come and calleth for thee. 29 As ſoon as ſhe heard that, ſhe aroſe quickly and came unto him. 30 Now Jeſus was not yet come into the town, but was in that place where Martha met him. 31 The Jews then which were with her in the houſe, and comforted her, when they ſaw Mary that ſhe roſe up haſtily, and went out, followed her, ſaying, She goeth unto the grave, to weep there. 32 Then when Mary was come where Jeſus was, and ſaw him, ſhe fell down at his feet, ſaying unto him, Lord, if thou hadſt been here, my Brother had not died.

The Matter being determined that Chriſt will go to Judea, and his Diſciples with him, they addreſs themſelves to their Journey; and in this Journey ſome Paſſages happen'd, which the other Evangeliſts record, as the healing of the blind Man at Jericho, and the Converſion of Zacheus. We muſt not reckon our ſelves out of our Way, while we are in the way of doing good; nor be ſo intent upon one good Office as to neglect another.

At length he comes near to Bethany, which is ſaid to be about Fifteen Furlongs off from Jeruſalem, about two meaſured Miles, v. 18. Notice is taken of this, that this Miracle was in effect wrought in Jeruſalem, and ſo was put to her ſcore. Chriſt's Miracles in Galilee were more numerous, but thoſe in or near Jeruſalem were more illuſtrious; there he healed one that had been diſeaſed Thirty Eight Years, another that had been blind from his Birth, and raiſed one that had been dead four Days. To Bethany Chriſt came, and obſerve, Firſt, What Poſture he found his Friends there in. When he had been laſt with them, 'tis likely he left them well, in Health and Joy; but when we part from our Friends, (tho' Chriſt knew) we know not what Changes may be concerning us or them before we meet again.

1. He found his Friend Lazarus in the Grave, v. 17. When he came near the Town, probably by the burying Place belonging to the Town, he was told by the Neighbours, or ſome he met, that Lazarus had been four Days buried. Some think Lazarus died the ſame Day that the Meſſenger came to Jeſus with the Tidings of his Sickneſs, and ſo reckon two Days for his abode in the ſame Place, and two Days for his Journey. I rather think that Lazarus died at that very Inſtant that Jeſus ſaid, Our Friend ſleepeth, he is now newly fallen aſleep; and the Time between his Death and Burial (which among the Jews was but ſhort) with the four Days of his lying in the Grave were taken up in this Journey; for Chriſt travelled publickly, as appears by his paſſing thro' Jericho, and his abode at Zacheus's Houſe took up ſome time. Promiſed Salvations tho' they always come ſurely, yet they often come ſlowly.

2. He found his Friends that ſurviv'd in Grief. Martha and Mary were almoſt ſwallowed up with Sorrow for the Death of their Brother, which is intimated, where it is ſaid, that many of the Jews came to Martha and Mary to comfort them. Note, 1. Ordinarily where Death is there are Mourners, eſpecially when thoſe that were agreeable and amiable to their Relations, and ſerviceable to their Generation, are taken away. The Houſe where Death is, is called the Houſe of Mourning, Eccl. 7. 2. When a Man goes to his long Home, the Mourners go about the Streets, Eccl. 12. 5. or rather ſit alone, and keep ſilence. Here was Martha's Houſe a Houſe where the fear of God was, and on which his Bleſſing reſted, yet made a Houſe of Mourning. Grace will keep Sorrow from the Heart, John 14. 1. not from the Houſe. 2. Where there are Mourners, there ought to be Comforters. 'Tis a Duty we owe to thoſe that are in Sorrow, to mourn with them, and to comfort them; and our Mourning with them will be ſome Comfort to them. When we are under the preſent Impreſſions of Grief, we are apt to forget thoſe Things which would miniſter Comfort to us, and therefore have need of Rememberancers: 'Tis a Mercy to have ſuch when we are in Sorrow, and our Duty to be ſuch to them who are in Sorrow. The Jewiſh Doctors laid great Streſs upon this, obliging their Diſciples to make Conſcience of comforting the Mourners after the burial of the Dead. They comforted them concerning their Brother, i. e. by ſpeaking to them of him, not only of the good Name he left behind, but the happy State he was gone to. When godly Relations and Friends are taken from us, whatever occaſion we have to be afflicted concerning our ſelves, who are left behind, and miſs them, we have reaſon to be comforted concerning them, who are gone before us to a Happineſs where they have no miſs of us.

This Viſit which the Jews made to Martha and Mary, is an Evidence that they were Perſons of Diſtinction, and made a Figure; as alſo that they carried themſelves obligingly to all; ſo that tho' they were Followers of Chriſt, yet thoſe that had no reſpect for him, were civil to them. There was alſo a Providence in it, that ſo many Jews, Jewiſh Ladies 'tis probable, ſhould come together juſt at this Time to comfort the Mourners, that they might be unacceptionable Witneſſes of the Miracle; and ſee what miſerable Comforters they were in compariſon with Chriſt. Chriſt did not uſe to ſend for Witneſſes to his Miracles, and yet if none were by but Relations, it wou'd have been excepted againſt, therefore God's Counſel ſo order'd it, that theſe ſhould come together accidentally to bear their Teſtimony to it, that all Infidelity might ſtop her Mouth.

Secondly, What paſſed between him and his ſurviving Friends at this Interview. When Chriſt defers his Viſits for a time, they are thereby made the more acceptable, much the more welcome; ſo it was here; His Departures endear his Returns, and his Abſence teacheth us how to value his Preſence.

1. We have here the Interview between him and Martha; ſhe went and met him, v. 20.

1. It ſhould ſeem that Martha was earneſtly expecting Chriſt's Arrival, and enquiring for it: Either ſhe had ſent out Meſſengers to bring her Tidings of his firſt Approach, or ſhe had ſo often ask'd, ſaw ye him whom my Soul loveth? that the firſt who diſcover'd him ran to her with the welcome News. However it was, ſhe heard of his coming before he was come. She had waited long, and often ask'd, Is he come? And could hear no Tidings of him; but long look'd for came at laſt: At the End the Viſion will ſpeak and not lie.

2. Martha, when the good News was brought that Jeſus was coming, threw all aſide, and went and met him, in token of a moſt affectionate welcome. She wav'd all Ceremony and Compliment to the Jews who came to viſit her, and haſten to go meet Jeſus. Note, When God by his Grace or Providence is coming towards us in Ways of Mercy and Comfort, we ſhould go forth by Faith, Hope, and Prayer, to meet him. Some ſuggeſt that Martha went out of the Town to meet Jeſus, to let him know there were ſeveral Jews in the Houſe who were no Friends to him, that if he pleas'd he might keep out of the way of them.

3. When Martha went to meet Jeſus, Mary ſat ſtill in the Houſe. Some think ſhe did not hear the Tidings, being in her withdrawing Room, receving Viſits of Condolence, while Martha who was buſied in the Houſhold-Affairs, had early notice of it. Perhaps Martha would not tell her Siſter that Chriſt was coming, being ambitious of the Honour of receiving him firſt. Sancta eſt prudentia clam fratribus clam parentibus ad Chriſtum ſeſe conferre. Maldonat. in loc. Others think ſhe did hear that Chriſt was come but was ſo everwhelm'd with Sorrow, that ſhe did not care for ſtirring, chuſing rather to indulge her Sorrow, and to ſit poring upon her Affliction, and ſaying, I do well to mourn. Comparing this Story with that, Luke 10. 38, 39. we may obſerve the different Tempers of theſe two Siſters, and the Temptations and Advantages of each; Martha's natural Temper was active and buſie, ſhe lov'd to be here and there, and at the End of every Thing; and this had been a Snare to her, when by it ſhe was not only careful, and cumber'd about many Things, but hindered from the Exerciſes of Devotion; but now in a Day of Affliction, this active Temper did her a Kindneſs, kept the Grief from her Heart, and made her forward to meet Chriſt, and ſo ſhe receiv'd Comfort from him the ſooner. On the other hand, Mary's natural Temper was Contemplative and Reſerv'd; this had been formerly an Advantage to her, when it ſet her at Chriſt's Feet to hear his Word and enable her there to attend upon him without thoſe Diſtractions which Martha was cumbered with: But now in the Day of Affliction, that ſame Temper prov'd a Snare to her, and made her leſs able to grapple with her Grief, and diſpos'd her to Melancholly; but Mary ſat ſtill in the Houſe. See here how much it will be our Wiſdom carefully to watch againſt the Temptations and improve the Advantages of our natural Temper.

Here is fully related the Diſcourſe between Chriſt and Martha.

Firſt, Martha's Addreſs to Chriſt, v. 21, 22.

1. She complains of Chriſt's long Abſence and Delay. She ſaid it, not only with Grief for the Death of her Brother, but ſome Reſentment of the ſeeming Unkindneſs of the Maſter; Lord, if thou hadſt been here my Brother had not dy'd. Here is, 1. Some Evidence of Faith. She believ'd Chriſt's Power, that tho' her Brother's ther's Sickneſs was very grievous, yet he could have cur'd it, and ſo have prevented his Death; ſhe believ'd his Pity, that if he had but ſeen Lazarus in his extreme Illneſs, and his dear Relations all in Tears about him, he would have had Compaſſion, and prevented ſo ſad a Breach, for his Compaſſions fail not. But, 2. Here are ſad Inſtances of Unbelief. Her Faith was true, but weak as a bruiſed Reed, for ſhe limits the Power of Chriſt, in ſaying, If thou hadſt been here; whereas ſhe ought to have known that Chriſt could cure at a diſtance, and his gracious Operations are not limited to his bodily Preſence. She reflects likewiſe upon the Wiſdom and Kindneſs of Chriſt, that he did not haſten to them when they ſent for him, as if he had not timed his Buſineſs well, and now might have as good ſtaid away, and not have come at all as to come too late; and as for any Help now, ſhe can ſcarce entertain the Thought of it.

2. Yet ſhe corrects and comforts herſelf with the Thoughts of the prevailing Intereſt Chriſt had in Heaven, however ſhe blames herſelf for blaming her Maſter, and for ſuggeſting that he comes too late, for I know that even now, as deſperate as the Caſe is, whatſoever thou wilt ask of God, God will give it thee. Obſerve, 1. How willing her Hope was. Tho' ſhe has not Courage to ask of Jeſus that he ſhould raiſe him to Life again, there having been no Precedent as yet of any one rais'd to Life that had been ſo long dead, yet like a modeſt Petitioner, ſhe humbly recommends the Caſe to the wiſe and compaſſionate Conſideration of the Lord Jeſus. When we know not what in particular to ask or expect, let us in general refer our ſelves to God, let him do as ſeemeth him good. Judicii tui eſt, non præſumptionis meæ. Aug. in loc. When we know not what to pray for, it is our Comfort that the great Interceſſor knows what to ask for us, and is always heard. 2. How weak her Faith was. She ſhould have ſaid, Lord, thou canſt do whatſoever thou wilt, but ſhe only ſaith, thou canſt obtain whatever thou prayeſt for; ſhe had forgot that the Son has Life in himſelf, that he wrought Miracles by his own Power. Yet both theſe Conſiderations muſt be taken in for the Encouragement of our Faith and Hope, and neither excluded; the Dominion Chriſt has on Earth, and his Intereſt and Interceſſion in Heaven: He has in the one Hand the Golden Scepter, and in the other the Golden Cenſer; his Power always predominant, his Interceſſion always prevalent.

Secondly, The comfortable Word which Chriſt gave to Martha, in anſwer to her pathetical Addreſs, v. 23. Jeſus ſaith unto her, Thy Brother ſhall riſe again. Martha in her Complaint look'd back, reflecting with Regret, that Chriſt was not there, for then thinks ſhe, my Brother had been now alive; we are apt in ſuch Caſes to add to our own Trouble, by fancying what might have been. If ſuch a Method had been taken, ſuch a Phyſician employ'd, my Friend had not died, which is more than we know; but what good doth this do, when God's Will is done, and our Buſineſs is to ſubmit to it; but Chriſt directs Martha, and us in her, to look forwards, and to think what ſhall be, for that's a Certainty, and yields ſure Comfort, Thy Brother ſhall riſe again.

1. This was true of Lazarus in a Senſe peculiar to him; he was now preſently to be rais'd, but Chriſt ſpeaks of it in general as a Thing to be done, not which he himſelf would do, ſo humbly did our Lord Jeſus ſpeak of what he did. He alſo expreſſeth it ambiguouſly, leaving her uncertain at firſt, whether he would raiſe him preſently or not till the laſt Day, that he might try her Faith and Patience,

2. It is applicable to all the Saints, and their Reſurrection at the laſt Day. Note, It is a Matter of Comfort to us when we have buried our godly Friends and Relations, to think that they ſhall riſe again. As the Soul at Death is not loſt but gone before, ſo the Body is not loſt but laid up. Think we hear Chriſt ſaying, thy Parent, thy Child, thy Yoke-fellow, ſhall riſe again; theſe dry Bones ſhall live.

Thirdly, The Faith which Martha mixed with this Word, and the Unbelief mixed with this Faith, v. 24.

1. She accounted it a faithful Saying, that he ſhall riſe again at the laſt Day. Tho' the Doctrine of the Reſurrection was to have its full Proof from Chriſt's Reſurrection, yet as it was already reveal'd, ſhe firmly believ'd it, Acts 24. 15. (1.) That there ſhall be a laſt Day, with which all the Days of Time ſhall be number'd and finiſhed. (2.) That there ſhall be a general Reſurrection at that Day, when the Earth and Sea ſhall give up their Dead. (3.) There ſhall be a particular Reſurrection of each one; I know that I ſhall riſe again, and this and 'tother Relation that was dear to me. As Bone ſhall return to his Bone in that Day, ſo Friend to his Friend.

2. Yet ſhe ſeems to think this Saying not ſo well worthy of all Acceptation as it really was; I know he ſhall riſe again at the laſt Day, but what are we the better for that now? As if the Comforts of the Reſurrection to eternal Life were not worth ſpeaking of, or yielded no Satisfaction ſufficient to ballance her Affliction. See our Weakneſs and Folly, that we ſuffer preſent, ſenſible Things to make a deeper Impreſſion upon us, both of Grief and Joy, than thoſe Things which are the Objects of Faith. I know that he ſhall riſe again at the laſt Day; and is not that enough? She ſeems not to think it. Thus by our Diſcontent under preſent Croſſes, we greatly undervalue our future Hopes, and put a Slight upon them, as if not worth regarding.

Fourthly, The further Inſtruction and Encouragement which Jeſus Chriſt gave her; for he will not quench the ſmoaking Flax, not break the bruiſed Reed. He ſaid to her, I am the Reſurrection and the Life, v. 25. 26. Two Things Chriſt poſſeſſeth her with the Belief of, in reference to the preſent Diſtreſs, and they are the Things which our Faith ſhould faſten upon in the like Caſes.

1. The Power of Chriſt, his Sovereign Power, I am the Reſurrection and the Life, the Fountain of Life, and the Head and Author of the Reſurrection. Martha believ'd that at his Prayer God would give any Thing, but he would have her know that by his Word he could work any Thing. Martha believ'd a Reſurrection at the laſt Day, Chriſt tells her that he had that Power lodg'd in his own Hand, that the Dead were to hear his Voice, John 5. 25. whence it was eaſy to infer, that he could raiſe a World of Men that had been dead many Ages, could doubtleſs raiſe one Man that had been dead but four Days. Note, It is an unſpeakable Comfort to all good Chriſtians, that Jeſus Chriſt is the Reſurrection and the Life, and will be ſo to them. Reſurrection is a Return to Life, Chriſt is the Author of that Return, and of that Life to which it is a Return. We look for the Reſurrection of the Dead, and the Life of the World to come, and Chriſt is both the Author and Principle of both, and the Ground of our Hope of both.

2. The Promiſes of the New Covenant, which give us further Ground of Hope that we ſhall live. Obſerve,

1. To whom theſe Promiſes are made, to them that believe in Jeſus Chriſt, to them that conſent to, and confide in Jeſus Chriſt, as the only Mediator of Reconciliation, and Communion between God and Man; that receive the Record God has given in his Word concerning his Son, ſincerely comply with it, and anſwer all the great Intentions of it. The Condition of the latter Promiſe is thus expreſs'd, Whoſoever liveth and believeth in me; which may be underſtood, either, 1. Of natural Life, whoſoever lives in this World, whether he be Jew or Gentile, where-ever he lives, if he believes in Chriſt he ſhall live by him. Yet it limits the Time, whoever during Life, while he is here in this State of Probation, believes in me, ſhall be happy in me, but after Death 'twill be too late. Whoever lives and believes, i. e. lives by Faith, Gal. 2. 20. has a Faith that influences his Converſation. Or, 2. Of ſpiritual Life, he that lives and believes, is he that by Faith is born again to a heavenly and divine Life, to whom to live is Chriſt, that makes Chriſt the Life of his Soul.

2. What the Promiſes are, v. 25. Tho' he die yet ſhall he live; nay, v. 26. He ſhall never die. Man conſiſts of Body and Soul, and Proviſion is made for the Happineſs of both.

1. For the Body here is the Promiſe of a bleſſed Reſurrection. Tho' the Body be dead becauſe of Sin, there's no Remedy, but it will die, yet it ſhall live again, tho' he were dead. All the Difficulties that attend the State of the Dead are here over-look'd, and made nothing of. Tho' the Sentence of Death was juſt, tho' the Effects of Death be diſmal, tho' the Bands of Death be ſtrong, tho' he be dead and buried, dead and putrified; tho' the ſcatter'd Duſt be ſo mixt with common Duſt that no Art of Man can diſtinguiſh, much leſs ſeparate them, put the Caſe as ſtrongly as you will on that Side, yet we are ſure he ſhall live again; the Body ſhall be rais'd a glorious Body.

2. For the Soul here is the Promiſe of a bleſſed Immortality. He that liveth and believeth, who being united to Chriſt by Faith, lives ſpiritually by virtue of that Union, he ſhall never die: That ſpiritual Life ſhall never be extinguiſhed, but perfected in eternal Life. As the Soul being in its Nature Spiritual, is therefore Immortal; ſo if by Faith it live a ſpiritual Life, conſonant to its Nature, its Felicity ſhall be Immortal too. It ſhall never die, ſhall never be otherwiſe but eaſy and happy, and there is not any Intermiſſion or Interruption of its Life, as there is of the Life of the Body: The Mortality of the Body ſhall at length be ſwallow'd up of Life, but the Life of the Soul, the believing Soul, ſhall be immediately at Death ſwallowed up of Immortality. He ſhall not die, εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα, for ever. Non morietur in æternum, ſo Cyprian quotes it. The Body ſhall not be for ever dead in the Grave, it dies (like the two Witneſſes) but for a Time, Times, and the dividing of Time; and when Time ſhall be no more, and all the Diviſions of it ſhall be number'd and finiſh'd, a Spirit of Life from God ſhall enter into it. But that is not all, the Soul ſhall not die that Death which is for ever, ſhall not die eternally. Bleſſed and holy, that is, bleſſed and happy, is he that by Faith has part in the firſt Reſurrection, has part in Chriſt, who is that Reſurrection; for on ſuch the ſecond Death, which is a Death for ever, ſhall have no Power. See John 6. 40.

Chriſt asks her, Believeſt thou this? Canſt thou aſſent to it with Application? Canſt thou take my Word for it? Note, When we have read or heard the Word of Chriſt concerning the great Things of the other World, we ſhould ſeriouſly put it to our ſelves? Do we believe this? This Truth in particular, this which is attended with ſo many Difficulties, this which is ſuited to my Caſe? Doth my Belief of it realize it to me, and give my Soul an Aſſurance of it? So that I can ſay, not only this I believe, but thus I believe it. Martha was doting upon her Brother's being rais'd to live in this World; before Chriſt gave her Hopes of that he directed her Thoughts to another Life, another World; no matter for that, but believeſt thou this that I tell thee concerning the future State? The Croſſes and Comforts of this preſent Time would not make that Impreſſion upon us that they do, if we did but believe the Things of Eternity as we ought.

Fifthly,

Fiſthly, Martha's unfeign'd Aſſent yielded to what Chriſt ſaid, v. 27. We have here Martha's Creed, the good Confeſſion ſhe witneſſed, the ſame with that for which Peter was commended, Mat. 16. 16, 17 and it is the Concluſion of the whole Matter.

1. Here's the Guide of her Faith, and that is, the Word of Chriſt; without any Alteration, Exception, or Proviſo, ſhe takes it entire as Chriſt had ſaid it, Yea, Lord, whereby ſhe ſubſcribes to the Truth all and every Part of that which Chriſt had promis'd, in his own Senſe; Even ſo. Faith is an Eccho to Divine Revelation, returns the ſame Words, and reſolves to abide by them, yea, Lord; As the Word did make it, ſo I believe and take it, ſaid Queen Elizabeth.

2. The Ground of her Faith, and that is, the Authority of Chriſt; ſhe therefore believes this, becauſe ſhe believes that he who ſaith it is Chriſt. She has Recourſe to the Foundation, for the Support of the Superſtructure. I believe, πεπίϛευκα, I have believed, that thou art Chriſt, and therefore I do belive this. Obſerve here;

(1.) What ſhe believed and confeſſed concerning Jeſus; three Things all to the ſame Effect. (1.) That he was the Chriſt, or Meſſiah promis'd and expected, under this Name and Notion, the Anointed One, (2.) That he was the Son of God, ſo the Meſſiah was call'd, Pſal. 2. 7. not by Office only, but by Nature. (3.) That 'twas he which ſhould come into the World, the ὁ ἐρχόμενος, That Bleſſing of Bleſſings which the Church had for ſo many Ages waited for as future, ſhe embraced as preſent.

(2.) What ſhe inferr'd hence, and what ſhe alledg'd this for; if ſhe admits this, that Jeſus is the Chriſt, there is no Difficulty in believing that he is the Reſurrection and the Life, for if he be the Chriſt, then, (1.) He is the Fountain of Light and Truth, and we may take all his Sayings for faithful and divine, upon his own Word. If he be the Chriſt, he is that Prophet whom we are to hear in all things. (2.) He is the Fountain of Life and Bleſſedneſs, and we may therefore depend upon his Ability as well as upon his Veracity. How ſhall Bodies turn'd to Duſt, live again? How ſhall Souls clog'd and clouded as ours are, live for ever? We could not believe this, but that we believe him that undertakes it to be the Son of God, who has Life in himſelf, and has it for us.

2. We have here the Interview between Chriſt and Mary, the other Siſter. And there obſerve,

1. The Notice which Martha gave her of Chriſt's coming, v. 28. When ſhe had ſo ſaid, as one that needed to ſay no more, ſhe went her way, eaſy in her Mind, and call'd Mary her Siſter. (1.) Martha having receiv'd Inſtruction and Comfort from Chriſt her ſelf, call'd her Siſter to ſhare with her. Time was when Martha would have drawn Mary from Chriſt to come and help her in much ſerving, Luke 10. 40. But to make her amends for that, here ſhe is induſtrious to draw her to Chriſt. (2.) She call'd her ſecretly, and whiſper'd it in her Ear, becauſe there was a Company by, Jews that were no Friends to Chriſt. The Saints are call'd into the Fellowſhip of Jeſus Chriſt, by an Invitation that is ſecret and diſtinguiſhing, given to them, and not to others; they have Meat to eat, that the World knows not of, Joy that a Stranger doth not intermeddle with. (3.) She call'd her by Order from Chriſt, he bid her. Go call her Siſter. The Call that is effectual, whoever brings it, 'tis Chriſt that ſends it. The Maſter is come, and calleth for thee. (1.) She calls Chriſt the Maſter; Διδάσκαλος, a Teaching Maſter, by that Title he was commonly call'd and known among them. Mr. George Herbert took Pleaſure in calling Chriſt, My Maſter. (2.) She triumphs in his Arrival; the Maſter is come. He whom we have long wiſhed and waited for, He is come, he is come; this was the beſt Cordial in the preſent Diſtreſs; Lazarus is gone, and our Comfort in him gone, but the Maſter is come, who is better than the deareſt Friend, and has that in him which will a-abundantly make up all our Loſſes. He is come, who is our Teacher, who will teach us how to get Good by our Sorrow, Pſal. 94. 17. who will teach, and ſo comfort. (3.) She invites her Siſter to go meet him; he calls for thee, enquires what's become of thee, and would have thee ſent for. Note, When Chriſt our Maſter comes he calls for us. He comes in his Word and Ordinances, and calls us to them, calls us by them, calls us to himſelf. He calls for thee in particular, for thee by Name, Pſal. 27. 8. And if he call thee he will cure thee, he will comfort thee.

2. The Haſte which Mary made to Chriſt upon this Notice given her, v. 29. As ſoon as ſhe heard this good News, that the Maſter was come, ſhe aroſe quickly, and came to him. She little thought how near he was to her, for he is often nearer to them that mourn in Sion, than they are aware of; but when ſhe knew how near he was, ſhe ſtarts up, and in a Tranſport of Joy, runs to meet him; the leaſt Intimation of Chriſt's gracious Approaches is enough to a lively Faith, which ſtands ready to take the Hint, and anſwer the firſt Call. When Chriſt was come, (1.) She did not conſult the Decorum of her Mourning, but forgetting Ceremony, and the common Uſage in ſuch Caſes, ſhe runs through the Town to meet Chriſt. Let not nice Punctilio's of Decency and Honour deprive us at any time of Opportunities of converſing with Chriſt. (2.) She did not conſult her Neighbours the Jews, that were with her comforting her; ſhe left them all to come to him, and did not only aſk their Advice, but not ſo much as aſk their Leave, or beg their Pardon for her Rudeneſs.

We are told, v. 30. where ſhe found the Maſter; he was not yet come into Bethany, but was at the Towns-End, in that Place where Martha met him, See here, 1. Chriſt's Love to his Work; he ſtaid near the Place where the Grave was, that he might be ready to go to it; and would not go into the Town to refreſh himſelf, after the Fatigue of his Journey, till he had done the Work he came to do; nor would he go into the Town, leſt it ſhould look like Oſtentation, and a Deſign to levy a Crowd to be Spectators of the Miracle. 2. Mary's Love to Chriſt; ſtill ſhe loved much: Tho' Chriſt had ſeem'd unkind in his Delays, yet ſhe can take nothing amiſs from him. Let us go thus to Chriſt without the Camp, Heb. 13.

3. The Miſconſtruction which the Jews that were with Mary, made of her going away ſo haſtily, v. 31. They ſaid, She goes to the Grave to weep there. Martha bore up better under this Affliction than Mary did, who was a Woman of a Tender and ſorrowful Spirit; ſuch was her natural Temper. Thoſe that are ſo, have need to watch againſt Melancholy, and ought to be pity'd and help'd. Thoſe Comforters found that their Formalities did her no Service, but that ſhe harden'd her ſelf in Sorrow, and therefore concluded, when ſhe went out, and turn'd that way, 'twas to go to the Grave, and weep there. See, 1. What often is the Folly and Fault of Mourners; they contrive how to aggravate their own Grief, and to make Ill worſe. We are apt in ſuch Caſes to take a ſtrange Pleaſure in our own Pain, and to ſay we do well to be Paſſionate in our Grief, even unto Death, apt to faſten upon thoſe things that aggravate the Affliction; and what Good doth it do us, when it is our Duty to reconcile our ſelves to the Will of God in it? What need Mourners go to the Grave to weep there, when they ſorrow not as thoſe that have no Hope? Affliction of it ſelf is grievous, why ſhould we make it more ſo? 2. What is the Wiſdom and Duty of Comforters, and that is to prevent as much as may be, in thoſe who grieve inordinately, the Revival of the Sorrow, and to divert it. Thoſe Jews that follow'd Mary, were thereby led to Chriſt, and became the Witneſſes of one of his moſt glorious Miracles. 'Tis good cleaving to Chriſt's Friends in their Sorrows, for thereby we may come to know him better.

4. Mary's Addreſs to our Lord Jeſus, v. 32. ſhe came attended with her Train of Comforters, and fell down at his Feet, as one over-whelm'd with a paſſionate Sorrow, and ſaid with many Tears (as appears, v. 33.) Lord, if thou hadſt been here, my Brother had not died, as Martha ſaid before, for they had often ſaid it to one another. Now here,

1. Her Poſture is very humble and ſubmiſſive; She fell down at his Feet, which was more than Martha did, who had a greater Command of her Paſſions. She fell down as a ſinking Mourner, but fell down at his Feet as a humble Petitioner. This Mary had ſate at Chriſt's Feet to hear his Word, Luke 10. 39. and here we find her there on another Errand. Note, Thoſe that in a Day of Peace ſet themſelves at Chriſt's Feet to receive Inſtructions from him, may with Comfort and Confidence in a Day of Trouble caſt themſelves at his Feet, with Hope to find Favour with him. She fell at his Feet, as one ſubmitting to his Will in what was done, and referring her ſelf to his good Will in what was now to be done. When we are in Affliction, we muſt caſt our ſelves at Chriſt's Feet in a penitent Sorrow, and Self-abaſement for Sin, and a patient Reſignation of our ſelves to the Divine Conduct. Mary's caſting her ſelf at Chriſt's Feet, was in token of the profound Reſpect and Veneration ſhe had for him. Thus they were wont to give Honour to their King's and Princes; but our Lord Jeſus not appearing in ſecular Glory as an Earthly Prince, they who by this Poſture of Adoration gave Honour to him, certainly look'd upon him as more than a Man, and intended hereby to give him Divine Honour. Mary hereby made Profeſſion of the Chriſtian Faith, as truly as Martha did, and in effect ſaid, I believe that thou art the Chriſt; bowing the Knee to Chriſt, and confeſſing him with the Tongue, are put together as Equivalent, Rom. 14. 11. Phil. 2. 11. This ſhe did in Preſence of the Jews that attended her, who tho' Friends to her and her Family, yet were bitter Enemies to Chriſt, yet in their Sight ſhe fell at Chriſt's Feet, as one that was neither aſham'd to own the Veneration ſhe had for Chriſt, nor afraid of diſobliging her Friends and Neighbours by it. Let them reſent it as they pleas'd, ſhe falls at his Feet, and if this be to be vile, will be yet more vile. See Cant. 8. 1. We ſerve a Maſter, whom we have no reaſon to be aſham'd of, and whoſe Acceptance of our Services is ſufficient to balance the Reproach of Men, and all their Revilings.

2. Her Addreſs is very pathetical, Lord, if thou hadſt been here, my Brother had not died. Chriſt's Delay was deſign'd for the beſt, and prov'd ſo, yet both the Siſters very indecently caſt the ſame in his Teeth, and in effect charge him with the Death of their Brother; this repeated Challenge he might juſtly have reſented; might have told them he had ſomething elſe to do, than to be at their Beck, and to attend them; he muſt come when his Buſineſs would permit him; but not a Word of this; he conſider'd the Circumſtances of their Affliction, and that Loſers think they may have leave to ſpeak; and therefore over-look'd the Rudeneſs of this Welcome, and gave us an Example of Mildneſs and Meekneſs in ſuch Caſes. Mary added no more, as Martha did, but it appears by what follows, that what ſhe fell ſhort in Words, ſhe made up in Tears; ſhe ſaid leſs than Martha, but wept more; and Tears of devout Affection have a Voice, a loud prevailing Voice in the Ears of Chriſt, no Rhetorick like that.

33 When Jeſus therefore ſaw her weeping, and the Jews alſo weeping which came with her, he groaned in the ſpirit, and was troubled, 34 And ſaid, Where have ye laid him? They ſay unto him, Lord, come and ſee. 35 Jeſus wept. 36 Then ſaid the Jews, Behold how he loved him. 37 And ſome of them ſaid, Could not this man, which opened the eyes of the blind, have cauſed that even this man ſhould not have died? 38 Jeſus therefore again groaning in himſelf, cometh to the grave. It was a cave, and a Stone lay upon it. 39 Jeſus ſaid, Take ye away the Stone. Martha the ſiſter of him that was dead, ſaith unto him, Lord, by this time he ſtinketh: for he hath been dead four days. 40 Jeſus ſaith unto her, Said I not unto thee, that if thou wouldeſt believe, thou ſhouldeſt ſee the glory of God? 41 Then they took away the ſtone from the place where the dead was laid. And Jeſus lift up his eyes, and ſaid, Father, I thank thee that thou haſt heard me. 42 And I knew that thou heareſt me always: but becauſe of the people which ſtand by, I ſaid it, that they may believe that thou haſt ſent me. 43 And when he thus had ſpoken, he cried with a loud voice, Lazarus, come forth. 44 And he that was dead came forth, bound hand and foot with grave cloths: and his face was bound about with a napkin. Jeſus ſaith unto them, Looſe him, and let him go.

Here we have,

Firſt, Chriſt's tender Sympathy with his afflicted Friends, and the Share he took to himſelf in their Sorrows, which appeared three Ways.

1. By the inward Groans and Troubles of his Spirit, v. 33. Jeſus ſaw Mary weeping, for the Loſs of a loving Brother, and the Jews that came with her weeping, for the Loſs of a good Neighbour and Friend, when he ſaw what a Place of Weepers, a Bochim this was, he groaned in the Spirit, and was troubled. See here,

(1.) The Griefs of the Sons of Men repreſented in the Tears of Mary and her Friends: What an Emblem was here of this World, this Vale of Tears. Nature it ſelf teacheth us to weep over our dear Relations, when they are removed by Death; Providence thereby calls to weeping and mourning. 'Tis likely Lazarus's Eſtate devolved upon his Siſters, and was a conſiderable Addition to their Fortunes, and in ſuch a Caſe, People ſay now-a-days, tho' they cannot wiſh their Relations dead (that is, they do not ſay they do) yet if they were dead, they would not wiſh them alive again; but theſe Siſters, whatever they got by their Brother's Death, heartily wiſh'd him alive again. Religion teacheth us likewiſe to weep with them that weep, as theſe Jews here with Mary, conſidering that we our ſelves alſo are in the Body. They that truly love their Friends, will ſhare with them in their Joys and Griefs, for what is Friendſhip, but a Communication of Affections? Job 16. 5.

(2.) The Grace of the Son of God, and his Compaſſion towards thoſe that are in Miſery: In all their Afflictions he is afflicted, Iſa. 63. 9. Judg. 10. 16. When Chriſt ſaw them all in Tears, 1. He groaned in the Spirit. He ſuffer'd himſelf to be tempted, as we are, when we are diſturb'd by ſome great Affliction, yet without Sin. This was an Expreſſion, either, (1.) Of his Diſpleaſure at the inordinate Grief of thoſe about him, as Mark 5. 39. Why make ye this ado, and weep? What a Hurry is here? Doth this become thoſe that believe a God, a Heaven, and another World? Or, (2.) Of his Reſentment of the calamitous State of human Life, and the Power of Death, which fallen Man is ſubjected to; being now to make a vigorous Attack upon Death and the Grave, he thus ſtirred up himſelf to the Encounter, put on the Garments of Vengence, and his Fury it upheld him; and that he might the more reſolutely under take the Redreſs of our Grievances, and the Cure of our Griefs, he was pleas'd to make himſelf ſenſible of the Weight of them, and under the Burthen of them he now groaned in Spirit. Or, (3.) It was an Expreſſion of this kind Sympathy with his Friends that were in Sorrow. Here was the ſounding of the Bowels, and the Mercies which the afflicted Church ſo earneſtly ſollicites for, Iſa. 63. 15. Chriſt not only ſeem'd concern'd, but he groaned in the Spirit; he was inwardly and ſincerely affected with the Caſe; David's pretended Friends counterfeited Sympathy to diſguiſe their Enmity, Pſal. 41. 6. but we muſt learn of Chriſt to have our Love and Sympathy without Diſſimulation. Chriſt's was a deep and hearty Sigh. 2. He was troubled. He troubled himſelf. So the Phraſe is, very ſignificantly. He had all the Paſſions and Affections of the human Nature, for in all things he muſt be like to his Brethren; but he had a perfect Command of them, ſo that they were never up, but when and as they were called; he was never troubled, but when he troubled himſelf, as he ſaw Cauſe; he often compos'd himſelf to Trouble, but was never diſcompos'd or diſorder'd by it; he was voluntary both in his Paſſion, and in his Compaſſion; he had Power to lay down his Grief, and Power to take it again.

2. His Concern for them appear'd by his kind Enquiry after the poor Remains of his deceaſed Friend, v. 34. Where have ye laid him? He knew where he was laid, and yet asks, becauſe, 1. He would thus expreſs himſelf as a Man, even then when he was going to exert the Power of a God. Being found in faſhion as a Man, he accommodates himſelf to the Way and Manner of the Sons of Men; Non neſcit, ſed quaſi neſcit, ſaith Auſtin here. 2. He enquired where the Grave was, leſt if he had gone ſtrait to it of his own Knowledge, the unbelieving Jews ſhould thence have taken Occaſion to ſuſpect a Colluſion between him and Lazarus, and a Trick in the Caſe. Many Expoſitors obſerve this from Chryſoſtom. 3. He would thus divert the Grief of his mourning Friends, by raiſing their Expectations of ſomething great, q. d. I did not come hither with an Addreſs of Condolence, to mingle a few fruitleſs, inſignificant Tears with yours; no, I have other Work to do; come let us adjourn to the Grave, and go about our Buſineſs there. Note, A ſerious Addreſs to our Work, is the beſt Remedy againſt inordinate Grief. (4.) He would hereby intimate to us the ſpecial Care he takes of the Bodies of the Saints, while they lie in the Grave; he takes notice where they are laid, and will look after them; there is not only a Covenant with the Duſt, but a Guard upon it.

3. It appear'd by his Tears. Thoſe about him did not tell him where the Body was buried, but deſir'd him to come and ſee, and led him directly to the Grave; that his Eye might yet more affect his Heart with the Calamity: As he was going to the Grave, as if he had been following the Corps thither, Jeſus wept, v. 35. A very ſhort Verſe, but affords many uſeful Inſtructions. 1. That Jeſus Chriſt was really and truly Man, and partook with the Children, not only of Fleſh and Blood, but of a human Soul ſuſceptible of the Impreſſions of Joy and Grief, and other Affections. Chriſt gave this Proof of his Humanity, in both Senſes of the Word, that as a Man he could weep, and as a merciful Man he would weep, before he gave this Proof of his Divinity. 2. That he was a Man of Sorrows, and acquainted with Grief, as was foretold, Iſa. 53. 3. We never read that he laugh'd, but more than once we have him in Tears. Thus he ſhews not only that a mournful State will conſiſt with the Love of God, but that they who ſow the Spirit, muſt ſow in Tears. 3. Tears of Compaſſion well become Chriſtians, and make them moſt to reſemble Chriſt. 'Tis a Relief to thoſe who are in Sorrow to have their Friends ſympathize with them, eſpecially ſuch a Friend as the Lord Jeſus.

Different Conſtructions were put upon Chriſt's weeping.

1. Some made a kind and candid Interpretation of it, and what was very natural, v. 36. Then ſaid the Jews, Behold how he loved him. They ſeem to admire he ſhould have ſo ſtrong an Affection for one whom he was not related to, and whom he had not had any long Acquaintance with, for Chriſt ſpent moſt of his time in Galilee, a great Way from Lazarus. It becomes us according to this Example of Chriſt, to ſhew our Love to our Friends, both living and dying. We muſt ſorrow for our Brethren that ſleep in Jeſus, as thoſe that were full of Love, tho' not void of Hope; as the devout Men that buried Stephen, Acts 8. 2. Tho' our Tears profit not the Dead, they embalm their Memory. Theſe Tears were Indications of his particular Love to Lazarus, but he has given Proofs no leſs evident of his Love to all the Saints, in that he dy'd for them. When he only dropt a Tear over Lazarus, they ſaid, See how he loved him, much more Reaſon have we to ſay ſo, for whom he hath laid down his Life, ſee how he loved us. Greater Love has no Man than this.

2. Others made a peeviſh unfair Reflection upon it, as if theſe Tears ſpoke his Inability to help his Friend, v. 37. Could not this Man, that opened the Eyes of the Blind, have prevented the Death of Lazarus. Here it is ſlily inſinuated, 1. That the Death of Lazarus being (as it ſeem'd by his Tears) a great Grief to him, if he could have prevented it he would, and therefore becauſe he did not, they incline to think he could not, as when he was dying, they concluded he could not, becauſe he did not ſave himſelf, and come down from the Croſs; not conſidering that Divine Power is always directed in its Operations by Divine Wiſdom, not merely according to his Will, but according to the Counſel of his Will, wherein it becomes us to acquieſce. If Chriſt's Friends, whom he loves, die; if his Church, whom he loves, be perſecuted and afflicted, we muſt not impute it to any Defect, either in his Power or Love, but conclude, 'tis becauſe he ſees it for the beſt. 2. That therefore it might juſtly be queſtioned, whether he did indeed open the Eyes of the Blind, i. e. whether it was not a Sham. His not working this Miracle, they thought enough to invalidate the former; at laſt it ſhould ſeem he had a limited Power, and therefore not a divine one. Chriſt ſoon convinc'd theſe Whiſperers, by raiſing Lazarus from the Dead, which was the greater Work that he could have prevented his Death, but therefore did not, becauſe he would glorify himſelf the more.

Secondly, Chriſt's Approach to the Grave, and the Preparation that was made for working this Miracle.

1. Chriſt repeats his Groans, upon his coming near the Grave, v. 38. again groaning in himſelf, he comes to the Grave; he groaned, (1.) Being diſpleaſed at the Unbelief of thoſe, who ſpoke doubtingly of his Power, and blam'd him for not preventing the Death of Lazarus; he was griev'd for the Hardneſs of their Hearts. He never groan'd ſo much for his own Pains and Sufferings, as for the Sins and Follies of Men, particularly Jeruſalem's, Mat. 23. 37. (2.) Being affected with the freſh Lamentations, which 'tis likely the mourning Siſters made, when they came near the Grave, more paſſionately and pathetically than before; his tender Spirit was ſenſibly touch'd with their Wailings. (3.) Some think he groaned in Spirit, becauſe to gratify the Deſires of his Friends, he was to bring Lazarus again into this ſinful troubleſome World, from that Reſt into which he was newly enter'd; it would be a Kindneſs to Martha and Mary, but it would be to him like thruſting one out to a ſtormy Sea again, that was newly got into a ſafe and quiet Harbour. If Lazarus had been let alone, Chriſt would quickly have gone to him into the other World; but being reſtored to Life, Chriſt quickly left him behind in this World. (4.) Chriſt groan'd as one that would affect himſelf with the calamitous State of the human Nature, as ſubject to Death, from which he was now about to redeem Lazarus. Thus he ſtir'd up himſelf to take hold on God in the Prayer he was to make, that he might offer it up with ſtrong crying, Heb. 5. 7. Miniſters when they are ſent by the preaching of the Goſpel to raiſe dead Souls, ſhould be much affected with the deplorable Condition of thoſe they preach to and pray for, and groan in themſelves to think of it.

2. The Grave is here deſcrib'd wherein Lazarus lay; it was a Cave, and a Stone lay upon it. The Graves of the common People, probably were dig'd as ours are; but Perſons of Diſtinction were, as with us, interr'd in Vaults, ſo Lazarus was, and ſuch was the Sepulchre where Chriſt was bury'd. Probably this Faſhion was kept up among the Jews, in Imitation of the Patriarchs, who bury'd their Dead in the Cave of Machpelah, Gen. 23. 19. This Care taken of the dead Bodies of their Friends, intimates their Expectation of their Reſurrection, they reckon'd the Solemnity of the Funeral ended, when the Stone was roll'd to the Grave, or as here, laid upon it, like that upon the Mouth of the Den, into which Daniel was caſt, Dan. 6. 17. that the Purpoſe might not be chang'd, intimating that the Dead are ſeparated from the Living, and gone the Way whence they ſhall not return. This Stone was probably a Grave-ſtone, with an Inſcription upon it, which the Greeks call'd μνημεῖον, a Memorandum, becauſe it is both a Memorial of the Dead, and a Memento to the Living, puting them in Remembrance of that which we are all concern'd to rememher. 'Tis call'd by the Latins, Monumentum à monendo, becauſe it gives Warning.

3. Orders are given to remove the Stone, v. 39. Take ye away the Stone. He would have this Stone removed, that all the Standers by might ſee the Body lie dead in the Sepulchre; and that way might be made for its coming out, and it might appear to be a true Body, and not a Ghoſt or Spectre. He would have ſome of the Servants to remove it, that they might be Witneſſes, by the Smell of the Putrefaction of the Body, and that therefore 'twas truly dead. 'Tis a good Step towards the raiſing of a Soul to ſpiritual Life, when the Stone is taken away, when Prejudices are remov'd and got over, and Way made for the Word to the Heart, that it may do its Works there, and ſay what it has to ſay.

4. An Objection made by Martha againſt the opening of the Grave, Lord, by this time he ſtinketh, or, is become noiſome, for he has been dead four Days, τεταρταῖος γὰρ ἐστι quatriduanus eſt; He is four Days old in the other World; a Citizen and Inhabitant of the Grave of four Days ſtanding. Probably Martha perceiv'd the Body to ſmell, as they were removing the Stone, and therſore cry'd out thus.

1. It is eaſy from hence to obſerve the Nature of Human Bodies. Four Days is but a little while, yet what a great Change will that make with the Body of Man, if it be but ſo long without Food, much more if ſo long without Life. Dead Bodies (ſaith Dr. Hammond) after a Revolution of the Humours, which is compleated in 72 Hours, naturally tend to Putrefaction; and the Jews ſay, that by the Fourth Day after Death, the Body is ſo alter'd, that one cannot be ſure 'tis ſuch a Perſon, ſo Maimonides in Lightfoot. Therefore Chriſt roſe the third Day, becauſe he was not to ſee Corruption.

2. It is not ſo eaſy to ſay, what was Martha's Deſign in ſaying this. 1. Some think ſhe ſaid it in a due Tenderneſs, and ſuch as Decency teaches to the dead Body; now it began to putrify, ſhe did not care it ſhould be thus publickly ſhewn and made a Spectacle of. 2. Others think ſhe ſaid it out of a Concern for Chriſt, leſt the Smell of the dead Body ſhould be offenſive to him. That which is very noiſome is compared to an open Sepulchre, Pſal. 5. 9. If there were any thing noiſome, ſhe would not have her Maſter near it; but he was none of thoſe tender and delicate ones, that cannot bear an ill Smell; if he had, he would not have viſited the World of Mankind, which Sin had made a perfect Dunghil altogether ſtinking, Pſal 14. 3. 3. It ſhould ſeem by Chriſt's Anſwer, that it was the Language of her Unbelief and Diſtruſt: Lord, it's too late now to attempt any Kindneſs to him, his Body begins to rot, and 'tis impoſſible this putrid Carcaſs ſhould live. She gives up his Caſe as helpleſs and hopleſs, there having been no Inſtances either of late or formerly, of any rais'd to Life after they had begun to ſee Corruption. When our Bones are dried, we are ready to ſay, Our Hope is loſt. Yet this diſtruſtful Word of hers ſerv'd to make the Miracle both the more evident and the more illuſtrious; by this it appeared he was truly dead, and not in a Trance; for tho' the Poſture of a dead Body might be counterfeited, the Smell could not. Her ſuggeſting that it could not be done, puts the more Honour upon him that did it.

5. The gentle Reproof Chriſt gave to Martha, for the Weakneſs of her Faith, v. 40. Said I not unto thee, that if thou wouldſt believe, thou ſhouldſt ſee the Glory of God. This Word of his to her was not before recorded, 'tis probable he ſaid it to her, when ſhe had ſaid, v. 27. Lord, I believe; and 'tis enough that it is recorded here, where it is repeated. Note, 1. Our Lord Jeſus has given us all the Aſſurances imaginable, that a ſincere Faith ſhall at length be crowned with a bleſſed Viſion; if thou believe, thou ſhalt ſee God's glorious Appearances for thee in this World, and to thee in the other World. If we will take Chriſt's Word, and rely on his Power and Faithfulneſs, we ſhall ſee the Glory of God, and be happy in the Sight. 2. We have need to be often minded of theſe ſure Mercies, with which our Lord Jeſus hath encourag'd us. Chriſt doth not give a direct Anſwer to what Martha had ſaid, nor any particular Promiſe of what he would do, but orders her to keep hold of the general Aſſurances he had already given; Only believe. We are apt to forget what Chriſt hath ſpoken, and need him to put us in mind of it by his Spirit, Said I not unto thee ſo and ſo? And doſt thou think he will ever unſay it.

6. The opening of the Grave in Obedience to Chriſt's Order, notwithſtanding Martha's Objection, v. 41. Then they took away the Stone. Then when Martha was ſatisfied, and had wav'd her Objection, then they proceeded. If we will ſee the Glory of God, we muſt let Chriſt take his own Way, and not preſcribe, but ſubſcribe to him. They took away the Stone, and that was all they could do, Chriſt only could give Life. What Man can do is, but to prepare the Way of the Lord, to fill the Vallies, and level the Hills, and as here to take away the Stone.

Thirdly, The Miracle it ſelf wrought. The Spectators invited by the rolling away of the Stone, gather'd about the Grave, not to commit Duſt to Duſt, Earth to Earth, but to receive Duſt from the Duſt, and Earth from Earth again, and their Expectations being rais'd, our Lord Jeſus addreſſes himſelf to his Work.

1. He applies himſelf to his living Father in Heaven, ſo he had called him, John 6. 57. and ſo eyes him not.

1. The Geſture he us'd was very ſignificant; he lift up his Eyes, an outward Expreſſion of the Elevation of his Mind; and to ſhew them who ſtood by, from whence he deriv'd his Power. And to ſet us an Example; this outward Sign is hereby recommended to our Practice, ſee John 17. 1. look how they will anſwer it who profanely ridicule it; but that which is eſpecially charg'd upon us hereby, is to lift up our Hearts to God in the Heavens; what is Prayer, but the Aſcent of the Soul to God, and the directing of its Affections and Motions Heaven-wards. He lift up his Eyes as looking above, and looking beyond the Grave where Lazarus lay, and over-looking all the Difficulties that aroſe from thence, that he might have his Eyes fix'd upon the Divine Omnipotence; to teach us to do as Abraham, who conſider'd not his own Body, now dead, nor the deadneſs of Sarah's Womb, never took thoſe into his Thoughts, and ſo gain'd ſuch a Degree of Faith, as not to ſtagger at the Promiſe, Rom. 4. 20.

2. His Addreſs to God was with great Aſſurance, and ſuch Confidence as became him. Father, I thank thee, that thou haſt heard me. He hath here taught us by his own Example: 1. In Prayer to call God Father, and to draw nigh unto him as Children to a Father, with a humble Reverence, yet with a holy Boldneſs. 2. In our Prayers to praiſe him, and when we come to beg for further Mercy, thankfully to acknowledge former Favours. Thankſgivings that ſpeaks God's Glory, not our own, like the Phariſees, God I thank thee, are decent Forms, into which to put our Supplications.

But our Saviour's Thankſgiving here was intended to expreſs the unſhaken Aſſurance he had of the effecting of this Miracle, which he had in his own Power to do in Concurrence with the Father. Father, I thank thee, that my Will and thine are in this Matter as always the ſame. Elijah and Eliſha rais'd the Dead as Servants, by Intreaty; but Chriſt as a Son by Authority, having Life in himſelf, and Power to quicken whom he would; and he ſpeaks of this as his own Act, v. 11. I go that I may awake him, yet he ſpeaks of it as if he had obtain'd by Prayer, for his Father heard him; probably he put up the Prayer for it when he groaned in Spirit, once and again, v. 33, 38. in a mental Prayer, with Groanings which could not be uttered. Now Chriſt ſpeaks of this Miracle as an Anſwer to Prayer. (1.) Becauſe he would thus humble himſelf; tho' he were a Son, yet learned he this Obedience, to ask and receive. His mediatorial Crown was granted him upon Requeſt, tho' 'tis of Right, Pſal. 2. 8. And John 17. 5. he prays for the Glory he had before the World, tho' having never forfeited it, he might have demanded it. (2.) Becauſe he was pleaſed thus to honour Prayer, making it the Key wherewith even he unlock'd the Treaſures of Divine Power and Grace. Thus he would teach us in Prayer by the lively Exerciſe of Faith, to enter into the Holieſt.

Now Chriſt being aſſured his Prayer was anſwered.

1. Profeſſeth his thankful Acceptance of this Anſwer, I thank thee that thou haſt heard me. Tho' the Miracle was not yet wrought, yet the Prayer was anſwered, and he triumphs before the Victory. No other can pretend to ſuch an Aſſurance as Chriſt had, yet we may by Faith in the Promiſe have a Proſpect in Mercy before it be actually given in, and may rejoice in that Proſpect, and give God Thanks for it. In David's Devotions, the ſame Pſalm which he begins with Prayer for a Mercy, cloſes with Thankſgivings for it.

Note, 1. Mercies in Anſwer to Prayer, ought in a ſpecial manner to be acknowledg'd with Thankfulneſs. Beſides the Grant of the Mercy it ſelf, we are to value it as a great Favour to have our poor Prayers taken Notice of. 2. We ought to meet the firſt Appearances of the Return of Prayer with early Thankſgivings. As God anſwers us with Mercy, even before we call, and hears while we are yet ſpeaking, ſo we ſhould anſwer him with Praiſe, even before he grants, and give him Thanks while he is yet ſpeaking good Words and comfortable Words.

2. He profeſſeth his chearful Aſſurance of a ready Anſwer at any time, v. 47. And I know that thou heareſt me always. Let none think that this was ſome uncommon Favour granted him now, ſuch as he never had before, nor ſhould ever have again; no, he had the ſame divine Power going along with him in his whole Undertaking, and undertook nothing but what he knew to be agreeable to the Counſel of God's Will. I gave Thanks (ſaith he) for being heard in this, becauſe I am ſure to be heard in every thing. See here, 1. The mighty Intereſt our Lord Jeſus had in Heaven; the Father heard him always, he had Acceſs to the Father upon every Occaſion, and Succeſs with him in every Errand. And we may be ſure his Intereſt is not the leſs for his going to Heaven, which may encourage us to depend upon his Interceſſion, and put all our Petitions into his Hand, for we are ſure that him the Father hears always. 2. The Confidence he had of that Intereſt; I knew it. He did not in the leaſt heſitate or doubt concerning it; but had an entire Satiſfaction in his own Mind of the Father's Complacency in him, and Concurrence with him in every thing. We cannot have ſuch a particular Aſſurance as he had; but this we know, that whatſoever we ask according to his Will, he heareth us, 1 John 5. 14, 15.

But why ſhould Chriſt give this publick Intimation of his obtaining this Miracle by Prayer? He adds, 'Tis becauſe of the People which ſtand by, that they may believe that thou haſt ſent me; for Prayer may preach.

1. It was to obviate the Objections of his Enemies, and their Reflections. It was blaſphemouſly ſuggeſted by the Phariſees, and their Creatures, that he wrought his Miracles by Compact with the Devil: Now to evidence the contrary, he openly made his Addreſs to God, uſing Prayers, and not Charms, not peeping and muttering, as they did that us'd familiar Spirits, Iſa. 8. 19. but with elevated Eyes and Voice profeſſing his Communication with Heaven, and Dependance on Heaven.

2. It was to corroborate the Faith of thoſe that were well inclin'd to him, that they might believe that thou haſt ſent me, not to deſtroy Mens Lives, but to ſave them. Moſes, to ſhew that God ſent him, made the Earth open and ſwallow Men up, Numb. 16. 10. Elijah, to ſhew that God ſent him, made Fire come from Heaven, and devour Men, for the Law was a Diſpenſation of Terror and Death; but Chriſt proves his Miſſion by raiſing to Life one that was dead: Some give this Senſe. Had Chriſt declar'd his doing it freely by his own Power, ſome of his weak Diſciples, who as yet underſtood not his Divine Nature, would have thought he took too much upon him, and have been ſtumbled at it; theſe Babes could not bear that ſtrong Meat, therefore he chuſes to ſpeak of his Power as receiv'd and deriv'd; he ſpeaks ſelf-denyingly of himſelf, that he might ſpeak the more plainly to us. Non ita reſpexit ad ſuam Dignitatem atque ad noſtram ſalutem. Janſen.

2. He now applies himſelf to his dead Friend in the Earth. He cried with a loud Voice, Lazarus come forth. He could have rais'd Lazarus by a ſilent exerting of his Power and Will, and the undiſcernable Operations of the Spirit of Life, but he did it by a Call, a loud Call.

1. To be ſignificant of the Power then put forth for the raiſing of Lazarus; how he created this new thing, he ſpake and it was done. He cried aloud, to ſignify the Greatneſs of the Work, and of the Power employ'd in it; and to excite himſelf as it were to this Attack upon the Gates of Death, as Soldiers engage with a Shout. Speaking to Lazarus, it was proper to cry with a loud Voice: For, 1. The Soul of Lazarus, which was to be called back, was at a Diſtance, not hovering about the Grave, as the Jews fancy'd, but remov'd to Hades, the World of Spirits; now 'tis natural to ſpeak loud, when we call to thoſe at a Diſtance. 2. The Body of Lazarus, which was to be called up was aſleep, and we uſe to ſpeak loud, when we would awake any out of Sleep. He cried with a loud Voice, that the Scripture might be fulfill'd, Iſa. 45. 19. I have not ſpoken in ſecret, in a dark Place of the Earth.

2. To be typical of other Works of Wonder, and particularly other Reſurrections, which the Power of Chriſt was to effect. This loud Call was a Figure,

(1.) Of the Goſpel Call, by which dead Souls were to be brought out of the Grave of Sin, which Reſurrection Chriſt had formerly ſpoken of, John 5. 25. and of his Word as the Means of it, John 6. 63. and now he gives a Specimen of it. By his Word, he ſaith to Souls, live, yea, he ſaith to them live, Ezek. 16. 6. Ariſe from the Dead, Eph. 5. 14. The Spirit of Life from God enter'd into thoſe that had been dead and dry Bones, when Ezekiel propheſied over them, Ezek. 37. 10. They who infer from the Commands of the Word to turn and live, that Man has a Power of his own to convert and regenerate himſelf, might as well infer from this Call to Lazarus, that he had a Power to raiſe himſelf to Life.

(2.) Of the Sound of the Archangel's Trumpet at the laſt Day, with which they that ſleep in the Duſt ſhall be awaken'd, and ſummon'd before the great Tribunal; when Chriſt ſhall deſcend with a Shout, a Call, or Command, like this here, Come forth. See Pſal. 50. 4. He ſhall call both to the Heavens for their Souls, and to the Earth for their Bodies, that he may judge his People.

This loud Call here was but ſhort, yet mighty through God, to the battering down of the ſtrong Holds of the Grave.

1. He calls him by Name Lazarus, as we call thoſe by their Names, whom we would awake out of a faſt Sleep. God ſaid to Moſes, as a Mark of his Favour, I know thee by Name. The naming of him intimates that the ſame individual Perſon that dy'd ſhall riſe again at the laſt Day. He that calls the Stars by their Names, can diſtiguiſh by Name his Stars that are in the Duſt of the Earth, and will loſe none of them.

2. He calls him out of the Grave, ſpeaking to him as if he were already alive, and had nothing to do but to come out of his Grave. He doth not ſay unto him, Live, for he himſelf muſt give Life, but he ſaith to him, Move, for when by the Grace of Chriſt we live ſpiritually, we muſt ſtir up our ſelves to move; the Grave of Sin and this World is no Place for theſe whom Chriſt has quicken'd, and therefore they muſt come forth.

3. The Event was according to the Intention. He that was dead came forth, v. 44. Power went along with the Word of Chriſt to reunite the Soul and Body of Lazarus, and then he came forth. The Miracle is deſcrib'd not by its inviſible Springs to ſatisfy our Curioſity, but its viſible Effects to confirm our Faith. Do any ask where the Soul of Lazarus was, during the four Days of its Separation? We are not told, but we have reaſon to think it was in Paradiſe, in Joy and Felicity; but you'll ſay, was it not then really an Unkindneſs to it to return it into the Priſon of the Body? And if it were yet, being for the Honour of Chriſt, and the ſerving of the Intereſts of his Kingdom, it was no more an Injury to him than it was to St. Paul to continue in the Fleſh, when he knew that to depart to Chriſt was ſo much better. If any ask, whether Lazarus, after he was rais'd, could give any Account or Deſcription of his Soul's Removal out of the Body, or Return to it, or what he ſaw in the other World? I ſuppoſe both thoſe Changes were ſo unaccountable to himſelf, that he muſt ſay with Paul, Whether in the Body, or out of the Body, I cannot tell, and of what he ſaw and heard, that it was not lawful, or poſſible to expreſs it. In a World of Senſe we cannot frame to our ſelves, much leſs communicate to others, any adequate Ideas of the World of Spirits, and the Affairs of that World; let us not covet to be wiſe above what is written, and this is all that is written concerning the Reſurrection of Lazarus, That he that was dead came forth. And ſome have obſerv'd, that tho' we read of many that were rais'd from the Dead, who no doubt convers'd familiarly with Men afterwards, yet the Scripture has not recorded one Word ſpoken by any of them, except by our Lord Jeſus only.

This Miracle was wrought, 1. Speedily; nothing intervenes between the Command, Come forth; and the Effect, He came forth. Dictum Factum, let there be Life, and there was Life. Thus the Change in the Reſurrection will be in a Moment, in the twinkling of an Eye, 1 Cor. 15. 52. The Almighty Power that can do it, can do it in an Inſtant; then ſhalt thou call, and I will anſwer, will come at the Call, as Lazarus, Here am I. 2. Perfectly, He was ſo throughly reviv'd, that he got up out of his Grave, as ſtrongly as ever he got up out of his Bed; and return'd not only to Life, but Health. He was not rais'd to ſerve a preſent Turn, but to live as other Men. 3. With this additional Miracle (as ſome reckon it) that he came out of his Grave, tho' he was fetter'd with his Grave Clothes, with which he was bound Hand and Foot, and his Face bound about with a Napkin; for ſo the manner of the Jews was to bury; and he came forth in the ſame Dreſs wherein he was bury'd, that it might appear it was he himſelf, and not another, and that he was not only alive, but ſtrong, and able to walk, after a ſort, even in his Grave Clothes. The binding of his Face with a Napkin, prov'd that he had been really dead, for otherwiſe in leſs than ſo many Days Time, that would have ſmother'd him. And the Standers-by in unbinding him, would handle him, and ſee him, that it was he himſelf, and ſo be Witneſſes of the Miracle. Now ſee here, (1.) How little we carry away with us, when we leave the World, only a Winding Sheet and a Coffin; there's no Change of Rayment in the Grave, nothing but a ſingle Suit of Grave Clothes. (2.) What Condition we ſhall be in, in the Grave. What Wiſdom or Device can there be, where the Eyes are hoodwink'd; or what working, where the Hands and Feet are fetter'd? And ſo it will be in the Grave, whither we are going. Lazarus being come forth, hamper'd and embarraſs'd with his Grave Clothes, we may well imagine that thoſe about the Grave were exceedingly ſurpriz'd and frighten'd at it, we would be ſo, if we ſhould ſee a dead Body riſe; but Chriſt to make the thing familiar, ſets them to work, looſe him, ſlacken his Grave Clothes, that they may ſerve for Day Clothes till he comes to his Houſe, and then he will go himſelf ſo clad, without Guide or Supporter to his own Houſe. As in the old Teſtament, the Tranſlations of Enoch and Elias were ſenſible Demonſtrations of an inviſible and future State, the one about the Middle of the Patriarchal Age, the other of the Moſaical Oeconomy; ſo the Reſurrection of Lazarus was in the New Teſtament deſign'd for Confirmation of the Doctrine of the Reſurrection.

45 Then many of the Jews which came to Mary, and had ſeen the things which Jeſus did, believed on him. 46 But ſome of them went their ways to the Phariſees, and told them what things Jeſus had done. 47 ¶ Then gathered the chief Prieſts and the Phariſees a council, and ſaid, What do we? for this man doth many miracles. 48 If we let him thus alone, all men will believe on him; and the Romans ſhall come and take away both our place and nation. 49 And one of them named Caiaphas, being the high prieſt that ſame year, ſaid unto them, Ye know nothing at all. 50 Nor conſider that it is expedient for us, that one man ſhould die for the people, and that the whole nation periſh not. 51 And this ſpake he not of himſelf:

but being high prieſt that year, he propheſied that Jeſus ſhould die for that nation: 52 And not for that nation only, but that alſo he ſhould gather together in one, the children of God that were ſcattered abroad.
53 Then from that day forth they took counſel together for to put him to death. 54 Jeſus therefore walked no more openly among the Jews; but went thence into a country near to the wilderneſs, into a city called Ephraim, and there continued with his diſciples. 55 ¶ And the Jews paſſover was nigh at hand:
and many went out of the country up to Jeruſalem before the paſſover, to purifie themſelves. 56 Then ſought they for Jeſus, and ſpake among themſelves, as they ſtood in the temple, What think ye, that he will not come to the feaſt? 57 Now both the chief prieſts and the Phariſees had given a commandment, that if any man knew where he were, he ſhould ſhew it, that they might take him.

We have here an Account of the Conſequences of this glorious Miracle, which were as uſual; to ſome it was a ſavour of Life unto Life, to others of Death unto Death.

1. Some were invited by it, and induc'd to believe. Many of the Jews, when they ſaw the Things that Jeſus did, believed on him, and well they might, for it was an uncontestable Proof of his Divine Miſſion. They had often heard of his Miracles, and yet evaded the Conviction of them, by calling in queſtion the Matter of Fact; but now they had themſelves ſeen this done, their Unbelief was conquer'd, and they yielded at laſt: But bleſſed are they who have not ſeen and yet have believed. The more we ſee of Chriſt, the more cauſe we ſhall ſee to love him and confide in him. Theſe were ſome of thoſe Jews that came to Mary to comfort her. When we are doing good Offices to others, we put our ſelves in the way of receiving Favours from God, and have Opportunities of getting good when we are doing good.

2. Others were irritated by it, and harden'd in their Unbelief.

1. The Informers were ſo, v. 46. Some of them who were Eye-witneſſes of the Miracle, were ſo far from being convinc'd, that they went to the Phariſees whom they knew to be his implacable Enemies, and told them what Things Jeſus had done; not meerly as a Matter of News worthy their Notice, much leſs as an Inducement to them to think more favourably of Chriſt, but with a ſpiteful Deſign to excite thoſe who needed no Spur the more vigorouſly to proſecute him. Here's a ſtrange Inſtance, 1. Of a moſt obſtinate Infidelity, refuſing to yield to the moſt powerful Means of Conviction; and it is hard to imagine how they could evade the Force of this Evidence, but that the God of this World had blinded their Minds. 2. Of a moſt inveterate Enmity. If they would not be ſatisfy'd that he was to be believ'd in as the Chriſt, yet one would think they ſhould have been mollified, and perſwaded not to perſecute him; but if the Water be not ſufficient to quench the Fire, 'twill enflame it. They told what Jeſus had done, and told no more but what was true; but their Malice gave a Tincture of Diaboliſm to their Information equal to that of Lying; perverting what is true is as bad as forging what is falſe. Doeg is call'd a falſe, lying, and deceitful Tongue, Pſal. 120. 2, 3. and 52. 2, 3, 4. tho' what he ſaid was true.

2. The Judges, the Leaders, the blind Leaders of the People were no leſs exaſperated by the Report made to them, and here we are told what they did.

1. A ſpecial Council is call'd and held, v. 47. Then gather'd the chief Prieſts and Phariſees a Counſel, as was foretold, Pſal. 2. 2. The Rulers take Counſel together againſt the Lord. Conſults of the Sanhedrin were intended for the publick Good, but here under colour of that the greateſt Injury and Miſchief is done to the People. The Things that belong to the Nation's Peace were hid from the Eyes of thoſe that were intruſted with its Counſels. This Council was call'd, not only for joint Advice, but for mutual Irritation; that as Iron ſharpens Iron, and as Coals are to burning Coals, and Wood to Fire, ſo they might exaſperate and enflame one another with Enmity and Rage againſt Chriſt and his Doctrine.

2. The Caſe is propos'd, and ſhew'd to be weighty, and of mighty Conſequence.

1. The Matter to be debated, was, what Courſes they ſhould take with this Jeſus to ſtop the Growth of his Intereſt; they ſaid, What do we? For this Man doth many Miracles. The Information given about the raiſing of Lazarus was produc'd, and the Men, Brethren and Fathers, are call'd in to help as ſollicitouſly as if a formidable Enemy had been with an Army in the Bowels of their Country. (1.) They own the Truth of Chriſt's Miracles, and that he had wrought many of them; they are therefore Witneſſes againſt themſelves; for they acknowledg'd his Credentials, and yet deny'd his Commiſſion. (2.) They conſider what was to be done, and chide themſelves that they had not done ſomething ſooner effectually to cruſh him. They do not take it at all into their Conſideration, whether they ſhould not receive him, and own him as the Meſſiah, tho' they profeſs'd to expect him, and Jeſus gave pregnant Proofs of his being ſo; but they take it for granted he is an Enemy, and as ſuch is to be run down. What do we? Have we no Care to ſupport our Church? Is it nothing to us that a Doctrine ſo deſtructive to our Intereſt ſpreads thus? Shall we tamely yield up the Ground we have got in the Affections of the People? Shall we ſee our Authority brought into Contempt, and the Craft by which we get our living ruin'd, and not beſtir our ſelves? What have we been doing all this while? And what are we now thinking of? Shall we be always talking and bring nothing to paſs?

2. That which made this Matter weighty, was the Peril they apprehended their Church and Nation to be in from the Romans, v. 48. If we do not ſilence him, and take him off, all Men will believe in him; and this being the ſetting up of a new King, the Romans will take umbrage at it, and will come with an Army, and take away our Place and Nation, and therefore 'tis no Time to trifle. See what an Opinion they have,

1. Of their own Power. They ſpeak as if they thought Chriſt's Progreſs and Succeſs in his Work depended upon their Connivance, as if he could not go on to work Miracles, and make Diſciples, unleſs they let him alone, as if it were in their Power to conquer him who had conquer'd Death; or as if they could fight againſt God and proſper. But he that ſits in Heaven laughs at the fond Conceit which impotent Malice has of its own Omnipotence.

2. Of their own Politicks. They fancy themſelves to be Men of mighty Inſight, and Foreſight, and great Sagacity in their moral Prognoſtications.

1. They take on them to propheſie, that in a little Time, if he have liberty to go on, all Men will believe on him; hereby owning when it will ſerve their Purpoſe, that his Doctrine and Miracles had a very convincing Power in them, ſuch as could not be reſiſted, but that all Men would become his Proſelytes and Votaries; thus do they now make his Intereſt formidable, tho' to ſerve another Turn, theſe ſame Men ſtrove to make it contemptible, John 7. 48. Have any of the Rulers believed on him? This was the Thing they were afraid of, that Men would believe on him, and then all their Meaſures were broke. Note, The Succeſs of the Goſpel is the Dread of its Adverſaries; if Souls be ſav'd they are undone.

2. They foretel that if the Generality of the Nation be drawn after him, the Rage of the Romans will be drawn upon them. They will come and take away our Place; the Country in general, eſpecially Jeruſalem, or the Temple, the holy Place, and their Place; their Darling, their Idol. Or, their Preferments in the Temple, their Places of Power and Truſt.

Now it was true that the Romans had a very jealous Eye upon them, and knew they wanted nothing but Power and Opportunity to ſhake off their Yoke. It was likewiſe true, that if the Romans ſhould pour an Army in upon them, it would be very hard for them to make any head againſt it; yet here appear'd a Cowardice which one would not have found in the Prieſts of the Lord, if they had by their Wickedneſs forfeited their Intereſt in God, and all good Men. Had they kept their Integrity, they needed not have fear'd the Romans; but they ſpeak like a diſpirited People, as the Men of Judah, when they baſely ſaid to Sampſon, knoweſt thou not that the Philiſtines rule over us; Judg. 15. 11. When Men loſe their Piety, they loſe their Courage.

But, 1. It was falſe that there was any Danger of the Romans being irritated againſt their Nation by the Progreſs of Chriſt's Goſpel, for it was no way hurtful to Kings or Provinces, but highly beneficial. The Romans had no Jelouſie at all of his growing Intereſt, for he taught Men to give Tribute to Caeſar, and not to reſiſt Evil, but take up the Croſs. The Roman Governor, at his Trial, could find no Fault in him. There was more Danger of the Romans being incens'd againſt the Jewiſh Nation by the Prieſts, than by Chriſt. Note, Pretended Fears are oft the Colour of malicious Deſigns.

2. Had there really been ſome Danger of diſpleaſing the Romans by tolerating Chriſt's preaching, yet that would not juſtifie their hating and perſecuting a good Man. Note, 1. The Enemies of Chriſt and his Goſpel have often colour'd their Enmity with a ſeeming Care for the publick Good, and the common Safety, and in order to have branded his Prophets and Miniſters as Troublers of Iſrael, and Men that turn the World upſide down. 2. Carnal Policy commonly ſets up Reaſons of State, in Oppoſition to Rules of Juſtice. When Men are concern'd for their own Wealth and Safety more than for Truth and Duty, 'tis Wiſdom from beneath, which is earthly, ſenſual, and deviliſh. But ſee what was the Iſſue, they pretended to be afraid that their tolerating Chriſt's Goſpel would bring Deſolation upon them by the Romans, and therefore right or wrong ſet themſelves againſt it; but it prov'd that their perſecuting the Goſpel, brought upon them that which they fear'd, fill'd up the Meaſure of their Iniquity, and the Romans came and took away their Place and Nation, and their Place knows them no more. Note, That Calamity which we ſeek to eſcape by Sin, we take the moſt effectual Courſe to bring upon our own Heads; and they who think by oppoſing Chriſt's Kingdom to ſecure or advance their own ſecular Intereſt, will find Jeruſalem a more burthenſome Stone than they think it is, Zech. 12. 3. The Fear of the Wicked it ſhall come upon them.

3. Caiaphas makes a malicious, but myſtical Speech in the Council upon this Occaſion.

1. The Malice of it appears evident at firſt View, v. 49., 50. He being the High Prieſt, and ſo Preſident of the Council, took upon him to decide the Matter before it was debated; you know nothing at all, your heſitating betrays your Ignorance, for 'tis not a thing that will bear a Diſpute, 'tis ſoon determin'd, if you conſider that receiv'd Maxim, That it is expedient for us that one Man ſhould die for the People. Here,

1. The Counſellor was Caiaphas, who was High Prieſt that ſame Year. The High Prieſthood was by the Divine Appointment, ſettled upon the Heir Male of the Houſe of Aaron, for and during the Term of his natural Life, and then to his Heir Male; but in thoſe degenerate Times it was become, tho' not an annual Office, like a Conſulſhip, yet frequently chang'd, as they could make an Intereſt with the Roman Powers. Now it happen'd that this Year Caiaphas wore the Mitre.

2. The Drift of the Advice was ſhort in this, that ſome way or other muſt be found out to put Jeſus to Death. We have Reaſon to think that they ſtrongly ſuſpected him to be indeed the Meſſiah; but his Doctrine was ſo contrary to their darling Traditions and ſecular Intereſt, and his Deſign did ſo thwart their Notions of the Meſſiah's Kingdom, that they reſolve, be he who he will, he muſt be put to Death. Caiaphas doth not ſay, let him be ſilenc'd, impriſon'd, baniſh'd, tho that's ſufficient for the Reſtraint of one they thought dangerous; but die he muſt. Note, Thoſe that have ſet themſelves againſt Chriſtianity, have commonly diveſted themſelves of Humanity, and been infamous for Cruelty.

3. This is plauſibly inſinuated, with all the Subtlety as well as Malice of the old Serpent.

(1.) He ſuggeſts his own Sagacity, which we muſt ſuppoſe him as High Prieſt to excel in, tho' the Urim and Thummim was long ſince loſt. How ſcornfully doth he ſay, you know nothing, that are but common Prieſts; but you muſt give me leave to ſee further into things than you do. Thus 'tis common for thoſe in Authority to impoſe their corrupt Dictates by Virtue of that; and becauſe they ſhould be the wiſeſt and beſt, to expect that every Body ſhould believe they are ſo.

(2.) He takes it for granted, that the Caſe is plain, and paſt Diſpute, and thoſe are very ignorant that do not ſee it to be ſo. Note, Reaſon and Juſtice are often run down with a high Hand: Truth is fallen in the Streets, and when it's down, down with it; and Equity cannot enter, and when its out, out with it, Iſa. 59. 14.

(3.) He inſiſts upon a Maxim in Politicks, that the Welfare of Communities is to be prefer'd before that of particular Perſons. It is expedient for us, as Prieſts, whoſe All lies at Stake, that one Man die for the People. Thus far it holds true, that it is expedient, and more than ſo, 'tis truly honourable, for a Man to hazard his Life in the Service of his Country, Phil. 2. 17. 1 John 3. 16. but to put an innocent Man to Death, under colour of conſulting the publick Safety, is the Devil's Politicks. Caiaphas craftily inſinuates that the greateſt and beſt Man tho' major ſingulis is minor univerſis, and ought to think his Life well ſpent, nay, well loſt to ſave his Country from Ruin; but what's this to the murthering of one that was evidently a great Bleſſing, under Pretence of preventing an imaginary Miſchief to the Country? The Caſe ought to have been put thus: Was it expedient for them to bring upon themſelves and upon their Nation the Guilt of Blood, a Prophet's Blood, for the ſecuring of their Civil Intereſts from a Danger which they had no juſt reaſon to be afraid of? Was it expedient for them to drive God and their Glory from them, rather than venture the Romans Diſpleaſure, who could do them no harm, if they had God on their Side. Note, Carnal Policy, which ſteers only by ſecular Conſiderations, while it thinks to ſave all by Sin, ruins all at laſt.

2. The Myſtery that was in this Counſel of Caiaphas, doth not appear at firſt View, but the Evangeliſt leads us into it, v. 51. 52. This ſpake he not of himſelf, 'twas not only the Language of his own Enmity and Policy, but in theſe Words he propheſied, tho' he himſelf was not aware of it, That Jeſus ſhould die for that Nation. Here's a precious Comment upon a pernicious Text; the Counſel of curſed Caiaphas ſo conſtrued, as to fall in with the Counſels of the bleſſed God. Charity teaches us to put the moſt favourable Conſtructions upon Mens Words and Actions that they will bear; but Piety teaches us to make a good Improvement of them, even contrary to that which they were intended for. If wicked Men in what they do againſt us, are God's Hand to humble and reform us, why may they not in what they ſay againſt us be God's Mouth to inſtruct and convince us? But in this of Caiaphas, there was an extraordinary Direction of Heaven prompting him to ſay that which was capable of a very ſublime Senſe. As the Hearts of all Men are in God's Hand, ſo are their Tongues. They are deceiv'd, who ſay, our Tongues are our own, ſo that either we may ſay what we will, and are not accountable to God's Judgment, or we can ſay what we will, and are not reſtrainable by his Providence and Power. Balaam could not ſay what he would, when he came to curſe Iſrael, nor Laban when he purſued Jacob.

The Evangeliſt explains and enlarges upon Caiaphas's Words.

1. He explains what he ſaid, and ſhews how it not only was, but was intended to be accommodated to an excellent Purpoſe. He did not ſpeak it of himſelf; as it was an Artifice to ſtir up the Council againſt Chriſt, he ſpoke it of himſelf, or of the Devil rather; but as it was an Oracle, declaring it the Purpoſe and Deſign of God, by the Death of Chriſt, to ſave God's ſpiritual Iſrael from Sin and Wrath, he did not ſpeak it of himſelf, for he knew nothing of the Matter, he meant not ſo, neither did his Heart think ſo, for nothing was in his Heart but to deſtroy and cut off, Iſa. 10. 7.

(1.) He propheſied, and thoſe that propheſied in their propheſying, did not ſpeak of themſelves. But is Caiaphas alſo among the Prophets? He is ſo, pro hâc vice, tho' an ill Man, and an implacable Enemy to Chriſt and his Goſpel. Note, 1. God can, and often doth make wicked Men Inſtruments to ſerve his own Purpoſes, even contrary to their own Intentions; for he has them not only in a Chain to reſtrain them from doing the Miſchief they would, but in a Bridle to lead them to do the Service they would not. 2. Words of Prophecy in the Mouth are no infallible Evidence of a Principle of Grace in the Heart. Lord, Lord, have we not propheſied in thy Name? will be rejected as a frivolous Plea.

(2.) He propheſied, being High Prieſt that Year, not that his being High Prieſt did at all diſpoſe or qualify him to be a Prophet; we cannot ſuppoſe the Pontifical Mitre to have firſt inſpired with Prophecy the baſeſt Head that ever wore it; but, (1.) Being High Prieſt, and therefore of Note and Eminence in the Conclave, God was pleas'd to put this ſignificant Word into his Mouth, rather than into the Mouth of any other, that it might be the more obſerv'd, or the Non-obſervance of it the more aggravated.

The Apothegms of great Men have been thought worthy of ſpecial Regard; A Divine Sentence is in the Lips of the King; therefore this Divine Sentence was put into the Lips of the High Prieſt, that even out of his Mouth this word might be eſtabliſhed, that Chriſt died for the Good of the Nation, and not for any Iniquity in his Hands. He happened to be High Prieſt that Year which was fixed to be the Year of the Redeemed, when Meſſiah the Prince, muſt be cut off, but not for himſelf, Dan. 9. 26. and he muſt own it. (2.) Being High Prieſt that Year, that famous Year, in which there was to be ſuch a plentiful Effuſion of the Spirit, more than had ever been yet, according to the Prophecy, Joel 2. 28, 29. compared with Acts 2. 17. ſome Drops of the bleſſed Shower light upon Caiaphas, as the Crumbs (ſaith Dr. Lightfoot) of the Childrens Bread, which fall from the Table among the Dogs. This Year was the Year of the Expiration of the Levitical Prieſthood; and out of the Mouth of him, who was that Year High Prieſt, was extorted an implicit Reſignation of it to him, who ſhould not (as they had done for many Ages) offer Beaſts for that Nation, but offer himſelf, and ſo make an End of the Sin-offering. This Reſignation he made unwittingly, as Iſrael gave the Bleſſing to Jacob.

(3.) The Matter of his Prophecy was, that Jeſus ſhould die for that Nation, the very thing to which all the Prophets bare Witneſs, who teſtified before-hand the Sufferings of Chriſt, 1 Pet. 1. 11. That the Death of Chriſt muſt be the Life and Salvation of Iſrael; he meant by that Nation, thoſe that in it obſtinately adhered to Judaiſm; but God meant thoſe in it that would receive the Doctrine of Chriſt, and would become Followers of him, all Believers, the ſpiritual Seed of Abraham. The Death of Chriſt which Caiaphas was now projecting, prov'd the Ruin of that Intereſt in the Nation, which he intended it ſhould be the Security and Eſtabliſhment of, for it brought Wrath upon them to the uttermoſt; but it proved the Advancement of that Intereſt, which he hoped it would have been the Ruin of, for Chriſt being lifted up from the Earth, drew all Men unto him. 'Tis a great thing that is here propheſied; that Jeſus ſhould die, die for others, not only for their Good, but in their Stead; die for that Nation, for they had the firſt Offer made them of Salvation by his Death. If the whole Nation of the Jews had unanimouſly believ'd in Chriſt, and received his Goſpel, they had been not only ſaved eternally, but ſaved as a Nation from their Grievances. The Fountain was firſt open'd to the Houſe of David, Zech. 13. 1. He ſo died for that Nation, as that the whole Nation ſhould not periſh, but that a Remnant ſhould be ſav'd, Rom. 11. 5.

2. The Evangeliſt enlargeth upon this Word of Caiaphas, v. 52. not for that Nation only, how much ſoever it thought it ſelf the Darling of Heaven, but that alſo he ſhould gather together in one the Children of God that were ſcattered abroad. Obſerve here,

1. The Perſons Chriſt dy'd for, not for the Nation of the Jews only, 'twould have been comparitively but a light Thing for the Son of God to go through ſo vaſt an Undertaking, only to reſtore the Preſerv'd of Jacob, and the Out-caſts of Iſrael; no, He muſt be Salvation to the Ends of the Earth, Iſa. 49. 6. He muſt die for the Children of God that were ſcatter'd abroad. 1. Some underſtand it of the Children of God that were then in Being, ſcattered abroad in the Gentile World, devout Men of every Nation, Acts 2. 5. that fear'd God, Acts 10. 2. and worſhipped him, Acts 16. 4. Proſelytes of the Gate, who ſerv'd the God of Abraham, but ſubmitted not to the Ceremonial Law of Moſes; Perſons that had a Savour of natural Religion, but were diſpers'd in the Nations, had no ſolemn Aſſemblies of their own, nor any peculiar Profeſſion to unite in, or diſtinguiſh themſelves by. Now Chriſt dy'd to incorporate theſe in one great Society, to be denominated from him, and govern'd by him; and this was the ſetting up a Standard, to which all that had a Regard to God, and a Concern for their Souls, might have Recourſe, and under which they might liſt themſelves. 2. Others take in with theſe all that belong to the Election of Grace, who are called the Children of God, tho' not yet born, becauſe they are prediſtinated to the Adoption of Children, Eph. 1. 5. Now theſe are ſcatter'd abroad in ſeveral Places of the Earth, out of all Kindreds and Tongues, Rev. 7. 9. And in ſeveral Ages of the World, to the End of Time; there are thoſe that fear him throughout all Generations, to all thoſe he had an Eye in the Atonement he made by his Blood; as he pray'd, ſo he dy'd, for for all that ſhould believe on him.

2. The Purpoſe and Intention of his Death concerning thoſe Perſons; he dy'd to gather them in, who wander'd; and to gather them together in one who were ſcatter'd; to invite them to him, that were at a Diſtance from him, and to unite them in him, that were at a Diſtance from each other, Chriſt's Dying is,

1. The great Attractive of our Hearts; for this End he is lifted up to draw Men to him. The Converſion of Souls is the gathering of them into Chriſt as their Ruler and Refuge, as the Doves to their Windows; and he died to effect this. By dying he purchaſed them to himſelf, and the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt for them; his Love in dying for us, is the great Load-ſtone of our Love.

2. The great Centre of our Unity. He gathers them together in one, Eph. 1. 10. They are one with him, one Body, one Spirit, and one with each other in him. All the Saints in all Places and Ages meet in Chriſt, as all the Members in the Head, and all the Branches in the Root. Chriſt by the Merit of his Death, recommended all the Saints in one to the Grace and Favour of God, Heb. 2. 11, 13. And by the Motive of his Death recommends them all ſeverally to the Love and Affection one of another, John 13. 34.

4. The Reſult of this Debate is a Reſolve of the Council to put Jeſus to Death, v. 53. From that Day they took Counſel together to put him to Death. They now underſtand one anothers Minds, and ſo each was fixt in his own, that Jeſus muſt die; and it ſhould ſeem a Committee was appointed to ſit, de die in diem, to conſider of it, and conſult about it, and to receive Propoſals for the effecting of it. Note, The Wickedneſs of the Wicked ripens by degrees, Jam. 1. 15. Ezek. 7. 10.

Two conſiderable Advances were now made in their accurſed Deſign againſt Chriſt. 1. What before they had thought of ſeverally, now they jointly concurr'd in, and ſo ſtrengthened the Hands one of another in this Wickedneſs, and proceeded with the greater Aſſurance. Ill Men confirm and encourage themſelves and one another in ill Practices, by comparing Notes; Men of corrupt Minds bleſs themſelves, when they find others of the ſame Mind: Then the Wickedneſs which before ſeem'd impracticable, appears not only poſſible but eaſy to be effected, vis unita fortior. 2. What before they wiſh'd done, but wanted a Colour for, now they are furniſh'd with a plauſible Pretence to juſtify themſelves in; which will ſerve, if not to take off the Guilt, that's the leaſt of their Care, yet to take off the Odium, and ſo ſatisfy, if not the perſonal, yet the political Conſcience, as ſome ſubtily diſtinguiſh. Many will go on very ſecurely in doing an ill Thing, as long as they have but ſomething to ſay in Excuſe for it. Now this Reſolution of theirs to put him to Death right or wrong, ſhews that all the Formality of a Trial, which they afterwards which they afterwards brought him upon, was but Shew and determined what to do.

5. Chriſt hereupon abſconded, knowing very well what was the Vote of their cloſe Cabal, v. 54.

1. He ſuſpended his publick Appearances, he walked no more openly among the Jews, i. e. among the Inhabitants of Judea, who were properly call'd Jews, eſpecially thoſe at Jeruſalem, ἐπιριεπατει. He did not walk up and down among them, did not go from Place to Place preaching and working Miracles with that Freedom and Openneſs that he had done, but while he ſtaid in Judea, he was there incognito. Thus the Chief Prieſts put the Light of Iſrael under a Buſhel.

2. He withdrew into an obſcure Part of the Country, ſo obſcure, that the Name of the Town he retir'd to, is ſcarce met with any where elſe. He went to a Country near the Wilderneſs, as if he were driven out from among Men, or rather wiſhing with Jeremiah, that he might have in the Wilderneſs a Lodging-place of way-faring Men, Jer. 9. 2. He enter'd into a City call'd Ephraim, ſome think Ephratah, i. e. Bethlehem, where he was born, and which border'd upon the Wilderneſs of Judah; others think, Ephron, or Ephraim mention'd, 2 Chron. 13. 19. Thither his Diſciples went with him, neither would they leave him in Solitude, nor would he leave them in Danger. There he continued διέτριβε, there he convers'd, he knew how to improve this time of Retirement in private Converſation, when he had not Opportunity of preaching publickly. He convers'd with his Diſciples, which were his Family, when he was forc'd from the Temple, and his Διάτριβα, or Diſcourſes there, no doubt were very edifying, We muſt do the Good we can, when we cannot do the Good we would.

But why would Chriſt abſcond now; 'twas not becauſe he either fear'd the Power of his Enemies, or diſtruſted his own Power; he had many Ways to ſave himſelf, and was neither averſe to ſuffering, nor unprepar'd for it; but he retir'd, (1.) To put a Mark of his Diſpleaſure upon Jeruſalem, and the People of the Jews. They rejected him and his Goſpel, juſtly therefore did he remove himſelf and his Goſpel from them. The Prince of Teachers was now removed into a Corner, (Iſa. 30. 20.) and there was no open Viſion of him, and it was a ſad Preſage of that thick Darkneſs, which was ſhortly to come upon Jeruſalem, becauſe ſhe knew not the Day of her Viſitation. 2. To render the Cruelty of his Enemies againſt him the more inexcuſable. If that which was grievous to them, and thought dangerous to the Publick, was his publick Appearances, he would try whether their Anger would be turned away by his Retirement into Privacy; when David was fled to Gath, Saul was ſatisfied, and ſought no more for him, 1 Sam. 27. 4. But it was the Life, the precious Life, that theſe wicked Men hunted after. (3.) His Hour was not yet come, and therefore he declin'd Danger, and did it in a Way common to Men, both to warrant and encourage the Flight of his Servants in time of Perſecution, and to comfort thoſe who are forc'd from their Uſefulneſs, and bury'd alive in Privacy and Obſcurity; The Diſciple is not better than his Lord. (4.) His Retirement for a while was to make his Return into Jeruſalem, when his Hour was come, the more remarkable and illuſtrious. This louden'd the Acclamations of Joy, with which his Well-wiſhers welcom'd him at his next publick Appearance, when he rode triumphantly into the City.

6. The ſtrict Enquiry made for him during his Receſs, v. 55, 56, 57.

1. The Occaſion of it was the Approach of the Paſſover, at which they expected his Preſence according to the Cuſtom, v. 55. The Jews Paſſover was nigh at hand, a Feſtival which ſhone bright in their Calendar, and which there was great Expectation of for ſome time before; this was Chriſt's fourth and laſt Paſſover, ſince he enter'd upon his publick Miniſtry, and it might truly be ſaid, as 2 Chron. 35. 18. There never was ſuch a Paſſover in Iſrael, for in it Chriſt our Paſſover was ſacrific'd for us. Now the Paſſover being at hand, many went out of all Parts of the Country to Jeruſalem, to purify themſelves. This was either, (1.) A neceſſary Purification of thoſe who had contracted any Ceremonial Pollution; they came to be ſprinkled with the Water of Purification, and to perform the other Rites of Cleanſing according to the Law, for they might not eat the Paſſover in their Uncleanneſs, Numb. 9. 6. Thus before our Goſpel-Paſſover, we muſt renew our Repentance, and by Faith waſh in the Blood of Chriſt, and ſo compaſs God's Altars. Or, (2.) A voluntary Purification, or Self-ſequeſtration, by Faſting and Prayer, and other religious Exerciſes, which many that were more devout than their Neighbours, ſpent ſome time in before the Paſſoever, and choſe to do it at Jeruſalem, becauſe of the Advantage of the Temple-Service. Thus muſt we by ſolemn Preparation ſet Bounds about the Mount on which we expect to meet with God.

2. The Enquiry was very ſolicitous; They ſaid, what think ye, that he will not come to the Feaſt, v. 56.

1. Some think this was ſaid by thoſe that wiſh'd well to him, and expected his coming, that they might hear his Doctrine, and ſee his Miracles. They that came early out of the Country, that they might purify themſelves, were very deſirous to meet with Chriſt, and perhaps came up the ſooner with that Expectation, and therefore as they ſtood in the Temple, the Place of their Purification, they enquir'd what News of Chriſt? Could any Body give them Hopes of ſeeing him? If there were thoſe, and thoſe of the moſt devout People, and beſt affected to Religion, who ſhew'd this Reſpect to Chriſt, it was a Check to the Enmity of the Chief Prieſts, and a Witneſs againſt them.

2. It ſhould rather ſeem they were his Enemies that made this Enquiry after him, who wiſh'd for an Opportunity to lay Hands on him. They ſeeing the Town begin to fill with devout People out of the Country, wonder'd they did not find him among them; when they ſhould have been aſſiſting them that came to purify themſelves, according to the Duty of their Place, they were plotting againſt Chriſt. How miſerably degenerate was the Jewiſh Church, when the Prieſts of the Lord were become like the Prieſts of the Calves, a Snare on Mizpeh, and a Net ſpread upon Tabor, and were profound to make Slaughter, Hoſ. 5. 1. 2. When inſtead of keeping the Feaſt with unleavened Bread, they were themſelves ſower'd with Leaven of the worſt Malice. Their asking, What think ye? Will he not come up to the Feaſt? implies, (1.) an invidious Reflection upon Chriſt, as if he would omit his Attendance on the Feaſt of the Lord, for fear of expoſing himſelf. If others through Irreligion be abſent, they are not animadverted upon, but if Chriſt be abſent for his own Preſervation (for God will have Mercy, and not Sacrifice) 'tis turn'd to his Reproach, as it was to David's, that his Seat was empty at the Feaſt, tho' Saul wanted him only, that he might have an Opportunity of nailing him to the Wall with his Javelin, 1 Sam. 20. 26, 27. 'Tis ſad to ſee holy Ordinances proſtituted to ſuch unholy Purpoſes. (2.) A fearful Apprehenſion they had of miſſing their Game; Will he not come up to the Feaſt? If he do not, our Meaſures are broke, and we are all undone; for there's no ſending a Purſuivant into the Country to fetch him up.

3. The Orders iſſued out by the Government for the apprehending of him were very ſtrict, v. 57. The great Sanhedrin iſſued out a Proclamation, ſtrictly charging and requiring, that if any Perſon in City or Country knew where he was, pretending that he was a Criminal, and had fled from Juſtice, they ſhould ſhew it, that he might be taken, probably promiſing a Reward to any that would diſcover him, and impoſing a Penalty on ſuch as harbour'd him. So that hereby he was repreſented to the People as an obnoxious dangerous Man, an Out-law, whom any one may have a Blow at. Saul iſſued out ſuch a Proclamation for apprehending of David, and Ahab of Elijah. See, (1.) How intent they were upon this Proſecution, and how indefatigably they labour'd in it, now at a time when if they had had any Senſe of Religion, and the Duty of their Function, they would have found themſelves ſomething elſe to do.

(2.) How willingly they were to involve others in the Guilt with them; if any Man were capable of betraying Chriſt, they would have him think himſelf bound to do it. Thus was the Intereſt they had in the People abus'd to the worſt Purpoſes. Note, It is an Aggravation of the Sins of wicked Rulers, that they commonly make thoſe that are under them, Inſtruments of their Unrighteouſneſs. But notwithſtanding this Proclamation, tho' doubtleſs many knew where he was, yet ſuch was his Intereſt in the Affections of ſome, and ſuch God's Hold of the Conſciences of others, that he continued undiſcover'd, for the Lord hid him.

CHAP. XII.

It was a melancholy Account which we had in the Cloſe of the foregoing Chapter, of the Diſgrace done to our Lord Jeſus, when the Scribes and Phariſees proclaim'd him a Traytor to their Church, and put upon him all the Marks of Ignominy they could; but the Story of this Chapter ballanced that, by giving us an Account of the Honour done to the Redeemer, notwithſtanding all that Reproach thrown upon him. Thus the one was ſet over againſt the other. Let us ſee what Honours were heaped on the Head of the Lord Jeſus, even in the Depths of his Humiliation. (1.) Mary did him Honour, by anointing his Feet at the Supper in Bethany, v. 1.—11. (2.) The common People did him Honour with their Acclamations of Joy, when he rode in Triumph to Jeruſalem, v. 12—19. (3.) The Greeks did him Honour, by enquiring after him with a longing Deſire to ſee him, v. 20.—26. (4.) God the Father did him Honour, by a Voice from Heaven, bearing Teſtimony to him, v. 27.—36. (5.) He had Honour done him by the Old Teſtament Prophets, who foretold the Infidelity of thoſe that heard the Report of him, v. 37.—41. (6.) He had Honour done him by ſome of the chief Rulers, whoſe Conſciences witneſſed for him, tho' they had not Courage to own it, v. 42, 43. (7.) He claimed Honour to himſelf, by aſſerting his Divine Miſſion, and the Account he gave of his Errand into the World, ver. 44—50.

THEN Jeſus, ſix days before the paſſover, came to Bethany, where Lazarus was, which had been dead, whom he raiſed from the dead. 2 There they made him a ſupper, and Martha ſerved: but Lazarus was one of them that ſat at the table with him. 3 Then took Mary a pound of oyntment, of ſpikenard, very coſtly, and anointed the feet of Jeſus, and wiped his feet with her Hair: and the houſe was filled with the odour of the ointment. 4 Then ſaith one of his diſciples, Judas Iſcariot, Simon's ſon, which ſhould betray him, 5 Why was not this ointment ſold for three hundred Pence, and given to the poor? 6 This he ſaid, not that he cared for the poor; but becauſe he was a thief, and had the bag, and bare what was put therein. 7 Then ſaid Jeſus, Let her alone: againſt the day of my burying hath ſhe kept this. 8 For the poor always ye have with you; but me ye have not always. 9. Much people of the Jews therefore knew that he was there: and they came, not for Jeſus ſake only, but that they might ſee Lazarus alſo, whom he had raiſed from the dead. 10. But the chief prieſts conſulted, that they might put Lazarus alſo to death; 11 Becauſe that by reaſon of him many of the Jews went away, and believed on Jeſus.

In theſe Verſes we have,

Firſt, The kind Viſit our Lord Jeſus made to his Friends at Bethany, v. 1. He came up out of the Country, ſix Days before the Paſſover, and took up at Bethany, a Town, that according to the Computation of our Metropolis, lay ſo near Jeruſalem, as to be within the Bills of Mortality. He lodged here with his Friend Lazarus, whom he had lately rais'd from the Dead. His coming to Bethany now may be conſider'd.

1. As a Preface to the Paſſover he intended to celebrate, to which Relation is had in the Date of the time, Six Days before the Paſſover. Devout Men ſet time apart before, to prepare themſelves for that Solemnity, and thus it became our Lord Jeſus to fulfil all Righteouſneſs. And thus he has ſet us an Example of ſolemn Self-ſequeſtration, before the Solemnities of the Goſpel Paſſover; let us hear the Voice crying, Prepare ye the Way of the Lord.

2. As a voluntary expoſing himſelf to the Fury of his Enemies; now his Hour was at hand, he came within their Reach, and freely offer'd himſelf to them, tho' he had ſhew'd them how eaſily he could evade all their Snares, Note, 1. Our Lord Jeſus was voluntarily in his Sufferings; his Life was not forc'd from him, but reſign'd; Lo, I come. As the Strength of his Perſecutors could not over-power him, ſo their Subtilty could not ſurprize him, but he dy'd, becauſe he would. 2. As there is a time when we are allow'd to ſhift for our own Preſervation, ſo there is a time we are call'd to jeopard our Lives in the Cauſe of God, as St. Paul, when he went bound in the Spirit to Jeruſalem.

3. As an Inſtance of his Kindneſs to his Friends at Bethany, whom he lov'd, and from whom he was ſhortly to be taken away. This was a Farewel-Viſit, he came to take Leave of them, and to leave with them Words of Comfort againſt the Day of Trial that was approaching. Note, tho' Chriſt depart for a time from his People, he will give them Intimations that he parts in Love, and not in Anger. Bethany is here deſcrib'd to be the Town, where Lazarus was, whom he raiſed from the Dead. That Miracle wrought here, put a new Honour upon the Place, and made it remarkable. Chriſt came hither to obſerve what Improvement was made of that Miracle; for where Chriſt works Wonders, and ſhews ſignal Favours, he looks after them to ſee whether the Intention of them be anſwer'd. Where he has ſown plentifully, he obſerves whether it comes up again.

Secondly, The kind Entertainment which his Friends there gave him; they made him a Supper, v. 2. a great Supper, a Feaſt. 'Tis query'd, whether this was the ſame with that which is recorded, Mat. 26. 6. &c. in the Houſe of Simon; moſt think they were; for the Subſtance of the Story, and many of the Circumſtances agree; but that comes in after what was ſaid two Days before the Paſſover, whereas this was done ſix Days before; nor is it likely that Martha ſhould ſerve in any Houſe but her own; and therefore I incline with Dr. Lightfoot to think them different; that that in Matthew was on the third Day of the Paſſover Week, but this here the ſeventh Day of the Week before, being the Jewiſh Sabbath, the Night before he rode in Triumph to Jeruſalem: That in the Houſe of Simon, this of Lazarus; theſe two being the moſt publick and ſolemn Entertainments given him in Bethany, Mary graced them both, with this Token of her Reſpect; and what ſhe left of her Ointment this firſt time, when ſhe ſpent but a Pound of it, v. 3. ſhe us'd that a ſecond time, when ſhe pour'd it all out, Mark 14. 3.

Let us ſee the Account of this Entertainment.

1. They made him a Supper; for with them ordinarily Supper was the beſt Meal. This they did in Token of their Reſpect and Gratitude, for a Feaſt is made for Friendſhip; and that they might have an Opportunity of free and pleaſant Converſation with him, for a Feaſt is made for Fellowſhip. Perhaps in Alluſion to this and the like Entertainments given to Chriſt in the Days of his Fleſh, it is that he promiſeth to ſuch as open the Door of their Hearts to him, that he will ſup with him, Rev. 3. 20.

2. Martha ſerved, ſhe her ſelf waited at Table, in Token of her great Reſpect to the Maſter; tho' a Perſon of ſome Quality, ſhe did not think it below her to ſerve, when Chriſt ſat at Meat; nor ſhould we think it a Diſhonour or Diſparagement to us to ſtoop to any Service whereby Chriſt may be honoured. Chriſt had formerly reproved Martha for being troubled with much ſerving. But ſhe did not therefore leave off ſerving, as ſome, who when they are reproved for one Extreme, peeviſhly run into another; no, ſtill ſhe ſerved; not as then at a Diſtance, but within hearing of Chriſt's gracious Words, reckoning thoſe happy, who, as the Queen of Sheba ſaid concerning Solomon's Servants, ſtood continually before him to hear his Wiſdom; better be a Waiter at Chriſt's Table, than a Gueſt at a Table of a Prince.

3. Lazarus was one of them that ſat at Meat. It proved the Truth of his Reſurrection, as it did of Chriſt's, that there were thoſe who did eat and drink with them, Acts 10. 41. Lazarus did not retire into a Wilderneſs after his Reſurrection, as if when he had made a Viſit to the other World, he muſt ever after be a Hermite in this; no, he convers'd familiarly with People as others did. He ſat at Meat, as a Monument of the Miracle Chriſt had wrought. Thoſe whom Chriſt has raiſed up to a ſpiritual Life, are made to ſit together with him. See Eph. 2. 5, 6.

Thirdly, The particular Reſpect which Mary ſhewed him above the reſt, in anointing his Feet with Ointment, v. 3. She had a Pound of Ointment of Spikenard, very coſtly, which probably ſhe had by her for her own Uſe, but the Death and Reſurrection of her Brother had quite wean'd her from the Uſe of all ſuch things, and with this ſhe anointed the Feet of Jeſus, and as a farther Token of her Reverence for him, and Negligence of her ſelf, ſhe wiped them with her Hair, and this was taken Notice of by all that were preſent, for the Houſe was filled with the Odour of the Ointment. See Prov. 27. 16.

Doubtleſs ſhe intended this as a Token of her Love to Chriſt, who had given real Tokens of his Love to her and her Family, and thus ſhe ſtudies what ſhe ſhall render. Now by this her Love to Chriſt appears to have been,

1. A generous Love, ſo far from ſticking at neceſſary Charges in his Service, that ſhe is as ingenious to create an Occaſion of Expence in Religion, as moſt are to avoid it. If ſhe had any thing more valuable than other, that muſt be brought out for the Honour of Chriſt. Note, Thoſe who love Chriſt truly, love him ſo much better than this World, as to be willing to lay out the beſt they have for him.

2. A condeſcending Love. She not only beſtow'd her Ointment upon Chriſt, but pour'd it upon him with her own Hands, which ſhe might have order'd one of her Servants to have done; nay, ſhe did not as uſual anoint his Head with it, but his Feet. True Love, as it doth not ſtick at Charges, ſo it does not ſtick at Pains in honouring Chriſt. Conſidering what Chriſt has done, and ſuffer'd for us, we are very ungrateful, if we think any Service too hard to do, or to mean to ſtoop to, whereby he may really be glorified.

3. A believing Love; there was Faith working by this Love, Faith in Jeſus, as the Meſſiah, the Chriſt, i. e. the Anointed, that being both Prieſt and King, was anointed as Aaron and David were. Note, God's Anointed ſhould be our Anointed; has God pour'd on him the Oyl of Gladneſs above his Fellows, let us pour on him the Ointment of our beſt Affections above all Competitors. By conſenting to Chriſt as our King, we muſt comply with God's Deſigns, appointing him our Head whom he has appointed, Hoſ. 1. 11.

The filling of the Houſe with the pleaſant Odour of the Ointment, may intimate to us, (1.) That thoſe who entertain Chriſt in their Hearts and Houſes, bring a ſweet Odour into them; Chriſt's Preſence brings with it an Ointment and Perfume which rejoice the Heart. (2.) Honours done to Chriſt are Comforts to all his Friends and Followers, they are to God and good Men an Offering of a ſweet ſmelling Savour.

Fourthly, Judas's diſlike of Mary's Compliment, or Token of her Reſpect to Chriſt, v. 4, 5. where obſerve,

1. The Perſon that carp'd at it was Judas, one of his Diſciples; not one of their Nature but only one of their Number: 'Tis poſſible for the worſt of Men to lurk under the Diſguiſe of the beſt Profeſſion; and there are many who pretend to ſtand in Relation to Chriſt, that really have no Kindneſs for him. Judas an Apoſtle, a Preacher of the Goſpel, and yet one that diſcourag'd and check'd this Inſtance of pious Affection and Devotion. Note, 'Tis ſad to ſee the Life of Religion, and Holy Zeal frown'd upon and diſcountenanc'd by ſuch as are oblig'd by their Office to aſſiſt and encourage it. But this was he that ſhould betray Chriſt. Note, Coldneſs of Love to Chriſt, and a ſecret Contempt of ſerious Piety, when they appear in Profeſſors of Religion, are ſad Preſages of a final Apoſtacy. Hypocrites by leſſer Inſtances of Wordlineſs diſcover themſelves to be ready for a Cloſure, with greater Temptations.

2. The Pretence with which he diſcover'd his Diſlike, v. 5. Why was not this Ointment, ſince it was deſign'd for a pious Uſe, ſold for Three Hundred Pence, which is 8 l. 10 s. of our Money, and given to the Poor? Here's, (1.) A foul Iniquity gilded over with a ſpecious and plauſible Pretence, for Satan transforms himſelf into an Angel of Light. (2.) Here is worldly Wiſdom paſſing a Cenſure upon pious Zeal, as guilty of Imprudence and Miſmangement. Thoſe who value themſelves upon their ſecular Policy, and undervalue others for their ſerious Piety, have more in them of the Spirit of Judas, than they would be thought to have. (3.) Here's Charity to the Poor made a Colour for oppoſing a piece of Piety to Chriſt, and ſecretly made a Cloak for Covetouſneſs. Many excuſe themſelves from laying out in Charity, under Pretence of laying up for Charity; whereas if the Clouds be full of Rain, they will empty themſelves. Judas ask'd, Why was it not given to the Poor? To which its eaſie to anſwer, becauſe it was better beſtow'd upon the Lord Jeſus. Note, We muſt not conclude that thoſe do no acceptable piece of Service, who do not do it in our way, and juſt as we would have them; as if every Thing muſt be adjudg'd imprudent and unfit, which doth not take its Meaſures from us and our Sentiments. Proud Men think all ill-adviſed that do not adviſe with them.

3. The Detection and Diſcovery of Judas's Hypocriſie herein, v. 6. Here's the Evangeliſt's Remark upon it, by the Direction of him who ſearcheth the Heart. This he ſaid, not that he cared for the Poor, as he pretended, but becauſe he was a Thief, and had the Bag.

1. It did not come from a Principle of Charity: Not that he cared for the Poor. He had no Compaſſion towards them, no Concern for them, what were the Poor to him, any further than he might ſerve his own Ends, by being Overſeer of the Poor. 1. Some warmly contend for the Power of the Church, others for its Purity, when perhaps it may be ſaid, not that they care for the Church; its all one to them whether its true Intereſt ſink or ſwim but under the Umbrage of this they are advancing themſelves. Simon and Levi pretended Zeal for Circumciſion, not that they cared for the Seal of the Covenant, any more than Jehu for the Lord of Hoſts, when he ſaid, come ſee my Zeal.

2. It did not come from a Principle of Covetouſneſs. The Truth of the Matter was, This Ointment being deſign'd for his Maſter, he wou'd rather have had it in Money, to be put in the common Stock which he was intruſted with, and then he knew what to do with it. Obſerve,

1. Judas was Treaſurer of Chriſt's Houſhold, whence ſome think he was call'd Iſcariot, the Bag-bearer.

(1.) See what Eſtate Jeſus and his Diſciples had to live upon, 'twas but little; they had neither Farms nor Merchandiſe, neither Barns nor Store-houſes, only a Bag; or ſome think, the Word ſignifies a Box or Coffer, wherein they kept juſt enough for their Subſiſtence, giving the Over-plus, if any were, to the Poor, this they carry'd about with them where-ever they went; Omnia mea mecum porto. This Bag was ſupply'd with the Contributions of good People, and the Maſter and Diſciples had all in common; let this leſſen our Eſteem of worldly Wealth, and deaden us to the punctilo's of State and Ceremony, and reconcile us to a mean and deſpicable Way of living, if that be our Lot; that it was our Maſter's Lot; for our Sakes he became poor.

(2.) See who was the Steward of the little they had, 'twas Judas, he was Purſe-bearer; 'twas his Office to receive and pay, and we do not find that he gave any account what Markets he made. He was appointed to this Office, either, 1. Becauſe he was the leaſt and loweſt of all the Diſciples; 'twas not Peter or John that was made Steward, tho' 'twas a Place of Truſt and Profit, but Judas, the meaneſt of them. Note, Secular Employments, as they are a Diverſion, ſo they are a Diminution to a Miniſter of the Goſpel, ſee 1 Cor. 6. 4. The prime Miniſter's of State in Chriſt's Kingdom refus'd to be concern'd in the Revenue, Acts 6. 2. 2. Becauſe he was deſirous of the Place. He loved in his Heart to be fingering Money, and therefore had the Money-bag committo him, either, 1. As a Kindneſs, to pleaſe him, and thereby obliged him to be true to his Maſter. Subjects are ſometimes diſaffected to the Government becauſe baulk'd in their Preferment; but Judas had no Cauſe to complain of that, the Bag he choſe, and the Bag he had. Or, 2. In Judgment upon him, to puniſh him for his ſecret Wickedneſs, that was put into his Hands, which would be a Snare and Trap to him. Note, Strong Inclinations to Sin within, are oftentimes juſtly puniſh'd with ſtrong Temptations to Sin without: We have little Reaſon to be fond of the Bag, or proud of it, for at the beſt we are but Stewards of it; and it was Judas, one of an ill Character, and born to be hang'd, (pardon the Expreſſion) that was Steward of the Bag; the Proſperity of Fools deſtroys them.

2. Being truſted with the Bag he was a Thief, i. e. he had a thieviſh Diſpoſition. The reigning Love of Money is heart-Theft, as much as Anger and Revenge is heart-Murther. Or, perhaps he had been really guilty of embezzling his Maſter's Stores, and converting that to his own Uſe which was given to the publick Stock. And ſome conjecture that he was now contriving to fill his Pockets, and then run away and leave his Maſter, having heard him ſpeak ſo much of Troubles approaching, which he could by no means reconcile himſelf to. Note, They to whom the Management and Diſpoſal of publick Money is committed, have need to be govern'd by ſteady Principles of Juſtice and Honeſty, that no Blot cleave to their Hands, for tho' ſome make a Jeſt of cheating the Government, or the Church, or the Country, if cheating be theiving, and Communities being more conſiderable than particular Perſons, if robbing them be the greater Sin, the Guilt of Theft and the Portion of Theives will be found no jeſting Matter. Judas that had betray'd his Truſt ſoon after betray'd his Maſter.

Fifthly, Chriſt's Juſtification of what Mary did, v. 7. 8. Let her alone. Hereby he intimated, (1.) His Acceptance of her Kindneſs. Tho' he was perfectly mortified to all the Delights of Senſe, yet as it was a Token of her good Will, he ſignified himſelf well-pleaſed with it. (2.) His Care that ſhe ſhould not be moleſted in it. Pardon her, ſo it may be read; excuſe her this once, if it be an Error, 'tis an Error of her Love. Note, Chriſt would not have them cenſur'd or diſcourag'd that ſincerely deſign to pleaſe him, tho' in their honeſt Endeavours there be not all the Diſcretion that may be, Rom. 14. 3. Tho' we would not do as they do, yet let them alone. For Mary's Juſtification,

1. Chriſt puts a favourable Conſtruction upon what ſhe did, which they that condemn'd it were not aware of. Againſt the Day of my burying ſhe has kept this. Or, ſhe hath reſerved this for the Day of my embalming, ſo, Dr. Hammond. You do not grudge the Ointment us'd for the embalming your dead Friends, nor ſay that ſhould be ſold and given to the Poor. Now this anointing either was ſo intended, or at leaſt may be ſo interpreted, for the Day of my burying is now at Hand, and ſhe has anointed a Body that is already as good as dead. Note, (1.) Our Lord Jeſus thought much, and of his own Death and Burial, it would be good for us to do ſo too. (2.) Providence doth often ſo open a Door of Opportunity to good Chriſtians; and the Spirit of Grace doth ſo open their Hearts, as that the Expreſſions of their pious Zeal proves to be more ſeaſonable, and more beautiful than any foreſight of their own could make them. (3.) The Grace of Chriſt puts kind Comments upon the pious Words and Actions of good People, and not only makes the beſt of what is amiſs, but makes the moſt of what is good.

2. He gives a ſufficient Anſwer to Judas's Objection, v. 8. (1.) 'Tis ſo ordered in the Kingdom of Providence that the Poor we have always with us, ſome or other that are proper Objects of Charity, Deut. 15. 11. ſuch there will be as long as there is in this lapſed State of Mankind ſo much Folly and ſo much Affliction. (2.) 'Tis ſo ordered in the Kingdom of Grace that the Church ſhould not always have the bodily Preſence of Jeſus Chriſt, Me ye have not always, but only now for a little Time. Note, We need Wiſdom when Two Duties come in Competition, to know which to give the Preference to, which muſt be determin'd by the Circumſtances. Opportunities are to be improv'd, and thoſe Opportunities firſt and moſt vigorouſly which are likely to be of the ſhorteſt Continuance, and which we ſeem moſt ſpeedily haſtning away. That good Duty which may be done at any Time, ought to give way to that which cannot be done but juſt now, Sixthly, The publick Notice which was taken of our Lord Jeſus here at this Supper in Bethany, v. 9. Much People of the Jews knew that he was there, for he was the Talk of the Town, and they came flocking thither; the more becauſe he had lately abſconded, and now broke out as the Sun from behind a dark Cloud.

1. They came to ſee Jeſus, whoſe Name was very much greaten'd, and made conſiderable by the late Miracle he had wrought in raiſing Lazarus. They came not to hear him, but to gratify their Curioſity with a Sight of him here at Bethany, fearing he would not appear publickly as he us'd to do this Paſſover. They came, not to ſeize him, or inform againſt him, tho' the Government had proſecuted him to an Out-lawry, but to ſee him, and ſhew him Reſpect. Note, There are ſome in whoſe Affections Chriſt will have an Intereſt in ſpite of all the Attempts of his Enemies to miſrepreſent him. It being known where Chriſt was, Multitudes came to him. Note, Where the King is, there is the Court; where Chriſt is, there will the gathering of the People be, Luke 17.

2. They came to ſee Lazarus and Chriſt together, which was a very inviting Sight. Some came, for the Confirmation of their Faith in Chriſt, to have the Story perhaps from Lazarus's own Mouth. Others came only for the gratifying of their Curioſity, that they might ſay they had ſeen a Man who had been dead and buried, and yet liv'd again; ſo that Lazarus ſerv'd for a Show theſe Holidays, to thoſe who, like the Athenians, ſpent their Time in telling and hearing new Things. Perhaps ſome came to put curious Queſtions to Lazarus about the State of the Dead, to ask what News from the other World; we our ſelves have ſometimes ſaid, it may be, we would have gone a great Way for one Hour's Diſcourſe with Lazarus: But if any came on this Errand, 'tis probable Lazarus was ſilent, and gave them no account of his Voyage; however the Scripture is ſilent, and gives us no account of it; and we muſt not covet to be wiſe above what is written. But our Lord Jeſus was preſent, who was a much fitter Perſon for them to apply than Lazarus; for if we hear not Moſes and the Prophets, Chriſt and the Apoſtles; if we heed not what they tell us concerning another World, neither would we be perſwaded tho' Lazarus roſe from the dead. We have a more ſure Word of Prophecy.

Seventhly, The Indignation of the Chief Prieſts at the growing Intereſt of our Lord Jeſus, and their Plot to cruſh it, v. 10, 11. They conſulted (or decreed) how they might put Lazarus alſo to death becauſe that by reaſon of him, i. e. of what was done to him, not of any Thing he ſaid or did, many of the Jews went away and believed in Jeſus. Here obſerve,

1. How vain and unſucceſsful their Attempts againſt Chriſt had hitherto been. They had done all they could to alienate the People from him, and exaſperate them againſt him, and yet many of the Jews, their Neighbours, their Creatures, their Admirers were ſo overcome by the convincing Evidence of Chriſt's Miracles, that they went away from the Intereſt and Party of the Prieſts, went off from Obedience to their Tyranny, and believed on Jeſus. And it was by Reaſon of Lazarus; his Reſurrection put Life into their Faith, and convinced them that this Jeſus was undoubtedly the Meſſiah, and had Life in himſelf, and Power to give Life. This Miracle confirmed them in the Belief of his other Miracles which they had heard he wrought in Galilee; what was impoſſible to him that could raiſe the dead?

2. How abſurd and unreaſonable this Day's Vote was, that Lazarus muſt be put to death. This is an Inſtance of the moſt brutiſh Rage that could be, they were like a wild Bull in a Net, full of Fury, and laying about them without any Conſideration: 'Twas a Sign they neither feared God nor regarded Man; for,

1. If they had feared God they would not have done ſuch an Act of defiance to him. God will have Lazarus to live by Miracle, and they will have him to die by Malice. They cry, Away with ſuch a Fellow, 'tis not fit he ſhould live, when God had ſo lately ſent him back to the Earth, declaring it highly fit he ſhould live; what was this but walking contrary to God? They would put Lazarus to death, and challenge Almighty Power to raiſe him again, as if they could contend with God, and try Titles with the King of Kings? Who has the Keys of Death and the Grave, he or they? O cæca Militia; Chriſtus qui ſuſcitare potuit mortuum, non poſſit occiſum? Aug. in loc. Lazarus is ſingled out to be the Object of their ſpecial Hatred, becauſe God has diſtinguiſh'd him by the Tokens of his peculiar Love, as if they had made a League offenſive and defenſive with Death and Hell, and reſolved to be ſevere upon all Deſerters. One would think they ſhould rather have conſulted how they might have joyn'd in Friendſhip with Lazarus and his Family, and by their Mediations have reconciled themſelves to this Jeſus whom they had perſecuted; but the God of this World had blinded their Minds.

2. If they had regarded Man, they would not have done ſuch an Act of Injuſtice to Lazarus, an innocent Man, to whoſe Charge they could not pretend to lay any Crime. What Bands are ſtrong enough to hold thoſe, who can ſo eaſily break through the moſt ſacred Ties of common Juſtice, and violate the Maxims which even Nature it ſelf teacheth; but the ſupport of their own Tyranny and Superſtition were thought ſufficient, as in the Church of Rome, not only to juſtify, but to conſecrate, the greateſt Villanies, and make them meritorious.

12 ¶ On the next day, much people that were come to the feaſt, when they heard that Jeſus was coming to Jeruſalem, 13 Took branches of palm-trees, and went forth to meet him, and cried, Hoſanna, bleſſed is the King of Iſrael that cometh in the name of the Lord. 14 And Jeſus when he found a young aſs, ſat thereon; as it is written, 15 Fear not, daughter of Sion: behold thy King cometh, ſitting on an aſſes colt. 16 Theſe things underſtood not his diſciples at the firſt: but when Jeſus was glorified, than remembred they that theſe things were written of him, and that they had done theſe things unto him. 17 The people therefore that was with him, when he called Lazarus out of his grave, and raiſed him from the dead, bear record. 18 For this cauſe the people alſo met him, for that they heard that he had done this miracle. 19 The Phariſees therefore ſaid among themſelves, perceive ye how you prevail nothing? behold, the world is gone after him.

This Story of Chriſt's riding in Triumph to Jeruſalem is recorded by all the Evangeliſts, as worthy of ſpecial Remark; and in it we may obſerve,

Firſt, The Reſpects that were paid to our Lord Jeſus by the common People, v. 12, 13. where we are told,

1. Who they were that paid him theſe Reſpects, much People, ὄχλος πολὺς, a great Crowd of thoſe that came up to the Feaſt; not the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem, but the Country People that came from remote Parts to worſhip at the Feaſt; the nearer the Temple of the Lord, the farther from the Lord of the Temple. They were ſuch as came up to the Feaſt. (1.) Perhaps they had been Chriſt's Hearers in the Country, and great Admirers of him there, and therefore were forward to teſtify their Reſpects to him at Jeruſalem, where they knew he had many Enemies. Note, Thoſe that have a true Value and Veneration for Chriſt, will neither be aſham'd nor afraid to own him before Men in any Inſtance whereby they may do him Honour. (2.) Perhaps they were thoſe more devout Jews that came up to the Feaſt ſome time before to purify themſelves, that were more inclin'd to Religion than their Neighbours, and thoſe were they that were ſo forward to honour Chriſt. Note, The more Regard Men have to God and Religion in general, the better diſpos'd they will be to entertain Chriſt and his Religion, which is not deſtructive but perfective of all previous Diſcoveries and Inſtitutions. They were not the Rulers, or the Great Men that went out to meet Chriſt, but the Commonality; ſome would have call'd them a Mob, a Rabble; but Chriſt has choſen the weak and fooliſh Things, 1 Cor. 1. 27. and is honour'd more by the Multitude than by the Magnificence of his Followers, for he values Men by their Souls, not their Names and Titles of Honour.

2. On what Occaſion they did it, they heard that Jeſus was coming to Jeruſalem. They had enquired for him, chap. 11. 55, 56. Will he not come up to the Feaſt? And now they hear he is coming; for none that ſeek Chriſt ſeek in vain. Now when they heard he was coming, they beſtirr'd themſelves to give him an agreeable Reception. Note, Tidings of the Approach of Chriſt and his Kingdom, ſhould awaken us to conſider what is the Work of the Day, that it muſt be done in the Day. Iſrael may prepare to meet their God, Amos 4. 12. and the Virgins to meet the Bridegroom.

3. In what way they expreſs'd their Reſpects; they had not the Keys of the City to preſent to him, nor the Sword or Mace to carry before him, none of the City Muſick to compliment him with, but ſuch as they had they gave him; and even this deſpicable Crowd was a faint Reſemblance of that glorious Company which John ſaw, before the Throne, and before the Lamb, Rev. 7. 9, 10. Tho' theſe were not before the Throne, they were before the Lamb, the Paſcal Lamb, who now according to the uſual Ceremony, four Days before the Feaſt, was ſet apart to be ſacrificed for us. There 'tis ſaid of that celeſtial Choir,

1. That they had Palms in their Hands, and ſo had theſe Branches of Palm-trees. The Palm-tree has ever been an Emblem of Victory and Triumph; Cicero calls one that had won many Prizes, Plurimarum Palmarum Homo. Chriſt was now by his Death to conquer Principalities and Powers, and therefore 'twas fit he ſhould have the Victor's Palm born before him; tho' he was but girding on the Harneſs, yet he could boaſt as tho' he had put it off. But this was not all, the carrying of Palm-Branches was part of the Ceremony of the Feaſt of Tabernacles, Lev. 23. 40. Neh. 8. 15. and their uſing of this Expreſſion of Joy in the Welcome given to our Lord Jeſus, intimates, that all the Feaſts pointed at his Goſpel, and had the Accompliſhment in it, and that particularly that of the Feaſt of Tabernacles, Zech. 14. 16.

2. That they cryed with a loud Voice, ſaying, Salvation to our God, Rev. 7. 10. ſo did theſe here, they ſhouted before him as is uſual in popular Welcomes, Hoſanna, Bleſſed is the King of Iſrael that comes in the Name of the Lord; and Hoſanna ſignifies Salvation. 'Tis fetch'd from Pſal. 118. 25, 26. See how well acquainted theſe common People were with the Scripture, and how pertinently they apply'd it to the Meſſiah. High Thoughts of Chriſt will be beſt expreſs'd in Scripture Words. Now in their Acclamations,

1. They acknowledge our Lord Jeſus to be the King of Iſrael, that comes in the Name of the Lord. Tho' he went now in Poverty and Diſgrace, yet contrary to the Notions their Scribes had given them of the Meſſiah, they own him to be a King; which ſpeaks both his Dignity and Honour, which we muſt adore; and his Dominion and Power, which we muſt ſubmit to. They own him to be, 1. A rightful King, coming in the Name of the Lord, Pſal. 2. 6. ſent of God, not only as a Prophet, but as a King. 2. The promiſed and a long expected King, Meſſiah the Prince, for he is the King of Iſrael. According to the Light they had, they proclaimed him King of Iſrael in the Streets of Jeruſalem; and they themſelves being Iſraelites, hereby they avouch'd him for their King.

2. They heartily wiſh well to his Kingdom, that's the meaning of Hoſanna; let the King of Iſrael proſper, as when Solomon was crowned, they cry'd, God ſave King Solomon, 1 Kings 1. 38. In crying Hoſanna they prayed for Three Things. (1.) That his Kingdom might come in the Light and Knowledge of it, and in the Power and Efficacy of it. God ſpeed the Goſpel Plow. (2.) That it might Conquer, and be Victorious over all Oppoſition, Rev. 6. 2. (3.) That it might continue. Hoſanna is, Let the King live for ever; tho' his Kingdom may be diſturb'd, let it never be deſtroy'd, Pſal. 72. 17.

3. They bid him welcome into Jeruſalem; welcome as they might ſay, welcome is he that cometh; we are heartily glad to ſee him; come in thou bleſſed of the Lord: And well may we attend him with our Bleſſings, who meets us with his. This welcome is like that, Pſal. 24. 7, 9. Lift up your Heads, O ye Gates. Thus we muſt every one of us bid Chriſt welcome into our Hearts, that is, we muſt praiſe him and be well pleaſed in him. As we ſhould be highly pleas'd with the Being and Attributes of God, and his Relations to us, ſo we ſhould be with the Perſon and Offices of the Lord Jeſus, and his Mediation between us and God. Faith ſaith, Bleſſed is he that comes.

Secondly, The Poſture Chriſt put himſelf into for the receiving of the Reſpects that were paid him; v. 14. When he had found or procur'd a young Aſs, he ſat thereon; 'twas but a poor ſort of Figure he made, he alone upon an Aſs, and a crowd of People about him ſhouting Hoſanna.

1. This was much more of State than he us'd to take, he us'd to travel on Foot, but now he was mounted. Tho' his Followers ſhould be willing to take up with mean Things, and not affect any Thing that looks like Grandeur, yet it is allowed them to uſe the Service of the inferior Creatures, according as God in his Providence gives particular Poſſeſſion of that, over which, by his Covenant with Noah and his Sons, he has given to Man a general Dominion.

2. Yet it was much leſs of State than the great Ones of the World uſe to take. If he would have made a publick Entry, according to the State of a Man of high Degree, he ſhould have rode in a Chariot like that of Solomon's, Cant. 3. 9, 10. With Pillars of Silver, the Bottom of Gold, and the Covering of Purple; but if we judge according to the Faſhion of this World, to be introduc'd thus was rather a Diſpargement than any Honour to the King of Iſrael, for it ſeem'd as if he would look great and knew not how. His Kingdom was not of this World, and therefore came not with outward Pomp. He was now humbling himſelf; but in his exalted State John ſees him in a Viſion on a white Horſe with a Bow and a Crown.

Thirdly, The fulfilling of the Scripture in this, As it is written, Fear not Daughter of Sion, v. 15. This was quoted from Zech. 9. 9. To him bear all Prophets witneſs, and particularly to this concerning him.

1. It was foretold that Sion's King ſhould come, ſhould come thus ſitting on an Aſſes Colt; even the minute Circumſtance was foretold, and Chriſt took Care it ſhould be punctually fulfilled. Note, 1. Chriſt is Sion's King; the Holy Hill of Sion was of old deſtin'd to be the Metropolis or Royal City of the Meſſiah. 2. Sion's King doth, and will look after her, and come to her; tho' for a ſhort Time he retires, in due Time he returns. 3. Tho' he comes but ſlowly, an Aſs is ſlow pac'd yet he comes ſurely, and with ſuch Expreſſions of Humility and Condecenſion, as greatly encourage the Addreſſes and Expectations of his Loyal Subjects. Humble Supplicants may reach to ſpeak with him. If this be a Diſcouragement to Sion, that her King appears in no greater State, or Strength, let her know, that tho' he comes to her riding on an Aſſes Colt, yet he goes forth againſt her Enemies riding on the Heavens for her help, Deut, 33. 26.

2. Daughter of Sion is therefore call'd upon to behold her King, to take Notice of him and his Approaches; behold and wonder, for he comes with Obſervation, tho' not with outward Show, Cant. 3. 11. Fear not. In the Prophecy, Sion is bid to rejoice greatly, and to ſhout, but here it is render'd, Fear not; unbelieving Fears are Enemies to ſpiritual Joys; if they be cur'd, if they be conquer'd, Joy will come of courſe; therefore Chriſt comes to his People to ſilence their Fears. If the Caſe be ſo that we cannot reach to the Exultations of Joy, yet we ſhould labour to get from under the Oppreſſions of Fear, Rejoice greatly, at leaſt fear not.

Fourthly, The Remark made by the Evangeliſt upon the Diſciples underſtanding of this, v. 16. They underſtood not at firſt why Chriſt did this, and how the Scripture is fulfill'd, but when Jeſus was glorified, and thereupon the Spirit pour'd out, then they remembered that theſe Things were written of him in the Old Teſtament, and that they and others had, in purſuance thereof, done theſe Things to him.

1. See here the Imperfection of the Diſciples now in their infant State, even they underſtood not theſe Things at firſt; did not conſider when they fetch'd him the Aſs, and ſet him thereon, that they were performing the Ceremony of the Inauguration of Sion's King. Now obſerve, (1.) The Scripture is often fulfill'd by the Agency of thoſe who have not themſelves an Eye to the Scripture in what they do, Iſa. 45. 4. (2.) There are many excellent Things, both in the Word and Providence of God, which the Diſciples themſelves do not at firſt underſtand; not at their firſt Acquaintance with the Things of God, while they ſee Men as Trees walking; not at the firſt Propoſal of the Things to their View and Conſideration. That which afterwards is clear, at firſt was dark and doubtful. (3.) It well becomes the Diſciples of Chriſt, when they are grown up to Maturity in Knowledge, frequently to reflect upon the Follies and Weakneſſes of their firſt beginning, that free Grace may have the Glory of their Proficiency, and they may have Compaſſion on the Ignorant. When I was a Child I ſpake as a Child.

2. See here the Improvement of the Diſciples in their adult State. Tho' they had been Children, they were not always ſo, but went on to Perfection. Obſerve,

1. When they underſtood it; when Jeſus was glorified; For, 1. 'Till then they did not rightly apprehend the Nature of his Kingdom, but expected it to appear in external Pomp and Power, and therefore knew not how to apply the Scriptures which ſpoke of it to ſo mean an Appearance. Note, The right underſtanding of the ſpiritual Nature of Chriſt's Kingdom, of its Powers, Glories, and Victories, would prevent our miſinterpreting and miſapplying the Scriptures that ſpeak of it. 2. Till then the Spirit was not pour'd out, who was to lead them into all Truth. Note, The Diſciples of Chriſt are enabled to underſtand the Scriptures by the ſame Spirit that indited the Scriptures. The Spirit of Revelation is to all the Saints a Spirit of Wiſdom, Eph. 1. 17. 18.

2. How they underſtood it; they compar'd that Prophecy with the Event, and put them together, that they might mutually receive Light from each other, and ſo they came to underſtand both. Then remember'd they that theſe Things were written of him by the Prophets, conſonant to which they were done to him. Note, Such an admirable Harmony there is between the Word and Works of God, that the Remembrance of what is written, will enable us to underſtand what is done; and the Obſervation of what is done will help us to underſtand what is written. As we have heard ſo have we ſeen. The Scripture is every Day in the fulfilling.

Fifthly, The Reaſon which induced the People to pay this Reſpect to our Lord Jeſus, upon his coming into Jeruſalem, tho' the Government was ſo much ſet againſt him: It was becauſe of that illuſtrious Miracle he had lately wrought in raiſing Lazarus.

1. See here what Account, and what Aſſurance they had of this Miracle: No doubt the City rang of it, the Report of it was in all People's Mouths. But they who conſider'd it as a Proof of Chriſt's Miſſion, and a Ground of their Faith in him, that they might be well ſatisfied of the Matter of Fact, traced the Report, to thoſe who were Eye-Witneſſes of it, that they might know the Certainty of it by the utmoſt Evidence the Thing was capable of. The People therefore that ſtood by when he called Lazarus out of his Grave, being found out and examin'd, bare Record, v. 17. They unanimouſly aver'd the Thing to be true, beyond Diſpute or Contradiction, and were ready, if call'd to it, to depoſe it upon Oath, for ſo much is imply'd in the Word ἐμαρτύρει. Note, The Truth of Chriſt's Miracles was evidenced by uncontestable Proofs. 'Tis probable thoſe who had ſeen this Miracle, did not only aſſert it to thoſe that ask'd them, but publiſh'd it unask'd, that this might add to the Triumphs of this ſolemn Day, and Chriſt's coming in now from Bethany, where it was done, would put them in mind of it. Note, They who wiſh well to Chriſt's Kingdom, ſhould be forward to proclaim what they know that may redound to his Honour.

2. What Improvement they made of it, and what Influence it had upon them, v. 18. For this Cauſe, as much as any other, the People met him. (1.) Some out of Curioſity were deſirous to ſee one that had done ſuch a wonderful Work. Many a good Sermon he had preach'd in Jeruſalem, which drew not ſuch Crowds after him as this one Miracle did. But, (2.) Others, out of Conſcience ſtudy'd to do him Honour, as one ſent of God. This Miracle was reſerv'd for one of the laſt, that it might confirm thoſe which went before, and might gain him this Honour juſt before his Sufferings; Chriſt's Works were all not only well done (Mark 7. 37.) but well timed.

Sixthly, The Indignation of the Phariſees at all this; ſome of them probably ſaw, and they all ſoon heard of Chriſt's publick Entry. The Committee appointed to find out Expedients to cruſh him, thought they had gain'd their Point when he was retired into Privacy, and that he would ſoon be forgotten in Jeruſalem, but now rage and fret when they ſee they imagin'd but a vain Thing.

1. They own that they had got no Ground againſt him; 'twas plainly to be perceiv'd that they prevail'd nothing: They could not, with all their Inſinuations, alienate the People's Affections from him, nor with their Menaces, reſtrain them from ſhewing their Affection to him. Note, They who oppoſe Chriſt, and fight againſt his Kingdom, will be made to perceive that they prevail nothing. God will accompliſh his own Purpoſes in ſpight of them, and the little Efforts of their impotent Malice. Ye prevail nothing, οὐκ ὠφελεῖτε, you profit nothing. Note, There's nothing got by oppoſing Chriſt.

2. They own that he had got Ground: The World is gone after him; there's a vaſt Crowd attending him, a world of People; an Hyperbole common in moſt Languages. Yet here, like Caiaphas, e'er they were aware, they propheſied that the World would go after him; ſome of all Sorts, ſome from all Parts; Nations ſhall be diſcipled. But to what Intent was this ſaid? (1.) Thus they expreſs their own Vexation at the Growth of his Intereſt; their Envy makes them fret. If the Horn of the Righteous be exalted with Ho- nour, the Wicked ſee it, and are grieved, Pſal. 112. 9, 10. conſidering how great theſe Phariſees were, and what abundance of Reſpect was paid them, one would think they needed not grudge Chriſt ſo inconſiderable a Piece of Honour as was now done him; but proud Men would monopolize Honour, and have none ſhare with them, like Hamon. (2.) Thus they excite themſelves and one another to a more vigorous carrying on of the War againſt Chriſt. As if they ſhould ſay, dallying and delaying thus will never do: We muſt take ſome other and more effectual Courſe, to put a Stop to this Infection; it's time to try our utmoſt Skill and Force before the Grievance grows paſt Redreſs. Thus the Enemies of Religion are made more reſolute and active by being baffled; and ſhall its Friends be diſhearten'd with every Diſappointment, who know its Cauſe is righteous, and will at laſt be victorious.

20 And there were certain Greeks among them, that came up to worſhip at the feaſt: 21 The ſame came therefore to Philip, which was of Bethſaida of Gallilee, and deſired him, ſaying, Sir, we would ſee Jeſus. 22 Philip cometh and telleth Andrew: and again, Andrew and Philip told Jeſus. 23 And Jeſus anſwered them, ſaying, The hour is come, that the Son of man ſhould be glorified. 24 Verily Verily I ſay unto you, Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground, and die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit. 25 He that loveth his life ſhall loſe it: and he that hateth his life in this world ſhall keep it unto life eternal. 26 If any man ſerve me, let him follow me; and wher I am, there ſhall alſo my ſervant be: if any man ſerve me, him will my Father honour.

Honour is here done to Chriſt by certain Greeks that enquir'd for him with Reſpect. We are not told what Day of Chriſt's laſt Week this was, probably not the ſame Day he rode into Jeruſalem, for that Day was taken up in publick Work, but a Day or two after.

Firſt, We were told who they were that did this Honour to our Lord Jeſus; certain Greeks among the People, who came up to worſhip at the Feaſt, v. 20. Some think they were Jews of the Diſperſion, ſome of the twelve Tribes that were ſcattered among the Gentiles, and were called Greeks, Helleniſt Jews; but others think they were Gentiles, thoſe whom they call'd Proſelytes of the Gate, ſuch as the Eunuch, and Cornelius. Pure natural Religion met with the beſt Aſſiſtance among the Jews, and therefore thoſe among the Gentiles, who were piouſly inclin'd, join'd with them in their ſolemn Meetings as far as was allow'd them. There were devout Worſhippers of the true God, even among them that were Strangers to the Commonwealth of Iſrael. It was in the latter Ages of the Jewiſh Church, that there was this flocking of the Gentiles to the Temple at Jeruſalem; a happy Preſage of the taking down of the Partition Wall between Jews and Gentiles. The forbidding of the Prieſts to accept of any Oblation or Sacrifice from a Gentile (which was done by El.azar the Son of Ananias, the High Prieſt) Joſephus ſaith, was one of thoſe Things that brought the Romans upon them, De Bell. Jud. l. 2. c. 30. Tho' theſe Greeks, if uncircumciſed were not admitted to eat the Paſſover, yet they came to worſhip, at the Feaſt. We muſt thankfully uſe the Privileges we have, tho' there may be others, from which we are ſhut out.

Secondly, What was the Honour they did him, they deſir'd to be acquainted with him, v. 21. Being come to worſhip at the Feaſt, they deſir'd to make the beſt uſe they could of their time, and therefore applied themſelves to Philip, deſiring that he would put them in a way to get ſome perſonal Converſe with the Lord Jeſus.

1. Having a Deſire to ſee Chriſt, they were induſtrious in the Uſe of proper Means. They did not conclude it impoſſible, becauſe he was ſo much crowded to get to ſpeak with him, nor reſt in bare Wiſhes, but reſolved to try what would be done. Note, They that would have the Knowledge of Chriſt muſt ſeek it.

2. They made their Application to Philp, one of his Diſciples. Some think they had Acquaintance with him formerly, and that they lived near Bethſaida in Galilee of the Gentiles; and then it teacheth us that we ſhould improve our Acquaintance with good People for our Encreaſe in the Knowledge of Chriſt. 'Tis good to know thoſe who know the Lord. But if the Greeks had been near Galilee, 'tis probable they would have attended Chriſt, there where he moſtly reſided; therefore I think they applied themſelves to him, only becauſe they ſaw him a cloſe Follower of Chriſt, and he was the firſt they could get to ſpeak with. 'Twas an Inſtance of the Veneration they had for Chriſt, that they made an Intereſt with one of his Diſciples, for an Opportunity to converſe with him; a Sign they look'd upon him as ſome great one, tho' he appear'd mean. Thoſe that would ſee Jeſus by Faith, now he is in Heaven, muſt apply themſelves to his Miniſters, whom he hath appointed for this Purpoſe, to guide poor Souls in their Enquiries after him. Paul muſt ſend for Ananias, and Cornelius for Peter. The bringing of theſe Greeks to the Knowledge of Chriſt by the Means of Philip ſignified the Agency of the Apoſtles, and the Uſe made of their Miniſtry in the Converſion of the Gentiles to the Faith, and the Diſcipling of the Nations.

3. Their Addreſs to Philip was in ſhort this, Sir, we would ſee Jeſus. They give him a Title of Reſpect, as one worthy of Honour, becauſe he was in Relation to Chriſt. Their Buſineſs is, they would ſee Jeſus; not only ſee his Face, that they might be able to ſay when they came home, they had ſeen one that was ſo much talk'd of, 'tis likely they had ſeen him when he appear'd publickly; but they would have ſome free Converſation with him, and be taught by him, which it was no eaſy thing to find him at leiſure, for his Hands were ſo full of publick Work. Now they were come to worſhip at the Feaſt they would ſee Jeſus. Note, In our Attendance upon holy Ordinances, and particularly the Goſpel-Paſſover, the great Deſire of our Souls ſhould be to ſee Jeſus; to have our Acquaintance with him encreaſed, our Dependance on him encouraged, our Conformity to him carry'd on; to ſee him as ours, to keep up Communion with him, and derive Communications of Grace from him; we miſs of our End in coming, if we do not ſee Jeſus.

4. Here's the Report which Philip made of this to his Maſter, v. 22. He tells Andrew who was of Bethſaida likewiſe, and was a Senior Fellow in the College of the Apoſtles, co-temporary with Peter, and conſults him what was to be done, whether he thought the Motion would be acceptable or no, becauſe Chriſt had ſometimes ſaid, that he was not ſent but to the Houſe of Iſrael. They agree it muſt be made; but then he would have Andrew go along with him, remembring the favourable Acceptance Chriſt had promiſed them in caſe two of them ſhould agree, touching any thing they ſhould aſk, Mat. 18. 19. Note, Chriſt's Miniſters ſhoud be helpful to one another, and concur in helping Souls to Chriſt. Two are better than one. It ſhould ſeem Andrew and Philip brought this Meſſage to Chriſt, when he was teaching in publick, for we read, v. 29. of the People that ſtood by; but he was ſeldom alone.

Thirdly, Chriſt's Acceptance of this Honour done him, ſiginified by what he ſaid to the People hereupon, v. 23. &c. where he foretells both the Honour which he himſelf ſhould have in being follow'd. v. 23. 24. and the Honour which they ſhould have that follow'd him, v. 25, 26. This was intended for the Direction and Encouragement of theſe Greeks, and all others that deſir'd Acquaintance with him,

1. He foreſees that plentiful Harveſt in the Converſion of the Gentiles, which this was as it were the firſt Fruits of, v. 23. Chriſt ſaid to thoſe two Diſciples, who ſpake a good Word for thoſe Greeks, but doubted whether they ſhould ſpeed or no; The Hour is come, when the Son of Man ſhould be glorified, by the Acceſſion of the Gentiles to the Church, and in order to that, he muſt be rejected of the Jews. Obſerve,

(1.) The End deſign'd hereby, and that is the glorifying of the Redeemer. And is it ſo? Do the Gentiles begin to enquire after me? doth the Morning-Star appear to them, and that bleſſed Day-ſpring, which knows its Place, and Time too, doth that begin to take hold of the Ends of the Earth? Then the Hour is come for the glorifying of the Son of Man. This was no Surprize to Chriſt, but a Paradox to thoſe about him. Note, 1. The Calling, the effectual Calling of the Gentiles into the Church of God, greatly redounded to the Glory of the Son of Man. The multiplying of the Redeemed, was the magnifying of the Redeemer. 2. There was a Time, a ſet Time, an Hour, a certain Hour, for the glorifying of the Son of Man, which did come at laſt, when the Days of his Humiliation were number'd and finiſh'd, and he ſpeaks of the Approach of it with Exultation and Triumph; The Hour is come.

(2.) The ſtrange way in which this End was to be attain'd, and that was by the Death of Chriſt, intimated in that Similitude, v. 24. Verily Verily I ſay unto you, you to whom I have ſpoken of my Death and Sufferings, that except a Corn of Wheat fall, not only to, but into the Ground, and die, and be buried and loſt, it abideth alone, and you never ſee any more of it; but if it die according to the Courſe of Nature, otherwiſe it would be a Miracle, it bringeth forth much Fruit; God giving to every Seed its own Body. Chriſt is this Corn of Wheat, the moſt valuable uſeful Grain. Now here is,

1. The Neceſſity of Chriſt's Humiliation intimated. He had never been the living quickning Head, and Root of the Church, if he had not deſcended from Heaven to this accurſed Earth, and aſcended from Earth to the accurſed Tree, and ſo accompliſh'd our Redemption. He muſt pour out his Soul unto Death, elſe he cannot divide a Portion with the great, Iſa. 53. 12. He ſhall have a Seed given him, but he muſt ſhed his Blood to purchaſe them and purify them, muſt win them, and wear them. It was neceſſary likewiſe, as a Qualification for that Glory, which he was to have by the Acceſſion of Multitudes to his Church; for if he had not by his Sufferings made Satisfaction for Sin, and ſo brought in an everlaſting Righteouſneſs, he had not been ſufficiently provided for the Entertainment of thoſe that ſhould come to him, and therefore muſt abide alone.

2. The Advantage of Chriſt's Humiliation illuſtrated: He fell to the Ground, in his Incarnation, ſeem'd to be bury'd alive in this Earth; ſo much was his Glory veil'd; but that was not all, he dy'd, this immortal Seed ſubmitted to the Laws of Mortality, he lay in the Grave like Seed under the Clods: But as the Seed comes up again green and freſh, and flouriſhing, and with great Encreaſe; ſo one dying Chriſt gathered to himſelf thouſands of living Chriſtians, and he became their Root. The Salvation of Souls hitherto, and henceforward to the End of Time, is all owing to the dying of this Corn of Wheat. Hereby the Father and Son are glorified, the Church repleniſh'd, the Myſtical Body kept up, and will at length be compleated, and when Time ſhall be no more, the Captain of our Salvation bringing many Sons to Glory, by the Virtue of his Death, and being ſo made perfect by Suffering, ſhall be celebrated for ever with the admiring Praiſes of Saints and Angels, Heb. 2. 10. 13.

2. He foretels and promiſes an abundant Recompence to them who ſhould cordially embrace him and his Goſpel, and Intereſt, and ſhould make it appear they do ſo by their Faithfulneſs in ſuffering for him, or in ſerving of him.

1. In ſuffering for him. Ver. 25. He that loves his Life better than Chriſt ſhall loſe it; but he that hates his Life in this World, and prefers the Favour of God, and an Intereſt in Chriſt before it, ſhall keep it unto Life Eternal. This Doctrine Chriſt much inſiſted on, it being the great Deſign of his Religion to wean us from this World, by ſetting before us another World.

1. See here the fatal Conſequence of an inordinate Love of Life; many a Man hugs himſelf to Death, and loſeth his Life by over-loving it. He that ſo loves his animal Life, as to indulge his Appetite, and make Proviſion for the Fleſh to fulfil the Luſts thereof, ſhall thereby ſhorten his Days; ſhall loſe the Life he is ſo fond of, and another infinitely better. He that is ſo much in love with the Life of the Body, and the Ornaments and Delights of it, as for fear of expoſing it or them, to deny Chriſt, he ſhall loſe it, i. e. loſe a real Happineſs in t'other World, while he thinks to ſecure an imaginary one in this. Skin for Skin a Man may give for his Life and make a good Bargin; but he that gives his Soul, his God, his Heaven for it, buys Life too dear, and is guilty of his Folly who ſold a Birth-right for a Meſs of Pottage.

2. See alſo the bleſſed Recompence of a holy Contempt of Life. He that ſo hates the Life of the Body as to venture that for the preſerving of the Life of his Soul, ſhall find both with unſpeakable advantage in Eternal Life. Note, (1.) It is requir'd of the Diſciples of Chriſt, that they hate their Life in this World; a Life in this World ſuppoſeth a Life in t'other World, and this is hated when it is lov'd leſs than that. Our Life in this World includes all the Enjoyments of our preſent State, Riches, Honours, Pleaſures, and long Life in the Poſſeſſion of them; theſe we muſt hate, i. e. deſpiſe them as vain and inſufficient to make us happy; dread the Temptations that are in them, and chearfully part with them, whenever they come in Competition with the Service of Chriſt, Acts 20. 24. and 21. 13. Rev. 12. 11. See here much of the Power of Godlineſs, that it conquers the ſtrongeſt natural Affections, and much of the Myſtery of Godlineſs, that it is the greateſt Wiſdom, and yet makes Men hate their own Lives. (2.) Thoſe who in love to Chriſt hate their own Lives in this World, ſhall be abundantly recompenced in the Reſurection of the Juſt. He that hateth his Life ſhall keep it, i. e. he puts it into the Hands of one that will keep it to Life Eternal, and reſtore it with as great an Improvement as the heavenly Life can make of the earthly One.

3. In ſerving of him. Ver. 26. If any Man profeſs to ſerve me, let him follow me, as a Servant doth his Maſter, and where I am, ἐκεῖ ϗ ὁ διάκονος ὁ ἐμὸς ἔςαι, there let my Servant be, ſo ſome read it as part of the Duty, there let him be to attend upon me; we read it as part of the Promiſe, There ſhall he be in Happineſs with me: And leſt this ſhould ſeem a ſmall Matter, he adds, If any ſerve me him will my Father honour, and that's enough, more than enough. The Greeks deſired to ſee Jeſus, v. 21. but Chriſt lets them know, 'twas not enough to ſee him, they muſt ſerve him. He did not come into the World to be a Show for us to gaze at, but a King to be rul'd by. And he ſaith this for the Encouragement of thoſe who enquir'd after him to become his Servants. In taking Servants 'tis uſual to fix both the Work and the Wages; Chriſt doth both here.

1. Here's the Work which Chriſt expects from his Servants, and it is very eaſy and reaſonable, and ſuch as becomes them.

(1.) Let them attend their Maſter's Motions; If any Man ſerve me, let him follow me. Chriſtians muſt follow Chriſt, follow his Methods and Preſcriptions, do the thing that he ſaith, follow his Example and Pattern, walk as he alſo walked; follow his Conduct by his Providence and Spirit; We muſt go whither he leads us, and in the Way he leads us; muſt follow the Lamb whitherſover he goes before us. If any Man ſerve me, i. e. if he put himſelf into that Relation to me, let him apply himſelf to the Buſineſs of my Service, and be always ready at my Call. Or if any Man do indeed ſerve me, let him make an open and publick Profeſſion of his Relation to me by following me, as the Servant owns his Maſter by following him in the Streets.

(2.) Let them attend their Maſter's, Repoſe; Where I am there let my Servant be, to wait upon me. Chriſt is where his Church is, in the Aſſemblies of his Saints, where his Ordinances are adminiſtred, and there let his Servants be, to preſent themſelves before him, and receive Inſtructions from him. Or, where I am to be in Heaven, whither I am now going, there let the Thoughts and Affections of my Servants be, there let their Converſation be, where Chriſt ſitteth, Col. 3. 1, 2.

2. Here's the Wages which Chriſt promiſeth to his Servants, and it is very Rich and Noble.

1. They ſhall be happy with him; Where I am there ſhall alſo my Servant be. To be with him when he was here in Poverty and Diſgrace would ſeem but poor Preferment, and therfore doubtleſs he means to be with him in Paradiſe, ſitting with him at his Table above on his Throne there; 'tis the Happineſs of Heaven to be with Chriſt there, John 17. 24. Chriſt ſpeaks of Heaven's Happineſs as if he were already in it, where I am; becauſe he was ſure of it, and near to it, and it was ſtill upon his Heart, and in his Eye. And the ſame Joy and Glory which he thought Recompence enough for all his Services and Sufferings, is propos'd to his Servants as the Recompence of theirs. They that follow him in the Way, ſhall be with him in the End.

2. They ſhall be honoured by his Father; he will make them amends for all their Pains and Loſs, by conferring an Honour upon them, ſuch as becomes a great God to give, but far beyond what ſuch worthleſs Worms of the Earth could expect to receive. The Rewarder is God himſelf, who takes the Services done to the Lord Jeſus as done to himſelf. The Reward is Honour, true laſting Honour, the higheſt Honour; 'tis the Honour that comes from God. 'Tis ſaid, Prov. 27. 18. He that waits on his Maſter (humbly and diligently) ſhall be honoured. Thoſe that wait on Chriſt God will put honour upon ſuch as will be taken notice of another Day, tho' now under a Veil. They that ſerve Chriſt muſt humble themſelves, and are commonly vilified by the World, in recompence of both which they ſhall be exalted in due Time. Thus far Chriſt's Diſcourſe has reference to thoſe Greeks, who deſired to ſee him, encouraging them to ſerve him; what became of thoſe Greeks we are not told, but are willing to hope that they who thus ask'd the Way to Heaven with their Faces thitherward, found it and walk'd in it.

27 Now is my Soul troubled; and what ſhall I ſay? Father ſave me from this hour; but for this cauſe came I unto this hour. 28 Father, glorify thy name. Then came there a voice from heaven, ſaying, I have both glorified it, and will glorifie it again. 29 The people therefore that ſtood by, and heard it, ſaid that it thundred: others, ſaid, An angel ſpake to him. 30 Jeſus anſwered and ſaid, This voice came not becauſe of me but for your ſakes. 31 Now is the judgement of this world: now ſhall the prince of this world be caſt out. 32 And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me. 33 (This he ſaid, ſignifying what Death he ſhould die.) 34 The people anſwered him, We have heard out of the law, that Chriſt abideth for ever: and how ſayeſt thou, The Son of man muſt be lift up? who is this Son of man? 35 Then Jeſus ſaid unto them, Yet a little while is the light with you: walk while ye have the light, leſt darkneſs come upon you: for he that walketh in darkneſs, knoweth not whither he goeth. 36 While ye have light, believe in the light, that ye may be the children of light. Theſe things ſpake Jeſus, and departed and did hide himſelf from them.

Honour is here done to Chriſt by his Father in a Voice from Heaven, occaſion'd by the following Part of his Diſcourſe, and which gave occaſion to a further Conference with the People. In theſe Verſes we have,

Firſt, Chriſt's Addreſs to his Father upon occaſion of the Trouble which ſeiz'd his Spirit at this Time, v. 27 Now is my Soul troubled. A ſtrange Word to come from Chriſt's Mouth, and at this Time ſurprizing, for it cometh in the midſt of diverſe pleaſing Proſpects, in which one would think he ſhould have ſaid, now is my Soul pleaſed. Note, Trouble of Soul ſometimes follows after great Enlargements of Spirit. In this World of mixture and change we muſt expect Damps upon our Joy, and the higheſt Degree of Comfort to be the next Degree to Trouble: When Paul had been in the third Heavens he had a Thorn in the Fleſh. Obſerve,

1. Chriſt's Dread of his approaching Sufferings; Now is my Soul troubled. Now the black and diſmal Scene began, now were the firſt Throws of the Travel of his Soul, now his Agony began, his Soul began to be exceeding ſorrowful. Note, 1. The Sin of our Soul was the Trouble of Chriſt's Soul, when he undertook to redeem and ſave us, and to make his Soul an Offering for our Sin. 2. The Trouble of his Soul was deſigned to eaſe the Trouble of our Souls; for after this, he ſaid to his Diſciples, chap. 14. 1. Let not your Hearts be troubled; what need yours be troubled and mine too? Our Lord Jeſus went on cheerfully in his Work, in proſpect of the Joy ſet before him, and yet ſubmitted to a trouble of Soul. Holy Mourning is conſiſtent with ſpiritual Joy, and the way to eternal Joy. Chriſt was now troubled, now in Sorrow, now in Fear, now for a Seaſon, but it would not be ſo always, it would not be ſo long. The ſame is the Comfort of Chriſtians in their Troubles: They are but for a Moment, and will be turn'd into Joy.

2. The Strait he ſeems to be in hereupon, intimated in thoſe Words, And what ſhall I ſay? This doth not ſpeak him conſulting with any other, as if he needed Advice, but conſidering with himſelf what was fit to be ſaid now. When our Souls are troubled, we muſt take heed of ſpeaking unadviſedly, but debate with our ſelves what we ſhall ſay. Chriſt ſpeaks like one at a loſs, as if what he ſhould chuſe he wot not. There was a Struggle between the Work he had taken upon him, which required Sufferings, and the Nature he had taken upon him which dreaded them; between theſe Two he here pauſeth, with what ſhall I ſay? He look'd and there was none to help, which put him to a ſtand. Calvin obſerves this as a great Inſtance of Chriſt's Humiliation, that he ſhould ſpeak thus like one at a plunge. Quo ſe magis exanimavit gloriæ

Dominus, eo luculentius habemus erga nos amoris ſpecimen. Thus he was in all Points tempted like as we are, to encourage us when we know not what to do to have our Eyes to him.

3. His Prayer to God in this Strait; Father ſave me from this Hour, ἐκ τῆς ὥρας ταύτης, out of this Hour; praying not ſo much that it might not come, as that he might be brought through it. Save me from this Hour; this was the Language of innocent Nature, and its Reſentments pour'd forth in Prayer. Note, It is the Duty and Intereſt of troubled Souls, to have recourſe to God by faithful and fervent Prayer, and in Prayer to eye him as a Father. Chriſt was voluntary in his Sufferings, and yet pray'd to be ſav'd from them. Note, Prayer againſt a Trouble may very well conſiſt with Patience under it, and Submiſſion to the Will of God in it. Obſerve, He calls his Suffering this Hour, meaning the expected Events of the Time now at hand; hereby he intimates, that the Time of his Suffering was, (1.) A ſet Time, ſet to an Hour, and he knew it. It was ſaid twice before that his Hour was not yet come, but it was now ſo near that he might ſay it was come. (2.) A ſhort Time; an Hour is ſoon over, ſo were Chriſt's Sufferings, he could ſee through them to the Joy ſet before him.

4. His Acquieſcence in his Father's Will notwithſtanding. He preſently corrects himſelf, and as it were recalls what he had ſaid, But for this Cauſe came I to this Hour. Innocent Nature got the firſt Word, but Divine Wiſdom and Love got the laſt. Note, They who would proceed regularly muſt go upon ſecond Thoughts. The Complainant ſpeaks firſt, but if we would judge righteouſly we muſt hear 'tother ſide. The ſecond Thought he check'd himſelf, which was, for this Cauſe came I to this Hour; he doth not ſilence himſelf with this, that he could not avoid it, there was no Remedy; but ſatisfies himſelf with this, that he would not avoid, for it was purſuant to his own voluntary Engagement, and was to be the Crown of his whole Undertaking; ſhould he now fly off, it would fruſtrate all that had been done hitherto. Reference is here had to the Divine Counſels concerning his Sufferings, by virtue of which, thus it behoveth him to ſubmit and ſuffer. Note, This ſhould reconcile us to the darkeſt Hours of our Lives, that were all along deſign'd for them. See 1 Theſ. 3. 3.

5. His Regard to his Father's Honour herein. Upon the withdrawing of his former Petition, he preſents another, which he will abide by, Father glorify thy Name; to the ſame Purpoſe with, Father thy Will be done, for God's Will is for his own Glory: This ſpeaks more than barely a Submiſſion to the Will of God, 'tis a Conſecration of his Sufferings to the Glory of God. 'Twas a Mediatorial Word, and was ſpoken by him as our Surety, who had undertaken to ſatisfy Divine Juſtice for our Sin. The Wrong which by Sin we have done to God, is in his Glory, his declarative Glory; for in nothing elſe are we capable of doing him Injury. We were never able to make him Satisfaction for this Wrong done him, nor any Creature for us; nothing therefore remain'd, but that God ſhould get him Honour upon us in our utter Ruin. Here therefore our Lord Jeſus interpos'd, undertook to ſatisfy God's injur'd Honour, and he did it by his Humiliation; he deny'd himſelf in, and diveſted himſelf of, the Honours due to the Son of God incarnate, and ſubmitted to the greateſt Reproach. Now here he makes a Tender of this Satisfaction as an Equivalent, Father glorify thy Name; let thy Juſtice be honour'd upon the Sacrifice, not upon the Sinner; let the Debt be levy'd upon me, I am ſolvent, the Principal is not; thus he reſtored that which he took not away.

Secondly, The Father's Anſwer to this Addreſs, for he heard him always, and doth ſtill. Obſerve,

1. How this Anſwer was given, by a Voice from Heaven. The Jews ſpeak much of a Bath-kôl, the Daughter of a Voice, as one of thoſe divers manners by which God in Time paſt ſpake to the Prophets; but we do not find any Inſtance of his ſpeaking thus to any but to our Lord Jeſus; 'twas an Honour reſerv'd for him; Mat. 3. 17. and 17. 5. and here probably this audible Voice was introduc'd by ſome viſible Appearance, either of Light or Darkneſs, for both have been us'd as Vehicles of the Divine Glory.

2. What the Anſwer was, 'twas an expreſs Return to that Petition, Father glorify thy Name, I have glorified it already, and I will glorify it yet again. When we pray as we are taught, Our Father, hallowed be thy Name, this is a Comfort to us, that it is an anſwered Prayer; anſwered to Chriſt here, and in him to all true Believers. (1.) The Name of God had been glorified in the Life of Chriſt, in his Doctrine and Miracles, and all the Examples he gave of Holineſs and Goodneſs. (2.) It ſhould be further glorified in the Death and Sufferings of Chriſt; his Wiſdom and Power, his Juſtice and Holineſs, his Truth and Goodneſs were greatly glorified; the Demands of a broken Law were fully anſwered, the Affront done to God's Government ſatisfied for, and God accepted the Satisfaction, and declar'd himſelf well pleas'd. What God has done for the glorifying of his own Name, is an Encouragement to us to expect what he will yet further do. He that has ſecured the Intereſts of his own Glory, will ſtill.

Thirdly, The Opinion of the Standers-by concerning this Voice, v. 29. We may hope there were ſome among them whoſe Minds were ſo well prepared to receive a Divine Revelation, that they underſtood what was ſaid, and they bare Record of it. But Notice is here taken of the perverſe Suggeſtion of the Multitude; ſome of them ſaid it thundered, others who took Notice that there was plainly an articulate, intelligible Voice, ſaid, for certain an Angel ſpake to him. Now this ſhews, 1. That it was a real Thing, even in the Judgment of thoſe that were not at all well affected to him. 2. That they were loth to admit ſo plain a Proof of Chriſt's Divine Miſſion. They would rather ſay, it was this, or that, or any Thing, than that God ſpoke to him in Anſwer to his Prayer; and yet if it thundered with articulate Sounds (as Rev. 10. 3, 4.) was not that God's Voice; or, if Angels ſpoke to him, are not they God's Meſſengers? But thus God ſpeaks once, yea twice, and Man perceives it not.

Fourthly, The Account which our Saviour himſelf gives of this Voice.

1. Why it was ſent; v. 30. It came not becauſe of me, not meerly for my Encouragement and Satisfaction, then it might have been whiſper'd in his Ear privately, but for your Sakes. (1.) That all you who heard it may believe that the Father hath ſent me. What is ſaid from Heaven, concerning our Lord Jeſus, and the glorifying of the Father in him, is ſaid for our Sakes, that we might be brought to ſubmit to him, and reſt upon him. (2.) That you my Diſciples, who are to follow me in Sufferings, may therein be comforted with the ſame Comforts that carry me on. Let this encourage them to part with Life it ſelf for his Sake, if they were called to it, that it ſhould redound to the Honour of God. Note, The Promiſes and Supports granted to our Lord Jeſus in his Sufferings were intended for our Sakes. For our Sakes he ſanctified himſelf, and comforted himſelf.

2. What was the Meaning of it. He that lay in the Father's Boſom knew his Voice, and what was the Meaning of it: And Two Things God intended when he ſaid that he would glorify his own Name.

1. That by the Death of Chriſt Satan ſhould be conquer'd. v. 31. Now is the Judgment. He ſpeaks with a Divine Exaltation and Triumh. Now the Year of my Redeemed is come, and the Time prefix'd for the breaking of the Serpent's Head, and giving a total Rent to the Powers of Darkneſs; Now for that glorious Atchievement; now, now, that great Work is to be done which has been ſo long thought of in the Divine Counſels, ſo long talk'd of in the written Word, which has been ſo much the Hope of Saints, and the Dread of Devils, The Matter of the Triumph is,

(1.) That now is the Judgment of the World; κρίσις, take it as a phyſical Term, now is the Criſis of this World. The ſick and diſeaſed World is now upon the turning Point, this is the critical Day upon which the trembling Scale will turn for Life or Death to all Mankind; all that are not recovered by this will be left helpleſs and hopeleſs. Or rather, 'tis a Law Term, as we take it; now Judgment is enter'd in order to the taking out of Execution againſt the Prince of this World. Note, The Death of Chriſt was the Judgment of this World. (1.) It is a Judgment of Diſcovery and Diſtinction; Judicium Diſcretionis, ſo Auſtin. Now is the Trial of this World, for Men ſhall have their Character according as the Croſs of Chriſt is to them; to ſome it is Fooliſhneſs and a ſtumbling Block, to others 'tis the Wiſdom and Power of God; of which there was a Figure in the two Thieves that were crucify'd with him. By this Men are judg'd what they think of the Death of Chriſt. (2.) It is a Judgment of Favour and Abſolution to the choſen ones that are in the World. Chriſt upon the Croſs interpos'd between a righteous God and a guilty World as a Sacrifice for Sin, and a Surety for Sinners, ſo that when he was judg'd, and Iniquity laid upon him, and he was wounded for our Tranſgreſſions, it was as it were the Judgment of this World, for an everlaſting Righteouſneſs was thereby brought in, not for Jews only, but the whole World, 1 John 2. 1, 2. Dan. 9. 24. (3.) It is a Judgment of Condemnation given againſt the Powers of Darkneſs; ſee John 16. 11. Judgment is put for Vindication and Deliverance, the aſſerting of an invaded Right. At the Death of Chriſt there was a famous Trial between Chriſt and Satan, the Serpent and the promiſed Seed; the Trial was for the World, and the Lordſhip of it; the Devil having long born Sway among the Children of Men, Time out of Mind, now pleads Preſcription, grounding his Claim alſo upon the Forfeiture incurr'd by Sin: We find him willing to have come to a Compoſition, Luke 4. 6, 7. he would have given the Kingdoms of this World to Chriſt, provided he would hold them by, from, and under him; But Chriſt would try it out with him; by dying he takes off the Forfeiture to Divine Juſtice, and then fairly diſputes the Title, and recovers it in the Court of Heaven: Satan's Dominion is declar'd to be a Uſurpation, and the World adjudg'd to the Lord Jeſus as his Right, Pſal. 2. 6, 8. The Judgment of this World is, that it belongs to Chriſt, and not to Satan: To Chriſt therefore let us all atturn Tenants.

2. That now is the Prince of this World caſt out.

1. It is the Devil, that is here call'd the Prince of this World, becauſe he rules over the Men of the World by the Things of the World; he is the Ruler of the Darkneſs of this World, i. e. of this dark World, of thoſe in it that walk in Darkneſs, 2 Cor. 4. 4. Eph. 6. 12.

2. He is ſaid to be caſt out, to be now caſt out; for whatever had been done hitherto towards the weakning of the Devil's Kingdom, was done in the Virtue of a Chriſt to come, and therefore is ſaid to be done now. Chriſt reconciling the World to God by the Merit of his Death, broke the Power of Death, and caſt out Satan as a Deſtroyer; Chriſt reducing the World to God by the Doctrine of his Croſs, broke the Power of Sin, and caſt out Satan as a Deceiver. The bruiſing of his Heel, was the breaking of the Serpent's Head, Gen. 3. 15. When his Oracles were ſilenced, his Temples forſaken, his Idols famiſh'd, and the Kingdoms of the World become Chriſt's Kingdoms, then was the Prince of the World caſt out, as appears by comparing this with John's Viſion, Rev. 12. 8. 9, 10, 11. where it is ſaid to be done by the Blood of the Lamb. Chriſt's frequent caſting Devils out of the Bodies of People, was an Indication of the great Deſign of his whole Undertaking. Obſerve, with what Aſſurance Chriſt here ſpeaks of the Victory over Satan; 'tis as good as done, and even when he yields to Death he triumphs over it.

2. That by the Death of Chriſt, Souls ſhould be converted, and that would be the caſting out of Satan. Ver. 32. If I be lifted up from the Earth, I will draw all Men unto me. Where obſerve two Things.

1. The great Deſign of our Lord Jeſus, which was to draw all Men to him; not the Jews only, who had been long in Profeſſion a People, near to God, but the Gentiles alſo, who had been afar off; for he was to be the Deſire of all Nations, Hag. 2. 7. and to him muſt the gathering of the People be. That which his Enemies dreaded, was, that the World would go after him, and he would draw them to him notwithſtanding their Oppoſition. Obſerve here, how Chriſt himſelf is all in all in the Converſion of a Soul. (1.) It is Chriſt that draws; I will draw. 'Tis ſometimes aſcrib'd to the Father, John 6. 44. but here to the Son, who is the Arm of the Lord. He doth not drive by Force, but draw with the Cords of a Man, Hoſ. 11. 4. Jer. 31. 3. Draws as the Loadſtone, the Soul is made willing, but it is in a Day of Power. (2.) It is in Chriſt that we are drawn, I will draw them to me as the Centre of their Unity. The Soul that was at a Diſtance from Chriſt, is brought into an Acquaintance with him; that was ſhy and diſtruſtful of him, is brought to love him and truſt him; drawn up to his Terms, into his Arms. Chriſt was now going to Heaven, and he would draw Mens Hearts to him thither.

2. The ſtrange Method he took to accompliſh his Deſign, by being lifted up the from Earth. What he meant by that, to prevent Miſtake, we are told, v. 33. This he ſpake, ſignifying by what Death he ſhould die, viz. the Death of the Croſs, tho' they had deſigh'd and attempted to ſtone him to Death. He that was crucified, was firſt nail'd to the Croſs, and then lifted up upon it. He was lifted up as a Spectacle to the World; lifted up between Heaven and Earth as unworthy of either; yet the World here us'd ſignified an honourable Advancement, ἐὰν ὑψωθῶ, If I be exalted; he reckon'd his Sufferings his Honour. Whatever Death we die, if we die in Chriſt, we ſhall be lifted up out of this Dungeon, this Den of Lions, into the Regions of Light and Love. We ſhould learn of our Maſter to ſpeak of dying with a holy Pleaſantneſs, and to ſay, we ſhall then be lifted up.

Now Chriſt's drawing all Men to him, follow'd his being lifted up from the Earth. 1. It follow'd after it in Time. The great Increaſe of the Church was after the Death of Chriſt; while Chriſt liv'd we read of Thouſands at a Sermon miraculouſly fed, but 'twas after his Death that we read of Thouſands at a Sermon added to the Church which ſhould be ſaved. Iſrael began to multiply in Egypt after the Death of Joſeph. 2. It follow'd upon it as a bleſſed Conſequence of it. Note, There is a powerful Virtue and Efficacy in the Death of Chriſt to draw Souls to him. The Croſs of Chriſt, tho' to ſome it is a ſtumbling Stone, to others it is a Load-ſtone. Some make it an Alluſion to the drawing of Fiſh into a Net; the lifting up of Chriſt was as the ſpreading of the Net, Mat. 13. 47, 48. Or to the ſetting up of a Standard, which draws Soldiers together; or rather, it refers to the lifting up of the Brazen Serpent in the Wilderneſs, which drew all thoſe to it that were ſtung with fiery Serpents: As ſoon as ever it was known that 'twas lifted up, and there was healing Virtue in it. O! what flocking was there to it; ſo there was to Chriſt when Salvation through him was preach'd to all Nations; ſee John 3. 14, 15. Perhaps it has ſome Reference to the Poſture in which Chriſt was crucified, with his Arms ſtretched out, to invite all to him, and embrace all that come. They that put Chriſt to that ignominious Death, thought thereby to drive all Men from him; but the Devil was out-ſhot in his own Bow: Out of the Eater came forth Meat.

Fifthly, The People's Exception againſt what he ſaid, and their Cavil at it, v. 34. Tho' they had heard the Voice from Heaven, and the gracious Words that proceeded out of his Mouth, yet they object, and pick Quarrels with him. Chriſt had call'd himſelf the Son of Man, v. 23. which they knew to be one of the Titles of the Meſſiah, Dan, 7. 13. He had alſo ſaid, that the Son of Man muſt be lifted up, which they underſtood of his dying, and probably he explain'd himſelf ſo; and ſome think repeated what he ſaid to Nicodemus, John 3. 14. So muſt the Son of Man be lifted up. Now againſt this,

1. They alledge thoſe Scriptures of the Old Teſtament, which ſpeak of the Perpetuity of the Meſſiah, that he ſhould be ſo far from being cut off in the midſt of his Days, that he ſhould be a Prieſt for ever, Pſal. 110. 4. and a King for ever, Pſal. 89. 29, &c. that he ſhould have length of Days for ever and ever, and his Years as many Generations, Pſal. 20. 4. and 61. 6. from all this they inferr'd that the Meſſiah ſhould not die: Thus great Knowledge in the Letter of the Scripture, if the Heart be unſanctified, is capable of being abus'd to ſerve the Cauſe of Infidelity, and to fight againſt Chriſtianity with its own Weapons. Their Perverſeneſs in oppoſing this to what Jeſus had ſaid, will appear, if we conſider, (1.) That when they vouch'd the Scripture to prove that the Meſſiah abideth for ever, they took no Notice of thoſe Texts which ſpeak of the Meſſiah's Death and Sufferings; they had heard out of the Law that Meſſiah abideth for ever, and had they never heard out of the Law that Meſſiah ſhall be cut off? Dan. 5. 26. and that he ſhall pour out his Soul unto Death, Iſa. 53. 12. and particularly that his Hands and Feet ſhould be pierced; why then do they make ſo ſtrange of the lifting up of the Son of Man? Note, we often run into great Miſtakes, and then defend them with Scripture Arguments, by putting thoſe Things aſunder which God in his Word has put together; and oppoſing one Truth under Pretence of ſupporting another. We have heard out of the Goſpel that which exalts free Grace; we have heard alſo that which enjoyns Duty; and we muſt cordially embrace both, and not ſeparate them, or ſet them at variance. (2.) That when they oppos'd what Chriſt ſaid concerning the Sufferings of the Son of Man, they took no Notice of what he had ſaid concerning his Glory and Exaltation. They had heard out of the Law that Chriſt abideth for ever, and had they not heard our Lord Jeſus ſay that he ſhould be glorified; that he ſhould bring forth much Fruit, and draw all Men to him; had he not juſt now promis'd immortal Honours to his Followers, which ſuppos'd his abiding for ever, but this they overlook. Thus unfair Diſputants oppoſe ſome Parts of the Opinion of an Adverſary, which if they would but take entire; they could not but ſubſcribe to; and in the Doctrine of Chriſt there are Paradoxes, which to Men of corrupt Minds are Stones of ſtumbling; as Chriſt Crucified, and yet Glorified; lifted up from the Earth, and yet drawing all Men.

2. They aſk hereupon, Who is this Son of Man? This they aſk'd, not with a Deſire to be inſtructed, but tauntingly, and inſultingly, as if now they had baffled him, and run him down. Thou ſayeſt, The Son of Man muſt die; we have prov'd the Meſſiah muſt not, and where is then thy Meſſiah-ſhip? This Son of Man as thou calleſt thy ſelf, cannot be the Meſſiah; thou muſt therefore think of ſomething elſe to pretend to. Now that which prejudic'd them againſt Chriſt, was his Meanneſs and Poverty; they would rather have no Chriſt than a ſuffering one.

Sixthly, What Chriſt ſaid to this Exception, or rather what he ſaid upon it. The Objection was a perfect Cavil, they might if they pleas'd anſwer it themſelves. Man dies, and yet is immortal, and abideth for ever, ſo the Son of Man; therefore inſtead of anſwering theſe Fools according to their Folly, he gives them a ſerious Caution to take heed of trifling away the Day of their Opportunities in ſuch vain and fruitleſs Cavils as theſe, Ver. 35. 36. Yet a little while, and but a little while is the Light with you, therefore be wiſe for your ſelves, and walk while ye have the Light.

In general we may obſerve here, (1.) The Concern Chriſt has for the Souls of Men, and his Deſire of their Welfare. With what Tenderneſs doth he here admoniſh thoſe to look well to themſelves who were contriving ill againſt him. Even when he endured the Contradiction of Sinners, he endeavour'd their Converſion. See Prov. 29. 10. (2.) The Method he takes with thoſe Objectors; with Meekneſs inſtructing thoſe that oppos'd themſelves, 2 Tim. 2. 25. Were but Men's Conſciences awaken'd with a due Concern about their everlaſting State, and did they conſider how little Time they have to ſpend, and none to ſpare, they would not waſte precious Thoughts and Time in trifling Cavils.

Particularly we have here,

1. The Privilege and Advantage they enjoy'd in having Chriſt and his Goſpel among them, with the Shortneſs and Uncertainty of their Enjoyment of it; Yet a little while is the Light with you. Chriſt is this Light; and ſome of the Ancients ſuggeſt, that in calling himſelf the Light, he gives a tacit Anſwer to their Objection. His dying upon the Croſs was as conſiſtent with his abiding for ever, as the Setting of the Sun every Night is with his Perpetuity: The Duration of Chriſt's Kingdom is compar'd to that of the Sun and Moon, Pſal. 72. 17. and 89. 36, 37. The Ordinances of Heaven are unchangeably fix'd, and yet the Sun and Moon ſet and are eclips'd; ſo Chriſt, the Sun of Righteouſneeſs, abides for ever, and yet was eclips'd by his Sufferings, and was but a little while within our Horizon. Now, (1.) The Jews at this Time had the Light with them, they had Chriſt's bodily Preſence, heard his Preaching, ſaw his Miracles. The Scripture is to us a Light ſhining in a dark Place. (2.) It was to be but a little while with them; Chriſt would ſhortly leave them, their viſible Church State would ſoon after be diſſolv'd, and the Kingdom of God taken from them, and Blindneſs and Hardneſs would happen unto Iſrael. Note, It is good for us all to conſider what a little while we are to have the Light with us. Time is ſhort, and perhaps Opportunity not ſo long. The Candleſtick may be remov'd; however, we muſt be remov'd ſhortly. Yet a little while is the Light of Life with us; yet a little while is the Light of the Goſpel with us, the Day of Grace, the Means of Grace, the Spirit of Grace, yet a very little while.

2. The Warning given them to make the beſt of theſe Advantages while they enjoy'd them, becauſe of the Danger they were in of loſing them. Walk while ye have Light, as Travellers who make the beſt of their Way forward, that they may not be benighted in their Journey, becauſe travelling in the Night is uncomfortable and unſafe. Come, ſay they, let us mend our Pace and get forward while we have Day-light. Thus wiſe ſhould we be for our Souls, who are journeying towards Eternity. Note, (1.) It's our Buſineſs to walk, to preſs forwards towards Heaven, and to get nearer it by being made fitter for it. Our Life is but a Day, and we have a Day's Journey to go. (2.) The beſt Time of walking is while we have Light. The Day is the proper Seaſon for Work, as the Night is for Reſt. The proper Time for getting Grace is when we have the Word of Grace preached to us, and the Spirit of Grace ſtriving with us, and therefore then is the Time to be buſy. (3.) We are highly concern'd thus to improve our Opportunities, for fear leſt our Day be finiſh'd before we have finiſh'd our Days Work, and Days Journey: Leſt Darkneſs come upon you, leſt you loſe your Opportunities, and can neither recover them, nor diſpatch the Buſineſs you have to do without them. Then Darkneſs comes, i. e. ſuch an utter Incapacity to make ſure the great Salvation, as renders the State of the careleſs Sinner quite deplorable; ſo that if his Work be undone then, 'tis like to be undone for ever.

3. The ſad Condition of thoſe who have ſinn'd away the Goſpel, and are come to the Period of their Day of Grace. They walk in Darkneſs, and know neither where they go, nor whither they go; neither the Way they are walking in, nor the End they are walking towards. He that is deſtitute of the Light of the Goſpel, and is not acquainted with its Diſcoveries and Directions, he wanders endleſly in Miſtakes and Errors, and a thouſand crooked Paths, and is not aware of it. Set aſide the Inſtructions of the Chriſtian Doctrine, and we know little of the Difference between Good and Evil: He is going to Deſtruction, and knows not his Danger, for he is either ſleeping or dancing at the Pit's Brink.

4. The great Duty and Intereſt of every one of us inferred from all this, v. 36. While ye have Light believe in the Light. The Jews had now Chriſt's Preſence with them, let them improve it; afterwards they had the firſt Offers of the Goſpel made to them by the Apoſtles where-ever they came: Now this is an Admonition to them not to out-ſtand their Market, but to accept the Offer when it was made them: The ſame Chriſt ſaith to us all who enjoy the Goſpel. Note, 1. It is the Duty of every one of us to believe in the Goſpel Light, to receive it as a Divine Light, to ſubſcribe to the Truths it diſcovers, for it is a Light to our Eyes; and to follow its Conduct, for 'tis a Light to our Feet. Chriſt is the Light, and we muſt believe in him as he is reveal'd to us, as a true Light that will not deceive us; a ſure Light that will not miſguide us. 2. We are concern'd to do this while we have Light; to lay hold on Chriſt while we have the Goſpel to ſhew us the Way to him, and direct us in that Way. 3. They that believe in the Light ſhall be the Children of Light, they ſhall be own'd as Chriſtians, who are call'd Children of Light, Luke 16. 8. Eph. 5. 8. and of the Day, 1 Theſ. 5. 5. They that have God for their Father, are Children of Light, for God is Light; that are born from above, and Heirs of Heaven, and Children of Light, for Heaven is Light.

Seventhly, Chriſt's retiring from them hereupon; Theſe Things ſpake Jeſus, and ſaid no more at this Time, but left this to their Conſideration, and departed, and did hide himſelf from them. And this he did, 1. For their Conviction and Awakening: If they will not regard what he hath ſaid, he will have nothing more to ſay to them. They are joyn'd to their Infidelity, as Ephraim to Idols; let them alone. Note, Chriſt juſtly removes the Means of Grace from thoſe that quarrel with them, and hides his Face from a froward Generation, Deut. 32. 21. (2.) For his own Preſervation. He hid himſelf from their Rage and Fury, retreating, 'tis probable, to Bethany, where he lodg'd. By this it appears that what he ſaid irritated and exaſperated them, and they were made worſe by that which ſhould have made them better.

37 But though he had done ſo many miracles before them, yet they believed not on him: 38 That the ſaying of Eſaias the prophet might be fulfilled, which he ſpake; Lord, who hath believed our report? and to whom hath the arm of the Lord been revealed? 39 Therefore they could not believe, becauſe that Eſaias, ſaid again, 40 He hath blinded their eyes, and hardned their heart; that they ſhould not ſee with their eyes, nor underſtand with their heart, and be converted, and I ſhould heal them. 41 Theſe things ſaid Eſaias, when he ſaw his glory, and ſpake of him.

We have here the Honour done to our Lord Jeſus by the Old Teſtament Prophets, who foretold, and lamented the Infidelity of the many that believed not on him. It was indeed a Diſhonour and Grief to Chriſt, that his Doctrine met with ſo little Acceptance, and ſo much Oppoſition; but this takes off the Wonder and Reproach, makes the Offence of it to ceaſe, and made it no Diſappointment to Chriſt, that herein the Scriptures were fulfill'd. Two Things are here ſaid concerning this untractable People, and both were foretold by the Evangelical Prophet Iſaiah, that they did not believe, and that they could not believe.

Firſt, They did not believe, v. 37. Tho' he had done ſo many Miracles before them, which one would think ſhould have convinc'd them, yet they believed not, but oppos'd him. Obſerve,

1. The Plenty of the Means of Conviction which Chriſt afforded them; he did Miracles, ſo many Miracles, τοσαῦτα σημεῖα, it ſignifies both ſo many, and ſo great. It refers to all the Miracles he had wrought formerly, nay, the Blind and Lame now came to him into the Temple, and he healed them, Mat. 21. 14. His Miracles were the great Proof of his Miſſion, and on the Evidence of them he rely'd. Two Things concerning them he here inſiſts upon: (1.) The Number of them, they were many; various, and of divers Kinds; numerous, and oft repeated, and every new Miracle confirm'd the Reality of all that went before. The Multitude of his Miracles was not only a Proof of his unexhauſted Power, but gave the greater Opportunity to examine them; and if there had been a Cheat in them, 'twas morally impoſſible, but that in ſome or other of them 'twould have been diſcover'd; and being all Miracles of Mercy, the more there were, the more Good was done. (2.) The Notoriety of them. He wrought theſe Miracles before them, not at a Diſtance, not in a Corner, but before many Witneſſes, appealing to their own Eyes.

2. The Inefficacy of theſe Means, yet they believed not on him. They could not gainſay the Premiſes, and yet would not grant the Concluſion, Note, The moſt plentiful and powerful Means of Conviction will not of themſelves work Faith in the depraved prejudic'd Hearts of Men: Theſe ſaw and yet believed not.

3. The fulfilling of the Scripture in this. Ver. 38. That the Saying of Eſaias might be fulfill'd. Not that theſe Infidel Jews deſign'd the fulfilling of the Scripture, they rather fancy'd thoſe Scriptures which ſpeak of the Church's beſt Sons to be fulfilled in themſelves, but the Event exactly anſwer'd the Prediction, ſo that (ut for ita ut) this Saying of Eſaias was fulfill'd. The more improbable any Event is, the more doth a Divine foreſight appear in the Prediction of it. One could not have imagined that the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, ſupported with ſuch pregnant Proofs, ſhould have met with ſo much Oppoſition among the Jews, and therefore their Unbelief is call'd a marvellous Work, and a Wonder, Iſa. 29. 9, 14. Chriſt himſelf marvell'd at it, but it was what Iſaiah foretold, Iſa. 53. 1. and now it is accompliſh'd. Obſerve, (1.) The Goſpel is here call'd their Report. Who has believ'd, τῇ ἀκοῇ ἡμῶν, our Hearing, which we have heard from God, and which you have heard from us; our Report is the Report that we bring, like the Report of a Matter of Fact; or the Report of a ſolemn Reſolution in the Senate. 2. 'Tis foretold that few comparatively of thoſe to whom this Report is brought, will be perſwaded to give Credit to it: Many hear it, but few heed it, and embrace it. Who hath believed it? Here and there one, but none to ſpeak of; not the Wiſe, not the Noble; 'tis to them but a Report which wants Confirmation. (3.) 'Tis ſpoken of as a Thing to be greatly lamented, that ſo few believe the Report of the Goſpel. Lord is here prefix'd from the Seventy, but is not in the Hebrew, and it intimates a ſorrowful Account brought to God by the Meſſengers, of the cold Entertainment which they and their Report had; as the Servant came and ſhewed his Lord all theſe Things, Luke 14. 21. (4.) The Reaſon why Men believe not the Report of the Goſpel, is becauſe the Arm of the Lord is not revealed to them, i. e. becauſe they do not acquaint themſelves with, and ſubmit themſelves to, the Grace of God; they do not experimentally know the Virtue and Fellowſhip of Chriſt's Death and Reſurrection, in which the Arm of the Lord is revealed: They ſaw Chriſt's Miracles, but did not ſee the Arm of the Lord revealed in them.

Secondly, They could not believe, and therefore they could not, becauſe Eſaias ſaid, he hath blinded their Eyes. This is a hard Saying, who can explain it? We are ſure God is infinitely juſt and merciful, and therefore cannot think there is in any, ſuch an Impotency to Good, reſulting from the Counſels of God, as lays them under a fatal Neceſſity of being Evil; God damns none by meer Sovereignty; yet it is ſaid, they could not believe. St. Auſtin coming in Courſe to the Expoſition of theſe Words, expreſſeth himſelf with a holy Fear of entring upon an Enquiry into this Myſtery: Juſta ſunt judicia ejus, ſed occulta. (1.) They could not believe, that is, they would not; they were obſtinately reſolved in their Infidelity; thus Chryſoſtom and Auſtin incline to underſtand it; and the former gives divers Inſtances of Scripture of the putting of an Impotency to ſignify the invincible Refuſal of the Will, as Gen. 37. 4. They could not ſpeak peaceably to him. And John 7. 7. This is a moral Impotency, like that of one that is accuſtom'd to do Evil, Jer. 13. 23. But, (2.) They could not becauſe Eſaias had ſaid, He hath blinded their Eyes. Here the Difficulty increaſeth; 'tis certain God is not the Author of Sin, and yet,

1. There is a righteous Hand of God ſometimes to be acknowledg'd in the Blindneſs and Obſtinacy of thoſe who perſiſt in Impenitency and Unbelief, by which they are juſtly puniſh'd for their former Reſiſtance of the Divine Light, and Rebellion againſt the Divine Law. If God with-hold abuſed Grace, and give Men over to indulged Luſts; if he permit the evil Spirit to do his Work on them that reſiſted the good Spirit; and if in his Providence he lay ſtumbling Blocks in Sinners Way which confirm their Prejudices, then he blinds their Eyes, and hardens their Hearts, and theſe are ſpiritual Judgments, like the giving up of idolatrous Gentiles to vile Affections, and degenerate Chriſtians to ſtrong Deluſions.

Obſerve the Method of Converſion implied here, and the Steps taken in it. (1.) Sinners are brought to ſee with their Eyes to diſcern the Reality of Divine Things, and to have ſome Knowledge of them. (2.) To underſtand with their Heart, to apply theſe Things to themſelves; not only to aſſent or approve, but to conſent and accept. (3.) To be converted, and effectually turn'd from Sin to Chriſt, from the World and the Fleſh to God, as their Felicity and Portion. (4.) Then God will heal them, will juſtify and ſanctify them; will pardon their Sins, which are as bleeding Wounds; and mortify their Corruptions, which are as lurking Diſeaſes. Now when God denies his Grace, nothing of this is done; the Alienation of the Mind from, and its Averſion to, God and the Divine Life, grows into a rooted and invincible Antipathy, and ſo the Caſe becomes deſperate.

2. This judicial Blindneſs and Hardneſs is in the Word of God threaten'd againſt thoſe who wilfully perſiſt in Wickedneſs, and was particularly foretold concerning the Jewiſh Church and Nation. Known unto God are all his Works, and all ours too; Chriſt knew before who would betray him, and ſpoke of it, John 6. 70. This is a Confirmation of the Truth of Scripture Prophecies, and thus even the Unbelief of the Jews may help to ſtrengthen our Faith. 'Tis alſo intended for Caution to particular Perſons, to beware leſt that come upon them, which was ſpoken of in the Prophets, Acts 13. 40.

3. What God has foretold will certainly come to paſs, and ſo by a neceſſary Conſequence, in order of arguing, it might be ſaid, that therefore they could not believe, becauſe God, by the Prophets, had foretold they would not; for ſuch is the Knowledge of God, that he cannot be deceiv'd in what he foreſees; and ſuch his Truth, that he cannot deceive in what he foretels; ſo that the Scripture cannot be broken. Yet be it obſerv'd, that the Prophecy did not name particular Perſons; ſo that it might not be ſaid therefore, ſuch a one and ſuch a one could not believe, becauſe Eſaias had ſaid ſo and ſo; but it pointed at the Body of the Jewiſh Nation, which would perſiſt in their Infidelity, till their Cities were waſted without Inhabitants, as it follows, Iſa. 6. 11, 12. yet ſtill reſerving a Remnant, v. 13. in it ſhall be a Tenth; which Reſerve was ſufficient to keep a Door of Hope open to particular Perſons, for each one might ſay, why may not I be of that Remnant?

Laſtly, The Evangeliſt having quoted the Prophecy, ſhews, v. 41. that it was intended to look further than the Prophet's own Days, and that its principal Reference was to the Days of the Meſſiah; Theſe Things ſaid Eſaias, when he ſaw his Glory, and ſpake of him.

1. We read in the Prophecy, that this was ſaid to Eſaias, Iſa. 6. 8. But here we are told it was ſaid by him to the Purpoſe. For nothing was ſaid by him as a Prophet, which was not firſt ſaid to him; nor any thing ſaid to him which was not afterwards ſaid by him, to thoſe to whom he was ſent. See Iſa. 21. 10.

2. The Viſion which the Prophet there had of the Glory of God, is here ſaid to be his ſeeing the Glory of Jeſus Chriſt; he ſaw his Glory. Jeſus Chriſt therefore is equal in Power and Glory with the Father, and his Praiſes equally celebrated. Chriſt had a Glory before the Foundation of the World, and Eſaias ſaw this.

3. It is ſaid that the Prophet there ſpake of him. It ſeems to have been ſpoken of the Prophet himſelf, for to him the Commiſſion and Inſtructions were there given; and yet it is here ſaid to be ſpoken of Chriſt, for as all the Prophets teſtified of him, ſo they all typified him. This they ſpake of him, that as to many, his Coming would be not only fruitleſs but fatal, a Saviour of Death unto Death. It might be objected againſt his Doctrine, if it was from Heaven, why did not the Jews believe it; but this is an Anſwer to it; it was not for want of Evidence, but becauſe their Heart was made fat, and their Ears heavy. It was ſpoken of Chriſt, that he ſhould be glorified in the Ruin of an unbelieving Multitude, as well as in the Salvation of a diſtinguiſh'd Remnant.

42 ¶ Nevertheleſs, among the chief rulers alſo many believed on him; but becauſe of the Phariſees they did not confeſs him, leſt they ſhould be put out of the Synagogue. 43 For they loved the praiſe of men, more than the praiſe of God.

Some Honour was done to Chriſt by theſe Rulers, for they believed on him, were convinc'd that he was ſent of God, and received his Doctrine as divine; but they did not do him Honour enough, for they had not Courage to own their Faith in him. Many profeſs'd more Kindneſs for Chriſt than really they had; theſe had more Kindneſs for him, than they were willing to profeſs.

See here what a Struggle was in theſe Rulers between their Convictions and their Corruptions.

1. See the Power of the World in the Convictions that many of them were under, who did not wilfully ſhut their Eyes againſt the Light. They believed on him as Nicodemus, received him as a Teacher come from God. Note, The Truth of the Goſpel hath, perhaps, a better Intereſt in the Conſciences of Men than we are aware of. Many cannot but approve of that in their Hearts, which yet outwardly they are ſhy of. Perhaps theſe chief Rulers were true Believers, tho' very weak, and their Faith like ſmoaking Flax. Note, It may be there are more good People than we think there are. Elijah thought he was left alone, when God had ſeven thouſand faithful Worſhippers in Iſrael. Some are really better than they ſeem to be. Their Faults are known, but their Repentance is not; a Man's Goodneſs may be conceal'd by a culpable, yet pardonable Weakneſs, which he himſelf truly repents of. The Kingdom of God comes not in all with a like Obſervation; nor have all they that are good, the Faculty of ſhewing it as ſome have.

2. See the Power of the World in the ſmothering of theſe Convictions. They believed in Chriſt, but becauſe of the Phariſees, who had it in their Power to do them a Diſkindneſs, they durſt not confeſs him for fear of being excommunicated. Obſerve here,

1. Wherein they failed, and were defective; they did not confeſs Chriſt. Note, There is Cauſe to queſtion the Sincerity of that Faith which is either afraid or aſham'd to ſhew it ſelf; for thoſe who believe with the Heart, ought to confeſs with the Mouth, Rom. 10. 8.

2. What they fear'd; being put out of the Synagogue, which they thought would be a Diſgrace and Damage to them; as if it would do them any harm to be expell'd a Synagogue, that had made it ſelf a Synagogue of Satan, and from which God was departing.

3. What was at the Bottom of this Fear; they lov'd the Praiſe of Men, choſe it as a more valuable Good, and purſued it as a more deſireable End, than the Praiſe of God; which was an implicite Idolatry, like that, Rom. 1. 25. of worſhipping and ſerving the Creature more than the Creator. They ſet theſe two in the Scale one againſt the other, and having weigh'd them, they proceeded accordingly: (1.) They ſet the Praiſe of Men in one Scale, and conſider'd how good it was to give Praiſe to Men, and to pay a Deference to the Opinion of the Phariſees; and to receive Praiſe from Men, to be commended by the chief Prieſts, and applauded by the People as good Sons of the Church, the Jewiſh Church. And they would not confeſs Chriſt, leſt they ſhould thereby derogate from the Reputation of the Phariſees, and forfeit their own, and baulk their own Preferment. And beſides, the Followers of Chriſt were put into an ill Name, and were look'd upon with Contempt, which they who had been us'd to honour could not bear. Yet perhaps if they had known one another's Minds, they would have had more Courage; but each one thought, if he ſhould declare himſelf in favour of Chriſt, he ſhould ſtand alone, and have no Body to back him; whereas if any one had had Reſolution to break the Ice, he would have had more Seconds than he thought of. (2.) They put the Praiſe of God in the other Scale; they were ſenſible, that by confeſſing Chriſt, they ſhould both give Praiſe to God, and have Praiſe from God; that he would be pleas'd with them, and ſay, Well done: But, (3.) They gave the Preference to the Praiſe of Men, and that turn'd the Scale; Senſe prevail'd above Faith, and repreſented it more deſireable to ſtand right in the Opinion of the Phariſees, than to be accepted of God. Note, Love of the Praiſe of Men is a very great Prejudice to the Power and Practice of Religion and Godlineſs. Many come ſhort of the Glory of God, by having a Regard to the Applauſe of Men, and a Value for that. Love of the Praiſe of Men, as a By-end in that which is good, will make a Man an Hypocrite, when Religion is in Faſhion, and Credit is to be got by it; and as a baſe Principle in that which is evil, 'twill make a Man an Apoſtate, when Religion is in Diſgrace, and Credit is to be loſt for it, as here. See Rom. 2. 29.

44 ¶ Jeſus cried and ſaid, He that believeth on me, believeth not on me, but on him that ſent me. 45
And he that ſeeth me, ſeeth him that ſent me. 46
I am come a light into the world, that whatſoever believeth on me, ſhould not abide in darkneſs. 47
And if any man hear my words and believe not, I judge him not: for I came not to judge the world, but to ſave the world. 48 He that rejecteth me, and receiveth not my words, hath one that judgeth him:
the word that I have ſpoken, the ſame ſhall judge him in the laſt day. 49 For I have not ſpoken of my ſelf; but the Father which ſent me, he gave me a commandment what I ſhould ſay, and what I ſhould ſpeak. 50 And I know that his commandment is life everlaſting: whatſoever I ſpeak therefore, even as the Father ſaid unto me, ſo I ſpeak.

We have here the Honour Chriſt not aſſumed, but aſſerted to himſelf, in the Account he gave of his Miſſion and his Errand into the World. Probably this Diſcourſe was not at the ſame time with that before, for then he departed, v. 36. but ſome time after, when he made another publick Appearance; and as this Evangeliſt records it, 'twas Chriſt's farewel Sermon to the Jews, and his laſt publick Diſcourſe; all that follows was private with his Diſciples. Now obſerve how our Lord Jeſus deliver'd this parting Word; he cried and ſaid, Doth not Wiſdom cry? Prov. 8. 1. cry without, Prov. 1. 20. The raiſing of his Voice, and crying, intimates, (1.) His Boldneſs in ſpeaking; tho' they had not Courage openly to profeſs Faith in his Doctrine, he had Courage openly to publiſh it; if they were aſham'd of it, he was not, but ſet his Face as a Flint, Iſa. 50. 7. (2.) His Earneſtneſs in ſpeaking; he cried as one that was ſerious and importunate, and in good Earneſt in what he ſaid, and was willing to impart to them, not only the Goſpel of God, but even his own Soul. 3. It notes his Deſire, that all might take Notice of it. This being the laſt Time of the Publication of his Goſpel by himſelf in his Perſon, he makes Proclamation, whoever will hear me, let them come now.

Now what is this Concluſion of the whole Matter; this cloſing Summary of all Chriſt's Diſcourſes? 'Tis much like that of Moſes, Deut. 30. 15. See I have ſet before you Life and Death. So Chriſt here takes leave of the Temple, with a ſolemn Declaration of three Things.

Firſt, The Privileges and Dignities which they have that believe; this gives great Encouragement to us to believe in Chriſt, and to profeſs that Faith: 'Tis a thing of that Nature, that we need not be either ſhy of doing it, or ſhy of owning it: For,

1. By believing in Chriſt, we are brought into an honourable Acquaintance with God. v. 44. 45. He that believeth on me, and ſo ſeeth me, believes on him that ſent me, and ſo ſees him. He that believes on Chriſt, (1.) He doth not believe in a meer Man, ſuch a one as he ſeem'd to be, and was generally taken to be; but he believeth in one that is the Son of God, and equal in Power and Glory with the Father. Or rather, (2.) His Faith doth not terminate in Chriſt, but through him 'tis carry'd out to the Father that ſent him; to whom as our End, we come by Chriſt as our Way. The Doctrine of Chriſt is believed and received as the Truth of God: The Reſt of a believing Soul is in God through Chriſt as Mediator; for its Reſignation to Chriſt, is in order to its being preſented to God. Chriſtianity is made up, not of Philoſophy or Politicks, but pure Divinity.

This is illuſtrated, v. 45. He that ſees me, ſees him that ſent me; which is the ſame with believing in him, for Faith is the Eye of the Soul; in getting Acquaintance with Chriſt, we come to the Knowledge of God. For, (1.) God makes himſelf known in the Face of Chriſt, 2 Cor. 4. 6. who is the expreſs Image of his Perſon, Heb. 1. 3. (2.) All that have a believing Sight of Chriſt, are led by him to the Knowledge of God, whom Chriſt has revealed to us by his Word and Spirit. Chriſt as God was the Image of his Father's Perſon; but Chriſt as Mediator was his Father's Repreſentative in his Relation to Man; the Divine Light, Law and Love, being communicated to us in and through him; ſo that in ſeeing him, we may read; in eying him as our Saviour, Prince, and Lord, in the Right of Redemption, we ſee, and eye the Father as our Owner, Ruler, Benefactor, in the Right of Creation, for God is pleas'd to deal with fallen Man by Proxy.

2. We are hereby brought into a comfortable Enjoyment of our ſelves, v. 46. I am come a Light into the World, that whoſoever believes in me, Jew, or Gentile, ſhould not abide in Darkneſs. Obſerve,

1. The Character of Chriſt; I am come a Light into the World, to be a Light to it. It implies that he had a Being, and a Being as Light, before he came into the World, as the Sun is before it riſes; the Prophets and Apoſtles were made Lights to the World, but it was Chriſt only that came a Light into this World, having before been a glorious Light in the upper World, John 3. 19.

2. The Comfort of Chriſtians, they do not abide in Darkneſs. (1.) They do not continue in that dark Condition in which they were by Nature; they are light in the Lord. They were without any true Comfort or Joy, or Hope, but do not continue in that Condition: Light is ſown for them. (2.) What Darkneſs of Affliction, Diſquietment or Fear, they may afterwards be in, Proviſion is made that they may not abide long in that Darkneſs. (3.) They are deliver'd from that Darkneſs which is perpetual, and which abideth for ever, that utter Darkneſs, where is not the leaſt Gleam of Light, or Hope of it.

Secondly, The Peril and Danger they are in that believe not, which gives fair Warning to take heed of perſiſting in Unbelief, v. 47, 48. If any Man hear my Words, and believe not, I judge him not, not I only, or not now, leſt I ſhould be look'd upon as unfair in being Judge in my own Cauſe; yet let not Infidelity think therefore to go unpuniſhed, tho' I judge him not, there's one that judgeth him.

So that we have here the Doom of Unbelief. Obſerve,

1. Who they are whoſe Unbelief is here condemn'd: Theirs who hear Chriſt's Words, and yet believe them not. Thoſe ſhall not be condemn'd for their Infidelity, that never had or could have the Goſpel; every Man ſhall be judg'd according to the Diſpenſation of Light he was under, they that have ſinned without Law, ſhall be judged without Law. But thoſe that have heard, or might have heard, and would not, lie open to this Doom.

2. What is the conſtructive Malignity of their Unbelief, not receiving Chriſt's Word, it is interpreted, v. 48. a rejecting of Chriſt, ὁ ἀθετῶν με. It notes a Rejection with Scorn and Contempt. Where the Banner of the Goſpel is diſplay'd, no Neutrality is admitted; every Man is either a Subject or an Enemy.

3. The wonderful Patience and Forbearance of our Lord Jeſus exercis'd towards thoſe who ſlighted him when he was come here upon Earth; I judge him not, not now. Note, Chriſt was not quick or haſty, to take Advantage againſt thoſe who refus'd the firſt Offers of his Grace, but continu'd waiting to be gracious. He did not ſtrike thoſe dumb or dead who contradicted him, never made Interceſſion againſt Iſrael, as Elias did; tho' he had Authority to judge, he ſuſpended the Execution of it, becauſe he had Work of another Nature to do firſt, and that was to ſave the World. (1.) To ſave effectually thoſe that were given him, before he came to judge the degenerate Body of Mankind. (2.) To offer Salvation to all the World, and thus for to ſave them, that 'tis their own Fault if they be not ſaved. He was to put away Sin by the Sacrifice of himſelf. Now the executing of the Power of a Judge was not congruous with that Undertaking, Acts 8. 33. In his Humiliation his Judgment was taken away; 'twas ſuſpended for a Time.

4. The certain and unavoidable Judgment of Unbelievers at the great Day, the Day of the Revelation of the righteous Judgment of God: Unbelief will certainly be a damning Sin. Some think when Chriſt ſaith, I judge no Man, he means they are condemn'd already; there needs no Proceſs, they are ſelf-judg'd; no Execution, they are ſelf-ruin'd; Judgment goes againſt them of courſe, Heb. 2. 3. Chriſt needs not appear againſt them as their Accuſer, they are miſerable if he do not appear for them as their Advocate; however he tells them plainly when and where they will be reckon'd with.

1. There is one that judgeth them. Nothing more dreadful than abuſed Patience, and Grace trampled on; tho' for a while Mercy rejoyceth againſt Judgment, yet there will be Judgment without Mercy.

2. Their final Judgment is reſerv'd to the laſt Day; to that Day of Judgment Chriſt here binds over all Unbelievers, to anſwer then for all the Contempts they have put upon him. Divine Juſtice has appointed a Day, and adjourns the Sentence to that Day, as Mat. 26. 64.

3. The Word of Chriſt will judge them then; The Words that I have ſpoken, how light ſoever you have made of them, the ſame ſhall judge the Unbeliever in the laſt Day; as the Apoſtles, the Preachers of Chriſt's Word, are ſaid to judge, Luke 22. 30. Chriſt's Word will judge Unbelievers two Ways. (1.) As the Evidence of their Crime, they will convict them. Every Word Chriſt ſpoke, every Sermon, every Argument, every kind Offer will be produced as a Teſtimony againſt thoſe who ſlighted all he ſaid. (2.) As the Rule of their Doom, they will condemn them; they ſhall be judg'd according to the Tenor of that Covenant which Chriſt procured and publiſhed. That Word of Chriſt, He that believes not ſhall be damn'd, will judge all Unbelievers to eternal Ruin; and are many ſuch like Words.

Thirdly, A ſolemn Declaration of the Authority Chriſt had to demand our Faith, and require us to receive his Doctrine upon Pain of Damnation, v. 49, 50. Where obſerve,

1. The Commiſſion which our Lord Jeſus received from the Father, to deliver his Doctrine to the World, v. 49. I have not ſpoken of my ſelf, as a mere Man, much leſs a common man: But the Father gave me a Commandment what I ſhould ſay. This is the ſame with what he had ſaid, John 7. 17. My Doctrine is, (1.) Not mine, for I have not ſpoken of my ſelf. Chriſt as Son of Man, did not ſpeak that which was of human Contrivance or Compoſure; as Son of God, he did not act ſeparately, or by himſelf alone, but what he ſaid was the Reſult of the Counſels of Peace; as Mediator, his coming into the World was voluntary, and with his full Conſent, but not arbitrary, and of his own Head. But, (2.) It was he that ſent him, God the Father gave him, (1.) His Commiſſion; God ſent him as his Agent and Plenipotentiary, to concert Matters between him and Man, to ſet a Treaty of Peace on foot, and to ſettle the Articles. 2. His Inſtructions, here call'd a Commandment, for they were like thoſe given an Embaſſador, directing him not only what he may ſay, but what he muſt ſay. The Meſſenger of the Covenant was intruſted with an Errand which he muſt deliver. Note, Our Lord Jeſus learned Obedience himſelf, before he taught it us, tho' he were a Son. The Lord God commanded the firſt Adam, and he by his Diſobedience ruin'd us; he commanded the ſecond Adam, and he by his Obedience ſaved us. God commanded him what he ſhould ſay, and what he ſhould ſpeak, two Words ſignifying the ſame thing, to note that every Word was divine. The old Teſtament Prophets ſometimes ſpoke of themſelves, but Chriſt ſpoke by the Spirit at all times. Some make this Diſtinction; he was directed what he ſhould ſay in his Set-Sermons, and what he ſhould ſpeak in his familiar Diſcourſes. Others this; he was directed what he ſhould ſay in his preaching now, and what he ſhould ſpeak in his judging at the laſt Day, for he had Commiſſions and Inſtructions for both.

2. The Scope, Deſign, and Tendency of that Commiſſion v. 50. I know that his Commandment is Life everlaſting. The Commiſſion given to Chriſt had a Reference to the everlaſting State of the Children of Men, and was in order to their everlaſting Life and Happineſs in that State. The Inſtructions given to Chriſt as a Prophet, were to reveal eternal Life, 1 John 5. 10. The Power given to Chriſt as a King, was to give eternal Life, John 17. 2. Thus the Command given him was Life everlaſting. This Chriſt ſaith, he knew; I know it is ſo, which intimates how chearfully, and with what Aſſurance Chriſt purſued his Undertaking, knowing very well that he went upon a good Errand, and that which would bring forth Fruit unto Life eternal. It intimates likewiſe how juſtly they will periſh, who reject Chriſt and his Word; thoſe who diſobey Chriſt, deſpiſe everlaſting Life, and renounce it; ſo that not only Chriſt's Words will judge them, but even their own; ſo ſhall their Doom be, themſelves have decided it, and who can except againſt it.

3. Chriſt's exact Obſervance of the Commiſſion and Inſtructions given him, and his ſteddy acting in Purſuance of them. Whatſoever I ſpeak, 'tis as the Father ſaid unto me. Chriſt was intimately acquainted with the Counſels of God, and was faithful in diſcovering ſo much of them to the Children of Men, as 'twas agreed ſhould be diſcover'd, and kept back nothing that was profitable. As the faithful Witneſs delivereth Souls, ſo did he, and ſpoke the Truth, the whole Truth, and nothing but the Truth. Now, (1.) This is a great Encouragement to Faith; the Sayings of Chriſt rightly underſtood, are what we may venture our Souls upon. (2.) 'Tis a great Example of Obedience. Chriſt ſaid he was bidden, and ſo muſt we; communicated what the Father had ſaid to him, and ſo muſt we. See Acts 4. 20. In the midſt of all the Reſpects paid him, this is the Honour he values himſelf upon, that what the Father had ſaid to him, that he ſpoke, and in the Manner as he was directed, ſo he ſpoke. This was his Glory, that, as a Son, he was faithful to him that appointed him; and by an unfeigned Belief of every Word of Chriſt, and an entire Subjection of Soul to it, we muſt give him the Glory due to his Name.

CHAP. XIII.

Our Saviour having finiſh'd his publick Diſcourſes, in which he endur'd the Contradiction of Sinners: He now applies himſelf to a private Converſation with his Friends, in which he deſign'd the Conſolation of Saints. Henceforward we have an Account of what paſſed between him and his Diſciples, who were to be intruſted with the Affairs of his Houſhold, when he was gone into a far Country; the neceſſary Inſtructions and Comforts he furniſh'd them with; his Hour being at hand, he applies himſelf to ſet his Houſe in Order. In this Chapter, (1.) He waſheth his Diſciples Feet, v. 1—17. (2.) He foretels who ſhould betray him, v. 18——30. (3.) He inſtructs them in the great Doctrine of his own Death, and the great Duty of Brotherly Love, v. 31——35. (4.) He foretells Peter's denying of him, v. 36——38.

NOW before the feaſt of the paſſover, when Jeſus knew that his hour was come, that he ſhould depart out of this world unto the Father, having loved his own which were in the world, he loved them unto the end. 2 And ſupper being ended, (the devil having now put into the heart of Judas Iſcariot, Simon's ſon, to betray him) 3 Jeſus knowing that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that he was come from God, and went to God: 4 He riſeth from ſupper, and laid aſide his garments, and took a towel and girded himſelf. 5 After that, he poureth water into a baſon, and began to waſh the diſciples feet, and to wipe them with the towel wherewith he was girded. 6 Then cometh he to Simon Peter: and Peter ſaith unto him, Lord, doſt thou waſh my feet? 7 Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto him, What I do thou knoweſt not now; but thou ſhalt know hereafter. 8 Peter ſaith unto him, Thou ſhalt never waſh my feet. Jeſus anſwered him, If I waſh thee not, thou haſt no part with me. 9 Simon Peter ſaith unto him, Lord, not my feet only, but alſo my hands and my head. 10 Jeſus ſaith to him, He that is waſhed, needeth not, ſave to waſh his feet, but is clean every whit: and ye are clean, but not all. 11 For he knew who ſhould betray him; therefore ſaid he, Ye are not all clean. 12 So after he had waſhed their feet, and had taken his garments, and was ſet down again, he ſaid unto them, Know ye what I have done to you? 13 Ye call me Maſter, and Lord; and ye ſay well; for ſo I am. 14 If I then your Lord and Maſter, have waſhed your feet, ye alſo ought to waſh one anothers feet. 15 For I have given you an Example, that ye ſhould do as I have done to you. 16 Verily verily I ſay unto you, The ſervant is not greater than his lord, neither he that is ſent, greater than he that ſent him. 17 If ye know theſe things, happy are ye if ye do them.

It has generally been taken for granted, that Chriſt's waſhing his Diſciples Feet, and the Diſcourſe that follow'd it, was the ſame Night in which he was betray'd, and at the ſame ſitting, wherein he eat the Paſſover, and inſtituted the Lord's Supper. But whether before the Solemnity began, or after it was all over, or between the eating of the Paſſover, and the Inſtitution of the Lord's Supper, they are not agreed. This Evangeliſt making it his Buſineſs to gather up thoſe Paſſages which the other had omitted, induſtriouſly omits thoſe which the other had recorded; which occaſions ſome Difficulty in putting them together. And if it were then, we ſuppoſe that Judas went out, v. 30. to get his Men ready, that were to apprehend the Lord Jeſus in the Garden. But Dr. Lightfoot is clearly of Opinion, that this was done and ſaid, even all that is recorded to the End of chap. 14. not at the Paſſover Supper, for it is here ſaid, v. 1. to be before the Feaſt of the Paſſover; but at the Supper in Bethany, two Days before the Paſſover, of which we read, Mat. 26, 2, 6. at which Mary the ſecond Time anointed Chriſt's Head with the Remainder of the Box of Ointment. Or, it might be at ſome other Supper the Night before the Paſſover, not as that was in the Houſe of Simon the Leper, but in his own Lodgings, where he had none but his Diſciples about him, and could be more free with them.

In theſe Verſes we have the Story of Chriſt's waſhing his Diſciples Feet; 'twas an Action of a ſingular Nature; no Miracle, but a Miracle of Humility. Mary had now newly anointed his Head, now leſt his Acceptance of that, ſhould look like taking State, he preſently balanceth it with this Act of Abaſement; but why would Chriſt do this? If the Diſciples Feet needed waſhing, they could do it themſelves; a wiſe Man will not do a thing that looks odd, and unuſual, but for very good Cauſes and Conſiderations. We are ſure it was not in a Humour or a Frolick that this was done; no, the Tranſaction was very ſolemn, and carried on with a deal of Seriouſneſs; and four Reaſons are here intimated why Chriſt did this. (1.) That he might teſtify his Love to his Diſciples, v. 1, 2. (2.) That he might give an Inſtance of his own voluntary Humility and Condeſcention, v. 3, 4, 5. (3.) That he might ſignify to them ſpiritual waſhing, which is referr'd to in his Diſcourſe with Peter, v. 6——11. (4.) That he might ſet them an Example, v. 12—17. And the opening of theſe four Reaſons for it, will take in the Expoſition of the whole Story.

Firſt, Chriſt waſh'd his Diſciples Feet, that he might give a Proof of that great Love wherewith he loved them: Loved them to the end, v. 1, 2.

1. It is here laid down as an undoubted Truth, that our Lord Jeſus having loved his own which were in the World, loved them to the end, v. 1.

(1.) This is true of the Diſciples that were his immediate Followers, in particular the Twelve. Theſe were his own in the World, his Family, his School, his Boſom Friends. Children he had none to call his own, but he adopted them, and took them as his own. He had thoſe that were his own in 'tother World, but he left them for a Time to look after his own in this World. Theſe he loved, he call'd them into Fellowſhip with himſelf, converſe familiarly with them, was always tender of them, and of their Comfort and Reputation. He allow'd them to be very free with him, and bore with their Infirmities. He lov'd them to the end, continued his Love to them as long as he liv'd, and after his Reſurrection; he never took away his loving Kindneſs: Tho' there were ſome Perſons of Quality that eſpous'd his Cauſe, he did not lay aſide his old Friends to make Room for new Ones, but ſtill ſtuck to his poor Fiſhermen. They were weak and defective in Knowledge and Grace, dull and forgetful, and yet tho' he reprov'd them often, he never ceas'd to love, and take care of them.

(2.) 'Tis true of all Believers, for theſe Twelve Patriarchs were the Repreſentatives of all the Tribes of God's ſpiritual Iſrael. Note, 1. Our Lord Jeſus hath a People in the World that are his own; his own, for they were given him by the Father, he has purchas'd them, and paid dear for them, and he hath ſet them apart for himſelf; his own, for they have devoted themſelves to him as a peculiar People. His own. Where his own were ſpoken of that received him not, 'tis τὰ ἴδια, his own Things, as a Man's Cattle are his own, which yet he may when he pleaſeth alter the Property of. But here 'tis τȣ̀ς ἰδίȣς, his own Perſons, as a Man's Wife and Children are his own, to whom he ſtands in a conſtant Relation. 2. Chriſt has a dear Love for his own that are in the World. He did love them with a Love of good Will when he gave himſelf for their Redemption. He doth love them with a Love of Complacency, when he admits them into Communion with himſelf. Tho' they are in this World, a World of Darkneſs and Diſtance of Sin and Corruption, yet he loves them. He was now going to his own in Heaven, the Spirits of juſt Men made perfect there, but he ſeems moſt concern'd for his own Earth, becauſe they moſt needed his Care: The ſickly Child is moſt indulg'd. 3. Thoſe whom Chriſt loves he loves to the end; he is conſtant in his Love to his People; he reſts in his Love. He loves with an everlaſting Love, Jer. 31. 3. from everlaſting in the Counſels of it, to everlaſting in the Conſequences of it. Nothing can ſeparate a Believer from the Love of Chriſt; he loves his own, εἰς τέλος, unto Perfection, for he will perfect what concerns them, will bring them to that World where Love is perfect.

2. Chriſt manifeſted his Love to them by waſhing their Feet, as that good Woman (Luke 7. 42.) ſhewed her Love to Chriſt by waſhing his Feet, and wiping them. Thus he would ſhew that as his Love to them was conſtant, ſo it was condeſcending, and that in Proſecution of the Deſigns of it he was willing to humble himſelf; and that the Glories of his exalted State, which he was now entring upon, ſhould be no Obſtruction at all to the Favour he bare to his choſen: And thus he would confirm the Promiſe he had made to all the Saints, that he would make them ſit down to Meat, and would come forth and ſerve them, Luke 12. 37. would put Honour upon them as great and ſurprizing as for a Lord to ſerve his Servants. The Diſciples had juſt now betray'd the Weakneſs of their Love to him, in grudging the Ointment that was poured upon his Head, Mat. 26. 28. yet he preſently gives this Proof of his Love to them. Our Infirmities are Foils to Chriſt's Kindneſſes, and ſet them off.

3. He choſe this Time to do it, a little before his laſt Paſſover, for two Reaſons.

1. Becauſe now he knew that his Hour was come, which he had long expected, when he ſhould depart out of this World to the Father. Obſerve here,

(1.) The Change that was to paſs over our Lord Jeſus, he muſt depart. This began at his Death, but was compleated at his Aſcenſion. As Chriſt himſelf, ſo all Believers, by Virtue of their Union with him, when they depart out of the World, are abſent from the Body, go to the Father, are preſent with the Lord. 'Tis a Departure out of the World, this unkind, injurious World, this faithleſs, treacherous World; this World of Labour, Toil, and Temptation; this Vale of Tears; and 'tis going to the Father, to the Viſion of the Father of Spirits, and the Fruition of him as ours.

(2.) The Time of this Change, his Hour was come. 'Tis ſometimes call'd his Enemies Hour, Luke 22. 53. the Honour of their Triumph; ſometimes his Hour, the Hour of his Triumph; the Hour he had in his Eye all along. The Time of his Sufferings was fix'd to an Hour, and the Continuance of them but for an Hour.

(3.) His Foreſight of it; He knew that his Hour was come, he knew from the Beginning that it would come, and when, but now knew that it was come. We know not when our Hour will come, and therefore what we have to do in habitual Preparation for it, ought never to be undone; but when we know by the Harbingers that our Hour is come, we muſt vigorouſly apply our ſelves to an actual Preparation as our Maſter did, 2 Pet. 3. 14.

Now it was in the immediate Foreſight of his Departure that he waſh'd his Diſciples Feet; that as his own Head was anointed juſt now againſt the Day of his Burial, ſo their Feet might be waſh'd againſt the Day of their Conſecration, by the deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt Fifty Days after, as the Prieſts were waſh'd, Lev. 8. 6. When we ſee our Day approaching, we ſhould do what good we can to thoſe we leave behind.

2. Becauſe the Devil had now put it into the Head of Judas to betray him, v. 2. Theſe Words in a Parentheſis may be conſider'd,

1. As tracing Judas's Treaſon to its Original; 'twas a Sin of ſuch a Nature that it evidently bore the Devil's Image and Superſcription. What Ways of acceſs the Devil has to Men's Hearts, and by what Methods he darts in his Suggeſtions, and mingles them undiſcern'd with thoſe Thoughts which are the Natives of the Heart, we cannot tell? But there are ſome Sins in their own Nature ſo exceeding ſinful, and to which there is ſo little Temptation from the World and the Fleſh, that 'tis plain Satan laid the Egg of them in a Heart diſpos'd to be the Neſt to hatch them in: For Judas to betray ſuch a Maſter ſo cheaply, and upon no Provocation, was ſuch downright Enmity to God, as could not be forg'd but by Satan himſelf, who thereby thought to ruin the Redeemer's Kingdom, but it prov'd the Ruin of his own.

2. As intimating a Reaſon why Chriſt now waſh'd his Diſciples Feet. 1. Judas being now reſolv'd to betray him, the Time of his Departure could not be far off; if this Matter be determin'd, 'tis eaſy to infer with St. Paul, I am now ready to be offer'd. Note, The more malicious we perceive our Enemies to be againſt us, the more induſtrious we ſhould be to prepare for the worſt that may come. 2. Judas being now got into the Snare, and the Devil aiming at Peter, and the reſt of them, (Luke 22. 31.) Chriſt would fortifie his own againſt him. If the Wolf have ſeiz'd one of the Flock, it's Time for the Shepherd to look well to the reſt. Antidotes muſt be ſtirring when the Infection is begun. Dr. Lightfoot obſerves, that the Diſciples had learned of Judas to murmur at the anointing of Chriſt, (compare John 12. 4. with Mark 26. 8.) Now leſt they that had learn'd that of him ſhould learn worſe, he fortifies them by a Leſſon of Humility againſt his moſt dangerous Aſſaults. 3. Judas, who was now plotting to betray him, was one of the Twelve. Now Chriſt would hereby ſhew he did not deſign to caſt them all off for the Faults of one. Tho' one of their College had a Devil, and was a Traytor, yet they ſhould fare never the worſe for that. Chriſt loves his Church, tho' there are Hypocrites in it, and had ſtill a Kindneſs for his Diſciples, tho' there was a Judas among them, and he knew it.

Secondly, Chriſt waſh'd his Diſciples Feet, that he might give an Inſtance of his own wonderful Humility, and ſhew how lowly and condeſcending he was, and let all the World know how low he could ſtoop in love to his own. This is intimated, v. 3, 4, 5. Jeſus knowing, and now actually conſidering, and perhaps diſcourſing of his Honours as Mediator, and telling his Friends that the Father had given all Things into his Hand, &c. he riſeth from Supper, and to the great Surprize of the Company, who wonder'd what he was going to do, waſh'd his Diſciples Feet.

1. Here's the rightful Advancement of the Lord Jeſus. Glorious Things are here ſaid of Chriſt as Mediator.

(1.) The Father had given all Things into his Hands; had given him a Propriety in all, and a Power over all, as Poſſeſſor of Heaven and Earth, in purſuance of the great Deſigns of his Undertaking; ſee Mat. 11. 27. The Accommodation and Arbitration of all Matters in variance between God and Man was committed into his Hands, as the great Umpire and Referee; and the Adminiſtration of the Kingdom of God among Men, in all the Branches of it, was committed to him; ſo that all Acts, both of Government and Judgment were to paſs through his Hands; he is Heir of all Things.

(2.) He came from God; this implies that he was in the beginning with God, and had a Being and Glory, not only before he was born into this World, but before the World it ſelf was born; and when he came into the World he came as God's Ambaſſador, with a Commiſſion from him. He came from God as the Son of God, and the Sent of God. The Old Teſtament Prophets were raiſed up, and employ'd for God, but Chriſt came directly from him.

(3.) He went to God, to be glorified with him, with the ſame Glory which he had with God from Eternity. That which comes from God ſhall go to God; they that are born from Heaven, are bound for Heaven. As Chriſt came from God to be an Agent for him on Earth, ſo he went to God to be an Agent for us in Heaven; and it is a Comfort to us to think how welcome he was there; he was brought near to the Ancient of Days, Dan. 7. 13. And 'twas ſaid to him, ſit thou at my Right Hand, Pſal. 110. 1.

(4.) He knew all this; was not like a Prince in the Cradle, that knows nothing of the Honour he is born to, or like Moſes, who wiſt not that his Face ſhone; no, he had a full View of all the Honours of his exalted State, and yet ſtoop'd thus low. But how doth this come in here?

1. As an Inducement to him now quickly to leave what Leſſons and Legacies he had to leave to his Diſciples, becauſe his Hour was now come when he muſt take his Leave of them, and be exalted above that familiar Converſe which he now had with them, v. 1.

2. It may come in as that which ſupported him under his Sufferings, and carried him chearfully through this ſharp Encounter. Judas was now betraying him, and he knew it, and knew what would be the Conſequence of it, yet knowing alſo that he came from God, and went to God, he did not draw back, but went on chearfully.

3. It ſeems to come in as a Foil to his Condeſcenſion, to make it the more admirable. The Reaſons of Divine Grace are ſometimes repreſented in Scripture as ſtrange and ſurprizing, as Iſa. 57. 17, 18. Hoſ. 2. 13, 14. ſo here that's given as an Inducement to Chriſt to ſtoop, which ſhould rather have been a Reaſon for his taking State, for God's Thoughts are not as ours. Compare with this, thoſe Paſſages which preface the moſt ſignal Inſtances of condeſcending Grace, with the Diſplays of Divine Glory, as Pſal. 68. 4, 5. Iſa. 57. 15. and 67. 1, 2.

2. Here's the voluntary Abaſement of our Lord Jeſus notwithſtanding this. Jeſus knowing his own Glory as God, and his own Authority and Power as Mediator, one would think it ſhould follow, He riſeth from Supper, lays aſide his ordinary Garments, calls for Robes, bids them keep their Diſtance, and do him Homage; no, quite contrary, when he conſidered this, he gave the greateſt Inſtance of Humility. Note, (1.) A well grounded Aſſurance of Heaven and Happineſs, inſtead of puffing a Man with Pride will make and keep them very humble. (2.) Thoſe that would be found conformable to Chriſt, and Partakers of his Spirit, muſt ſtudy to keep their Minds low in the midſt of the greateſt Advancements. Now that which Chriſt humbled himſelf to, was to waſh his Diſciples Feet.

1. The Action it ſelf was mean and ſervile, and that which Servants of the loweſt Rank were employ'd in. Let thine Handmaid (ſaid Abigail) be a Servant to waſh the Feet of the Servants of my Lord; let me be in the meaneſt Employments, 1 Sam. 25. 41. If he had waſh'd their Hands or Faces it had been great Condeſcenſion: Eliſha pour'd Water upon the Hands of Elijah, 2 Kings 3. 11. but for Chriſt to ſtoop to ſuch a piece of Drudgery as this, we may well be amazed at it. Thus he would teach us to think nothing below us, wherein we may be ſerviceable to God's Glory, and the good of our Brethren.

2. The Condeſcenſion was ſo much the greater, that he did this for his own Diſciples, who in themſelves were of a low and deſpicable Condition, not curious about their Bodies; their Feet 'tis likely, ſeldom waſh'd, and therefore very dirty. In Relation to him, they were his Scholars, his Servants, and ſuch as ſhould have waſh'd his Feet, whoſe Dependance was upon him, and their Expectations from him. Many of great Spirits otherwiſe will do a mean thing to curry Favour with their Superiours, they riſe by ſtooping, and climb by cringing; but for Chriſt to do this to his Diſciples, could be no Act of Policy or Complaiſance, but pure Humility.

3. He roſe from Supper to do it. Tho' we tranſlate it, v. 2. Supper being ended; it might be better read, there being a Supper made, or he being at Supper, for he ſat down again, v. 12. and we find, him dipping a Sop, v. 26. ſo that he did it in the midſt of his Meal, and thereby taught us, (1.) Not to reckon it a Diſturbance, or any juſt Cauſe of Uneaſineſs to be call'd from our Meal to do God or our Brother any real Service, eſteeming the Diſcharge of our Duty more than our neceſſary Food, John 4. 34. Chriſt would not leave his Preaching to oblige his neareſt Relations, Mark 3. 33. but would leave his Supper to ſhew his Love to his Diſciples. (2.) Not to be over nice about our Meat. 'Twould have turn'd many a ſqueamiſh Stomach to waſh dirty Feet at Supper time; but Chriſt did it, not that we might learn to be rude and ſlovenly, Cleanlineſs and Godlineſs will do well together; but to teach us, not to be curious, not to indulge, but mortifie the Delicacy of the Appetite, giving good Manners their due Place and no more.

4. He put himſelf into the Garb of a Servant to do it; he laid aſide his looſe and upper Garments, that he might apply himſelf to this Service the more expediently. We muſt addreſs our ſelves to Duty as thoſe that are reſolv'd not to take State, but to take Pains; we muſt diveſt our ſelves of every Thing that would either feed our Pride, or hang in our Way, and hinder us in what we have to do; muſt gird up the Loins of our Mind, as thoſe that in earneſt buckle to Buſineſs.

5. He did it with all the humble Ceremony that could be, went through all the Parts of the Service diſtinctly, and balk'd none of them; he did as if he had been uſed thus to ſerve; did it himſelf alone, and had none to miniſter to him in it. He girded himſelf with the Towel, as Servants throw a Napkin on their Arm, or put an Apron before them; he pour'd Water into the Baſon out of the Water-pots that ſtood by, John 2. 6. and then waſh'd their Feet; and to compleat the Service, wiped them. Some think he did not waſh the Feet of them all, but only Four or Five of them, that being thought ſufficient to anſwer the End; but I ſee nothing to countenance this Conjecture, for in other Places where he did make a difference, 'tis taken Notice of; and is waſhing the Feet of them all without Exception, teacheth us a Catholick, and extenſive Charity to all Chriſt's Diſciples, even the leaſt.

6. Nothing appears to the contrary, but that he waſh'd the Feet of Judas among the reſt, for he was preſent, v. 26. 'Tis the Character of a Widow indeed, that ſhe had waſh'd the Saints Feet, 1 Tim. 5. 10. and there is ſome comfort in that, but the bleſſed Jeſus here waſhed the Feet of a Sinner, the worſt of Sinners; the worſt to him, that was at this Time contriving to betray him.

Many Interpreters make Chriſt's waſhing his Diſciples Feet a Repreſentation of his whole Undertaking. He knew that he was equal with God, and all Things were his, and yet he aroſe from his Table in Glory, laid aſide his Robes of Light, girded himſelf with our Nature, took upon him the Form of a Servant, came not to be miniſtred to, but to miniſter; poured out his Blood, poured out his Soul unto Death, and thereby prepared a Laver to waſh us from our Sins, Rev. 1. 5.

Thirdly, Chriſt waſh'd his Diſciples Feet that he might ſignifie to them ſpiritual waſhing, and the cleanſing of the Soul from the Pollutions of Sin. This is plainly intimated in his Diſcourſe with Peter upon it, v. 6—11. In which we may obſerve,

1. The Surprize Peter was in when he ſaw his Maſter go about this mean Service. Ver. 6. Then comes he to Simon Peter, with his Towel and Baſon, and bid him put out his Feet to be waſhed. Chryſoſtom conjectures that he waſhed the Feet of Judas firſt, who readily admitted it, and was pleaſed to ſee his Maſter ſo diſparage himſelf. 'Tis moſt probable when he went about this Service (which is all that is meant by his beginning to waſh, v. 5.) he took Peter firſt; and the reſt would not have ſuffer'd it, if they had not firſt heard it explained in what paſt between Chriſt and Peter.

Whether Chriſt came firſt to Peter or no, when he did come to him, Peter ſtartled at the Propoſal, Lord (ſaith he) doſt thou waſh my Feet? Here's an Emphaſis to be laid upon the Perſons, thou and me; and the placing of the Words is obſervable, σύ μου, what, thou mine? Tu mihi lavas pedes? Quid eſt tu? Quid eſt mihi? Cogitanda ſunt potius quam dicenda, Aug. in loc. What Thou? Our Lord and Maſter, whom we know, and believe to be the Son of God, and Saviour and Ruler of the World, do this for me, a worthleſs Worm of the Earth, a ſinful Man, O Lord. Shall thoſe Hands waſh my Feet, which with a Touch have cleanſed Lepers, given Sight to the Blind, and raiſed the Dead? So Theophylact, and from him Dr. Taylor. Very willingly would Peter have taken the Baſon and Towel, and waſhed his Maſter's Feet, and been proud of the Honour, Luke 17. 7, 8. This had been natural and regular, for my Maſter to waſh my Feet, is ſuch a Soleciſm as never was; ſuch a Paradox as I cannot underſtand: Is this the Manner of Men? Note, Chriſt's Condeſcenſions, eſpecially his Condeſcenſion to us, wherein we find our ſelves taken Notice of by his Grace, are juſtly the Matter of our Admiration, John 14. 27. Who am I, Lord God? And what is my Father's Houſe?

2. The immediate Satisfaction Chriſt gave to this Queſtion of Surprize, which was at the leaſt ſufficient to ſilence his Objections, v. 7. What I do thou knoweſt not now, but ſhalt know hereafter. Here are two Reaſons why Peter muſt ſubmit to what Chriſt was doing.

(1.) Becauſe he was at preſent in the dark concerning it, and ought not to oppoſe what he did not underſtand, but acquieſce in the Will and Wiſdom of one who could give a good Reaſon for all he ſaid and did. Chriſt will teach Peter an implicite Obedience; what I do, thou knoweſt not now, and therefore art no competent Judge of it, but muſt believe it's well done, becauſe I do it. Note, Conſciouſneſs to our ſelves of the Darkneſs we labour under, and our Inability to judge of what God doth, ſhould make us ſparing and modeſt in our Cenſures of his Proceeding; ſee Heb. 11. 8.

(2.) Becauſe there was ſomething conſiderable in it, which he ſhould hereafter know the Meaning of, Thou ſhalt know hereafter, what need thou haſt of being waſh'd, when thou ſhalt be guilty of the henious Sin of denying me: So ſome. Thou ſhalt know, when in the Diſcharge of the Office of an Apoſtle, thou wilt be employ'd in waſhing off from thoſe under thy Charge, the Sins and Defilements of their earthly Affections. So Dr. Hammond. Note, 1. Our Lord Jeſus doth many things, which even his own Diſciples do not for the preſent know the Meaning of, but they ſhall know afterwards; what he did, when he became Man for us, and what he did when he became a Worm, and no Man for us; what he did, when he liv'd our Life, and what he did when he laid it down, could not be underſtood till afterward, and then it appear'd that it behoved him, Heb. 2. 17. Subſequent Providences explain preceeding ones; and we ſee afterwards, what was the kind Tendency of Events that ſeem'd moſt croſs: And the Way which we thought was about, prov'd the right Way. 2. Chriſt's waſhing his Diſciples Feet, had a Significancy in it, which they themſelves did not underſtand till afterwards: When Chriſt explain'd it to be a Specimen of the Laver of Regeneration, and till the Spirit was poured out upon them from on high. We muſt let Chriſt take his own Way, both in Ordinances and Providences, and we ſhall find in the Iſſue it was the beſt Way.

3. Peter's peremptory Refuſal, notwithſtanding this, to let Chriſt waſh his Feet, v. 8. Thou ſhalt by no Means waſh my Feet; no, never. So 'tis in the Original. 'Tis the Language of a fix'd Reſolution.

Now, 1. Here was a Shew of Humility, and Modeſty; Peter herein ſeem'd to have, and no doubt he really had, a great Reſpect for his Maſter, as he had, Luke 5. 8. Thus many are beguil'd of their Reward in a voluntary Humility, Col. 2. 18, 23. Such a Self-denial as Chriſt neither appoints, nor accepts: For, 2. Under this Shew of Humility there was a real Contradiction to the Will of the Lord Jeſus. I will waſh thy Feet, ſaith Chriſt; but thou never ſhalt ſaith Peter, 'tis not a fitting thing, ſo making himſelf wiſer than Chriſt. 'Tis not Humility, but Infidelity, to put away the Offers of the Goſpel, as if too rich to be made us, or too good News to be true.

4. Chriſt's inſiſting upon his Offer, and a good Reaſon given to Peter, why he ſhould accept it; If I Waſh thee not, thou haſt no Part with me. Which may be taken,

(1.) As a ſevere Caution againſt Diſobedience. If I waſh thee not, i. e. if thou continue refractory, and wilt not comply with thy Maſter's Will in ſo ſmall a Matter, thou ſhalt not be owned as one of my Diſciples, but be juſtly diſcarded and caſhiered for not obſerving Orders. Thus ſeveral of the Antients underſtand it; if Peter will make himſelf wiſer than his Maſter, and diſpute the Commands he ought to obey, he doth in effect renounce his Allegiance, and ſay as they did, What Portion have we in David; in the Son of David, and ſo ſhall his Doom be; he ſhall have no Part in him. Let him uſe no more Manners than doth him good, for to obey, is better than ſacrifice. 1 Sam. 15. 22. Or,

(2.) As a Declaration of the Neceſſity of ſpiritual waſhing; and ſo I think 'tis to be underſtood. If I waſh not thy Soul from the Pollution of Sin, thou haſt no Part with me, no Intereſt in me, no Communion with me, no Benefit by me. Note, All thoſe, and thoſe only that are ſpiritually waſhed by Chriſt, have a Part in Chriſt. (1.) To have a Part in Chriſt, or with Chriſt, has all the Happineſs of a Chriſtian bound up in it, to be Partakers of Chriſt, Heb. 3. 14. to ſhare in thoſe ineſtimable Privileges which reſult from a Union with him and Relation to him. 'Tis that good Part, the having of which is the one Thing needful. 2. 'Tis neceſſary to our having a Part in Chriſt, that he waſh us. All thoſe whom Chriſt owns and ſaves, he juſtifies and ſanctifies, and both are included in his waſhing them. We cannot partake of his Glory, if we partake not of his Merit and Righteouſneſs, and of his Spirit and Grace.

5. Peter's more than Submiſſion, his earneſt Requeſt to be waſhed by Chriſt, v. 9. If this be the Meaning of it, Lord waſh not my Feet only, but alſo my Hands and my Head. How ſoon is Peter's Mind changed, when the Miſtake of his Underſtanding was rectified, the corrupt Reſolution of his Will was ſoon alter'd. Let us therefore not peremptory in any Reſolve (but only in our Reſolve to follow Chriſt) becauſe we may ſoon ſee Cauſe to retract it; but cautious in taking up a Purpoſe we will be tenacious of. Obſerve,

(1.) How ready Peter is to recede from what he had ſaid, Lord, what a Fool was I to ſpeak ſuch a haſty Word! Now the waſhing of him appear'd to be an Act of Chriſt's Authority and Grace, he admits it; but diſlik'd it, when it ſeem'd only an Act of Humiliation. Note, (1.) Good Men when they ſee their Error, will not be loth to recant it. (2.) Sooner or later Chriſt will bring all to be of his Mind.

(2.) How importunate he is for the purifying Grace of the Lord Jeſus, and the univerſal Influence of it, even upon his Hands and Head. Note, A Divorce from Chriſt, and an Excluſion from having a Part in him, is the moſt formidable Evil in the Eyes of all that are enlighten'd, for the fear of which they will be perſwaded to any thing. And for Fear of this, we ſhould be earneſt with God in Prayer, that he will waſh us; will juſtify and ſanctifie us. Lord, that I may not be cut off from thee, make me fit for thee by the waſhing of Regeneration. Lord, waſh not my Feet only, from the groſs Pollutions that cleave to them, but alſo my hands and my Head, from the leſſer Spots which they have contracted, and the undiſcerned Filth which proceeds by Perſpiration from the Body it ſelf. Note, Thoſe who truly deſire to be ſanctified, deſire to be ſanctified throughout, and to have the whole Man, with all its Parts and Power, purified, 1 Theſ. 5. 23.

6. Chriſt's further Explication of this Sign, as it repreſented ſpiritual waſhing.

1. With Reference to his Diſciples that were faithful to him v. 10. He that is waſhed all over in the Bath (as was frequently practiſed in thoſe Countries) when he returns to his Houſe, needeth not ſave to waſh his Feet, his Hands and Head having been waſh'd, and he having only dirty'd his Feet in walking home. Peter had gone from one Extreme to th'other; at firſt he would not let Chriſt waſh his Feet; and now he overlooks what Chriſt had done for him in his Baptiſm, and what was ſignify'd thereby, and cries out to have his Hands and Head waſh'd; now Chriſt directs him into the Meaning; he muſt have his Feet waſhed, but not his Hands and Head.

(1.) See here what is the Comfort and Privilege of ſuch as are in a juſtified State, they are waſhed by Chriſt, and are clean every whit, i. e. they are graciouſly accepted of God, as if they were ſo; and tho' they offend, yet they need not upon their Repentance to be again put into a juſtified State, for then ſhould they often be baptized. The Evidence of a juſtified State may be clouded, and the Comfort of it ſuſpended, when yet the Charter of it is not vacated or taken away. Tho' we have Occaſion to repent daily, God's Gifts and Callings are without Repentance. The Heart may be ſwept and garniſh'd, and yet ſtill remain the Devil's Palace, but if it be waſh'd, it belongs to Chriſt, and he will not loſe it.

(2.) See what ought to be the daily Care of thoſe, who through Grace are in a juſtified State, and that is to waſh their Feet. To cleanſe themſelves from the Guilt they contract daily, through Infirmity and Inadvertency, by the renew'd Exerciſe of Repentance, with a believing Application of the Vertue of Chriſt's Blood. We muſt alſo waſh our Feet by conſtant Watchfulneſs againſt every thing that is defiling, for we muſt cleanſe our Way, and cleanſe our Feet, by taking heed thereto, Pſal. 119. 9. The Prieſts when they were conſecrated, were waſhed with Water; and tho' they did not need afterwards to be ſo waſhed all over, yet whenever they went in to miniſter, they muſt waſh their Feet and Hands at the Laver, on Pain of Death, Exod. 30. 19, 20. The Proviſion made for our Cleanſing, ſhould not make us preſumptuous, but the more cautious; I have waſhed my Feet, how ſhall I defile them? From Yeſterday's Pardon, we ſhould fetch an Argument againſt this Day's Temptation.

2. With Reflection upon Judas; and ye are clean, but not all, v. 10, 11. He pronounceth his Diſciples clean, clean through the Word he had ſpoken to them, John 15. 3. He waſhed them himſelf, and then ſaid, Ye are clean; but he excepts Judas; not all; they were all baptized, even Judas, yet not all clean; many have the Sign that have not the Thing ſignified. Note, (1.) Even among thoſe who are called Diſciples of Chriſt, and profeſs Relation to him, there are ſome who are not clean, Prov. 30. 12. (2.) The Lord knows them that are his, and them that are not, 2 Tim. 2. 19. The Eye of Chriſt can ſeparate between the precious and the vile, the Clean and the Unclean. (3.) When thoſe that have called themſelves Diſciples, afterwards prove Traytors, their Apoſtacy at laſt is a certain Evidence of their Hypocriſy all along. (4.) Chriſt ſees it neceſſary to let his Diſciples know that they are not all clean; that we may all be jealous over our ſelves, Is it I? Lord, is it I, that am among the Clean, yet not clean? And that when Hypocrites are diſcover'd, it may be no Surprize or Stumbling to us.

Fourthly, Chriſt waſhed his Diſciples Feet, to ſet before us an Example: This Explication he gave of what he had done, when he had done it, v. 12—17.

1. Obſerve with what Solemnity he gave an Account of the Meaning of what he had done, v. 12. After he had waſhed their Feet, he ſaid, Know ye what I have done?

(1.) He adjourn'd the Explication till he had finiſh'd the Tranſaction. (1.) To try their Submiſſion and implicite Obedience. What he did, they ſhould not know till after; that they might learn to acquieſce in his Will when they could not give a Reaſon for it. (2.) Becauſe it was proper to finiſh the Riddle before he unriddled it. Thus as to his whole Undertaking when his Sufferings were finiſhed, he had reſum'd the Garments of his exalted State, and was ready to ſit down again, then he open'd the Underſtandings of his Diſciples, and poured out his Spirit, Luke 24. 46.

(2.) Before he explain'd it, he ask'd them if they could conſtrue it; Know ye what I have done to you. He put this Queſtion to them, not only to make them ſenſible of their Ignorance, and the Need they had to be inſtructed, (as Zech. 4. 5, 13, Knoweſt thou not what theſe be? and I ſaid, No, my Lord) but to raiſe their Deſires and Expectations of Inſtruction. I would have you know, and if you'll give Attention, I'll tell you. Note, 'Tis the Will of Chriſt that Sacramental Signs ſhould be explain'd, and that his People ſhould be acquainted with the Meaning of them; otherwiſe tho' never ſo ſignificant, to them who know not the Thing ſignified, they are inſignificant. Hence they are directed to ask, What mean ye by this Service! Exod. 12. 26.

2. Obſerve what he grounds that which he had to ſay upon, v. 13. You call me Maſter and Lord, you give me thoſe Titles, in ſpeaking of me, in ſpeaking to me, and you ſay well, for ſo I am; you are in the Relation of Scholars to me, and I do the Part of a Maſter to you. Note, 1. Jeſus Chriſt is our Maſter and Lord; he that is our Redeemer and Saviour, is in order to that, our Lord and Maſter. He is our Maſter, διδάσκαλος, our Teacher and Inſtructer, in all neceſſary Truths and Rules, as a Prophet revealing to us the Will of God. He is our Lord, κύριος, our Ruler and Owner, that has Authority over us, and Propriety in us. 2. It becomes the Diſciples of Chriſt to call him Maſter and Lord, not in Compliment, but in Reality; not by Conſtraint, but with Delight. Devout Mr. Herbert, when he mentioned the Name of Chriſt, us'd to add, My Maſter; and thus expreſſeth himſelf concerning it in one of his Poems; How ſweetly doth my Maſter ſound, Maſter! As Ambergreaſe leaves a rich Scent unto the Taſter, ſo doth theſe Words a ſweet Content; and Oriential Fragrancy, My Maſter. 3. Or calling Chriſt Maſter and Lord, is an Obligation upon us to receive and obſerve the Inſtructions he gives us. Chriſt would thus pre-engage their Obedience to a Command that was diſpleaſing to Fleſh and Blood. If Chriſt be our Maſter and Lord, be ſo by our own Conſent, and we have oft called him ſo, we are bound in Honour and Honeſty to be obſervant of him.

3. Obſerve the Leſſon which Chriſt hereby taught, you alſo ought to waſh one anothers Feet, v. 14.

1. Some have underſtood this literally, and have thought theſe Words amount to the Inſtitution of a ſtanding Ordinance in the Church; that Chriſtians ſhould in a ſolemn religious Manner, waſh one anothers Feet; in Token of our condeſcending Love to one another. St. Ambroſe took it ſo, and practis'd it in the Church of Milan. St. Auſtin ſaith, that thoſe Chriſtians who did not do it with their Hands, yet (he hoped) did it with their Hearts, in Humility; but he ſaith it is much better to do it with the Hands alſo when there is Occaſion, as 1 Tim. 5. 10. what Chriſt has done, Chriſtians ſhould not diſdain to do. Calvin ſaith, that the Pope in the annual obſerving of this Ceremony on Thurſday in the Paſſion Week, is rather Chriſt's Ape than his Follower, for the Duty enjoined in Conformity to Chriſt was mutual; waſh one anothers Feet. And Janſenius ſaith, 'Tis done, Frigide, & diſſimiliter.

2. But doubtleſs 'tis to be underſtood figuratively; 'tis an inſtructive Sign, but not Sacramental, as the Euchariſt. This was a Parable to the Eye; and three Things our Maſter hereby deſigned to teach us.

(1.) An humble Condeſcenſion; we muſt learn of our Maſter to be lowly in Heart, Mat. 11. 29. and walk with all Lowlineſs; we muſt think meanful of our ſelves, and reſpectfully of our Brethren, and nothing below us but Sin; we muſt ſay of that which ſeems mean, but has a Tendency to the Glory of God and our Brethrens Good, as David, 2 Sam. 6. 22. If this be to be vile, I will be yet more vile. Chriſt had often taught his Diſciples Humility, and they had forgot the Leſſon; but now he teaches them in ſuch a way as ſure they could never forget.

(2.) A Condeſcention to be ſerviceable. To waſh one another's Feet, is to ſtoop to the meaneſt Offices of Love, for the real Good and Benefit of one another, as bleſſed Paul, who, tho' free from all, made himſelf Servant of all; and bleſſed Jeſus, who came not to be miniſter'd unto, but to miniſter. We muſt not grudge to take Care and Pains, and to ſpend time, and to diminiſh our ſelves for the Good of others, that we are not under any particular Obligations to, even to our Inferiors, and ſuch as are not in a Capacity of making us any Requital. Waſhing the Feet after Travel, contributed both to the Decency of the Perſon, and to his Eaſe, ſo that to waſh one another's Feet, is to conſult both the Credit and the Comfort one of another; to do what we can, both to advance our Brethrens Reputation, and to make their Minds eaſy. See 1 Cor. 10. 24. Heb. 6. 10. The Duty is mutual, we muſt both accept Help from our Brethren, and afford Help to our Brethren.

(3.) A Serviceableneſs to the Sanctification one of another. Ye ought to waſh one anothers Feet, from the Pollutions of Sin. Auſtin takes it in this Senſe, and many others. We cannot ſatisfy for one anothers Sins, that's peculiar to Chriſt, but we may help to purify one another from Sin. We muſt in the firſt place waſh our ſelves, this Charity muſt begin at home, Mat. 6. 5. but it muſt not end there, we muſt ſorrow for the Failings and Follies of our Brethren, much more their groſs Pollutions, 1 Cor. 5. 2. muſt waſh our Brethren's polluted Feet in Tears. We muſt faithfully reprove them, and do what we can to bring them to Repentance, Gal. 6. 1. and we muſt admoniſh them to prevent their falling into the Mire; this is waſhing their Feet.

(4.) Here's the ratifying and enforcing of this Command from the Example of what Chriſt has now done. If I your Lord and Maſter have done it to you, you ought to do it to one another. He ſhews the Cogency of this Argument in two things.

1. I am your Maſter, and you are my Diſciples, and therefore you ought to learn of me, v. 15. for in this as in other things, I have given you an Example, that you ſhould do to others, as I have done to you. Obſerve,

(1.) What a good Teacher Chriſt is. He teacheth by Example as well as Doctrine, and for that End came into this World and dwelt among us, that he might ſet us a Copy of all thoſe Graces and Duties which his holy Religion teacheth; and it is a Copy without one falſe Stroke. Hereby he made his own Laws more intelligible and practicable, and our Obedience to them more eaſy, pleaſant and honourable. Chriſt is a Commander, like Gideon, who ſaid to his Soldiers, Look on me, and do likewiſe. Judges 7. 17. like Abimelech, who ſaid, What ye have ſeen me do, make haſte and do as I have done, Judges 9. 48. And like Caſar, who called his Soldiers not Milites, but Commilitones, Fellow-Soldiers, and whoſe uſual Word was, not Ite illuc, but venite huc; not Go, but Come.

(2.) What good Scholars we muſt be; we muſt do as he hath done; for therefore he gave us a Copy that we would write after it, that we might be as he was in this World, John 4 17. and walk as he walked, 1 John 2. 6. Chriſt's Example herein is to be followed by Miniſters in particular, in whom the Graces of Humility and holy Love ſhould eſpecially appear, and by the Exerciſe thereof, they effectually ſerve the Intereſt of their Maſter, and the Ends of their Miniſtry. When Chriſt ſent his Apoſtles abroad as his Agents, it was with this Charge, that they ſhould not take State upon them, nor carry things with a high Hand, but become all things to all Men, 2 Cor. 4. 5. What I have done to your dirty Feet, that do ye to the polluted Souls of Sinners; waſh them. Some who ſuppoſe this to be done at the Paſſover Supper, think it intimates a Rule in admitting Communicants to the Lord's Supper, to ſee that they be firſt waſh'd and cleans'd by Reformation, and a blameleſs Converſation, and then take them in to compaſs God's Altar. But all Chriſtians likewiſe are here taught to condeſcend to each other in Love, and to do it as Chriſt did it, unask'd, unpaid; we muſt not be mercenary in the Services of Love, nor do them with Reluctancy.

2. I am your Maſter, and you are my Diſciples, and therefore you cannot think it below you to do that, how mean ſoever it may ſeem, which you have ſeen me do, for v. 16. The Servant is not greater than his Lord, neither he that is ſent, tho' ſent with all the Pomp and Power of an Embaſſador, yet is he not greater than him that ſent him. Chriſt had urg'd this, Mat. 10. 24, 25. as a Reaſon why they ſhould not think it ſtrange if they ſuffer'd as he did; here he urgeth it as a Reaſon why they ſhould not think much to humble themſelves as he did. What he did not think a Diſparagement to him, they muſt not think a Diſparagement to them. Perhaps the Diſciples inwardly diſguſted this Precept of waſhing one anothers Feet, as inconſiſtent with that Dignity they expected ſhortly to be preferred to; to obviate ſuch Thoughts, Chriſt minds them of their Place as his Servants; they were not better Men than their Maſter, and what was conſiſtent with his Dignity, was much more conſiſtent with theirs. If he were humble or condeſcending, it ill became them to be proud and aſſuming. Note, We muſt take good Heed to our ſelves, leſt Chriſt's gracious Condeſcentions to us, and Advancements of us, through the Corruption of Nature, occaſion us to think of any high Thoughts of our ſelves, or low Thoughts of him. We need to be put in mind of this, that we are not greater than our Lord. 2. Whatever our Maſter is pleas'd to condeſcend to in favour to us, we ſhould much more condeſcend to in Conformity to him. Chriſt by humbling himſelf, has dignified Humility, and put an Honour upon it, and oblig'd his Followers to think nothing below them but Sin. We commonly ſay to thoſe who diſdain to do ſuch or ſuch a thing, as good as you have done it, and been never the worſe thought of; and true indeed it is, if our Maſter has done it. When we ſee our Maſter ſerving, we cannot but ſee how ill it becomes us to be domineering.

Laſtly, Our Saviour cloſes this Part of his Diſcourſe with an Intimation of the Neceſſity of their Obedience to theſe Inſtructions, If ye know theſe things; or, ſeeing ye know them, Happy are ye, if ye do them. Moſt People think, happy are they that riſe, and rule. Waſhing one anothers Feet, will never get Eſtates and Preferments, but Chriſt ſaith, for all that, happy are they that ſtoop, and obey, If ye know theſe things. That may be underſtood either as ſpeaking doubtfully, whether they know them or no; ſo ſtrong was their Conceit of a temporal Kingdom, that it was a Queſtion whether they could entertain the Notion of a Duty ſo contrary to that Conceit; or, as taking it for granted, that they did know theſe things; ſince they had ſuch excellent Precepts given them, recommended by ſuch an excellent Pattern, 'twill be neceſſary to the compleating of their Happineſs, that they practiſe accordingly.

1. This is applicable to the Commands of Chriſt in general. Note, Tho' it is a great Advantage to know our Duty, yet we ſhall come ſhort of Happineſs, if we do not do our Duty. Knowing is in order to doing; that Knowledge therefore is vain and fruitleſs, which is not reduced to Practice; nay, it will aggravate the Sin and Ruin, Luke 12. 47, 48. James 4. ult. 'Tis knowing and doing that will demonſtrate us of Chriſt's Kingdom, and wiſe Builders. See Pſal. 103. 17, 18.

2. 'Tis to be applied eſpecially to this Command of Humility, and Serviceableneſs. Nothing is better known, or more readily acknowledged than this, that we ſhould be humble, and therefore tho' many will own themſelves to be paſſionate and intemperate; few will own themſelves to be proud, for 'tis as inexcuſable a Sin, and as hateful as any other; and yet how little is to be ſeen of true Humility, and that mutual Subjection and Condeſcention, which the Law of Chriſt inſiſts ſo much upon. Moſt know theſe things ſo well as to expect that others ſhould do accordingly to them, yield to them, and ſerve them, but not ſo well as to do ſo themſelves.

18 I ſpeak not of you all; I know whom I have choſen: but that the ſcripture might he fulfilled. He that eateth bread with me, hath lift up his heel againſt me. 19 Now I tell you before it come, that when it is come to paſs, ye may believe that I am he. 20 Verily verily I ſay unto you, he that receiveth whomſoever I ſend, receiveth me: and he that receiveth me, receiveth him that ſent me. 21 When Jeſus had thus ſaid, he was troubled in ſpirit, and teſtified and ſaid, Verily verily I ſay unto you, that one of you ſhall betray me. 22 Then the diſciples looked one on another, doubting of whom he ſpake. 23 Now there was leaning on Jeſus boſom, one of his diſciples whom Jeſus loved. 24 Simon Peter therefore beckened to him, that he ſhould ask who it ſhould be of whom he ſpake. 25 He then lying on Jeſus breaſt, ſaith unto him, Lord, who is it? 26 Jeſus anſwered, He it is to whom I ſhall give a ſop, when I have dipped it. And when he had dipped the ſop, he gave it to Judas Iſcariot, the ſon of Simon. 27 And afer the ſop, Satan entred into him. Then ſaid Jeſus unto him, That thou doeſt, do quickly. 28 Now no man at the table knew for what intent he ſpake this unto him. 29 For ſome of them thought, becauſe Judas had the bag, that Jeſus had ſaid unto him, Buy thoſe things that we have need of againſt the feaſt: or that he ſhould give ſomething to the poor. 30 He then having received the ſop, went Immediately out: and it was night.

We have here the Diſcovery of Judas's Plot to betray his Maſter; Chriſt knew it from the Beginning; but now firſt he diſcover'd it to his Diſciples, who did not expect Chriſt ſhould be betray'd, tho' he had often told them ſo, much leſs did they ſuſpect that one of them ſhould do it. Now here, Firſt, Chriſt gives them a general Intimation of it, v. 8. I ſpeak not of you all, I cannot expect you will all do theſe things, for I know whom I have choſen, and whom I have paſſed by; but the Scripture will be fulfilled, Pſal. 41. 9. He that eateth Bread with me, hath lift up his Heel againſt me. He doth not yet ſpeak out of the Crime, or the Criminal, but raiſeth their Expectations of a further Diſcovery.

1. He intimates to them, that they were not all right. He had ſaid, v. 10. Ye are clean, but not all. So here, I ſpeak not of you all. Note, What is ſaid of the Excellencies of Chriſt's Diſciples, cannot be ſaid of all that are called ſo: The Word of Chriſt is a diſtinguiſhing Word, which ſeparates between Cattle and Cattle, and will diſtinguiſh thouſands into Hell, who flatter'd themſelves with Hopes that they were going into Heaven. I ſpeak not of you all; you my Diſciples and Followers. Note, There is a Mixture of bad with good in the beſt Societies; a Judas among the Apoſtles; 'twill be ſo till we come to the bleſs'd Society, into which ſhall enter nothing unclean or diſguis'd.

2. That he himſelf knew who were right, and who were not, I know whom I have choſen, who the few are that are choſen among the many that are called with the Common Call. Note, 1. They that are choſen, Chriſt himſelf had the chuſing of them; he nominated the Perſons he undertook for. 2. They that are choſen, are known to Chriſt, for he never forgets any, whom he has once had in his Thoughts of Love, 2 Tim. 2. 19.

3. That in the Treachery of him that prov'd falſe to him, the Scripture was fulfilled, which takes off very much both the Surprize and Offence of the Thing. Chriſt took one into his Family, who he foreſaw to be a Traytor, and did not by effectual Grace prevent his being ſo, that the ſcripture might be fulfilled. Let it not therefore be a ſtumbling Block to any; for tho' it do not at all leſſen Judas's Offence, it may leſſen our Offence at it. The Scripture referr'd to is, David's Complaint of the Treachery of ſome of his Enemies; the Jewiſh Expoſitors generally underſtand it of Achitophel, and ours from them; and Grotius thinks it intimates, that the Death of Judas would be like that of Achitophel. But becauſe that Pſalm ſpeaks of David's Sickneſs, which we read nothing of at the time of Achitophel's deſerting him, it may better be underſtood of ſome other Friend of his that proved falſe to him. This our Saviour applies to Judas.

1. Judas as an Apoſtle, was admitted to the higheſt Privilege; he did eat Bread with Chriſt. He was familiar with him, and favour'd by him, was one of his Family, one of thoſe with whom he was intimately converſaut. David ſaith of his treacherous Friend, he did eat of my Bread, but Chriſt being poor, had no Bread he could properly call his own, he ſaith he did eat Bread with me; ſuch as he had by the Kindneſs of his Friends, that miniſter'd to him, his Diſciples had their Share of Judas among the reſt. Where-ever he went, Judas was welcome with him, did not dine among Servants, but ſat at Table with his Maſter, eat of the ſame Diſh, drank of the ſame Cup, and in all Reſpects far'd as he far'd. He eat miraculous Bread with him, when the Loaves were multiplied, eat the Paſſover with him. Note, All that eat Bread with Chriſt, are not his Diſciples indeed. See 1 Cor. 10. 5.

2. Judas as an Apoſtate was guilty of the baſeſt Treachery; he lift up the Heel againſt Chriſt. (1.) He forſook him, turn'd his Back upon him, went out from the Society of his Diſciples, v. 30. (2.) He deſpiſed him, ſhook off the Duſt of his Feet againſt him, in contempt of him and his Goſpel. Nay, (3.) He became an Enemy to him; ſpurn'd at him, as Wreſtlers do at their Adverſaries, whom they would overthrow. Note, It is no new thing for thoſe that were Chriſt's ſeeming Friends, to prove his real Enemies: They who pretend to magnify him, magnify themſelves againſt him. They eat not only the Bread of his Charity, but the Bread of his Covenant, yet rebel againſt him, and thereby prove themſelves guilty, not only of the baſeſt Ingratitude, but the baſeſt Treachery and Perfidiouſneſs.

Secondly, He gives them a Reaſon why he told them beforehand of the Treachery of Judas, v. 19. Now I tell you before it come, before Judas has begun to put his wicked Plot in Execution, that when it is come to paſs, you may, inſtead of ſtumbling at it, be confirmed in your Belief, that I am he; he that ſhould come.

1. By this clear and certain Foreſight of Things to come which in this, as in other Inſtances, he gave unconteſtable Proof of, he proved himſelf to be the true God, before whom all Things are naked and open. Chriſt foretold that Judas would betray him, when there was no Ground to ſuſpect ſuch a thing, and ſo prov'd himſelf the eternal Word, which is a diſcerner of the Thoughts and Intents of the Heart. The Prophecies of the New Teſtament concerning the Apoſtacy of the latter Times, which we have, 2 Theſſ. 2. 1 Tim. 4. and in the Apocalypſe, being evidently accompliſh'd, 'tis a Proof that thoſe Writings were divinely inſpir'd, and confirms our Faith in the whole Canon of Scripture.

2. By his Application of the Types and Prophecies of the Old Teſtament to himſelf, he proved himſelf to be the true Meſſiah, to whom all the Prophets bare Witneſs. Thus it was written, and thus it behoved Chriſt to ſuffer, and he ſuffer'd juſt as it was written, Luke 24. 25, 26. John 8. 28.

Thirdly, He gives a Word of Encouragment to his Apoſtles, and all his Miniſters; whom he employ'd in his Service, v. 20. He that receiveth whomſoever I ſend, receiveth me. The Purport of theſe Words is the ſame with what we have in other Scriptures, but 'tis not eaſy to make out their Coherence here. (1.) Chriſt had told his Diſciples they muſt humble and abaſe themſelves. Now ſaith he, tho' there may be thoſe that will deſpiſe you for your Condeſcenſion, yet there will be thoſe that will do you Honour, and ſhall be honoured for ſo doing. They who know themſelves dignified by Chriſt's Commiſſion, may be content to be vilified in the World's Opinion. (2.) 'Tis intended to ſilence the Scruples of thoſe, who becauſe there was a Traytor among the Apoſtles, would be ſhy of rceiving any of them; for if one of them was falſe to his Maſter, whom would any of them be true to? En une diſce omnes; they are all alike. No, as Chriſt will think never the worſe of them for Judas's Crime, ſo he will ſtand by them and own them, and will raiſe up ſuch as ſhall receive them. They that had received Judas when he was a Preacher, and perhaps were converted and edify'd by his Preaching, were never the worſe, nor ſhould reflect upon it with any Regret, tho' he afterwards prov'd a Traytor; for he was one whom Chriſt ſent. We cannot know what Men are, much leſs what they will be, but thoſe who appear to be ſent of Chriſt, we muſt receive, till the contrary appear. Tho ſome by entertaining Strangers have entertain'd Robbers unawares, yet we muſt ſtill be hoſpitable, for thereby ſome have entertain'd Angels. The Abuſes put upon our Charity, tho' order'd with never ſo much Diſcretion, will neither juſtify our uncharitableneſs, nor loſe us the Reward of our Charity.

1. We are here encouraged to receive Miniſters as ſent of Chriſt. He that receiveth whomſoever I ſend, tho' weak and poor, and ſubject to like Paſſions as others, for as the Law, ſo the Goſpel, makes Men Prieſts that have Infirmity, yet if he deliver my Meſſage, and be regularly called and appointed to do ſo, and as an Officer give himſelf to the Word and Prayer; he that entertains him ſhall be own'd as a Friend of mine; Chriſt was now leaving the World, but he would leave an Order of Men to be his Agents' to deliver his Word, and thoſe who receive that in the Light and Love of it, receive him; to believe the Doctrine of Chriſt, and obey his Law, and accept the Salvation offer'd upon the Terms propoſed; this is receiving thoſe whom Chriſt ſends, and it is receiving Chriſt Jeſus our Lord, himſelf.

2. We are encouraged to receive Chriſt as ſent from God: He that thus receiveth me, that receiveth Chriſt in his Miniſters, receiveth the Father alſo, for they come upon his Errand likewiſe, baptizing in the Name of the Father, as well as of the Son. Or, in general, He that receiveth me as his Prince and Saviour, receiveth him that ſent me, as his Portion and Felicity. Chriſt was ſent of God, and in embracing his Religion, we embrace the only true Religion.

Fourthly, Chriſt more particularly notifies to them the Plot which one of their Number was now hatching againſt him, v. 21 When Jeſus had thus ſaid, in general, to prepare them for a more particular Diſcovery, he was troubled in Spirit, and ſhew'd it by ſome Geſture or Sign, and he teſtified he ſolemnly declared it (cum animo teſtandi) One of you ſhall betray me; one of you mine Apoſtles, and conſtant Followers. None indeed could be ſaid to betray him, but thoſe he repos'd a confidence in, and were the Witneſſes of his Retirements. This did not determine Judas to the Sin by any fatal Neceſſity, for tho the Event did follow according to the Prediction, yet not from the Prediction. Chriſt is not the Author of Sin; yet as to this henious Sin of Judas,

1. Chriſt foreſaw it; for even that which is ſecret and future, and hid from the Eyes of all living, is naked and open before the Eyes of Chriſt. He knows what is in Men better than they do themſelves, 2 Kings 8. 12. and therefore ſees what will be done by them. I know that thou wouldſt deal very treacherouſly, Iſa. 48. 8.

2. He foretold it, not only for the ſake of the reſt of the Diſciples, but for the ſake of Judas himſelf, that he might take Warning, and recover himſelf out of the Snare of the Devil. Traytors proceed not in their Plots, when they find they are diſcovered; ſurely Judas, when he finds that his Maſter knows his Deſign, will retreat in time; if not, 'twill aggravate his Condemnation.

3. He ſpoke of it with a manifeſt Concern; he was troubled in Spirit when he mentioned it. He had often ſpoken of his own Sufferings and Death, without any ſuch Trouble of Spirit as he here diſcovered when he ſpoke of the Ingratitude and Treachery of Judas. This touch'd him in a tender part. Note, The Falls and Miſcarriages of the Diſciples of Chriſt, are a great Trouble of Spirit to their Maſter; the Sins of Chriſtians are the Grief of Chriſt. What? One of you betray me? You that have receiv'd from me ſuch diſtinguiſhing Favours, you that I had reaſon to think would be firm to me, that have profeſs'd ſuch a Reſpect for me, what Iniquity have you found in me, that one of you ſhould betray me? This went to his Heart, as the undutifulneſs of Children grieves thoſe who have nouriſh'd and brought them up, Iſa. 1. 2. See Pſal. 95. 10. Iſa. 63. 10.

Fifthly, The Diſciples quickly take the Alarm; they knew their Maſter would neither deceive them, nor jeſt with them, and therefore look'd one upon another, with a manifeſt Concern, doubting of whom he ſpake.

1. By looking one upon another they diſcover'd the Trouble they were in upon this Notice given them; it ſtruck ſuch a Horror upon them, that they knew not well which way to look, or what to ſay. They ſaw their Maſter troubled; and therefore they were troubled. This was at a Feaſt where they were cheerfully entertain'd; but hence we muſt be taught to rejoice with Trembling, and as tho' we rejoyced not. When David wept for his Son's Rebellion, all his Followers wept with him, 2 Sam. 15. 30. So Chriſt's Diſciples here. Note, That which grieves Chriſt is, and ſhould be a Grief to all that are his; particularly the ſcandalous Miſcarriage of thoſe that are called by his Name; Who is offended and I burn not?

2. Hereby they endeavour'd to diſcover the Traytor; they look'd wiſtly in one anothers Faces, to ſee whom bluſh'd, or by ſome Diſorder in the Countenance, manifeſted Guilt in the Heart upon this Notice. But while thoſe were Faithful had their Conſciences ſo clear, that they could lift up their Faces without Spot, he that was falſe, had his Conſcience ſo ſear'd, that he was not aſhamed, neither could he bluſh, and ſo no Diſcovery could be made this way. Chriſt thus perplex'd his Diſciples for a time, and put them into Confuſion, that he might humble them, and prove them, might excite in them a Jealouſy of themſelves, and an Indignation at the Baſeneſs of Judas. 'Tis good for us ſometimes to be put to a Gaze, to be put to a Pauſe.

Sixthly, The Diſciples were ſolicitous to get their Maſter to explain himſelf, and to tell them particularly whom he meant, for nothing but that can put them out of their preſent Pain, for each of them thought they had as much Reaſon to ſuſpect themſelves as any of their Brethren; now,

1. Of all the Diſciples, John was moſt fit to ask, becauſe he was the Favourite, and ſate next his Maſter, v. 23. There was leaning on Jeſus's Boſom one of his Diſciples whom Jeſus loved. It appears that this was John, by comparing Chap. 2. 20, 21.

Obſerve, (1.) The particular Kindneſs which Jeſus had for him, he was known by his Periphraſis, that he was the Diſciple whom Jeſus loved. He loved them all, v. 1. but John was particularly dear to him. His Name ſignifies gracious. Daniel who was honour'd with the Revelations of the Old Teſtamen, as John of the New, was a Man greatly beloved, Dan. 9. 23. Note, Among the Diſciples of Chriſt, ſome are dearer to him than others.

(2.) His Place and Poſture at this time. He was leaning on Jeſus's Boſom. Some ſay it was the Faſhion in thoſe Countries to ſit at Meat a in leaning Poſture, ſo that the ſecond lay in the Boſom of the firſt, and ſo on; which doth not ſeem probable to me, for in ſuch a Poſture as that they could neither eat nor drink conveniently; but whether that were ſo or no, John now leaned on his Boſom, and ſeems to be an extraordinary Expreſſion of Endearment us'd at this time. Note, There are ſome of Chriſt's Diſciples whom he lays in his Boſom, who have more free and intimate Communion with him than others. The Father loved the Son, and laid him in his Boſom, John 1. 18. and Believers are in like manner one with Chriſt, John 17. 21. This Honour all the Saints ſhall have ſhortly in the Boſom of Abraham. They who lay themſelves at Chriſt's Feet, he will lay them in his Boſom.

(3.) Yet he conceals his Name, becauſe he himſelf was the Penman of the Story; he puts this inſtead of his Name, to ſhew that he was pleas'd with it; 'tis his Title of Honour, that he was the Diſciple whom Jeſus loved; as in David's and Solomon's Court, there was one who was the King's Friend; yet he doth not put his Name down, to ſhew that he was not proud of it, nor would ſeem to boaſt of it. Paul in a like Caſe ſaith, I know a Man in Chriſt.

2. Of all the Diſciples Peter was moſt forward to know, v. 24. Peter ſitting at ſome diſtance beckon'd to John, by ſome Sign or other to ask. Peter was generally the leading Man, moſt apt to put himſelf forth; and where Mens natural Tempers lead them to be thus bold in anſwering and asking, if it be kept under the Laws of Humility and Wiſdom, it makes Men very ſerviceable; God gives his Gift variouſly; but that the forward Men in the Church may not think too well of themſelves, nor the modeſt be diſcourag'd, it muſt be noted that it was not Peter, but John that was the beloved Diſciple. Peter was deſirous to know, not only that he might be ſure it was not he, but that knowing who it was, they might withdraw from him, and guard againſt him, and if poſſible, prevent his Deſign. 'Twere a deſirable Thing we would think to know who in the Church would deceive us; yet let this ſuffice, Chriſt knows tho' we do not. The Reaſon why Peter did not ask himſelf, was, becauſe John had a much fairer Opportunity, by the Advantage of his Seat at Table, to whiſper the Queſtion into the Ear of Chriſt, and to receive a like private Anſwer. 'Tis good to improve our Intereſt in thoſe that are near to Chriſt, and to engage their Prayers for us. Do we know any that we have Reaſon to think lie in Chriſt's Boſom, let us beg of them to ſpeak a good Word for us.

3. The Queſtion was aſk'd accordingly, v. 25. He then laying at the Breaſt of Jeſus, and ſo having the Convenience of whiſpering with him, ſaith unto him, Lord who is it? Now here John ſhews,

1. A Regard to his Fellow-Diſciple, and to the Motion he made. Tho' Peter had not the Honour he had at this Time, yet he did not therefore diſdain to take the Hint, and Intimation, he gave him. Note, They who lye in Chriſt's Boſom may often learn, from thoſe who lie at his Feet, ſomething that will be profitable for them, and be minded of that which they did not of themſelves think of. John was willing to gratify Peter herein, having ſo fair an Opportunity for it. As every one hath received the Gift ſo let him miniſter the ſame for a common Good, Rom. 12. 6.

2. A Reverence of his Maſter. Tho' he whiſpered that in Chriſt's Ear, yet he called him Lord; the Familiarity he was admitted to did not at all leſſen his Reſpect for his Maſter. It becomes us to uſe a Reverence in Expreſſion, and to obſerve a Decorum, even in our ſecret Devotions, which no Eye is a Witneſs to, as well as in Publick Aſſemblies. The more intimate Communion gracious Souls have with Chriſt, the more ſenſible they are of Worthineſs, and their own Unworthineſs, as Gen. 18. 27.

3. Chriſt gave a ſpeedy Anſwer to this Queſtion, but whiſpering it in John's Ear, for it appears, v. 29. that the reſt were ſtill ignorant of the Matter; He it is to whom I ſhall give a Sop, ψωμίον, a Morſel, a Cruſt, when I have dipped it in the Sauce. And when he had dipped the Sop, John ſtrictly obſerving his Motions, he gave it to Judas; and Judas took it ready enough, not ſuſpecting the Deſign of it, but glad of a ſavory Bit to make up his Mouth with.

1. Chriſt notified the Traytor by a Sign. He could have told John by Name who he was; the Adverſary and Enemy is that wicked Judas, he is the Traytor, and none but he; but thus he would exerciſe the Obſervation of John, and intimate what need his Miniſters have of a Spirit of diſcerning; for the falſe Brethren we are to ſtand upon our Guard againſt, are not made known to us by Words, but by Signs; they are to be known to us by the Fruits, by their Spirits; which requires great Diligence and Care to form a right Judgment upon them.

2. That Sign was a Sop, which Chriſt gave him; a very proper Sign, becauſe it was the fulfilling of the Scripture, v. 18. that the Traytor ſhould be one that eat Bread with him, that was at this Time a Fellow-Commoner with him. It had likewiſe a Significancy in it, and teacheth us, (1.) That Chriſt ſometimes gives Sops to Traytors; worldly Riches, Honours and Pleaſures, are Sops (if I may ſo ſpeak) which Providence ſometimes gives into the Hands of wicked Men. Judas perhaps thought himſelf a Favourite becauſe he had the Sop, like Benjamin at Joſeph's Table, a Meſs by himſelf; thus the Proſperity of Fools, like a ſtupifying Sop, helps to deſtroy them. (2.) That we muſt not be outragious againſt thoſe whom we know to be very malicious againſt us. Chriſt carv'd to Judas as kindly as to any at the Table, tho' he knew he was then plotting his Death. If thine Enemy hunger, feed him; that is, to do as Chriſt doth.

Seventhly, Judas himſelf, inſtead of being convinc'd hereby of his Wickedneſs, was the more confirm'd in it; and the Warning given him was to him a Savour of Death unto Death; for it follows.

1. The Devil hereupon took Poſſeſſion of him; Ver. 27. After the Sop Satan entered into him; not to make him melancholy, or drive him diſtracted, which was the Effect of his poſſeſſing ſome; not to hurry him into the Fire, or into the Water; happy had it been for him if that had been the worſt of it, or if with the Swine he had been choaked in the Sea; but Satan entered into him, to poſſeſs him with a prevailing Prejudice againſt Chriſt and his Doctrine, and a Contempt of him, as one whoſe Life was of ſmall Value; to excite in him a covetous deſire of the Wages of Unrighteouſneſs, and a Reſolution to ſtick at nothing for the obtaining of them. But,

1. Was not Satan in him before? How then is it ſaid, that now Satan entered into him? Judas was all along a Devil, John 6. 70. a Son of Perdition; but now Satan gain'd a more full Poſſeſſion of him, had a more abundant Entrance into him. His Purpoſe to betray his Maſter was now ripen'd into a fix'd Reſolution; now he return'd with ſeven other Spirits more wicked than himſelf, Luke 11. 25. Note, 1. Tho' the Devil is in every wicked Man that doth his Works, Eph. 2. 2. yet ſometimes he enters more manifeſtly and more powerfully than at other Times, when he puts them upon ſome enormous Wickedneſs, which Humanity and natural Conſcience ſtartle at. 2. Betrayers of Chriſt have much of the Devil in them. Chriſt ſpeaks of the Sin of Judas as greater than that of any of his Perſecutors.

2. How came Satan to enter into him after the Sop; Perhaps he was preſently aware that it was the Diſcovery of him, and it made him deſperate in his Reſolutions. Many are made worſe by the Gifts of Chriſts Bounty, and are confirm'd in their Impenitency by that which ſhould have led them to Repentance: The Coals of Fire heap'd upon their Heads, inſtead of melting them, harden them.

2. Chriſt hereupon diſmiſs'd him, and deliver'd him up to his own Hearts Luſts; Then ſaid Jeſus unto him, what thou doſt, do quickly. This is not to be underſtood, as either adviſing him to his Wickedneſs, or warranting him in it; but either, 1. As abandoning him to the Conduct and Power of Satan. Chriſt knew that Satan was entered into him, and had peaceable Poſſeſſion, and now he gives him up as hopeleſs. The various Methods Chriſt had us'd for his Conviction were ineffectual, and therefore what thou doſt, thou wilt do quickly; if thou art reſolved to ruin thy ſelf, go on, and take what comes. Note, When the evil Spirit is willingly admitted, the good Spirit juſtly withdraws. Or, 2. As challenging him to do his worſt; thou art plotting againſt me, put thy Plot in Execution and welcome, the ſooner the better, I do not fear thee, I'm ready for thee. Note, Our Lord Jeſus was very forward to ſuffer and die for us, and was impatient of delay in the perfecting of his Undertaking. Chriſt ſpeaks of Judas's betraying him as a Thing he was now doing, tho' he was only purpoſing it. Thoſe who are contriving and deſigning Miſchief, are in God's Account doing Miſchief.

3. They that were at Table underſtood not what he meant, becauſe they did not hear what he whiſper'd to John. Ver. 28, 29. No Man at Table, either the Diſciples or any other of the Gueſts, except John, knew for what Intent he ſpake this to him.

1. They did not ſuſpect that Chriſt ſaid it to Judas as a Traytor, becauſe it did not enter into their Heads that Judas was ſuch a one, or would prove ſo. Note, It is an excuſable Dulneſs in the Diſciples of Chriſt, not to be quick-ſighted in their Cenſure. Moſt are ready enough to ſay, when they hear harſh Things ſpoken in general, now ſuch a one is meant, and now ſuch a one; but Chriſt's Diſciples were ſo well taught to love one another, that they could not eaſily learn to ſuſpect one another. Charity thinks no Evil.

2. They therefore took it as granted, that he ſaid it to him as a Truſtee, or Treaſurer of the Houſhold, giving him Orders for the laying out of ſome Money. And their Surmiſes in this Caſe diſcover to us for what Uſes and Purpoſes our Lord Jeſus commonly directed Payments to be made out of that little Stock he had; and ſo teach us how to honour the Lord with our Subſtance. They concluded ſomething was to be laid out, either,

(1.) In Works of Piety, Buy thoſe Things that we have need of againſt the Feaſt, tho' he borrow'd a Room to eat the Paſſover in, yet he bought in Proviſion for it. That is to be reckon'd well beſtow'd, which is laid out upon thoſe Things we have need of for the maintenance of God's Ordinances among us; and we have the leſs Reaſon to grudge that Expence now, becauſe our Goſpel Worſhip is nothing ſo chargeable as the Legal Worſhip was.

(2.) Or in Works of Charity, that he ſhould give ſomething to the Poor. By this it appears, (1.) That our Lord Jeſus, tho' he lived upon Alms himſelf, (Luke 8. 3.) yet gave Alms to the Poor; a little out of a little. Tho' he might very well be excuſed, not only becauſe he was poor himſelf, but becauſe he did ſo much good otherways, curing ſo many gratis, yet to ſet us an Example, he gave for the Relief of the Poor out of that which he had for the Subſiſtance of his Family. See Eph. 4 28. (2.) That the Time of a Religious Feaſt was thought a proper Time for Works of Charity. When he celebrated the Paſſover he order'd ſomething for the Poor: When we experience God's Bounty to us, that ſhould make us bountiful to the Poor.

3. Judas hereupon ſets himſelf vigorouſly to purſue his Deſign againſt him. He went away. Notice is taken,

1. Of his ſpeedy Departure; he went out preſently and quitted the Houſe. (1.) For fear of being more plainly diſcover'd to the Company, which if he were, he expected they would all fall upon him and be the Death of him, or at leaſt of his Project. (2.) He went out as one weary of Chriſt's Company, and ſick of the Society of his Apoſtles: Chriſt needed not to expel him, he expelled himſelf. Note, Withdrawing from the Communion of the Faithful, is commonly the firſt Overt-Act of a Backſlider, and the beginning of an Apoſtacy. (3.) He went out to proſecute his Deſign, to look for thoſe with whom be was to make his Bargain, and to ſettle the Agreement with them. Now Satan had got into him, he hurry'd him on with precipitation, leſt he ſhould ſee his Error and repent of it.

2. Of the Time of his Departue, It was Night.

1. Tho' it was Night, an unſeaſonable Time for Buſineſs, yet Satan having entered into him, he made no Difficulty of the Coldneſs and Darkneſs of the Night, This ſhould ſhame us out of our Slothfulneſs and Cowardice in the Service of Chriſt, that the Devil's Servants are ſo earneſt and venturous in his Service.

2. Becauſe it was Night, and that gave him Advantage of Privicy and Concealment. He was not willing to be ſeen treating with the Chief Prieſts, and therefore choſe the dark Night, as the fitteſt Time for ſuch Works of Darkneſs. They whoſe Deeds are Evil, love Darkneſs rather than Light; ſee Job 24. 13. &c.

31 ¶ Therefore when he was gone out, Jeſus ſaid,
Now is the Son of man glorified, and God is glorified in him. 32 If God be glorified in him, God ſhall alſo glorifie him in himſelf, and ſhall ſtraitway glorifie him. 33 Little children, yet a little while I am with you. Ye ſhall ſeek me: and as I ſaid unto the Jews, Whither I go ye cannot come; ſo now I ſay unto
you. 34 A new commandment I give unto you,
That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye alſo love one another. 35 By this ſhall all men know that ye are my diſciples, if ye have love one to another.

¶ This and what follows, to the end of Chap. 14. was Chriſt's Table-Talk with his Diſciples. When Supper was done Judas went out; but what did the Maſter and his Diſciples do, whom he left ſitting at Table? They applied themſelves to profitable Diſcourſe, to teach us, as much as we can, to make Converſation with our Friends at Table ſerviceable to Religion. Chriſt begins this Diſcourſe, and the more forward we are humbly to promote that Communication which is good, and to the Uſe of edifying, the more like we are to Jeſus Chriſt. Thoſe eſpecially that by their Place, Reputation and Gifts, Command the Company to whom Men give ear, ought to uſe the Intereſt they have in other Reſpects, as an Opportunity of doing them good

Now our Lord Jeſus diſcourſeth with them, (and probably diſcourſeth much more largely than is here recorded,)

Firſt, Concerning the great Myſtery of his own Death and Sufferings, which they were as yet ſo much in the dark about, that they could not perſwade themſelves to expect the Thing it ſelf, much leſs did they underſtand the meaning of it, and therefore Chriſt gives them ſuch Inſtructions concerning it as made the Offence of the Croſs to ceaſe. Chriſt did not begin this Diſcourſe till Judas was gone out, for he was a falſe Brother: The Preſence of wicked People is often a hinderance to good Diſcourſe. When Judas was gone out, Chriſt ſaid, Now is the Son of Man Glorified; now Judas is diſcovered and diſcarded, that was a Spot in their Love-feaſt, and a ſcandal to their Family, now is the Son of Man glorified. Note, Chriſt is glorified by the purifying of Chriſtian Societies: Corruptions in his Church are a Reproach to him; the purging out of thoſe Corruptions rolls away the Reproach. Or rather, now Judas was gone to ſet the Wheels a going, in order to his being put to Death, and the Thing was likely to be effected ſhortly, Now is the Son of Man glorified, meaning, now he is crucified.

1. Here is ſomething which Chriſt inſtructs them in concerning his Sufferings that was very comforting. Three Things,

(1.) That he ſhould himſelf be glorified in them. Now the Son of Man is to be expos'd to the greateſt Ignominy and Diſgrace, to be diſpitefully us'd to the laſt degree, and diſhonour'd both by the Cowardice of his Friends, and the Inſolence of his Enemies; yet now he is glorified.

For, 1. Now he is to obtain a glorious Victory over Satan and all the Powers of Darkneſs, to ſpoil them and triumph over them. He is now girding on the Harneſs, to take the Field againſt thoſe Adverſaries of God and Man, with as great an Aſſurance as if he had put it off.

2. Now he is to work out a glorious Deliverance for his People; by his Death to reconcile them to God, and bring in an everlaſting Righteouſneſs and Happineſs for them; to ſhed that Blood which is to be an inexhauſtible Fountain of Joys and Bleſſings to all Believers.

3. Now he is to give a glorious Example of Self-denial and Patience under the Croſs, Courage and Contempt of the World, Zeal for the Glory of God, and Love to the Souls of Men, as will make him to be for ever Admir'd and had in Honour. Chriſt had been glorified in many Miracles he had wrought, and yet he ſpeaks of his being glorified now in his Sufferings, as if that were more than all his other Glories in his humbled State.

(2.) That God the Father ſhould be glorified in them. The Sufferings of Chriſt were, (1.) The Satisfaction of God's Juſtice, and ſo God was glorified in them. Reparation was thereby made with great Advantage for the wrong done him in his Honour by the Sin of Man: The Ends of the Law were abundantly anſwer'd, and the Glory of his Government effectually aſſerted and maintained. (2.) They were the Manifeſtation of his Holineſs and Mercy. The Attributes of God ſhine bright in Redemption and Providence, but much more in the Work of Creation; ſee 1 Cor. 1. 24. 2. Cor. 4. 6. God is Love, and herein he hath commended his Love.

(3.) That he ſhould himſelf be greatly glorified after them, in Conſideration of God's being greatly glorified by them, v. 32. Obſerve how he enlarges upon it.

1. He is ſure that God will glorifie him; and thoſe whom God glorifies are glorious indeed. Hell and Earth ſet themſelves to vilifie Chriſt, but God reſolved to glorifie him, and he did it. He glorified him in his Sufferings by the amazing Signs and Wonders, both in Heaven and Earth which attended them, and extorted even from his Crucifiers in Acknowledgement that he was the Son of God. But eſpecially after his Sufferings he glorified him, when he ſet him at his own Right Hand, gave him a Name above every Name.

2. That he will glorifie him in himſelf, ἐν ἑαυτῷ. Either, (1.) In Chriſt himſelf: He will glorifie him in his own Perſon, and not only in his Kingdom among Men. This ſuppoſeth his ſpeedy Reſurrection. A common Perſon may be honoured after his Death in his Memory or Poſterity, but Chriſt was honour'd in himſelf. Or, (2.) In God himſelf. God will glorifie him with himſelf, as 'tis explain'd, John 17. 5. He ſhall ſit down with the Father upon his Throne, Rev. 3. 21. This is true Glory.

3. That he will glorifie him ſtraightway. He look'd upon the Joy and Glory ſet before him, not only as great, but as near; and his Sorrows and Sufferings ſhort, and ſoon over. Good Services done to earthly Princes often remain long unrewarded, but Chriſt had his Preferments preſently. 'Twas but Forty Hours (or not ſo much) from his Death to his Reſurrection, and Forty Days from thence to his Aſcenſion, ſo that it might well be ſaid he was ſtraightway glorified, Pſal 15. 10.

4. All this in Conſideration of God's being glorified in and by his Sufferings. Seeing God is glorified in him, and receives Honour from his Sufferings, God ſhall in like manner glorifie him in himſelf, and give Honour to him. Note, 1. In the Exaltation of Chriſt there was Regard had to his Humiliation, and a Reward given for it. Becauſe he humbled himſelf therefore God highly exalted him. If the Father be ſo great a Gainer in his Glory by the Death of Chriſt, we may be ſure the Son ſhall be no Loſer in his. See the Covenant between them, Iſa. 53. 12. 2. Thoſe who mind the Buſineſs of glorifying God, no doubt ſhall have the Happineſs of being glorified with him.

2. Here is ſomething that Chriſt inſtructs them in concerning his Sufferings, which was awakening, for as yet they were ſlow of Heart to underſtand it. Ver. 32. Little Children, yet a little while I am with you, &c.

Two Things Chriſt here ſuggeſts to quicken his Diſciples to improve their preſent Opportunities. Two ſerious Words,

1. That his ſtay in this World, to be with them here, they would find to be very ſhort. Little Children. This Compellation doth not ſpeak ſo much their Weakneſs, as his Tenderneſs and Compaſſion; he ſpeaks to them with the affection of a Father now he is about to leave them, and leave Bleſſings with them. Know this then, that yet a little while I am with you. Whether we underſtand it of the Time betwixt his Death, or betwixt his Aſcenſion, it comes much to one; he had but a little Time to ſpend with them, and therefore,

(1.) Let them improve the Advantage they now had. If they had any good Queſtion to aſk, if they would have any Advice Inſtruction, or Comfort, let them ſpeak quickly, for yet a little while I am with you. We muſt make the beſt of the Helps we have for our Souls while we have them, becauſe we ſhall not have them long; they will be taken from us, or we from them.

(2.) Let them not dote upon his bodily Preſence, as if their Happineſs and Comfort was bound up in that; no, they muſt think of living without it; not be always little Children, but go alone without their Nurſes. Ways and Means are appointed but for a little while, and are not to be reſted in, but preſs'd through to our Reſt, which they have a reference to.

2. That their following him to the other World to be with him there, they would find to be very difficult. What he had ſaid to the Jews, chap. 7. 34. he ſaith to his Diſciples; for they have need to be quickened by the ſame Conſiderations that are propounded for the convincing and awakening of Sinners. Chriſt tells them here, (1.) That when he was gone they would find a miſs of him. Ye ſhall ſeek me, i. e. ye ſhall wiſh ye had me again with you. We are often taught the worth of Mercies by the want of them. Tho' the Preſence of the Comforter yielded them real and effectual Relief in Straits and Difficulties; yet it was not ſuch a ſenſible Satiſfaction as his bodily Preſence would have been to thoſe who had been us'd to that. But obſerve, Chriſt ſaid to the Jews, ye ſhall ſeek me and not find me; but to the Diſciples he only ſaith, Ye ſhall ſeek me, intimating, that tho' they ſhould not find his bodily Preſence, no more than the Jews, yet they ſhould find that which was tantamount, and ſhould not ſeek in vain. When they ſought his Body in the Sepulcher, tho' they did not find it, yet they ſought to good Purpoſe. 2. That whither he went they could not come, which ſuggeſts to them high Thoughts of him, who was going to an inviſible, inacceſſible World, to dwell in that Light which none can approach unto; and alſo low Thoughts of themſelves, and ſerious Thoughts of their future State: Chriſt tells them they could not follow him, as Joſhua told the People they could not ſerve the Lord, only to quicken them to ſo much the more Diligence and Care. They could not follow him to his Croſs. for they had not Courage and Reſolution; it appear'd they could not, when they all forſook him and fled. Nor could they follow him to his Crown, for they had not a Sufficiency of their own, nor was their Work and Warfare yet finiſh'd.

Secondly, He diſcourſeth with them concerning the great Duty of brotherly Love. Ver. 34, 35. Ye ſhall love one another. Judas was now gone out, and had prov'd himſelf a falſe Brother; but they muſt not therefore harbour ſuch Jealouſies and Suſpicions one of another, as would be the Bane of Love; tho' there was one Judas among them, yet they were not all Judas's. Now the Enmity of the Jews againſt Chriſt and his Followers was ſwelling to the height, and they muſt expect ſuch Treatment as their Maſter had, it concern'd them, by Brotherly Love, to ſtrengthen one another's Hands.

Three Arguments for mutual Love are here urg'd.

1. The Command of their Maſter. Ver. 34. A new Commandment I give unto you. He not only commends it as amiable and pleaſant; not only counſels it as excellent and profitable, but Commands it, and makes it one of the fundamental Laws of his Kingdom; it goes a-breaſt with the Command of believing in Chriſt, 1 John 3 23. 1. Pet. 1. 23. It is the Command of our Ruler, who has right to give Law to us; 'tis the Command of our Redeemer, who gives us this Law in order to the curing of our ſpiritual Diſeaſes, and the preparing for us to our eternal Bliſs. It is a new Commandment; that is, (1.) It is a renewed Command ment; 'twas a Commandment from the Beginning, 1 John 2. 7. as old as the Law of Nature; 'twas the ſecond great Commandment of the Law of Moſes, yet becauſe it is alſo one of the great Commandments of the New Teſtament of Chriſt, the new Lawgiver, 'tis call'd a New Commandment; 'tis like an old Book in a new Edition corrected and enlarg'd. This Commandment had been ſo corrupted by the Traditions of the Jewiſh Church, that when Chriſt revives it, and ſets it in a true Light, it might well be called a new Commandment. Laws of Revenge and Retaliation were ſo much in vogue, and Self-love had ſo much the aſcendant, that the Law of brotherly Love was forgotten as obſolete, and out of Date; ſo that as it came from Chriſt new, it was new to the People. (2.) It is an excellent Command, as a new Song is an excellent Song that has an uncommon Gratefulneſs in it. (3.) It is an everlaſting Command; ſo ſtrangely new as to be always ſo; as the new Covenant which ſhall never decay, Heb. 8. 13. it ſhall be new to Eternity, when Faith and Hope are antiquated. (4.) As Chriſt gives it, it is new. Before it was, thou ſhalt love thy Neighbour; now it is, ye ſhall love one another; 'tis preſs'd in a more winning way, when 'tis thus preſs'd as mutual Duty owing to one another.

2. The Example of their Saviour, is another Argument for brotherly Love. As I have loved you. This is it that makes a new Commandment; that this Rule and Reaſon of Love, as I have loved you, is perfectly new, and ſuch as had been hid from Ages and Generations. Underſtanding this, 1. Of all the Inſtances of Chriſt's Love to his Diſciples, which they had already experienced during the Time he went in and out among them. He ſpoke kindly to them, concern'd himſelf heartily for them, and for their Welfare; inſtructed, counſell'd, and comforted them; pray'd with them and for them; vindicated them when they were accus'd, took their Part when they were run down, and publickly own'd them to be dearer to him than his Mother, or Siſter, or Brother: He reproved them for what was amiſs, and yet compaſſionately bore with their Failings, excus'd them made the beſt of them, and paſt by many an Overſight. Thus he had loved them, and juſt now waſhes their Feet; and thus they muſt love one another, and love to the End. Or, 2. It may be underſtood of the ſpecial Inſtance of Love to all his Diſciples he was now about to give, in laying down his Life for them. Greater love hath no Man than this, John 15. 13. As he thus loved us all, juſtly may he expect that we ſhould be loving to one another. Not that we are capable of doing any Thing of the ſame Nature for each other, Pſal. 49. 7. but we muſt love one another in ſome reſpects after the ſame manner; we muſt ſet this before us as our Copy, and take Directions from it. Our Love to one another muſt be free and ready, laborious and expenſive, conſtant and perſevering; it muſt be love to the Souls one of another. We muſt alſo love one another, from this Motive, and upon this Conſideration, becauſe Chriſt has loved us. See Rom. 15. 1, 2. Eph. 5. 2, 25. Phil. 3. 1.————5.

3. The Reputation of their Profeſſion. Ver. 35. By this ſhall all Men know that ye are my Diſciples, if ye have Love one to another. Obſerve, we muſt have Love; not only ſhew Love, but have it in the Root and Habit of it; and have it when there is not any preſent Occaſion to ſhew it; have it ready. Hereby it will appear that you are indeed my Followers, by following me in this. Note, Brotherly Love is the Badge of Chriſt's Diſciples. By this he knows them, by this they may know themſelves, 1 John 2. 14. and by this others may know them. This is the Livery of his Family, the diſtinguiſhing Character of his Diſciples; this is he would have them noted for, as that wherein they excell'd all others, their loving one another. This was it that their Maſter was famous for; all that ever heard of him have heard of his Love, his great Love; and therefore if you ſee any People more than ordinary loving one to another, ſay, certainly theſe are the Followers of Chriſt, they have been with Jeſus.

Now by this it appears, (1.) That the Heart of Chriſt was very much upon it, that his Diſciples ſhould love one another; in this they muſt be ſingular; whereas the Way of the World is to be every one for himſelf; they ſhould be hearty for one another. He doth not ſay, By this ſhall all Men know that you are my Diſciples, if ye work Miracles, for a Worker of Miracles is but a Cypher without Charity, 1 Cor. 13. 1, 2. But if ye love one another from Principle of Self-denial, and Gratitude to Chriſt, this Chriſt would have to be the Proprium of his Religion, the principal Note of the true Church. (2.) That it is the true Honour of Chriſt's Diſciples to excel in brotherly Love: Nothing will be more effectual than this to recommend them to the Eſteem and Reſpects of others. See what powerful Attractive it was, Acts 2. 46. 47. Tertulian ſpeaks of it as the Glory of the Primitive Church, that the Chriſtians were known by their Lovingneſs to one another. Their Adverſaries took notice of it, and ſaid, See how theſe Chriſtians love one another. Apol. cap. 39. (3.) That if the Followers of Chriſt do not love one another, they not only caſt an unjuſt Reproach upon their Profeſſion, but give juſt Cauſe to ſuſpect their own Sincerity. O Jeſus! Are theſe thy Chriſtians? Theſe paſſionate, malicious, ſpiteful, ill-natur'd People; Is this thy Son's Coat? When our Brethren ſtand in Need of Help from us, and we have an Opportunity of being ſerviceable to them, when they differ in Opinion and Practice from us, or are any way Rivals with, or provoking to us, and ſo we have an Occaſion to condeſcend and forgive; in ſuch Caſes as this it will be known whether we have this Badge of Chriſt's Diſciples.

36 Simon Peter ſaid unto him, Lord Whither goeſt thou? Jeſus anſwered him, Whither I go, thou canſt not follow me now; but thou ſhalt follow me afterwards. 37 Peter ſaid unto him, Lord, why cannot I follow thee now? I will lay down my life for thy ſake. 38 Jeſus anſwered him, Wilt thou lay down thy life for my ſake? Verily, verily I ſay unto thee, the cock ſhall not crow, till thou haſt denied me thrice.

In theſe Verſes we have,

Firſt, Peter's Curioſity, and the Check given to that.

1. Peter's Queſtion was bold and blunt, Ver. 36. Lord whither goeſt thou? Referring to what Chriſt had ſaid, v. 33. Whither I go ye cannot come. The Practical Inſtructions Chriſt had given them concerning brotherly Love, he overlooks, and asks no Queſtions upon them, but faſtens upon that concerning which Chriſt purpoſely kept them in the dark. Note, It is a common Fault among us, to be more inquiſitive concerning Things ſecret, which belong to God only, than concerning Things reveal'd, which belong to us and our Children; more deſirous to have our Curioſity gratified than our Conſciences directed; to know what's done in Heaven, than what we may do to get thither. 'Tis eaſie to obſerve it in the Converſe of Chriſtians, how ſoon a Diſcourſe of that which is plain and edifying is dropt, and no more ſaid to it, the Subject is exhauſted, while a Matter of doubtful Diſputation runs into an endleſs ſtrife of Words.

2. Chriſt's Anſwer was inſtructive: He did not gratify him with any particular Account of the World he was going to, nor ever foretold his Glories and Joys ſo diſtinctly as he did his Sufferings; but ſaid what he had ſaid before, v. 33. let that ſuffice, Thou canſt not follow me now, but ſhalt follow me hereafter.

1. We may underſtand it of his following him to the Croſs. Thou haſt not yet ſtrength enough of Faith and Reſolution to drink of my Cup; and it appear'd ſo by his Cowardice when Chriſt was ſuffering. For this Reaſon, when Chriſt was ſeized, he provided for the ſafety of his Diſciples, Let theſe go their Way, becauſe they could not follow him now. Chriſt conſiders the Frame of his Diſciples, and will not cut out from them that Work and Hardſhip which they are not as yet fit for; the Day ſhall be as the Strength is. Peter, tho' deſign'd for Martyrdom, cannot follow Chriſt now, not being come to his full growth, but he ſhall follow him hereafter, he ſhall be crucified at laſt like his Maſter. Let him not think, that becauſe he eſcapes Suffering now, he ſhall never ſuffer: From our miſſing the Croſs once, we muſt not infer that we ſhall never meet it; we may be referred for greater Trials than we have yet known.

2. We may underſtand it of his following him to the Crown. Chriſt was now going to his Glory, and Peter was very deſirous to go with him; no, ſaith Chriſt, Thou canſt not follow me now, thou art not yet ripe for Heaven, nor haſt thou finiſh'd thy Work on Earth. The Fore-runner muſt firſt enter to prepare a Place for thee, but thou ſhalt follow me afterwards, after thou haſt fought the good Fight, and at the Time appointed. Note, Believers muſt not expect to be glorified as ſoon as they are effectually call'd, for there is a Wilderneſs between the Red Sea and Canaan.

Secondly, Peter's Confidence, and the Check given to that.

1. Peter makes a daring Proteſtation of his Conſtancy. He is not content to be left behind, but asks, Lord, Why cannot I follow thee now? Doſt thou queſtion my Sincerity and Reſolution, I promiſe thee, if there be Occaſion, I will lay down my Life for thy ſake. Some think Peter had a Conceit, as the Jews had in the like Caſe, Chap. 7. 35. that Chriſt was deſigning a Journey, or Voyage into ſome remote Country, and he declar'd his Reſolution to go along with him where-ever he went; but having heard his Maſter ſo often ſpeak of his own Sufferings, ſurely he could not underſtand him any otherwiſe but of his going away by Death, and he reſolves as Thomas did, he will go and die with him; and better die with him, than live without him. See here, (1.) What an affectionate Love Peter had to our Lord Jeſus; I will lay down my Life for thy ſake, and I can do no more. I believe Peter ſpoke as he thought, and tho' he was inconſiderate, he was not inſincere in this Reſolution. Note, Chriſt ſhould be dearer to us than our own Lives, which therefore when we are call'd to it we ſhould be willing to lay down for his ſake, Acts 20. 24. (2.) How ill he took it to have it queſtioned, intimated in the Expoſtulation, Lord, why cannot I follow thee now, doſt thou ſuſpect my Fidelity to thee? 1 Sam. 29. 8. Note, 'Tis with regret that true Love hears its own Sincerity arraign'd, as John 21. 17. Chriſt had indeed ſaid, that one of them was a Devil, but he was diſcover'd and gone out, and therefore Peter thinks he may ſpeak with the more Aſſurance of his own Sincerity, Lord, I am reſolved I'll never leave thee and therefore why cannot I follow thee? We are apt to think we can do any Thing, and take it amiſs to be told, that this and the other we cannot do, whereas without Chriſt we can do nothing.

2. Chriſt gives him a ſurprizing Prediction of his Inconſtancy, v. 38. Jeſus Chriſt knows us better than we know our ſelves, and has many ways of diſcovering thoſe to themſelves whom he loves, and will hide Pride from.

1. He upbraids Peter with his Confidence. Wilt thou lay down thy Life for my ſake? Methinks he ſeems to have ſaid this with a Smile. Peter, thy Promiſes are too large, too laviſh to be relied on; thou doſt not conſider with what Reluctancy and Struggle a Life is laid down, and what a hard Task it is to die; not ſo ſoon done as ſaid. Chriſt hereby puts Peter upon ſecond Thoughts, not that he might retract his Reſolution, or recede from it, but that he might inſert into it that neceſſary Proviſo, Lord, thy Grace enabling me, I will lay down my Life for thy Sake. Wilt thou undertake to die for me? What thou that trembleſt to walk upon the Water to me; What thou that, when Sufferings were ſpoken of, cried'ſt out, Be it far from thee, Lord! 'Twas an eaſy thing to leave thy Boats and Nets to follow me, but not ſo eaſy to lay down thy Life. His Maſter himſelf ſtruggled when it came to that, and the Diſciple is not greater than his Lord. Note, It is good for us to ſhame our ſelves out of our preſumptious Confidence in our ſelves. Shall a bruiſed Reed be ſet up for a Pillar? or a ſickly Child undertake to be a Champion? What a Fool am I to talk ſo big?

2. He plainly foretels his Cowardiſe in the Critical Hour. To ſtop the Mouth of his boaſting, leſt Peter ſhould ſay it again, yea, Maſter, that I will, Chriſt ſolemnly aſſerts it with, Verily, verily, I ſay unto thee, The Cock ſhall not crow, till thou haſt denied me thrice. He doth not ſay as afterwards, this Night, for it ſeems to have been two Nights before the Paſſover; but ſhortly thou wilt have deny'd me thrice, within the Space of one Night; nay within ſo ſhort Space, as between the firſt and laſt crowing of the Cock; The Cock ſhall not crow, i. e. ſhall not have crow'd his crowing out till thou haſt again and again deny'd me, and that for fear of ſuffering. The crowing of the Cock is mention'd, (1.) To intimate that the Trial in which he would miſcarry thus, ſhould be in the Night, which was an improbable Circumſtance, but Chriſt's foretelling it, was an Inſtance of his infallible Foreſight. (2.) Becauſe the crowing of the Cock was to be the Occaſion of his Repentance, which of it ſelf would not have been, if Chriſt had not put this into the Prediction. Chriſt not only foreſaw that Judas would betray him, tho' he only in Heart deſign'd it; but he foreſaw that Peter would deny him, tho' he did not deſign it, but the contrary. He knows not only the Wickedneſs of Sinners, but the Weakneſs of Saints.

Chriſt told Peter, (1.) That he would deny him, would renounce and abjure him: Thou wilt not only not follow me ſtill, but be aſhamed to own that ever thou didſt follow me. (2.) That he would do this not once only by a haſty Slip of his Tongue, but after he had paus'd, would repeat a ſecond and a third time; and it prov'd too true. We commonly give it as a Reaſon, why the Prophecies of Scripture are expreſs'd darkly and figuratively, becauſe if they did plainly deſcribe the Event, the accompliſhment would thereby either be defeated, or neceſſitated by a Fatality inconſiſtent with human Liberty; and yet this plain and expreſs Prophecy of Peter's denying Chriſt did neither; nor did in the leaſt make Chriſt acceſſary to Peter's Sin. But we may well imagine what a Mortification it was to Peter's Confidence of his own Courage, to be told this, and to be told it in ſuch a Manner as that he durſt not contradict it, elſe he would have ſaid as Hazael, What! is thy Servant a Dog? This could not but fill him with Confuſion. Note, The moſt ſecure are commonly the leaſt ſafe; and thoſe moſt ſhamefully betray their own Weakneſs, that moſt confidently preſume upon their own Strength, 1 Cor. 10. 12.

CHAP. XIV.

This Chapter is a Continuation of Chriſt's Diſcourſe with his Diſciples after Supper; when he had convicted and diſcarded Judas, he ſet himſelf to comfort the reſt, who were full of Sorrow upon what he had ſaid of leaving them, and a great many good Words, and comfortable Words he here ſpeaks to them. The Diſcourſe is interlocutory; as Peter in the foregoing Chapter, ſo Thomas, and Philip and Jude in this, interpos'd their Thoughts upon what he ſaid according to the Liberty he was pleas'd to allow them. Free Conferences are as inſtructive as ſolemn Speeches, and more ſo. The general Scope of this Chapter is in the firſt Verſe; 'tis deſign'd to keep Trouble from their Hearts; now in Order to that, they muſt believe: And let them conſider, (1.) Heaven as their everlaſting Reſt, v. 2, 3. (2.) Chriſt himſelf as their Way, v. 4——11. (3.) The great Power they ſhall be clothed with by the Prevalency of their Prayers, v. 12——14. (4.) The Coming of another Comforter, v. 15——17. (5.) The Fellowſhip and Communion that ſhould be between him and them after his Departure, v. 18—24. (6.) The Inſtructions which the Holy Ghoſt ſhould give them, v. 25. 26. (7.) The Peace Chriſt bequeath'd to them, v. 27. (8.) Chriſt's own Chearfulneſs in his Departure, v. 28. ——31. And this which he ſaid to them, is deſign'd for the Comfort of all his faithful Followers.

LET not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe alſo in me. 2 In my Father's houſe are many manſions; if it were not ſo, I would have told you: I go to prepare a Place for you. 3 And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto my ſelf, that where I am, there ye may be alſo.

In theſe Verſes we have.

Firſt, A general Caution which Chriſt gives to his Diſciples, againſt Trouble of Heart, v. 1. Let not your Hearts be troubled. They now began to be troubled, were entring into this Temptation. Now here ſee,

1. How Chriſt took Notice of it. Perhaps it was legible in their Looks; 'twas ſaid, chap. 13. 22. they look'd one upon another with Anxiety and Concern, and Chriſt look'd upon them all, and obſerv'd it; however it was intelligible to the Lord Jeſus, who is accquainted with all our ſecret undiſcover'd Sorrows, with the Wound that bleeds inwardly; he knows not only how we are afflicted, but how we ſtand affected under our Afflictions, and how near they lie to our Hearts; He takes Cognizance of all the Trouble which his People are at any Time in danger of being over-whelm'd with; he knows our Souls in Adverſity.

Many Things concur'd to trouble the Diſciples now,

1. Chriſt had newly told them of the Unkindneſſes he ſhould receive from ſome of them, and this troubled them all; Peter, no doubt, look'd very ſorrowful upon what Chriſt ſaid to him, and all the reſt were ſorry for him, and for themſelves too, not knowing whoſe Turn it ſhould be to be told next of ſome ill Thing or other they ſhould do. As to this Chriſt comforts them; tho' a Godly Jealouſy over our ſelves, is of great Uſe to keep us humble and watchful, yet it muſt not prevail to the diſquieting of our Spirits, and the damping of our Holy Joy.

2. He had newly told them of his own Departure from them; that he ſhould not only go away, but go away in a Cloud of Sufferings. They muſt ſhortly hear him loaded with Reproaches, and thoſe will be as a Sword in their Bones; muſt ſee him barbarouſly abus'd and put to Death, and this alſo will be a Sword piercing through their own Souls, for they had loved him, and choſen him, and left all to follow him. When we now look upon Chriſt pierc'd, we cannot but mourn and be in Bitterneſs, tho' we ſee the glorious Iſſue and Fruit of it, much more grievous muſt the Sight be to them who could then look no further.

If Chriſt depart from them, (1.) They will think themſelves ſhamefully diſappointed; for they look'd that this had been he that ſhould have delivered Iſrael, and ſhould have ſet up his Kingdom in ſecular Power and Glory, and in Expectation of that, had loſt all to follow him. Now if he leave the World in the ſame Circumſtances of Meanneſs and Poverty in which he had liv'd, and worſe, they are quite defeated. (2.) They will think themſelves ſadly deſerted and expos'd. They knew by Experience what little Preſence of Mind they had in difficult Emergences, that they could count upon nothing but being ruin'd and run down if they part with their Maſter. Now in reference to all theſe, Let not your Hearts be troubled. Here are three Words, upon any of which the Emphaſis may ſignificantly be laid,

(1.) Upon the Word troubled, μὴ ταρασσέσθω; be not ſo troubled as to be put into a Hurry and Confuſion, like the troubled Sea when it cannot reſt. He doth not ſay, Let not your Hearts be ſenſible of the Griefs, or ſad becauſe of them, but be not ruffled and diſcompos'd. Be not caſt down and diſquieted, Pſal. 42. 5.

(2.) Upon the Word Heart; tho' the Nation and City be troubled, tho' your little Family and Flock be troubled, yet let not your Heart be troubled. Keep Poſſeſſion of your own Souls, when you can keep Poſſeſſion of nothing elſe. The Heart is the main Fort, whatever you do, keep Trouble from that, keep that with all Diligence. The Spirit muſt ſuſtain the Infirmity, therefore ſee that that be not wounded.

(3.) Upon the Word your; you that are my Diſciples and Followers, my redeemed, choſen, ſanctified ones; however others are overwhelm'd with the Sorrows of this preſent time, be not you ſo, for you know better Things; let the Sinners in Zion tremble, but let the Sons of Zion be joyful in their King. Herein Chriſt's Diſciples ſhould do more than others, ſhould keep their Minds quiet, when every thing elſe is unquiet.

2. The Remedy he preſcribes againſt this Trouble of Mind, which he ſaw ready to prevail over them; in general, Believe, πιστεύετε. (1.) Some read it in both Parts imperatively, Believe in God, and his Perfections and Providence, Believe alſo in me, and my Mediation. Build with Confidence upon the great acknowledg'd Principles of Natural Religion; that there is a God, that he is moſt holy, wiſe, powerful and good; that he is the Governour of the World, and has the Sovereign Diſpoſal of all Events; and comfort your ſelves likewiſe with the peculiar Doctrines of that holy Religion which I have taught you. But, (2.) We read the former as an Acknowledgment, that they did believe in God, for which he commends them; but if you would effectually provide againſt a ſtormy Day, Believe alſo in me.; through Chriſt we are brought into Covenant with God, and became intereſted in his Favour and Promiſe, which otherwiſe as Sinners we muſt deſpair of, and the Remembrance of God would have been our Trouble; but by believing in Chriſt as the Mediator between God and Man, our Belief in God becomes comfortable; and this is the Will of God, that all Men ſhould honour the Son as they honour the Father, by believing in the Son, as they believe in the Father; anp thoſe that rightly believe in God will believe in Jeſus Chriſt, whom he has made known to them. And believing in God, through Jeſus Chriſt, is an excellent Means of keeping Trouble from the Heart. The Joys of Faith are the beſt Remedies againſt the Griefs of Senſe, 'tis a Remedy with a Promiſe annex'd to it; The Juſt ſhall live by Faith; a Remedy with a probatum eſt annex'd to it, I had fainted unleſs I had believed.

Secondly, Here is a particular Direction to act Faith upon the Promiſe of eternal Life, v. 2, 3. He had directed them to truſt God, and to truſt him; but what muſt they truſt God and Chriſt for? Truſt them for Happineſs to come, when this Body, and this World ſhall be no more; and a Happineſs to laſt as long as the immortal Soul, and the Eternal World ſhall laſt. Now this is propos'd as a Sovereign Cordial under all the Troubles of this preſent Time, to which there is that in the Happineſs of Heaven which is admirably adapted and accommodated. All the Saints have encourag'd themſelves with this in their greateſt Extremities, That Heaven would make amends for all.

Let us ſee how this is ſuggeſted here:

1. Believe and conſider that really there is ſuch a Happineſs, In my Father's Houſe there are many Manſions, if it were not ſo I would have told you.

(1.) See under what Notion the Happineſs of Heaven is here repreſented; as Manſions, many Manſions in Chriſt's Father's Houſe. 1. Heaven is a Houſe, not a Tent nor Tabernacle; 'tis a Houſe not made with Hands, Eternal in the Heavens. (2.) It is a Father's Houſe; my Father's Houſe; and his Father is our Father, to whom he was now aſcending, ſo that in the Right of their elder Brother, all true Believers ſhall be welcome to that Happineſs as to their Home. 'Tis his Houſe who is King of Kings, and Lord of Lords, dwells in Light and inhabits Eternity. 3. There are Manſions there. That is, (1.) Diſtinct Dwellings, an Appartment for each, perhaps there is an Alluſion to the Prieſts Chambers that were about the Temple. In Heaven there are Accommodations for particular Saints; tho' all ſhall be ſwallow'd up in God, yet our Individuation ſhall not be loſt there; every Iſraelite had his Lot in Canaan, and every Elder a Seat, Rev. 4. 4. (2.) Durable Dwellings. Μοναὶ, from μένω, Maneo, abiding Places. The Houſe it ſelf is laſting, our Eſtate in it is not for a Term of Years, but a Perpetuity. Here we are as in an Inn, in Heaven we ſhall gain a Settlement. The Diſciples had quitted their Houſes to attend Chriſt, who had not where to lay his Head, but the Manſions in Heaven will make them amends. 4. There are many Manſions, for there are many Sons to be brought to Glory, and he exactly knows their Number; nor will be ſtraiten'd for Room by the coming of more Company than he expects. He had told Peter that he ſhould follow him, chap. 13. 36. but let not the reſt be diſcourag'd; in Heaven there are Manſions for them all. Rehoboth, Gen. 26. 22.

(2.) See what Aſſurance we have of the Reality of the Happineſs it ſelf, and the Sincerity of the Propoſal of it to us; If it were not ſo, I would have told you. If you had deceived your ſelves when you quitted your Livelihoods, and ventured your Lives for me in proſpect of a Happineſs, future and unſeen, I would ſoon have undeceived you. The Aſſurance is built, (1.) upon the Veracity of his Word. 'Tis implied, if there were not ſuch a Happineſs valuable and attainable, I would not have told you that there was. (2.) Upon the Sincerity of his Affection to them. As he is true, and would not impoſe upon them himſelf, ſo he is kind, and would not ſuffer them to be impos'd upon. If either there were no ſuch Manſions, or none deſign'd for them, who had left all to follow him, he would have given them timely notice of the Miſtake, that they might have made an honourable Retreat to the World again, and have made the beſt Hand they could of it. Note, Chriſt's good Will to us is a great Encouragement to our Hope in him. He loves us too well, and means us too well, to diſappoint the Expectations of his own raiſing; or to leave thoſe to be of all Men moſt miſerable, who have been of him moſt obſervant.

2. Believe and conſider, that the Deſign of Chriſt's going away was to prepare a Place in Heaven for his Diſciples. You are griev'd to think of my going away, whereas I go on your Errand, as the Forerunner I am to enter for you. He went to prepare a Place for us; that is, 1. To take Poſſeſſion for us, as our Advocate or Attorney, and ſo to ſecure our Title as indefeaſible. Livery of Seiſin was given to Chriſt for the Uſe and Behoof of all that ſhould believe on him. 2. To make Proviſion for us as our Friend and Father. The Happineſs of Heaven, tho' prepar'd before the Foundation of the World, yet muſt be further fitted up for Man in his fallen State. It conſiſting much in the Preſence of Chriſt there, it was therefore neceſſary he ſhould go before, to enter into that Glory which his Diſciples were to ſhare in. Heaven would be an unready Place for a Chriſtian if Chriſt were not there. He went to prepare a Table for them, to prepare Thrones for them, Luke 22. 30. Thus he deſign'd to ſpeak the fitneſs of Heaven's Happineſs for the Saints, for whom it is prepared.

3. Believe and conſider, That therefore he would certainly come again in due Time, to fetch them to that Bleſſed Place which he was now going to poſſeſs for himſelf, and prepare for them. Ver. 3. If I go and prepare a Place for you, if that be the Errand of my Journey, you may be ſure when every Thing is ready I will come again and receive you to my ſelf, ſo that you ſhall follow me hereafter, That where I am there ye may be alſo. Now theſe are comfortable Words indeed.

1. That Jeſus Chriſt will come again, ἔρχομαι, I do come; intimating the Certainty of it, that he will come, and that he is daily coming. We ſay we are coming, when we are buſie in preparing for our coming, and ſo he is. All he doth has a Reference and Tendency to his ſecond coming. Note, The Belief of Chriſt's ſecond coming, which he has given us the Aſſurance of, is an excellent Preſervative againſt Trouble of Heart. Phil. 4. 5. James 5. 8.

2. That he will come again to receive all his faithful Followers to himſelf. He ſends for them privately at Death, and gathers them one by one; but they are to make their publick Entry in ſolemn State all together at the laſt Day, and then Chriſt himſelf will come to receive them, to conduct them out of the abundance of his Grace and to welcome them out of the Abundance of his Love: He will hereby teſtifie the utmoſt Reſpects and Endearments imaginable. The coming of Chriſt is in order to our gathering together unto him, 2. Theſ. 2. 1.

3. That where he is, there they ſhall be alſo. This ſpeaks the ſame that many other Scriptures ſpeak, That the Quinteſſence of Heaven's Happineſs is being with Chriſt there, John 17. 24. Phil. 1. 23. 1 Theſ. 4. 17. Chriſt ſpeaks of his being there as now preſent, that where I am; where I am to be ſhortly, where I am to be eternally; there ye ſhall be ſhortly, there ye ſhall be eternally. Not only there in the ſame Place, but there in the ſame State: Not only Spectators of his Glory, as the Three Diſciples on the Mount, but Sharers in it.

4. That this may be inferred from his going to prepare a Place for us, for his Preparations ſhall not be in vain; he will not build and furniſh Lodgings and let them ſtand empty. He will be the Finiſher of that which he is the Author of. If he have prepared the Place for us, he will prepare us for it, and in due Time put us in Poſſeſſion of it. As the Reſurrection of Chriſt is the Aſſurance of our Reſurrection, ſo his Aſcenſion, Victory, and Glory, is an Aſſurance of ours.

4 And whither I go, ye know, and the way ye know. 5 Thomas ſaith unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goeſt, and how can we know the way? 6 Jeſus ſaith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me. 7 If ye had known me, ye ſhould have known my Father alſo: and from henceforth ye know him, and have ſeen him. 8 Philip ſaith unto him, Lord ſhew us the Father, and it ſufficeth us.
9 Jeſus ſaith unto him, Have I been ſo long time with you, and yet haſt thou not known me, Philip? he that hath ſeen me hath ſeen the Father; and how ſayeſt thou then, Shew us the Father? 10 Believeſt thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I ſpeak unto you, I ſpeak not of my ſelf: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doth the works. 11 Believe me that I am in the Father, and the Father in me: or elſe believe me for the very works ſake.

Chriſt having ſet the Happineſs of Heaven before them as the End, here ſhews them himſelf as the Way to it; and tells them they were better acquainted both with the End they were to aim at, and with the Way they were to walk in, than they thought they were. Ye know, i. e. 1. Ye may know. 'Tis none of the ſecret Things which belong not to you, but one of the Things revealed. You need not aſcend into Heaven, or go down into the Deep, for the Word is nigh you, Rom. 10. 6, 8. level to you. 2. Ye do know. Ye know that which is the Home, and which is the Way, tho' perhaps not as the Home, and as the Way. You have been told it, and cannot but know if you would recollect and conſider it. Note Jeſus Chriſt is willing to make the beſt of his Peoples Knowledge, tho' they are weak and defective in it. He knows the Good that is in them better than they do themſelves, and is certain they have that Knowledge and Faith, and Love, which they themſelves are not ſenſible of, or not certain of.

This Word of Chriſt gave Occaſion to two of his Diſciples to addreſs themſelves to him, and he anſwers them both.

Firſt, Thomas enquir'd concerning the Way, v. 5. without any Apology for contradicting his Maſter, he ſaid, Lord, we know not whither thou goeſt, to what Place, or what State, and how can we know the way in which we muſt follow thee? We can neither gueſs at it, nor enquire it out, but muſt ſtill be at a loſs. Chriſt's Teſtimony concerning their Knowledge made them more ſenſible of their Ignorance, and more inquiſitive after further Light. Thomas here ſhews more Modeſty than Peter, who thought he could follow Chriſt now. Peter was the more ſollicitous to know whither Chriſt went. Thomas here, tho he complains that he did not know that, yet ſeems moſt ſollicitous to know the way. Now, 1. His Confeſſion of his Ignorance was commendable enough. If good Men be in the dark, and know but in part, yet they are willing to own their Defects. But, 2. The Cauſe of his Ignorance was culpable. They knew not whither Chriſt went, becauſe they dreamed of a Temporal Kingdom in external Pomp and Power, and doted upon that, notwithſtanding what he had ſaid again and again to the contrary. Hence it was that when Chriſt ſpoke of going away, and their following him, their Fancy run upon his going to ſome remarkable City or other, Bethlem or Nazareth, or Capernaum, or ſome of the Cities of the Gentiles, as David to Hebron, there to be anointed King, and to reſtore the Kingdom to Iſrael; and which way this Place lay, where theſe Caſtles in the Air were to be built, Eaſt, Weſt, North, or South they could not tell, and therefore knew not the way. Thus ſtill we think our ſelves more in the dark than we need to be concerning the future State of the Church, becauſe we expect its Worldly Proſperity, whereas 'tis ſpiritual Advancement that the promiſe points at. Had Thomas underſtood as he might have done, that Chriſt was going to the inviſible World, the World of Spirits, to which ſpiritual Things only have a reference, he would not have ſaid, Lord, we do not know the way.

Now to this Complaint of their Ignorance, which included a Deſire to be taught, Chriſt gives a full Anſwer. Ver. 6, 7. Thomas had enquir'd, both whither he went and what was the Way, and Chriſt anſwers both thoſe Enquiries, and makes good what he had ſaid, that they would have needed no Anſwer if they had underſtood themſelves aright; for they knew him, and he was the Way; they knew the Father, and he was the End; and therefore whither I go ye know, and the Way ye know. Believe in God as the End, and in me as the Way, v. 1. and you do all you ſhould do.

1. He ſpeaks of himſelf as the Way. Ver. 6. Doſt thou not know the Way? I am the Way, and I only, for no Man comes to the Father but by me. Great Things Chriſt here ſaith of himſelf, ſhewing us,

(1.) The Nature of his Mediation; he is the Way, the Truth, and the Life.

Let us conſider theſe firſt diſtinctly.

1. Chriſt is the Way, the Highway ſpoken of, Iſa. 35. 8. Chriſt was his own Way, for by his own Blood he enter'd into the Holy Place, Heb. 9. 12. And he is our Way, for we enter by him. By his Doctrine and Example he teacheth us our Duty; by his Merit and Interceſſion he procures us our Happineſs, and ſo he is the Way. In him God and Man meet and are brought together. We could not get to the Tree of Life in the Way of Innocency, but Chriſt is another Way to it. By Chriſt, as the Way, an Intercourſe is ſettled, and kept up between Heaven and Earth. The Angels of God aſcend and deſcend; our Prayers go to God, and his Bleſſings come to us by him; This is the Way that leads to Reſt, the good old Way. The Diſciples followed him, and Chriſt tells them they follow'd the Road, and while they continu'd following him, they would never be out of their Way.

2. He is the Truth. (1.) As Truth is oppos'd to Figure and Shadow, Chriſt is the Subſtance of all the Old Teſtament Types, which are therefore ſaid to be Figures of the True, Heb. 9. 24. Chriſt is the true Manna, John 6. 32. the true Tabernacle, Heb. 8. 2. (2.) As Truth is oppos'd to Falſhood and Error. The Doctrine of Chriſt is true Doctrine; when we enquire for Truth, we need learn no more, but the Truth as it is in Jeſus. (3.) As Truth is oppos'd to Fallacy and Deceit. He is true to all that truſt in him, as true as Truth it ſelf, 2 Cor. 1. 20.

3. He is the Life, for we are alive unto God, only in and through Jeſus Chriſt, Rom. 6. 11. Chriſt formed in us, is that to our Souls, which our Souls are to our Bodies. Chriſt is the Reſurrection and the Life.

Let us alſo conſider theſe jointly, and with Reference to each other. Chriſt is the Way; the Truth, and the Life, that is. 1. He is the Beginning, the Middle, and the End. In him we muſt ſet out, go on, and finiſh. As the Truth he is the Guide of our Way, as the Life he is the end of it. 2. He is the true and living Way, Heb. 10. 20. There is Truth and Life in it, as well as at the End of it. 3. He is the true Way to Life; the only true Way; other Ways may ſeem right, but the End of them is the Way of Death.

(2.) The Neceſſity of his Mediation; No Man cometh to the Father, but by me. Fallen Man muſt come to God as a Judge, but cannot come to him as a Father, otherwiſe than by Chriſt as Mediator. We cannot perform the Duty of coming to God by Repentance, and the Acts of Worſhip, without the Spirit and Grace of Chriſt; not obtain the Happineſs of coming to God as our Father, without his Merit and Righteouſneſs. He is the High Prieſt of our Profeſſion; our Advocate.

2. He ſpeaks of his Father as the End, Ver. 7. If ye had known me aright, ye ſhould, or would have known my Father alſo; and from henceforth by the Glory you have ſeen in me, and the Doctrine ye have heard from me, ye know him, and have ſeen him. Here's,

1. A tacit Rebuke to them for their Dulneſs and Careleſsneſs in acquainting themſelves with Jeſus Chriſt, tho' they had been his conſtant Followers and Aſſociates. If ye had known me.——They know him, and yet did not know him ſo well as they might, and ſhould have known him. They know him to be the Chriſt, but did not follow on to know God in him. Chriſt had ſaid to the Jews, cap. 8. 19. If ye had known me, you would have known my Father alſo; and here the ſame to his Diſciples; for it is hard to ſay which is more ſtrange, the wilful Ignorance of thoſe that are Enemies to the Light, or the Defects and Miſtakes of the Children of Light, that have had ſuch Opportunities of Knowledge. If they had known Chriſt aright, they would have known that his Kingdom is ſpiritual, and not of this World; that he came down from Heaven, and therefore muſt return to Heaven, and then they would have known his Father alſo, would have known whither he deſigned to go, when he ſaid I go to the Father; to a Glory in the other World, not in this. If we knew Chriſtianity better, we ſhould better know natural Religion.

2. A favourable Intimation that he was well ſatisfied concerning their Sincerity, notwithſtanding the Weakneſs of their Underſtanding, and from henceforth, from my giving you this Hint, which will ſerve as a Key to all the Inſtructions I have given you hitherto, let me tell you, ye know him, and have ſeen him, inaſmuch as ye know me, and have ſeen me, for in the Face of Chriſt we ſee the Glory of God, as we ſee a Father in his Son that reſembles him. Chriſt tells his Diſciples they were not ſo ignorant as they ſeem'd to be; for tho' little Children, yet they had known the Father, 1 John 2. 13. Note, Many of the Diſciples of Chriſt have more Knowledge, and more Grace than they think they have; and Chriſt takes Notice of, and is well pleaſed with that Good in them which they themſelves are not aware of; for they that know God, do not preſently know that they know him, 1 John 2, 3.

Secondly, Philip enquired concerning the Father, v. 8. and Chriſt anſwer'd him, v. 9, 10, 11. Where obſerve,

1. Philip's Requeſt for ſome extraordinary Diſcovery of the Father. He was not forward to ſpeak as ſome others of them were, and yet from an earneſt Deſire of further Light, he cries out, ſhew us the Father. Philip liſten'd to what Chriſt ſaid to Thomas, and faſten'd upon the laſt Words, ye have ſeen him. Nay, ſaith Philip, That's it we want, that's it we would have, ſhew us the Father and it ſufficeth us.

1. This ſuppoſeth an earneſt Deſire of Acquaintance with God as a Father. The Petition is, ſhew us the Father; give us to know him in that Relation to us: And this he begs not for himſelf only. but for the reſt of the Diſciples. The Plea is, it ſufficeth us. He not only profeſſeth it himſelf, but will paſs his Word for his Fellow-Diſciples; grant us but one Sight of the Father, and we have enough. Janſenius ſaith, tho' Philip did not mean it, yet the Holy Ghoſt by his Mouth deſigned here to teach us, That the Satisfaction and Happineſs of a Soul conſiſts in the Viſion and Fruition of God, Pſal. 16. 1. and 17. 5. In the Knowledge of God the Underſtanding reſts, and is at the Top of its Ambition; in the Knowledge of God as our Father the Soul is ſatisfied. A Sight of the Father is a Heaven upon Earth, fills us with Joy unſpeakable.

2. As Philip ſpeaks it here, it intimates, that he was not ſatisfied with ſuch a Diſcovery of the Father as Chriſt thought fit to give them, but he would preſcribe to him, and preſs upon him ſomething further, and no leſs than ſome viſible Appearance of the Glory of God, like that to Moſes, Exod. 33. 22. And to the Elders of Iſrael, Exod. 24. 10, 11. Let us ſee the Father with our bodily Eyes, as we ſee thee, and it ſufficeth us; we will trouble thee with no more Queſtions, Whither thou goeſt? and ſo it diſcovers not only the Weakneſs of his Faith, but his Ignorance of the Goſpel Way of manifeſting the Father, which is ſpiritual, and not ſenſible. Such a Sight of God he thinks would ſuffice them, and yet thoſe who did thus ſee him, were not ſufficed, but ſoon corrupted themſelves, and made a graven Image. Chriſt's Inſtitutions have provided better for the Confirmation of our Faith than our own Inventions would.

2. Chriſt's Reply referring him to the Diſcoveries already made of the Father, v. 9, 10, 11.

1. He refers him to what he had ſeen, v. 9. He upbraids him with his Ignorance, and Inadvertency; Have I been ſo long Time with you? now above three Years intimately converſant with you, and yet, haſt thou not known me Philip? Now, he that has ſeen me, hath ſeen the Father, and how ſayeſt thou then, ſhew us the Father? Wilt thou ask for that which thou haſt already. Now here,

(1.) He reproves him for two Things.

1. For not improving his Acquaintance with Chriſt as he might have done, to a clear and diſtinct Knowledge of him. Haſt thou not known me Philip? Whom thou haſt follow'd ſo long, and converſ'd with ſo much. Philip, the firſt Day he came to him, declar'd that he knew him to be the Meſſiah, John 1. 45. and yet to this Day did not know the Father in him. Many that have good Knowledge in the Scripture and Divine Things, fall ſhort of the Attainments juſtly expected from them, for want of compounding the Ideas they have, and going on to Perfection. Many know Chriſt, who yet do not know what they might know of him, nor ſee what they ſhould ſee in him.

That which aggravated Philip's Dulneſs was, that he had had ſo long an Opportunity of Improvemement; I have been ſo long Time with thee. Note, The longer we enjoy the Means of Knowledge and Grace, the more inexcuſable we are if we be found defective in Grace and Knowledge. Chriſt expects our Proficiency ſhould be in ſome Meaſure according to our ſtanding, and that we ſhould not be always Babes. Let us thus reaſon with our ſelves, have I been ſo long a Hearer of Sermons, a Student in the Scripture, a Scholar in the School of Chriſt, and yet ſo weak in the Knowledge of Chriſt, and ſo unskilful in the Word of Righteouſneſs.

2. He reproves him for his Infirmity in the Prayer made, ſhew us the Father. Note, Herein appears much of the Weakneſs of Chriſt's Diſciples, that they know not what to pray for as they ought, Rom. 8. 26. but often ask amiſs, James 4. 3. for that which either is not promis'd, or is already beſtow'd in the Senſe of the Promiſe, as here.

(2.) He inſtructs him, and gives him a Maxim, which not only in general magnifies Chriſt, and leads us to the Knowledge of God in him, but juſtifies what Chriſt had ſaid, v. 7. Ye know the Father, and have ſeen him, and anſwers what Philip had ask'd, ſhew us the Father; why, ſaith Chriſt, the Difficulty is ſoon over, for he that hath ſeen me hath ſeen the Father. (1.) All that ſaw Chriſt in the Fleſh might have ſeen the Father in him, if Satan had not blinded their Minds, and kept them from a Sight of Chriſt as the Image of God, 2 Cor. 4. 4. (2.) All that ſaw Chriſt by Faith did ſee the Father in him, tho' they were not ſuddenly aware that they did ſo. In the Light of Chriſt's Doctrine they ſaw God as the Father of Lights; in the Miracles they ſaw God as the God of Power, the Finger of God. The Holineſs of God ſhone in the ſpotleſs Purity of Chriſt's Life; and his Grace in all the Acts of Grace he did.

2. He refers him to what he had Reaſon to believe. Ver. 10, 11. Believeſt thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me, and therefore in ſeeing me thou haſt ſeen the Father. Haſt thou not believed this? If not, take my Word for it, and believe it now.

1. See here what it is which we are to believe, That I am in the Father, and the Father in me; that is, as he had ſaid, Chap. 10. 30. I and my Father are one. He ſpeaks of the Father and himſelf as Two Perſons, and yet ſo One as never any Two were, or can be. In knowing Chriſt as God of God, Light of Light, very God of very God, begotten, not made, and as being of one Subſtance with the Father, by whom all things were made. We know the Father, and in ſeeing him thus we ſee the Father. In Chriſt we behold more of the Glory of God than Moſes did at Mount Horeb.

2. See here what Inducements we have to believe this; and they are Two. We muſt believe it,

1. For his Words ſake. The Words that I ſpeak to you, I ſpeak not of my ſelf; See John 7. 16. My Doctrine is not mine. What he ſaid, ſeem'd to them careleſs, as the Word of Man, ſpeaking his own Thoughts at his own Pleaſure; but really it was the Wiſdom of God that indicted it, and the Will of God that enforc'd it. He ſpake not of himſelf only, but the Mind of God according to the Eternal Counſels.

2. For his Works ſake. The Father that dwelleth in me he doth them, and therefore believe me for their Sakes. Obſerve, 1. The Father is ſaid to dwell in him; ὁ ἐν ἐμοὶ μένων, He abideth in me by the inſeparable Union of the Divine and Human Nature. Never had God ſuch a Temple to dwell in on Earth, as the Body of the Lord Jeſus, John 2. 21. Here was the true Shechinah, of which that in the Tabernacle was but a Type. The Fulneſs of the Godhead dwelt in him bodily, Col. 2. 9. The Father ſo dwells in Chriſt, as that in him he may be found, as a Man where he dwells. Seek ye the Lord, ſeek him in Chriſt, and he will be found, for in him he dwells. 2. He doth the Works. Many Works of Power, and Works of Mercy Chriſt did, and the Father did them in him; and the Work of Redemption in general was God's own Work. 3. We are bound to believe this, for the very Works Sake. As we are to believe the Being and Perfections of God, for the Sake of the Works of Creation, which declare his Glory, ſo we are to believe the Revelation of God to Man in Jeſus Chriſt, for the Sake of the Works of the Redeemer; thoſe mighty Works, which by ſhewing forth themſelves (Mat. 14. 2.) ſhew forth him, and God in him. Note, Chriſt's Miracles are Proofs of his Divine Miſſion, not only for the Conviction of Infidels, but for the Confirmation of the Faith of his own Diſciples, John 2. 11. and 5. 36. and 10. 37.

12 Verily verily I ſay unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do, ſhall he do alſo, and greater works than theſe ſhall he do, becauſe I go unto my Father. 13 And whatſoever ye ſhall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son. 14 If ye ſhall ask any thing in my name, I will do it.

The Diſciples, as they were full of Grief to think of parting with their Maſter, ſo they were full of Care what would become of themſelves when he was gone; while he was with them he was a Support to them, kept them in Countenance, kept them in Heart; but if he leave them, they will be as Sheep having no Shepherd, an eaſy Prey to thoſe who ſought to run them down. Now to ſilence theſe Fears, Chriſt here aſſures them that they ſhould be cloathed with Powers ſufficient to bear them out. As Chriſt had all Power, they in his Name ſhould have great Power both in Heaven and in Earth.

1. Great Power on Earth, Ver. 12. He that believeth on me, (as I know you do) the Works that I do ſhall he do alſo. This doth not weaken the Argument, Chriſt had taken from his Works to prove himſelf one with the Father, that others ſhould do as great Works, but rather ſtrengthens it, for the Miracles which the Apoſtles wrought, were wrought in his Name, and by Faith in him; and this magnifies his Power more than any Thing, that he not only wrought Miracles himſelf, but gave Power to others to do ſo too. Two Things he aſſures them of.

1. That they ſhould be enabled to do ſuch Works as he had done, and that they ſhould have a more ample Power for the doing of them, than they had when he firſt ſent them forth, Mat. 10. 8. Did Chriſt heal the Sick, cleanſe the Lepers, raiſe the Dead? So ſhould they. Did he convince and convert Sinners, and draw Multitudes to him? So ſhould they. Tho' he ſhould depart, the Work ſhould not ceaſe, nor fall to the Ground; but ſhould be carried on as vigorouſly and ſucceſsfully as ever, and 'tis ſtill in the doing.

(2.) That they ſhould do greater Works than theſe.

1. In the Kingdom of Nature. They ſhould work greater Miracles. No Miracle is little, but ſome to our Apprehenſion ſeem greater than others. Chriſt had heal'd with the Hem of his Garment, but Peter with his Shadow, Acts 5. 15. Paul by the Handkerchief that had touch'd him, Acts 19. 12. Chriſt wrought Miracles for two or three Years in one Country, but his Followers wrought Miracles in his Name for many Ages in divers Countries. Ye ſhall do greater, if there were Occaſion for the Glory of God. The Prayer of Faith, if at any Time it had been neceſſary, ſhould have removed Mountains.

2. In the Kingdom of Grace. They ſhould obtain greater Victories by the Goſpel than had been obtained while Chriſt was upon Earth, and the Truth is, the captivating of ſo great a Part of the World to Chriſt under ſuch outward Diſadvantages, was the Miracle of all. I think this refers eſpecially to the Gift of Tongues, which was the immediate Effect of the pouring out of the Spirit; which was a conſtant Miracle upon the Mind, in which Words are fram'd, and which was made to ſerve ſo glorious an Intention, as that of ſpreading the Goſpel to all Nations in their own Language. This was a greater Sign to them which believed not (1 Cor. 14. 22.) and more powerful for their Conviction than any other Miracle whatſoever.

The Reaſon Chriſt gives for this is, becauſe I go unto my Father. 1. Becauſe I go it will be requiſite you ſhould have ſuch a Power, leſt the Work ſuffer Damage by my Abſence. 2. Becauſe I go to the Father I ſhall be in a Capacity to furniſh you with ſuch a Power, for I go to the Father to ſend the Comforter, from whom you ſhall receive Power, Acts 1. 8. The wonderful Works which they did in Chriſt's Name, were Part of the Glories of his exalted State, when he aſcended on high, Eph. 4. 8.

2. Great Power in Heaven; Whatſoever ye ſhall ask that will I do, v. 13, 14. As Iſrael, that was a Prince with God. Therefore you ſhall do ſuch mighty Works, becauſe you have ſuch an Intereſt in me, and I in my Father. Obſerve,

1. In what way they were to keep up Communion with him, and fetch in Power from him when he was gone to the Father; by Prayer. When dear Friends are to be mov'd at a Diſtance from each other, they provide for the ſettling of a Correſpondency; thus when Chriſt was going to his Father, he tells his Diſciples how they might write to him upon every Occaſion, and ſend it by a ſafe and ready Way of Conveyance, without Danger of miſcarrying or lying by the Way. Let me hear from you by Prayer, the Prayer of Faith, and you ſhall hear from me by the Spirit. This was the old Way of Intercourſe with Heaven, ever ſince Men began to call upon the Name of the Lord; but Chriſt by his Death has laid it more open, and 'tis ſtill open to us. Here's,

(1.) Humility preſcrib'd. Ye ſhall ask. Tho' they had quitted all for Chriſt, they could demand nothing of him as a Debt, but muſt ask it as an Alms, muſt be humble Supplicants, beg or ſtarve, beg or periſh.

(2.) Liberty allow'd. Ask any Thing, any Thing that is good and proper for you, any Thing, provided you know what you ask, you may ask for Aſſiſtance in your Work; for a Mouth and Wiſdom; for Preſervation out of the Hand of your Enemies; for Power to work Miracles when there is Occaſion; for the Succeſs of the Miniſtry in the Converſion of Souls; ask to be informed, directed, vindicated: Occaſions vary; but they ſhall be welcome to the Throne of Grace upon every Occaſion.

2. In what Name they were to preſent their Petitions, Ask in my Name. To ask in Chriſt's Name, is, (1.) To plead his Merit and Interceſſion, and depend upon that Plea. The Old Teſtament Saints had an Eye to this when they pray'd for the Lord's ſake, Dan. 9. 17. and for the ſake of the Anointed, Pſal. 84. 9. but Chriſt's Mediation is brought to a clearer Light by the Goſpel, and ſo we are enabled more expreſly to ask in his Name. When Chriſt dictated the Lord's Prayer, this was not inſerted, becauſe they did not ſo fully underſtand this Matter as they ſhould afterwards, when the Spirit was pour'd out. If we ask in our own Name, we cannot expect to ſpeed, for being Strangers we have no Name in Heaven, being Sinners we have an ill Name there; but Chriſt's is a good Name, well known in Heaven, and very precious. (2.) 'tis to aim at his Glory and Honour in our Prayers, and to ſeek that as our higheſt End in all our Prayers.

3. What Succeſs they ſhould have in their Prayers; whan you ask, that will I do, v. 13. And again, v. 14. I will do it. You may be ſure I will: Not only it ſhall be done, I'll ſee it done, or give Orders for the doing of it, but I will do it; for he has not only the Intereſt of an Interceſſor, but the Power of a Sovereign Prince, who ſits at the right Hand of God, the Hand of Action, and has the doing of all in the Kingdom of God. By Faith in his Name we may have what we will for the asking.

4. For what Reaſon their Prayers ſhou'd ſpeed ſo well; That the Father may be glorified in the Son. That is, (1.) This they ought to aim at, and have their Eye upon in asking. In this all our Deſires and Prayers ſhould meet as in their Centre; to this they muſt all be directed, that God in Chriſt may be honour'd, by our Services, and in our Salvation. Hallowed be thy Name, is an anſwered Prayer, and is put firſt, becauſe if the Heart be ſincere in that, it doth in a manner Conſecrate all the other Petitions. (2.) This Chriſt will aim at in granting, and for the ſake of this will do what they ask, that hereby the Glory of the Father in the Son might be manifeſted. The Wiſdom, Power and Goodneſs of God were magnified in the Redeemer, when by a Power derived from him, and exerted in his Name, and for his Service, his Apoſtles and Miniſters were enabled to do ſuch great Things, both in the Proofs of their Doctrine, and in the Succeſs of it.

15 If ye love me, keep my commandments. 16
And I will pray the Father, and he ſhall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; 17 Even the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, becauſe it ſeeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him, for he dwelleth with you, and ſhall be in you.

Chriſt not only propoſeth ſuch Things to them as were the Matter of their Comfort, but here promiſeth to ſend the Spirit, whoſe Office it ſhould be to be their Comforter, to impreſs thoſe Things upon them.

1. He premiſeth to this a Memorandum of Duty, Ver. 15. If ye love me keep my Commandments. Keeping the Commandments of Chriſt is here put for the Practice of Godlineſs in general, and for the faithful and diligent Diſcharge of their Office as Apoſtles in particular. Now obſerve, (1.) When Chriſt is comforting them, he bids them keep his Commandments; for we muſt not expect Comfort but in the Way of Duty. The ſame Word (παρακαλεῖν) ſignifies both to exhort and to comfort. (2.) When they were in Care what they ſhould do now their Maſter was leaving them, and what would become of them now, he bids them keep his Commandments, and then nothing could come amiſs to them. In difficult Times our Care concerning the Events of the Day ſhould be ſwallow'd up in a Care concerning the Duty of the Day. (3.) When they were ſhewing their Love to Chriſt by their grieving to think of his Departure, and the Sorrow which filled their Hearts, upon the Foreſight of that, he bids them, if they would ſhew their Love to him, do it not by thoſe weak and feminine Paſſions, but by their conſcientious Care to perform their Truſt, and by a univerſal Obedience to his Commands; that's better than Sacrifice, better than Tears. Loveſt thou me? Feed my Lambs. (4.) When Chriſt has given them precious Promiſes of the Anſwer of their Prayers, and the coming of the Comforter, he laid down this as a Limitation of the Promiſes, provided you keep my Commandments from a Principle of Love to me. Chriſt will not be an Advocate for any but thoſe that will be ruled and adviſed by him as their Counſel. Follow the Conduct of the Spirit, and you ſhall have the Comfort of the Spirit.

2. He promiſeth this great and unſpeakable Bleſſing to them, v. 16, 17.

Firſt, It is promiſed that they ſhall have another Comforter. This is the great New Teſtament Promiſe, Acts 1. 4. as that of the Meſſiah was of the Old Teſtament; a Promiſe adapted to the preſent Diſtreſs of the Diſciples, who were in Sorrow, and needed a Comforter. Obſerve here,

1. The Bleſſing promiſed: ἄλλον παράκλητον. The Word is us'd only here in theſe Diſcourſes of Chriſt's, and 1 John 2. 1. where we tranſlate it an Advocate. The Rhemiſts, and Dr. Hammond, are for retaining the Greek Word, Paraclete; we read, Acts 9. 31. of the παρακλήσει τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος, the Comforter, the Holy Ghoſt, including his whole Office as a Paraclete.

(1.) You ſhall have another Advocate. The Office of the Spirit was to be Chriſt's Advocate with them, and others to plead his Cauſe, and take Care of his Concerns on Earth; to be Vicarius Chriſti, as one of the Ancients calls him; and to be their Advocate, with their Oppoſers. When Chriſt was with them he ſpoke for them as there was Occaſion, but now he is leaving them they ſhall not be run down, the Spirit of the Father ſhall ſpeak in them, Mat. 10. 19, 20. And the Cauſe cannot miſcarry that is pleaded by ſuch an Advocate.

(2.) You ſhall have another Maſter or Teacher, another Exhorter. While they had Chriſt with them he excited and exhorted them to their Duty, but now he is going, he leaves one with them that ſhall do this as effectually, tho' ſilently. Janſenius thinks the moſt proper Word to render it by, is a Patron, one that ſhall both inſtruct and protect you.

(3.) Another Comforter. Chriſt was expected as the Conſolation of Iſrael. One of the Names of the Meſſiah among the Jews, was Menahem, the Comforter. The Targum calls the Days of the Meſſiah, the Years of Conſolation. Chriſt comforted his Diſciples when he was with them, and now he was leaving them in their greateſt Need, he promiſeth them another.

2. The Giver of this Bleſſing, the Father ſhall give him, my Father and your Father; it includes both. The ſame that gave the Son to be our Saviour, will give his Spirit to be our Comforter, purſuant to the ſame Deſign. The Son is ſaid to ſend the Comforter, Chap. 15. 26. but the Father is the prime Agent.

3. How this Bleſſing is procur'd, by the Interceſſion of the Lord Jeſus; I will pray the Father. He ſaid, v. 14. I will do it; here he ſaith, I will pray for it, to ſhew not only that he is both God and Man, but that he is both King and Prieſt. As Prieſt he is ordained for Men to make Interceſſion, as King he is authoriz'd by the Father to execute Judgment. When Chriſt ſaith, I will pray the Father, it doth not ſuppoſe that the Father is unwilling, or muſt be importun'd to it, but only that the Gift of the Spirit is a Fruit of Chriſt's Mediation, purchas'd by his Merit, and taken out by his Interceſſion.

4. The Continuance of this Bleſſing, That he may abide with you for ever. That is, 1. With you, as long as you live: You ſhall never know the Want of a Comforter, not lament his Departure, as you are now lamenting mine. Note, It ſhould ſupport us under the Loſs of thoſe Comforts which were deſigned us for a Time, that they are everlaſting Conſolations provided for us. 'Twas not expedient Chriſt ſhould be with them for ever, for they who were deſign'd for publick Service muſt not always live a College Life, they muſt diſperſe, and therefore a Comforter that would be with them all, in all Places alike, whereſoever diſperſed, and howſoever diſtreſſed, was alone fit to be with them for ever. (2.) With your Succeſſors, when you are gone, to the end of Time; your Succeſſors in Chriſtianity, in the Miniſtry. 3. If we take for ever in its utmoſt Extent, the Promiſe will be accompliſh'd in thoſe Conſolations of God, which will be the eternal Joy of all the Saints; Pleaſures for evermore.

Secondly, This Comforter is the Spirit of Truth, whom ye know, v. 16, 17. They might think it impoſſible to have a Comforter equivalent to him who is the Son of God; yea, ſaith Chriſt, you ſhall have the Spirit of God, who is equal in Power and Glory with the Son.

1. The Comforter promiſed is the Spirit; one who ſhould do his Work in a ſpiritual Way and Manner, inwardly and inviſibly, by working on Mens Spirits.

2. He is the Spirit of Truth. He will be true to you, and to his Undertaking for you, which he will perform to the utmoſt. He will teach you the Truth, will enlighten your Minds with the Knowledge of it, will ſtrengthen and confirm your Belief of it, and will increaſe your Love to it. The Gentiles, by their Idolatries, and the Jews, by their Traditions, were led into groſs Errors and Miſtakes; but the Spirit of Truth ſhall not only lead you into all Truth, but others by your Miniſtry. Chriſt is the Truth, and he is the Spirit of Chriſt, the Spirit that he was anointed with.

3. He is one whom the World cannot receive,—but ye know him. Therefore he abideth with you.

1. The Diſciples of Chriſt are here diſtinguiſhed from the World, for they are choſen and called out of the World that lies in Wickedneſs; they are the Children and Heirs of another World, not of this.

2. It is Miſery of thoſe that are invincibly devoted to the World, that they cannot receive the Spirit of Truth. The Spirit of the World and of God, are ſpoken of as directly contrary the one to the other, 1 Cor. 2. 12. for where the Spirit of the World has the Aſcendant. the Spirit of God is excluded. Even the Princes of this World. tho' as Princes they had Advantages of Knowledge, yet as Princes of this World they labour'd under invincible Prejudices, ſo that they knew not the Things of the Spirit of God, 1 Cor. 2. 8.

3. Therefore Men cannot receive the Spirit of Truth, becauſe they ſee him not, neither know him. The Comforts of the Spirit are fooliſhneſs to them, as much as ever the Croſs of Chriſt was, and the great Things of the Goſpel, like thoſe of the Law, counted as a ſtrange Thing. Theſe are Judgments far above, out of their Sight. Speak to the Children of this World of the Operations of the Spirit, and you are as a Barbarian to them.

4. The beſt Knowledge of the Spirit of Truth, is that which is got by Experience: Ye know him, for he dwelleth with you. Chriſt had dwelt with them, and by their Acquaintance with him, they could not but know the Spirit of Truth. They had themſelves been indued with the Spirit in ſome Meaſure. What enabled them to leave all to follow Chriſt, and to continue with him in his Temptations? What enabled them to preach the Goſpel, and work Miracles, but the Spirit dwelling in them? The Experiences of the Saints are the Explications of the Promiſes; Paradoxes to others are Axioms to them.

5. They that have an experimental Acquaintance with the Spirit have a comfortable Aſſurance of his Countenance. He dwelleth with you, and ſhall be in you, for the bleſſed Spirit doth not uſe to ſhift his Lodging. They that know him, know how to value him, invite him, and bid him welcome, and therefore he ſhall be in them, as the Light in the Air, as the Sap in the Tree, as the Soul in the Body. Their Communion with him ſhall be intimate, and their Union with him inſeparable.

6. The Gift of the Holy Ghoſt is a peculiar Gift, beſtow'd upon the Diſciples of Chriſt in a diſtinguiſhing Way; them, and not the World. It is to them hidden Manna, and the white Stone. No Comforts comparable to thoſe which make no Shew, make no Noiſe. This is the Favour God bears to his Choſen; 'tis the Heritage of thoſe that fear his Name.

18 I will not leave you comfortleſs; I will come to you. 19 Yet a little while, and the world ſeeth me no more: but ye ſee me: becauſe I live, ye ſhall live alſo. 20 At that day you ſhall know that I am in my Father, and you in me, and I in you. 21 He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me, ſhall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifeſt my ſelf to him. 22 Judas ſaith unto him, not Iſcariot, Lord, how is it that thou wilt manifeſt thy ſelf unto us, and not unto the world? 23 Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him. 24 He that loveth me not, keepeth not my ſayings: and the Word which you hear is not mine, but the fathers which ſent me.

When Friends are parting, 'tis a common requeſt they make to each other, pray let us hear from you as oft as you can; this Chriſt engaged to his Diſciples, that out of Sight, they ſhould not be out of Mind.

Firſt, He promiſeth that he would continue his care of them, v. 18. I will not leave you Orphans, or Fatherleſs, for tho' I leave you, yet I leave you this Comfort, I will come to you. His Departure from them was it that griev'd them; but it was not ſo bad as they apprehended, for 'twas neither total nor final.

1. Not total; tho' I leave you without my bodily preſence, yet I do not leave you without Comfort. Tho' Children, and left little, yet they had receiv'd the Adoption of Sons, and his Father would be their Father, with whom thoſe who otherwiſe would be fatherleſs, find Mercy. Note, The Caſe of true Believers though ſometimes it may be ſorrowful, yet it is never comfortleſs, becauſe they are never Orphans; for God is their Father, who is an everlaſting Father.

2. Not final; I will come to you, ἔρχομαι, I do come; that is (1.) I will come ſpeedily to you at my Reſurrection, I will not be long away, but will be with you again in a little time. He had often ſaid, The Third Day, I will riſe again. (2.) I will be coming daily to you in my Spirit; in the Tokens of his Love, and Viſits of his Grace, he is ſtill coming. (3.) I will come certainly at the End of Time, ſurely I will come quickly to introduce you into the Joy of your Lord. Note, The Conſideration of Chriſt's coming to us ſaves us from being comfortleſs in his Removals from us; for if he depart for a ſeaſon, 'tis that way we may receive him for ever. Let this moderate our Grief, the Lord is at hand.

Secondly, He promiſeth that they ſhould continue their Acquaintance with him, and Intereſt in him. v. 19, 20. Yet a little while and the World ſees me no more, i. e. now I am no more in the World; after his Death, the World ſaw him no more, for tho' he roſe to Life, he never ſhew'd himſelf to all the People, Acts 10. 48. The malignant World thought they had ſeen enough of him, and cry'd, Away with him, crucify him; and ſo ſhall their Doom be; they ſhall ſee him no more. Thoſe only that ſee Chriſt with an Eye of Faith, ſhall ſee him for ever; the World ſees him no more, till his ſecond Coming; but his Diſciples have Communion with him in his Abſence.

1. Ye ſee me, and ſhall continue to ſee me, when the World ſees me no more. They ſaw him with their bodily Eyes after his Reſurrection, for he ſhew'd himſelf to them by many infallible Proofs, Acts 1. 3. and then were the Diſciples glad when they ſaw the Lord. They ſaw him with an Eye of Faith after his Aſcenſion, ſitting at God's Right Hand; and as Lord of all; ſaw that in him, which the World ſaw not.

2. Becauſe I live, ye ſhall live alſo. That which griev'd them was, that their Maſter was dying, and they counted upon nothing elſe but to die with him. No, ſaith Chriſt, (1.) I live: this the great God glories in, I live, ſaith the Lord, and Chriſt ſaith the ſame; not only I ſhall live, as he ſaith of them, but I do live; for he has Life in himſelf, and lives for evermore. We are not comfortleſs, while we know that our Redeemer lives. (2.) Therefore ye ſhall live alſo. Note, The Life of Chriſtians is bound up in the Life of Chriſt; as ſure and as long as he lives, they that by Faith are united to him ſhall live alſo; they ſhall live ſpiritually, a Divine Life in Communion with God, this Life is hid with Chriſt; if the Head and Root live, the Members and Branches live alſo. They ſhall live eternally; their Bodies ſhall riſe in the Virtue of Chriſt's Reſurrection; it will be well with him in the World to come, it cannot but be well with all that are his, Iſa. 26. 19.

3. Ye ſhall have the Aſſurance of this, v. 20. At that Day, when I am glorified, when the Spirit is pour'd out, ye ſhall know more clearly and certainly than ye do now; that I am in my Father, and you in me, and I in you.

1. Theſe glorious Myſteries will be fully known in Heaven. At that Day, when I ſhall receive you to my ſelf, you ſhall know perfectly that which now you ſee through a Glaſs darkly. Now it appears not what we ſhall be, but then it will appear what we were.

2. They were more fully known after the pouring out of the Spirit upon the Apoſtles; at that Day Divine Light ſhould ſhine, and their Eyes ſhould ſee more clearly, their Knowledge ſhould greatly advance and encreaſe then, would become more extenſive, and more diſtinct, and like the blind Man's at the ſecond Touch of Chriſt's Hand, who at firſt only ſaw Men as Trees walking.

3. They are known by all that receive the Spirit of Truth, to their abundant Satisfaction, for in the Knowledge of this is founded their Fellowſhip with the Father, and his Son, Jeſus Chriſt. They know, (1.) That Chriſt is in the Father, is one with the Father, by their Experience of what he has wrought for them, and in them; they find what an admirable Conſent and Harmony there is between Chriſtianity and Natural Religion, that that is grafted into this, and ſo they know that Chriſt is in the Father. (2.) That Chriſt is in them; experienced Chriſtians know by the Spirit, that Chriſt abides in them, 1 John 3. 24. (3.) That they are in Chriſt, for the Relation is mutual, and equally near on both Sides, Chriſt in them, and they in Chriſt, which ſpeaks an intimate and inſeparable Union; in the Vertue of which it is, that becauſe he lives, they ſhall live alſo. Note, 1. Union with Chriſt is the Life of Believers, and their Relation to him, and to God through him is their Felicity. 2. The Knowledge of this Union is their unſpeakable Joy and Satisfaction, they were now in Chriſt, and he in them, but he ſpeaks of it as a further Act of Grace that they ſhould know it, and have the Comfort of it. An Intereſt in Chriſt, and the Knowledge of it, are ſometimes ſeparated.

Thirdly, He promiſeth that he would love them, and manifeſt himſelf to them, v. 21—24. Where obſerve,

1. Who they are whom Chriſt will look upon, and accept, as Lovers of him; thoſe that have his Commandments, and keep them. By this Chriſt ſhews that the kind things he here ſaid to his Diſciples, were intended not for thoſe only that were now his Followers, but for all that ſhould believe in him through their Word. Here's,

(1.) The Duty of thoſe that claim the Dignity of being Diſciples, having Chriſt's Commandments we muſt keep them; as Chriſtians in Name and Profeſſion we have Chriſt's Commandments, we have them ſounding in our Ears, written before our Eyes, we have the Knowledge of them; but this is not enough, would we approve our ſelves Chriſtians indeed, we muſt keep them. Having them in our Heads, we muſt keep them in our Hearts and Lives.

(2.) The Dignity of thoſe that do the Duty of Diſciples. They are look'd upon by Chriſt to be ſuch as love him. Not thoſe that have the greateſt Wit, and know how to talk for him, or the greateſt Eſtate, to lay out for him, but thoſe that keep his Commandments. Note, The ſureſt Evidence of our Love to Chriſt, is Obedience to the Laws of Chriſt. Such is the Love of a Subject to his Sovereign, a dutiful, reſpectful, obediential Love, a Conformity to his Will, and Satisfaction in his Wiſdom.

2. What Returns he will make to them for their Love; rich Returns; there's no Love loſt upon Chriſt.

1. They ſhall have the Father's Love. He that loveth me, ſhall be loved of my Father. We could not love God, if he did not firſt, out of his good Will to us, give us his Grace to love him; but there is a Love of Complacency promis'd to thoſe that do love God, Prov. 8. 17. He loves them, and lets them know that he loves them, ſmiles upon them, and embraceth them. God ſo loves the Son, as to love all thoſe that love him.

2. They ſhall have Chriſt's Love. And I will love him, as God-man, as Mediator; God will love him as a Father, and I will love him as a Brother, an elder Brother. The Creator will love him, and be the Felicity of his Being; the Redeemer will love him, and be the Protector of his Well-being. In the Nature of God, nothing ſhines more bright than this, that God is Love. And in the Undertaking of Chriſt, nothing appears more glorious than this, that he loved us. Now both theſe Loves are the Crown and Comfort, the Grace and Glory, which ſhall be to all them that love the Lord Jeſus Chriſt in Sincerity. Chriſt was now leaving his Diſciples, but promiſeth to continue his Love to them; for he not only retains a Kindneſs for Believers, tho' abſent, but is doing them Kindneſs whilſt abſent, for he bears them on his Heart, and ever lives interceeding for them.

3. They ſhall have the Comfort of that Love. I will manifeſt my ſelf to him. Some underſtand it of Chriſt's ſhewing himſelf alive to his Diſciples after his Reſurrection, but it being promis'd to all that love him, and keep his Commandments, it muſt be conſtrued ſo as to extend to them; there is a ſpiritual Manifeſtation of Chriſt and his Love made to all Believers; when he enlightens their Minds to know his Love, and the Dimenſions of it, Eph. 3. 18, 19. enlivens their Graces, and draws them into Exerciſe, and thus enlargeth their Comforts in himſelf. When he clears up the Evidences of their Intereſt in him, and gives them Tokens of his Love, Experience of his Tenderneſs, and Earneſts of his Kingdom and Glory, then he manifeſts himſelf to them; and Chriſt is manifeſted to none but thoſe to whom he is pleas'd to manifeſt himſelf.

Now upon Occaſion of Chriſt's making this Promiſe.

Firſt, One of the Diſciples expreſſeth his Wonder and Surprize at it, v. 22. Obſerve,

1. Who it was that ſaid this. Judas, not Iſcariot. Judah, or Judas, was a famous Name; the moſt famous Tribe in Iſrael, was that of Judah; two of Chriſt's Diſciples were of that Name, one of them was the Traytor, the other was the Brother of James, Luke 6. 16. one of thoſe that were a-kin to Chriſt, Mat. 13. 55. He is called Lebbeus and Thaddeus, was the Penman of the laſt of the Epiſtles, which in our Tranſlation for Diſtinction ſake, we call, The Epiſtle of Jude: This was he that ſpoke here. Obſerve, (1.) There was a very good Man, and a very ill Man, call'd by the ſame Name; for Names commend us not unto God, nor do they make Men worſe, Judas the Apoſtle was never the worſe, nor Judas the Apoſtate ever the better, for being Name-ſakes. But, (2.) The Evangeliſt carefully diſtinguiſheth between them, when he ſpeaks of this pious Judas, he adds, not Iſcariot. Take heed of miſtaking; let us not confound the precious and the vile.

2. What he ſaid, Lord, how is it: Which ſpeaks either, (1.) The Weakneſs of his Underſtanding. So ſome take it. He expected the Temporal Kingdom of the Meſſiah, that it ſhould appear in external Pomp and Power, ſuch as all the World would wonder after: How then, thinks he, ſhould it be confin'd to us only? τί γέγονεν, what's the Matter now, that thou wilt not ſhew thy ſelf openly as is expected, that the Gentiles may come to thy Light, and Kings to the Brightneſs of thy Riſing? Note, We create Difficulties to our ſelves, by miſtaking the Nature of Chriſt's Kingdom, as if it were of this World. Or, (2.) As ſpeaking the Strength of his Affections, and the humble and thankful Senſe he had of Chriſt's diſtinguiſhing Favours to them. Lord how is it; He is amaz'd at the Condeſcenſions of Divine Grace, as David 2 Sam. 7. 18. what is there in us to deſerve ſo great a Favour? Note, 1. Chriſt's manifeſting of himſelf to his Diſciples, is done in a diſtinguiſhing way; to them, and not unto the World, that ſits in Darkneſs; to the baſe, and not to the mighty and noble; the Babes and not to the Wiſe and Prudent. Diſtinguiſhing Favours are very obliging; conſidering who are paſſed by, and who are pitch'd upon. 2. It is juſtly marvellous in our Eyes; for it is unaccountable, and muſt be reſolv'd into free and ſovereign Grace; Even ſo, Father becauſe it ſeemed good unto thee.

Secondly, Chriſt in anſwer hereunto, explains and confirms what he had ſaid, v. 23. 24. He overlooks what Infirmity there was in what Judas ſpoke, and goes on with his Comforts.

1. He further explains the Condition of the Promiſe, which was loving him, and keeping his Commandments. And as to this he ſhews what an inſeparable Connexion there is between Love and Obedience; Love is the Root, Obedience the Fruit.

(1.) Where a ſincere Love to Chriſt is in the Heart, there will be Obedience; If a Man love me indeed, that Love will be ſuch a commanding conſtraining Principle in him, that no queſtion he will keep my Words. Where there is true Love to Chriſt, there is a Value for his Favour, a Veneration for his Authority, and an entire Surrender of the whole Man to his Conduct and Government. Where Love is, Duty follows of courſe, and is eaſy and natural, and flows from a Principle of Gratitude.

(2.) On the other hand, where there is no true Love to Chriſt, there will be no Care to obey him; He that loveth me not, keepeth not my Sayings, v. 24. This comes in here as a Diſcovery of thoſe that do not Love Chriſt; whatever they pretend, certainly thoſe do not love him, that believe not his Truths and obey not his Laws; to whom Chriſt's Sayings are but as idle Tales, which he heeds not, or hard Sayings, which he likes not. 'Tis alſo a Reaſon why Chriſt will not manifeſt himſelf to the World that doth not love him, becauſe they put this Affront upon him, not to keep his Sayings; why ſhould Chriſt be familiar with them, that will be ſtrange to him?

2. He further explains the Promiſe, v. 23. If a Man does thus love me, I will manifeſt my ſelf to him.

(1.) My Father will love him; this he had ſaid before, v. 21. and here repeats it for the confirming of our Faith; becauſe it is hard to imagine that the great God ſhould make thoſe the Objects of his Love, that had made themſelves Veſſels of his Wrath. Jude wonder'd that Chriſt ſhould manifeſt himſelf to them; but this anſwers it, if my Father love you, why ſhould not I be free with you?

(2.) We will come unto him, and make our abode with him. This explains the meaning of Chriſt's manifeſting himſelf to him, and magnifies the Favour. (1.) Not only I will, but we will, I and the Father, who in this are one; ſee v. 9. The Light and Love of God is communicated to Man in the Light and Love of the Redeemer; ſo that where-ever Chriſt is form'd, the Image of God is ſtamp'd. (2.) Not only I will ſhew my ſelf to him at a diſtance, but we will come to him, to be near him, to be with him; ſuch are the powerful Influences of Divine Graces and Comforts upon the Souls of thoſe that love Chriſt in Sincerity, (3.) Not only I will give him a tranſient View of me, or make him a ſhort and running Viſit, but we will take up our Abode with him; which notes Complacency in him, and Conſtancy to him. God will not only love obedient Believers, but he will take a Pleaſure in loving them, will reſt in Love to them, Zeph. 3. 17. He will be with them as at his home.

3. He gives a good Reaſon both to bind us to obſerve the Condition, and encourage us to depend upon the Promiſe, v. 24. The Word which you hear is not mine, but his that ſent me. To this Purpoſe he had often ſaid, John 7. 16. and 8. 28. and 12. 44. And here it comes in very pertinently; 1. The Streſs of Duty is laid upon the Precept of Chriſt as our Rule; and juſtly, for that Word of Chriſt which we are to keep, is the Father's Word, and his Will the Father's Will. 2. The Streſs of our Comfort is laid upon the Promiſe of Chriſt. But foraſmuch as in Dependance upon that Promiſe, we muſt deny our ſelves, and take up our Croſs, and quit all, it concerns us to enquire whether the Security be ſufficient for us to venture our All upon, and this ſatisfies us it is; that the Promiſe is not Chriſt's bare Word, but the Father's which ſent him; which therefore we may rely on.

25 Theſe things have I ſpoken unto you, being yet preſent with you. 26 But the Comforter, which is the holy Ghoſt, whom the Father will ſend in my name, he ſhall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatſoever I have ſaid unto you. 27 Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the World giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.

Two things Chriſt here comforts his Diſciples with.

Firſt, That they ſhould be under the Tuition of his Spirit, v. 25, 26. Where we may obſerve,

1. The Reflection Chriſt would have them make upon the Inſtructions he had given them; Theſe Things have I ſpoken unto you, referring to all the good Leſſons he had taught them, ſince they enter'd themſelves into his School; being yet preſent with you. This intimates, (1.) That what he had ſaid he did not retract, or unſay, but ratify it and ſtand to it. What he had ſpoken, he had ſpoken and would abide by it. (2.) that he had improv'd the Opportunity of his bodily Preſence with them to the utmoſt; as long as I have been yet preſent with them, you know I have loſt no time. Note, When our Teachers are about to be removed from us, we ſhould call to mind what they have ſpoken, being yet preſent with us.

2. The Encouragement given them to expect another Teacher, and that Chriſt would find out a way of ſpeaking to them, after his Departure from them, v. 26. He had told them before, that the Father would give them this other Comforter, v. 16. And here he returns to ſpeak of it again; for as the Promiſe of the Meſſiah had been, ſo the Promiſe of the Spirit was now the Conſolation of Iſrael. Two Things he here tells them further concerning the ſending of the Holy Ghoſt.

1. On whoſe Account he ſhould be ſent, the Father will ſend him in my Name; i. e. for my ſake, at my ſpecial Inſtance and Requeſt; or, as my Agent and Repreſentative. He came in his Father's Name as his Embaſſador; the Spirit comes in his Name as Reſident in his Abſence to carry on his Undertaking, and to ripen things for his ſecond Coming. Hence he is call'd the Spirit of Chriſt, for he pleads his Cauſe and doth his Work.

2. On what Errand he ſhould be ſent; two things he ſhall do.

1. He ſhall teach you all Things; as a Spirit of Wiſdom and Revelation. Chriſt was a Teacher to his Diſciples; if he leave them now they have made ſo little Proficiency, what will become of them? Why, the Spirit ſhall teach them, ſhall be their ſtanding Tutor. He ſhall teach them all things neceſſary for them, either to learn themſelves, or to teach others. For they that would teach the things of God, muſt firſt themſelves be taught of God; this is the Spirits Work. See Iſa. 59. 21.

2. He ſhall bring all things to your Remembrance, whatſoever I have ſaid unto you. Many a good Leſſon Chriſt had taught them, which they had forgot, and which would be to ſeek when they had Occaſion for it; many things they did not retain the Remembrance of, becauſe they did not rightly underſtand the meaning of; the Spirit ſhall not teach them a new Goſpel, but bring to their Minds that which they had been taught, by leading them into the underſtanding of it. The Apoſtles were all of them to preach, and ſome of them to write the things that Jeſus did and taught, to tranſmit them to diſtant Nations and future Ages; now if they had been left to themſelves herein, ſome needful Things might have been forgotten, others miſrepreſented, through the Treachery of their Memories, therefore the Spirit is promis'd to enable them truly to relate and record what Chriſt ſaid unto them. And to all the Saints the Spirit of Grace is given to be a Remembrancer, and to him by Faith and Prayer we ſhould commit the keeping of what we hear and know

Secondly, That they ſhould be under the Influence of his Peace, v. 27. Peace I leave with you. When Chriſt was about to leave the World, he made his Will; his Soul he committed to his Father, his Body he bequeathed to Joſeph to be decently interr'd; his Cloaths fell to the Soldiers, his Mother he left to the Care of John; but what ſhould he leave to his poor Diſciples, that had left all for him? Silver and Gold he had none, but he left them that which was infinitely better, His Peace; I leave you, but I leave my Peace with you. I not only give you a Title to it, but put you in Poſſeſſion of it. He did not part in Anger, but in Love; for this was his Farewel, Peace I leave with you, as a dying Father leaves Portions to his Children; and this is a worthy Portion. Obſerve,

1. The Legacy that is here bequeathed; Peace, my Peace. Peace is put for all Good, and Chriſt has left us all the needful Good, all that's really and truly Good, all the purchaſed promiſed Good. Peace is put for Reconciliation and Love; the Peace bequeath'd is Peace with God, Peace with one another; Peace in our own Boſoms, that ſeems to be eſpecially meant; a Tranquility of Mind ariſing from a Senſe of our Juſtification before God. 'Tis the Counterpart of our Pardons, and the Compoſure of our Minds. This Chriſt calls his Peace, for he is himſelf our Peace, Eph. 2. 14 'Tis the Peace he purchas'd for us, and preach'd to us, and which the Angels congratulated at his Birth, Luke 2. 14.

2. to whom this Legacy is bequeath'd; to you, my Diſciples and Followers, that will be expos'd to Trouble, and have need of Peace; to you that are the Sons of Peace, and are qualified to receive it. This Legacy was left to them as the Repreſentatives of the Church, to them and their Succeſſors, to them and all true Chriſtians in all Ages.

3. In what manner it is left; not as the World giveth, give I unto you. That is, (1.) I do not compliment with you, with Peace be unto you; no, it is not a mere Formality, but a real Bleſſing. (2.) The Peace I give is of ſuch a Nature, as that the Smiles of the World cannot give it, nor the Favours of the World take it away. Or, (3.) The Gifts I give to you, are not ſuch as this World gives to its Children and Votaries, that it is kind to. The World's Gifts concern only the Body and Time; Chriſt's Gifts enrich the Soul for Eternity; the World gives lying Vanities, and that which will cheat us, Chriſt gives ſubſtantial Bleſſings, which will never fail us. The World gives and takes, Chriſt gives a good Part that ſhall never be taken away. (4.) The Peace which Chriſt gives is infinitely more valuable than that which the World gives.

The Worlds Peace begins in Ignorance, conſiſts with Sin, and ends in endleſs Troubles; Chriſt's Peace begins in Grace, conſiſts with no allow'd Sin, and ends at length in everlaſting Peace. As is the Difference between a killing Lethargy and a reviving refreſhing Sleep, ſuch is the Difference between Chriſts Peace and the World's.

4. What Uſe they ſhould make of it; Let not their Heart be troubled, for any Evils paſt or preſent, neither let it be afraid of any Evil to come. Note, They that are intereſted in the Covenant of Grace, and entitled to the Peace which Chriſt gives, ought not to yield to over-whelming Griefs and Fears. This comes in here as the Concluſion of the whole Matter; he had ſaid, v. 1. Let not your Heart be troubled, and here he repeats it as that which he had now given ſufficient Reaſon for.

28 Ye have heard how I ſaid unto you, I go away, and come again unto you. If ye loved me, ye would rejoice, becauſe I ſaid, I go unto the Father: for my Father is greater than I. 29 And now I have told you before it come to paſs, that when it is come to paſs, ye might believe. 30 Hereafter I will not talk much with you: for the prince of this world cometh, and hath nothing in me. 31 But that the world may know that I love the Father; and as the Father gave me commandment, even ſo I do: Ariſe, let us go hence.

Chriſt here gives his Diſciples another Reaſon, why their Hearts ſhould not be troubled for his going away; and that is, becauſe his Heart was not. And here he tells them what it was that enabled him to endure the Croſs, and deſpiſe the Shame, that they might look who him, and run with Patience. He Comforted himſelf, Firſt, That tho he went away, he ſhould come again, ye have heard how I have ſaid, and now I ſay it again, I go away, and come again. Note, What we have heard of the Doctrine of Chriſt, eſpecially concerning his ſecond Coming, we have need to be told again and again. When we are under the Power of any Tranſport of Paſſion, Grief, or Fear, or Care, we forget that Chriſt will come again. See Phil. 4. 5. Chriſt encouraged himſelf with this in his Sufferings and Death, that he ſhould come again, and the ſame ſhould comfort us in our Departure at Death; we go away to come again; the Leave we take of our Friends at a parting, is only a good Night, not that final Farewel. See 1 Theſſ. 4. 13, 14.

Secondly, That he went to his Father. If ye loved me, as by your Sorrow you ſay you do, ye ſhould rejoice inſtead of mourning, becauſe tho' I leave you, yet I ſaid, I go unto the Father, not only mine, but yours, which will be my Advancement and your Advantage, for my Father is greater than I. Obſerve here,

1. It is matter of Joy to Chriſt's Diſciples, that he is gone to the Father to take Poſſeſſion for Orphans, and make Interceſſion for Tranſgreſſors. His Departure had a bright Side as well as a dark Side. Therefore he ſent this Meſſage after his Reſurrection, John 20. 17. I aſcend to my Father and your Father; as moſt comfortable.

2. The Reaſon of this is, becauſe the Father is greater than he; which if it be a proper Proof of that for which it is alledg'd, as no doubt it is, muſt be underſtood thus, That his State with his Father would be much more excellent and glorious than his preſent State; his returning to his Father (ſo Dr. Hammond) would be the advancing of him to a much higher Condition, than that which he was now in. Or thus, his going to the Father himſelf, and bringing all his Followers to him there, was the ultimate End of his Undertaking, and therefore greater than the Means. Thus Chriſt raiſeth the Thoughts and Expectations of his Diſciples to ſomething greater than that, which now they thought all their Happineſs bound up in. The Kingdom of the Father, wherein he ſhall be all in all, will be greater than the Mediatorial Kingdom.

3. The Diſciples of Chriſt ſhould ſhew that they love him, by their rejoicing in the Glories of his Exaltation, rather than by lamenting his Sorrows of his Humilation, and rejoycing that he is gone to his Father, where he would be, and where we ſhall be ſhortly with him. Many that love Chriſt, let their Love run out in a wrong Channel; they think if they love him, they muſt be continually in pain becauſe of him, whereas they that love him, ſhould dwell at Eaſe in him, ſhould rejoice in Jeſus Chriſt.

Thirdly, That his going away, compared with the Prophecies which went before of it, would be a Means of confirming the Faith of his Diſciples, v. 29. I have told you before it come to paſs, that I muſt die, and riſe again, and aſcend to the Father, and ſend the Comforter, that when it is come to paſs, ye might believe. See his Reaſon, Chap. 13. 19. and 16. 4. Chriſt told his Diſciples of this Death, tho' he knew it would both puzzle them, and grieve them, becauſe it would afterwards redound to the Confirmation of their Faith, in two things.

1. That he who foretold thoſe things had a Divine Preſcience, and knew before-hand what a Day would bring forth. When St. Paul was going to Jeruſalem, he knew not the Things that did abide him there, but Chriſt did.

2. That the Things foretold were according to the divine Purpoſe and Deſignation, not ſudden Reſolves, but the Counterparts of an eternal Council. Let them therefore not be troubled at that which would be for the Confirmation of their Faith, and ſo would redound to their real Benefit; for the Trial of our Faith is very precious, tho' it coſt us preſent Heavineſs, through manifold Temptations, 1 Pet. 1. 6.

Fourthly, That he was ſure of a Victory over Satan, with whom he knew he was to have a ſtruggle in his Departure, v. 30. Henceforth I will not talk much with you, having not much to ſay, but what may be adjourn'd to the pouring out of the Spirit. He had a great deal of good Talk with them after this, Chap. 15. and 16. but in Compariſon with what he had ſaid, it was not much. His Time was now ſhort, and he therefore ſpoke largely to them now, becauſe the Opportunity will ſoon be over. Note, We ſhould always endeavour to talk to the Purpoſe, becauſe perhaps we may not have time to talk much. We know not how ſoon our Breath will be ſtop'd, and therefore ſhould be always breathing ſomething that is good. When we come to be ſick, and die, perhaps we may not be capable to talk much to thoſe about us, and therefore what good Counſel we have to give them, let us give it when we are in Health.

One Reaſon why he would not talk much with them was, becauſe he had now other Work to apply himſelf to; the Prince of this World comes; he call'd the Devil the Prince of this World. Chap. 12. 31. The Diſciples dream'd of their Maſter being the Prince of this World, and they worldly Princes under him; but Chriſt tells them, that the Prince of this World was his Enemy, and ſo were the Princes of this World, that were acted and rul'd by him, 1 Cor. 2. 8. But he has nothing in me. Obſerve here,

1. The Proſpect Chriſt had of an approaching Conflict, not only with Men, but with the Power of Darkneſs. The Devil had ſet upon him with his Temptations, Mat. 4. had offered him the Kingdoms of this World, if he would hold them as Tributary to him; with an Eye to which, Chriſt calls him in diſdain, The Prince of this World; then the Devil departed from him for a ſeaſon, but now ſaith Chriſt, I ſee him rallying again, preparing to make a furious Onſet, and ſo to gain that by Terrors which he could not gain by Allurements; to frighten from his Undertaking, when he could not tice him from it. Note, The Foreſight of a Temptation gives us great Advantage in our Reſiſtance of it; for being forewarn'd, we ſhould be fore-armed. While we are here, we may ſee Satan continually coming againſt us, and ought therefore to be always upon our Guard.

2. The Aſſurance he had of good Succeſs in the Conflict; He had nothing in me, ȣ̓κ ἔχει ȣ̓δὲν He has nothing at all. (1.) There we no Guilt in Chriſt to give Authority to the Prince of this World in his Terrors. The Devil is ſaid to have the Power of Death, Heb. 2. 14. the Jews called him the Angel of Death, as an Executioner, now Chriſt having done no Evil, he had no legal Power againſt him, and therefore tho' he prevail'd to Crucifie him, he could not prevail to terrify him; tho he hurried him to Death, yet not to Deſpair. When Satan comes to diſquiet us, he has ſomething in us to perplex us with, for we have all ſinn'd; but when he would diſturb Chriſt, he found no Occaſion againſt him. (2.) There was no Corruption in Chriſt to give Advantage to the Prince of this World in his Temptations. He could not cruſh his Undertaking, by drawing him to Sin, becauſe there was nothing ſinful in him, nothing irregular for his Temptations to faſten upon; no Tinder for him to ſtrike Fire into; ſuch was the ſpotleſs Purity of his Nature, that he was above the Poſſibility of ſinning. The more Satan's Intereſt in us is cruſh'd and decays, the more comfortably may we expect Sufferings and Death.

Fifthly, That his Departure was in Compliance with, and Obedience to his Father. Satan could not force his Life from him, and yet he would die, that the World may know that I love the Father, v. 31. We may take this,

1. As confirming what he had often ſaid, that his Undertaking as Mediator, was a Demonſtration to the World, (1.) Of his Compliance with the Father; hereby it appear'd that he lov'd the Father. As it was an Evidence of his Love to Man, that he dy'd for his Salvation, ſo it was of his Love to God that he dy'd for his Glory, and the accompliſhing of his Purpoſes. Let the World know, that between the Father and the Son there is no Love loſt. As the Father loved the Son, and gave all Things into his Hands, ſo the Son loved the Father, and gave his Spirit into his Hand. (2.) Of his Obedience to his Father; As the Father gave me Commandment, even ſo I did the Thing commanded, in the manner commanded. Note, The beſt Evidence of our Love to the Father, is our doing as he hath given us Commandment. As Chriſt loved the Father and obey'd him, even to the Death, ſo we muſt love Chriſt and obey him. Chriſt's Eye to the Father's Commandment, obliging him to ſuffer and die, bore him up with Chearfulneſs, and overcome the Reluctancies of Nature; this took off the Offence of the Croſs, that what he did was by Order from the Father; the Command of God is ſufficent to bear us out in that which is moſt diſputed by others; and therefore ſhould be ſufficient to bear us up in that which is moſt difficult to our ſelves. This is the Will of him that made me, that ſent me.

2. As concluding what he had now ſaid, having brought it to this, here he leaves it; That the World may know that I love the Father, you ſhall ſee how cheerfully I can meet the appointed Croſs;

Ariſe, let us go hence to the Garden, ſo ſome; or to Jeruſalem. When we talk of Trouble at a Diſtance, it is eaſy to ſay, Lord, I will follow thee whitherſoever thou goeſt; but when it comes to the Pinch, when an unavoidable Croſs lies in the Way of Duty, then to ſay, Ariſe let us go meet it, inſtead of going out of our way to miſs it, this lets the World know that we love the Father. If this Diſcourſe was at the Cloſe of the Paſſover Supper, it ſhould ſeem after theſe Words he roſe from Table, and retir'd into the with-drawing Room, where he might the more freely carry on the Diſcourſe with his Diſciples in the following Chapters, and pray with them. Dr. Goodwin's Remark upon this, is; That Chriſt mentioning the great Motive of his Sufferings, his Father's Commandment, was in all haſt to go forth to ſuffer and die, was afraid of ſlipping the time of Judas's meeting him; Ariſe, ſaith he, let us go hence; but he looks upon the Glaſs, as it were, ſees it not quite out, and therefore ſits down again and preaches another Sermon.

Now, 1. In theſe Words he gives his Diſciples an Encouragement to follow him. He doth not ſay, I muſt go, but let us go. He calls them out to no hardſhips, but what he himſelf goes before them in, as their Leader. They had promiſed they would not deſert him, come; ſaith he, Let us go then, let us ſee how you'll make the Words good.

2. He gives them an Example, teaching them at all times, eſpecially in ſuffering Times, to ſet looſe to all Things here below, and often to think and ſpeak of leaving them. Tho' we ſit eaſy, and in the midſt of the Delights of an agreeable Converſation, yet we muſt not think of being here always, Ariſe, let us go hence. If it were at the Cloſe of the Paſchal and Euchariſtical Supper, it teacheth us, that the Solemnities of our Communion with God are not to be conſtant in this World. When we ſit down under Chriſt's ſhaddow with Delight, and ſay, It is good to be here, yet we muſt think of riſing and going hence, going down from the Mount.

CHAP. XV.

'Tis generally agreed, that Chriſt's Diſcourſe in this and the next Chapter, was at the Cloſe of his laſt Supper, the Night in which he was betray'd; and it is a continued Diſcourſe, not interrupted as that in the foregoing Chapter was, and what he chuſeth to diſcourſe of, is very pertinent to the preſent ſad Occaſion of a Farewell Sermon. Now he was about to leave them, (1.) They would be tempted to leave him, and return to Moſes again, and therefore he tells them how neceſſary it was that they ſhould by Faith adhere to him and abide in him. (2.) They would be tempted to grow ſtrange one to another, and therefore he preſſeth it upon them to love one another, and keep up that Communion when he was gone, which had hitherto been their Comfort. (3.) They would be tempted to ſhrink from their Apoſtleſhip, when they met with Hardſhips, and therefore he prepares them to bear the Shock of the World's ill Will. There are four Words, to which his Diſcourſe in this Chapter may be reduced. (1.) Fruit, v. 1——8. (2.) Love, v. 9——17. (3.) Hatred, v. 18——25. (4.) The Comforter, v. 26. 27.

I Am the true vine, and my Father is the husbandman. 2 Every branch in me that beareth not fruit, he taketh away: and every branch that beareth fruit, he purgeth it that it may bring forth more fruit. 3 Now ye are clean through the Word which I have ſpoken unto you. 4 Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of it ſelf, except it abide in the vine: no more can ye, except ye abide in me. 5 I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the ſame bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing. 6 If a man abide not in me, he is caſt forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them, and caſt them into the fire, and they are burned. 7 If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye ſhall ask what ye will, and it ſhall be done unto you. 8 Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit, ſo ſhall ye be my diſciples.

Here Chriſt diſcourſeth concerning the Fruit, the Fruits of the Spirit, which his Diſciples were to bring forth, under the Similitude of a Vine. Obſerve here, Firſt, The Doctrine of this Similitude; what Notion we ought to have of it.

1. That Jeſus Chriſt is the Vine, the true Vine. 'Tis an Inſtance of the Humanity of Chriſt, that he is pleas'd to ſpeak of himſelf, under low and humble Compariſons. He that is the Sun of Righteouſneſs, and the bright and Morning Star, compares himſelf to a Vine. The Church which is Chriſt myſtical, is a Vine, Pſal. 80. 8. So is Chriſt, who is the Church Seminal; Chriſt and his Church are thus ſet forth.

(1.) He is the Vine, Planted as the Vineyard, and not a ſpontaneous Product planted in the Earth; for he is the Word made Fleſh. The Vine has an unſightly unpromiſing Outſide, and Chriſt had no Form, nor Comlineſs, Iſa. 53. 2. The Vine is a ſpreading Plant, and Chriſt will be known Salvation to the Ends of the Earth. 9. 13. So doth the Fruit of Chriſt's Mediation, 'tis better than Gold, Prov. 8. 19.

(2.) He is the true Vine, as Truth is oppoſed to Preſence and Counterfeit; he is really a fruitful Plant, a Plant of Renown. He is not like that wild Vine, which deceived thoſe who gathered of it, 2 Kings 4. 39. but a true Vine. Unfruitful Trees are ſaid to lye. Heb. 3. 13. but Chriſt is a Vine that will not deceive. Whatever Excellency there is in any Creature ſerviceable to Man, 'tis but a Shadow of that Grace, which is in Chriſt for his Peoples Good. He is that true Vine, tipified by Judah's Wine, which enrich'd him with the Blood of the Grape, Gen. 49. 11. by Joſeph's Vine, the Branches of which run over the Wall, Gen. 49. 22. by Iſrael's Vine, under which he dwelt ſafely, 1 Kings 4. 25.

2. That Believers are Branches of this Vine; which ſuppoſeth that Chriſt is the Root of the Vine. The Root is unſeen, and our Life is hid with Chriſt; the Root bears the Tree, Rome 11. 18. diffuſeth Sap to it, and is all in all to it Flouriſhing and Fruitfulneſs; and in Chriſt is all Supports and Supplies. The Branches of the Vine are many, ſome on the one Side of the Houſe or Wall, others on t'other Side, yet meeting in the Root, are all but one Vine; thus all good Chriſtians, tho' in Place and Opinion, diſtant from each other, yet meet in Chriſt the Centre of their Unity. Believers, like the Branches of the Vine, are weak, and inſufficient to ſtand of themſelves, but as they are born up. See Ezek. 15. 2.

3. That the Father is the Husbandman, Γεωργὸς, the Landworker; tho the Earth is the Lord's, it yields him no Fruit, unleſs he work it. God has not only a Propriety in, but a Care of the Vine and all the Branches. He hath planted and water'd, and gives the Encreaſe; for we are God's Husbandry, 1 Cor. 3. 9. See Iſa. 5. 1, 2. and 27. 2, 3. He had an Eye upon Chriſt the Root, and upheld him; and made him to flouriſh out of a Dry Ground: He has an Eye upon all the Branches, and prunes them, he watches over them, that nothing hurt them. Never was any Husbandman ſo wiſe, ſo watchful about his Vineyard, as God is about his Church, which therefore muſt needs proſper.

Secondly, The Duty taught us by his Similitude, which is to bring forth Furit, and in order to that, to abide in Chriſt.

1. We muſt be fruitful. From a Vine we look for Grapes, Iſa. 5. 2. And from a Chriſtian we look for Chriſtianity, that's the Fruit, a Chriſtian Temper and Diſpoſition, a Chriſtian Life and Converſation, Chriſtian Devotions, and Chriſtian Deſigns. We muſt honour God, and do good, and exemplify the Purity and Power of the Religion we profeſs, and this is bearing Fruit. The Diſciples here muſt be fruitful as Chriſtians, in all Fruits of Righteouſneſs, and as Apoſtles in diffuſing the Savour of that Knowledge. To perſuade them to this, he urgeth.

(1.) The Doom of the Unfaithful, v. 2. They were taken away (1.) It is here intimated that there are many who paſs for Branches in Chriſt, who yet do not bear Fruit. Were they really united to Chriſt by Faith, they would bear Fruit, but being only ty'd to him by the Thread of an outward Profeſſion, tho' they ſeem to be Branches, yet will ſoon be ſeen to be dry ones: unfruitful Profeſſors are unfaithful Profeſſors; Profeſſors, and no more. It might be read, Every Branch that beareth not Fruit in me, and it comes much to one; for they that do not bear Fruit in Chriſt, and in his Spirit and Grace, are as if they bore no Fruit at all, Hoſ. 10 1. (2.) It is here threatened that they ſhall be taken away, in Juſtice to them and in Kindneſs to the reſt of the Branches. From him that has not real Union with Chriſt, and Fruit produc'd thereby, ſhall be taken away, even that which he ſeem'd to have, Luke 8. 18. Some thinks this refers primarily to Judas.

(2.) The Promiſe made to the Fruitful, he purgeth them, that they may bring forth more Fruit. Note, 1. Further Fruitfulneſs is the bleſſed Reward of former Fruitfulneſs. The firſt Bleſſing was, Be Fruitful, and 'tis ſtill a great Bleſſing. 2. Even fruitful Branches, in order to their further Fruitfulneſs, have need of purging, or pruning, καθαίρει, he taketh away that which is ſuperfluous and luxuriant, which hinders its Growth and Fruitfulneſs. The beſt have that in them, which is peccant, aliquid amputandum. Some Notions, Paſſions or Humours, that want to be purg'd away, which Chriſt hath promiſ'd to do by his Word and Spirit, and Providence, and theſe ſhall be taken off by degrees in the proper Seaſon. 3. The purging of Fruitful Branches, in order to their greater Fruitfulneſs, is the Care and Work of the great Husbandman for his own Glory.

(3.) The Benefit which Believers have by the Doctrine of Chriſt, the Power of which they ſhould labour to exemplify in a fruitful Converſation, v. 7. Now ye are clean.

1. Their Society was clean, now Judas was expell'd by that Word of Chriſt, What thou doſt, do quickly, and till they were got clear of him, they were not all clean. The Word of Chriſt is a diſtinguiſhing Word, and ſeparates between the precious and the vile; it will purify the Church of the Firſt born in the great dividing Day.

2. They were each of them clean, i. e. ſanctified by the Truth of Chriſt, John 17. 17. That Faith by which they received the Word of Chriſt, purified their Hearts, Acts 15. 19. The Spirit of Grace by the Word refin'd them from the Droſs of the World and the Fleſh; and purg'd out of them the Leaven of the Scribes and Phariſees, from which, when they ſaw their inveterate Rage and Enmity againſt their Maſter, they were now pretty well cleanſed. Apply it to all Believers. The Word of Chriſt is ſpoken to them; there is a cleanſing Vertue in that Word, as it works Grace, and works out Corruption; it cleanſeth as Fire cleanſeth the Gold from its Droſs, and as Phyſick cleanſeth the Body from its Diſeaſe: And we then evidence that we are cleanſed by the Word, when we bring forth Fruit unto Holineſs. Perhaps here is an alluſion to the Law concerning Vineyards in Canaan, the Fruit of them was as unclean, and uncircumciſed the three firſt Years after it was planted, and the fourth Year 'twas to be Holineſs of Praiſe unto the Lord, and then it was clean, Lev. 19. 23, 24. The Diſciples had now been three Years under Chriſt's Inſtruction, and, now ye are clean.

(4.) The Glory that will redound to God by our Fruitfulneſs, with the Comfort and Honour that will come to our ſelves by it. Ver. 8. If we bear much Fruit.

1. Herein our Father will be glorified. The Fruitfulneſs of the Apoſtles, as ſuch, in the diligent diſcharge of their Office, would be to the Glory of God, in the Converſion of Souls, and the Offering of them up to him, Rom. 15. 9. The Fruitfulneſs of all Chriſtians in a lower and narrower Sphere, is to the Glory of God. By the eminent good Works of Chriſtians, many are brought to glorify our Father which is in Heaven.

2. So ſhall we be Chriſt's Diſciples indeed; approving our ſelves ſo, and making it to appear that we are really what we call our ſelves. So ſhall we both evidence our Diſcipleſhip, and adorn it, and be to our Maſter for a Name and a Praiſe, and a Glory; that is, Diſciples indeed, Jer 13. 11. ſo ſhall we be own'd by our Maſter in the great Day, and have the Reward of Diſciples, a ſhare in the Joy of our Lord. And the more Fruit we bring forth, the more we abound in that which is good, the more he is glorified.

2. In order to our Fruitfulneſs we muſt abide in Chriſt; muſt keep up our Union with him by Faith, and do all we do in Religion in the Virtue of that Union.

Here's, 1. The Duty enjoyn'd. Ver. 4. Abide in me, and I in you. Note, It is the great Concern of all Chriſt's Diſciples conſtantly to keep up a Dependance upon Chriſt, and Communion with him; habitually to adhere to him, and actually to derive from him. Thoſe that are come to Chriſt muſt abide in him, abide in me by Faith, and I in you by my Spirit. Abide in me, and then fear not but I will abide in you, for the Communion between Chriſt and Believers never fails on this Side. We muſt abide in Chriſt's Word, by a Regard to it, and it in us as a Light to our Feet. We muſt abide in Chriſt's Merit as our Righteouſneſs and Plea, and it in us as our Support and Comfort. The Knot of the Branch abides in the Vine, and the Sap of the Vine abides in the Branch, and ſo there is a conſtant Communication between them.

2. The Neceſſity of our abiding in Chriſt in order to our Fruitfulneſs. Ver. 4, 5. Ye cannot bring forth Fruit except ye abide in me, but if he do, ye bring forth much Fruit; for in ſhort, without me, or ſeparate from me, ye can do nothing. So neceſſary is it to our Comfort and Happineſs that we be fruitful, that the beſt Argument to engage us to abide in Chriſt, is, that otherwiſe we cannot be fruitful.

(1.) Abiding in Chriſt is in order to our doing much good. He that is conſtant in the Exerciſe of Faith in Chriſt, and Love to him, that lives upon his Promiſes, and is led by his Spirit, he bringeth forth much Fruit; he is very ſerviceable to God's Glory, and his own Account in the great Day. Note, Union with Chriſt is a noble Principle, productive of all Good. A Life of Faith in the Son of God is incomparably the moſt excellent Life a Man can live in this World; 'tis regular and even, pure and heavenly, 'tis uſeful and comfortable, and all that anſwers the end of Life.

(2.) 'Tis neceſſary to our doing any Good. 'Tis not only a means of cultivating and increaſing what good there is already in us, but it is the Root and Spring of all Good. Without me ye can do nothing, not only no great Thing, heal the Sick, or raiſe the Dead, but nothing. Note, We have as neceſſary, and conſtant a Dependance upon the Grace of the Mediator for all the ſpiritual and divine Life, as we have upon the Providence of the Creator for all the Actions of the natural Life; for as to both, 'tis in the Divine Power that we Live, and Move, and have our Being. Abſtract from the Merit of Chriſt we can do nothing towards our Juſtification, and from the Spirit of Chriſt nothing towards our Sanctification. Without Chriſt we can do nothing aright, nothing that will be Fruit pleaſing to God, or profitable to our ſelves, 2 Cor. 3. 5. We depend upon Chriſt, not only as the Vine upon the Wall for Support, but as the Branch on the Root for Sap.

3. The fatal Conſequences of forſaking Chriſt. Ver. 6. If any Man abide not in me, he is caſt forth as a Branch. This is a Deſcription of the fearful State of Hypocrites, that are not in Chriſt, and of Apoſtates that abide not in Chriſt.

1. They are caſt forth as dry and wither'd Branches, which are pluck'd off becauſe they cumber the Tree. 'Tis juſt they ſhould have no Benefit by Chriſt, who think they have no need of him, and that they who reject him ſhould be rejected by him; thoſe that abide not in Chriſt ſhall be abandon'd by him: They are left to themſelves to fall into a ſcandalous Sin, and then are juſtly caſt out of the Communion of the Faithful.

2. They are wither'd as a Branch broken off from the Tree. They that abide not in Chriſt, tho' they may flouriſh a while in a plauſible, at leaſt a paſſable Profeſſion, yet in a little Time they wither and come to nothing. Their Parts and Gifts wither, their Zeal and Devotion wither, their Credit and Reputation wither, their Hopes and Comforts wither, Job 8. 11, 12, 13. Note, They that bear no Fruit, after a while will bear no Leaves. How ſoon is that Fig-tree withered away which Chriſt has curſed.

3. Men gather them. Satan's Agents and Emiſſaries pick them up, and make an eaſy Prey of them. They that fall off from Chriſt, preſently fall in with Sinners; and the Sheep that wander from Chriſt's Fold, the Devil ſtands ready to ſeize them for himſelf, When the Spirit of the Lord was departed from Saul, an evil Spirit poſſeſſed him.

4. They caſt them into the Fire, i. e. they are caſt into the Fire; and they who ſeduce them, and draw them to Sin, do in effect caſt them there, for they make them Children of Hell. Fire is the fitteſt Place for wither'd Branches, for they are good for nothing elſe, Ezek. 15. 2.

5. They are burn'd, that follows of courſe; but it is here added very emphatically, and makes the threatning very terrible; they will not be conſum'd in a Moment like Thorns under a Pot, Eccl. 7. 6. but καίεται, they are burning for ever in a Fire which not only cannot be quench'd, but will never ſpend it ſelf. This comes of quitting Chriſt, this the end of the barren Trees. Apoſtates are twice dead, Jude 12. and when it is ſaid they are caſt into the Fire and are burn'd, it ſpeaks as if they were twice damn'd. Some apply Men's gathering them to the Miniſtry of the Angels in the great Day, when they ſhall gather out of Chriſt's Kingdom all Things that offend, and ſhall bundle the Tares for the Fire.

4. The bleſſed Privilege which they have that abide in Chriſt; Ver 7. If my Words abide in you, ye ſhall ask what ye will of my Father in my Name, and it ſhall be done.

See here, 1. How our Union with Chriſt is maintain'd, by the Word. If ye abide in me: He had ſaid before, and I in you; here he explains himſelf, and my Words abide in you, for it is in the Word, that Chriſt is ſet up before us, and offer'd to us, Rom. 10 6, 7, 8. 'tis in the Word that we receive and embrace him; and ſo where the Word of Chriſt dwells richly, there Chriſt dwells. If the Word be our conſtant Guide and Monitor, if it be in us as at home, then we abide in Chriſt, and he in us.

2. How our Communion with Chriſt is maintain'd, by Prayer; ye ſhall ask what ye will, and it ſhall be done unto you. And what can we deſire more, than to have what we will for the as king? Note, They that abide in Chriſt as their Hearts Delight, ſhall have through Chriſt their Hearts Deſire. If we have Chriſt, we ſhall want nothing that is good for us. Two Things are imply'd in this Promiſe. (1.) That if we abide in Chriſt, and his Word in us, we will not ask any Thing but what is proper to be done for us. The Promiſe abiding in us lye ready to be turn'd into Prayers, and the Prayers ſo regulated cannot but ſpeed. (2.) That if we abide in Chriſt and his Word, we ſhall have ſuch an Intereſt in God's Favour, and Chriſt's Mediation, that we ſhall have an Anſwer of Peace to all our Prayers.

9 As the Father hath loved me, ſo have I loved you: continue ye in my love. 10 If ye keep my commandments, ye ſhall abide in my love: even as I have kept my Fathers commandments, and abide in his love. 11 Theſe things have I ſpoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full. 12 This is my commandment, that ye love one another, as I have loved you. 13 Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. 14 Ye are my friends, if ye do whatſoever I command you. 15 Henceforth I call you not ſervants; for the ſervant knoweth not what his lord doth: but I have called you friends; for all things that I have heard of my Father, I have made known unto you. 16 Ye have not choſen me, but I have choſen you, and ordained you, that you ſhould go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit ſhould remain: that whatſoever ye ſhall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you. 17 Theſe things I command you, that ye love one another.

Chriſt who is Love it ſelf, is here diſcourſing concerning Love; a fourfold Love.

Firſt, Concerning the Father's Love to him. And concerning this he here tells us,

1. That the Father did love him, v. 9. As the Father hath loved me. He loved him as Mediator; This is my beloved Son. He was the Son of his Love. He loved him, and gave all Things into his Hand, and yet ſo loved the World as to deliver him up for us all. When Chriſt was entering upon his Sufferings, he comforted himſelf with this, that his Father loved him. Thoſe whom God loves as a Father, may deſpiſe the Hatred of all the World.

2. That he abode in his Father's Love, v. 11. He continually lov'd his Father, and was beloved of him. Even then, when he was made Sin, and a Curſe for us, and it pleaſed the Lord to bruiſe him yet he abode in his Father's Love, ſee Pſal. 89. 33. Becauſe he continu'd to love his Father, he went chearfully thro' his Sufferings, and therefore his Father continu'd to love him.

3. That therefore he abode in his Father's Love, becauſe he kept his Father's Law. I have kept my Father's Commandments as Mediator, and ſo abide in his Love. Hereby he ſhew'd that he continu'd to love his Father, that he went on, and went through with his Undertaking, and therefore the Father continu'd to love him. His Soul delighted in him, becauſe he did not fail, nor was diſcouraged, Iſa. 42. 1, 4. We having broken the Law of Creation, and thereby thrown our ſelves out of the Love of God, Chriſt ſatisfy'd for us by obeying the Law of Redemption, and ſo he abode in his Love, and reſtor'd us to it.

Secondly, Concerning his own Love to his Diſciples. Tho' he leaves them he loves them; and obſerve here,

1. The Pattern of this Love. As the Father has loved me, ſo have I loved you. A ſtrange Expreſſion of the condeſcending Grace of Chriſt; as the Father lov'd him, who was moſt worthy, he lov'd them who were moſt unworthy. The Father lov'd him as his Son, and he loves them as his Children. The Father gave all things into his Hand: ſo with himſelf he freely giveth us all Things. The Father loved him as Mediator, as Head of the Church, and the great Truſtee of Divine Grace and Favour, which he had not for himſelf only, but for the Benefit of thoſe for whom he was intruſted; and (ſaith he) I have been a faithful Truſtee. As the Father has committed his Love to me, ſo I tranſmit it to you. Therefore the Father was well pleas'd with him, that he might be well pleas'd with us in him; and loved him, that in him as beloved, he might make us accepted, Eph. 1. 6.

2. The Proofs and Products of this Love; which are Four.

1. Chriſt lov'd his Diſciples, for he laid down his Life for them, v. 13. Greater Proof of Love hath no Man to ſhew than this, to lay down his Life for his Friend. And this is the Love wherewith Chriſt hath loved us, he is our Ἀντίψυχος, Bail for us, Body for Body, Life for Life, tho' he knew our Inſolvency, and foreſaw how dear the Engagement would coſt him. Obſerve here,

(1.) The Extent of the Love of the Children of Men to one another; the higheſt Proof of it, is, laying down one's Life for a Friend to ſave his Life; and perhaps there have been ſome ſuch Heroick Atchievements of Love, more than plucking out one's own Eyes, Gal. 4. 15. If all that a Man has he will give for his Life, he that gives that for his Friend gives all, and can give no more; this may ſometimes be our Duty, 1 John 3. 16. Paul was ambitious of the Honour, Phil. 2. 17. and for a good Man, ſome will even dare to die, Rom. 5. 7, 'Tis Love in the higheſt Degree, which is ſtrong as Death.

(2.) The Excellency of the Love of Chriſt beyond all other Love; he has not only equall'd, but exceeded the moſt illuſtrious Lovers. Others have laid down their Lives, content they ſhould be taken from them, but Chriſt gave up his; was not merely paſſive, but made it his own Act and Deed. The Life which others have laid down, has been but of equal Value with the Life for which it was laid down, and perhaps leſs valuable; but Chriſt is infinitely more worth, than ten thouſand of us. Others have thus laid down their Lives for their Friends, but Chriſt laid down his for us when we were Enemies, Rom. 5. 8. Pluſquam ferrea aut lapideo corda eſſe oportet, quæ non emolliet tam incomparabilis Divini Amoris ſuavitas. Calvin.

2. Chriſt lov'd his Diſciples, for he took them into a Covenant of Friendſhip with himſelf, v. 14, 15. If ye approve your ſelves by your Obedience my Diſciples indeed, ye are my Friends, and ſhall be treated as Friends. Note, The Followers of Chriſt are the Friends of Chriſt, and he is graciouſly pleas'd to call and count them ſo. They that do the Duty of his Servants, are admitted and advanc'd to the Dignity of his Friends; David had one Servant in his Court, and Solomon one in his, that was in a particular manner the King's Friend, 2 Sam. 15. 37. 1 Kings 4. 5. But this Honour have all Chriſt's Servants. We may in ſome particular Inſtances befriend a Stranger, but we eſpouſe all the Intereſts of a Friend, and concern our ſelves in all his Cares; thus Chriſt takes Believers to be his Friends, he viſits them, and converſeth with them as his Friends, bears with them, and makes the beſt of them, is afflicted in their Afflictions, and takes Pleaſure in their Proſperity. He pleads for them in Heaven, and takes Care of all their Intereſts there. Have Friends but one Soul? he that is join'd to the Lord is one Spirit, 1 Cor. 6. 17. Tho' they often ſhew themſelves unfriendly, he is a Friend that loves at all times.

Obſerve how endearingly this is expreſs'd here, (1.) He will not call them Servants, tho' they call'd him Maſter, and Lord. They that would be like Chriſt in Humility, muſt not take a Pride in inſiſting upon all Occaſions on their Authority, and Superiority, but remember that their Servants are their Fellow-Servants. But, (2.) He will call them his Friends; he will not only love them, but will let them know it, for in his Tongue is the Law of Kindneſs. After his Reſurrection, he ſeems to ſpeak with more affectionate Tenderneſs of, and to, his Diſciples than before; Go to my Brethren, John 20. 17. Children have ye any Meat? John 21. 5. But obſerve, tho' Chriſt call'd them his Friends, they call'd themſelves his Servants; Peter a Servant of Chriſt, 2 Peter 1. 1. and ſo James, chap. 1. 1. The more Honour Chriſt puts upon us, the more Honour we ſhould ſtudy to do him; tho' higher in his Eyes, the lower in our own.

3. Chriſt loved his Diſciples, for he was very free in communicating his Mind to them, v. 15. Henceforth, you ſhall not be kept ſo much in the dark as you have been, like Servants, that are only told their preſent Work, but when the Spirit is pour'd out, you ſhall know your Maſter's Deſigns, as Friends. All Things that I have heard of my Father, I have declared unto you. As to the ſecret Will of God, there are many things which we muſt be content not to know; but as to the reveal'd Will of God, Jeſus Chriſt has faithfully handed to us what he receiv'd of the Father, John 1. 18. Mat. 11. 27. The great Things relating to Man's Redemption, Chriſt declared to his Diſciples, that they might declare them to others; they were the Men of his Counſel, Mat. 13. 11.

4. Chriſt loved his Diſciples, for he choſe and ordained them to be the prime Inſtruments of his Glory and Honour in the World, v. 16. I have choſen you, and ordain'd you. His Love to them appear'd,

1. In their Election; their Election to the Apoſtleſhip, John 6. 70. I have choſen you twelve. It did not begin on their ſide, ye have not choſen me, but I firſt choſe you. Why were they admitted to ſuch Intimacy with him, employ'd in ſuch an Embaſſy for him, and endued with ſuch Power from on high? 'Twas not owing to their Wiſdom and Goodneſs in chuſing him for their Maſter, but to his Favour and Grace in chuſing them for his Diſciples. 'Tis fit Chriſt ſhould have the chuſing of his own Miniſters, ſtill he doth it by his Providence and Spirit. Tho' Miniſters make that holy Calling their own Choice, Chriſt's Choice is prior to theirs, and directs and determines it. Of all that are choſen to Grace and Glory, it may be ſaid, they have not choſen Chriſt, but he has choſen them, Deut. 7. 7, 8.

2. In their Ordination. I have ordained you, ἔθηκα ὑμᾶς, I have put you into the Miniſtry, 1 Tim. 1. 12. put you into Commiſſion. By this it appear'd he took them for his Friends, that he crown'd their Heads with ſuch an Honour, and fill'd their Hands with ſuch a Truſt. 'Twas a mighty Confidence he repos'd in them, when he made them his Embaſſadors to negotiate the Affairs of his Kingdom in this lower World, and the prime Miniſters of State in the Adminiſtration of it.

The Treaſure of the Goſpel was committed to them.

(1.) That it might be propagated; that you ſhould go, ἵνα ὑμεῖς πάγητε, that you ſhould go as under a Yoke or Burthen, for the Miniſtry is a Work, and you that go about it, muſt reſolve to undergo a great deal. That you may go from Place to Place all the World over, and bring forth Fruit. They were ordain'd not to ſit ſtill, but to go about, to be diligent in their Work, and to ſtay out themſelves unweariedly in doing good. They were ordain'd not to beat the Air, but to be inſtrumental in God's Hand, for the bringing of the Nations into Obedience to Chriſt, Rom. 1. 13. Note, Thoſe whom Chriſt ordains, ſhould, and ſhall be fruitful; ſhould labour, and ſhall not labour in vain.

(2.) That it might be perpetuated; that the Fruit ſhould remain, i. e. that the good Effect of the Labours may continue in the World from Generation to Generation, to the End of Time. The Church of Chriſt was not to be a ſhort liv'd thing, as many of the Sects of the Philoſophers, that were a nine Days Wonder; it did not come up in a Night, nor ſhould it periſh in a Night, but be as the Days of Heaven. The Sermons and Writings of the Apoſtles are tranſmitted down to us, and we at this Day are built upon that Foundation, ever ſince the Chriſtian Church was firſt founded by the Miniſtry of the Apoſtles and ſeventy Diſciples, as one Generation of Miniſters and Chriſtians have paſs'd away, ſtill another has come. By Vertue of that great Charter, Mat. 28. 19. Chriſt has a Church in the World; which as our Lawyers ſay of Bodies corporate, doth not die, but lives in a Succeſſion, and thus their Fruit remains to this Day, and ſhall do while the Earth remains.

Laſtly, His love to them appear'd in the Intereſt they had at the Throne of Grace; Whatſoever ye ſhall ask of the Father in my Name, he will give it you. Probably this refers in the firſt Place to the Power of working Miracles, which the Apoſtles were cloth'd with, which was to be drawn out by Prayer. Whatever Gifts are neceſſary to the Furtherance of your Labours, whatever Help from Heaven you have Occaſion for at any time, 'tis but ask and have. Three Things are here hinted to us for our Encouragement in Prayer, and very encouraging they are. (1.) That we have a God to go to, who is a Father; Chriſt here calls him the Father, both mine and yours; and the Spirit in the Word and in the Heart teacheth us to cry, Abba Father. (2.) That we come in a good Name. Whatever Errand we come upon to the Throne of Grace, according to God's Will, we may with a humble Boldneſs mention Chriſt's Name in it, and plead that we are related to him, and he is concern'd for us. (3.) That an Anſwer of Peace is promis'd us. What you come for ſhall be given you. This great Promiſe made to that great Duty, keeps up a comfortable and gainful Intercourſe between Heaven and Earth.

Thirdly, Concerning the Diſciples Love to Chriſt enjoyn'd, in Conſideration of the great Love wherewith he had loved them, Three Things he exhorts them to.

1. To continue in his Love, v. 9. continue in your Love to me, and in mine to you. Both may be taken in. We muſt place our Happineſs in the Continuance of Chriſt's Love to us, and make it our Buſineſs to give continued Proofs of our Love to Chriſt, that nothing may tempt us to withdraw from him, or provoke him to withdraw from us. Note, All that love Chriſt ſhould continue in their Love to him; that is, be always loving him, and taking all Occaſions to ſhew it; and love him to the End. The Diſciples were to go out upon Service for Chriſt, in which they would meet with many Troubles; but ſaith Chriſt, Continue in my Love. Keep up your Love to me, and then all the Troubles you meet with will be eaſy: Love made ſeven Years hard Service eaſy to Jacob. Let not the Troubles you meet with for Chriſt's Sake, quench your Love to Chriſt, but quicken it rather.

2. To let his Joy remain in them, and fill them, v. 11. This he deſign'd in thoſe Precepts and Promiſes given them,

(1.) That his Joy might remain in them. The Words are ſo plac'd in the Original, as that they may be read, either,

1. That my Joy in you may remain. If they bring forth much Fruit, and continue in his Love, he will continue to rejoyce in them, as he had done. Note, fruitful and faithful Diſciples are the Joy of the Lord Jeſus; he reſts in his Love to them, Zeph. 3. 17. As there is a Tranſport of Joy in Heaven in the Converſion of Sinners, ſo there is a remaining Joy in the Perſeverance of Saints.

2. Or, that my Joy, i. e. your Joy in me may remain. It is the Will of Chriſt that his Diſciples ſhould conſtantly and continually rejoyce in him, Phil. 4. 4. The Joy of the Hypocrite is but for a Moment, but the Joy of thoſe who abide in Chriſt's Love is a continual Feaſt. The Word of the Lord enduring for ever, the Joys that flow from it, and are founded on it, do ſo too.

(2.) That their Joy might be full. Not only that you might be full of Joy, but that your Joy in me and in my Love may riſe higher and higher, till it come to Perfection, when you enter into the Joy of your Lord. Note, 1. They, and they only, that have Chriſt's Joy remaining in them, have their Joy full; worldly Joys are empty, ſoon ſurfeit, but never ſatisfy, 'tis only Wiſdom's Joy that will fill the Soul, Pſal. 36. 8. 2. The Deſign of Chriſt in his Word is to fill the Joy of his People; ſee 1 John 1. 4. This and t'other he hath ſaid that our Joy might be fuller and fuller, and perfect at laſt.

3. To evidence their Love to him, by keeping his Commandments, v. 10. If ye keep my Commandments, ye ſhall abide in my Love. That will be an Evidence of the Fidelity and Conſtancy of your Love to me, and then you may be ſure of the Continuance of my Love to you. Obſerve here, (1.) The Promiſe, ye ſhall abide in my Love, as in a dwelling Place at home in Chriſt's Love; as in a reſting Place, at Eaſe in Chriſt's Love; as in a ſtrong Hold, ſafe in it: you ſhall abide in my Love, i. e. you ſhall have Grace and Strength to perſevere in loving me. If the ſame Hand that firſt ſhed abroad the Love of Chriſt in our Hearts did not keep us in that Love, we ſhould not long abide in it, but through the Love of the World ſhould go out of Love with Chriſt himſelf. (2.) The Condition of the Promiſe; If ye keep my Commandments; the Diſciples were to keep Chriſt's Commandments; not only by a conſtant Conformity to them themſelves, but by a faithful Delivery of them to others; they were to keep them as Truſtees, in whoſe Hands that great Depoſitum was lodg'd, for they were to teach all things that Chriſt had commanded, Mat. 28. 20. This Commandment they muſt keep without Spot, 1 Tim. 6. 14. and thus they muſt ſhew that they abide in his Love.

To induce them to keep his Commandments, he urgeth,

(1.) His own Example; As I have kept my Father's Commandments, and abide in his Love. Chriſt ſubmitted to the Law of Mediation, and ſo preſerv'd the Honour and Comfort of it, to teach us to ſubmit to the Laws of the Mediator, for we cannot otherwiſe preſerve the Honour and Comfort of our Relation to him.

(2.) The Neceſſity of it to their Intereſt in him, v. 14. Ye are my Friends, if you do whatſoever I command you, and not otherwiſe. Note, 1. Theſe only will be accounted Chriſt's faithful Friends, that approve themſelves his obedient Servants, for they that will not have him to reign over them, ſhall be treated as his Enemies; Idem velle & idem nolle ea demum vera eſt amicitia. Saluſt. 2. It is univerſal Obedience to Chriſt, that is the only acceptable Obedience; to obey him in every thing that he commands us, not excepting, much leſs excepting againſt any Command.

Fourthly, Concerning the Diſciples Love one to another, enjoin'd as an Evidence of their Love to Chriſt, and a grateful Return for his Love to them. We muſt keep his Commandments, and this is his Commandment, that we love one another, v. 12. and again, v. 17. No one Duty of Religion is more frequently inculcated, or more pathetically urg'd upon us by our Lord Jeſus, than that of mutual Love, and for good Reaſon.

1. It is here recommended by Chriſt's Pattern, v. 12. As I have loved you. Chriſt's Love to us ſhould direct and engage our Love to each other; in that Manner, and from that Motive, we ſhould love one another, as and becauſe Chriſt has loved us. He here inſtances in ſome of the Expreſſions of his Love to them, he call'd them Friends, communicated his Mind to them, was ready to give them what they ask'd, Go ye and do likewiſe.

2. It is requir'd by his Precept. He interpoſeth his Authority, has made it one of the Statute Laws of his Kingdom. Obſerve how differently 'tis expreſs'd in theſe two Verſes, and both very emphatical.

1. This is my Commandment, v. 12. as if this were the moſt neceſſary of all the Commandments. As under the Law the Prohibition of Idolatry was the Commandment more inſiſted on than any other, foreſeeing the People's Addictedneſs to that Sin, ſo Chriſt foreſeeing the Addictedneſs of the Chriſtian Church to Uncharitableneſs, has laid moſt Streſs upon this Precept.

2. Theſe Things I command you, v. 17. He ſpeaks as if he were about to give them many things in Charge, and yet names this only, that ye love one another; not only becauſe this includes many Duties, but becauſe it will have a good Influence upon all.

18 If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before it hated you. 19 If ye were of the world, the world would love his own: but becauſe ye are not of the world, but I have choſen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you. 20 Remember the word that I ſaid unto you, The ſervant is not greater than the lord. If they have perſecuted me, they will alſo perſecute you: if they have kept my ſaying, they will keep yours alſo. 21 But all theſe things will they do unto you for my names ſake, becauſe they know not him that ſent me. 22 If I had not come, and ſpoken unto them, they had not had ſin: but now they have no cloke for their ſin. 23 He that hateth me, hateth my Father alſo. 24 If I had not done among them the works which none other man did, they had not had ſin: but now they have both ſeen, and hated both me and my Father. 25 But this cometh to paſs, that the word might be fulfilled that is written in their law, they hated me without a cauſe.

Here Chriſt diſcourſeth concerning Hatred, which is the Character and Genius of the Devil's Kingdom, as Love is of the Kingdom of Chriſt. Obſerve here,

1. Who they are in whom this Hatred is found, in the World; the Children of this World, as diſtinguiſh'd from the Children of God; that are in the Intereſts of the God of this World, whoſe Image they bear, and whoſe Power they are ſubject to. All thoſe, whether Jews or Gentiles, that would not come into the Church of Chriſt, which he audibly call'd, and viſibly ſeparates from this evil World. The Calling of theſe the World ſpeaks (1.) Their Number, there were a World of People that oppos'd Chriſt and Chriſtianity, Lord, how were they increaſed that troubled the Son of David? I fear if we ſhould put it to the Vote, between Chriſt and Satan, Satan would out-poll us quite. (2.) It ſpeaks their Confederacy and Combination; theſe numerous Hoſts are embody'd, and are as one, Pſal. 83. 7. Jews and Gentiles that could agree in nothing elſe, agreed to perſecute Chriſt's Miniſters. (3.) It ſpeaks their Spirit and Diſpoſition; they are Men of the World, Pſal. 17. 13, 14. wholly devoted to this World, and the Things of it, and never thinking of another World. The People of God, tho' they are taught to hate the Sins of Sinners, yet not their Perſons, but to love and do good to all Men. A malicious, ſpiteful, envious Spirit, is not the Spirit of Chriſt, but of the World.

2. Who they are againſt whom this Hatred is levell'd; againſt the Diſciples of Chriſt, againſt Chriſt himſelf, and againſt the Father.

Firſt, The World hates the Diſciples of Chriſt. The World hateth you, v. 19. and he ſpeaks of it as that which they muſt expect and count upon, v. 18. as 1 John 3. 13. Obſerve how this comes in here, (1.) Chriſt had expreſs'd the great Kindneſs he had for them as Friends, but leſt they ſhould be puffed up with this, there was given them as there was to Paul, a Thorn in the Fleſh, that is, as 'tis explain'd there, Reproaches and Perſecutions for Chriſt's Sake, 2 Cor. 12. 7. 10. (2.) He had appointed them their Work, but tells them what Hardſhips they ſhould meet with in it, that it might not be a Surprize to them, and that they might prepare accordingly. (3.) He had charg'd them to love one another, and need enough they had to love one another, for the World would hate them; to be kind to one another, for they would have a great deal of Unkindneſs and ill Will from thoſe that were without. Keep Peace among your ſelves, and that will fortify you againſt the World's Quarrels with you. They that are in the midſt of Enemies, are concern'd to hold together. See,

1. The World's Enmity againſt the Followers of Chriſt; it hateth them. Note, Whom Chriſt bleſſeth, the World curſeth. The Favourites and Heirs of Heaven have never been the Darlings of this World, ſince the old Enmity was put between the Seed of the Woman and of the Serpent. Why did Cain hate Abel, but becauſe his Works were righteous? Eſau hated Jacob, becauſe of the Bleſſing; Joſeph's Brethren hated him, becauſe his Father lov'd him; Saul hated David, becauſe the Lord was with him. Ahab hated Micajah, becauſe of his Propheſies; ſuch are the cauſeleſs Cauſes of the World's Hatred.

2. The Fruits of that Enmity. Two of which we have here, v. 20. (1.) They will perſecute you, becauſe they hate you, for Hatred is a reſtleſs Paſſion. It is the common Lot of thoſe who will live godly in Chriſt Jeſus, to ſuffer Perſecution, 2 Tim. 3. 12. Chriſt foreſaw what ill Uſage his Embaſſadors would meet with in the World, and yet for the Sake of thoſe few, that, by their Miniſtry, were to be call'd out of the World, he ſent them forth as Sheep in the midſt of Wolves. (2.) Another Fruit of their Enmity is implied, that they would reject their Doctrine, when Chriſt ſaith, If they have kept my Saying, they will keep yours, he means they will keep yours, and regard yours no more than they have regarded and kept mine. Note, The Preachers of the Goſpel cannot but take the deſpiſing of their Meſſage to be the greateſt Injury that can be done to themſelves; as it was a great Affront to Jeremiah, to ſay, Let us not give heed to any of his Words, Jer. 18. 18.

3. The Cauſes of that Enmity. The World will hate them,

1. Becauſe they do not belong to it, v. 19. If you were of the World, of its Spirit, and in its Intereſts, if you were carnal and worldly, the World would love you as its own; but becauſe you are called out of the World, it hates you, and ever will. Note, (1.) We are not to wonder if thoſe that are devoted to the World are careſs'd by it, as its Friends; moſt Men bleſs the covetous. Pſal. 10. 3. and 42. 18. (2.) Nor are we to wonder, if thoſe that are deliver'd from the World are maligned by it as its Enemies; when Iſrael is reſcued out of Egypt, the Egyptians will purſue them. Obſerve, The Reaſon why Chriſt's Diſciples are not of the World, is not becauſe they have by their own Wiſdom and Virtue diſtinguiſh'd themſelves from the World, but becauſe Chriſt hath choſen them out of it to ſet them apart for himſelf; and this is the Reaſon why the World hates them; for, 1. The Glory, which by Vertue of this Choice they are deſign'd for, ſets them above the World, and ſo makes them the Objects of its Envy. The Saints ſhall judge the World, and the Upright have Dominion, and therefore they are hated. 2. The Grace, which by Vertue of this Choice they are endued with, ſets them againſt the World; they ſwim againſt the Stream of the World, and are not conformed to it; they witneſs againſt it, and are not conformed to it. This would ſupport them under all the Calamities, which the World's Hatred would bring upon them, that therefore they were hated, becauſe they were the Choice and choſen Ones of the Lord Jeſus, and were not of the World. Now, (1.) This was no juſt Cauſe for the World's Hatred of them; if we do any thing to make our ſelves hateful, we have Reaſon to lament it, but if Men hate us for that for which they ſhould love and value us, we have Reaſon to pity them, but no Reaſon to perplex our ſelves. Nay, (2.) This was juſt Cauſe for their own Joy. He that is hated becauſe he is rich and proſpers, cares not who has the Vexation of it, while he has the Satisfaction of it; Populus me ſibilat, at mihi plaudo ipſe domi Timon in Hor. Much more may they hug themſelves whom the World hates, but Chriſt loves.

1. Another Cauſe of the World's hating you will be, becauſe they do belong to Chriſt, v. 21. for my Name's ſake. Here's the Core of the Controverſy; whatever is pretended, this is the Ground of the Quarrel, they hate Chriſt's Diſciples, becauſe they bear his Name, and bear up his Name in the World. Note, 1. It is the Character of Chriſt's Diſciples, that they ſtand for his Name. The Name into which they were baptiz'd, is that which they will live and die by. 2. It has commonly been the Lot of thoſe that appear for Chriſt's Name to ſuffer for ſo doing; to ſuffer many things, and hard things, all theſe things. It is Matter of Comfort to the greateſt Sufferers, if they ſuffer for Chriſt's Name ſake. If ye be reproach'd for the Name of Chriſt, happy are ye, 1 Pet. 4. 14. happy indeed, conſidering not only the Honour that is imprinted upon thoſe Sufferings, Acts 4. 41. but the Comfort that is infus'd into them; and eſpecially the Crown of Glory which thoſe Sufferings lead to. If we ſuffer with Chriſt, and for Chriſt, we ſhall reign with him.

3. After all 'tis the World's Ignorance that is the true Cauſe of its Enmity to the Diſciples of Chriſt, v. 19. Becauſe they know not him that ſent me. (1.) They know not God. If Men had but a due Acquaintance with the very firſt Principles of Natural Religion, and did but know God, tho' they would not embrace Chriſtianity, yet they could not hate and perſecute it. Thoſe have no Knowledge who eat up God's People, Pſal. 14. 4. (2.) They know not God, as he that ſent our Lord Jeſus, and authoriz'd him to be the great Mediator of the Peace. We do not rightly know God, if we do not know him in Chriſt; and they who perſecute thoſe whom he ſends, make it to appear they know not that he was ſent of God. See 1 Cor. 2. 8.

Secondly, The World hates Chriſt himſelf. And this is ſpoken of here for two Ends.

1. To mitigate the Trouble of his Followers ariſing from the World's Hatred, and to make it leſs ſtrange, and the leſs grievous, v. 18. Ye know that it hated me before you, πρῶτον ὑμῶν. We read is as ſignifying Priority of Time; he begun in the bitter Cup of Suffering, and then left us to pledge him; but it may be read as ſpeaking his Superiority over them; ye know that it hated me your Firſt, i. e. your Chief and Captain, your Leader and Commander. 1. If Chriſt, who excell'd in Goodneſs, and was perfectly innocent, and univerſally benificent, was hated, can we expect that any Vertue or Merit of ours ſhould ſcreen us from Malice? 2. If our Maſter, the Founder of our Religion, met with ſo much Oppoſition in the planting of it, his Servants and Followers can look for no other in propagating and profeſſing it.

For this he refers them, v. 20. to his own Words, at their Admiſſion into Diſcipleſhip, Remember the Word that I ſaid unto you. It would help us to underſtand Chriſt's later Sayings, to compare them with his former Sayings. Nor would any thing contribute more to the making of us eaſy, than remembring the Words of Chriſt, which will expound his Providence, Now in this Word there is,

1. A plain Truth; The Servant is no greater than the Lord. This he had ſaid to them, Mat. 10. 24. Chriſt is our Lord, and therefore we muſt diligently attend all his Motions, and patiently acquieſce in all his Diſpoſals, for the Servant is inferior to his Lord. The plaineſt Truths are ſometimes the ſtrongeſt Arguments for the hardeſt Duties; Elihu anſwers a Multitude of Job's Murmurings, with this one ſelf-evident Truth, That God is greater than Man, Job 33. 12. So here,

2. A proper Inference drawn from it, If they have perſecuted me, as you have ſeen, and are likely to ſee much more, they will alſo perſecute you; you may expect it, and count upon it, for, (1.) You will do the ſame that I have done to provoke them, you will reprove them for their Sins, and call them to Repentance, and give them ſtrict Rules of holy Living, which they will not bear. (2.) You cannot do more than I have done to oblige them; after ſo great an Inſtance, let none wonder if they ſuffer ill, for doing well. He adds, If they have kept my Saying, they will keep yours alſo; as there have been a few, and but a few, that have been wrought upon by my preaching, ſo there will be by yours a few, and but a few. Some give another Senſe of this, making ἐτήρησαν, to be put for παρετήρησαν; if they have lain in wait for my Sayings, with a Deſign to enſnare me, they will in like manner lie in wait to entangle you in your Talk.

2. It ſerves to aggravate the Wickedneſs of this unbelieving World, and to diſcover its exceeding Sinfulneſs; to hate and perſecute the Apoſtles was bad enough, but in them to hate and perſecute Chriſt himſelf, was much worſe. The World is generally in an ill Name in Scripture, and nothing can put it into a worſe Name than this, that it hated Jeſus Chriſt. There is a World of People that are Haters of Chriſt.

Two Things he inſiſts upon to aggravate the Wickedneſs of thoſe that hated him.

1. That there was the greateſt Reaſon imaginable why they ſhould love him; Mens good Word and good Works uſe to recommend them: Now as to Chriſt,

(1.) His Words were ſuch as merited their Love, v. 22. If I had not ſpoken unto them, to court their Love, they had not had Sin, their Oppoſition had not amounted to a Hatred of me; their Sin had been comparatively no Sin. But now I have ſaid ſo much to them to recommend my ſelf to their beſt Affection, they have no Pretence, no Excuſe for their Sin. Obſerve here,

1. The Advantage which they have that enjoy the Goſpel; Chriſt in it comes, and ſpeaks to them; he ſpoke in Perſon to the Men of that Generation, and is ſtill ſpeaking to us by our Bibles and Miniſters, and as one that has the moſt unqueſtionable Authority over us, and Affection for us. Every Word of his is pure, carries with it a commanding Majeſty, and yet a condeſcending Tenderneſs, able, one would think, to charm the deafeſt Adder.

2. The Excuſe which they have that enjoy not the Goſpel; If I had not ſpoken to them, if they had never heard of Chriſt and Salvation by him, they had not had Sin. (1.) Not this kind of Sin. They had not been chargeable with a Contempt of Chriſt, if he had not come and made a tender of his Grace to them. As Sin is not imputed where there is no Law, ſo Unbelief is not imputed where there is no Goſpel; and where it is imputed, it is thus far the only damning Sin, that being a Sin againſt the Remedy, other Sins would not damn, if the Guilt of them were not bound on with this. (2.) Not ſuch a Degree of Sin. If they had not had the Goſpel among them, their other Sins had not been ſo bad; for the Times of Ignorance God winked at, Luke 12. 47, 48.

3. The aggravated Guilt which they lie under, to whom Chriſt has come and ſpoke in vain, whom he has call'd and invited in vain, with whom he has reaſon'd and pleaded in vain; they have no Cloak for their Sin, they are altogether inexcuſable, and in the Judgment Day will be ſpeechleſs, and will not have a Word to ſay for themſelves. Note, The clearer and fuller the Diſcoveries are, which are made us of the Grace and Truth of Jeſus Chriſt, the more is ſaid to us that is convincing and endearing, the greater is our Sin if we do not love him and believe in him. The Word of Chriſt ſtrips Sin of its Cloak, that it may appear Sin.

(2.) His Works were ſuch as merited their Love, as well as his Words, v. 24. If I had not done among them, in their Country, and before their Eyes, ſuch Works as no other Man ever did, they had not had Sin; their Unbelief and Enmity had been excuſable, and they might have had ſome Colour to ſay, that his Word was not to be credited, if not otherwiſe confirm'd; but he produc'd ſatisfactory Proofs of his Divine Miſſion, Works which no other Man did. Note, 1. As the Creator demonſtrates his Power and Godhead by his Works, Rom. 1. 20. ſo doth the Redeemer. His Miracles, his Mercies, Works of Wonder, and Works of Grace, prove him ſent of God, and ſent on a kind Errand. 2. Chriſt's Works were ſuch as no Man ever did. No common Perſon that had not a Commiſſion from Heaven, and God with him, could work Miracles John 3. 2. And no Prophet ever wrought ſuch Miracles, ſo many, ſo illuſtrious; Moſes and Elias wrought Miracles as Servants, by a derived Power; but Chriſt as a Son by his own Power. This was it that amaz'd the People, that with Authority he remanded Diſeaſes and Devils, Mar. 1. 27. they own'd they never ſaw the like, Mar. 2. 17. They were all good Works, Works of Mercy; and this ſeems eſpecially intended here, for he is upbraiding them with this, that they hated him. One that was ſo univerſally uſeful, more than ever any Man was, one would think ſhould have been univerſally belov'd, and yet even he is hated. 3. The Works of Chriſt enhance the Guilt of Sinners Infidelity and Enmity to him, to the laſt Degree of Wickedneſs and Abſurdity. If they had only heard his Words, and not ſeen his Works; if we had only his Sermons upon Record, and not his Miracles, Unbelief might have pleaded want of Proof; but now it has no Excuſe. Nay, the rejecting of Chriſt both by them and us, has in it the Sin not only of obſtinate Unbelief, but of baſe Ingratitude. They ſaw Chriſt to be moſt amiable and ſtudious to do them a Kindneſs, yet they hated him, and ſtudy'd to do him Miſchief. And we ſee in his Word that great Love wherewith he loved us, and yet are not wrought upon by it.

2. That there was no Reaſon at all why they ſhould hate him. Some that one Time will ſay and do that which is recommending, yet at another Time will ſay and do that which is provoking and diſobliging; but our Lord Jeſus not only did much to merit Mens Eſteem and good Will, but never did any thing juſtly to incur their Diſpleaſure; this he pleads by quoting a Scripture for it, v. 25. This comes to paſs, this unreaſonable Hatred of me, and of my Diſciples for my Sake, that the Word might be fulfill'd which is written in their Law, (i. e. in the Old Teſtament, which is a Law, and was receiv'd by them as a Law;) they hated me without a Cauſe; this David ſpeaks of himſelf as a Type of Chriſt, Pſal. 35. 19. and 69. 4. Note, 1. They that hate Chriſt, hate him without any juſt Cauſe: Enmity to Chriſt is unreaſonable Enmity. We think thoſe deſerve to be hated that are haughty and froward, but Chriſt is meek and lowly, compaſſionate and tender; thoſe alſo that under Colour of Complaiſance are malicious, envious and revengeful, but Chriſt devoted himſelf to the Service of thoſe that us'd him, nay, and of thoſe that abus'd him; toil'd for others Eaſe, and impoveriſhed himſelf to enrich us. Thoſe we think hateful that are hurtful to Kings and Provinces, and Diſturbers of the publick Peace; but Chriſt, on the contrary, was the greateſt Bleſſing imaginable to his Country, and yet was hated. He teſtified indeed that their Works were evil, with a Deſign to make them good, but to hate him for that Cauſe, was to hate him without a Cauſe. 2. Herein the Scripture was fulfill'd, and the Antitype anſwer'd the Type. Saul and his Courtiers hated David without Cauſe, for he had been ſerviceable to him with his Harp, and with his Sword; Abſalom and his Party hated him, tho' to him he had been an indulgent Father, and to them a great Benefactor. Thus was the Son of David hated, and hunted moſt unjuſtly. They that hated Chriſt, did not deſign therein to fulfil the Scripture, but God in permitting it had that in his Eye; and it confirms our Faith in Chriſt as the Meſſiah, that even this was foretold concerning him, and being foretold, was accompliſh'd in him: And we muſt not think it ſtrange or hard, if it have a further Accompliſhment in us. We are apt to juſtify our Complaints of Injuries done us, with this, that they are cauſeleſs; whereas the more they are ſo, the more likely they are to the Sufferings of Chriſt, and may be the more eaſily born.

Thirdly, In Chriſt the World hates God himſelf; this is twice ſaid here, v. 23. He that hateth me, tho' he thinks his Hatred goes no further, yet really he hates my Father alſo. And again, v. 24. They have ſeen and hated both me and my Father. Note, 1. There are thoſe that hate God, notwithſtanding the Beauty of his Nature, and the Bounty of his Providence; they are enrag'd at his Juſtice, as the Devils that believe it and tremble, are vex'd at his Dominion, and would gladly break his Bands aſunder. They who cannot bring themſelves to deny that there is a God, and yet wiſh there were none, they ſee and hate him. 2. Hatred of Chriſt, will be conſtru'd and adjudg'd Hatred of God, for he is in his Perſon his Father's expreſs Image, and in his Office his great Agent and Ambaſſador. God will have all Men to honour the Son, as they honour the Father, and therefore what Entertainment the Son has, that the Father has. Hence it is eaſy to infer, That thoſe who are Enemies to the Chriſtian Religion, however they may cry up Natural Religion, are really Enemies to all Religion. Deiſts are in effect Atheiſts; and they that ridicule the Light of the Goſpel, would if they could, extinguiſh even natural Light, and ſhake off all Obligations of Conſcience and the Fear of God. Let an unbelieving malignant World know that their Enmity to the Goſpel of Chriſt, will be look'd upon in the great Day as an Enmity to the bleſſed God himſelf; and let all that ſuffer for Righteouſneſs ſake, according to the Will of God, take comfort from this; if God himſelf be hated in them, and ſtruck at through them, they need not be either aſham'd of their Cauſe, or afraid of the Iſſue.

But when the Comforter is come, whom I will ſend unto you from the Father, even the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth from the Father, he ſhall teſtifie of me. 27 And ye alſo ſhall bear witneſs, becauſe ye have been with me from the beginning.

Chriſt having ſpoken of the great Oppoſition which his Goſpel was likely to meet with in the World, and the Hardſhips that would be put upon the Preachers of it, leſt any ſhould fear that they and it would be run down by that violent Torrent, he here intimates to all thoſe that were well Wiſhers to his Cauſe and Intereſt, what effectual Proviſion was made for the ſupporting it, both by the principal Teſtimony of the Spirit, v. 26. and the ſubordinate Teſtimony of the Apoſtles, v. 27. and Teſtimonies are the proper Supports of Truth.

Firſt, It is here promis'd that the bleſſed Spirit ſhall maintain the Cauſe of Chriſt in the World, notwithſtanding the Oppoſition it ſhould meet with. Chriſt, when he was reviled, committed his injur'd Cauſe to his Father, and did not loſe by his Silence, for the Comforter came, plead it powerfully, and carried it triumphantly. When the Comforter, or Advocate, is come, which proceedeth from the Father, and whom I will ſend to ſupply the Want of my bodily Preſence, he ſhall teſtify of me againſt thoſe that hate me without Cauſe.

We have more in this Verſe concerning the Holy Ghoſt, than in any one Verſe beſide in the Bible; and being baptiz'd into his Name, we are concern'd to acquaint our ſelves with him, as far as he is reveal'd.

1. Here's an Account of him in his Eſſence or Subſiſtence rather. He is the Spirit of Truth which proceedeth from the Father. Here, (1.) He is ſpoken of as a diſtinct Perſon; not a Quality or Property, but a Perſon under the proper Name of a Spirit, and proper Title of the Spirit of Truth, a Title fitly given him where he is brought in teſtifying. (2.) As a Divine Perſon that proceedeth from the Father, by out-goings that were of old from everlaſting. The Spirit or Breath of Man, call'd the Breath of Life, proceedeth from the Man, and by it modified he delivers his Mind, by it invigorated he ſometimes exerts his Strength to blow out what he would extinguiſh, and blow up what he would excite: Thus the Bleſſed Spirit is the Emulation of Divine Light, and the Energy of Divine Power. The Rays of the Sun, by which it diſpenſeth and diffuſeth its Light, Heat, and Influence, proceed from the Sun, and yet are one with it. The Nicene Creed ſaith, the Spirit proceedeth from the Father and the Son, for he is call'd the Spirit of the Son, Gal. 4. 6. And the Son is here ſaid to ſend him. The Greek Church chuſe rather to ſay, From the Father by the Son.

2. In his Miſſion. (1.) He will come in a more plentiful Effuſion of his Gifts, Graces, and Powers, than had ever yet been. Chriſt had been long the ὁ ἐρχόμενος, He that ſhould come; now the Bleſſed Spirit is ſo. (2.) I will ſend him to you from the Father. He had ſaid, chap. 14. 16. I will pray the Father, and he ſhall ſend you the Comforter; that ſpeaks the Spirit to be the Fruit of the Interceſſion Chriſt makes within the Vail; here he ſaith, I will ſend him, that ſpeaks him to be the Fruit of his Dominion within the Vail. The Spirit was ſent, (1.) By Chriſt as Mediator, now aſcended on high to give Gifts unto Men, and all Power being given to him. (1.) From the Father. Not only from Heaven, my Father's Houſe; the Spirit was given in a Sound from Heaven, Acts 2. 2. but according to my Father's Will and Appointment, and with his concurring Power and Authority. (3.) To the Apoſtles, to inſtruct them in their Preaching, enable them for Working, and carry them through their Sufferings. He was given to them and their Succeſſors, both in Chriſtianity and in the Miniſtry; to them and their Seed, and their Seeds Seed, according to that Promiſe, Iſa. 59. 21.

2. In his Office and Operations; which are two.

1. One implied in the Title given to him, he is the Comforter, or Advocate. An Advocate for Chriſt to maintain his Cauſe againſt the World's Infidelity; a Comforter to the Saints againſt the World's Hatred.

2. Another expreſs'd, He ſhall teſtifie of me. He is not only an Advocate but a Witneſs for Jeſus Chriſt; he is one of the Three that bear Record in Heaven, and the firſt of the Three that bear Witneſs on Earth, 1 John 5. 7. He inſtructed the Apoſtles, and enable them to work Miracles; he indited the Scriptures, which are the ſtanding Witneſſes that teſtifie of Chriſt, John 5. 39. The Power of the Miniſtry is deriv'd from the Spirit, for he qualifies Miniſters; and the Power of Chriſtianity too, for he ſanctifies Chriſtians, and in both teſtifies of Chriſt.

Secondly, It is here promis'd that the Apoſtles alſo, by the Spirit's Aſſiſtance, ſhould have the Honour of being Chriſt's Witneſſes, v. 27. And ye ſhall alſo bear Witneſs of me, being competent Witneſſes, for ye have been with me from the Beginning of my Miniſtry. Obſerve here,

1. That the Apoſtles were appointed to be Witneſſes for Chriſt in the World. When he had ſaid the Spirit ſhall teſtifie, he adds, and you alſo ſhall bear Witneſs. Note, The Spirit's working is not to ſuperſede, but to engage and encourage ours. Tho' the Spirit teſtify, Miniſters alſo muſt bear their Teſtimony, and People attend to it; for the Spirit of Grace witneſſeth and worketh by the Means of Grace. The Apoſtles were the firſt Witneſſes that were call'd in the famous Trial between Chriſt and the Prince of this World, which iſſued in the Ejectment of the Intruder. This ſpeaks. (1.) The Work cut out from them; they were to atteſt the Truth, the whole Truth, and nothing but the Truth concerning Chriſt, for the recovering of his juſt Right, and the maintaining of his Crown and Dignity. Tho Chriſt's Diſciples fled when they ſhould have been Witneſſes for him upon his Tryals before the High Prieſt and Pilate, yet after the Spirit was pour'd out upon them, they appear'd courageous in Vindication of the Cauſe of Chriſt againſt the Accuſations it was loaded with. The Truth of the Chriſtian Religion was to be proved very much by the Evidence of Matter of Fact, eſpecially Chriſt's Reſurrection, of which the Apoſtles were in a particular manner choſen Witneſſes, Acts 10 41. and they bore their Teſtimony accordingly, Acts 3. 15. and 5. 32. Chriſt's Miniſters are his Witneſſes. (2.) The Honour put upon them hereby, that they ſhould be Workers together with God. The Spirit ſhall teſtify of me, and you alſo under the Conduct of the Spirit, and in concurrence with the Spirit (who will preſerve you from miſtaking in that which you relate on your own Knowledge, and will inform you of that which you cannot know but by Revelation) ſhall bear Witneſs. This might encourage them againſt the hatred and contempt of the World, that Chriſt had honour'd them, and would own them.

2. That they were qualified to be ſo; Ye have heard of me from the Beginning. They not only heard his publick Sermons, but had conſtant private Converſe with him. He went about doing good and while others ſaw his wonderful and merciful Works that he did in their own Town and Country only, they that went about with him were Witneſſes of them all. They had likewiſe Opportunity of obſerving the unſpotted Purity of his Converſation, and could witneſs for him that they never ſaw in him, or heard from him any Thing that had the leaſt Tincture of human Frailty. Note, 1. We have great Reaſon to receive the Records which the Apoſtles gave of Chriſt, for they did not ſpeak by hearſay, but what they had the greateſt Aſſurance of imaginable, 2 Pet. 1. 16. 1 John 1. 1, 3. 2. Thoſe are beſt able to bear Witneſs for Chriſt, that have themſelves been with him, by Faith, Hope, and Love, and by living a Life of Communion with God in him. Miniſters muſt firſt learn Chriſt, and then preach him. Thoſe ſpeak beſt of the Things of God that ſpeak experimentally. 'Tis particularly a great Advantage to have been acquainted with Chriſt from the beginning, to underſtand all Things from the very firſt, Luke 1. 3. To have been with him from the beginning of our Days. An early Acquaintance, and conſtant Converſe with the Goſpel of Chriſt, will make a Man like a good Houſholder.

CHAP. XVI.

Among other glorious Things God hath ſpoken of himſelf, this is one, I wound, and I heal, Deut. 32. 39. Chriſt's Diſcourſe in this Chapter, which continues and concludes his farewel Sermon to his Diſciples doth ſo. 1. Here are wounding Words in the Notice he gives them of the Troubles that were before them, v. 1—6. 2. Here are healing Words in the Comforts he adminiſters to them for their Support under thoſe Troubles, which are five, (1.) That he would ſend them the Comforter, v. 7—15. (2.) That he would viſit them again at his Reſurrection, v. 16—22. (3.) That he would ſecure to them an Anſwer of Peace to all their Prayers, v. 23—27. (4.) That he was now but returning to his Father, v. 28—32. (5.) That whatever Troubles they might meet with in this World, by virtue of his Victory over it, they ſhould be ſure of Peace in him, v. 33.

THESE things have I ſpoken unto you, that ye ſhould not be offended. 2. They ſhall put you out of the ſynagogues: yea, the time cometh, that whoſoever killeth you, will think that he doth God ſervice. 3. And theſe things will they do unto you, becauſe they have not known the Father, nor me. 4 But theſe things I have told you, that when the time ſhall come, ye may remember that I told you of them. And theſe things I ſaid not unto you at the beginning, becauſe I was with you. 5 But now I go my way to him that ſent me, and none of you asketh me, Whither goeſt thou? 6 But becauſe I have ſaid theſe things unto you, ſorrow hath filled your heart.

Chriſt dealt faithfully with his Diſciples, when he ſent them forth on his Errands, for he told them the worſt of it, that they might ſit down and count the Coſt. He had bid them in the Chapter before, to expect the World's hatred; now here in theſe Verſes, Firſt, He gives them a Reaſon why he alarmed them thus with the Expectation of Trouble; Theſe Things have I ſpoken unto you, that ye ſhould not be offended, or ſcandalized, v. 1.

1. The Diſciples of Chriſt are apt to be offended at the Croſs; and the Offence of the Croſs is a dangerous Temptation even to good Men, either to turn back from the Ways of God, or turn aſide out of them, or drive on heavily in them; to quiet either their Integrity or their Comfort: 'Tis not for nothing that a ſuffering Time is called an Hour of Temptation.

2. Our Lord Jeſus, by giving us Notice of Trouble, deſigned to take off the Terror of it, that it might not be a ſurprize to us. Of all the Adverſaries of our Peace in this World of Troubles, none inſult us more violently, nor put our Troops more into Diſorder, than Diſappointment doth; but we can eaſily welcome a Gueſt we expect, and being fore-warned are fore-armed. Præmoniti, præmuniti.

Secondly, He foretels particularly what they ſhould ſuffer, v. 2. They that have Power to do it, ſhall put you out of their Synagogues; and that's not the worſt, they ſhall kill you. Ecce duo Gladii, behold two Swords drawn againſt the Followers of the Lord Jeſus.

1. The Sword of Eccleſiaſtical Cenſure; this is drawn againſt them by the Jews, for they were the only Pretenders to Church-Power. They ſhall caſt you out of their Synagogues, ἀποσυναγώγους ποιήσουσιν ὑμᾶς, they ſhall make you Excommunicates. 1. They ſhall caſt you out of the particular Synagogues ye were Members of. At firſt they ſcourged them in their Synagogues as Contemners of the Law, Mat. 10. 17. and at length caſt them out as incorrigible. 2. They ſhall caſt you out of the Congregation of Iſrael in general, the national Church of the Jews; ſhall debar you from the Privileges of that, put you into the Condition of an Out-law, qui caput gerit lupinum; they will look upon you as Samaritans, as heathen Men and Publicans. Interdico tibi aquâ & igne. And were it not for the Penalties, Forfeitures, and Incapacities incurred hereby, it would be no Injury to be thus driven out of a Houſe infected and falling. Note, It has often been the Lot of Chriſt's Diſciples to be unjuſtly Excommunicated. Many a good Truth has been branded with an Anathema, and many a Child of God delivered to Satan.

2. The Sword of Civil Power. The Time cometh, The Hour is come, now Things are likely to be worſe with you than hitherto they have been; when you are expelled as Hereticks, they will kill you, and think they do God Service, and others will think ſo too.

1. You ſhall find them really Cruel, they will kill you. Chriſt's Sheep have been accounted as Sheep for the Slaughter; the twelve Apoſtles (we are told) were all put to Death, except John. Chriſt had ſaid, ch. 15. 27. ye ſhall bear Witneſs, μαρτυρήσετε, ye ſhall be Martyrs, ſhall ſeal the Truth with their Blood, their Hearts-Blood.

2. You will find them, ſeemingly Conſcientious; they will think they do God Service; they will ſeem λατρείαν προσφέρειν, to offer a good Sacrifice to God; as thoſe that caſt out God's Servants of old, and ſaid, Let the Lord be glorified, Iſa. 66. 5. Note, 1. It is poſſible for thoſe that are real Enemies to God's Service, to pretend a mighty Zeal for it. The Devil's Work has many a Time been done in God's Livery, and one of the moſt miſchievous Enemies Chriſtianity ever had ſits in the Temple of God. Nay, 2. 'Tis common to patronize an Enmity to Religion with a Colour of Duty to God, and Service to his Church. God's People have ſuffered the greateſt Hardſhips from conſcientious Perſecutors; Paul verily thought he ought to do what he did againſt the Name of Jeſus: This doth not at all leſſen the Sin of the Perſecutors, for Villanies will never be conſecrated by entitling God to them, but it doth greaten the Sufferings of the Perſecuted to die under the Character of being Enemies to God; but there will be Reſurrection of Names as well as of Bodies at the great Day.

Thirdly, He gives them the true Reaſon of the World's Enmity and Rage againſt them. Ver. 3. Theſe Things will they do unto you, not becauſe you have done them any Harm, but becauſe they have not known the Father, or me. Let this comfort you, that none will be your Enemies but the worſt of Men. Note, (1.) Many that pretend to know God, are wretchedly ignorant of him. They that pretend to do him Service, thought they knew him, but it was a wrong Notion they had of him. Iſrael tranſgreſſed the Covenant, and yet cried, My God, we know thee, Hoſ. 8. 1, 2. (2.) They that are ignorant of Chriſt, cannot have any right Knowledge of God. In vain do Men pretend to know God and Religion, while they ſlight Chriſt and Chriſtianity. (3.) Thoſe are very ignorant indeed of God and Chriſt, that think it an acceptable Piece of Service to perſecute good People. They that know Chriſt, know that he came not into the World to deſtroy Mens Lives, but to ſave them; that he rules by the Power of Truth and Love, not of Fire and Sword. Never was ſuch a perſecuting Church, as that which makes Ignorance the Mother of Devotion.

Fourthly, He tells them why he gave them Notice of this now, and why not ſooner.

1. Why he told them of it now, v. 4. not to diſcourage them, or add to their preſent Sorrow; nor did he tell them of their Danger, that they might contrive how to avoid it, but that, when the Time ſhall come, (and you may be ſure it will come) you may remember that I told you. Note, When ſuffering Times come, 'twill be of uſe to us to remember what Chriſt has told us of Sufferings. (1.) That our Belief of Chriſt's Foreſight and Faithfulneſs may be confirmed: And, (2.) That the Trouble may be the leſs grievous, for we were told of it before, and we took up our Profeſſion in Expectation of it, ſo that it ought not to be a Surprize to us, nor looked upon as a wrong to us, As Chriſt in his Sufferings, ſo his Followers in theirs, ſhould have an Eye to the fulfilling of the Scripture.

2. Why he did not tell them of it ſooner. I ſpake not this to you from the beginning, when you and I came to be firſt acquainted, becauſe I was with you. (1.) While he was with them he bore the Shock of the World's Malice, and ſtood in the Front of the Battle; againſt him the Powers of Darkneſs levelled all their Force, not againſt ſmall or great, but only againſt the King of Iſrael, and therefore he did not need then to ſay ſo much to them of Suffering, becauſe it did not fall much to their Share; but we do find that from the Beginning he bid them prepare for Sufferings, and therefore, (2.) It ſeems rather to be meant of the Promiſe of another Comforter. This he had ſaid little of them at the Beginning, becauſe he was himſelf with them to inſtruct, guide and comfort them, and then they needed not the Promiſe of the Spirit's extraordinary Preſence. The Children of the Bride-chamber would not have ſo much need of a Comforter till the Bridegroom ſhould be taken away.

Fifthly, He expreſſeth a very affectionate Concern for the preſent Sadneſs of his Diſciples, upon Occaſion of what he had ſaid to them, v. 5, 6. Now I am to be no longer with you, but go my way to him that ſent me, to repoſe there after this Fatigue, and none of you asketh me with any Courage, Whether goeſt thou? But inſtead of enquiring after that which would comfort you, you pore upon that which looks melancholy, and Sorrow has filled your Heart, (1.) He had told them, that he was about to leave them, now I go my way. He was not driven away by Force, but voluntarily departed; his Life was not extorted from him, but depoſited by him. He went to him that ſent him, to give an Account of his Negotiation. Thus when we depart out of this World, we go to him that ſee in his Word that great Love wherewith he loved us, and yet are not wrought upon by it.

2. That there was no Reaſon at all why they ſhould hate him. Some that one Time will ſay and do that which is recommending, yet at another Time will ſay and do that which is provoking and diſobliging; but our Lord Jeſus not only did much to merit Mens Eſteem and good Will, but never did any thing juſtly to incur their Diſpleaſure; this he pleads by quoting a Scripture for it, v. 25. This comes to paſs, this unreaſonable Hatred of me, and of my Diſciples for my Sake, that the Word might be fulfill'd which is written in their Law, (i. e. in the Old Teſtament, which is a Law, and was receiv'd by them as a Law;) they hated me without a Cauſe; this David ſpeaks of himſelf as a Type of Chriſt, Pſal. 35. 19. and 69. 4. Note, 1. They that hate Chriſt, hate him without any juſt Cauſe: Enmity to Chriſt is unreaſonable Enmity. We think thoſe deſerve to be hated that are haughty and froward, but Chriſt is meek and lowly, compaſſionate and tender; thoſe alſo that under Colour of Complaiſance are malicious, envious and revengeful, but Chriſt devoted himſelf to the Service of thoſe that us'd him, nay, and of thoſe that abus'd him; toil'd for others Eaſe, and impoveriſhed himſelf to enrich us. Thoſe we think hateful that are hurtful to Kings and Provinces, and Diſturbers of the publick Peace; but Chriſt, on the contrary, was the greateſt Bleſſing imaginable to his Country, and yet was hated. He teſtified indeed that their Works were evil, with a Deſign to make them good, but to hate him for that Cauſe, was to hate him without a Cauſe. 2. Herein the Scripture was fulfill'd, and the Antitype anſwer'd the Type. Saul and his Courtiers hated David without Cauſe, for he had been ſerviceable to him with his Harp, and with his Sword; Abſalom and his Party hated him, tho' to him he had been an indulgent Father, and to them a great Benefactor. Thus was the Son of David hated, and hunted moſt unjuſtly. They that hated Chriſt, did not deſign therein to fulfil the Scripture, but God in permitting it had that in his Eye; and it confirms our Faith in Chriſt as the Meſſiah, that even this was foretold concerning him, and being foretold, was accompliſh'd in him: And we muſt not think it ſtrange or hard, if it have a further Accompliſhment in us. We are apt to juſtify our Complaints of Injuries done us, with this, that they are cauſeleſs; whereas the more they are ſo, the more likely they are to the Sufferings of Chriſt, and may be the more eaſily born.

Thirdly, In Chriſt the World hates God himſelf; this is twice ſaid here, v. 23. He that hateth me, tho' he thinks his Hatred goes no further, yet really he hates my Father alſo. And again, v. 24. They have ſeen and hated both me and my Father. Note, 1. There are thoſe that hate God, notwithſtanding the Beauty of his Nature, and the Bounty of his Providence; they are enrag'd at his Juſtice, as the Devils that believe it and tremble, are vex'd at his Dominion, and would gladly break his Bands aſunder. They who cannot bring themſelves to deny that there is a God, and yet wiſh there were none, they ſee and hate him. 2. Hatred of Chriſt, will be conſtru'd and adjudg'd Hatred of God, for he is in his Perſon his Father's expreſs Image, and in his Office his great Agent and Ambaſſador. God will have all Men to honour the Son, as they honour the Father, and therefore what Entertainment the Son has, that the Father has. Hence it is eaſy to infer, That thoſe who are Enemies to the Chriſtian Religion, however they may cry up Natural Religion, are really Enemies to all Religion. Deiſts are in effect Atheiſts; and they that ridicule the Light of the Goſpel, would if they could, extinguiſh even natural Light, and ſhake off all Obligations of Conſcience and the Fear of God. Let an unbelieving malignant World know that their Enmity to the Goſpel of Chriſt, will be look'd upon in the great Day as an Enmity to the bleſſed God himſelf; and let all that ſuffer for Righteouſneſs ſake, according to the Will of God, take comfort from this; if God himſelf be hated in them, and ſtruck at through them, they need not be either aſham'd of their Cauſe, or afraid of the Iſſue.

But when the Comforter is come, whom I will ſend unto you from the Father, even the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth from the Father, he ſhall teſtifie of me. 27 And ye alſo ſhall bear witneſs, becauſe ye have been with me from the beginning.

Chriſt having ſpoken of the great Oppoſition which his Goſpel was likely to meet with in the World, and the Hardſhips that would be put upon the Preachers of it, leſt any ſhould fear that they and it would be run down by that violent Torrent, he here intimates to all thoſe that were well Wiſhers to his Cauſe and Intereſt, what effectual Proviſion was made for the ſupporting it, both by the principal Teſtimony of the Spirit, v. 26. and the ſubordinate Teſtimony of the Apoſtles, v. 27. and Teſtimonies are the proper Supports of Truth.

Firſt, It is here promis'd that the bleſſed Spirit ſhall maintain the Cauſe of Chriſt in the World, notwithſtanding the Oppoſition it ſhould meet with. Chriſt, when he was reviled, committed his injur'd Cauſe to his Father, and did not loſe by his Silence, for the Comforter came, plead it powerfully, and carried it triumphantly. When the Comforter, or Advocate, is come, which proceedeth from the Father, and whom I will ſend to ſupply the Want of my bodily Preſence, he ſhall teſtify of me againſt thoſe that hate me without Cauſe.

We have more in this Verſe concerning the Holy Ghoſt, than in any one Verſe beſide in the Bible; and being baptiz'd into his Name, we are concern'd to acquaint our ſelves with him, as far as he is reveal'd.

1. Here's an Account of him in his Eſſence or Subſiſtence rather. He is the Spirit of Truth which proceedeth from the Father. Here, (1.) He is ſpoken of as a diſtinct Perſon; not a Quality or Property, but a Perſon under the proper Name of a Spirit, and proper Title of the Spirit of Truth, a Title fitly given him where he is brought in teſtifying. (2.) As a Divine Perſon that proceedeth from the Father, by out-goings that were of old from everlaſting. The Spirit or Breath of Man, call'd the Breath of Life, proceedeth from the Man, and by it modified he delivers his Mind, by it invigorated he ſometimes exerts his Strength to blow out what he would extinguiſh, and blow up what he would excite: Thus the Bleſſed Spirit is the Emulation of Divine Light, and the Energy of Divine Power. The Rays of the Sun, by which it diſpenſeth and diffuſeth its Light, Heat, and Influence, proceed from the Sun, and yet are one with it. The Nicene Creed ſaith, the Spirit proceedeth from the Father and the Son, for he is call'd the Spirit of the Son, Gal. 4. 6. And the Son is here ſaid to ſend him. The Greek Church chuſe rather to ſay, From the Father by the Son.

2. In his Miſſion. (1.) He will come in a more plentiful Effuſion of his Gifts, Graces, and Powers, than had ever yet been. Chriſt had been long the ὁ ἐρχόμενος, He that ſhould come; now the Bleſſed Spirit is ſo. (2.) I will ſend him to you from the Father. He had ſaid, chap. 14. 16. I will pray the Father, and he ſhall ſend you the Comforter; that ſpeaks the Spirit to be the Fruit of the Interceſſion Chriſt makes within the Vail; here he ſaith, I will ſend him, that ſpeaks him to be the Fruit of his Dominion within the Vail. The Spirit was ſent, (1.) By Chriſt as Mediator, now aſcended on high to give Gifts unto Men, and all Power being given to him. (1.) From the Father. Not only from Heaven, my Father's Houſe; the Spirit was given in a Sound from Heaven, Acts 2. 2. but according to my Father's Will and Appointment, and with his concurring Power and Authority. (3.) To the Apoſtles, to inſtruct them in their Preaching, enable them for Working, and carry them through their Sufferings. He was given to them and their Succeſſors, both in Chriſtianity and in the Miniſtry; to them and their Seed, and their Seeds Seed, according to that Promiſe, Iſa. 59. 21.

2. In his Office and Operations; which are two.

1. One implied in the Title given to him, he is the Comforter, or Advocate. An Advocate for Chriſt to maintain his Cauſe againſt the World's Infidelity; a Comforter to the Saints againſt the World's Hatred.

2. Another expreſs'd, He ſhall teſtifie of me. He is not only an Advocate but a Witneſs for Jeſus Chriſt; he is one of the Three that bear Record in Heaven, and the firſt of the Three that bear Witneſs on Earth, 1 John 5. 7. He inſtructed the Apoſtles, and enable them to work Miracles; he indited the Scriptures, which are the ſtanding Witneſſes that teſtifie of Chriſt, John 5. 39. The Power of the Miniſtry is deriv'd from the Spirit, for he qualifies Miniſters; and the Power of Chriſtianity too, for he ſanctifies Chriſtians, and in both teſtifies of Chriſt.

Secondly, It is here promis'd that the Apoſtles alſo, by the Spirit's Aſſiſtance, ſhould have the Honour of being Chriſt's Witneſſes, v. 27. And ye ſhall alſo bear Witneſs of me, being competent Witneſſes, for ye have been with me from the Beginning of my Miniſtry. Obſerve here,

1. That the Apoſtles were appointed to be Witneſſes for Chriſt in the World. When he had ſaid the Spirit ſhall teſtifie, he adds, and you alſo ſhall bear Witneſs. Note, The Spirit's working is not to ſuperſede, but to engage and encourage ours. Tho' the Spirit teſtify, Miniſters alſo muſt bear their Teſtimony, and People attend to it; for the Spirit of Grace witneſſeth and worketh by the Means of Grace. The Apoſtles were the firſt Witneſſes that were call'd in the famous Trial between Chriſt and the Prince of this World, which iſſued in the Ejectment of the Intruder. This ſpeaks. (1.) The Work cut out from them; they were to atteſt the Truth, the whole Truth, and nothing but the Truth concerning Chriſt, for the recovering of his juſt Right, and the maintaining of his Crown and Dignity. Tho Chriſt's Diſciples fled when they ſhould have been Witneſſes for him upon his Tryals before the High Prieſt and Pilate, yet after the Spirit was pour'd out upon them, they appear'd couragious in Vindication of the Cauſe of Chriſt againſt the Accuſations it was loaded with. The Truth of the Chriſtian Religion was to be proved very much by the Evidence of Matter of Fact, eſpecially Chriſt's Reſurrection, of which the Apoſtles were in a particular manner choſen Witneſſes, Acts 10 41. and they bore their Teſtimony accordingly, Acts 3. 15. and 5. 32. Chriſt's Miniſters are his Witneſſes. (2.) The Honour put upon them hereby, that they ſhould be Workers together with God. The Spirit ſhall teſtify of me, and you alſo under the Conduct of the Spirit, and in concurrence with the Spirit (who will preſerve you from miſtaking in that which you relate on your own Knowledge, and will inform you of that which you cannot know but by Revelation) ſhall bear Witneſs. This might encourage them againſt the hatred and contempt of the World, that Chriſt had honour'd them, and would own them.

2. That they were qualified to be ſo; Ye have heard of me from the Beginning. They not only heard his publick Sermons, but had conſtant private Converſe with him. He went about doing good and while others ſaw his wonderful and merciful Works that he did in their own Town and Country only, they that went about with him were Witneſſes of them all. They had likewiſe Opportunity of obſerving the unſpotted Purity of his Converſation, and could witneſs for him that they never ſaw in him, or heard from him any Thing that had the leaſt Tincture of human Frailty. Note, 1. We have great Reaſon to receive the Records which the Apoſtles gave of Chriſt, for they did not ſpeak by hearſay, but what they had the greateſt Aſſurance of imaginable, 2 Pet. 1. 16. 1 John 1. 1, 3. 2. Thoſe are beſt able to bear Witneſs for Chriſt, that have themſelves been with him, by Faith, Hope, and Love, and by living a Life of Communion with God in him. Miniſters muſt firſt learn Chriſt, and then preach him. Thoſe ſpeak beſt of the Things of God that ſpeak experimentally. 'Tis particularly a great Advantage to have been acquainted with Chriſt from the beginning, to underſtand all Things from the very firſt, Luke 1. 3. To have been with him from the beginning of our Days. An early Acquaintance, and conſtant Converſe with the Goſpel of Chriſt, will make a Man like a good Houſholder.

CHAP. XVI.

Among other glorious Things God hath ſpoken of himſelf, this is one, I wound, and I heal, Deut. 32. 39. Chriſt's Diſcourſe in this Chapter, which continues and concludes his farewel Sermon to his Diſciples doth ſo. 1. Here are wounding Words in the Notice he gives them of the Troubles that were before them, v. 1—6. 2. Here are healing Words in the Comforts he adminiſters to them for their Support under thoſe Troubles, which are five, (1.) That he would ſend them the Comforter, v. 7—15. (2.) That he would viſit them again at his Reſurrection, v. 16—22. (3.) That he would ſecure to them an Anſwer of Peace to all their Prayers, v. 23—27. (4.) That he was now but returning to his Father, v. 28—32. (5.) That whatever Troubles they might meet with in this World, by virtue of his Victory over it, they ſhould be ſure of Peace in him, v. 33.

THESE things have I ſpoken unto you, that ye ſhould not be offended. 2. They ſhall put you out of the ſynagogues: yea, the time cometh, that whoſoever killeth you, will think that he doth God ſervice. 3. And theſe things will they do unto you, becauſe they have not known the Father, nor me. 4 But theſe things I have told you, that when the time ſhall come, ye may remember that I told you of them. And theſe things I ſaid not unto you at the beginning, becauſe I was with you. 5 But now I go my way to him that ſent me, and none of you asketh me, Whither goeſt thou? 6 But becauſe I have ſaid theſe things unto you, ſorrow hath filled your heart.

Chriſt dealt faithfully with his Diſciples, when he ſent them forth on his Errands, for he told them the worſt of it, that they might ſit down and count the Coſt. He had bid them in the Chapter before, to expect the World's hatred; now here in theſe Verſes, Firſt, He gives them a Reaſon why he alarmed them thus with the Expectation of Trouble; Theſe Things have I ſpoken unto you, that ye ſhould not be offended, or ſcandalized, v. 1.

1. The Diſciples of Chriſt are apt to be offended at the Croſs; and the Offence of the Croſs is a dangerous Temptation even to good Men, either to turn back from the Ways of God, or turn aſide out of them, or drive on heavily in them; to quiet either their Integrity or their Comfort: 'Tis not for nothing that a ſuffering Time is called an Hour of Temptation.

2. Our Lord Jeſus, by giving us Notice of Trouble, deſigned to take off the Terror of it, that it might not be a ſurprize to us. Of all the Adverſaries of our Peace in this World of Troubles, none inſult us more violently, nor put our Troops more into Diſorder, than Diſappointment doth; but we can eaſily welcome a Gueſt we expect, and being fore-warned are fore-armed. Præmoniti, præmuniti.

Secondly, He foretels particularly what they ſhould ſuffer, v. 2. They that have Power to do it, ſhall put you out of their Synagogues; and that's not the worſt, they ſhall kill you. Ecce duo Gladii, behold two Swords drawn againſt the Followers of the Lord Jeſus.

1. The Sword of Eccleſiaſtical Cenſure; this is drawn againſt them by the Jews, for they were the only Pretenders to Church-Power. They ſhall caſt you out of their Synagogues, ἀποσυναγώγους ποιήσουσιν ὑμᾶς, they ſhall make you Excommunicates. 1. They ſhall caſt you out of the particular Synagogues ye were Members of. At firſt they ſcourged them in their Synagogues as Contemners of the Law, Mat. 10. 17. and at length caſt them out as incorrigible. 2. They ſhall caſt you out of the Congregation of Iſrael in general, the national Church of the Jews; ſhall debar you from the Privileges of that, put you into the Condition of an Out-law, qui caput gerit lupinum; they will look upon you as Samaritans, as heathen Men and Publicans. Interdico tibi aquâ & igne. And were it not for the Penalties, Forfeitures, and Incapacities incurred hereby, it would be no Injury to be thus driven out of a Houſe infected and falling. Note, It has often been the Lot of Chriſt's Diſciples to be unjuſtly Excommunicated. Many a good Truth has been branded with an Anathema, and many a Child of God delivered to Satan.

2. The Sword of Civil Power. The Time cometh, The Hour is come, now Things are likely to be worſe with you than hitherto they have been; when you are expelled as Hereticks, they will kill you, and think they do God Service, and others will think ſo too.

1. You ſhall find them really Cruel, they will kill you. Chriſt's Sheep have been accounted as Sheep for the Slaughter; the twelve Apoſtles (we are told) were all put to Death, except John. Chriſt had ſaid, ch. 15. 27. ye ſhall bear Witneſs, μαρτυρεῖτε, ye ſhall be Martyrs, ſhall ſeal the Truth with their Blood, their Hearts-Blood.

2. You will find them, ſeemingly Conſcientious; they will think they do God Service; they will ſeem λατρείαν προσφέρειν, to offer a good Sacrifice to God; as thoſe that caſt out God's Servants of old, and ſaid, Let the Lord be glorified, Iſa. 66. 5. Note, 1. It is poſſible for thoſe that are real Enemies to God's Service, to pretend a mighty Zeal for it. The Devil's Work has many a Time been done in God's Livery, and one of the moſt miſchievous Enemies Chriſtianity ever had ſits in the Temple of God. Nay, 2. 'Tis common to patronize an Enmity to Religion with a Colour of Duty to God, and Service to his Church. God's People have ſuffered the greateſt Hardſhips from conſcientious Perſecutors; Paul verily thought he ought to do what he did againſt the Name of Jeſus: This doth not at all leſſen the Sin of the Perſecutors, for Villanies will never be conſecrated by entitling God to them, but it doth greaten the Sufferings of the Perſecuted to die under the Character of being Enemies to God; but there will be Reſurrection of Names as well as of Bodies at the great Day.

Thirdly, He gives them the true Reaſon of the World's Enmity and Rage againſt them. Ver. 3. Theſe Things will they do unto you, not becauſe you have done them any Harm, but becauſe they have not known the Father, or me. Let this comfort you, that none will be your Enemies but the worſt of Men. Note, (1.) Many that pretend to know God, are wretchedly ignorant of him. They that pretend to do him Service, thought they knew him, but it was a wrong Notion they had of him. Iſrael tranſgreſſed the Covenant, and yet cried, My God, we know thee, Hoſ. 8. 1, 2. (2.) They that are ignorant of Chriſt, cannot have any right Knowledge of God. In vain do Men pretend to know God and Religion, while they ſlight Chriſt and Chriſtianity. (3.) Thoſe are very ignorant indeed of God and Chriſt, that think it an acceptable Piece of Service to perſecute good People. They that know Chriſt, know that he came not into the World to deſtroy Mens Lives, but to ſave them; that he rules by the Power of Truth and Love, not of Fire and Sword. Never was ſuch a perſecuting Church, as that which makes Ignorance the Mother of Devotion.

Fourthly, He tells them why he gave them Notice of this now, and why not ſooner.

1. Why he told them of it now, v. 4. not to diſcourage them, or add to their preſent Sorrow; nor did he tell them of their Danger, that they might contrive how to avoid it, but that, when the Time ſhall come, (and you may be ſure it will come) you may remember that I told you. Note, When ſuffering Times come, 'twill be of uſe to us to remember what Chriſt has told us of Sufferings. (1.) That our Belief of Chriſt's Foreſight and Faithfulneſs may be confirmed: And, (2.) That the Trouble may be the leſs grievous, for we were told of it before, and we took up our Profeſſion in Expectation of it, ſo that it ought not to be a Surprize to us, nor looked upon as a wrong to us, As Chriſt in his Sufferings, ſo his Followers in theirs, ſhould have an Eye to the fulfilling of the Scripture.

2. Why he did not tell them of it ſooner. I ſpake not this to you from the beginning, when you and I came to be firſt acquainted, becauſe I was with you. (1.) While he was with them he bore the Shock of the World's Malice, and ſtood in the Front of the Battle; againſt him the Powers of Darkneſs levelled all their Force, not againſt ſmall or great, but only againſt the King of Iſrael, and therefore he did not need then to ſay ſo much to them of Suffering, becauſe it did not fall much to their Share; but we do find that from the Beginning he bid them prepare for Sufferings, and therefore, (2.) It ſeems rather to be meant of the Promiſe of another Comforter. This he had ſaid little of them at the Beginning, becauſe he was himſelf with them to inſtruct, guide and comfort them, and then they needed not the Promiſe of the Spirit's extraordinary Preſence. The Children of the Bride-chamber would not have ſo much need of a Comforter till the Bridegroom ſhould be taken away.

Fifthly, He expreſſeth a very affectionate Concern for the preſent Sadneſs of his Diſciples, upon Occaſion of what he had ſaid to them, v. 5, 6. Now I am to be no longer with you, but go my way to him that ſent me, to repoſe there after this Fatigue, and none of you asketh me with any Courage, Whether goeſt thou? But inſtead of enquiring after that which would comfort you, you pore upon that which looks melancholy, and Sorrow has filled your Heart, (1.) He had told them, that he was about to leave them, now I go my way. He was not driven away by Force, but voluntarily departed; his Life was not extorted from him, but depoſited by him. He went to him that ſent him, to give an Account of his Negotiation. Thus when we depart out of this World, we go to him that ſent us into it, which ſhould make us all ſollicitous to live to good Purpoſes, rememb'ring we have a Commiſſion to execute, which muſt be returned at a certain Day. (2.) He had told them what hard Things they muſt ſuffer when he was gone, and that they muſt not expect ſuch an eaſy, quiet Life, as they had had. Now if theſe were the Legacies he had to leave to them who had left all for him, they would be tempted to think they had made a ſorry Bargain of it, and were for the preſent in a Conſternation about it, in which their Maſter ſympathizeth with them, and blames them.

1. That they were careleſs of the Means of Comfort, and did not ſtir up themſelves to ſeek it, none of you ask me, whither goeſt thou? Peter had ſtarted that Queſtion, chap. 13. 36. and Thomas had ſeconded it. chap. 14. 5. but they did not purſue it, they did not take the Anſwer, were in the Dark concerning it, and did not enquire further, nor ſeek for fuller Satisfaction; did not continue ſeeking, continue knocking. See what a compaſſionate Teacher Chriſt is, and how condeſcending to the Weak and Ignorant; many a Teacher will not endure that the Learner ſhould ask the ſame Queſtion twice, if he cannot take a Thing quickly, let him go without it: But our Lord Jeſus knows how to deal with Babes, that muſt be taught with Precept upon Precept. If the Diſciples here would have puſhed on that Enquiry, they would have found that his going away was for his Advancement, and therefore his Departure from them ſhould not inordinately trouble them, for why ſhould they be againſt his Preferment? And for their Advantage, and therefore their Suffering for him ſhould not inordinately trouble them, for a Sight of Jeſus at the right Hand of God would be an effectual Support to them, as it was to Stephen, Note, A humble believing Enquiry into the Deſign, and Tendency of the darkeſt Diſpenſations of Providence would help to reconcile us to them, and to grieve the leſs, and fear the leſs becauſe of them; 'twill ſilence us to ask whence they come, but will abundantly ſatisfy us to ask whither they go? For we know they work for good, Rom. 8. 28.

2. That they were too intent, and pored too much upon the Occaſions of their Grief; Sorrow has filled their Heart. Chriſt had ſaid enough to fill them with Joy, chap. 15. 11. but by looking at that only which made againſt them, and over-looking that which made for them, they were ſo full of Sorrow, that there was no Room left for Joy. Note, It is the common Fault and Folly of melancholy Chriſtians to dwell only upon the dark Side of the Cloud, to meditate nothing but Terror, and turn a deaf Ear to the Voice of Joy and Gladneſs. That which filled the Diſciples Hearts with Sorrow, and hinder'd the Operations of the Cordials Chriſt adminiſter'd, was too great an Affection to this preſent Life. They were big with Hopes of their Maſter's external Kingdom and Glory, and that they ſhould ſhine and reign with him; and now inſtead of that, to hear of nothing but Bonds and Afflictions, this filled them with Sorrow. Nothing is a greater Prejudice to our Joy in God, than the Love of the World, and the Sorrow of the World the Conſequence of it.

7 Nevertheleſs, I tell you the truth; It is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will ſend him unto you. 8 And when he is come, he will reprove the world of ſin, and of righteouſneſs, and of judgment. 9 Of ſin, becauſe they believe not in me; 10 Of righteouſneſs, becauſe I go to my Father, and ye ſee me no more; 11 Of judgment, becauſe the prince of this world is judged. 12 I have yet many things to ſay unto you, but ye cannot bear them now. 13 Howbeit, when the ſpirit of truth is come, he will guide you into all truth; for he ſhall not ſpeak of himſelf; but whatſoever he ſhall hear, that ſhall he ſpeak: and he will ſhew you things to come. 14 He ſhall glorifie me: for he ſhall receive of mine, and ſhall ſhew it unto you. 15 All things that the Father hath, are mine: therefore ſaid I, that he ſhall take of mine, and ſhall ſhew it unto you.

As it was uſual with the Old Teſtament Prophets to comfort the Church in its Calamities with the Promiſe of the Meſſiah, Iſa. 9. 6. Mic. 5. 5. Zech. 3. 8. ſo the Meſſiah being come, the Promiſe of the Spirit was the great Cordial, and is ſtill.

Three Things we have here concerning the Comforter's coming.

Firſt, That Chriſt's Departure was abſolutely neceſſary to the Comforter's coming, v. 7. The Diſciples were ſo loth to believe this, that Chriſt ſaw cauſe to aſſert it with a more than ordinary Solemnity. I tell you the Truth. We may be confident of the Truth of every Thing that Chriſt has told us; he hath no Deſign to impoſe upon us. Now to make them eaſy, he here tells them.

1. In general, It was expedient for them he ſhould go away. This was ſtrange Doctrine, but if it was true, it was comfortable enough, and ſhewed them how abſurd their Sorrow was. 'Tis expedient, not only for me, but for you alſo that I go away; though they do not ſee it, and are loth to believe it, ſo it is. Note, 1. Thoſe Things oft ſeem grievous to us that are really expedient for us; and particularly our going away when we have finiſhed our Courſe. 2. Our Lord Jeſus is always for that which is moſt expedient for us, whether we think ſo or no. He deals not with us according to the Folly of our own Choices, but graciouſly over-rules them, and gives us the Phyſick we are loth to take, becauſe he knows it is good for us.

2. It was therefore expedient, becauſe it was in order to the ſending of the Spirit. Now obſerve,

1. That Chriſt's going was in order to the Comforter's coming.

(1.) This is expreſſed negatively, If I go not away the Comforter will not come. And why not? 1. So it was ſettled in the Divine Counſels concerning this Affair, and the Meaſures muſt not be altered; ſhall the Earth be forſaken for them? He that gives freely, may recal one Gift before he beſtows another, while we would fondly hold all. 2. 'Tis congruous enough that the Ambaſſador Extraordinary ſhould be recalled before the Envoy come that is conſtantly to reſide. 3. The ſending of the Spirit was to be the Fruit of Chriſt's Purchaſe, and that Purchaſe was to be made by his Death, which was his going away. 4. It was to be in Anſwer to his Interceſſion within the Veil; ſee Chap. 14. 16. Thus muſt this Gift be both paid for, and prayed for, by our Lord Jeſus, that we might learn to put the greater Value upon it. 5. The great Argument the Spirit was to uſe in convincing the World, muſt be Chriſt's Aſcenſion into Heaven, and his welcome there; ſee v. 10. and chap. 7. 39. 6. The Diſciples muſt be weaned from his bodily Preſence, which they were too apt to dote upon, before they were duly prepared to receive the ſpiritual Aids and Comforts of a new Diſpenſation.

(2.) It is expreſſed poſitively, If I depart I will ſend him to you, q. d. Truſt me to provide effectually that you ſhall be no Loſers by my Departure. The glorified Redeemer is not unmindful of his Church on Earth, nor will ever leave it without its neceſſary Supports. Tho' he departs, he ſends the Comforter, nay, he departs on purpoſe to ſend him. Thus ſtill, tho' one Generation of Miniſters and Chriſtians departs, another is raiſed up in their Room, for Chriſt will maintain his own Cauſe.

2. That the Preſence of Chriſt's Spirit in his Church is ſo much better, and more deſireable than his bodily Preſence; that it was really expedient for us he ſhould go away to ſend the Comforter. His corporal Preſence could be but in one Place, at one Time, but his Spirit is every where, in all Places, at all Times; where-ever two or three are gathered in his Name. Chriſt's bodily Preſence draws Mens Eyes, his Spirit draws their Hearts; that was the Letter which kills, his Spirit gives Life.

Secondly, That the coming of the Spirit was abſolutely neceſſary to the carrying on of Chriſt's Intereſt on Earth, Ver. 8. And when he is come, ἐλθὼν ἐκεῖνος. He that is ſent is willing of himſelf to come, and at his firſt coming he will do this; he will reprove, or as the Margin reads it, he will convince the World by your Miniſtry concerning Sin, Righteouſneſs, and Judgment.

1. See here what the Office of the Spirit is, and on what Errand he is ſent. (1.) To Reprove. The Spirit by the Word and Conſcience is a Reprover; Miniſters are Reprovers by Office, and by them the Spirit reproves. (2.) To Convince. 'Tis a Law-Term, and ſpeaks the Office of the Judge in ſumming up the Evidence, and ſetting a Matter that has been long canvaſs'd in a clear and true Light. He ſhall convince, i. e. he ſhall put to ſilence the Adverſaries of Chriſt and his Cauſe, by diſcovering and demonſtrating the Falſhood and Fallacy of that which they have maintained, and the Truth and Certainty of that which they have oppoſed. Note, Convincing Work is the Spirit's Work, he can do it effectually, and none but he; Man may open the Clauſe, but 'tis the Spirit only that can open the Heart. The Spirit is called the Comforter, v. 7. and here it is ſaid, he ſhall convince; one would think that were cold Comfort, but it is the Method the Spirit takes, firſt to convince, and then to comfort; firſt to lay open the Wound, and then apply healing Medicines. Or, taking Conviction more generally for a Demonſtration of what is right, it intimates that the Spirit's Comforts are ſolid, and grounded upon Truth.

2. See who they are whom he is to Reprove and Convince, the World, both Jew and Gentile. (1.) He ſhall give the World the moſt powerful Means of Conviction, for the Apoſtles ſhall go into all the World, backed by the Spirit, to preach the Goſpel, fully proved. (2.) He ſhall ſufficiently provide for the taking off, and ſilencing of the Objections and Prejudices of the World againſt the Goſpel. Many an Infidel was convinced of all, and judged of all, 1 Cor. 14. 24. (3.) He ſhall effectually and ſavingly convince many in the World, ſome in every Age, in every Place, in order to their Converſion to the Faith of Chriſt. Now this was an Encouragement to the Diſciples in Reference to the Difficulties they were likely to meet with. 1. That they ſhould ſee Good done; Satan's Kingdom fall like Lightning, which would be their Joy as it was his. Even this malignant World the Spirit ſhall work upon, and the Conviction of Sinners is the Comfort of faithful Miniſters. 2. That this would be the Fruit of their Services and Sufferings; theſe ſhould contribute very much to this good Work.

3. See what the Spirit ſhall convince the World of.

1. Of Sin, v. 9. Becauſe they believe not on me.

(1.) The Spirit is ſent to convince Sinners of Sin; not barely to tell them of it, in Conviction there is more than that, 'tis to prove it upon them, and force them to own it, as they, John 8. 9. that were convicted of their own Conſciences; make them to know their Abominations. The Spirit convinceth of the Fact of Sin, that we have done ſo and ſo; of the Fault of Sin that we have done ill in doing ſo; of the Folly of Sin, that we have acted againſt right Reaſon and our true Intereſt; of the Filth of Sin, that by it we are become odious to God; of the Fountain of Sin, the corrupt Nature; and laſtly, of the Fruit of Sin, that the End thereof is Death. The Spirit demonſtrates the Pravity and Degeneracy of the whole World; that all the World is guilty before God.

(2.) The Spirit in Convictions faſtens eſpecially upon the Sin of Unbelief; their not believing in Chriſt.

1. As the great Reigning Sin. There was, and is, a World of People, that believe not in Jeſus Chriſt; and they are not ſenſible that it is their Sin; natural Conſcience tells them, that Murder and Theft are Sins; but 'tis a ſupernatural Work of the Spirit to convince them that it is a Sin to ſuſpend their Belief of the Goſpel, and to reject the Salvation offered by it. Natural Religion, after it has given us its beſt Diſcoveries and Directions, lays and leaves us under this further Obligation, That whatever Divine Revelation ſhall be made to us at any time, with ſufficient Evidence to prove it Divine, we accept it, and ſubmit to it: which Law they tranſgreſs, who when God ſpeaketh to us by his Son, refuſe him that ſpeaketh; and therefore it is Sin.

2. As the great Ruining Sin. Every Sin is ſo in its own Nature, no Sin is ſo to them that believe in Chriſt, ſo that it is Unbelief that damns Sinners; 'tis becauſe of that, that they cannot enter into Reſt, that they cannot eſcape the Wrath of God; 'tis a Sin againſt the Remedy.

3. As that which is at the Bottom of all Sin; ſo Calvin takes it; the Spirit ſhall convince the World, that the true Reaſon why Sin reigns among them is, becauſe they are not by Faith united to Chriſt; Ne putemus vel guttam unam rectitudinis ſine Chriſto nobis ineſſe. Calv.

2. Of Righteouſneſs, becauſe I go to my Father, and ye ſee me no more, v. 10. We may underſtand this,

1. Of Chriſt's Perſonal Righteouſneſs. He ſhall convince the World that Jeſus of Nazareth was Chriſt the Righteous, 1 John 2. 1. as the Centurion owned, Luke 23. 47. Certainly this was a righteous Man. His Enemies put him under the worſt of Characters, and Multitudes were not, or would not be convinced but that he was an ill Man, which ſtrengthened their Prejudices againſt his Doctrine; but he is juſtified by the Spirit, 1 Tim. 3. 6. He is proved to be a righteous Man, and not a Deceiver: and then the Point is in effect gained, for he is either the great Redeemer, or a great Cheat, but a Cheat we are ſure he is not.

Now by what Medium or Argument will the Spirit convince Men of the Sincerity of our Lord Jeſus? Why, (1.) Their ſeeing him no more, will contribute ſomething towards the Removal of their Prejudices; they ſhall ſee him no more in the Likeneſs of ſinful Fleſh, in the Form of a Servant, which made them ſlight him. Moſes was more reſpected after his Removal than before. But, (2.) His going to the Father would be a full Conviction of it. The coming of the Spirit according to the Promiſe, was a Proof of Chriſt's Exaltation to God's Right Hand, Acts 2. 36, 37. And that was a Demonſtration of his Righteouſneſs, for the holy God would never ſet a Deceiver at his Right Hand.

(2.) Of Chriſt's Righteouſneſs communicated to us for our Juſtification and Salvation, that everlaſting Righteouſneſs, which Meſſiah was to bring in, Dan. 9. 24. Now,

(1.) The Spirit ſhall convince Men of this Righteouſneſs; having by Convictions of Sin ſhewed them their need of a Righteouſneſs, leſt that drive them to Deſpair, he will ſhew them where it is to be had, and how they may upon their believing be acquitted from Guilt, and accepted as righteous in God's Sight. 'Twas hard to convince thoſe of this Righteouſneſs, that went about to eſtabliſh their own, Rom. 10. 3. but the Spirit will do it.

(2.) Chriſt's Aſcenſion is the great Argument proper to convince Men of this Righteouſneſs. I go to the Father, and as an Evidence of my Welcome with him, You ſhall ſee me no more; if Chriſt had left any Part of his Undertaking unfiniſhed, he had been ſent back again; but now we are ſure he is at the Right Hand of God, we are ſure of being juſtified through him.

3. Of Judgment, becauſe the Prince of this World is judged, v. 10. Obſerve here,

1. The Devil, the Prince of this World was judged, was diſcovered to be a great Deceiver and Deſtroyer; and as ſuch, Judgment was entered againſt him, and Execution in Part done. He was caſt out of the Gentile World, when his Oracles were ſilenced, and his Altars deſerted; caſt out of the Bodies of many in Chriſt's Name, which miraculous Power continued long in the Church; he was caſt out of the Souls of People by the Grace of God working with the Goſpel of Chriſt; he fell as Lightning from Heaven.

2. This is a good Argument wherewith the Spirit convinceth the World of Judgment; that is, 1. Of inherent Holineſs and Sanctification, Mat. 12. 18. By the Judgment of the Prince of this World, it appears that Chriſt is ſtronger than Satan, and can diſarm and diſpoſſeſs him, and ſet up his Throne upon the Ruins of his. 2. Of a new and better Diſpenſation of Things. He ſhall ſhew that Chriſt's Errand into the World was to ſet things to right in it, and to introduce Times of Reformation, and Regeneration; and he proves it by this, that the Prince of this World, the great Maſter of Miſ-rule is judged, and expelled. All will be well when his Power is broken, who made all the Miſchief. 3. Of the Power and Dominion of the Lord Jeſus. He ſhall convince the World that all Judgment is committed to him, and that he is Lord of all; which is evidently this, that he has judged the Prince of this World. has broken the Serpent's Head, deſtroyed him that had the Power of Death, and ſpoiled Principalities; if Satan be thus ſubdued by Chriſt, we may be ſure no other Power can ſtand before him. 4. Of the final Day of Judgment; all the obſtinate Enemies of Chriſt's Goſpel and Kingdom, ſhall certainly be reckoned with at laſt, for the Devil their Ring-leader is judged.

Thirdly, That the coming of the Spirit would be of unſpeakable Advantage to the Diſciples themſelves; the Spirit has Work to do, not only on the Enemies of Chriſt to convince and humble them, but upon his Servants and Agents, to inſtruct and comfort them, and therefore 'twas expedient for them that he ſhould go away.

1. He intimates to them the tender Senſe he had of their preſent Weakneſs, v. 12. I have yet many things to ſay unto you, not which ſhould have been ſaid, but which he could and would have ſaid; but ye cannot bear them now. See what a Teacher Chriſt is, (1.) None like him for Copiouſneſs; when he hath ſaid much, he hath ſtill many things more to ſay. Treaſures of Wiſdom and Knowledge are hid in him; we are not ſtraitened in him, if we be not ſtraitened in our ſelves. (2.) None like him for Compaſſion. He would have told them more of the Things pertaining to the Kingdom of God, particularly of the Rejection of the Jews, and the calling of the Gentiles, but they could not bear it, it would have confounded and ſtumbled them, rather than have given them any Satisfaction. When after his Reſurrection they ſpoke to him of reſtoring the Kingdom to Iſrael, he referred them to the Coming of the Holy Ghoſt, by which they ſhould receive Power to bear thoſe Diſcoveries, which were ſo contrary to the Notions they had received, that they could not bear them now.

2. He aſſures them of ſufficient Aſſiſtances by the pouring out of the Spirit. They were now conſcious to themſelves of great Dulneſs and many Miſtakes, and what ſhall they do now their Maſter is leaving them; but when he the Spirit of Truth is come, you'll be eaſy, and all will be well; well indeed, for he ſhall undertake to guide the Apoſtles, and glorify Chriſt.

1. To guide the Apoſtles. He will take care,

(1.) That they do not miſs their Way; he will guide you, as the Camp of Iſrael was guided through the Wilderneſs by the Pillar of Cloud and Fire. The Spirit guided their Tongues in ſpeaking, and their Pens in writing, to ſecure them from Miſtakes. The Spirit is given to be our Guide, Rom. 8. 14. not only to ſhew us the Way, but to go along with us by his continued Aids and Inſtances.

(2.) That they do not come ſhort of their End. He will guide them into all Truth, as the skilful Pilot guides the Ship into the Port 'tis bound for. To be led into a Truth, is more than barely to know it; 'tis to be intimately and experimentally acquainted with it; to be piouſly and ſtrongly affected with it; not only to have the Notion of it in our Heads, but the Reliſh and Savour, and Power of it in our Hearts; it notes a gradual Diſcovery of Truth, ſhining more and more; ſhall lead you by thoſe Truths that are plain and eaſy to thoſe that are more difficult.

But now into all Truth? The Meaning is,

1. Into the whole Truth, relating to their Embaſſy; whatever was needful or uſeful for them to know, in order to the due Diſcharge of their Office they ſhould be fully inſtructed in. What Truths they were to teach others, the Spirit would teach them, would give them the Underſtanding of, and enable them both to explain and to defend.

2. Into nothing but the Truth; all that he ſhall guide you into ſhall be Truth, 1 John 2. 27. the anointing is Truth.

In the following Words he proves both theſe:

1. The Spirit ſhall teach nothing but the Truth, for he ſhall not ſpeak of himſelf any Doctrine diſtinct from mine, but whatſoever he ſhall hear, and knows to be the Mind of the Father, that, and that only ſhall he ſpeak. This intimates, (1.) That the Teſtimony of the Spirit in the Word and by the Apoſtles, is what we may rely upon. The Spirit knows and ſearches all things, even the deep things of God, and the Apoſtles received that Spirit, 1 Cor. 2. 10, 11. ſo that we may venture our Souls upon the Spirit's Word. (2.) That the Teſtimony of the Spirit always concurs with the Word of Chriſt, for he doth not ſpeak of himſelf, has no ſeparate Intereſt or Intention of his own, but as in Eſſence, ſo in Records, he is one with the Father and the Son, 1 John 5. 7. Mens Word and Spirit often diſagree, but the eternal Word and the eternal Spirit never do.

2. He ſhall teach you all Truth, and keep back nothing that is profitable for you, for he will ſhew you things to come. The Spirit was in the Apoſtles a Spirit of Prophecy; 'twas foretold he ſhould be ſo, Joel 2. 28. and he was ſo; the Spirit ſhewed them things to come, as Acts 11. 28. and 20. 23. and 21. 11. The Spirit ſpake of the Apoſtacy of the later Times, 1 Tim. 4. 1. John, when he was in the Spirit, had things to come, ſhewed him in Viſion. Now this was a great Satisfaction to their own Minds, and of uſe to them in their Conduct, and was alſo a great Confirmation of their Miſſion. Janſenius has a pious Note upon this, we ſhould not grudge that the Spirit doth not now ſhew us things to come in this World, as he did to the Apoſtles; let it ſuffice, that the Spirit in the Word hath ſhewed us things to come in the other World, which are our chief Concern.

2. The Spirit undertook to glorify Chriſt, v. 14. 15.

1. Even the ſending of the Spirit was the glorifying of Chriſt: God the Father glorified him in Heaven, and the Spirit glorified him on Earth. 'Twas the Honour of the Redeemer that the Spirit was both ſent in his Name, and ſent on his Errand, to carry on and perfect his Undertaking. All the Gifts and Graces of the Spirit, all the Preaching, and all the Writing of the Apoſtles under the Influence of the Spirit, Tongues, and Miracles, were to glorify Chriſt.

2. The Spirit glorified Chriſt by leading his Followers into the Truth as it is in Jeſus, Eph. 4. 21. He aſſures them,

1. That the Spirit ſhould communicate the Things of Chriſt to them; he ſhall receive of mine and ſhall ſhew it unto you. As in Eſſence he proceedeth from the Son, ſo in Influence and Operation he derives from him. He ſhall take, ἐκ τοῦ ἐμοῦ, of that which is mine: All that the Spirit ſhews us, that is, applies to us for our Inſtruction and Comfort, all he gives us for our Strength and Quickening, and all he ſecures and ſeals to us, did all belong to Chriſt, and was had and received from him. All was his, for he bought it, and paid dear for it, and therefore he had Reaſon to call it his own; his, for he firſt received it; it was given him as the Head of the Church, to be derived from him to all his Members. The Spirit came not to erect a new Kingdom, but to advance and eſtabliſh the ſame Kingdom that Chriſt had erected, to maintain the ſame Intereſt, and purſue the ſame Deſign. Thoſe therefore who pretend to the Spirit, and yet vilify Chriſt, give themſelves the Lie, for he came to glorify Chriſt.

2. That herein the Things of God ſhould be communicated to us. Leſt any ſhould think that the receiving of his would not make them much the richer, he adds, all Things that the Father has are mine. As God, all that Self-exiſtent Light, and Self-ſufficient Happineſs which the Father has, he has; as Mediator, all Things are delivered to him of the Father, Mat. 11. 27. all that Grace and Truth which God deſigned to ſhew to us, he lodged it in the Hands of the Lord Jeſus, Col. 1. 19. Spiritual Bleſſings in heavenly Things are given by the Father to the Son for us, and the Son intruſts the Spirit to convey them to us. Some apply it to that which goes juſt before, he ſhall ſhew you Things to come; and ſo 'tis explained by Rev. 1. 1. God gave it to Chriſt, and he ſignified it to John, who wrote what the Spirit ſaid, Rev. 1. 1.

16 A little while, and ye ſhall not ſee me: and again, a little while, and ye ſhall ſee me; becauſe I go to the Father. 17 Then ſaid ſome of his diſciples among themſelves, What is this that he ſaith unto us, A little while, and ye ſhall not ſee me: And again, a little while, and ye ſhall ſee me: and, Becauſe I go to the Father? 18 They ſaid therefore, What is this that he ſaith, A little while? we cannot tell what he ſaith. 19 Now Jeſus knew that they were deſirous to aſk him, and ſaid unto them, Do ye enquire among your ſelves of that I ſaid, A little while, and ye ſhall not ſee me: and again, a little while, and ye ſhall ſee me? 20 Verily verily I ſay unto you, that ye ſhall weep and lament, but the world ſhall rejoyce; and ye ſhall be ſorrowful, but your ſorrow ſhall be turned into joy. 21 A woman when ſhe is in travail, hath ſorrow, becauſe her hour is come; but as ſoon as ſhe is delivered of the child, ſhe remembereth no more the anguiſh, for joy that a Man is born into the world. 22 And ye now therefore have ſorrow: but I will ſee you again, and your heart ſhall rejoyce, and your joy no man taketh from you.

Our Lord Jeſus for the Comfort of his ſorrowful Diſciples, here promiſeth that he would viſit them again.

Firſt, Obſerve the Intimation he gave them of this Comfort, he deſigned them, v. 16. Here he tells them,

1. That they ſhould now ſhortly loſe the Sight of him; A little while, and ye that have ſeen me ſo long, and ſtill deſire to ſee me, ſhall not ſee me, and therefore if they had any good Queſtion to aſk him, they muſt aſk quickly, for he was now taking his Leave of them. Note, It is good to conſider how near to a Period our Seaſons of Grace are, that we may be quickened to improve them while they are continued. Now our Eyes ſee our Teachers, ſee the Days of the Son of Man, but perhaps yet a little while and we ſhall not ſee them. They loſt the Sight of Chriſt; (1.) At his Death; when he withdrew from this World, and never after ſhewed himſelf openly in it. The moſt that Death doth to our Chriſtian Friends, is to take them out of our Sight, not out of Being, not out of Bliſs, not out of all Relation to us; only out of Sight, and then not out of Mind. (2.) At his Aſcenſion; when he withdrew from them, who after his Reſurrection had for ſome Time converſed with him, out of their Sight a Cloud received him, and tho' they looked up ſtedfaſtly after him, they ſaw him no more, Acts 1. 9, 10. 2 Kings 2. 12. ſee 2 Cor. 5. 16.

2. That yet they ſhould ſpeedily recover the Sight of him; Again a little while and ye ſhall ſee me, and therefore you ought not to ſorrow as thoſe that had no Hope. His Farewel was not a final Farewel. They ſhould ſee him again; (1.) At his Reſurrection ſoon after his Death, when he ſhewed himſelf alive by many infallible Proofs, and this in a very little while, not forty Hours; ſee Hoſ. 6. 2. (2.) By the pouring out of the Spirit ſoon after his Aſcenſion, which ſcattered the Miſts of Ignorance, and Miſtakes, they were almoſt loſt in; and gave them a much clearer Inſight into the Myſteries of Chriſt's Goſpel than they had yet had. The Spirit's coming was Chriſt's Viſit to his Diſciples, not a tranſient, but a permanent one, and ſuch a Viſit as abundantly retrieved the Sight of him. (3.) At his ſecond coming. They ſaw him again as they removed one by one to him at Death, and they ſhall all ſee him together at the end of Time, when he ſhall come in the Clouds, and every Eye ſhall ſee him. It might truly be ſaid of this, 'twas but a little while and they ſhould ſee him, for what are the Days of Time, to the Days of Eternity? 2 Pet. 3. 8, 9.

The Reaſon given, is, Becauſe I go to the Father, and therefore, (1.) I muſt leave you for a Time, becauſe my Buſineſs calls me to the upper World, and you muſt be content to want me, for really my Buſineſs is yours. (2.) Therefore you ſhall ſee me again ſhortly, for the Father will not detain me to your Prejudice. If I go upon your Errand, you ſhall ſee me again as ſoon as my Buſineſs is done, as ſoon as is convenient. It ſhould ſeem, all this refers rather to his going away at Death, and return at his Reſurrection, than his going away at his Aſcenſion, and his return at the end of Time; for it was his Death that was their Grief, not his Aſcenſion, Luke 24. 52. And betwixt his Death and Reſurrection it was indeed a little while. And, it may be read, not yet a little while, it is not ἔτι μικρὸν, as it is, John 12. 35. but μικρὸν, for a little while ye ſhall not ſee me, viz. the three Days of his lying in the Grave; and again, for a little while and ye ſhall ſee me, viz. the Forty Days between his Reſurrection and Aſcenſion. Thus we may ſay of our Miniſters and Chriſtian Friends, yet a little while and ye ſhall not ſee them, either they muſt leave us or we leave them, but 'tis certain we muſt part ſhortly, and yet not part for ever: 'Tis but a good Night to them whom we hope to ſee with Joy in the Morning.

Secondly, The Perplexity of the Diſciples upon the Intimation given them, they were at a Loſs what to make of it, v. 17, 18. ſome of them ſaid ſoftly among themſelves, either ſome of the weakeſt that were leaſt able, or ſome of the moſt inquiſitive that were moſt deſirous to underſtand him, What is this that he ſaith to us? Though Chriſt had oft ſpoken to this purpoſe before, yet ſtill they were in the dark; tho' Precept be upon Precept, 'tis in vain, unleſs God give the Underſtanding. Now ſee here,

1. The Diſciples Weakneſs, in that they could not underſtand ſo plain a Saying which Chriſt had already given them a Key to, having told them ſo often in plain Terms that he ſhould be killed, and the Third Day riſe again; yet ſay they, We cannot tell what he ſaith. For, (1.) Sorrow had filled their Hearts, and made them unapt to receive the Impreſſions of Comfort. The darkneſs of Ignorance, and the Darkneſs of Melancholy commonly increaſe and thicken one another; Miſtakes cauſes Griefs, and then Griefs confirm Miſtakes. (2.) The Notion of Chriſt's ſecular Kingdom was ſo deeply rooted in them, that they could make no Senſe at all of thoſe Sayings of his which they knew not how to reconcile with that Notion. When we think the Scripture muſt be made to agree with the falſe Ideas we have imbibed, no wonder we complain of its Difficulty; but when our Reaſonings are captivated to Revelation, the Matter becomes eaſy. (3.) It ſhould ſeem, that which puzzled them, was, the little while. If he muſt go at laſt, yet they could not conceive how he ſhould leave them quickly, when his ſtay hitherto had been ſo ſhort, and ſo little Work comparatively done. Thus 'tis hard for us to repreſent to our ſelves that Change as near, which yet we know will come certainly, and may come ſuddenly. When we are told, yet a little while, and we muſt go hence, yet a little while, and we muſt give up our Account, we know not how to digeſt it, for we always took the Viſion to be for a great while to come, Ezek. 12. 27.

2. Their Willingneſs to be inſtructed. When they were at a Loſs about the meaning of Chriſt's Words, they conferred together upon it, and asked Help of one another. By mutual Converſe about Divine Things, we both borrow others Lights, and improve our own. Obſerve how exactly they repeat Chriſt's Words. Tho' we cannot fully ſolve every Difficulty we meet with in Scripture, yet we muſt not therefore throw it by, but revolve what we cannot explain, and wait till God ſhall reveal even this unto us.

Thirdly, The further Explication of what Chriſt had ſaid.

1. See here why Chriſt explained it, v. 19. becauſe he knew they were deſirous to aſk him, and deſigned it. Note, The Knots we cannot untye, we muſt bring to him, who alone can give an Underſtanding. Chriſt knew they were deſirous to aſk him, but were baſhful and aſhamed to aſk. Note, Chriſt takes Cognizance of pious Deſires, tho' they be not as yet offered up; the Groanings that cannot be uttered, and even prevents them with the Bleſſings of his Goodneſs. Chriſt inſtructed thoſe who he knew were deſirous to aſk him, tho' they did not aſk. Before we call he anſwers.

Another Reaſon why Chriſt explained it, was, becauſe he obſerved them canvaſſing this Matter among themſelves; Do ye enquire this among your ſelves? Well, I'll make it eaſy to you. This intimates to us who they are that Chriſt will teach, (1.) The Humble, that confeſs their Ignorance, for ſo much their Enquiry implied. (2.) The Diligent, that uſe the Means they have.

Do ye enquire? You ſhall be taught. To him that hath ſhall be given.

2. See here how he explain'd it, not by a nice and critical deſcant upon the Words, but by bringing the Thing more cloſely to them. He had told them of not ſeeing him, and ſeeing him, and they did not apprehend that, and therefore he explains it by their ſorrowing and rejoycing, becauſe we commonly meaſure Things according as they affect us. Ver. 20. Ye ſhall weep and lament for my departure, but the World ſhall rejoyce in it; and ye ſhall be ſorrowful while I am abſent, but upon my return to you, your Sorrow will be turn'd into Joy. But he ſaith nothing of the little while, becauſe he ſaw that perplex'd them more than any Thing; and 'tis no matter for our knowing the Times, and the Seaſons. Note Believers have Joy or Sorrow, according as they have, or have not a Sight of Chriſt, and the Tokens of his Preſence with them.

What Chriſt ſaith here, and v. 21. 22. of their Sorrow and Joy,

1. Is primarily to be underſtood of the preſent State and Circumſtances of the Diſciples; and ſo we have,

(1.) Their Grief foretold; ye ſhall weep and lament, and ye ſhall be ſorrowful. The Sufferings of Chriſt could not but be the Sorrow of his Diſciples; they wept for him becauſe they loved him; the Pain of our Friend is a Pain to our ſelves; when they wept, 'twas for Sorrow, Luke 22. 45. they wept for themſelves, and their own loſs, and the ſad Apprehenſions they had what would become of them when he was gone. It could not but be a Grief to loſe him for whom they had left their all, and from whom they expected ſo much. Chriſt has given Notice to his Diſciples before-hand to expect Sorrow, that they may treaſure up Comforts accordingly.

(2.) The World's Rejoycing at the ſame Time;——But the World ſhall rejoyce. That which is the Grief of Saints is the Joy of Sinners. (1.) They that are Strangers to Chriſt will continue in their carnal Mirth and not at all Intereſt themſelves in their Sorrows. 'Tis nothing to them that paſs by, Lam. 1. 12. Nay, (2.) They that are Enemies to Chriſt will therefore rejoyce, becauſe they hope they have conquer'd him, and ruined his Intereſt. When the Chief Prieſts had Chriſt upon the Croſs, we may ſuppoſe they made merry over him, as they that dwell on Earth over the ſlain Witneſſes. Rev. 11. 10. Let it be no ſurprize to us if we ſee others triumphing when we are trembling for the Ark.

(3.) The return of Joy to them in due Time; But your Sorrow ſhall be turned into Joy. As the Joy of the Hypocrite, ſo the Sorrow of the true Chriſtian is but for a Moment. The Diſciples were glad when they ſaw the Lord. His Reſurrection was Life from the Dead to them; and their Sorrow for Chriſt's Sufferings was turn'd into Joy of ſuch a Nature as could not be dampt and imbittered by any Suffering of their own. They were ſorrowful, and yet always rejoycing, 2 Cor. 6. 10. had ſorrowful Lives, and yet joyful Hearts.

2. 'Tis applicable to all the faithful Followers of the Lamb, and deſcribes the common Caſe of Chriſtians.

1. Their Condition and Diſpoſition are both mournful; Sorrows are their Lot, and Seriouſneſs is their Temper: They that are acquainted with Chriſt, muſt, as he was, be acquainted with Grief: They weep and lament for that which others make light of, their own Sins, and the Sins of thoſe about them. They mourn with Sufferers that mourn, and mourn for Sinners that mourn not for themſelves.

2. The World at the ſame Time goes away with all the Mirth; they laugh now and ſpend their Days ſo jovially, that one would think they neither knew Sorrow, nor feared it. Carnal Mirth and Pleaſures are ſurely none of the beſt Things, for then the worſt Men would not have ſo large a ſhare of them, and the Favourites of Heaven be ſure Strangers to them.

3. Spiritual Mourning will ſhortly be turned into Eternal Rejoycing. Gladneſs is ſown for the upright in Heart that ſow in Tears, and without doubt they ſhall ſhortly reap in Joy. Their Sorrow will not only be followed with Joy, but turn'd into it, for the moſt precious Comforts take riſe from pious Griefs.

This he illuſtrates by a Similitude taken from a Woman in travail, to whoſe Sorrows he compares thoſe of his Diſciples, for their Encouragement; for it is the will of Chriſt that his People ſhould be a comforted People.

1. Here's the Similitude or Parable it ſelf, v. 21. A Woman, we know when ſhe is in Travail hath ſorrow, ſhe is in exquiſite pain, becauſe her Hour is come, the Hour which Nature and Providence have fixed, which ſhe hath expected, and cannot eſcape; but as ſoon as ſhe is delivered of the Child, provided ſhe be ſafely delivered, and the Child be, tho a Jabez, (1 Chron. 4. 9.) yet not a Benoni, Gen. 35. 18. then ſhe remembers no more the Anguiſh, her Groans and Complaints are all over; and the after Pains are eaſier born for Joy that a Man is born into the World, ἄνθρωπος one of the human Race, a Child, be it Son or Daughter, for the Word ſpeaks either. Obſerve,

(1.) The Fruit of the Curſe in the Sorrow and pain of a Woman in Travail, according to the Sentence, Gen 3. 16. In Sorrow ſhalt thou bring forth. Theſe Pains are extreme, the greateſt Griefs and Pains are compared to them, Pſal. 48.6. Iſa. 13. 8. and 21. 3. Jer. 4. 31. and 6. 24. and they are inevitable, 1 Theſ. 5. 3. See what this World is, all its Roſes are ſurrounded with Thorns; all the Children of Men are upon this account fooliſh Children, that they are the heavineſs of her that bore them from the very firſt. This comes of Sin.

(2.) The Fruit of the Bleſſing in the Joy, that is for a Child born into the World. If God had not preſerved the Bleſſing in force after the Fall, Be fruitful and multiply, Parents could never have looked upon their Children with any Comfort, but what is the Fruit of a Bleſſing is Matter of Joy. The Birth of a living Child, is, (1.) The Parents Joy; it makes them very glad, Jer. 20. 15. Tho' Children are certain Cares, uncertain Comforts, and oft prove the greateſt Croſſes, yet 'tis natural to us to rejoyce at their Birth. Could we be ſure that our Children like John, ſhould be fill'd with the Holy Ghoſt, we might indeed like his Parents have Joy and Gladneſs in their Birth, Luke 1. 14. 15. But when we conſider, not only that they are born in ſin, but as it is here expreſſed, they are born into the World, a World of Snares, and a Vale of Tears, we ſhall ſee Reaſon to rejoyce with trembling, leſt it ſhould prove better for them they had never been born.

(3.) 'Tis ſuch Joy as makes the anguiſh not to be remembered, or remembered as Waters that paſs away, Job, 11. 16. Hoc olim meminiſſe juvabit, Gen. 41. 51. Now this is very proper to ſet forth, (1.) The Sorrows of Chriſt's Diſciples in this World, they are like travailing Pains, ſure and ſharp, but not to laſt long, and in order to a joyful Product; they are in pain to be delivered, as the Church is deſcrib'd, Rev. 12. 2. and the whole Creation Rom. 8. 24. And, (2.) Their Joys after theſe Sorrows, which will wipe away all Tears, for the former Things are paſſed away, Rev. 21. 4. when they are born into that bleſſed World, and reap the Fruit of all their Services and Sorrows, the Toil and Anguiſh of this World will be no more remembered, as Chriſt's were not, when he ſaw of the Travail of his Soul abundantly to his Satisfaction, Iſa. 53. 11.

2. The Reddition of the Similitude, v. 22. Ye now have Sorrow, and are likely to have more. But I will ſee you again, and you me and then all will be well.

1. Here again he tells them of their Sorrow; ye now therefore have Sorrow; therefore becauſe I am leaving you, as is intimated in the Antitheſis, I will ſee you again. Note, Chriſt's withdrawings are juſt Cauſe of Grief to his Diſciples: If he hide his Face, they cannot but be troubled. When the Sun ſets the Sun Flower will hang the Head. And Chriſt takes notice of thoſe Griefs, has a Bottle for the Tears, and a Book for the Sighs of all gracious Mourners.

2. He more largely than before aſſures them of a return of Joy, Pſal. 30. 5. 11. He himſelf went through his own Griefs, and bore ours for the Joy that was ſet before him; and he would have us encourage our ſelves with the ſame Proſpect. Three Things recommend the Joy.

1. The Cauſe of it. I will ſee you again; I will make you a kind and friendly Viſit to enquire after you, and miniſter Comfort to you. Note, 1. Chriſt will graciouſly return to thoſe that wait for him, tho' for a ſmall Moment he has ſeemed to forſake them, Iſa. 54. 7. Men when they are preferred will ſcarce look upon their Inferiors, but the exalted Jeſus will viſit his Diſciples: They ſhall not only ſee him in his Glory, but he will ſee them in their Meanneſs. 2. Chriſt's returns are returns of Joy to all his Diſciples. When clouded Evidences are clear'd up, interrupted Communion reviv'd, Then is the Mouth fill'd with laughter.

2. The Cordialneſs of it, Your Hearts ſhall rejoyce. Divine Conſolations put gladneſs into the Heart. Joy in the Heart is ſolid, and not flaſhy, ſecret, and that which a Stranger doth not intermeddle with: 'Tis ſweet, and gives a good Man Satisfaction in himſelf; 'tis ſure, and not eaſily broken in upon. Chriſt's Diſciples ſhould heartily rejoyce in his Returns, ſincerely and greatly.

3. The Continuance of it, Your Joy no Man taketh from you. Men will attempt to take their Joy from them, they would if they could, but they ſhall not prevail. Some underſtand it of the Eternal Joy of them that are glorified; they that are entered into the Joy of the Lord ſhall go no more out. Our Joys on Earth we are liable to be robbed of by a Thouſand Accidents, but heavenly Joys are everlaſting. But I rather underſtand it of the ſpiritual Joys of thoſe that are ſanctified, particularly the Apoſtles Joy in their Apoſtleſhip: Thanks be to God, ſaith Paul, in the Name of the reſt, who always cauſeth us to Triumph, 2 Cor. 2. 14. A malicious World would have taken it from them; if Bonds and Baniſhments, Tortures and Deaths would have taken it from them, they had loſt it; but when they took every Thing elſe from them, they could not take this, As ſorrowful, yet always rejoycing. They could not rob them of their Joy, becauſe they could not ſeparate them from the love of Chriſt, could not rob them of their God, nor of their Treaſure in Heaven.

23 And in that day ye ſhall ask me nothing: Verily verily I ſay unto you, Whatſoever ye ſhall ask the Father in my name, he will give it you. 24 Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask and ye ſhall receive, that your joy may be full. Theſe things have I ſpoken unto you in proverbs: the time cometh, when I ſhall no more ſpeak unto you in proverbs, but I ſhall ſhew you plainly of the Father. 26 At that day ye ſhall ask in my name: and I ſay not unto you, that I will pray the Father for you: 27 For the Father himſelf loveth you, becauſe ye have loved me, and have believed that I came out from God.

An Anſwer to their asking is here promiſed for their further Comfort. Now there are Two Ways of asking; asking by way of Enquiry, that's the asking of the Ignorant; and asking by way of Requeſt, and that's the asking of the Indigent: Chriſt here ſpeaks of both;

Firſt, By way of Enquiry, they ſhould not need to ask, v. 23. In that Day ye ſhall ask me nothing; ȣ̓κ ἐρωτήσετε ȣ̓δὲν, Ye ſhall ask no Queſtions. You ſhall have ſuch a clear Knowledge of Goſpel Myſteries by the opening of your Underſtandings, that you ſhall not need to enquire; as Heb, 8. 11. They ſhall not teach; you ſhall have more Knowledge on a ſudden than hitherto ye have had by diligent Attendance. They had asked ſome ignorant Queſtions, as John 9. 2. ſome ambitious Queſtions, as Mat. 18. 1. ſome diſtruſtful ones, as Mat 19. 27. ſome impertinent ones, as John 21. 21. ſome curious ones, as Acts 1. 6. but after the Spirit was poured out, nothing of all this. In the the Story of the Apoſtles Acts we ſeldom find them asking Queſtions, as David, Shall I do this? Or ſhall I go thither? For they were conſtantly under a Divine Conduct. In that weighty Caſe of preaching the Goſpel to the Gentiles, Peter went, nothing Doubting, Acts 10. 20. Asking Queſtions ſuppoſeth us at a loſs, or at leaſt at a ſtand, and the beſt of us have need to ask Queſtions; but we ſhould aim at ſuch a full Aſſurance of Underſtanding, as that we may not heſitate, but be conſtantly led in a plain Path both of Truth and Duty.

Now for this he gives a Reaſon, v. 25. which plainly refers to this Promiſe, that they ſhould not need to ask Queſtions. Theſe Things have I ſpoken unto you in Proverbs, in ſuch a Way as you have not thought ſo plain and intelligible as you could have wiſh'd, but the Time cometh when I ſhall ſhew you plainly, as plainly as you can deſire of the Father, ſo that you ſhall not need to ask Queſtions.

1. The great Thing Chriſt would lead them into was the Knowledge of God: I will ſhew you the Father, and bring you acquainted with him. This is that which Chriſt deſigns to give, and which all true Chriſtians deſire to have. When Chriſt would ſpeak the greateſt Favour intended for his Diſciples, he tells them he would ſhew them plainly the Father; for what is the Happineſs of Heaven, but immediately, and everlaſtingly to ſee God? To know God as as the Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, is the greateſt Myſtery for the Underſtanding to pleaſe it ſelf with the Contemplation of: And to know him as our Father, is the greateſt Happineſs for the Will and Affections to pleaſe themſelves with the Choice and Enjoyment of.

2. Of this he had hitherto ſpoken to them in Proverbs, which are wiſe Sayings, and inſtructive, but figurative, and reſting in Generals. Chriſt had ſpoken many Things very plainly to them, and expounded his Parables privately to his Diſciples. But, (1.) Conſidering their dulneſs and unaptneſs to receive what he ſaid to them, he might be ſaid to ſpeak in Proverbs; what he ſaid to them was as a Book ſealed, Iſa. 29. 11. (2.) Comparing the Diſcoveries he had made to them, in what he had ſpoken to their Ears with what he would make to them when he would put his Spirit into their Hearts. All hitherto had been but Proverbs: 'Twould be a pleaſing ſurprize to themſelves, and they would think themſelves in a new World when they would reflect upon all their former Notions as confuſed and ænigmatical, compared with their preſent clear, and diſtinct Knowledge of Divine Things. The Miniſtration of the Letter was nothing to that of the Spirit, 2. Cor. 3. 8, 11. (3.) Confining it to what he had ſaid of the Father, and the Counſels of the Father, what he had ſaid was very dark, compared with what was ſhortly to be revealed, Col. 2. 2.

3. He would ſpeak to them plainly, παῤῥησίᾳ, with freedom, of the Father. When the Spirit was poured out, the Apoſtles attained to a much greater Knowledge of Divine Things than they had before, as appears by the utterance the Spirit gave them, Acts 2. 4. Theſe Things which they had a very confuſed Idea of before they were led into the Myſtery of; and what the Spirit ſhewed them, Chriſt is here ſaid to ſhew them, for as the Father ſpeaks by the Son, ſo the Son by the Spirit. But this promiſe will have its full Accompliſhment in Heaven, where we ſhall ſee the Father as he is, Face to Face, not as we do now, through a Glaſs darkly, 1 Cor. 13. 12. which is Matter of Comfort to us under the Cloud of preſent Darkneſs, by reaſon of which we cannot order our Speech, but often diſorder it. While we are here we have many Queſtions to ask concerning the inviſible God, and the inviſible World, but in that Day we ſhall ſee all Things clearly, and ask no more Queſtions.

Secondly, He promiſeth that by way of Requeſt. they ſhould ask nothing in vain. 'Tis taken for granted that all Chriſt's Diſciples give themſelves to Prayer: He had taught them by his Precept and Pattern to be much in Prayer; that muſt be their Support and Comfort when he had left them; their Inſtruction, Direction, Strength and Succeſs muſt be fetch'd in by Prayer.

Now, 1. Here is an expreſs Promiſe of a Grant, v. 23. The Preface to this Promiſe is ſuch as makes it inviolably ſure, and leaves no room to queſtion it; Verily, verily, I ſay unto you, I pawn my Veracity upon it; The Promiſe it ſelf is incomparably Rich, and Sweet; the golden Scepter is here held out to us, with this Word, What is thy Petition, and it ſhall be granted? For he ſaith, Whatſoever ye ſhall ask the Father in my Name he will give it you. We had it before, Chap. 14. 13. What would we more? The Promiſe is as expreſs as we can deſire.

(1.) We are here taught how to ſeek; we muſt ask the Father in Chriſt's Name; we muſt have an Eye to God as a Father, and come as Children to him; and to Chriſt as Mediator, and come as Clients. Asking of the Father includes a Senſe of ſpiritual Wants, and a deſire of ſpiritual Bleſſings, with a Conviction that they are to be had from God only: As alſo a Humility of Addreſs to him, with a believing Confidence in him, as a Father able and ready to help us. Asking in Chriſt's Name includes an Acknowledgment of our own Unworthineſs to receive any Favour from God, and a complacency in the Method God has taken of keeping up a Correſpondency with us by his Son, and an intire Dependance upon Chriſt as the Lord our Righteouſneſs.

(2.) We are here told how we ſhall ſpeed; He will give it you. What more can we wiſh for, than to have what we want, nay, to have what we will, in Conformity to God's Will, for the asking. He will give it you, from whom proceedeth every good and perfect Gift. What Chriſt purchaſed by the Merit of his Death, he needed not for himſelf, but intended it for, and conſign'd it to his faithful Followers; and having given a valuable Conſideration for it, which was accepted in full, by this Promiſe he draws a Bill as it were upon the Treaſury in Heaven, which we are to preſent by Prayer, and in his Name to ask for that which is purchaſed and promiſed, according to the true intent of the New Covenant. Chriſt had promiſed them great Illumination by the Spirit, but they muſt pray for it, and did ſo, Acts 1. 14. God will for this be enquired of. He had promiſed them Perfection hereafter, but what ſhall they do in the mean Time? They muſt continue praying. Perfect Fruition is reſerved for the Land of our Reſt; Asking and Receiving is the Comfort of the Land of our Pilgrimage.

2. Here is an Invitation to them to petition. 'Tis thought ſufficient if Great Men permit Addreſſes, but Chriſt calls upon us to petition, v. 24.

1. He looks back upon their Practice hitherto, Hitherto have ye ask'd nothing in my Name. That refers either, (1.) To the Matter of their Prayers. Ye have asked nothing comparatively, nothing to what you might have ask'd, and will ask when the Spirit is poured out. See what a generous Benefactor our Lord Jeſus is above all Benefactors; he gives liberally, and is ſo far from upbraiding us with the frequency and largeneſs of his Gifts, that he rather upbraids us with the ſeldomneſs and ſtraitneſs of our Requeſts: You have asked nothing in compariſon of what you want, and what I have to give, and have promiſed to give. We are bid to open our Mouths wide. Or, (2.) To the Name in which they prayed. They prayed many a Prayer, but never ſo expreſly in the Name of Chriſt as now he was directing them to do; for he had not as yet offered that great Sacrifice, in the Virtue of which our Prayers were to be accepted, nor entered upon his Interceſſion for us, the Incenſe whereof was to perfume all our Devotions, and ſo enable us to pray in his Name. Hitherto they had caſt out Devils and healed Diſeaſes in the Name of Chriſt, as a King and Prophet, but they could not as yet diſtinctly pray in his Name as a Prieſt.

2. He looks forwards to their Practice for the future. Ask and ye ſhall receive, that your Joy may be full. Here, (1.) he directs them to ask for all that which they needed, and had promiſed. (2.) He aſſures them that they ſhall receive. What we ask from a Principle of Grace, God will graciouſly give: Ye ſhall receive it. There's ſomething more in that than in the Promiſe, that he will give it. He will not only give it, but give you to receive it, give you the Comfort and Benefit of it, a Heart to eat of it, Eccl. 6. 2. (3.) That hereby their Joy ſhall be full. Which ſpeaks, (1.) The Bleſſed Effect of the Prayer of Faith, it helps to fill up the Joy of Faith. Would we have our Joy full, as full as it is capable of being in this World, we muſt be much in Prayer. When we are bid to Rejoyice evermore, it follows immediately, Pray without ceaſing. See how high we are to aim in Prayer, not at Peace but at Joy, a fullneſs of Joy. Or, (2.) The bleſſed Effects of the Anſwer of Peace. Ask and ye ſhall receive that which will fill your Joy. Chriſt's Gifts through Chriſt fill the Treaſures of the Soul, they fill its Joys, Prov. 8. 21. Ask for the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt and ye ſhall receive it; and where as other Knowledge increaſeth Sorrow, Eccl. 1. 1. the Knowledge he gives will increaſe, will fill your Joy.

3. Here are the Grounds upon which they might hope to ſpeed, v. 26, 27. which are ſumm'd up in ſhort by the Apoſtle, 1 John 2. 1. We have an Advocate with the Father.

1. We have an Advocate, and as to that Chriſt ſaw cauſe at preſent not to inſiſt upon it, only to make the following Encouragement ſhine brighter. I ſay not unto you that I will pray the Father for you. Suppoſe I ſhould not tell you that I will intercede for you, ſhould not undertake to ſollicite every particular Cauſe you have depending there, yet it may be a general Ground of Comfort that I have ſettled a Coreſpondence between you and God; have erected a Throne of Grace, and conſecrated for you a new and living Way into the holieſt. He ſpeaks as if they needed not any further Favours, when he had prevailed for the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt to make Interceſſion within them, as a Spirit of Adoption, crying Abba, Father; as if they had no further need of him to pray for them now, but we ſhall find he doth more for us than he ſaith he will. Men's Performances often come ſhort of their Promiſes, but Chriſt's go beyond them.

2. We have to do with a Father, which is ſo great an Encouragement, that it doth in a manner ſuperſede the other. For the Father himſelf loveth you, φιλεῖ ὑμᾶς, He is a Friend to you, and you cannot be better befriended. Note, The Diſciples of Chriſt are the beloved of God himſelf. Chriſt not only turned away God's Wrath from us, and brought us into the Covenant of Peace and Reconciliation, but purchaſed his Favour for us, and brought us into a Covenant of Friendſhip. Obſerve what an Emphaſis is laid upon this, the Father himſelf loveth you; who is perfectly happy in the Enjoyment of himſelf, whoſe Self-love is both his infinite Rectitude, and his infinite Bleſſedneſs, yet he is pleaſed to love you. The Father himſelf, whoſe Favour you have forfeited, and whoſe Wrath you have incurr'd, and with whom you need an Advocate, he himſelf now loves you.

Obſerve, 1. Why the Father loved the Diſciples of Chriſt, Becauſe ye have loved me, and have believed that I came out from God, i. e. becauſe ye are my Diſciples indeed; not as if the Love began on their Side, but when by his Grace he has wrought in us a Love to him, he is well-pleaſed with the Work of his own Hands. See here, (1.) What is the Character of Chriſt's Diſciples; they love him becauſe they believe he came out from God, is the only begotten of the Father, and his High Commiſſioner to the World. Note, Faith in Chriſt works by Love to him, Gal. 5. 6. If we believe him to be the Son of God, we cannot but love him as infinitely lovely in himſelf; and if we believe him to be our Saviour, we cannot but love him as the moſt kind to us. Obſerve with what reſpect Chriſt is pleaſed to ſpeak of his Diſciples Love to him, and how kindly he took it; he ſpeaks of it as that which recommended them to his Father's Favour. Ye have loved me, and believed in me when the World has hated and rejected me; and you ſhall be diſtinguiſhed who have thus diſtinguiſhed your ſelves. (2.) See what Advantage Chriſt's faithful Diſciples have, the Father loves them, and that becauſe they love Chriſt; ſo well pleaſed is he in him, that he is well pleaſed with all his Friends.

2. What Encouragement this gave them in Prayer. They need not fear ſpeeding when they came to one that loved them, and wiſh'd them well. (1.) This cautions us againſt hard Thoughts of God. When we were taught in Prayer to plead Chriſt's Merit and Interceſſion, 'tis not as if all the Kindneſs were in Chriſt only, and in God nothing but Wrath and Fury; no, the Matter is not ſo, the Father's Love and good Will appointed Chriſt to be the Mediator; ſo that we owe Chriſt's Merit to God's Mercy in giving him for us. (2.) Let it cheriſh and confirm in us good Thoughts of God. Believers that love Chriſt ought to know that God loves them, and therefore to come boldly to him as Children to a loving Father.

28 I came forth from the Father, and am come into the World: again, I leave the World, and go to the Father. 29 His diſciples ſaid unto him, Lo, now ſpeakeſt thou plainly, and ſpeakeſt no proverb. 30 Now are we ſure that thou knoweſt all things, and needeſt not that any man ſhould ask thee: by this we believe that thou cameſt forth from God. 31 Jeſus anſwered them, Do ye now believe? 32 Behold, the hour cometh, yea, is now come, that ye ſhall be ſcattered every man to his own, and ſhall leave me alone: and yet I am not alone, becauſe the Father is with me. 33 Theſe things I have ſpoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the World ye ſhall have tribulation: but be of good cheer, I have overcome the World.

Two Things Chriſt here comforts his Diſciples with:

Firſt, With an Aſſurance that, tho' he was leaving the World, he was returning to his Father, from whom he came forth, v. 28--32. Where we have,

1. A plain Declaration of Chriſt's Miſſion from the Father, and his return to him, v. 28. I am come forth from the Father, and am come, as you ſee, into the World: Again, I leave the World, as you will ſee ſhortly, and go to the Father. This is the Concluſion of the whole Matter: There was nothing he had more inculcated upon them, than theſe Two Things, whence he came, and whither he went; the Alpha and Omega of the Myſtery of Godlineſs, 1 Tim. 3. 16. That the Redeemer in his Entrance was God manifeſt in the Fleſh, and in his Exit was received up into Glory. Theſe Two great Truths are here, (1.) Contracted, and put into a few Words. Brief Summaries of Chriſtian Doctrine are of great uſe to young Beginners. The Principles of the Oracles of God brought into a little Compaſs in Creeds and Catechiſms, have like the Beams of the Sun contracted in a Burning-Glaſs, convey'd Divine Light and Heat with a wonderful Power. Such we have, Job 28. 28. Eccl. 12, 13. 1. Tim. 1. 15. Tit. 2. 11, 12. 1 John 5. 11. much in a little. (2.) Compared and ſet the one over againſt the other. There is an admirable Harmony in Divine Truths; they do both corroborate and illuſtrate one another; Chriſt's coming and his going to do ſo; Chriſt had commended his Diſciples for believing that he came forth from God, v. 27. and from thence infers the neceſſity and equity of his returning to God again, which therefore ſhould not ſeem to them either ſtrange or ſad. Note, The due improvement of what we know and own would help us into the underſtanding of that which ſeems difficult and doubtful.

If we ask concerning the Redeemer, whence he came, and whither he went, we are here told,

1. That he came forth from the Father, who ſanctified and ſeal'd him; and he came into this World, this lower World, this World of Mankind, among whom by his Incarnation he was pleaſed to incorporate himſelf: Here his Buſineſs lay, and hither he came to attend it. He left his Home for this ſtrange Country; his Palace for this Cottage; wonderful Condeſcenſion!

2. That when he had done his Work on Earth, he left the World, and went back to his Father at his Aſcenſion. He was not forced away, but made it his own Act and Deed to leave this World, to return to it no more till he comes to put an End to it; yet ſtill he is ſpiritually preſent with his Church, and will be to the End.

3. The Diſciples Satisfaction in this Declaration, v. 29, 30. Lo now ſpeakeſt thou plainly. It ſhould ſeem this one Word of Chriſt did them more good than all the reſt, though he had ſaid many Things likely enough to faſten upon them. The Spirit as the Wind, blows when and where, and by what Word he pleaſeth; perhaps a Word that has been ſpoken once, yea twice, and not perceived, yet being often repeated takes hold at laſt.

Two Things they improved in by this Saying.

1. In Knowledge: Lo, now ſpeakeſt thou plainly. When they were in the dark concerning what he ſaid, they did not ſay, Lo, now ſpeakeſt thou obſcurely, and blaming him; but now they apprehend his meaning, they give him Glory for condeſcending to their Capacity, Lo, now ſpeakeſt thou plainly. Divine Truths are then moſt likely to do good when they are ſpoken plainly, 1 Cor. 2. 4. Obſerve how they triumphed, as the Mathematician did with his εὕρηκα, εὕρηκα, when he had lit upon a Demonſtration he had long been in queſt of, I have found it, I have found it. Note, When Chriſt is pleaſed to ſpeak plainly to our Souls, and to bring us with open Face to behold the Glory, we have Reaſon to rejoyce in it.

2. In Faith: Now are we ſure. Obſerve,

1. What was the Matter of their Faith, We believe that thou cameſt forth from God. He had ſaid, v. 27. that they did believe this, Lord (ſay they) we do believe it, and we have cauſe to believe it, and we know that we believe it, and have the Comfort of it.

2. What was the Motive of their Faith? His Omniſcience. This proved him a Teacher come from God, and more than a Prophet, that he knew all Things, which they were convinced of by this, that he reſolved thoſe Doubts which were hid in their Hearts, and anſwered the Scruples they had not confeſs'd. Note, Theſe know Chriſt beſt that know him by Experience; that can ſay of his Power, it works in me; of his Love, that he loved me. And this proves Chriſt not only to have a Divine Miſſion, but to be a Divine Perſon; that he is a diſcerner of the Thoughts and Intents of the Heart, therefore the eſſential Eternal Word, Heb. 4 12, 13. He has made all the Churches to know that he ſearcheth the Reins and the Heart, Rev 2. 23. This confirmed the Faith of the Diſciples here, as it made the firſt Impreſſion upon the Woman of Samaria, that Chriſt told her all Things that ever ſhe did, John 4. 29. and upon Nathanael, that Chriſt ſaw him under the Fig-tree, John 1. 49.

Theſe Words, And needeſt not that any Man ſhould ask thee, may ſpeak either, (1.) Chriſt's aptneſs to Teach. He prevents us with his Inſtructions, and is communicative of the Treaſures of Wiſdom and Knowledge that are hid in him, and needs not to be importun'd. Or (2.) His Ability to teach. Thou needeſt not, as other Teachers, to have the Learner's Doubts told thee, for thou knoweſt without being told what they ſtumble at. The beſt of Teachers can only anſwer what is ſpoken, but Chriſt can anſwer what is Thought, what we are afraid to ask, as the Diſciples were, Mark. 9. 32. Thus he can have Compaſſion, Heb. 5. 2.

3. The gentle Rebuke Chriſt gave the Diſciples for their Confidence, that they now underſtood him, v. 31, 32. obſerving how they triumphed in their Attainments, he ſaid, Do ye now believe? Do ye now look upon your ſelves as advanced and confirmed Diſciples? Do ye now think you ſhall make no more Blunders? alas, ye know not your own Weakneſs; you will very ſhortly be ſcattered every Man to his own, &c. Here we have,

1. A Queſtion deſigned to put them upon Conſideration, Do ye now believe? (1.) If now, why not ſooner? Have ye not heard the ſame Things many a Time before? They who after many Inſtructions and Invitations, are at laſt perſwaded to believe, have reaſon to be aſhamed that they ſtood it out ſo long. (2.) If now, why not ever? When an Hour of Temptation comes, where will your Faith be then? As far as there is Inconſtancy in our Faith, there is cauſe to queſtion the Sincerity of it, and to ask, Do we indeed believe?

2. Prediction of their Fall; that how confident ſoever they were now of their own ſtability, in a little Time they would all deſert him; which was fulfilled that very Night, when upon his being ſeized by a Party of the Guards, All his Diſciples forſook him and fled, Mat. 26. 56. They were ſcattered, (1.) From one another, they ſhifted every one for his own Safety, without any Care or Concern for each other. Troubleous Times are Times of ſcattering to Chriſtian Societies; in the cloudy and dark Day, the Flock of Chriſt is diſperſed, Ezek. 39. 12. ſo Chriſt as a Society is not viſible. (2.) Scattered from him; ye ſhall leave me alone. They ſhould have been Witneſſes for him upon his Trial, ſhould have miniſtered to him in his Sufferings; if they could have given him no Comfort, they might have done him ſome Credit; but they were aſhamed of his Chain, and afraid of ſharing with him in his Sufferings, and left him alone. Note, Many a good Cauſe when it is diſtreſſed by its Enemies, is deſerted by its Friends. The Diſciples had continued with Chriſt in his other Temptations, and yet turned their Back upon him now; thoſe that are tried, do not always prove truſty. If we at any time find our Friends unkind to us, let us remember that Chriſt's were ſo to him.

When they left him alone, they were ſcattered every Man to his own; not to their own Poſſeſſions or Habitations, thoſe were in Galilee, but to their own Friends and Acquaintance in Jeruſalem; every one went his own way, where he fancied he ſhould be moſt ſafe. Every Man to ſecure his own, i. e. himſelf and his own Life. Note, Thoſe will not dare to ſuffer for their Religion that ſeek their own Things, more than the Things of Chriſt, and that look upon the Things of this World as their τὰ ἴδια, their own Propriety, and in which their Happineſs is bound up. Now obſerve here,

(1.) Chriſt knew before, that his Diſciples would thus deſert him in the critical Moment, and yet he was ſtill tender of them, and in nothing unkind. We are ready to ſay of ſome, if we could have foreſeen their Ingratitude, we would not have been ſo prodigal of our Favours to them; Chriſt did foreſee theirs, and yet was kind to them.

(2.) He told them of it to be a Rebuke to their Exultation, in their preſent Attainments. Do ye now believe? Be not high-minded, but fear; for you will find your Faith ſo ſorely ſhaken, as to make it queſtionable whether it be ſincere or no in a little time. Note, Even then when we are taking the Comfort of our Graces, it is good to be minded of our Danger from our Corruptions. When our Faith is ſtrong, our Love flaming, and Evidences clear, yet we cannot infer from thence, that to Morrow ſhall be as this Day. Even then when we have moſt Reaſon to think we ſtand, yet we have Reaſon enough to take heed leſt we fall.

(3.) He ſpoke of it as a thing very near. The Hour was already come in a manner, when they would be as ſhy of him, as ever they had been fond of him. Note, A little Time may produce great Changes, both concerning us, and in us.

3. An Aſſurance of his own Comfort notwithſtanding; yet I am not alone. He would not be thought to complain of their deſerting him, as if it were any real Damage to him, for in their Abſence he ſhould be ſure of his Father's Preſence, which was inſtar omnium, the Father is with me. We may conſider this,

1. As a Privilege peculiar to the Lord Jeſus; the Father was ſo with him in his Sufferings as he never was with any, for ſtill he was in the Boſom of the Father. The Divine Nature did not deſert the human Nature, but ſupported it, and put an invincible Comfort, and an ineſtimable Value into his Sufferings, The Father had engaged to be with him in his whole Undertaking, Pſal. 89. 21, &c. and to preſerve him, Iſa. 49. 8. and this emboldened him, Iſa. 50. 7. then when he complained of his Father's forſaking him, yet he called him my God, and preſently after, was ſo well aſſured of his favourable Preſence with him, as to commit his Spirit into his Hand. This he had comforted himſelf with all along, John 8. 29. He that ſent me is with me, the Father hath not left me alone, and eſpecially now at laſt. This aſſiſts our Faith in the Acceptableneſs of Chriſt's Satisfaction; no doubt the Father was well pleaſed in him, for he went along with him in his Undertaking from firſt to laſt.

2. As a Privilege common to all Believers, by Virtue of their Union with Chriſt, when they are alone, they are not alone, but the Father is with them. (1.) When Solitude is their Choice, when they are alone as Iſaac in the Field, Nathaniel under the Fig-tree, Peter upon the Houſe-top, meditating and praying; the Father is with them. They that converſe with God in Solitude, are never leſs alone than when alone. A good God and a good Heart, are good Company at any Time. 2. When Solitude is their Affliction, their Enemies lay them alone, and their Friends leave them ſo, their Company like Job's, is made deſolate, yet they are not ſo much alone as they are thought to be, the Father is with them, as he was with Joſeph in his Bonds, and with John in his Baniſhment. In their greateſt Trouble, they are as one whom his Father pities, as one whom his Mother comforts. And while we have God's favourable Preſence with us, we are happy, and ought to be eaſy, tho' all the World forſake us. Non Deo tribuimus juſtum honorem; niſi ſolus ipſe nobis ſufficiat. Calvin.

Secondly, He comforts them with a Promiſe of Peace in him, by Virtue of his Victory over the World, whatever Troubles they might meet with in it, v. 33. Theſe Things I have ſpoken, that in me ye might have Peace, and if ye have it not in me, ye will not have it at all, for in the World ye ſhall have Tribulation, you muſt expect no other, and yet may chear up your ſelves, for I have overcome the World. Obſerve,

1. The End Chriſt aim'd at in preaching this Farewel Sermon to his Diſciples; That in him they might have Peace. He did not hereby intend to give them a full View of that Doctrine which they were ſhortly to be made Maſters of, by the pouring out of the Spirit, but only to ſatisfy them for the preſent, that his Departure from them was really for the beſt. Or we may take it more generally, Chriſt had ſaid all this to them, that by enjoying him they might have the beſt Enjoyment of themſelves. Note, 1. It is the Will of Chriſt, that his Diſciples ſhould have Peace within, whatever their Troubles may be without. 2. Peace in Chriſt is the only true Peace, and in him alone Believers have it, for this Man ſhall be the Peace, Mic. 5. 5. Through him we have Peace with God, and ſo in him we have Peace in our own Minds. 3. The Word of Chriſt aims at this, that in him we have Peace. Peace is the Fruit of the Lips, of his Lips, Iſa. 57. 19.

2. The Entertainment they were like to meet with in the World. You ſhall not have outward Peace, never expect it; tho' they were ſent to proclaim Peace on Earth, and good Will towards Men, they muſt expect Trouble on Earth, and ill Will from Men. Note, It has been the Lot of Chriſt's Diſciples to have more or leſs Tribulation in this World. Men perſecute them becauſe they are ſo good, and God corrects them becauſe they are no better. Men deſign to cut them off from the Earth, and God deſigns by Affliction to make them meet for Heaven, and ſo between both they ſhall have Tribulation.

3. The Encouragement Chriſt gives them, with reference hereunto; be of good Cheer, Θαρσεῖτε, not only be of good Comfort, but be of good Courage; have a good Heart on it, all ſhall be well. Note, In the midſt of the Tribulations of this World, it is the Duty and Intereſt of Chriſt's Diſciples to be of good chear, to keep up their Delight in God whatever is preſſing, and their Hope in God whatever is threatning; as ſorrowful indeed in compliance with the Temper of the Climate, and yet alway rejoycing, always chearful, 2 Cor. 6. 10 even in Tribulation, Rom. 5. 3.

4. The Ground of that Encouragement. I have overcome the World. Chriſt's Victory is a Chriſtian's Triumph. Chriſt overcame the Prince of this World, diſarm'd him, and caſt him out; and ſtill treads Satan under our Feet. He overcame the Children of this World, by the Converſion of many to the Faith and Obedience of his Goſpel, making them the Children of his Kingdom. When he ſends his Diſciples to preach the Goſpel to all the World, Be of good cheer, ſaith he, I have overcome the World, as far as I have gone, and ſo ſhall you; though you have Tribulation in the World, yet you ſhall gain your Point, and captivate the World, Rev. 6. 2. He overcame the Wicked of the World, for many a time he put his Enemies to Silence, to Shame, and be you of good chear, for the Spirit will enable you to do ſo too. He overcame the evil Things of the World, by ſubmitting to them; he endured the Croſs, deſpiſing it, and the ſhame of it; and the good things of it, by being wholly dead to them; its Honours had no Beauty in his Eye, its Pleaſures no Charms. Never was there ſuch a Conqueror of the World as Chriſt was; and we ought to be encourag'd by it: (1.) Becauſe Chriſt has overcome the World before us; ſo that we may look upon it as a conquered Enemy, that has many a time been baffled. Nay, (2.) he has conquered it for us, as the Captain of our Salvation, we are intereſted in his Victory; by his Croſs the World is crucified to us, which ſpeaks it compleatly conquered, and put into our Poſſeſſion; all is yours even the World, Chriſt having overcome the World, Believers have nothing to do but to purſue their Victory, and divide the Spoil; and this we do by Faith, 1 John 5. 4. We are more than Conquerors through him that loved us.

CHAP. XVII.

This Chapter is a Prayer, it is the Lord's Prayer, the Lord Chriſt's Prayer. There was one Lord's Prayer which he taught us to pray, and did not pray himſelf, for he needed not to pray for the Forgiveneſs of Sin; but this was properly and peculiarly his, and ſuited him only as Mediator, and is a Sampler of his Interceſſion, and yet is of uſe to us both for Inſtruction and Encouragement in Prayer. Obſerve, (1.) The Circumſtances of the Prayer v. 1. (2.) The Prayer it ſelf. (1.) He prays for himſelf, v. 1—5. (2.) He prays for thoſe that are his. And there ſee, (1.) The general Pleas with which he introduceth his Petitions for them, v. 6—10. (2.) The particular Petitions he puts up for them, (1.) That they might be kept v. 11—16. (2) That they might be ſanctified, v. 17—19. (3.) That they might be united, v. 11, and v. 20—23. (4.) That they might be glorified. v. 24—26.

THeſe words ſpake Jeſus; and lift up his eyes to heaven, and ſaid, Father, the hour is come; glorify thy Son, that thy Son alſo may glorify thee. 2. As thou haſt given him Power over all fleſh, that he ſhould give eternal life to as many as thou haſt given him. 3 And this is life eternal, that they may know thee the only true God, and Jeſus Chriſt whom thou haſt ſent. 4 I have glorified thee on the earth: I have finiſhed the work which thou gaveſt me to do. 5 And now, O Father, glorifie thou me with thine own ſelf, with the glory which I had with thee before the world was.

Here's 1. The Circumſtances of this Prayer, v. 1. Many a ſolemn Prayer Chriſt made in the Days of his Fleſh, ſometimes he continued all Night in Prayer. But none of his Prayers are recorded ſo full as this. Obſerve,

1. The Time when he prayed this Prayer; when he had ſpoken theſe Words, had given the foregoing Farewel to his Diſciples, he prayed this Prayer in their Hearing; ſo that,

(1.) It was a Prayer after Sermon; when he had ſpoken from God to them, he turned to ſpeak to God for them. Note, Thoſe we preach to, we muſt pray for. He that uſes to Prophecy upon the dry Bones, was alſo to Pray, Come, O Breath, and breath upon them. And the Word preached ſhould be prayed over, for God gives the Encreaſe.

(2) It was a Prayer after Sacrament; after Chriſt and his Diſciples had eaten the Paſſover, and the Lord's Supper together, and he had given them a ſuitable Exhortation, he cloſ'd the Solemnity with this Prayer; that God would preſerve the good Impreſſions of the Ordinances upon them.

(3.) It was a Family Prayer. Chriſt's Diſciples were his Family; and to ſet a good Example before Maſters of Families, he not only as a Son of Abraham taught his Houſhold, Gen. 18. 19. but as a Son of David bleſs'd his Houſhold, 2 Sam. 6. 20. prayed for them, and with them.

(4.) It was a Parting Prayer; when we and our Family are parting, 'tis good to part with Prayer, Acts 20. 36. Chriſt was parting by Death, and that Parting ſhould be ſanctified and ſweetened by Prayer. Dying Jacob bleſſed the twelve Patriarchs, dying Moſes the twelve Tribes, and ſo here, dying Jeſus the twelve Apoſtles.

(5.) It was a Prayer that was a Preface to his Sacrifice he was now about to offer on Earth, ſpecifying the Favours and Bleſſings deſigned to be purchaſed by the Merits of his Death, for thoſe that were his, like a Deed leading the Uſes of a Fine, and directing to what Intents and Purpoſes it ſhall be levy'd. Chriſt prayed then, as a Prieſt now offering Sacrifice, in the Vertue of which, all Prayers were to be made.

(6.) It was a Prayer that was a Specimen of his Interceſſion, which he ever lives to make for us within the Vail. Not that in his exalted State he addreſſeth himſelf to his Father by way of humble Petition, as when he was on Earth. No, his Interceſſion in Heaven is a preſenting of his Merit to his Father, with a ſuing out of the Benefit of it for all his choſen ones.

2. The outward Expreſſion of fervent Deſire which he uſed in his Prayer, he lift up his Eyes to Heaven, as before, John 11. 41. not that Chriſt needed thus to engage his own Intention, but he was pleas'd thus to ſanctify this Geſture to thoſe that uſe it, and juſtify it againſt thoſe that ridicule it. 'Tis ſignificant of the lifting up of the Soul to God in Prayer, Pſal. 25. 1. Surſum Corda was antiently uſed as a Call to Prayer, Up with your Hearts; up to Heaven; thither we muſt direct our Deſires in Prayer, and thence we muſt expect to receive the good Things we pray for.

2. The firſt part of the Prayer it ſelf, in which Chriſt prays for himſelf. Obſerve here,

1. He Prays to God as a Father. He lift up his Eyes, and ſaid, Father. Note, As a Prayer is to be made to God only, ſo it is our Duty in Prayer to eye him as a Father, and to call him our Father. All that have the Spirit of Adoption, are taught to cry Abba Father, Rom. 8. 15. Gal. 4. 6. If God be our Father, we have Liberty of Acceſs to him, Ground of Confidence in him, and great Expectations from him. Chriſt calls him here, Holy Father, v. 11. and Righteous Father, v. 25. For it will be of great Uſe to us in Prayer, both for our Direction and Encouragement to call God, as we hope to find him.

2. He pray'd for himſelf firſt; tho' Chriſt as God was prayed to, Chriſt as Man prayed; thus it became him to fullfil all Righteouſneſs. 'Twas ſaid to him, as 'tis ſaid to us, Ask, and I will give thee, Pſal. 2. 8. What he had purchaſed, he muſt ask for, and ſhall we expect to have what we never merited, but have a thouſand times forfeited, unleſs we pray for it? This puts an Honour upon Prayer, that it was the Meſſenger Chriſt ſent on his Errands, the way in which even he correſponded with Heaven. It likewiſe gives great Encouragement to praying People, and Cauſe to hope that even the Prayer of the Deſtitute ſhall not be deſpiſed; Time was, when he that is Advocate for us, had a Cauſe of his own to ſollicite, a great Cauſe, on the Succeſs of which depended all his Honour as Mediator, and this he was to ſollicite in the ſame Method that is preſcribed to us, by Prayer and Supplications, Heb. 5. 7. ſo that he knows the Heart of a Petitioner, Exod, 23. 9. he knows the way. Now obſerve,

1. Chriſt began with Prayer for himſelf, and afterward prayed for his Diſciples; this Charity muſt begin at Home, tho' it muſt not end there. We muſt love and pray for our Neighbour as our ſelves, and therefore muſt in a right manner love and pray for our ſelves. Firſt;

1. He was much ſhorter in his Prayer for himſelf, than in his Prayer for his Diſciples. Our Prayers for the Church muſt not be crouded into a Corner of our Prayers; in making Supplications for all Saints, we have room enough to enlarge, and ſhould not ſtraiten our ſelves,

Now here are two Petitions which Chriſt puts up for himſelf, and they two are one, that he might be glorified. But this one Petition, Glorify thou me, is twice put up, becauſe it has a double Reference. (1.) To the Proſecutors of his Undertaking further, Glorify me, that I may glorify thee, in doing what is agreed upon, to be yet done, v. 1, 2, 3. And, (2.) To the Performance of his Undertaking hitherto, Glorify, me for I have glorified thee. I have done my part, and now, Lord, do thine, v. 4, 5.

Firſt, Chriſt here prays to be glorified, in order to his glorifying God, v. 1. Glorify thy Son, according to thy Promiſe, that thy Son may Glorify thee, according to his Undertaking. Here Obſerve,

1. What he prays for, that he might be glorified in this World. The Hour is come, when all the Powers of Darkneſs will continue to vilify thy Son, now, Father, glorify him. The Father glorified the Son upon Earth, (1.) Even in his Sufferings, by the Signs and Wonders which attended them. When they that came to take him were Thunder-ſtruck with a Word, when Judas confeſs'd him Innocent, and ſealed that Confeſſion with his own guilty Blood; when the Judge's Wife, aſleep, and the Judge himſelf, awake, pronounced him righteous; when the Sun was darkened, and the Vail of the Temple rent, then the Father not only juſtified, but glorified the Sor. Nay, (2.) even by his Sufferings; when he was crucified, he was magnified, he was glorified, John 13. 31. 'Twas in his Croſs that he conquered Satan and Death; his Thorns were a Crown, and Pilate in the Inſcription over his Head, wrote more than he thought. But, (3.) Much more after his Sufferings; the Father glorified the Son when he raiſed him from the Dead, ſhewed him openly to choſen Witneſſes, and poured out the Spirit to ſupport and plead his Cauſe, and ſet up his Kingdom among Men, then he glorified him. This he here prays for, and inſiſts upon.

2. What he pleads to enforce this Requeſt.

1. He pleads Relation; glorify thy Son; thy Son as God, as Mediator. 'Tis in Conſideration of this, that the Heathen, are given him for his Inheritance, for thou art my Son, Pſal. 2. 7, 8. The Devil had tempted him to renounce his Sonſhip, with an Offer of the Kingdoms of this World, but he rejected it with Diſdain, and depended upon his Father for his Preferment, and here applies himſelf to him for it. Note, They that have received the Adoption of Sons, may in Faith pray for the Inheritance of Sons, if ſanctified, then glorified; Father, glorify they Son.

2. He pleads the Time, the Hour is come; the Seaſon prefixed to an Hour. The Hour of Chriſt's Paſſion was determin'd, in the Counſel of God. He had often ſaid his Hour was not yet come; but now it was come, and he knew it. Man knows not his Time, Eccl. 9. 12. but the Son of Man did. He calls it this Hour, John 12. 27. and here the Hour, compare Mark 14. 35. John 16 21. for the Hour of the Redeemer's Death, which was alſo the Hour, of the Redeemer's Birth, was the moſt ſignal and remarkable Hour, and without doubt, the moſt critical that ever was, ſince the Clock of Time was firſt ſet a going. Never was there ſuch an Hour as that, nor, did ever any Hour challenge ſuch Expectations of it before, nor ſuch Reflections upon it after.

(1.) The Hour is come, in the midſt of which I need to be own'd; now is the Hour, when this grand Affair is come to a Criſis, after many a Skirmiſh, the deciſive Battle between Heaven and Hell is now to be fought, and that great Cauſe, in which God's Honour and Man's Happineſs are together embark'd, muſt now be either won or loſt for ever. The two Champions, David and Goliah, Michael and the Dragon, are now entering the Liſts, the Trumpet ſounds for an Engagement, that will be irretrievably fatal either to the one, or to the other; now glorify thy Son; now give him Victory over Principalities and Powers; now let the bruiſing of his Heel be the breaking of the Serpents Head. Now let thy Son be ſo upheld as not to fail or be diſcouraged. When Joſhua went forth conquering, and to conquer, 'tis ſaid, the Lord magnified Joſhua, ſo he glorified his Son, when he made the Croſs his triumphant Chariot.

(2.) The Hour is come, in the Cloſe of which I expect to be crown'd. The Hour is come, when I am to be glorified, and ſet at thy Right Hand, betwixt him and that Glory there interven'd a bloody Scene of Suffering, but being ſhort, he ſpeaks as if he made little of it; the Hour is come that I muſt be glorified, and he did not expect it till then. Good Chriſtians in a trying Hour, particularly a dying Hour, may thus plead, now the Hour is come, ſtand by me, appear for me, now or never. Now the earthly Tabernacle is to be diſſolv'd, the Hour is come that I ſhould be glorified, 2 Cor 5. 1.

3. He pleads the Father's own Intereſt and Concern herein, that thy Son alſo may glorify thee; for he had conſecrated his whole Undertaking to his Father's Honour. He deſired to be carried triumphantly through his Sufferings to his Glory, that he might glorify the Father two ways, (1.) By the Death of the Croſs, which he was now to ſuffer; Father Glorify thy Name, expreſſed the great Intention of his Sufferings, which was to retrieve his Father's injured Honour among Men, and by his Satisfaction to come up to the Glory of God, which Man by his Sin came ſhort of. Father own me in my Sufferings, that I may Honour thee by them. (2.) By the Doctrine of the Croſs, which was now ſhortly to be publiſh'd to the World, by which God's Kingdom was to be re-eſtabliſhed among Men. He prays that his Father would ſo grace his Sufferings, and crown them, as not only to take off the Offence of the Croſs, but to make it to them that are ſaved, the Wiſdom of God, and the Power of God. If God had not glorified Chriſt crucified, by raiſing him from the Dead, his whole Undertaking had been cruſhed; therefore glorify me, that I may glorify thee.

Now hereby he hath taught us, (1.) What to eye and aim at in our Prayers, in all our Deſigns and Deſires, and that is the Honour of God. It being our chief End to glorify God, other things muſt be ſought and attended to, in Subordination, and Subſerviency to the Lord, do this and t'other for thy Servant, that thy Servant may glorify thee. Give me Health, that I may glorify thee with my Body; Succeſs, that I may glorify thee with my Eſtate, &c. Hallowed be thy Name muſt be our firſt Petition, which muſt fix our End in all our other Petitions, 1 Pet. 4. 11. (2.) He hath taught us what to expect and hope for. If we ſincerely ſet our ſelves to glorify our Father, he will not be wanting to do that for us which is requiſite to put us into a Capacity of glorifying him, to give us the Grace he knows ſufficient, and the Opportunity he ſees convenient. But if we ſecretly honour our ſelves more than him, 'tis juſt with him to leave us in the Hand of our own Counſels, and then inſtead of honouring our ſelves, we ſhall ſhame our ſelves.

4. He pleads his Commiſſion, v. 2, 3. he deſires to glorify his Father in conformity to, and in purſuance of, the Commiſſion given him. Glorify thy Son as thou haſt given him Power, glorify him in the Execution of the Powers thou haſt given him, ſo 'tis connected with the Petition; or, That thy Son may glorify thee according to the Power given him, ſo 'tis connected with the Plea. Now ſee here the Power of the Mediator.

1. The Original of his Power. Thou haſt given him Power; he has it from God, to whom all Power belongs. Man in his fallen State, muſt in order to his Recovery, be taken under a new Model of Government, which could not be erected but by a ſpecial Commiſſion, under the Broad Seal of Heaven, directed to the Undertaker of that glorious Work, and conſtituting him ſole Arbitrator of the grand Difference that was, and ſole Guarantee of the grand Alliance that was to be between God and Man; ſo as to this Office, he received his Power, which was to be executed in a way diſtinct from his Power and Government as Creator. Note, The Churches King is no Uſurper, as the Prince of this World is; Chriſt's Right to Rule is unconteſtable.

2. The Extent of his Power. He has Power over all Fleſh.

(1.) Over all Mankind. He has Power in and over the World of Spirits, the Powers of the upper and unſeen World are ſubject to him, 1 Pet. 3. 22. but being now mediating between God and Man, he here pleads his Power over all Fleſh. They were Men whom he was to ſubdue and ſave, out of that Race he had a Remnant given him, and therefore all that Rank of Beings was put under his Feet.

(2.) Over Mankind conſidered as corrupt and fallen, for ſo he is called Fleſh, Gen. 6. 3. If he had not in this Senſe been Fleſh, he had not needed a Redeemer. Over this ſinful Race the Lord Jeſus has all Power; and all Judgment concerning them is committed to him; Power to bind or looſe, acquit or condemn; Power on Earth to forgive Sins, or not. Chriſt as a Mediator has the Government of the whole World put into his Hand; he is King of Nations, has Power even over thoſe that know him not, nor obey his Goſpel; whom he doth not rule he over-rules, Pſal. 22. 28. and 72. 8. Mat. 28. 18. John 5. 35.

3. The grand Intention and Deſign of this Power, that he ſhould give Eternal Life to as many as thou haſt given him. Here's the Myſtery of our Salvation laid open.

(1.) Here is the Father making over the Elect to the Redeemer, and giving them to him as his Charge and Truſt, and the Crown and Recompence of his Undertaking. He has a Sovereign Power over all the fallen Race, but a peculiar Intereſt in the choſen Remnant; all things were put under his Feet, but they were deliver'd into his Hand.

(2.) Here is the Son undertaking to ſecure the Happineſs of thoſe that were given him; that he ſhould give Eternal Life to them. See how great the Authority of the Redeemer is; he hath Lives and Crowns to give, eternal Lives that never die, immortal Crowns that never fade: Now, Conſider how great the Lord Jeſus is, who hath ſuch Perferments in his Gift. And how gracious he is in giving eternal Life to thoſe whom he undertakes to ſave. (1.) He ſanctifies them in this World, gives them the ſpiritual Life, which is eternal Life in the Bud and Embrio, John 4. 14. Grace in the Soul is Heaven in that Soul. (2.) he will glorify them in the other World, their Happineſs ſhall be compleated in the Viſion and Fruition of God. And this only is mention'd, becauſe it ſuppoſeth all the other Parts of his Undertaking, teaching them, ſatisfying for them, ſanctifying them, and preparing them for that eternal Life; and indeed all the other were in order to this. We are called to his Kingdom and Glory; and begotten to the Inheritance; what's laſt in Execution was firſt in Intention, and that is eternal Life.

(3.) Here is the Subſerviency of the Redeemer's univerſal Dominion to this. He hath Power over all Fleſh, on purpoſe that he might give eternal Life to the ſelect Number. Note, Chriſt's Dominion over the Children of Men, is in order to the Salvation of the Children of God. All things are for their ſakes, 2 Cor. 4. 15. All Chriſt's Laws, Ordinances and Promiſes, which are given to all, are deſign'd effectually to convey Spiritual Life and ſecure eternal Life to all that were given to Chriſt; he is Head over all things to the Church. The Adminiſtration of the Kingdoms of Providence and Grace, are put into the ſame Hand, that all things may be made for good to the Called.

4. Here's a further Explication of this grand Deſign; v. 3. This is Life eternal, which I am impower'd, and have undertaken to give, this is the Nature of it, and this the way leading to it, to know thee the only true God, and all the Diſcoveries and Principles of natural Religion, and Jeſus Chriſt whom thou haſt ſent, as Mediator, and the Doctrines and Laws of that holy Religion, which he inſtituted for the Recovery of Man out of his lapſed State. Here is,

1. The great End which the Chriſtian Religion ſets before us, and that is Eternal Life; the Happineſs of an immortal Soul in the Viſion and Fruition of an eternal God. This he was to reveal to all, and ſecure to all that were given him. By the Goſpel, Life and Immortality are brought to Light, are brought to Hand, a Life which tranſcends this as much in Excellency as it doth in Duration.

2. The ſure way of attaining this bleſſed End, which is by the right Knowledge of God and Jeſus Chriſt; this is Life eternal to know thee, which may be taken two ways, (1.) Life eternal lies in the Knowledge of God and Jeſus Chriſt; the preſent Principle of this Life is the believing Knowledge of God and Chriſt. The future Perfection of that Life will be the intuitive Knowledge of God and Chriſt. They that are brought into Union with Chriſt, and live a Life of Communion with God in Chriſt, know in ſome meaſure by Experience, what Eternal Life is, and will ſay, If this be Heaven, Heaven is ſweet, ſee Pſal. 17. 15. (2.) The Knowledge of God and Chriſt leads to Life eternal. This is the way in which Chriſt gives eternal Life, by the Knowledge of him that hath called us, 2 Pet. 1. 3. and this is the way in which we come to receive it.

The Chriſtian Religion ſhews us the way to Heaven,

1. By directing us to God as the Author and Felicity of our Being; for Chriſt died to bring us to God, to know him as our Creator, and to love him, obey him, ſubmit to him, and truſt in him as our Owner, Ruler and Benefactor, to devote our ſelves to him as our Sovereign Lord, depend upon him as our chief Good, and to direct all to his Praiſe as our higheſt End; this is Life eternal. God is here called the only true God, to diſtinguiſh him from the falſe Gods of the Heathen, which were Counterfeits and Pretenders, not from the Perſon of the Son, of whom it is expreſly ſaid, that he is the true God and Eternal Life, 1 John 5. 20. and who in this Text is propos'd as the Object of the ſame Religious Regard with the Father. 'Tis certain there is but one only living and true God and the God we adore is He. He is the true God, and not a mere Name or Notion; the only true God, and all that ever ſet up as Rivals with him, are Vanity and a Lie; the Service of him is the only true Religion.

2. By directing us to Jeſus Chriſt as the Mediator between God and Man, Jeſus Chriſt whom thou haſt ſent. If Man had continu'd Innocent, the Knowledge of the only true God would have been Life eternal to him; but now he is fallen, there muſt be ſomething more; now we are under Guilt, to know God, is to know him as a righteous Judge, whoſe Curſe we are under, and nothing more killing than to know this, we are therefore concern'd to know Chriſt as our Redeemer, by whom alone we can now have Acceſs to God; 'tis Life eternal to believe in Chriſt, and this he has undertaken to give to as many as were given him; ſee John 6. 39, 40. They that are acquainted with God and Chriſt, are already in the Suburbs of Life eternal.

Secondly, Chriſt here prays to be glorified, in Conſideration of his having glorified the Father hitherto, v. 4, 5. The Meaning of the former Petition was, Glorify me in this World; the Meaning of the latter is, Glorify me in the other World. I have glorified thee on the Earth; and now glorify thou me.

Obſerve here,

1. With what Comfort Chriſt reflects on the Life he had lived on Earth. I have glorified thee, and finiſhed my Work, 'tis as good as finiſhed, he doth not complain of the Poverty and Diſgrace he had lived in, what a weary Life he had upon Earth, as ever any Man of Sorrows had; he overlooks this, and pleaſeth himſelf in reviewing the Service he had done his Father, and the Progreſs he had made in his Undertaking. And this is here recorded,

(1.) For the Honour of Chriſt; that his Life upon Earth did in all Reſpects fully anſwer the End of his coming into the World. Note, 1. Our Lord Jeſus had Work given him to do by him that ſent him; he came not into the World to live at Eaſe, but to go about doing good, and to fulfil all Righteouſneſs. His Father gave him his Work, his Work in the Vineyard; both appointed him to it, and aſſiſted him in it. 2. The Work that was given him to do he finiſh'd. Tho' he had not as yet gone through the laſt part of his Undertaking, yet he was ſo near being made perfect through Sufferings, that he might ſay he had finiſhed it; 'twas as good as done, he was giving it its finiſhing Stroke, ἐτελείωσα. The Word ſignifies his performing every part of his Undertaking in the moſt compleat and perfect manner. 3. Herein he glorified his Father. He pleaſed him, he praiſed him; 'tis the Glory of God that his Work is perfect, and the ſame is the Glory of the Redeemer, what he is the Author of, he will be the Finiſher of. 'Twas a ſtrange way for the Son to glorify the Father, by abuſing himſelf, that look'd more likely to diſparage him, yet it was contriv'd that ſo he ſhould glorify him. I have glorified thee on Earth. i. e. in ſuch a way as Men on Earth could bear the Manifeſtation of thy Glory.

(2.) 'Tis recorded for Example to all, that we may follow his Example. (1.) We muſt make it our Buſineſs to do the Work God has appointed us to do, according as our Capacity, and the Sphere of our Activity is; we muſt each of us do all the good we can in this World. (2.) We muſt aim at the Glory of God in all.

We muſt glorify him on the Earth, which he has given unto the Children of Men, demanding only this Quit-rent; on the Earth, where we are in a State of Probation and Preparation for Eternity. (3.) We muſt perſevere herein to the End of our Days; we muſt not ſit down till we have finiſhed our Work, and accompliſh'd as a Hireling our Day.

(3.) 'Tis recorded for Encouragement to all thoſe that reſt upon him. If he have finiſhed the Work that was given him to do, then he is a compleat Saviour, and did not do his Work by the Halves. And he that finiſhed his Work for us, will finiſh it in us to the Day of Chriſt.

2. See with what Confidence he expects the Joy ſet before him, v. 5. Now, O Father, glorify thou me. 'Tis what he depends upon, and cannot be deny'd him.

1. See here what he pray'd for, Glorify thou me, as before, v. 1. All Repetitions in Prayer, are not to be counted vain Repetitions. Chriſt pray'd, ſaying the ſame Words, Mat. 26. 44. and yet pray'd more earneſtly. What his Father had promis'd him, and he was aſſur'd of, yet he muſt pray for; Promiſes are not deſign'd to ſuperſede Prayers, but to be the Guide of our Deſires, and the Ground of our Hopes. Chriſt being glorified, includes all the Honours, Powers, and Joys of his exalted State. See how 'tis deſcrib'd:

(1.) 'Tis a Glory with God, not only glorify my Name on Earth, but glorify me with thine own ſelf. 'Twas Paradiſe, 'twas Heaven to be with his Father, as Prov. 8. 30. Dan. 7. 13. Heb. 8. 1. Note, The brighteſt Glories of the exalted Redeemer were to be diſplay'd within the Veil, where the Father manifeſts his Glory. The Praiſes of the upper are offer'd up to him that ſits upon the Throne, and to the Lamb in Conjunction, Rev. 5. 13. and the Prayers of the lower World draw out Grace and Peace from God our Father, and our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, in Conjunction, and thus the Father has glorified him with himſelf.

(2.) 'Tis the Glory he had with God before the World was. By this it appears, 1. That Jeſus Chriſt as God, had a Being before the World was, co-eternal with the Father; our Religion acquaints us with one that was before all Things, and by whom all Things conſiſt. 2. That his Glory with the Father is from Everlaſting, as well as his Exiſtence with the Father; for he was from Eternity, the Brightneſs of his Father's Glory, Heb. 1. 3. As God's making the World only declar'd his Glory, but made no real Additions to it, ſo Chriſt undertook the Work of Redemption, not becauſe he needed Glory, for he had glory with the Father before the World, but becauſe we needed Glory. 3. That Jeſus Chriſt in his State of Humiliation, diveſted himſelf of this Glory, and drew a Veil over it; tho' he was ſtill God, yet he was God manifeſted in the Fleſh, not in his Glory. He laid down this Glory for a Time as a Pawn or Pledge, that he would go through with his Undertaking according to the Appointment of his Father. 4. That in his exalted State he reſum'd this Glory, and clad himſelf again with his former Robes of Light. Having perform'd his Undertaking, he did, as it were, repoſcere pignus, take up his Pawn by this Demand, Glorify thou me. He prays that even his human Nature might be advanc'd to the higheſt Honour it was capable of; his Body a glorious Body; and that the Glory of the Godhead might now be manifeſted in the Perſon of the Mediator, Immanuel, God-man. He doth not pray to be glorify'd with the Princes and great Men of the Earth; no, he that knew both Worlds, and might chuſe which he would have his Preferment in, choſe it in the Glory of the other World, as far exceeding all the Glory of this. He had deſpis'd the Kingdoms of this World, and the Glory of them, when Satan offer'd them to him, and therefore might the more boldly claim the Glories of the other World. Let the ſame mind be in us; Lord, give the Glories of this World to whom thou wilt give them, but let me have my Portion of Glory in the World to come. 'Tis no matter, tho' I be vilified with Men, but Father, Glorify thou me with thine own ſelf.

2. See here what he pleaded; I have glorified thee; and now in Conſideration thereof, glorify thou me. For (1.) There was an Equity in it, and an admirable Becomingneſs, that if God were glorified in him, he ſhould glorify him in himſelf, as he had obſerved, John 13. 32. Such an infinite Value there was in what Chriſt did to glorify his Father, that he properly merited all the Glories of his exalted State. If the Father were a Gainer in his Glory by the Son's Humiliation, 'twas fit the Son ſhould be no Loſer by it, at long run, in his Glory.

(2.) 'Twas according to the Covenant between them, that if the Son would make his Soul an Offering for Sin, he ſhould divide the Spoil with the Strong, Iſa. 53. 10, 11. and the Kingdom ſhould be his; and this he had an Eye to, and depended upon, in his Sufferings, 'twas for the Joy ſet before him that he endured the Croſs. And now in his exalted State, he ſtill expects the compleating of his Exaltation, becauſe he perfected his Undertaking, Heb. 10. 13.

(3.) 'Twas the moſt proper Evidence of his Father's accepting and approving the Work he had finiſh'd; by the glorifying of Chriſt we are ſatisfy'd that God was ſatisfy'd, and therein a real Demonſtration was given, that his Father was well pleas'd in him as his beloved Son.

(4.) Thus we muſt be taught, that thoſe, and thoſe only, who glorify God on Earth, and perſevere in the Work God hath given them to do, ſhall be glorified with the Father, when they muſt be no more in this World. Not that we can merit that Glory as Chriſt did; but our glorifying God is requir'd as an Evidence of our Intereſt in Chriſt, through whom eternal Life is God's Free-Gift.

6 I have manifeſted thy name unto the men which thou gaveſt me out of the world: thine they were, and thou gaveſt them me; and they have kept thy word. 7 Now they have known that all things whatſoever thou haſt given me, are of thee. 8 For I have given unto them the words which thou gaveſt me; and they have received them, and have known ſurely that I came out from thee, and they have believed that thou didſt ſend me. 9 I pray for them: I pray not for the world, but for them which thou haſt given me, for they are thine. 10 And all mine are thine, and thine are mine, and I am glorified in them.

Chriſt having pray'd for himſelf, comes next to pray for thoſe that are his, and he knew them by Name, tho' he did not here name them. Now obſerve here.

1. Whom he did not pray for, v. 9. I pray not for the World. Note, There's a World of People that Jeſus Chriſt did not pray for. It is not meant of the World of Mankind in general, he prays for that here, v. 21. That the World may believe that thou haſt ſent me. Nor is it meant of the Gentiles in Diſtinction from the Jews; but the World is here oppos'd to the Elect, who are given to Chriſt out of the World. Take the World for a Heap of unwinnow'd Corn in the Floor, and God loves it, Chriſt prays for it, and dies for it, for a Bleſſing is in it; but the Lord perfectly knowing them that are his, he eyes particularly them that were given him out of the World, extracts them; and then take the World for the remaining Heap of rejected worthleſs Chaff, and Chriſt neither prays for it, nor dies for it, but abandons it, and the Wind drives it away. Theſe are called the World, becauſe they are govern'd by the Spirit of this World, and have their Portion in it; for theſe Chriſt doth not pray; not but there are ſome Things which he intercedes with God for, on their Behalf, as the Dreſſer for the Reprieve of the barren Tree; but he doth not pray for them in this Prayer; they have no Part or Lot in the Bleſſings here pray'd for. He doth not ſay, I pray againſt the World, as Elias made Interceſſion againſt Iſrael, but I pray not for them. I paſs them by, and leave them to themſelves. They are not written in the Lamb's Book of Life, and therefore not in the Breaſt-Plate of the great High Prieſt. And miſerable is the Condition of ſuch, as of thoſe whom the Prophet was forbidden to pray for, and more ſo, Jer. 7. 16. We that know not who are choſen, and who are paſt by, muſt pray for all Men, 1 Tim. 2. 1, 4. While there's Life there's Hope, and room for Prayer. See 1 Sam. 12. 23.

2. Whom he did pray for; not for Angels, but for the Children of Men. (1.) He prays for thoſe that were given him, meaning primarily the Diſciples that had attended him in the Regeneration; but it is, doubtleſs to be extended further to all that come under the ſame Character, who receive and believe the Words of Chriſt, v. 6. 8. (2.) He prays for all that ſhould believe on him, v. 20. And 'tis not only the Petitions that follow, but thoſe alſo which went before, that muſt be conſtrued to extend to all Believers, to every Place, and every Age; for he has a Concern for them all, and calls things that are not, as tho' they were.

3. What Encouragement he had to pray for them, and what the general Pleas with which he introduceth his Petitions for them, and recommends them to his Father's Favour. They are five:

Firſt, The Charge he had receiv'd concerning them. Thine they were, and thou gaveſt them me, v. 6. And again, v. 7. thou haſt given them me, and they are of thee; and again, v. 9. them which thou haſt given me. Father, thoſe I am now praying for, are ſuch as thou haſt intruſted me with, and what I have to ſay for them is in purſuance of the Charge I have received concerning them. Now,

1. This is meant primarily of the Diſciples that then were, who were given to Chriſt as his Pupils to be educated by him while he was on Earth, and his Agents to be employ'd for him when he went to Heaven. They were given him to be the Learners of his Doctrine, the Witneſſes of his Life and Miracles, and the Monuments of his Grace and Favour, in order to their being the Publiſhers of his Goſpel, and the Planters of his Church. When they left all to follow him; this was the ſecret Spring of that ſtrange Reſolution; they were given to him, elſe they had not given themſelves to him. Note, The Apoſtleſhip and Miniſtry, which is Chriſt's Gift to the Church, was firſt the Father's Gift to Jeſus Chriſt. As under the Law the Levites were given to Aaron, Num. 3. 9. So he the great High Prieſt of our Profeſſion, the Father gave the Apoſtles firſt, and Miniſters in every Age, to keep his Charge, and the Charge of the whole Congregation, and to do the Service of the Tabernacle; ſee Eph. 4. 8, 11. Pſal. 68. 18. Chriſt received this Gift for Men, that he might give it to Men. As this puts an Honour upon the Miniſtry of the Goſpel, and magnifies that Office, which is ſo much vilified; ſo it lays a mighty Obligation upon the Miniſters of the Goſpel, to devote themſelves entirely to Chriſt's Service, as being given to him.

2. But it is deſign'd to extend to all the Elect, for they are elſewhere ſaid to be given to Chriſt, Joh. 6. 37, 39. and he often laid a Streſs upon this, that thoſe he was to ſave, were given to him as his Charge, to his Care they were committed, from his Hand they were expected, and concerning them, he received Commandments. He here ſhews,

1. That the Father had Authority to give them; Thine they were. He did not give that which was none of his own, but covenanted that he had a good Title. The Elect that the Father gave to Chriſt were his own, Three Ways. (1.) They were Creatures, and their Lives and Beings were derived from him. When they were given to Chriſt to be Veſſels of Honour, they were in his Hand as Clay in the Hand of the Potter, to be diſpoſed of as God's Wiſdom ſaw moſt for God's Glory. (2.) They were Criminals, and their Lives and Beings were forfeited to him. 'Twas a Remnant of fallen Mankind that was given to Chriſt to be redeemed, that might have been made Sacrifices to Juſtice then, when they were pitch'd upon to be the Monuments of Mercy; might juſtly have been delivered to the Tormentors when they were delivered to the Saviour. (3.) They were Choſen, and their Lives and Beings were deſigned for him; they were ſet apart for God, and were conſigned to Chriſt as his Agent. This he inſiſts upon again, v. 7. All Things whatſoever thou haſt given me are of thee; which tho' it may take in all that appertained to his Office as Mediator, yet ſeems eſpecially to be meant of thoſe that were given him. They are of thee; their Being is of thee as the God of Nature; their well Being is of thee as the God of Grace; they are all of thee, and therefore Father I bring them all to thee, that they may be all for thee.

2. That he did accordingly give them to the Son. Thou gaveſt them me, as Sheep to the Shepherd to be kept; a Patient to the Phyſician to be cured; Children to a Tutor to be educated; thus he will deliver up his Charge, Heb. 2. 13. The Children thou haſt given me. They were delivered to Chriſt, (1.) That the Election of Grace might not be fruſtrated, that not one, no not of the little ones might periſh. That great Concern muſt be lodged in ſome one good Hand, able to give ſufficient Security, That the Purpoſe of God according to Election might ſtand. (2.) That the Undertaking of Chriſt might not be fruitleſs. They were given to him as his Seed, in whom he ſhould ſee of the Travail of his Soul, and be ſatisfied, Iſa. 53. 10. 11. and might not ſpend his Strength, and ſhed his Blood for nought, and in vain, Iſa. 49. 4. We may plead as Chriſt doth, Lord, keep my Graces, keep my Comforts, for thine they were, and thou gaveſt them me.

Secondly, The Care he had taken of them to teach them, v. 6. I have manifeſted thy Name to them.——And v. 8. I have given unto them the Words which thou gaveſt me. Obſerve here,

1. The great Deſign of Chriſt's Doctrine, which was to manifeſt God's Name, to declare him, John 1. 18. To inſtruct the Ignorant, and rectify the Miſtakes of a dark and fooliſh World concerning God, that he might be better loved and worſhipped.

2. His faithful Diſcharge of this Undertaking, I have done it. And his Fidelity appears, (1.) In the Truth of his Doctrine. It agreed exactly with the Inſtructions he received from his Father: He gave not only the Things, but the very Words that were given him. Miniſters in wording their Meſſage, muſt have an Eye to the Words which the Holy Ghoſt teacheth. (2.) In the Tendency of his Doctrine, which was to manifeſt God's Name. He did not ſeek himſelf, but in all he did and ſaid, aimed to magnify his Father. Note, 1. It is Chriſt's Prerogative to manifeſt God's Name to the Souls of the Children of Men. No Man knows the Father but he to whom the Son will reveal him, Mat. 11. 27. He only hath Acquaintance with the Father, and ſo is able to open the Truth; and he only hath Acceſs to the Spirits of Men, and ſo is able to open the Underſtanding. Miniſters may publiſh the Name of the Lord, as Moſes, Deut. 32. 3. but Chriſt can only manifeſt that Name. By the Word of Chriſt God is revealed to us, by the Spirit of Chriſt God is revealed in us. Miniſters may ſpeak the Words of God to us, but Chriſt can give us his Words, can put them in us, as Food, as Treaſure. 2. Sooner or later Chriſt will manifeſt God's Name to all that were given him, and will give them his Word, to be the Seed of their new Birth, the Support of their ſpiritual Life, and the Earneſt of their everlaſting Bliſs.

Thirdly, The good Effect of the Care he had taken of them, and the Pains he had taken with them, v. 6. They have kept thy Word. Ver. 7. They have known that all Things are of thee. Ver. 8. They have received thy Words, and embraced them, have given their Aſſent and Conſent to them, and have known ſurely that I came out from thee, and have believed that thou didſt ſend me. Obſerve here,

1. What Succeſs the Doctrine of Chriſt had among thoſe that were given him, in ſeveral Particulars.

(1.) They have received the Words which I gave them as the Ground receives the Seed, and the Earth drinks in the Rain. They attended to the Words of Chriſt, apprehended in ſome Meaſure the meaning of them, and were affected with them; they received the Impreſſion of them, 'twas to them an engrafted Word.

(2.) They have kept thy Word, have continued in it; they have conformed to it. Chriſt's Commandment is then only kept, when it is obey'd. They that were to teach others the Commands of Chriſt, ought to be themſelves obſervant of them: 'Twas requiſite they ſhould keep what was committed to them, for 'twas to be tranſmitted by them to every Place, for every Age.

(3.) They have underſtood the Word, and have been ſenſible on what Ground they went in receiving and keeping of it. They have been aware that thou art the Original Author of that Holy Religion which I am come to inſtitute; That all Things whatſoever thou haſt given me are of thee. All Chriſt's Offices and Powers, all the Gifts of the Spirit, all his Graces and Comforts which God gave without Meaſure to him, were all from God; contrived by his Wiſdom, appointed by his Will, and deſigned by his Grace for his own Glory in Man's Salvation. Note, It is a great Satisfaction to us in our Reliance upon Chriſt, that He, and all He is, and has, all he ſaid and did, all he is doing, and will do, is of God, 1 Cor. 1. 30. We may therefore venture our Souls upon Chriſt's Mediation, for it has a good Bottom. If the Righteouſneſs be of God's appointing, we ſhall be juſtified; If the Grace be of his diſpenſing, we ſhall be ſanctify'd.

(4.) They have ſet their Seal to it. They have known ſurely that I came out from God, v. 8. See here,

1. What it is to believe, it is to know ſurely, know that it is ſo of a Truth. The Diſciples were very weak and defective in Knowledge, yet Chriſt, who knew them better than they knew themſelves, paſſeth his Word for them that they did believe. Note, We may know ſurely that which we neither do nor can know fully; may know the Certainty of the Things which are not ſeen, tho' we cannot particularly deſcribe the Nature of them. We walk by Faith, which knows ſurely, not yet by Sight, which knows clearly.

2. What it is we are to believe, That Jeſus Chriſt came out from God, as he is the Son of God; in his Perſon the Image of the Inviſible God; and that God did ſend him; that in his Undertaking he is the Ambaſſador of the Eternal King: So that the Chriſtian Religion ſtands upon the ſame Foot, and is of equal Authority with Natural Religion; and therefore all the Doctrines of Chriſt are to be received as Divine Truths, all his Commands obeyed as Divine Laws, and all his Promiſes depended upon as Divine Securities.

2. How Jeſus Chriſt ſpeaks of this here. He enlarges upon it,

1. As pleaſed with it himſelf. Tho' the many Inſtances of his Diſciples Dulneſs and Weakneſs had grieved him, yet their conſtant Adherence to him, their gradual Improvements, and their great Attainments at laſt were his Joy. Chriſt is a Maſter that delights in the Proficiency of his Scholars. He accepts the Sincerity of their Faith, and graciouſly paſſeth by the Infirmity of it. See how willing he is to make the beſt of us, and to ſay the beſt of us, thereby encouraging our Faith in him, and teaching us Charity to one another.

2. As pleading it with his Father. He is praying for thoſe that were given him, and he pleads that they had given themſelves to him. Note, The due Improvement of Grace received, is a good Plea according to the Tenor of the New Covenant for further Grace; for ſo runs the Promiſe, to him that hath ſhall be given. They that keep Chriſt's Word, and believe on him, let Chriſt alone to commend them, and which is more, to recommend them to his Father.

Fourthly, He pleads the Father's own Intereſt in them, v. 9. I pray for them, for they are thine; and this by Virtue of a joynt and mutual Intereſt, which he and the Father have in what pertain'd to each, all mine are thine, and thine are mine. Betwixt the Father and Son there can be no Diſpute (as there is among the Children of Men) about Meum and Tuum, for the matter was ſettled from Eternity; all mine are thine, and thine are mine. Here is,

1. The Plea particularly urg'd for his Diſciples; they are thine. The conſigning of the Elect to Chriſt was ſo far from making them leſs the Fathers, that it was in Order to the making them the more ſo. Note, 1. All that receive Chriſt's Word, and believe in him, are taken into Covenant-Relation to the Father, and are look'd upon as his; Chriſt preſent them to him, and they through Chriſt preſents themſelves to him. Chriſt has redeemed us not to himſelf only, but to God by his Blood, Rev. 5. 9, 10. they are Firſt Fruits unto God, Rev. 14. 4. 2. This is a good Plea in Prayer, Chriſt here pleads it, they are thine; we may plead it for our ſelves, I am thine, ſave me; and for others, as Moſes, Exod. 32. 11. They are thy People. They are thine, wilt thou not provide for thine own? Wilt thou not ſecure them, that they may not be run down by the Devil and the world? Wilt thou not ſecure thine Intereſt in them, that they may not depart from thee? They are thine, own them as thine.

2. The Foundation on which this Plea is grounded, All mine are thine, and thine are mine. This ſpeaks the Father and Son to be. (1.) One in Eſſence. Every Creature muſt ſay to God, All mine are thine, but none can ſay to him, All thine are mine, but he that is the ſame in Subſtance with him, and equal in Power and Glory. (2.) One in Intereſt; no ſeparate or divided Intereſts between them.

1. What the Father has, as Creator, is delivered over to the Son, to be uſed and diſpos'd of in Subſerviency to his great Undertaking. All things are delivered to him, Mat 11. 27. the Grant ſo general that nothing was excepted but he that did put all Things under him.

2. What the Son hath as Redeemer is deſign'd for the Father, and his Kingdom ſhall ſhortly be deliver'd up to him. All the Benefits of Redemption purchaſed by the Son are intended for the Father's Praiſe, and in his Glory all the Lines of his Undertaking centre: All mine are thine. The Son owns none for his that are not devoted for the Service of the Father; nor will any Thing be accepted as a piece of Service to the Chriſtian Religion, which claſhes with the Dictates and Laws of Natural Religion. In a limited Senſe, every true Believer may ſay, all thine are mine. If God be ours in Covenant, all he is, and has, is ſo far ours, as that it ſhall be engaged for our Good; and in an unlimited Senſe, every true Believer doth ſay, Lord All mine are thine; all laid at his Feet to be ſerviceable to him. And then what we have may be comfortably committed to God's Care and Bleſſing, when 'tis chearfully ſubmitted to his Government and Diſpoſe; Lord, take Care of what I have, for 'tis all thine.

Fifthly, He pleads his own Concern in them. I am glorified in them, δεδόξασμαι.

1. I have been glorified in them; what little Honour Chriſt had in this World, was among his Diſciples. He had been glorified by their Attendance on him, and Obedience to him; their preaching and working Miracles in his Name, and therefore I pray for them. Note, Thoſe ſhall have an Intereſt in Chriſt's Interceſſion in and by whom he is glorified.

2. I am to be glorified in them when I am gone to Heaven, they are to bear up my Name. The Apoſtles preach'd and wrought Miracles in Chriſt's Name, the Spirit in them glorified Chriſt, John 16. 14. I am glorified in them; and therefore, 1. I concern my ſelf for them. What little Intereſt Chriſt has in this degenerate World, lies in his Church, and therefore it and all its Affairs lie near his Heart within the Veil. 2. Therefore I commit them to the Father, who has engaged to glorify the Son, and upon that Account will have a gracious Eye to thoſe in whom he is glorified. That in which God and Chriſt are glorified, may with humble Confidence be committed to God's ſpecial Care.

11 And now I am no more in the world, but theſe are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keep through thine own Name thoſe whom thou haſt given me, that they may be one as we are. 12 While I was with them in the world, I kept them in thy name: thoſe that thou gaveſt me I have kept, and none of them is loſt, but the ſon of perdition: that the ſcripture might be fulfilled. 13 And now I come to thee, and theſe things I ſpeak in the world that they might have my joy fulfilled in themſelves. 14 I have given them thy word; and the world hath hated them, becauſe they are not of the world, even as I am not of the world. 15 I pray not that thou ſhouldeſt take them out of the world, but that thou ſhouldeſt keep them from the evil. 16 They are not of the world, even as I am not of the world.

After the general Pleas with which Chriſt recommended his Diſciples to his Father's Care, follow the particular Petitions he puts up for them. And, (1.) They all relate to ſpiritual Bleſſings in heavenly things. He doth not pray that they might be rich and great in the World, that they might raiſe Eſtates, and get Preferments, but that they might be kept from Sin, and furniſhed for their Duty, and brought ſafe to Heaven. Note, The Proſperity of the Soul is the beſt Proſperity, for what relates to that, Chriſt came to purchaſe and beſtow; and ſo teacheth us to ſeek in the firſt Place both for others and for our ſelves. (2.) They are ſuch Bleſſings as were ſuited to their preſent State and Caſe, and the Exigences and Occaſions of that. Note, Chriſt's Interceſſion is always pertinent. Our Advocate with the Father is acquainted with all the Particulars of our Wants and Burthens, our Dangers and Difficulties, and knows how to accommodate his Interceſſion to each, as to Peter's Peril, which he himſelf was not aware of, Luke 22. 32. I have pray'd for thee. (3.) He is large and full in the Petitions, orders them before his Father, and fills his Mouth with Arguments, to teach us Fervency and Importunity in Prayer; to be large in Prayer, and dwell upon our Errands at the Throne of Grace, wreſtling as Jacob, I will not let thee go, except thou bleſs me.

Now the firſt thing Chriſt prays for for his Diſciples, is their Preſervation, in theſe Verſes; in Order to which he commits them all to his Father's Cuſtody. Keeping ſuppoſes Danger, and their Danger aroſe from the World, the World wherein they were, the Evil of this he begs they might be kept from. Now obſerve.

Firſt, The Requeſt it ſelf; Keep them from the World. There were two Ways of their being delivered from the World.

1. By taking them out of it, and he doth not pray that they might be ſo delivered. I pray not that thou ſhouldſt take them out of the World; that is.

(1.) I pray not that they may ſpeedily be removed by Death. If the World will be vexatious to them, the readieſt Way to ſecure them, would be to haſten them out of it to a better World, that will give them better Treatment; ſend Chariots and Horſes of Fire for them to fetch them to Heaven; Job, Elijah, Jonah, Moſes, when that occurred which fretted them, pray'd that they might be taken out of the World; but Chriſt would not pray ſo for his Diſciples, for two Reaſons, (1.) Becauſe he came to conquer, not to countenance thoſe intemperate Heats and Paſſions which make Men impatient of Life, and importunate for Death. 'Tis his Will that we ſhould take up our Croſs, and not out-run it. 2. Becauſe he had Work for them to do in the World; the World, tho' ſick of them, Acts 22. 22. and therefore not worthy of them, Heb. 11. 38. yet could ill ſpare them. In pity therefore to this dark World, Chriſt would not have theſe Lights removed out of it, but continued in it, eſpecially for the Sake of thoſe in the World, that were to believe in him through their Word. Let not them be taken out of the World when their Maſter is; they muſt each in their own Order die Martyrs, but not till they have finiſhed their Teſtimony. Note, (1.) The taking of good People out of the World, is a thing by no means to be deſired, but dreaded rather, and laid to Heart, Iſa. 57. 1. (2.) Tho' Chriſt loves his Diſciples, he doth not preſently ſend for them to Heaven, as ſoon as they are effectually called, but leaves them for ſome time in this World, that they may do good, and glorify God upon Earth, and be ripened for Heaven. Many good People are ſpared to live, becauſe they can ill be ſpared to die.

(2.) I pray not that they may be totally freed and exempted from the Troubles of this World, and taken out of the Toil and Terror of it into ſome Place of Eaſe and Safety, there to live undiſturbed; that is not the Preſervation I deſire for them. Non ut omni moleſtiâ liberati otium & delicias colant, ſed ut inter media pericula ſalvi tamen maneant Dei auxilio; ſo Calvin. Not that they may be kept from all Conflict with the World, but that they may not be overcome by it. Not that as Jeremiah wiſhed they might leave their People, and go from them, Jer. 9. 2. but that like Ezekiel, their Faces may be ſtrong againſt the Faces of wicked Men, Ezek. 3. 8. 'Tis more the Honour of a Chriſtian Soldier by Faith to overcome the World, than by a monaſtical Vow to retreat from it; and more for the Honour of Chriſt to ſerve him in a City, than to ſerve him in a Cell.

2. Another way is by keeping them from the Corruption that is in the World; and thus he prays they may be kept, v. 11, 15. Here are three Branches of this Petition.

1. Holy Father, keep thoſe whom thou haſt given me. Chriſt was now leaving them, but let not them think that their Defence was departed from them, no, he doth here in their Hearing commit them to the Cuſtody of his Father, and their Father. Note, It is the unſpeakable Comfort of all Believers, that Chriſt himſelf has committed them to the Care of God himſelf. Thoſe cannot but be ſafe whom the Almighty God keeps, and he cannot but keep thoſe whom the Son of his Love commits to him: in the Vertue of which we may by Faith commit the keeping of our Souls to God, 1 Pet. 4. 19. 2 Tim. 1. 12. (1.) He here puts them under the Divine Protection, that they might not be run down by the Malice of their Enemies; that they and all their Concerns might be the particular Care of the Divine Providence. Keep their Lives till they have done their Work; keep their Comforts, and let not them be broken in upon by the Hardſhips they meet with; keep up their Intereſt in the World, and let not that ſink. To this Prayer is owing the wonderful Preſervation of the Goſpel Miniſtry, and Goſpel Church in the World unto this Day; if God had not graciouſly kept both, and kept up both, they had been extinguiſhed and loſt long ago. (2.) He puts them under the Divine Tuition, that they might not themſelves run away from their Duty, or be led aſide by the Treachery of their own Hearts. Keep them in their Integrity, keep them Diſciples, keep them cloſe to their Duty. We need God's Power, not only to put us into a State of Grace, but to keep us in it. See John 10. 28, 29. 1 Pet. 1. 5.

The Titles he gives to him he prays to, and them he prays for, enforce the Petition.

(1.) He ſpeaks to God as a holy Father. In committing our ſelves and others to the Divine Care, we may take Encouragement, (1.) From the Attribute of his Holineſs, for that's engaged for the Preſervation of his holy ones; he hath ſworn by his Holineſs, Pſal. 89. 35. If he be a holy God, and hate Sin, he will make thoſe that are his, holy, and keep them from Sin, who hate it too, and dread it as the great Evil. (2.) From this Relation of a Father, wherein he ſtands to us through Chriſt. If he be a Father, he will take Care of his own Children, will teach them, and keep them; who elſe ſhould?

(2.) He ſpeaks of them as thoſe whom the Father had given him. What we receive as our Father's Gifts, we may comfortably remit to our Father's Care. Father keep the Graces and Comforts thou haſt given me; the Children thou haſt given me; the Miniſtry I have received.

2. Keep them through thine own Name. That is,

1. Keep them for thy Name's ſake; ſo ſome. Thy Name and Honour is concerned in their Preſervation as well as mine, for both will ſuffer by it, if they either revolt or ſink. The Old Teſtament Saints often pleaded for thy Name's ſake; and thoſe may with Comfort plead it, that are indeed more concerned for the Honour of God's Name, than for any Intereſt of their own.

2. Keep them in thy Name; ſo others, the Original is ſo, ἐν τῷ ὀνόματι, keep them in the Knowledge and Fear of thy Name; keep them in the Profeſſion and Service of thy Name, whatever it coſt them. Keep them in the Intereſt of thy Name, and let them ever be faithful to that; keep them in thy Truths, in thine Ordinances, in the way of thy Commandments.

3. Keep them by or through thy Name; ſo others. Keep them by thine own Power, in thine own Hand; keep them thy ſelf, undertake for them. Let them be thine own immediate Care. Keep them by thoſe Means of Preſervation, which thou haſt thy ſelf appointed, and by which thou haſt made thy ſelf known. Keep them by thy Word and Ordinances; let thy Name be their ſtrong Tower; thy Tabernacle their Pavilion.

3. Keep them from the Evil; or out of the Evil; he had taught them to pray daily, Deliver us from Evil, and this would encourage them to pray that,

1. Keep them from the evil one, the Devil and all his Inſtruments; that wicked one and all his Children. Keep them from Satan as a Tempter, that either he may not have leave to ſift them, or that their Faith may not fail. Keep them from him as a Deſtroyer, that he may not drive them to Deſpair.

2. Keep them from the evil Thing, that is Sin, from every thing that looks like it, or leads to it. Keep them that they do no Evil, 2 Cor. 13. 7. Sin is that Evil, which above any other we ſhould dread and deprecate.

3. Keep them from the Evil of the World, and of their Tribulation in it, ſo that it may have no Sting in it, no Malignity; not that they might be kept from Affliction, but kept through it, that the Property of their Affliction might be ſo alter'd, as that there might be no Evil in them, nothing to do them any harm.

Secondly, The Reaſons, with which he enforceth theſe Requeſts for their Preſervation, which are five.

1. He pleads that hitherto he had kept them, v. 12. While I was with them in the World, I have kept them in thy Name, in the true Faith of the Goſpel, and the Service of God; thoſe that thou gaveſt me for my conſtant Attendants I have kept, they are all ſafe, and none of them miſſing, none of them revolted, or ruin'd, but the Son of Perdition; he is loſt, that the Scripture might be fulfill'd Obſerve,

1. Chriſt's faithful Diſcharge of his Undertaking concerning his Diſciples, While he was with them he kept them, and his Care concerning them was not in vain. He kept them in God's Name, preſerv'd them from falling into any dangerous Errors or Sins; from ſtriking in with the Phariſees, who would have compaſs'd Sea and Land to make Proſelytes of them; he kept them from deſerting him, and returning to that little All they had left for him; he had them ſtill under his Eye and Care; when he ſent them to preach, went not his Heart with them? Many that follow'd him a while, took Offence at ſomething or other, and went off; but he kept the twelve, that they alſo ſhould not go away. He kept them from falling into the Hands of perſecuting Enemies that ſought their Lives; kept them when he ſurrendered himſelf, chap. 18. 9. while he was with them, he kept them in a viſible manner, by Inſtructions ſtill ſounding in their Ears, Miracles ſtill done before their Eyes; when he was gone from them, they muſt be kept in a more ſpiritual manner. Senſible Comforts and Supports are ſometimes given, and ſometimes with-held; but when they are withdrawn, yet they are not left comfortleſs.

What Chriſt here ſaith of his immediate Followers, is true of all the Saints, while they are here in this World, Chriſt keeps them in God's Name; 'tis implied, (1.) That they are weak, and cannot keep themſelves; their own Hands are not ſufficient for them. (2.) That they are in God's Account valuable, and worth the keeping; precious in his Sight, and honourable; his Treaſure, his Jewels. (3.) That their Salvation is deſign'd, for to that it is that they are kept, 1 Pet. 1. 4. As the wicked are reſerv'd for the Day of Evil, ſo the righteous are preſerved for the Day of Bliſs. (4.) That they are the Charge of the Lord Jeſus, for as his Charge he keeps them, and expos'd himſelf like the good Shepherd, for the Preſervation of the Sheep.

2. The comfortable Account he gives of his Undertaking. None of them is loſt. Note, Jeſus Chriſt will certainly keep all that were given him, ſo as that none of them ſhall be totally and finally loſt; they may think themſelves loſt, and may be near loſt, in imminent Peril, but 'tis the Father's Will he ſhould loſe none, and none he will loſe, John 6. 39. ſo it will appear when they come all together, and none of them ſhall be wanting.

3. A Brand put upon Judas, as none of thoſe whom he had undertaken to keep. He was among thoſe that were given to Chriſt, but not of them. He ſpeaks of Judas as already loſt, for he had abandon'd the Society of his Maſter, and his Fellow Diſciples, and abandon'd himſelf to the Devil's Conduct, and in a little time would go to his own Place; where he is as good as loſt.

But the Apoſtacy and Ruin of Judas was no Reproach at all to his Maſter, or his Family; for,

1. He was the Son of Perdition, and therefore none of thoſe that were given to Chriſt to be kept. He deſerv'd Perdition, and God left him to throw himſelf headlong into it. He was the Son of the Deſtroyer, as Cain, who was of that wicked one. That great Enemy whom the Lord will conſume, is call'd a Son of Perdition, becauſe he is a Man of Sin, 2 Theſſ. 2. 3. 'Tis an awful Conſideration that one of the Apoſtles prov'd a Son of Perdition. No Man's Place or Name in the Church; no Man's Privileges or Opportunities of getting Grace; no Man's Profeſſion or external Performances will ſecure him from Ruin, if his Heart be not right with God; nor are any more likely to prove Sons, of Perdition, at laſt after a plauſible Courſe of Profeſſion, than thoſe that like Judas, love the Bag. But Chriſt's diſtinguiſhing Judas from thoſe that were given him (for εἰ μὴ is adverſative, not exceptive) intimates, that the Truth and true Religion ought not to ſuffer for the Treachery of thoſe that are falſe to it. 1 John 2. 19.

2. The Scripture was fulfill'd; the Sin of Judas was foreſeen in God's Counſel, and foretold in his Word, and the Event would certainly follow after the Prediction as a Conſequent, tho' it cannot be ſaid neceſſarily to follow from it as an Effect. See Pſal. 41. 9. and 69 25 and 109. 8. One would be amaz'd at the Treachery of Apoſtates, were we not told it before.

2. He pleads, that he was now under a Neceſſity of leaving them and could no longer watch over them in the way that he had hitherto done it, v. 11. Keep them now, that I may not loſe the Labour I beſtowed upon them while I was with them. Keep them that they may be one with us, as we are with each other. We ſhall have Occaſion to ſpeak of that, v. 21. But ſee here,

1. With what Pleaſure he ſpeaks of his own Departure. He expreſſeth himſelf concerning it, with an Air of Triumph and Exultation, with Reference both to the World he left, and the World he remov'd to.

(1.) Now I am no more in the World. Now Farewell to this provoking troubleſome World, I have had enough of it, and now the welcome hour is at hand, when I ſhall be no more in it. Now I have finiſh'd the Work I had to do in it, I have done with it, nothing remains now, but to haſten out of it as faſt as I can, Note, It ſhould be a Pleaſure to thoſe that have their Home in t'other World, to think of being no more in this World; for when we have done what we have to do in this World, and are made meet for that; what is there here that ſhould court our Stay; When we receive a Sentence of Death within our ſelves, with what a holy Triumph ſhould we ſay, Now I am no more in this World, this dark deceitful World, this poor empty World, this tempting defiling World, no more vex'd with its Thorns and Briars, no more endanger'd by its Nets and Snares; now I ſhall wander no more in this howling Wilderneſs, be toſt no more on this ſtormy Sea, now I am no more in this World, but can chearfully quit it, and give it a final Farewel.

(2.) Now I come to thee. To get clear of the World, is but the one half of the Comfort of a dying Chriſt, of a dying Chriſtian, the far better half is to think of going to the Father, to ſit down in the immediate uninterrupted and everlaſting Enjoyment of him. Note, They who love God cannot but be pleas'd to think of coming to him, tho' it be thro' the Valley of the Shadow of Death. When we go to be abſent from the Body, 'tis to be preſent with the Lord, like Children fetch'd home from School to their Father's Houſe. Now come I to thee whom I have choſen and ſerv'd, and whom my Soul thirſteth after; to thee the Fountain of Light and Life, the Crown and Centre of Bliſs and Joy; now my Longings ſhall be ſatisfied, my Hopes accompliſh'd, my Happineſs compleated, for now come I to thee.

2. With what a tender Concern he ſpeaks of thoſe whom he left behind; But theſe are in the World. I have found what an evil World it is, what will become of theſe dear little ones, that muſt ſtay in it? Holy Father keep them, they'll want my Preſence, let them have thine. They have now more need than ever to be kept, for I am ſending them out further into the World than they have yet ventur'd; they muſt launch forth into the Deep, and have Buſineſs to do in theſe great Waters, and will be loſt if thou do not keep them. Obſerve here,

(1.) That when our Lord Jeſus was going to the Father, he carry'd with him a tender Concern for his own which are in the World, and continued to compaſſionate them. He bears their Names upon his Breaſt-plate, nay upon his Heart, and has graven them with the Nails of his Croſs upon the Palms of his Hands; and when he is out of their Sight, they are not out of his, much leſs out of his Mind. We ſhould have ſuch a Pity for thoſe that are launching out into the World, when we are got almoſt through it; and for thoſe that are left behind in it, when we are leaving it.

(2.) That when Chriſt would expreſs the utmoſt Need his Diſciples had of Divine Preſervation, he only ſaith, They are in the World; that ſpeaks Danger enough to thoſe who are bound for Heaven, whom a flattering World would divert and ſeduce, and a malignant World would hate and perſecute.

3. He pleads what Satisfaction it would be to them to know themſelves ſafe, and what a Satisfaction it would be to him to ſee them eaſy, I ſpeak this that they might have my Joy fulfiled in themſelves, v. 13. Obſerve,

1. Chriſt earneſtly deſired the Fulneſs of the Joy of his Diſciples, for 'tis his Will that they ſhould rejoyice evermore. He was leaving them in Tears and Troubles, and yet took effectual Care to fulfil their Joy. When they thought their Joy in him was brought to an end, then was it advanced nearer to Perfection, than ever it had been, and they were fuller of it. We are here taught (1.) To found our Joy in Chriſt, 'tis my Joy, Joy of my giving, or rather, Joy that I am the Matter of. Chriſt is a Chriſtian's Joy, his chief Joy. Joy in the World is withering with it, Joy in Chriſt is everlaſting like him. (2.) To build up our Joy with Diligence; for 'tis the Duty as well as Privilege of all true Believers; no Part of the Chriſtian Life is preſs'd upon us more earneſtly, Phil. 3. 1. and 4. 4. (3.) To aim at the Perfection of this Joy, that we may have it fulfilled in us, for this Chriſt would have.

2. In order hereunto he did thus ſolemnly commit them to his Father's Care and Keeping, and took them for Witneſſes that he did ſo. Theſe Things I ſpeak in the World, while I am yet with them in the World; his Interceſſion in Heaven for their Preſervation would have been as effectual in it ſelf, but ſaying this in the World, would be a greater Satisfaction and Encouragement to them, and would enable them to rejoice in Tribulation. Note, 1. Chriſt has not only treaſured up Comforts for his People, in providing for their future Welfare, but has given out Comforts to them, and ſaid that which will be for their preſent Satisfaction. He here condeſcended in the Preſence of his Diſciples, to publiſh his laſt Will and Teſtament, and (which many a Teſtator is ſhy of) lets them know what Legacies he had left them, and how well they were ſecur'd, that they might have ſtrong Conſolation. 2. Chriſt's Interceſſion for us is enough to fulfil our Joy in him; nothing more effectual to ſilence all our Fears and Miſtruſts, and to furniſh us with ſtrong Conſolation, than this, that he always appears in the Preſence of God for us; therefore the Apoſtle puts a Tea rather upon this, Rom. 8. 34. And ſee Heb. 7. 25.

4. He pleads the ill Uſage they were likely to meet with in the World for his ſake, v. 14. I have given them thy Word, to be publiſh'd to the World, and they have receiv'd it, have believ'd it themſelves, and accepted the Truſt of tranſmiting it to the World, and therefore the World hath hated them, as alſo becauſe they are not of the World, no more than I.

Here we have,

1. The World's Enmity to Chriſt's Followers; while Chriſt was with them, tho' as yet they had given but little Oppoſition to the World, yet it hates them, much more would it do ſo, when by their more extenſive preaching of the Goſpel, they would turn the World upſide down. Father, ſtand their Friend, ſaith Chriſt, for they are likely to have many Enemies; let them have thy Love, for the World's Hatred is entail'd upon them. In the midſt of thoſe fiery Darts, let them be compaſs'd with thy Favour as with a Shield, 'tis God's Honour to take Part with the weaker Side, and to help the Helpleſs. Lord, be merciful to them, for Men would ſwallow them up.

2. The Reaſons of that Enmity which ſtrengthen the Plea.

1. 'Tis imply'd, that one Reaſon is, becauſe they had received the Word of God, as it was ſent them by the Hand of Chriſt, when the greateſt Part of the World, rejected it, and ſet themſelves againſt them, who were the Preachers and Profeſſors of it. Note, They that receive Chriſt's good Will, and good Word, muſt expect the World's ill Will and ill Word. Goſpel Miniſters have been in a particular manner hated by the World, becauſe they call Men out of the World, and ſeparate them from it, and teach them not to conform to it, and ſo condemn the World. Father, keep them, for it is for thy Sake that they are expoſed; they are Sufferers for thee. Thus the Pſalmiſt pleads, For thy Sake have I born Reproach, Pſal. 69. 7. Note, Thoſe that keep the Word of Chriſt's Patience, are entituled to a ſpecial Protection in the Hour of Temptation, Rev. 3. 10. that Cauſe which makes a Martyr, may well make a joyful Sufferer.

2. Another Reaſon is more expreſs; the World hates them, becauſe they are not of the World. They to whom the Word of Chriſt comes in Power, are not of the World, for it has this Effect upon all that receive it in the Love of it, that it weans them from the Wealth of the World, and turns them againſt the Wickedneſs of the World, and therefore the World bears them a Grudge.

5. He pleads their Conformity to himſelf in a holy Non-conformity to the World. v. 16. Father, keep them, for they are of my Spirit and Mind, they are not of the World, even as I am not of the World. They may in Faith commit themſelves to God's Cuſtody; (1.) Who are, as Chriſt was in this World, and tread in his Steps. God will love thoſe that are like Chriſt. (2.) Who do not engage themſelves in the World's Intereſt, nor devote themſelves to its Service. Obſerve,

1. That Jeſus Chriſt was not of this World; he never had been of it, and leaſt of all, now he was upon the Point of leaving it. This ſpeaks, (1.) His State, he was none of the World's Favourites or Darlings, none of its Princes or Grandees, worldly Poſſeſſions he had none, nor where to lay his Head; nor worldly Power, he was no Judge or Divider.) (2.) His Spirit; he was perfectly dead to the World, the Prince of this World had nothing in him; the Things of this World were nothing to him; not Honour, for he made himſelf of no Reputation; not Riches, for for our Sakes he became poor; not Pleaſures, for he acquainted himſelf with Grief. See John 8. 23.

2. That therefore true Chriſtians are not of this World. The Spirit of Chriſt in them is oppoſite to the Spirit of the World. (1.) It is their Lot to be deſpiſed by the World; they are not in Favour with the World, no more than their Maſter before them was. (2.) It is their Privilege to be delivered from the World; as Abraham out of the Land of his Nativity. (3.) It is their Duty and Character to be dead to the World. Their moſt pleaſing Converſe is, and ſhould be with another World, and their prevailing Concern about the Buſineſs of that World, not of this. Chriſt's Diſciples were weak, and had many Infirmities, yet this he could ſay for them, they were not of the World, not of the Earth, and therefore he recommends them to the Care of Heaven.

17 Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth. 18 As thou haſt ſent me into the world, even ſo have I alſo ſent them into the world. 19 And for their ſakes I ſanctify my ſelf, that they alſo might be ſanctified through the truth.

The next Thing he pray'd for them is, that they might be ſanctified; not only kept from Evil, but made Good.

Firſt, Here's the Petition, v. 7. Sanctify them through thy Truth, i. e. through thy Word, for thy Word is Truth, 'tis true, 'tis Truth it ſelf. He deſires they may be ſanctified, both as Chriſtians and as Miniſters.

(1.) As Chriſtians. Father, make them Holy, and that will be their Preſervation, 1 Theſ. 5. 23. Obſerve here,

1. The Grace deſir'd; Sanctification. The Diſciples were ſanctified, for they were not of the World, yet he prays, Father, ſanctify them, that is, (1.) Confirm the Work of Sanctification in them, ſtrengthen their Faith, enflame their good Affections, rivet their good Reſolutions. (2.) Carry on that good Work in them, and continue it; let the Light ſhine more and more. (3.) Compleat it, crown it with the Perfection of Holineſs; ſanctify them throughout, and to the End. Note, (1.) It is the Prayer of Chriſt for all that are his, that they may be ſanctified; becauſe he cannot for Shame own them as his, either here or hereafter; either employ them in his Work, or preſent them to his Father, if they be not ſanctified. (2.) Thoſe that through Grace are ſanctified, have need to be ſanctified more and more. Even Diſciples muſt pray for ſanctifying Grace, for if he that was the Author of the good Work be not the Finiſher of it, we are undone. Not to go forward is to go backward; He that is holy, muſt be holy ſtill, more holy ſtill, preſſing forwards, ſoaring upwards, as thoſe that have not attained. (3.) It is God that ſanctifies, as well as God that juſtifies, 2 Cor. 5. 5. (4.) It is an Encouragement to us in our Prayers for ſanctifying Grace, that it is what Chriſt intercedes for, for us.

2. The Means of conferring this Grace, Through thy Truth, thy Word is Truth. Not that the holy One of Iſrael is hereby limited to Means, but in the Counſels of Peace, among other Things, it was ſettled and agreed, 1. That all needful Truth ſhould be compriz'd and ſumm'd up in the Word of God. Divine Revelation, as it now ſtands in the written Word, is not only pure Truth, without Mixture, but entire Truth without Deficiency. 2. That this Word of Truth ſhould be the outward and ordinary Means of our Sanctification; not of it ſelf, for then it would always ſanctify, but as the Inſtrument which the Spirit commonly uſeth in beginning and carrying on that good Work; 'tis the Seed of the new Birth, 1 Pet. 1. 23. and the Food of the new Life, 1 Pet. 2. 1, 2.

(2.) As Miniſters, ſanctify them, i. e. ſet them apart for thy ſelf and Service; let their Call to the Apoſtleſhip be ratified in Heaven. Prophets were ſaid to be ſanctified, Jer. 1. 5. Prieſts and Levites were ſo. Sanctify them. i. e. 1. Qualify them for the Office, with Chriſtian Graces, and Miniſterial Gifts, to make them able Miniſters of the New Teſtament. 2. Separate them to the Office, Rom. 1. 1. I have called them, they have conſented, Father, ſay Amen to it. 3. Own them in the Office; let thy Hand go along with them; ſanctify them by, or in thy Truth, as Truth is oppos'd to Figure and Shadow; ſanctify them really, not ritually and ceremonially, as the Levitical Prieſts were, by Anointing and Sacrifice. Sanctify them to thy Truth, the Word of thy Truth, to be the Preachers of thy Truth to the World; as the Prieſts were ſanctified to ſerve at the Altar, ſo let them be to Preach the Goſpel, 1 Cor. 9. 13, 14. Note, 1. Jeſus Chriſt intercedes for his Miniſters with a particular Concern, and recommends to his Father's Grace thoſe Stars he carries in his Right Hand. 2. The great Thing to be ask'd of God, for Goſpel Miniſters, is, that they may be ſanctified, effectually ſeparated from the World, and entirely devoted to God, and experimentally acquainted with the Influence of that Word upon their own Hearts, which they preach to others. Let them have the Urim and Thummim, Light and Integrity.

Secondly, We have here two Pleas or Arguments to enforce this Petition for the Diſciples Sanctification.

1. The Miſſion they had from him, v. 18. As thou haſt ſent me into the World to be thine Embaſſador to the Children of Men, ſo now I am recalled, have I ſent them into the World, as my Delegates. Now here,

(1.) Chriſt ſpeaks with great Aſſurance of his own Miſſion, Thou haſt ſent me into the World. The great Author of the Chriſtian Religion had his Commiſſions and Inſtructions from him, who is the Original and Object of all Religion. He was ſent of God, to ſay what he ſaid, and to do what he did, and be what he is to thoſe that believe on him; which was his Comfort in his Undertaking, and may be ours abundantly, in our Dependance upon him; his Record was on high, from thence his Miſſion was,

(2.) He ſpeaks with great Satisfaction of the Commiſſion he had given his Diſciples. So have I ſent them, on the ſame Errand, and to carry on the ſame Deſign; to preach the ſame Doctrine that he had preached, and to confirm it with the ſame Proofs, with a Charge likewiſe to commit to other faithful Men, that which was committed to them. He gave them their Commiſſion, John 20. 21. with a Reverence to his own, and it magnifies their Office, that it comes from Chriſt, and that there is ſome Affinity between the Commiſſion given to the Miniſters of Reconciliation, and that given to the Mediator; he is call'd an Apoſtle, Heb. 3. 1. a Miniſter, Rom. 15. 8. a Meſſenger, Mal. 3. 1. only they are ſent as Servants, he as a Son.

Now this comes in here as a Reaſon, (1.) Why Chriſt was concern'd ſo much for them, and laid their Caſe ſo near his Heart, becauſe he had himſelf put them into a difficult Office, which requir'd great Abilities for the due Diſcharge of it. Note, Whom Chriſt ſends he will ſtand by, and intereſt himſelf in thoſe that are employ'd for him; what he calls us out to, he will fit us out for, and bear us out in. (2.) Why he committed them to his Father, becauſe he was concern'd in the Cauſe; their Miſſion being in Proſecution of his, and as it were, an Aſſignment out of it. Chriſt received Gifts for Men, Pſal. 68. 18. and then gave them to Men, Eph. 4. 8. and therefore prays in Aid of his Father to warrant and uphold thoſe Gifts, and confirm his Grant of them. The Father ſanctified him when he ſent him into the World, Chap. 10. 36. Now they being ſent as he was, let them alſo be ſanctified.

2. The Merit he had for them is another Thing here pleaded, v. 19. For their Sakes I ſanctify my ſelf. Here's,

1. Chriſt's Deſignation of himſelf to the Work and Office of Mediator. I ſanctify my ſelf, i. e. he entirely devoted himſelf to the Undertaking, and all the Parts of it, eſpecially that which he was now going about, the Offering up of himſelf without Spot unto God, by the Eternal Spirit. He, as the Prieſt and Altar, ſanctified himſelf as the Sacrifice. When he ſaid, Father, glorify thy Name; and Father, Thy Will be done; and Father, I commit my Spirit into thy Hands; he pay'd down the Satisfaction he had engag'd to make, and ſo ſanctify'd himſelf. This he pleads with his Father, for his Interceſſion is made in the Virtue of his Satisfaction. By his own Blood he enter'd into the Holy Place, Heb. 9. 12. As the High Prieſt on the Day of Atonement, ſprinkled the Blood of the Sacrifice at the ſame time that he burnt Incenſe within the Vail, Lev. 16. 12, 14.

2. Chriſt's Deſign of Kindneſs to his Diſciples herein. 'Tis for their Sakes, that they may be ſanctified, that is, that they may be Martyrs, ſo ſome. I ſacrifice my ſelf, that they may be ſacrificed to the Glory of God and the Churches Good. Paul ſpeaks of his being offer'd, 2 Tim. 4. 6. Phil. 2. 17. Whatever there is in the Death of the Saints, that is precious in the Sight of the Lord, 'tis owing to the Death of our Lord Jeſus. But I rather take it more generally, that they may be Saints and Miniſters duly qualified and accepted of God.

1. The Office of the Miniſtry is the Purchaſe of Chriſt's Blood, and one of the Bleſſed Fruits of his Satisfaction, and owes its Virtue and Value to Chriſt's Merit. The Prieſts under the Law were conſecrated with the Blood of Bulls and Goats, but Goſpel-Miniſters with the Blood of Jeſus.

2. The real Holineſs of all good Chriſtians, is the Fruit of Chriſt's Death, by which the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt was purchaſed; He gave himſelf for the Church, to ſanctify it, Eph. 5. 26. And he that deſign'd the End, deſign'd alſo the Means, that they might be ſanctified by the Truth, the Truth which Chriſt came into the World to bear Witneſs to, and dy'd to confirm. The Word of Truth receives its ſanctifying Virtue and Power from the Death of Chriſt. Some read it, that they may be ſanctified in Truth, i. e. truly; for as God muſt be ſerv'd, ſo in order to that we muſt be ſanctified in the Spirit, and in the Truth. And this Chriſt has prayed for, for all that are his, for this is his Will, even their Sanctification, which encourages them to pray for it,

20 Neither pray I for theſe alone, but for them alſo which ſhall believe on me through their word: 21 That they all may be one, as thou Father art in me, and I in thee: that they alſo may be one in us: that the world may believe that thou haſt ſent me. 22 And the glory which thou gaveſt me, I have given them: that they may be one, even as we are one. 23 I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one, and that the world may know that thou haſt ſent me, and haſt loved them as thou haſt loved me.

Next to their Purity, he prays for their Unity, for their Wiſdom from above, is firſt pure, then peaceable; and Amity is then aimable indeed, when 'tis like the Ointment on Aaron's holy Head, and the Dew on Sion's holy Hill. Obſerve,

Firſt, Who are included in this Prayer, v. 20. not theſe only, not theſe only that are now my Diſciples, the Eleven, the Seventy, with others, Men and Women, that followed him when he was here on Earth; but for them alſo which ſhall believe on me through their Word, either preached by them in their own Day, or written by them for the Generation to come; I pray for them all, that they all may be one in their Intereſt in this Prayer, and may all receive Benefit by it. Note here,

1. Thoſe, and thoſe only are intereſted in the Mediation of Chriſt, that do, or ſhall believe in him. This is that by which they are deſcrib'd, and it comprehends all the Character and Duty of a Chriſtian. They that liv'd then, ſaw and believed; but they in after Ages have not ſeen, and yet have believed.

2. 'Tis through the Word that Souls are brought to believe on Chriſt, and 'tis for this End that Chriſt appointed the Scriptures to be written, and a ſtanding Miniſtry to continue in the Church, while the Church ſtands, that is, while the World ſtands, for the raiſing up of a Seed.

3. It is certainly and infallibly known to Chriſt who ſhall believe on him. He doth not here pray at a venture, upon a Contingency depending on the treacherous Will of Man, which pretends to be free, but by reaſon of Sin is in Bondage with its Children; no, Chriſt knew very well whom he prayed for, the Matter was reduc'd to a Certainty by the Divine Preſcience and Purpoſe; he knew who were given him, who being ordain'd to Eternal Life, were enter'd in the Lamb's Book, and ſhould undoubtedly believe, Acts 13. 48.

4. Jeſus Chriſt intercedes not only for great and eminent Believers, but for the meaneſt and weakeſt; not for theſe only, that are to be employed in the higheſt Poſts of Truſt and Honour in his Kingdom, but for all, even thoſe that in the Eye of the World are inconſiderable. As the Divine Providence extends it ſelf to the meaneſt Creature, ſo doth the Divine Grace to the meaneſt Chriſtian. The good Shepherd has an Eye even to the Poor of the Flock,

5. Jeſus Chriſt in his Mediation had an actual Regard to thoſe of the choſen Remnant that were yet unborn, the People that ſhould be created, Pſal. 22. 31. the other Sheep which he muſt yet bring. Before they are formed in the Womb he knows them, Jer. 1 5. and Prayers are filed in Heaven for them beforehand, by him who declareth the End from the Beginning, and calleth Things that are not as tho' they were.

Secondly, What is intended in this Prayer, v. 21. That they all may be one. The ſame before, v. 11. That they may be one as we are. And again, v. 22. The Heart of Chriſt was much upon this. Some think that Oneneſs prayed for, v. 11. hath ſpecial Reference to the Diſciples as Miniſters and Apoſtles, that they might be one in their Teſtimony to Chriſt; and the Harmony of the Evangeliſts, and Concurrence of the firſt Preachers of the Goſpel is owing to this Prayer. Let them be not only of one Heart, but one Mouth, ſpeaking the ſame Thing. The Unity of Goſpel Miniſters is both the Beauty and Strength of the Goſpel Intereſt.

But 'tis certain, the Oneneſs pray'd for, v. 21. reſpects all Believers. 'Tis the Prayer of Chriſt for all that are his, and we may be ſure it is an anſwer'd Prayer. That they all may be one, one in us, v. 21. one as we are one, v. 22. made perfect in one, v. 23. It includes Three Things:

1. That they might all be incorporated in one Body. Father, look upon them as One, and ratify by that great Charter by which they are embody'd as one Church. Tho' they live in diſtant Places, from one End of Heaven to the other, and in ſeveral Ages, from the beginning to the cloſe of the Time, and ſo cannot have any perſonal Acquaintance or Correſpondence with each other, yet let them be united in me their common Head. As Chriſt dy'd, ſo he pray'd to gather them all in one, John 11. 53. Eph. 1. 10.

2. That they might all be animated by one Spirit. This is plainly implied in that, That they may be one in us. Union with the Father and Son is obtain'd and kept up only by the Holy Ghoſt. He that is joyned to the Lord in one Spirit, 1 Cor. 6. 17. Let them all be ſtamp'd with the ſame Image and Superſcription, and influenced by the ſame Power.

3. That they might all be knit together in the Bond of Love and Charity, all of one Heart. That they all may be one. 1. In Judgment and Setiment, not in every little Thing, 'tis neither poſſible nor needful, but in the great Things of God, and in them by the Virtue of this Prayer they are all agreed; that God's Favour is better than Life; that Sin is the worſt of Evils, Chriſt the beſt of Friends; that there is another Life after this; and the like. 2. In Diſpoſition and Inclination. All that are ſanctified have the ſame Divine Nature and Image; they have all a new Heart, and it is one Heart. 3. They are all one in their Deſigns and Aims. Every true Chriſtian, as far as he is ſo, eyes the Glory of God as his higheſt End, and the Glory of Heaven as his chief Good. 4. They are all one in their Deſires and Prayers, tho' they differ in Words, and the manner of Expreſſions, yet having all received the ſame Spirit of Adoption, and obſerving the ſame Rule, they pray for the ſame Things in effect. 5. All one in Love and Affection. Every true Chriſtian, has that in him which inclines him to love all true Chriſtians, as ſuch. That which Chriſt here prays for, is that Communion of Saints which we profeſs to believe; the Fellowſhip which all Believers have with God, and their intimate Union with all the Saints in Heaven and Earth, 1 John 1. 3. But this Prayer of Chriſt will not have its compleat Anſwer till all the Saints come to Heaven, for then, and not till then, they ſhall be perfect in one, v. 23. Eph. 4. 13.

Thirdly, What is intimated by way of Plea or Argument, to enforce this Petition; Three Things,

1. The Oneneſs that is between the Father and the Son, which is mention'd again and again, v. 11, 21, 22, 23.

1. It is taken for granted, that the Father and Son are one, one in Nature and Eſſence, equal in Power and Glory, one in mutual Endearments: The Father loveth the Son, and the Son always pleaſed the Father. They are one in Deſign, and one in Operation. The Intimacy of this Oneneſs is expreſs'd in theſe Words, Thou in me, and I in thee. This he often mentions for his Support under his preſent Sufferings, when his Enemies were ready to fall upon him, and his Friends to fall off from him, yet he was in the Father, and the Father in him.

2. This is inſiſted on in Chriſt's Prayer for his Diſciples Oneneſs.

1. As the Pattern of that Oneneſs, ſhewing how he deſir'd they might be One. Believers are One in ſome Meaſure as God and Chriſt are One: For, (1.) The Union of Believers is a ſtrict and cloſe Union; they are united by a Divine Nature, by the Power of Divine Grace in purſuance of the Divine Counſels. (2.) It is a holy Union, in the holy Spirit, for holy Ends; not a Body Politick for any ſecular Purpoſe. (3.) It is, and will be at laſt a compleat Union. Father and Son have the ſame Attributes, Properties, and Perfections, ſo have Believers now, as far as they are ſanctified, and when Grace ſhall be perfected in Glory, they will be exactly conſonant to each other, all changed into the ſame Image.

2. As the Centre of that Oneneſs; that they may be one in us, all meeting here. There is one God, and one Mediator, and herein Believers are one, that they all agree to depend upon the Favour of this one God as their Felicity, and the Merit of this one Mediator as their Righteouſneſs. That's a Conſpiracy, not a Union, which doth not centre in God as the End, and Chriſt as the Way. All that are truely united to God and Chriſt, who are one, will ſoon be united one to another.

3. As a Plea for that Oneneſs. The Creator and Redeemer are one in Intereſt and Deſign; but to what Purpoſe are they ſo, if all Believers were not one Body with Chriſt, and did not jointly receive Grace for Grace from him, as he had received it for them. Chriſt's Deſign was to reduce revolted Mankind to God; Father, ſaith he, let all that believe be one, that in one Body they may be reconciled, Eph. 2. 15, 16. which ſpeaks of the uniting of Jews and Gentiles in the Church; that great Myſtery, that the Gentiles ſhould be Fellow-Heirs, and of the ſame Body, Eph. 3. 6. to which I think this Prayer of Chriſt principally refers, it being one great Thing he aim'd at in his dying; and I wonder none of the Expoſitors I have met with do ſo apply it. Father, let the Gentiles that believe be incorporated with the believing Jews, and make of twain one new Man.

Thoſe Words, I in them, and thou in me, ſhew what that Union is which is ſo neceſſary, not only to the Beauty, but to the very Being of his Church. (1.) Union with Chriſt, I in them. Chriſt dwelling in the Hearts of Believers, is the Life and Soul of the New Man. (2.) Union with God through him. Thou in me, ſo as by me to be in them. (3.) Union with each other, reſulting from thoſe, that they hereby may be made perfect in one. We are compleat in him.

(2.) The Deſign of Chriſt in all his Communications of Light and Grace to them. Ver. 22. The Glory which thou gaveſt me, as the Truſtee or Channel of Conveyance, I have accordingly given them, to this Intent, that they may be one as we are one; ſo that thoſe Gifts will be in vain if they be not one. Now theſe Gifts are either,

1. Thoſe that were conferr'd upon the Apoſtles, and firſt Planters of the Church. The Glory of being God's Ambaſſadors to the World; the Glory of working Miracles; the Glory of gathering a Church out of the World, and erecting the Throne of God's Kingdom among Men; this Glory was given to Chriſt, and ſome of the Honour he put upon them, when he ſent them to Diſciple all Nations.

Or, 2. Thoſe that are given in common to all Believers. The Glory of being in Covenant with the Father, and accepted of him; of being laid in his Boſom, and deſigned for a Place at his right Hand, was the Glory which the Father gave to the Redeemer, and he hath confirmed it to the Redeemed. (1.) This Honour he ſaith he hath given them, becauſe he hath intended it for them, ſettled it upon them, and ſecured it to them, upon their believing Chriſt's Promiſes are real Gifts. (2.) This was given him to give them; 'twas convey'd to him in Truſt for them, and he was faithful to him that appointed him. (3.) He gave it them that they might be one. 1. To entitle them to the Privilege of Unity, that by Virtue of their common Relation to one God the Father, and one Lord Jeſus Chriſt, they might be truly denominated One. The Gift of the Spirit, that great Glory which the Father gave to the Son, by him to be given to all Believers, makes them one, for he worketh all in all, 1 Cor. 12. 4. &c. 2. To engage them to the Duty of Unity. That in Conſideration of their Agreement and Communion in one Creed, and one Covenant, one Spirit, and one Bible; in conſideration of what they have in one God, and one Chriſt, and of what they hope for in one Heaven, they may be of one Mind, and one Mouth. Worldly Glory ſets Men at Varience, for if ſome be advanced, others are eclipſed, and therefore, while the Diſciples dreamed of a Temporal Kingdom, they were ever and anon quarrelling, but ſpiritual Honours being conferred alike upon all Chriſt's Subjects, they being all made to our God Kings and Prieſts, there is no Occaſion for Conteſt or Emulation. The more Chriſtians are taken up with the Glory Chriſt has given them, the leſs deſirous they will be of Vain-glory, and conſequently the leſs diſpoſed to quarrel.

(3.) He pleads the happy Influence their Oneneſs would have upon others, and the Furtherance 'twould give to the publick Good. This is twice urged, v. 21. That the World may believe that thou haſt ſent me. And again, v. 23. That the World may know it, for without Knowledge there can be no true Faith. Believers muſt know what they believe, and why and wherefore they believe it: They who believe at a venture, venture too far. Now Chriſt here ſhews,

1. His Good Will to the World of Mankind in general. Herein he is of his Father's Mind, as we are ſure he is in every Thing; that he would have all Men to be ſaved, and to come to the Knowledge of the Truth, 1 Tim. 2. 4. 2 Pet. 3. 9. Therefore 'tis his Will that all Means poſſible ſhould be uſed, and no Stone left unturned for the Conviction and Converſion of the World. We know not who are choſen, but we muſt in our Places do our utmoſt to further Men's Salvation, and take heed of doing any Thing to hinder it.

2. The good Fruit of the Churches Oneneſs, 'twill be an Evidence of the Truth of Chriſtianity, and a Means of bringing many to embrace it.

1. In General, 'twill recommend Chriſtianity to the World, and to the good Opinion of thoſe that are without.

(1.) The Embodying of Chriſtians in one Society by the Goſpel Charter, will greatly promote Chriſtianity when the World ſhall ſee ſo many of thoſe that were its Children, calledout of its Family, diſtinguiſhed from others, and changed from what they themſelves ſometimes were; when they ſhall ſee this Society raiſed by the Fooliſhneſs of Preaching, and kept up by Miracles of Divine Providence and Grace; and how admirably well it is modell'd and conſtituted, they will be ready to ſay, We will go with you, for we ſee that God is with you.

(2.) The Uniting of Chriſtians in Love and Charity is the Beauty of their Profeſſion, and invites others to joyn with them, as the Love that was among thoſe Primo-primitive Chriſtians, Acts 2. 42, 43. and 4. 32, 33. When Chriſtianity, inſtead of cauſing Quarrels about it ſelf, makes all other Strifes to ceaſe; when it cools the fiery, ſmooths the rugged, and diſpoſeth Men to be kind and loving, courteous and beneficent to all Men; ſtudious to preſerve and promote Peace in all Relations and Societies; this will recommend it to all that have any Thing either of natural Religion or natural Affection in them.

2. In Particular, 'twill beget in Men good Thoughts.

1. Of Chriſt. They will know and believe that thou haſt ſent me. By this it will appear that Chriſt was ſent of God, and that his Doctrine was Divine, in that his Religion prevails to joyn ſo many of different Capacities, Tempers and Intereſts in other Things, in one Body by Faith, with one Heart by Love: Certainly he was ſent by the God of Power, who faſhioneth Mens Hearts alike, and the God of Love and Peace, when the Worſhippers of God are one, he is one, and his Name one.

2. Of Chriſtians. They will know that thou haſt loved them as thou haſt loved me. Here is, 1. The Privilege of Believers, the Father himſelf loveth them with a Love reſembling his Love to his Son, for they are loved in him with an everlaſting Love. 2. The Evidence of their Intereſt in this Privilege, and that is, their being One. By this it will appear that God loves us, if we love one another with a pure Heart, for where-ever the Love of God is ſhed abroad in the Heart, 'twill change it into the ſame Image. See how much good it would do the World to know better how dear to God all good Chriſtians are. The Jews had a Saying, "If the "World did but know the Worth of good Men, they would hedge them "about with Pearls." Thoſe that have ſo much of God's Love ſhould have more of ours.

24 Father, I will that they alſo whom thou haſt given me, be with me where I am; that they may behold my glory which thou haſt given me: for thou lovedſt me before the foundation of the World. 25 O righteous Father, the world hath not known thee; but I have known thee, and theſe have known that thou haſt ſent me. 26 And I have declared unto them thy name, and will declare it: that the love, wherewith thou haſt loved me, may be in them and I in them.

Here's, Firſt, A Petition for the glorifying all thoſe that were given to Chriſt, v. 24. not only theſe Apoſtles, but all Believers. Father, I will that they may be with me. Obſerve,

1. The Connexion of this Requeſt with thoſe foregoing. He had prayed that God would preſerve, ſanctify, and unite them, and now he prays that he would crown all his Gifts with their Glorification. In this Method we muſt pray, firſt for Grace, and then for Glory, Pſal. 84. 11. for in this Method God gives. Far be it from the only wiſe God to come under the Imputation either of that fooliſh Builder that without a Foundation built upon the Sand, as he would if he ſhould glorify any whom he hath not firſt ſanctified; or of that fooliſh Builder who began to build, and was not able to finiſh, as he would if he ſhould ſanctify any, and not glorify them.

2. The Manner of the Requeſt, Father I will. Here as before, he addreſſeth himſelf to God as a Father, and therein we muſt do likewiſe; but when he ſaith θέλω, I will, he ſpeakes a Language peculiar to himſelf, and ſuch as doth not become ordinary Petitioners, but very well became him who paid for what he pray'd for.

(1.) It ſpeaks the Authority of his Interceſſion in general; his Word was with Power in Heaven as well as on Earth. He entring with his own Blood into the Holy Place, his Interceſſion there has an uncontroulable Efficacy. He intercedes as King, for he is a Prieſt upon his Throne, like Melchizedeck, a King-Prieſt.

(2.) It ſpeaks his particular Authority in this Matter; he had a Power to give Eternal Life, v. 2. and purſuant to that Power he ſaith, Father I will. Tho' now he took upon him the Form of a Servant, yet that Power being to be moſt illuſtriouſly exerted when he ſhall come the ſecond Time in the Glory of a Judge, to ſay, Come ye Bleſſed, having that in his Eye, he might well ſay, Father, I will.

3. The Requeſt it ſelf; that all the Elect might come to be with him in Heaven at laſt, to ſee his Glory and to ſhare in it. Now obſerve here,

1. Under what Notion we are to hope for Heaven. Wherein doth that Happineſs conſiſt. Three Things make Heaven.

1. It is to be where Chriſt is; where I am. In the Paradice, whither Chriſt's Soul went at Death; in the Third Heavens, where his Soul and Body went at his Aſcenſion. —Where I am, am to be ſhortly, am to be eternally. In this World we are but in tranſitu, there we truly are where we are to be for ever; ſo Chriſt reckoned, and ſo muſt we.

2. It is to be with him where he is; this is no Tautology, but intimates that we ſhall not only be in the ſame happy Place where Chriſt is, but that the Happineſs of the Place will conſiſt in his Preſence, that's the Fulneſs of its Joy. The very Heaven of Heaven is to be with Chriſt, there in Company with him, and Communion with him, Phil. 1. 21.

3. 'Tis to behold his Glory which the Father has given him. Obſerve,

1. The Glory of the Redeemer is the Brightneſs of Heaven: That Glory before which Angels cover their Faces, was his Glory, John 12. 1. The Lamb is the Light of the New Jeruſalem, Rev. 21. 23. Chriſt will come in the Glory of his Father, for he is the Brightneſs of his Glory. God ſhews his Glory there, as he doth his Grace here through Chriſt. The Father has given me this Glory, tho' he was as yet in his low Eſtate, but it was very ſure and very near.

2. The Felicity of the Redeemed conſiſts very much in the beholding of that Glory; they will have the immediate View of his glorious Perſon; I ſhall ſee God in my Fleſh, Job 19. 26, 27. They will have a clear Inſight into his glorious Undertaking, as it will be then accompliſh'd; they will ſee into thoſe Springs of Love from whence flow all the Streams of Grace; they ſhall have an appropriating Sight of Chriſt's Glory, Uxor fulget radiis mariti; and an aſſimilating Sight, they ſhall be changed into the ſame Image from Glory to Glory.

3. Upon what Ground we are hope to for Heaven, no other but purely the Mediation and Interceſſion of Chriſt, becauſe he hath ſaid, Father, I will. Our Sanctification is our Evidence; for he that hath this Hope in him, purifies himſelf; but it is the Will of Chriſt, that is our Title, by the which Will we are ſanctified, Heb. 10. 10. Chriſt ſpeaks here as if he did not count his own Happineſs compleat, unleſs he had his Elect to ſhare with him in it; for 'tis the bringing of many Sons to Glory that makes the Captain of our Salvation perfect, Heb. 2. 10.

4. The Argument to back this Requeſt. For thou lovedſt me before the Foundation of the World. This is a Reaſon, (1.) Why he expected this Glory himſelf, thou wilt give it me, for thou lovedſt me. The Honour and Power given to the Son as Mediator was founded in the Father's Love to him, John 5. 20. The Father loves the Son, is infinitely well pleaſed in his Undertaking, and therefore has given all Things into his Hand. And the Matter being concerted in the divine Counſels from Eternity, he is ſaid to love him as Mediator before the Foundation of the World. Or, (2.) Why he expected that thoſe who were given him ſhould be with him to ſhare in his Glory. Thou lovedſt me, and them in me, and can'ſt deny me nothing I ask for them.

Secondly, The Concluſion of the Prayer, which is deſigned to enforce all the Petitions for the Diſciples, eſpecially the laſt, that they may be glorified.

Two Things he inſiſts upon, and pleads.

1. The Reſpect he had to his Father, v. 25. Obſerve,

1. The Title he gives to God, O righteous Father. When he prayed they might be ſanctified, he calls him holy Father; when he prays they might be glorified, he calls him righteous Father; for 'tis a Crown of Righteouſneſs which the righteous Judge ſhall give. God's Righteouſneſs was engag'd for the giving out of all that Good which the Father had promiſed, and the Son had purchaſed.

2. The Character he gives of the World that lay in Wickedneſs. The World has not known thee. Note, Ignorance of God over-ſpreads the World of Mankind; this is the Darkneſs they ſit in. Now this is urged here, (1.) To ſhew that theſe Diſciples needed the Aids of ſpecial Grace, both becauſe of the Neceſſity of their Work, they were to bring a World that knew not God to the Knowledge of him; and alſo becauſe of the Difficulty of their Work, they muſt bring Light to thoſe that rebelled againſt the Light, therefore keep them. (2.) To ſhew that they are qualified for further peculiar Favours, for they had that Knowledge of God which the World had not.

3. The Plea he inſiſts upon for himſelf, but I have known thee. Chriſt knew the Father ſo as no one elſe ever did; knew upon what Grounds he went in his Undertaking, knew his Father's Mind in every Thing, and therefore in this Prayer came to him with Confidence, as we do to one we know. Chriſt is here ſuing out Bleſſings for thoſe that were his; purſuing this Petition, when he had ſaid, The World has not known thee; one would expect it ſhould follow, but they have known thee; no, their Knowledge was not to be bragg'd of: But I have known thee, which intimates, that there is nothing in us to recommend us to God's Favour, but all our Intereſt in him, and Intercourſe with him, reſults from, and depends upon Chriſt's Intereſt and Intercourſe. We are unworthy, but he is worthy.

4. The Plea he inſiſts upon for his Diſciples; and thoſe have known that thou haſt ſent me. And,

1. Hereby they are diſtinguiſhed from the unbelieving World. When Multitudes to whom Chriſt was ſent, and his Grace offer'd, would not believe that God had ſent him, theſe knew it, and believed it, and were not aſhamed to own it. Note, To know and believe in Jeſus Chriſt, in the midſt of a World that perſiſts in Ignorance and Infidelity is highly pleaſing to God, and ſhall certainly be crowned with diſtinguiſhing Glory: Singular Faith qualifies for ſingular Favours.

2. Hereby they are intereſted in the Mediation of Chriſt, and partake of the Benefit of his Acquaintance with the Father. I have known thee immediately and perfectly, and thoſe, tho' they have not ſo known thee, nor were capable of knowing thee ſo, yet they have known that thou haſt ſent me, have known that which was requir'd of them to know, have known the Creator in the Redeemer. Knowing Chriſt as ſent of God they have in him known the Father, and are introduced to an Acquaintance with him; therefore, Father, look after them for my ſake.

2. The Reſpect he had to his Diſciples, v. 26. I have led them into the Knowledge of thee, and will do it, yet more and more, with this great and kind Intention, That the Love wherewith thou haſt loved me may be in them, and I in them. Obſerve here,

1. What Chriſt had done for them, I have declared unto them thy Name. 1. This he had done for thoſe that were his immediate Followers. All the Time that he went in and out among them, he made it his Buſineſs to declare his Father's Name to them, and to beget in them a Veneration for it. The Tendency of all his Sermons and Miracles was to advance his Father's Honour, and to ſpread the Knowledge of him, John 1. 18. 2. This he hath done for all that believe on him, for they had not been brought to believe, if Chriſt had not made known to them his Father's Name. Note, 1. We are indebted to Chriſt for all the Knowledge we have of the Father's Name; he declares it, and he opens the Underſtanding to receive that Revelation. 2. Thoſe whom Chriſt recommends to the Favour of God, he firſt leads into an Acquaintance with God.

2. What he intended to do yet further for them, I will declare it. To the Diſciples he deſigned to give further Inſtructions after his Reſurrection, Acts 1. 3. and to bring them into a much more intimate Acquaintance with divine Things, by the pouring out of the Spirit after his Aſcenſion; and to all Believers, into whoſe Hearts he hath ſhined, he ſhines more and more. Where Chriſt has declared his Father's Name, he will declare it, for to him that hath ſhall be given, and they that know God, both need and deſire to know more of him. This is fitly pleaded for them, Father own and favour them, for they will own and honour thee.

3. What he aimed at in all this, not to fill their Heads with curious Speculations, and furniſh them with ſomething to talk of among the Learned, but to ſecure and advance their real Happineſs in two Things.

1. Communion with God. Therefore I have given them the Knowledge of thy Name, of all that whereby thou haſt made thy ſelf known, that thy Love, even that wherewith thou haſt loved me, may be not only towards them but in them. That is, 1. Let them have the Fruits of that Love for their Sanctification; let the Spirit of Love, with which thou haſt filled me, be in them. Chriſt declares his Father's Name to Believers, that with that divine Light darted into their Minds, a divine Love may be ſhed abroad in their Hearts; to be in them a commanding, conſtraining Principle of Holineſs; that they may partake of a divine Nature. When God's Love to us comes to be in us, 'tis like the Virtue which the Load-ſtone gives the Needle, inclining it to move towards the Pole; it draws out the Soul towards God in pious and devout Affections, which are as the Spirits of the divine Life in the Soul. 2. Let them have the Taſt and Reliſh of that Love for their Conſolation; let them not only be intereſted in the Love of God, by having God's Name declared to them, but by a further Declaration of it, let them have the Comfort of that Intereſt; may not only know God, but know that they know him, 1 John 2. 3. 'Tis the Love of God thus ſhed abroad in the Heart that fills it with Joy, Rom. 5. 3, 5. This God has provided for, that we may not only be ſatisfied with his loving Kindneſs, but ſatisfied of it; and ſo may live a Life of Complacency in God, and Communion with him; this we muſt pray for, this we muſt preſs after; if we have it, we muſt thank Chriſt for it, if we want it we may thank our ſelves.

2. Union with Chriſt in order hereunto, and I in them. There's no getting into the Love of God but through Chriſt, nor can we keep our ſelves in that Love but by abiding in Chriſt; that is, having him to abide in us; nor can we have the Senſe and Apprehenſion of that Love but by our Experience of the indwelling of Chriſt, that is, the Spirit of Chriſt in our Hearts: 'Tis Chriſt in us that is the only Hope of Glory that will not make us aſhamed, Col. 1. 27. All our Communion with God, the Reception of his Love to us, and our Return of Love to him again, paſſeth through the Hands of the Lord Jeſus, and the Comfort of both is owing purely to him. Chriſt had ſaid but a little before, I in them, v. 23. and here 'tis repeated again (tho' the Senſe was compleat without it) and the Prayer cloſed with it, to ſhew how much the Heart of Chriſt was ſet upon it; all his Petitions centre in this, and with this the Prayers of Jeſus the Son of David are ended, I in them; let me have this, and I deſire no more; 'tis the Glory of the Redeemer to dwell in the Redeemed; 'tis his Reſt for ever, and he has deſir'd it. Let us therefore make ſure our Union with Chriſt, and then take the Comfort of his Interceſſion: This Prayer had an End, but that he ever lives to make.

CHAP. XVIII.

Hitherto this Evangeliſt has recorded little of the Hiſtory of Chriſt, only ſo far as was requiſite to introduce his Diſcourſes; but now the Time drew nigh that Jeſus muſt die, he is very particular in relating the Circumſtances of his Sufferings, and ſome which the other had had omitted, eſpecially his Sayings. So far were his Followers from being aſhamed of his Croſs, or endeavouring to conceal it, that this was it which both by Word and Writing they were moſt induſtrious to proclaim, and gloried in it. This Chapter relates, (1.) How Chriſt was arreſted in the Garden, and ſurrendered himſelf a Priſoner, v. 1——12. (2.) How he was abuſed in the High Prieſt's Court, and how Peter in the mean Time deny'd him, v. 13——27. (3.) How he was Proſecuted before Pilate, and examined by him, and put in Election with Barabbas for the Favour of the People, and loſt it, v. 28. 40.

WHEN Jeſus had ſpoken theſe words, he went forth with his diſciples over the brook Kedron, where was a garden into the which he entered, and his diſciples. 2 And Judas alſo which betrayed him, knew the Place: for Jeſus oft times reſorted thither with his diſciples. 3. Judas then having received a band of men, and officers from the chief prieſts and Phariſees, cometh thither with lanthorns and torches, and weapons. 4 Jeſus therefore knowing all things that ſhould come upon him, went forth and ſaid unto them, Whom ſeek ye? 5 They anſwered him, Jeſus of Nazareth. Jeſus ſaith unto them I am he. And Judas alſo who betrayed him, ſtood with them. 6 Aſſoon then as he had ſaid unto them, I am he, they went backward and fell to the ground. 7 Then asked he them again, Whom ſeek ye? And they ſaid Jeſus of Nazareth. 8 Jeſus anſwered, I have told you that I am he. If therefore ye ſeek me, let theſe go their way: 9 That the ſaying might be fulfilled which he ſpake, Of them which thou gaveſt me, have I loſt none. 10 Then Simon Peter having a ſword, drew it, and ſmote the High Prieſts ſervant, and cut off his right ear. The ſervants Name was Malchus. 11 Then ſaid Jeſus unto Peter put up thy ſword into the ſheath: the cup which my Father hath given me, ſhall I not drink it? 12 Then the band, and the captain, and officers of the Jews, took Jeſus, and bound him.

The Hour was now come that the Captain of our Salvation, who was to be made perfect by Sufferings, ſhould engage the Enemy. We have here his entrance upon the Encounter. The Day of Recompence is in his Heart, and the Year of his Redeemed is come, and his own Arm works the Salvation, for he has no Second. Let us turn aſide now and ſee this great Sight.

Firſt, Our Lord Jeſus, like a bold Champion, takes the Field firſt, v. 1, 2. When he had ſpoken the Words, preach'd the Sermon, pray'd his Prayer, and ſo finiſh'd his Teſtimony, he would loſe no Time, but went forth immediately out of the Houſe, out of the City by Moon-light, for the Paſſover was obſerved at the Full Moon, with his Diſciples, the Eleven, (for Judas was otherwiſe employ'd) and he went over the Brook Kedron, which runs between Jeruſalem, and the Mount of Olives; where was a Garden, not of his own, but ſome Friends who allowed him the Liberty of it. Obſerve,

1. That our Lord Jeſus entered upon his Sufferings when he had ſpoken theſe Words, as Mat. 26. 1. When he had finiſh'd theſe Sayings. Here 'tis intimated,

(1.) That our Lord Jeſus took his Work before him. The Office of the Prieſt was to teach and pray, and offer Sacrifice. Chriſt after teaching and praying applies himſelf to make Atonement. Chriſt had ſaid all he had to ſay as a Prophet, and now he addreſſeth himſelf to the diſcharge of his Office as a Prieſt, to make his Soul an Offering for Sin, and when he had gone through that, he entered up his kingly Office.

(2.) That having by his Sermon prepared his Diſciples for this Hour of Trial; and by his Prayer prepared himſelf for it, he then couragiouſly went out to meet it. When he had put on his Armour, he enter'd the Liſts, and not till then. Let thoſe that ſuffer according to the Will of God, in a good Cauſe, with a good Conſcience, and having a clear Call to it, comfort themſelves with this, that Chriſt will not engage thoſe that are his in any Conflict, but he will firſt do that for them which is neceſſary to prepare them for it; and if we receive Chriſt's Inſtructions and Comforts, and be intereſted in his Interceſſion, we may with an unſhaken Reſolution venture through the greateſt Hardſhips in the way of Duty.

2. That he went forth with his Diſciples. Judas knew what Houſe he was in, in the City, and he could have ſtay'd and met his Sufferings there. But,

1. He would do as he was wont to do, and not alter his method, either to meet the Croſs, or to miſs it, when his Hour was come. 'Twas his Cuſtom when he was at Jeruſalem, after he had ſpent the Day in publick Work, to retire at Night to the Mount of Olives, there his Quarters were, in the skirts of the City, for they would not make room for him in the Palaces, in the Heart of the Town. This being his Cuſtom he would not be out of his method by the foreſight of, his Sufferings, but as Daniel, did then juſt as he did aforetime, Dan. 6. 10.

2. He was as unwilling there ſhould be an uproar among the People, as his Enemies were, for it was not his way to ſtrive or cry. If he had been ſeized in the City, and a Tumult raiſed thereby, Miſchief might have been done, and a deal of Blood ſhed, and therefore he withdrew. Note, When we find our ſelves involved in trouble, we ſhould be afraid of involving others with us. 'Tis no diſgrace for the Followers of Chriſt to fall tamely. They who aim at Honour from Men, value themſelves upon a Reſolution to ſell their Lives as dear as they can; but they who know their Blood is precious to Chriſt, and not a drop of it ſhall be ſhed but upon a valuable Conſideration, need not ſtand upon ſuch Terms.

3. He would ſet us an Example in the beginning of his Paſſion, as he did at the end of it, of Retirement from the World. Let us go forth to him without the Camp, bearing his Reproach. Heb. 13. 13. We muſt lay aſide, and leave behind the Crowds and Cares, and Comforts of Cities, even holy Cities, if we would chearfully take up our Croſs, and keep up our Communion with God therein.

3. That he went over the Brook Kedron; he muſt go over that to go to the Mount of Olives; but the notice taken of it, intimates that there were ſomething in it ſignificant; and it points, 1. At Davids Prophecy concerning the Meſſiah, Pſal. 110. 7. that he ſhall drink of the Brook in the Way; the Brook of Suffering in the way to his Glory, and our Salvation, ſignified by the Brook Kedron; the black Brook, ſo called either from the darkneſs of the Valley it run through, or the Colour of the Water, tainted with the dirt of the City; ſuch a Brook Chriſt drank of when it lay in the way of our Redemption, and therefore ſhall he lift up the Head, his own and ours. 2. At David's Pattern as a Type of the Meſſiah. In his flight from Abſalom, particular notice is taken of his paſſing over the Brook Kedron, and going up the Aſcent of Mount Olivet, weeping, and all that were with him in Tears too, 2 Sam. 15. 23, 30. The Son of David being driven out by the rebellious Jews, who would not have him to Reign over them; and Judas, like Achitophel, being in Plot againſt him, paſſed over this Brook in Meanneſs and Humiliation attended by a Company of true Mourners. The godly Kings of Judah had burnt and deſtroy'd the Idols they found at the Brook Kidron; Aſa, 2 Chron. 15. 16. Hezekiah, 2 Chron. 30. 14. Joſiah, 2. Kings 23. 4. 6. Into that Brook the abominable Things were caſt. Chriſt being now made Sin for us, that he might aboliſh it, and take it away, began his Paſſion by the ſame Brook. Mount Olivet, where Chriſt began his Sufferings, lay on the Eaſt-ſide of Jeruſalem; Mount Calvery, where he finiſhed them, on the Weſt, for in them he had an Eye to ſuch as ſhould come from the Eaſt and the Weſt.

4. That he entered into a Garden. This Circumſtance is taken notice of only by this Evangeliſt, that Chriſt's Sufferings began in a Garden. In the Garden of Eden Sin began, there the Curſe was pronounced, there the Redeemer was promiſed, and therefore in a Garden that promiſed Seed entered the Liſts with the old Serpent. Chriſt was buried alſo in a Garden. (1.) Let us when we walk in our Gardens, take occaſion from thence to meditate on Chriſt's Sufferings in a Garden, to which we owe all the Pleaſure we have in our Gardens, for by them the Curſe upon the Ground for Man's ſake was removed. (2.) When we are in the midſt of our Poſſeſſions and Enjoyments, we muſt keep up an Expectation of Troubles, for our Gardens of Delight are in a Vale of Tears.

5. That he had his Diſciples with him. (1.) Becauſe he uſed to take them with him when he retired for Prayer. (2.) They muſt be Witneſſes of his Sufferings, and his Patience under them, that they might with the more Aſſurance and Affection preach them to the World, Luke 24. 48. and be prepared to ſuffer themſelves. (3.) He would take them into the Danger to ſhew them their Weakneſs, notwithſtanding the promiſes they had made of Fidelity. Chriſt ſometimes brings his People into Difficulties, that he may magnify himſelf in their Deliverance.

6. That Judas the Traytor knew the Place, knew it to be the Place of his uſual Retirement, and by ſome Word Chriſt had dropt probably knew that he intended to be there that Night, for want of a better Cloſet. A ſolitary Garden is a proper Place, for Meditation and Prayer; and after a Paſſover a proper Time to retire for private Devotion, that he may pray over the Impreſſions made, and the Vows renewed, and clench the Nail.

Mention is made of Judas's knowing the Place,

1. To aggravate the Sin of Judas, that he would betray his Maſter notwithſtanding the intimate Acquaintance he had with him; nay, and that he would make uſe of his Familiarity with Chriſt, as giving him an Opportunity of betraying him; a generous Mind would have ſcorned to do ſo baſe a Thing. Thus hath Chriſt's holy Religion been wounded in the Houſe of its Friends, ſo as it could not have been wounded any where elſe. Many an Apoſtate could not have been ſo prophane as he is, if he had not been a Profeſſor, could not have ridiculed Scriptures and Ordinances, if he had not known them.

2. To magnify the Love of Chriſt, that though he knew where the Traytor would ſeek him, thither he went to be found of him, now he knew that his Hour was come. Thus he ſhewed himſelf willing to ſuffer and die for us. What he did was not by conſtraint, but by conſent; though as a Mean he ſaid, Let this Cup paſs away, as Mediator he ſaid, Lo I come; I come with a good Will. It was late in the Night, we may ſuppoſe it Eight or Nine a Clock when Chriſt went out to the Garden, for it was not only his Meat and Drink, but his Reſt and Sleep to do the Will of him that ſent him. When others were going to Bed, he was going to pray, going to ſuffer.

Secondly, The Captain of our Salvation having taken the Field, the Enemy preſently comes upon the ſpot, and attacks him. Ver. 3. Judas with his Men comes thither, commiſſion'd by the Chief Prieſts, eſpecially thoſe among them that were Phariſees, who were the moſt bitter Enemies to Chriſt. This Evangeliſt paſſeth over Chriſt's Agony, becauſe the other Three had fully related it, and preſently introduceth Judas and his Company that came to ſeize him. Obſerve,

1. The Perſons employ'd in this Action, a Band of Men, and Officers from the Chief Prieſts with Judas.

(1.) Here's a Multitude engaged againſt Chriſt, a Band of Men; σπεῖρα, Cohors, a Regiment, a Roman Band; which ſome think was Five Hundred Men, others a Thouſand. Chriſt's Friends were few, his Enemies many. Let us therefore, not follow a Multitude to do Evil, nor fear a Multitude deſigning Evil to us, if God be for us.

(2.) Here's a mixt Multitude. The Band of Men were Gentiles, Roman Soldiers, a Detachment out of the Guards, that were poſted in the Tower of Antonia to be a Curb upon the City. The Officers of the Chief Prieſts, ὑπηρέται, either their domeſtick Servants, or the Officers of their Courts were Jews; theſe had an Enmity to each other, but were united againſt Chriſt, who came to reconcile both to God in one Body.

(3.) 'Tis a commiſſioned Multitude, not a popular Tumult; no, they have received Orders from the Chief Prieſts, upon whoſe Suggeſtion to the Governour that this Jeſus was a dangerous Man, 'tis likely they had a Warrant from him too to take him up, for they feared the People. See what Enemies Chriſt and his Goſpel have had, and are likely to have, numerous and potent, and therefore formidable. Eccleſiaſtical and Civil Powers combined againſt them, Pſal. 2. 1, 2. Chriſt ſaid it would be ſo, Mat. 10. 18. and found it ſo.

(4.) All under the Conduct of Judas. He received this Band of Men, 'tis likely he deſired it, telling them how neceſſary it was to ſend a good Force, and being as ambitious of the Honour of commanding in Chief in this Expedition, as he was covetous of the Wages of this Unrighteouſneſs. He thought himſelf bravely preferred from coming in the rear of the contemptible Twelve, to be plac'd in the Head of theſe formidable Hundreds; he never made ſuch a Figure before, and promiſed himſelf perhaps that this ſhould not be the laſt Time, but he ſhould be rewarded with a Captain's Commiſſion, or better, if he ſucceeded well in this Enterprize.

2. The Preparation they had made for an Attack; they came with Lanthorns and Torches, and Weapons.

(1.) If he ſhould abſcond, tho' they had Moon-light, they would have Occaſion for their Lights. But they might have ſpared theſe; the ſecond Adam was not driven as the firſt was, to hide himſelf either for fear or ſhame among the Trees of the Garden. 'Twas folly to light a Candle to ſeek the Sun by.

(2.) If he ſhould reſiſt, they would have Occaſion for their Arms. The Weapons of his Warfare were Spiritual, and at thoſe Weapons he had often beaten them, and put them to ſilence, and therefore they have now recourſe to other Weapons, Swords and Staves.

Thirdly, Our Lord Jeſus glorioùſly repulſed the firſt Onſet of the Enemy, v. 4, 5, 6. Where obſerve,

(1.) How he received them with all the Mildneſs imaginable towards them, and all the Calmneſs imaginable in himſelf.

(1.) He met them with a very ſoft and mild Queſtion, v. 4 Knowing all Things that ſhould come upon him, and therefore not at all ſurprized with this Alarm, with a wonderful Intrepidity and Preſence of Mind, undiſturb'd and undaunted, he went forth to meet them, and, as if he had been unconcerned, ſoftly asked, Whom ſeek ye? What's the Matter? What means this buſtle at this time of Night. See here, 1. Chriſt's foreſight of his Sufferings. He knew all thoſe Things that ſhould come upon him, for he had obliged himſelf to ſuffer them; unleſs we had Strength, as Chriſt had, to bear the Diſcovery, we ſhould not covet to know what ſhall come upon us; 'twould but anticipate our Pain; Sufficient unto the Day is the Evil thereof. Yet it will do us good to expect Sufferings in general, ſo as that when they come, we may ſay, 'tis but what we look'd for; the Coſt we ſet down and counted upon. 2. Chriſt's forwardneſs to his Sufferings, he did not out-run them, but went out to meet them, and reach'd forth his Hand to take the bitter Cup. When the People would have forc'd him to a Crown, and offered to make him a King in Galilee, he withdrew, and hid himſelf, John 6. 15. but when they came to force him to a Croſs he offered himſelf, for he came to this World to ſuffer, and went to t'other World to reign. This will not warrant us needleſly to expoſe our ſelves to Trouble, for we know not when our Hour is come; but when we are called to Suffering, when we have no way to avoid it but by Sin; and when it comes to that, let none of theſe Things move us, for they cannot hurt us.

2. He met them with a very calm and mild Anſwer, when they told him whom they were in queſt of, Ver. 5. They ſaid, Jeſus of Nazareth, and he ſaid, I am he.

1. It ſhould ſeem their Eyes were held that they could not know him. 'Tis highly probable, that many of the Roman Band, however the Officers of the Temple had often ſeen him, at leaſt to ſatisfy their Curioſity; however, Judas to be ſure knew him well enough, and yet none of them could pretend to ſay, Thou art the Man we ſeek. Thus he ſhewed them the Folly of bringing Lights to ſee for him, for he could make them not to know him, when they ſaw him; and hath ſhewed us how eaſily he can infatuate the Counſels of his Enemies, and make them loſe themſelves when they are ſeeking Miſchief.

2. In their Enquiries for him they called him Jeſus of Nazareth, which was the only Title they knew him by, and probably he was ſo called in their Warrant: 'Twas a Name of Reproach given him to darken the Evidence of his being the Meſſiah. By this it appears they knew him not, whence he was, for if they had known ſurely they would not have perſecuted him.

3. He fairly anſwers them, I am he. He did not improve the Advantage he had againſt them by their Blindneſs, as Eliſha did againſt the Syrians, telling them, This is not the way, neither is this the City; but improves it as an Opportunity of ſhewing his Willingneſs to ſuffer. Tho' they called him Jeſus of Nazareth, he anſwered to the Name, for he deſpiſed the Reproach; he might have ſaid I am not he, for he was Jeſus of Bethelem, but he would by no means allow Equivocations. He has hereby taught us to own him, what ever it coſt us; not to be aſhamed of him or his Words, but even in difficult Times to confeſs Chriſt crucified, and manfully to fight under his Banner. I am he, Ἐγώ εἰμι, I am he, is the glorious Name of the bleſſed God, Exod. 3. 14. and the Honour of that Name is juſtly challenged by the bleſſed Jeſus.

4. Particular Notice is taken in a Parantheſis, that Judas ſtood with them. He that uſed to ſtand with them that followed Chriſt, now ſtood with thoſe that fought againſt him. This deſcribes an Apoſtate; he is one that changes Sides, he herds himſelf with thoſe with whom his Heart always was, and with whom he ſhall have his Lot in the Judgment Day. This is mentioned, (1.) To ſhew the Impudence of Judas. One would wonder where he got the Confidence with which he now faced his Maſter, and was not aſhamed, neither could he Bluſh; Satan in his Heart gave him a Whore's Forehead. (2.) To ſhew that Judas was particularly aim'd at in the Power which went along with that Word, I am He, to foil the Aggreſſors; was an Arrow level'd at the Traytor's Conſcience, and pierc'd him to the quick; for Chriſt's Coming, and his Voice, will be of all Sinners moſt terrible to Apoſtates and Betrayers of him.

2. See how he terrified them, and obliged them to retire, v. 6. They went backward, and like Men Thunder-ſtruck, fell to the Ground. It ſhould ſeem they did not fall forwards, as humbling themſelves before him and yielding to him; but backwards, as ſtanding it out to the utmoſt: Thus Chriſt was declared to be more than a Man, even then, when he was trampled upon as a Worm, and no Man. This Word, I am He, had revived his Diſciples, and raiſed them up, Mat. 14. 27. but the ſame Word ſtrikes his Enemies down. Hereby he ſhewed plainly,

1. What he could have done with them; when he ſtruck them down he could have ſtruck them dead; when he ſpoke them to the Ground, he could have ſpoke them to Hell, and have ſent them, like Korah's Company, the next way thither; but he would not do ſo. (1.) Becauſe the Hour of his Suffering was come, and he would not put it by, only ſhew that his Life was not forced from him, but he laid it down of himſelf, as he had ſaid. (2.) Becauſe he would give an Inſtance of his Patience and Forbearance with the worſt of Men, and his compaſſionate Love to his very Enemies. In ſtriking them down, and no more, he gave them both a Call to repent, and Space to repent, but their Hearts were hardened and all was in vain.

2. What he will do at laſt with all his implacable Enemies that will not repent to give him Glory, they ſhall flee, they ſhall fall before him. Now the Scripture was accompliſhed, Pſal. 21. 12. Thou ſhalt make them turn their Back, and Pſal. 20. 8. and it will be accompliſh'd more and more with the Breath of his Mouth he ſhall thee Wicked, 2 Theſſ. 2. 8. Rev. 19. 21. Quid judicaturus faciet qui judicandus hoc facit? Aug.

Fourthly, Having given his Enemies a Repulſe, he gives his Friends a Protection, and that by his Word too, v. 7, 8, 9. where we may obſerve,

1. How he continued to expoſe him ſelf to their Rage. v. 7. They did not lie long where they fell, but by Divine Permiſſion, got up again; 'tis only in the other World that God's Judgments are everlaſting. When they were down, one would have thought Chriſt ſhould have made his Eſcape; when they were up again one would have thought they ſhould have let fall their Purſuit, but we ſtill find, (1.) They are as eager as ever to ſeize him. 'Tis in ſome confuſion and diſorder that they recover themſelves; cannot imagine what ail'd them that they could not keep their Ground, but will impute it to any Thing rather than Chriſt's Power. Note, There are Hearts ſo very hard in Sin, that nothing will work upon them to reduce and reclaim them. (2.) He is as willing as ever to be ſeized. When they were fallen before him he did not inſult over them, but ſeeing them at a loſs, ask'd them the ſame Queſtion, Whom ſeek ye? And they gave him the ſame Anſwer, Jeſus of Nazareth. In his repeating the Queſtion, he ſeems to come yet cloſer to their Conſciences, do you not know whom ye ſeek? Are you not aware that you are in an Error, and do not meddle with your Match? Have you had not enough of it, but will you try t'other ſtruggle? Did ever any harden his Heart againſt againſt God, and proſper? In their repeating the ſame Anſwer, they ſhewed an Obſtinacy in their wicked Way; they ſtill call him Jeſus of Nazareth, with as much Diſdain as ever, and Judas as unrelenting as any of them. Let us therefore fear, leſt by a few bold Steps at firſt in a ſinful Way, our Hearts be hardened.

2. How he contriv'd to ſecure his Diſciples from their Rage. He improv'd this Advantage againſt them for the Protection of his Followers, when he ſhews his Courage with Reference to himſelf, I have told you that I am he; he ſhews his Care for his Diſciples, Let theſe go their Way. He ſpeaks this as a Command to them, rather than a Contract with them, for they lay at his Mercy, not he at theirs. He chargeth them therefore as one having Authority; Let theſe go their Way; 'tis at your Peril if you meddle with them. This aggravated the Sin of the Diſciples in forſaking him, and particularly Peter's, in denying him, that Chriſt had given them this Paſs or Warrant of Protection, and yet they had not Faith and Courage enough to rely upon that, but betook themſelves to ſuch baſe and ſorry Shifts for their Security. When Chriſt ſaid, Let theſe go their Way, he intended,

(1.) To manifeſt his affectionate Concern for his Diſciples; when he expos'd himſelf he excus'd them, becauſe they were not as yet fit to ſuffer, their Faith was weak, and their Spirits low, and it would have been as much as their Souls, and the Lives of their Souls were worth to bring them into Sufferings now. New Wine muſt not be put into old Bottles. And beſides, they had other Work to do; they muſt go their way, for they are to go into all the World to preach the Goſpel; Deſtroy not them, for a Bleſſing is in them. Now herein, (1.) Chriſt gives us a great Encouragement to follow him; for tho he has allotted us Sufferings, yet he conſiders our Frame, will wiſely time the Croſs, and proportion it to our Strength, and will deliver the godly out of Temptation, either from it or through it. (2.) He gives us a good Example of Love to our Brethren, and Concern to their Welfare. We muſt not conſult our own Eaſe and Safety only, but others as well as our own, and in ſome Caſes more than our own. There is a generous and heroick Love, which will enoble us to lay down our Lives for the Brethren, 1 John 3. 16.

(2.) He intended to give a Specimen of his Undertaking as Mediator. When he offer'd himſelf to ſuffer and die, 'twas that we might eſcape. He was our ἀντίψυχος, a Sufferer in our ſtead; when he ſaid, Lo, I come, he ſaid alſo, Let theſe go their way; like the Ram offer'd inſtead of Iſaac.

2. Now herein he confirmed the Word which he had ſpoken a little before, chap. 17. 12. Of them which thou gaveſt me, I have loſt none. Chriſt by fulfilling that Word in this Particular, gave an Aſſurance that it ſhould be accompliſhed in the full Extent of it, not only for them that were now with him, but for all that ſhould believe on him through their Word. Tho' Chriſt's keeping of them, was meant eſpecially of the Preſervation of their Souls from Sin and Apoſtacy, yet it is here applied to the Preſervation of their natural Lives, and very fitly, for even the Body was a Part of Chriſt's Charge and Care; he is to raiſe it up at the laſt Day, and therefore to preſerve that as well as the Spirit and Soul, 1 Theſ. 5. 23. 2 Tim. 4. 17, 18. Chriſt will preſerve the natural Life for the Service to which 'tis deſign'd; 'tis given him to be us'd for him, and he will not loſe the Service of it, but will be magnified in it whether by Life or Death; it ſhall be held in Life as long as any Uſe is to be made of it, Chriſt's Witneſſes ſhall not die till they have given in their Evidence. But that's not all, this Preſervation of the Diſciples was in the Tendency of it a ſpiritual Preſervation. They were now ſo weak in Faith and Reſolution, that in all Probability, if they had been called out to ſuffer at this time, they would have ſhamed themſelves and their Maſter, and ſome of them, at leaſt the weaker of them, would have been loſt; and therefore that he might loſe none, he would not expoſe them. The Safety and Preſervation of the Saints is owing not only to the Divine Grace in proportioning the Strength to the Trial, but to the Divine Providence in proportioning the Trial to the Strength.

Fifthly, Having provided for the Safety of his Diſciples, he rebukes the Raſhneſs of one of them, and repreſſeth the Violence of his Followers, as he had repuls'd the Violence of his Perſecutors, v. 10, 11. where we have,

1. Peter's Raſhneſs. He had a Sword; 'tis not likely he wore one conſtantly as a Gentleman, but they had two Swords among them all, Luke 22. 28. and Peter was intruſted with one, and he drew it, for now, if ever, he thought it was time to uſe it, and he ſmote one of the High Prieſt's Servants, who it's likely was one of the forwardeſt, and aiming, its likely, to cleave him down the Head, miſſed his Blow, and only cut off his right Ear. The Servant's Name, for the greater Certainty of the Narrative is recorded, 'twas Malchus or Malluch, Neh. 10. 4.

(1.) We muſt here acknowledge Peter's good Will; he had an honeſt Zeal for his Maſter, tho' now miſguided. He had lately promis'd to venture his Life for him, and would now make his Words good. Probably it exaſperated Peter to ſee Judas at the Head of this Gang; his Baſeneſs excited Peter's Boldneſs, and I wonder when he did draw his Sword, he did not aim at his Head.

(2.) Yet we muſt acknowledge Peter's ill Conduct; and tho' his good Intention did excuſe, yet it would not juſtify him. (1.) He had no Warrant from his Maſter for what he did, Chriſt's Soldiers muſt wait the Word of Command, and not out-run it, and before they expoſe themſelves to Sufferings, muſt ſee to it not only that their Cauſe be good, but their Call clear. (2.) He tranſgreſſed the Duty of his Place, and rſieſted the Powers that were, which Chriſt had never countenanced, but forbidden, Matth. 5. 39. That ye reſiſt not Evil. (3.) He oppos'd his Maſter's Suffering, and notwithſtanding the Rebuke he had for it once, is ready to repeat, Maſter, ſpare thy ſelf; Suffering be far from thee; tho' Chriſt had told him he muſt and would ſuffer, and that his Hour was now come; thus while he ſeem'd to fight for Chriſt, he fought againſt him. (4.) He broke the Capitulation his Maſter had lately made with the Enemy; when he ſaid, Let theſe go their way, he not only intended for their Safety, but in effect paſſed his Word for their good Behaviour, that they ſhould go away peaceably; this Peter heard, and yet would not be bound by. As we may be guilty of a ſinful Cowardiſe when we are called to appear, ſo we may be of a ſinful Forwardneſs, when we are called to retire. (5.) He fooliſhly expos'd himſelf and his Fellow-Diſciples to the Fury of this enraged Multitude; if he had cut off Malchus's Head when he cut off his Ear, we may ſuppoſe, the Soldiers would have fallen upon all the Diſciples, and hew'd them to pieces, and would have repreſented Chriſt as no better than Barabbas. Thus many have been guilty of Self-deſtruction in their Zeal for Self-preſervation. (6.) Peter play'd the Coward ſo ſoon after this denying his Maſter, that we have Reaſon to think he would not have done this, but that he ſaw his Maſter beat them down to the Ground, and then he could deal with them, but when he ſaw him ſurrender himſelf notwithſtanding, Courage fail'd him then; whereas the true Chriſtian Hero will appear in the Cauſe of Chriſt, not only when it is prevailing, but when it ſeems declining; will be on the right Side, tho' it be not the riſing Side.

(3.) We muſt acknowledge God's over-ruling Providence, in directing the Stroke, ſo that it ſhould do no more Execution, but only cut off his Ear; which was rather marking him than maiming him. As alſo in giving Chriſt an Opportunity to manifeſt his Power and Goodneſs in healing the Hurt, Luke 22. 51. Thus what was in danger of turning to Chriſt's Reproach, prov'd an Occaſion of that which redounded much to his Honour, even among his Adverſaries.

2. The Rebuke his Maſter gave him, v. 11. Put up thy Sword into the Sheath, or Scabbard; it is a gentle Reproof, becauſe it was his Zeal that carry'd him beyond the Bounds of Diſcretion; he did not aggravate the Matter, only bid him do ſo no more. Many think when they are in Grief and Diſtreſs, 'twill excuſe them, if they be hot and haſty with thoſe about them; but Chriſt has here ſet us an Example of Meekneſs in Sufferings. Peter muſt put up his Sword for it was the Sword of the Spirit that was to be committed to him; Weapons of Warfare, not carnal, yet mighty. When Chriſt with a Word fell'd the Aggreſſors, he ſhew'd Peter how he ſhould be arm'd with a Word, quick and powerful, and ſharper than any two edged Sword; and with that, not long after this, he laid Ananias and Saphira dead at his Feet.

3. The Reaſon for this Rebuke. The Cup which my Father has given me, ſhall I not drink it? Matthew relates another Reaſon Chriſt gave for this Rebuke, but John preſerves this which he had omitted; in which Chriſt gives us,

1. A full Proof of his own Submiſſion to his Father's Will; of all that was amiſs in what Peter did, he ſeems to reſent nothing ſo much as that would have hindered his Sufferings now his Hour was come; What? (Peter) wilt thou ſtep between the Cup and the Lip? Get thee hence, Satan. If Chriſt be determin'd to ſuffer and die, 'tis Preſumption for Peter in Word or Deed to oppoſe it. Shall I not drink it? The manner of Expreſſion ſpeaks a ſettled Reſolution, and that he would not entertain a Thought to the contrary. He was willing to drink of this Cup, tho' it was a bitter Cup, an Infuſion of the Wormwood and the Gall; the Cup of Trembling, a bloody Cup, the Dregs of the Cup of the Lord's Wrath, Iſai. 51. 22. yet he drank it, that he might put into our Hands the Cup of Salvation, the Cup of Conſolation, the Cup of Bleſſing; and therefore he is willing to drink it, becauſe his Father put it into his Hand. If his Father will have it ſo, it is for the beſt, and be it ſo.

2. A fair Pattern to us of Submiſſion to God's Will in every thing that concerns us. We muſt pledge Chriſt in the Cup that he drank of, Mat. 20. 23. and muſt argue our ſelves into a Compliance. (1.) 'Tis but a Cup; a ſmall Matter comparatively, be it what it will. 'Tis not a Sea, a Red Sea, a Dead Sea, for it is not Hell; 'tis light, and but a Moment. (2.) 'Tis a Cup that is given us; Sufferings are Gifts. (3.) 'Tis given us by a Father; who has a Father's Authority, and doth us no Wrong; a Father's Affection, and means us no Hurt.

Sixthly, Having entirely reconcil'd himſelf to the Diſpenſation, he calmly ſurrender'd and yielded himſelf a Priſoner, not becauſe he could not have made his Eſcape, but becauſe he would not. One would have thought the Cure of Malchus's Ear ſhould have made them relent, but nothing would win upon them. Maladictus furor, quom nec majeſtas miraculi nec pietas beneficii confringere potuit. Anſelm. Obſerve here,

1. How they ſeiz'd him. They took Jeſus. Only ſome few of them could lay hands on him, but 'tis charg'd upon them all, for they were all aiding and abetting; in Treaſon there are no Acceſſaries; all are Principals. Now the Scripture was fulfilled, Bulls have compaſſed me, Pſal. 22. 12. compaſſed me like Bees, Pſal. 111. 12. The Breath of our Noſtrils is taken in their Pit, Lam. 4. 20. They had ſo often been fruſtrated in their Attempts to ſeize him, that now they had got him into their Hands, we may ſuppoſe they flew upon him with ſo much the more Violence.

2. How they ſecur'd him; they bound him. This Particular of his Sufferings is taken Notice of only by this Evangeliſt, that as ſoon as ever he was taken he was bound, pinion'd, hand-cuff'd; Tradition ſaith, they bound him with ſuch Cruelty, that the Blood ſtarted out at his Fingers ends. And that having bound his Hands behind him, they clapt an Iron Chain about his Neck, and with that dragged him along. See Gerhard, Harm. cap. 5.

2. This ſpeaks the Spite of the Perſecutors. They bound him, (1.) That they might torment him, and put him to Pain, as they bound Sampſon to afflict him. (2.) That they might diſgrace him and put him to Shame. Slaves were bound, ſo was Chriſt, tho' Free-born. (3.) That they might prevent his Eſcape, Judas having bidden them hold him faſt. See their Folly! that they ſhould think to fetter that Power which had but juſt now proved it ſelf Omnipotent! (4.) They bound him, as one already condemn'd, for they were reſolved to proſecute him to the Death, and that he ſhould die as a Fool dieth, i. e. as a Malefactor, with his Hands bound, 2 Sam. 3. 33, 34. Chriſt had bound the Conſciences of his Perſecutors, with the Power of his Word, which gall'd them, and to be revenged on him, they laid theſe Bonds on him.

2. Chriſt's being bound was very ſignificant; in this as in other things there was a Myſtery. (1.) Before they bound him, he had bound himſelf by his own Undertaking, to the Work and Office of Mediator; he was already bound to the Horns of the Altar with the Cords of his own Love to Man, and Duty to his Father, elſe their Cords would not have held him. (2.) We were bound with the Cords of our Iniquities, Prov. 5. 22. with the Yoke of our Tranſgreſſions, Lam. 1. 14. Guilt is a Bond on the Soul, by which we are bound over to the Judgment of God; Corruption is a Bond on the Soul, by which we are bound under the Power of Satan. Chriſt being made Sin for us, to free us from thoſe Bonds, himſelf ſubmitted to be bound for us, elſe we had been bound Hand and Foot, and reſerved in Chains of Darkneſs. To his Bonds we owe our Liberty, his Confinement was our Enlargement; thus the Son maketh us free. (3.) The Types and Prophecies of the Old Teſtament were herein accompliſhed; Iſaac was bound that he might be ſacrificed; Joſeph was bound, and the Irons entred into his Soul, in order to his being brought from Priſon to reign, Pſal. 105. 18. Sampſon was bound, in order to his ſlaying more of the Philiſtines at his Death, than he had done in his Life. And the Meſſiah was propheſied of as a Priſoner, Iſaiah 53. 8. (4.) Chriſt was bound, that he might bind us to Duty and Obedience. His Bonds for us, are Bonds upon us, by which we are for ever obliged to love him, and ſerve him. Paul's Salutation to his Friends, is Chriſt's to us all, Remember my Bonds, (Col. 4. 14.) remember them as bound with him from all Sin, and to all Duty. (5.) Chriſt's Bonds for us were deſign'd to make our Bonds for him eaſy to us, if at any time we be ſo called out to ſuffer for him, to ſanctify and ſweeten them, and put Honour upon them; theſe enabled Paul and Silas to ſing in the Stocks, and Ignatius to call his Bonds for Chriſt, Spiritual Pearls. Epiſt. ad Epheſ.

14 And led him away to Annas firſt (for he was father-in-law to Caiaphas, which was the high prieſt that ſame year.) 14 Now Caiaphas was he which gave counſel to the Jews, that it was expedient that one Man ſhould die for the People. 15 And Simon Peter followed Jeſus, and ſo did another diſciple. That diſciple was known unto the high prieſt, and went in with Jeſus into the palace of the high prieſt. 16 But Peter ſtood at the door without. Then went out that other diſciple which was known unto the high prieſt. and ſpake unto her that kept the door, and brought in Peter. 17 Then ſaith the damſel, that kept the door, unto Peter, Art not thou alſo one of this man's diſciples? He ſaith, I am not. 18 And the ſervants and officers ſtood there, who had made a fire of coals, (for it was cold) and they warmed themſelves: and Peter ſtood with them, and warmed himſelf. 19 The high prieſt then asked Jeſus of his diſciples, and of his doctrine. 20 Jeſus anſwered him, I ſpake openly to the world; I ever taught in the ſynagogue, and in the temple, whither the Jews always reſort, and in ſecret have I ſaid nothing. 21 Why asketh thou me, ask them which heard me, what I have ſaid unto them: behold, they know what I ſaid. 22 And when he had thus ſpoken, one of the officers which ſtood by, ſtruck Jeſus with the palm of his hand, ſaying, Anſwereſt thou the high prieſt ſo? 23 Jeſus anſwered him, If I have ſpoken evil, bear witneſs of the evil: but if well, why ſmiteſt thou me? 24 ¶ (Now Annas had ſent him bound unto Caiaphas the high prieſt.) 25 And Simon Peter ſtood and warmed himſelf: They ſaid therefore unto him, Art not thou alſo one of his diſciples? He denied it, and ſaid, I am not. 26 One of the ſervants of the high prieſt (being his kinſman whoſe ear Peter cut off) ſaith, Did I not ſee thee in the garden with him? 27 Peter then denied again, and immediately the cock crew.

We have here an Account of Chriſt's Arraignment before the High Prieſt, and ſome Paſſages that occurred therein, which were omitted by the other Evangeliſts; and Peter's denying of him, which the other Evangeliſt had given the Story of entire by it ſelf, is interwoven with the other Paſſages. The Crime laid to his Charge, having relation to Religion, the Judges of the Spiritual Court took it to fall directly under their Cognizance; both Jews and Gentiles ſeiz'd him, and ſo both Jews and Gentiles try'd and condemn'd him, for he dy'd for the Sins of both. Let us go over the Story in Order.

Firſt, Having ſeiz'd him, they led him away to Annas firſt, before they brought him to the Court that was ſet, expecting him in the Houſe of Caiaphas, v. 1.

1. They led him away, led him in Triumph, as a Trophy of their Victory; led him as a Lamb to the Slaughter, and they led him through the Sheep-gate ſpoken of, Neh. 3. 1. for through that they went from the Mount of Olives into Jeruſalem. They hurried him away with Violence, as if he had been the worſt and vileſt of Malefactors. We had been led away of our own impetuous Luſts, and led Captive by Satan at his Will, and that we might be reſcued, Chriſt was led away, led Captive by Satan's Agents and Inſtruments.

2. They led him away to their Maſters that ſent them; it was now about Mid-night, and one would think they ſhould have put him in Ward, Lev. 24. 12. ſhould have led him to ſome Priſon, till it was a proper time to call a Court; but he is hurried away immediately, not to the Juſtices of Peace to be committed, but to the Judges to be condemned; ſo extremely violent was the Proſecution, partly becauſe they fear'd a Reſcue, which they would thus not only leave no Time for, but give a Terror to; partly, becauſe they greedily thirſted after Chriſt's Blood, as the Eagle that haſteth to the Prey.

3. They led him to Annas firſt; Probably his Houſe lay in the Way, and was convenient for them to call at and refreſh themſelves, and, as ſome think, to be paid for their Service. I ſuppoſe Annas was old and infirm, and could not be preſent in Council with the reſt, at that time of Night, and yet earneſtly deſir'd to ſee the Prey: To gratify him therefore with the Aſſurance of their Succeſs, that the old Man might ſleep the better, and to receive his Bleſſing for it, they produce their Priſoner before him. 'Tis ſad to ſee them that are old and ſickly, when they cannot commit Sin as formerly, taking Pleaſure in them that do. Dr. Lightfoot thinks Annas was not preſent, becauſe he was to attend early that Morning in the Temple, to examine the Sacrifices which were that Day to be offer'd, whether they were without Blemiſh; if ſo, there was a Significancy in it, that Chriſt the great Sacrifice was preſented to him, and ſent away bound, as approved and ready for the Altar.

4. This Annas was Father-in-law to Caiaphas the High Prieſt; his Kindred by Marriage between them, comes in as a Reaſon, either why Caiaphas order'd that this piece of Reſpect ſhould be done to Annas, to favour him with the firſt Sight of the Priſoner; or, why Annas was willing to countenance Caiaphas in a Matter his Heart was ſo much upon. Note, Acquaintance and Alliance with wicked People is a great Confirmation to many in their wicked Ways.

Secondly, Annas did not long detain them, being as willing as any of them to have the Proſecution puſh'd on, and therefore ſent him bound to Caiaphas to his Houſe, which was appointed for the Rendezvous of the Sanhedrim upon this Occaſion; or to the uſual Place in the Temple, where the High Prieſt kept his Court; this is mention'd, v. 24. but our Tranſlators intimate in the Margin, that it ſhould come in here, and accordingly read it there, Annas had ſent him. Obſerve here.

1. The Power of Caiaphas, intimated, v, 13. He was High Prieſt that ſame Year. The High Prieſt's Commiſſion was during Life; but there were now ſuch frequent Changes by the Simonial Artifices of aſpiring Men with the Government, that it was become almoſt an Annual Office, a Preſage of its final Period approaching; while they were undermining one another, God was over-turning them all that he might come, whoſe Right it was. Caiaphas was High Prieſt that ſame Year, when Meſſiah was to be cut off. Which intimates, (1.) That when an ill Thing was to be done by a High Prieſt, according to the Fore-knowledge of God, Providence ſo order'd it, that an ill Man ſhould be in the Chair to do it. (2.) That when God would make it to appear what Corruption there was in the Heart of a bad Man, he put him into a Place of Power, where he had Temptation and Opportunity to exert it. 'Twas the Ruin of Caiaphas that he was High Prieſt that Year, and ſo became a Ring-leader in the putting of Chriſt to Death. Many a Man's Advancement has loſt him his Reputation, and he had not been diſhonoured if he had not been preferred.

2. The Malice of Caiaphas, which is intimated, v. 14. by the repeating of what he had ſaid ſome time before, That right or wrong, guilty or innocent, it was expedient that one Man ſhould die for the People, which refers to the Story, John 11. 50. This comes in here to ſhew, (1.) What an ill Man he was; this was that Caiaphas that govern'd himſelf and the Church by Rules of Policy, in Definace of the Rules of Equity. (2.) What ill Uſage Chriſt was likely to meet with in his Court, when his Caſe was adjudg'd before it was heard, and they were already reſolv'd what to do with him; He muſt die; ſo that his Tryal was a Jeſt. Thus the Enemies of Chriſt's Goſpel are reſolv'd, true or falſe, to run it down. (3.) 'Tis a Teſtimony to the Innocency of our Lord Jeſus, from the Mouth of one of his worſt Enemies, who own'd that he fell a Sacrifice to the publick Good, and that it was not juſt he ſhould die, but expedient only.

3. The Concurrence of Annas in the Proſecution of Chriſt. He made himſelf a Partaker in Guilt, (1.) With the Captain and Officers, that without Law or Mercy had bound him, for he approv'd it by continuing him bound, when he ſhould have looſed him, he not being convicted of any Crime, nor having attempted an Eſcape. If we do not what we can to undo what others have ill done, we are Acceſſaries, ex poſt facto. 'Twas more excuſable in the rude Soldiers to bind him, than in Annas, that ſhould know better things, to continue him bound. (1.) With the Chief Prieſt and Council that condemn'd him and proſecuted him to Death. This Annas was not preſent with them, yet thus he wiſh'd them good Speed, and became a Partaker of their evil Deeds.

Thirdly, In the Houſe of Caiaphas, Simon Peter began to deny his Maſter, v. 15——18.

1. It was with much ado, that Peter got into the Hall, where the Court was ſet, an Account of which we have v. 15, 16. where we may obſerve.

(1.) Peter's Kindneſs to Chriſt, which (tho' it prov'd no Kindneſs) appear'd in two things. (1.) That he followed Jeſus when he was led away; tho' at firſt he fled with the reſt, yet afterwards he took Heart a little, and followed at ſome Diſtance; calling to mind the Promiſes he had made to adhere to him whatever it coſt him. They that had follow'd Chriſt in the midſt of his Honours, and ſhared with him in thoſe Honours, when the People cry'd Hoſanna to him, ought to have followed him now in the midſt of his Reproaches, and to have ſhared with him in thoſe. They that truly love and value Chriſt, will follow him all Weathers, and all Ways. (2.) When he could not get in where Jeſus was in the midſt of his Enemies, he ſtood at the Door without, willing to be as near him as he could, and waiting for an Opportunity to get nearer. Thus when we meet with Oppoſition in following Chriſt, we muſt ſhew our good Will. But yet this Kindneſs of Peter's was no Kindneſs, becauſe he had not Strength and Courage enough to perſevere in it, and ſo it was proved, he did but run himſelf into a Snare; and even his following Chriſt, conſidering all things, was to be blam'd; becauſe Chriſt who knew him better than he knew himſelf, had expreſly told him, Chap. 13. 36. Whither I go, thou canſt not follow me now; and had told him again and again he would deny him; and he had lately had Experience of his own Weakneſs in forſaking him. Note, we muſt take heed of tempting God, by running upon Difficulties beyond our Strength, and ventering too far in a way of ſuffering. If our Call be clear to expoſe our ſelves, we may hope that God will enable us to honour him; but if it be not, we may fear that God will leave us to ſhame our ſelves.

(2.) The other Diſciple's Kindneſs to Peter, which yet as it prov'd, was no Kindneſs neither, St. John ſeveral times in this Goſpel ſpeaking of himſelf as another Diſciple, many Interpreters have been led by that to fancy that this other Diſciple here was John; and many Conjectures they have how he ſhould come to be known to the high Prieſt; Propter generis nobilitatem, ſaith, Jerom, Epitaph. Marcel. as if he were a better Gentleman born than his Brother James, when they were both the Sons of Zebedee the Fiſherman; ſome will tell you he had ſold an Eſtate to the High Prieſt; others that he ſupply'd his Family with Fiſh, which are very improbable. But I ſee no Reaſon to think that this other Diſciple was John, or one of the Twelve; other Sheep Chriſt had which were not of the fold, and this might be as the Syriac reads it, unus ex Diſcipulis aliis, one of thoſe other Diſciples that believed in Chriſt, but reſided at Jeruſalem, and kept their Places there; perhaps Joſeph of Arimathea, or Nicodemus, known to the High Prieſt, but not known to him to be Diſciples of Chriſt. Note, As there are many who ſeem Diſciples and are not ſo; ſo there are many that are Diſciples and ſeem not ſo. There are good People hid in Courts, even Nero's, as well as hid in Crowds. We muſt not conclude a Man to be no Friend to Chriſt, merely becauſe he has Acquaintance and Converſation with thoſe that were his known Enemies.

Now, 1. This other Diſciple, who ever he was, ſhew'd a Reſpect to Peter in introducing him, not only to gratify his Curioſity and Affection, but to give him an Opportunity of being ſerviceable to his Maſter upon his Tryal, if there were Occaſion. Thoſe that have a real Kindneſs for Chriſt and his Ways, tho' their Temper may be reſerved, and their Circumſtances lead them to be cautious and retir'd; yet if their Faith be ſincere when they are Call'd to it, they will diſcover which way their Inclinations lies, by being ready to do a profeſs'd Diſciple a good Turn. Peter perhaps had formerly introduc'd this Diſciple into Converſation with Chriſt, and now he requites his Kindneſs, and is not aſham'd to own him, tho' it ſhould ſeem he look'd but ſneakingly.

But this Kindneſs prov'd no Kindneſs, nay a great Diskindneſs; by letting him into the High Prieſt's Hall, he let him into Temptation, and the Conſequence was ill. Note, The Courteſies of our Friends often prove a Snare to us, through a miſguided Affection.

2. Peter being got in, was immediately aſſaulted with the Temtation, and foil'd by it, v. 17. Obſerve here, (1.) How ſlightly the Attack was. 'Twas but a ſilly Maid, of ſo ſmall Account, that ſhe was only ſet to keep the Door, that challenged him, and ſhe only asked him careleſly, Art not thou one of this Man's Diſciples? probably ſuſpecting it was by his ſheepiſh Look, and coming in timorouſly. We ſhould many a time better maintain a good Cauſe, if we had a good Heart on it, and could put a good Face on it. Peter had ſome Reaſon to take the Alarm if Malchus had ſet upon him, and had ſaid, this is he that cut off my Ear, and I'll have his Head for it; but when a Maid only ask'd him, Art not thou one of them? He might without danger have anſwered, and What if I am? Suppoſe the Servants had ridiculed him, and inſulted over him upon it; thoſe can bear but little for Chriſt that cannot bear that; that's but running with the Footman.

(2.) How ſpeedy the Surrender was; without taking time to recollect himſelf, he ſuddenly anſwered, I am not. If he had the Boldneſs of the Lion, he would have ſaid, 'tis my Honour that I am ſo; if he had had the Wiſdom of the Serpent, he would have kept Silence at this time, for it was an evil time. But all his Care being for his own Safety, he thought he could not ſecure that but by a peremtory Denial, I am not; he not only denies it, but even diſdains it, and ſcorns her Words.

3. Yet he goes further into the Temptation, v. 18. And the Servants and Officers ſtood there, and Peter with them.

1. See how the Servants made much of themſelves; the Night being cold, they made a Fire in the Hall, not for their Maſters; they were ſo eager in proſecuting Chriſt, that they forgot Cold; but for themſelves, to refreſh themſelves. They cared not what became of Chriſt, and all their Care was to ſit and warm themſelves, Amos. 6. 6.

2. See how Peter herded himſelf with them, and made one among them. He ſate and warmed himſelf.

1. It was a Fault bad enough, that he did not attend his Maſter, and appear for him at the upper end of the Hall, where he was now under Examination. He might have been a Witneſs for him, and have confronted the falſe Witneſſes that ſwore againſt him, if his Maſter had call'd him; however he might have been a Witneſs to him, might have taken exact Notice of what paſt, that he might relate it to the other Diſciples, who could none of them get in to hear the Tryal; he might have learn'd by his Maſter's Example how to carry himſelf, when it ſhould came to his Turn to ſuffer thus; yet neither his Conſcience nor his Curioſity could bring him into the Court, but he ſits by, as if like Gallio he cared for none of theſe things. And yet at the ſame time we have Reaſon to think his Heart was as full of Grief and Concern as it could hold, but he had not the Courage to own it. Lord, Lead us not into Temptation.

2. It was much worſe, that he join'd himſelf with thoſe that were his Maſter's Enemies; He ſtood with them and warmed himſelf; that was a poor Excuſe for joining with them. A little thing will draw thoſe into bad Company, that will be drawn to it by the Love of a good Fire. If Peter's Zeal for his Maſter had not frozen, but had continued in the Heat it ſeem'd to be of but a few Hours before, he had not had Occaſion to warm himſelf now. Peter was much to be blamed.

1. Becauſe he aſſociated himſelf with theſe wicked Men, and kept Company with them. Doubtleſs they were diverting themſelves with this Night's Expedition, ſcoffing at Chriſt, at what he had ſaid, at what he had done, and triumphing in their Victory over him; and what ſort of Entertainment would this give to Peter? If he ſaid as they ſaid, or by ſilence gave Conſent, he involved himſelf in Sin; if not, he expoſed himſelf to Danger. If Peter had not ſo much Courage as to appear publickly for his Maſter, yet he might have had ſo much Devotion as to to retire into a Corner, and weep in Secret for his Maſter's Sufferings and his own Sin in forſaking him; if he could not have done good, he might have kept out of the way of doing hurt. 'Tis better to abſcond than appear to no Purpoſe, or ill Purpoſe.

2. Becauſe he deſired to be thought one of them, that he might not be ſuſpected to be a Diſciple of Chriſt, Is this Peter? What a Contradiction is this to the Prayer of every good Man. Gather not my Soul with Sinners. Saul among the Prophets is not ſo abſurd as David among the Philiſtines. They that deprecate the Lot of the Scornful hereafter, ſhould dread the Seat of the Scornful now. It's ill warming our ſelves with thoſe with whom we are in Danger of burning our ſelves, Pſal. 141. 4.

Fourthly, Peter, Chriſt's Friend, having begun to deny him, the high Prieſt his Enemy begins to accuſe him, or rather urges him to accuſe himſelf, v. 19, 20, 21. It ſhould ſeem the firſt Attempt was to prove him a Seducer and a Teacher of falſe Doctrine, which this Evangeliſt relates, and when they failed in the Proof of that, then they charged him with Blaſphemy, which is related by the other Evangeliſts, and therefore omited here. Obſerve,

1. The Articles or Heads upon which Chriſt was examined, v. 19. concerning his Diſciples and his Doctrine. Obſerve,

(1.) The Irregularity of the Proceſs; 'twas againſt all Law and Equity; they ſeize him as a Criminal, and now he is their Priſoner, they have nothing to lay to his Charge; no Libel, no Proſecutor; but the Judge muſt himſelf be the Proſecutor, and the Priſoner himſelf the Witneſs, and againſt all Reaſon and Juſtice is put on to be his own Accuſer.

(2.) The Intention. The High Prieſt then, οὖν, Therefore, which ſeems to refer to v. 14. becauſe he had reſolv'd that Chriſt muſt be ſacrificed to their private Malice, under Colour of the publick Good, therefore he examined him upon thoſe Interrogatories, which would touch his Life. He examined him,

1. Concerning his Diſciples, that he might charge him with Sedition, and repreſent him as dangerous to the Roman Government, as well as to the Jewiſh Church. He ask'd him who were his Diſciples? What Number they were? Of what Country? What were their Names and Characters? Inſinuating that his Scholars were deſigned for Soldiers, and would in time become a formidable Body. Some think his Queſtion concerning his Diſciples was, What was now become of them all, where were they? And why did they not appear? upbraiding him with their Cowardiſe in deſerting him; thus adding to the Affliction of it. There was ſomething ſignificant in this, that Chriſt's calling and owning his Diſciples was the firſt thing laid to his Charge, for it was for their ſakes that he ſanctified himſelf and ſuffered.

2 Concerning his Doctrine, that they might charge him with Hereſy, and bring him under the Penalty of the Law againſt falſe Prophets, Deut. 13. 9, 10. This was a Matter properly conuſable in that Court, Deut. 17. 12. therefore a Prophet could not periſh but at Jeruſalem, where that Court ſat. They could not prove any falſe Doctrine upon him; but they hoped to extort ſomething from him, which they might diſtort to his Prejudice, and to make him an Offender for ſome Word or other, Iſa. 29. 21. They ſaid nothing to him concerning his Miracles, by which he had done ſo much Good, and proved his Doctrine beyond Contradiction, becauſe of theſe they were ſure they could take no hold. Thus the Adverſaries of Chriſt, while they are induſtriouſly quarreling with his Truth, wilfully ſhut their Eyes againſt the Evidences of it, and take no notice of them.

3. The Appeal Chriſt made in Anſwer to theſe Interrogatories, 1. As to his Diſciples he ſaid nothing; becauſe it was an impertinent Queſtion; if his Doctrine was ſound and good, his having Diſciples to whom to communicate it, was no more than what was practiſed and allowed by their own Doctors. If Caiphas in asking him concerning his Diſciples, deſigned to enſnare them, and bring them into Trouble, 'twas Kindneſs to them that he ſaid nothing of them, for he had ſaid. Let theſe go their Way. If he meant to upbraid him with their Cowardiſe, no wonder he ſaid nothing, for pudet hæc opprobria nobis, & dici potuiſſe & non potuiſſe refelli; he would ſay nothing to condemn them, and could ſay nothing to juſtify them.

2. As to his Doctrine he ſaid nothing in particularl, but in general referred himſelf to thoſe that heard him, being not only made manifeſt to God, but made manifeſt alſo in their Conſciences, v. 20, 21.

1. He tacitly charges his Judges with illegal Proceedings; he doth not indeed ſpeak Evil of the Rulers of the People, nor ſay now to theſe Princes, ye are Wicked; but he appeals to the ſettled Rules of their own Court, whether they dealt fairly by him? Do ye indeed judge righteouſly? Pſal. 58. 1. So here, Why ask ye me? Which implies two Abſurdities in Judgment, (1.) Why ask ye me now concerning my Doctrine, when you have already condemned it? They had made an Order of Court for the excommunicating of all that owned him, chap. 9. 22. had iſſued out a Proclamation for the apprehending of him, and now they come to ask what his Doctrine is? Thus was he condemned, as his Doctrine and Cauſe commonly are, unheard. (2.) Why ask ye me? Muſt I accuſe my ſelf, when you have no Evidence againſt me?

2. He inſiſts upon his fair and open Dealing with them in the Publication of his Doctrine, and juſtifies himſelf with that. The Crime which the Sanhedrim by the Law was to enquire after, was the clandeſtine ſpreading of dangerous Doctrines, enticing ſecretly, Deut. 13. 6. As to this therefore Chriſt clears himſelf very fully.

1. As to the manner of his Preaching, he ſpake openly, παῤῥησίᾳ, with freedom and Plainneſs of Speech; he did not deliver things ambiguouſly, as Apollo did his Oracles; thoſe that would undermine the Truth and ſpread corrupt Notions, do it by ſly inſinuations, putting Queries, ſtarting Difficulties, and aſſerting nothing; but Chriſt explain'd himſelf fully with, Verily, Verily, I ſay unto you; his Reproofs were free and bold, and his Teſtimonies expreſs againſt the Corruptions of the Age.

2. As to the Perſons he preach'd to; he ſpake to the World, i. e. to all that had Ears to hear, and were willing to hear him. High or Low, Learned or Unlearned, Jew or Gentile, Friend or Foe; his Doctrine feared not the Cenſure of a mixt Multitude; nor did he grudge the Knowledge of it to any, as the Maſters of ſome rare Invention commonly do, but freely communicated it, as the Sun doth his Beams.

3. As to the Places he preached in; when he was in the Country, he preached ordinarily in the Synagogues, the Places of meeting for Worſhip, and on the Sabbath-day, the Time of Meeting; when he came up to Jeruſalem, he preach'd the ſame Doctrine in the Temple at the Time of the ſolemn Feaſts; when the Jews from all Parts aſſembled there; tho' he often preached in private Houſes, and on Mountains, and by the Sea-ſide, to ſhew that his Word and Worſhip were not to be confin'd to Temples and Synagogues, yet what he preach'd in private, was the very ſame with what he deliver'd publickly. Note, The Doctrine of Chriſt purely and plainly preached, need not be aſhamed to appear in the moſt numerous Aſſembly, for it carries its own Strength and Beauty along with it: What Chriſt's faithful Miniſters ſay, they would be willing all the World ſhould hear, Wiſdom cries in the Places of Concourſe, Prov. 1. 21. and 8. 3. and 9. 3.

4. As to the Doctrine it ſelf; he ſaid nothing in ſecret contrary to what he ſaid in publick, but only by way of Repetition and Explication. In ſecret have I ſaid nothing; as if he had been either ſuſpicious of the Truth of it, or conſcious of any ill Deſign in it. He ſought no Corners, for he feared no Colours, nor ſaid any thing that he need be aſhamed of; what he did ſpeak in private to his Diſciples, he ordered them to proclaim on the Houſe-tops, Matth. 10. 27. God ſaith of himſelf, Iſaiah 45. 29. I have not ſpoken in ſecret; his Commandment is not hidden, Deut. 30. 11. And the Righteouſneſs of Faith ſpeaks in like manner, Rom. 10. 5. Veritas nihil metuit niſi abſcondi. Tertul.

3. He appeals to thoſe that had heard him, and deſires they might be examined what Doctrine he had preach'd, and whether it had that dangerous Tendency that was ſurmized. Ask them that heard me, what I ſaid unto them; ſome of them may be in Court, or may be ſent for out of their Beds; he means not his Friends and Followers, who might be preſumed to ſpeak in his Favour; but ask any impartial Hearer; ask your own Officers; ſome think he pointed to them, when he ſaid, Behold they know what I ſaid, referring to the Report which they had made of his preaching, Chap. 7. 49. Never Man ſpake like this Man. Nay, you may ask ſome upon the Bench, for 'tis probable ſome of them had heard him, and been put to Silence by him. Note, The Doctrine of Chriſt may ſafely appeal to all that knows it, and has ſo much Right and Reaſon on its ſide, that they who will judge impartially cannot but be witneſs to it.

Fifthly, While the Judges were examining him, the Servants that ſtood by were abuſing him, v, 22, 23.

1. 'Twas a baſe Affront which one of the Officers gave him; tho' he ſpoke with ſo much Calmneſs andconvincing Evidence, this inſolent Fellow ſtruck him with the Palm of his Hand, probably on the ſide of his Head or Face, ſaying, Anſwereſt thou the High Prieſt ſo? as if he behaved himſelf rudely to the Court.

1. He ſtruck him ἔδωκε ῥάπισμα, he gave him a Blow. Some think it ſignifies a Blow with a Rod, or Wand, from ῥάβδος, or with the Staff, which was the Badge of his Office. Now the Scripture was fulfilled, Iſaiah 50. 6. I gave my Cheeks, εἰς ῥαπίσματα; ſo the LXX. to Blows, the Word here us'd. And Mic. 5. 1. They ſhall ſmite the Judge of Iſrael with a rod upon the Cheek; and the Type anſwered, Job 16. 10. They have ſmitten me on the Cheek reproachfully. 'Twas unjuſt to ſtrike one that neither ſaid nor did amiſs; 'twas inſolent for a mean Servant to ſtrike one that was confeſſedly a Perſon of Account; 'twas cowardly to ſtrike one that had his Hands ty'd, and barbarous to ſtrike a Priſoner at the Bar. Here was a Breach of the Peace in the Face of the Court, and yet the Judges countenanced it. Confuſion of Face was our due; but Chriſt here took it to himſelf; upon me be the Curſe, the Shame.

2. He checked him in a haughty imperious manner, Anſwereſt thou the High Prieſt ſo? As if the bleſſed Jeſus were not good enough to ſpeak to his Maſter, or not wiſe enough to know how to ſpeak to him, but like a rude and ignorant Priſoner, muſt be controlled by the Jaylor, and taught how to behave himſelf.

Some of the Antients ſuggeſt that this Officer was Malchus, who owed to Chriſt the healing of his Ear, and the ſaving of his Head, and yet made him this ill Return. But however it was, 'twas done to pleaſe the High Prieſt, and to curry Favour with him; for what he ſaid, ſpeaks a Jealouſy for the Dignity of the High Prieſt. Wicked Rulers will not want wicked Servants, who will help forward the Affliction of thoſe whom their Maſters perſecute. There was a Succeſſor of this High Prieſt that commanded the By-ſtanders to ſmite Paul thus on the Mouth, Acts 23. 2. Some think this Officer took himſelf affronted by Chriſt's Appeal to thoſe about him concerning his Doctrine, as if he would have vouched him to be a Witneſs, and perhaps he was one of thoſe Officers that had ſpoken honourably of him, John 7. 47. and leſt he ſhould now be thought a ſecret Friend to him, he thus appears a bitter Enemy.

2. Chriſt bore this Affront with wonderful Meekneſs and Patience, v. 23. If I have ſpoken Evil, in what I have now ſaid, bear Witneſs of the Evil. Obſerve it to the Court, and let them judge of it, who are the proper Judges; but if well, and as it did become me, why ſmiteſt thou me? Chriſt could have anſwered him with a Miracle of Wrath, could have ſtruck him dumb or dead, or have withered the Hand that was lifted up againſt him. But this was the Day of his Patience and Suffering; and he anſwered him with the Meekneſs of Wiſdom, to teach us not to avenge our ſelves; not to render Railing for Railing, but with the Innocency of the Dove, to bear Injuries, even then when with the Wiſdom of the Serpent, as our Saviour, we ſhew the Injuſtice of them, and appeal to the Magiſtrate concerning them. Chriſt did not here turn the other Cheek, by which it appears that that Rule, Matth. 5. 39. is not to be underſtood literally; a Man may poſſibly turn the other Cheek, and yet have his Heart full of Malice; but comparing ring Chriſt's Precept with his Pattern, we learn, (1.) That in ſuch Caſes we muſt not be our own Avengers, nor Judges in our own Caſe; we muſt rather receive than give the Second Blow, which makes the Quarrel; we are allowed to defend our ſelves, but not to avenge our ſelves, the Magiſtrate (if it be neceſſary for the preſerving of the publick Peace, and the reſtraining and terrifying of Evil-doers) is to be the Avenger, Rom. 13. 4. (2.) Our Reſentment of Injuries done us muſt always be rational, and never paſſionate; ſuch Chriſt's here was; when he ſuffered he reaſoned, but threatened not. He fairly expoſtulated with him that did him the Injury, and ſo may we. (3.) When we are called out to Suffering, we muſt accommodate our ſelves to the Inconveniencies of a ſuffering State, with Patience, and, by one Indignity done us, be prepared to receive another, and to make the beſt of it.

Sixthly, While the Servants were thus abuſing him, Peter was proceeding to deny him, v. 25. 26, 27. 'Tis a ſad Story, and none of the leaſt of Chriſt's Sufferings.

1. He repeated the Sin the Second Time, v. 25. While he was warming himſelf with the Servants, as one of them, they asked him, Art not thou one of his Diſciples? What doſt thou here among us? He perhaps hearing that Chriſt was examined about his Diſciples, and fearing he ſhould be ſeized, or at leaſt ſmitten as his Maſter was if he ſhould own it, flatly denied it, and ſaid, I am not.

(1.) It was his great Folly, to thruſt himſelf into the Temptation, by continuing in the Company of thoſe that were unſuitable for him, and that he had nothing to do with. He ſtayed to warm himſelf; but they that warm themſelves with Evil-doers, grow cold towards good People, and good Things; and they that are fond of the Devil's Fire-ſide, are in danger of the Devil's Fire. Peter might have ſtood by his Maſter at the Bar, and have warmed himſelf better than here, at the Fire of his Maſter's Love, which many Waters could not quench, Cant. 8. 6, 7. He might there have warmed himſelf with Zeal for his Maſter, and Indignation at his Perſecutors; but he choſe rather to warm with them than to warm againſt them. But how could one (one Diſciple) be warm alone? Eccl. 4. 11.

(2.) It was his great unhappineſs that he was again aſſaulted by the Temptation; and no other could be expected, for this was a Place, this an Hour of Temptation. When the Judge asked Chriſt about his Diſciples, probably the Servant took the hint, and challenged Peter for one of them, Anſwer to thy Name. See here, (1.) The ſubtilty of the Temper in running down one whom he ſaw falling, and muſtering a greater Force againſt him; not a Maid now, but all the Servants. Note, Yielding to one Temptation invites another, and perhaps a ſtronger; Satan redoubles his Attacks when we give Ground. (2.) The Danger of bad Company. We commonly ſtudy to approve our ſelves to thoſe with whom we chuſe to aſſociate our ſelves; their good Word we value our ſelves by, and covet to ſtand right in their Opinion. As we chuſe our People we chuſe our Praiſe, and govern our ſelves accordingly; and are therefore concerned to make the firſt Choice well, and not to mingle our ſelves with thoſe whom we cannot pleaſe without diſpleaſing God.

(3.) It was his great Weakneſs, nay, it was his great Wickedneſs to yield to the Temptation, and to ſay, I am not one of his Diſciples, as one aſhamed of that which was his Honour, and afraid of Suffering for it, which would have been yet more his Honour. See how the Fear of Man brings a Snare. When Chriſt was admir'd and careſs'd, and treated with Reſpect, Peter pleaſed himſelf, and perhaps prided himſelf in this, that he was a Diſciple of Chriſt, and ſo put in for a ſhare in the Honours done his Maſter; but thus many who ſeem fond of the Reputation of Religion when it is in Faſhion, are aſham'd of the Reproach of it; but we muſt take it for better and worſe.

2. He repeated the Sin the third Time, v. 26, 27. Here he was attacked by one of the Servants, that by the ſame Token was Kinſman to Malchus, and when he hears Peter deny himſelf to be a Diſciple of Chriſt, gives him the Lie with great Aſſurance, Did not I ſee thee in the Garden with him? Witneſs my Kinſman's Ear; Peter then denied it again, as if he knew nothing of Chriſt, nothing of the Garden, nothing at all of this Matter.

1. This third Aſſault of the Temptation was more cloſe than the former; before his Relation to Chriſt was only ſuſpected, here 'tis proved upon him by one that ſaw him with Jeſus, and ſaw him draw his Sword in his Defence, Note, They who by Sin think to help themſelves out of Trouble, do but entangle and embarraſs themſelves the more. Dare to be brave, for Truth will out. A Bird of the Air may perhaps tell the Matter which we ſeek to conceal with a Lie. Notice is taken of this Servant's being a-kin to Malchus, becauſe that Circumſtance would make it the more a Terror to Peter; now, thinks he, I am gone, my Buſineſs is done, there needs no other Witneſs or Proſecutor. We ſhould not, if we can help it, make any Man in particular our Enemy, becauſe the Time may come when either he, or ſome of his Relations may have us at their Mercy. He that may need a Friend, ſhould not make a Foe. But obſerve, though here was ſufficient Evidence againſt Peter, and ſufficient Provocation given by his Denial to have proſecuted him, yet he eſcapes, has no harm done him, nor attempted to be done. Note, We are often drawn into Sin by groundleſs, cauſeleſs Fears, which there is no occaſion for, and which a ſmall Degree of Wiſdom and Reſolution would make nothing of.

2. His yielding to it was no leſs baſe than the former. He denied again. See here, (1.) the Nature of Sin in general, the Heart is hardened by the deceitfulneſs of it, Heb. 3. 13. 'Twas a ſtrange degree of effrontery that Peter was arrived to on a ſudden, that he could with ſuch Aſſurance ſtand in a Lie againſt to clear a diſproof; but the beginning of Sin is as the letting forth of Water, when once the Fence is broke; Men eaſily go from bad to worſe. (2.) Of the Sin of Lying in particular; it is a fruitful Sin, and upon that Account exceeding ſinful; one Lie needs another to ſupport it, and that another. 'Tis a Rule in the Devil's Politicks, male facta male factis tegere, ne perplaant.

3. The Hint given him for the awakening of his Conſcience was ſeaſonable and happy, immediately the Cock crew; and this is all that is here ſaid of his Repentance, it being recorded by the other Evangeliſts. This brought him to himſelf, by bringing to his Mind the Words of Chriſt. See here, (1.) The Care Chriſt had of thoſe that are his, notwithſtanding their Follies; tho' they fall, they are not utterly caſt down, not utterly caſt off. (2.) The Advantage of having faithful Remembrancers near us, that though they cannot tell us more than we know already, yet may mind us of that which we know but have forgotten. The Crowing of the Cock to others was an accidental Thing, and had no ſignificancy, but to Peter it was the Voice of God, and had a bleſſed Tendency to awaken his Conſcience, by putting him in Mind of the Word of Chriſt.

28 Then led they Jeſus from Caiaphas, unto the hall of judgment: and it was early, and they themſelves went not into the judgment-hall, leſt they ſhould de defiled: but that they might eat the paſſover. 29 Pilate then went out to them, and ſaid, What accuſation bring you againſt this man? 30 They anſwered, and ſaid unto him, If he were not a malefactor, we would not have delivered him up unto thee. 31 Then ſaid Pilate unto them, Take ye him and judge him according to your law. The Jews therefore ſaid unto him, It is not lawful for us to put any man to death: 32 That the ſaying of Jeſus might be fulfilled, which he ſpake, ſignifying what death he ſhould die. 33 Then Pilate entred into the judgment-hall again, and called Jeſus, and ſaid unto him, Art thou the King of the Jews? 34 Jeſus anſwered him, Sayeſt thou this thing of thy ſelf, or did others tell it thee of me? 35 Pilate anſwered, Am I a Jew? Thine own nation, and the chief prieſts have delivered thee unto me: What haſt thou done? 36 Jeſus anſwered, My kingdom is not of this world: if my kingdom were of this world, then would my ſervants fight that I ſhould not be delivered to the Jews: but now is my kingdom not from hence. 37 Pilate therefore ſaid unto him, Art thou a king then? Jeſus anſwered, Thou ſayeſt that I am a king. To this end was I born, and for this cauſe came I into the world, that I ſhould bear witneſs unto the truth. Every one that is of the truth heareth my voice. 38 Pilate ſaith unto him, What is truth? And when he had ſaid this, he went out again unto the Jews, and ſaith unto them, I find in him no fault at all. 39 But ye have a cuſtom, that I ſhould releaſe unto you one at the paſſover: will ye therefore that I releaſe unto you the king of the Jews? 40 Then cried they all again, ſaying, Not this man, but Barabbas. Now Barabbas was a robber.

We have here an Account of Chriſt's Arraignment before Pilate, the Roman Governour, in the Prætorium, (a Latin Word made Greek) the Prætor's Houſe or Hall of Judgment; thither they hurry'd him to get him condemn'd in the Roman Court, and executed by the Roman Power. Being reſolved on his Death they took this Courſe, (1) That he might be put to Death the more legally, and regularly, according to the preſent Conſtitution of their Government, ſince they became a Province of the Empire; not ſtoned in a popular Tumult, as Stephen, but put to Death with the preſent Formalities of Juſtice. Thus he was treated as a Malefactor, being made Sin for us. (2.) That he might be put to Death the more ſafely. If they could engage the Roman Government in the Matter, which the People ſtood in awe of, there would be little danger of an Uproar. (3.) That he might be put to Death with more Reproach to himſelf. The Death of the Croſs, which the Romans commonly uſed, being of all other, the moſt ignominious, they were deſirous by it to put an indelible Mark of Infamy upon him, and ſo to ſink his Reputation for ever. This therefore they harped upon, Crucifie him. (4.) That he might be put to Death with leſs Reproach to them. 'Twas an invidious Thing to put one to Death that had done ſo much good in the World, and therefore they were willing to throw the Odium upon the Roman Government, to make that the leſs acceptable to the People, and ſave themſelves from the Reproach. Thus many are more afraid of the Scandal of an ill thing, than of the Sin of it. See Acts 5. 28.

Two Things are here obſerved concerning the Proſecution.

(1.) Their Policy and Induſtry in the Proſecution, it was early. Some think about Two or Three in the Morning, others about Five or Six, when moſt People were in their Beds, and ſo there would be the leſs Danger of Oppoſition from the People that were for Chriſt, while at the ſame Time they had their Agents about to call thoſe together whom they could influence to cry out againſt him. See how much their Heart was upon it, and how violent they were in the Proſecution; now they had him in their Hands, they would loſe no Time till they had him upon the Croſs, but deny'd themſelves their natural Reſt to puſh on this Matter. See Mic. 2. 1.

(2.) Their Superſtition and vile Hopocriſie. The Chief Prieſts and Elders, tho' they came along with the Priſoner, that the Thing might be done effectually, yet they went not into the Judgment-Hall, becauſe it was the Houſe of an uncircumciſed Gentile, leſt they ſhould be defiled, but kept out of Doors, that they might eat the Paſſover; not the Paſchal Lamb, that was eaten the Night before, but the Paſſover-Feaſt, upon the Sacrifices which were offer'd on the Fifteenth Day; to Chagigah, as they call'd it, the Paſſover Bullocks, ſpoken of Deut. 16. 2. 2 Chron. 30. 24. and 35. 8, 9. Theſe they were to eat of, and therefore would not go into the Court for fear of touching a Gentile, and thereby contracting not a legal, but only a traditional Pollution. This they ſcrupled, but made no ſcruple of breaking through all the Laws of Equity to perſecute Chriſt to the Death. They ſtrain'd at a Gnat, and ſwallow'd a Camel.

Let us now ſee what paſs'd at the Judgment-Hall. Here is, Firſt, Pilate's Conference with the Proſecutors; they are called firſt, and heard what they had to ſay againſt the Priſoner, as was very fit, v. 29—32.

1. The Judge calls for the Indictment. Becauſe they would not come into the Hall, he went out to them into the Court before the Houſe, to talk with them. Looking upon Pilate as a Magiſtrate, that we may give every one his due, here are three Things commendable in him.

(1.) His diligent and cloſe Application to Buſineſs. If it had been upon a good Occaſion it had been very well that he was willing to be call'd up early to the Judgment Seat. Men in publick Truſt muſt not love their eaſe.

(2.) His Condeſcenſion to the Honour of the People, and receding from the Honour of his Place to gratifie their ſcruples. He might have ſaid, if they be ſo nice as not to come in to me, let them go home as they came; by the ſame Rule as we might ſay, if the Complainant ſcruple to put off his Hat to the Magiſtrate, let not his Complaint be heard; but Pilate inſiſts not upon it, bears with them, and goes out to them; for when it is for good, we ſhould become all Things to all Men.

(3.) His Adherence to the Rule of Juſtice in demanding the Accuſation, ſuſpecting the Proſecution to be malicious. What Accuſation bring you againſt this Man? What's the Crime you charge him with, and what Proof have you of it? 'Twas a Law of Nature, before Valerius Publicola made it a Roman Law. Ne quis indicta Cauſa condemnetur. See Acts 25. 16, 27. 'Tis unreaſonable to commit a Man, without alledging ſome Cauſe in the Warrant, and much more to arraign a Man when there's no Bill of Indictment found againſt him.

2. The Proſecutors demand Judgment againſt him, upon a general ſurmiſe that he was a Criminal, not alledging, much leſs proving any thing in particular worthy of Death or of Bonds. Ver. 30. If he were not a Malefactor, or Evil-doer, we would not have delivered him to thee to be condemn'd. This ſpeaks them,

(1.) Very rude and uncivil to Pilate, a parcel of ill-natur'd Men, that affected to deſpiſe Dominion. When Pilate was ſo complaiſant to them, as to come out to treat with them, yet they were to the higheſt degree out of Humour with him. He put the moſt reaſonable Queſtion to them that could be; but if it had been the moſt abſurd, they could not have anſwered with more diſdain.

(2.) Very ſpiteful and malicious towards our Lord Jeſus; right or wrong they will have him to be a Malefactor, and treated as one. We are to preſume a Man Innocent till he is proved Guilty; but they will preſume him Guilty, who could prove himſelf Innocent. They cannot ſay he is a Traytor, a Murtherer, a Felon, a Breaker of the Peace, but an Evil-doer. He an Evil-doer who went about doing good? Let thoſe be called whom he had cur'd, and fed, and taught; whom he had reſcu'd from Devils, and rais'd from Death, and let them be asked whether he were an Evil-doer or no? Note, It is no new Thing for the beſt of Benefactors to be branded and run down as the worſt of Malefactors.

(3.) Very proud, and conceited of themſelves, and their own Judgment and Juſtice, as if their delivering a Man up, under the general Character of a Malefactor, were ſufficient for the Civil Magiſtrate to ground a judicial Sentence upon, than which, What could be more haughty?

3. The Judge remanded him to their own Court. Ver. 31. Take ye him, and judge him according to your own Law, and do not trouble me with him. Now,

1. Some think Pilate herein complimented them, acknowledging the remains of their Power, and allowing them to exert it. Corporal Puniſhment they might inflict, as ſcourging in their Synagogues, but whether Capital, or no, is uncertain; but ſaith Pilate, go as far as your Law will allow, and if you go further it ſhall be conniv'd at. This he ſaid, willing to do the Jews a Pleaſure, but unwilling to do them the Service they required.

2. Others think, he banter'd them, and upbraided them with their Preſent State of Weakneſs and Subjection. They would be the ſole Judges of the Guilt; pray, ſaith Pilate, if you will be ſo, go on as you have begun; you have found him Guilty by your own Law, condemn him, if you dare, by your own Law, to carry on the Humour. Nothing is more abſurd, nor more deſerves to be expos'd, than for thoſe to pretend to dictate, and boaſt of their Wiſdom, who are weak and underlings, and whoſe Lot it is to be dictated to. Some think Pilate here reflects upon the Law of Moſes, as if that allowed them to do that which the Roman Law would by no means allow, the judging of a Man unheard of: It may be your Law will ſuffer ſuch a Thing, but ours will not. Thus through their Corruptions the Law of God was blaſphemed, and ſo is his Goſpel too.

4. They diſown'd any Authority as Judges, and (ſince it muſt be ſo) are content to be the Proſecutors. They now grow leſs inſolent and more ſubmiſſive, and own, It is not lawful for us to put any Man to Death, whatever leſs Puniſhment we may inflict, and this is a Malefactor whom we would have the Blood of.

1. Some think they had loſt their Power to give Judgment in Matters of Life and Death, only by their own careleſſneſs, and cowardly yielding to the darling Iniquities of the Age, ſo Dr. Lightfoot, ὀκ ἔξεστι, it is not in our Power to paſs Sentence of Death upon any, if we do, we ſhall have the Mob about our Ears preſently.

2. Others think their Power was taken from them by the Romans, becauſe they had not us'd it well, or becauſe it was thought too great a Truſt to be lodg'd in the Hands of a conquered, and yet an unſubdued People. Their acknowledgment of this they deſign'd for a Compliment to Pilate, and to atone for their rudeneſs, v. 30. but it amounts to a full Evidence that the Scepter was departed from Judah, and therefore now the Meſſiah was to come, Gen. 49. 10. If the Jews have no Power to put any Man to Death, where is the Scepter? Yet they ask not where is the Shiloh?

3. However, there was a Providence in it, that either they ſhould have no Power to put any Man to Death, or ſhould decline the Exerciſe but upon this occaſion, That the Saying of Jeſus might be fulfilled which he ſpake, ſignifying what Death he ſhould die, v. 32. Obſerve,

1. In general, That even they who deſign'd the defeating of Chriſt's Sayings, beyond their Intention, were made ſerviceable to the fulfilling of them by an over-ruling Hand of God. No Word of Chriſt ſhall fall to the ground; he can never either deceive, or be deceived: Even the Chief Prieſts, while they perſecuted him as a Deceiver, had their Spirits ſo directed as to help to prove him true, when we would think by taking other Meaſures they might have defeated his Predictions. Howbeit they mean not ſo, Iſa. 10. 7.

2. Thoſe Sayings of Chriſt in particular were fulfilled, which he had ſpoken concerning his own Death. Two Sayings of Chriſt concerning his Death fulfilled by the Jews declining to judge him according to their Law. (1.) He had ſaid that he ſhould be delivered to the Gentiles, and that they ſhould put him to Death, Mat. 20. 19. Mar. 10. 33. Luke 18. 32. and hereby that Saying was fulfilled. (2.) He had ſaid that he ſhould be crucified, Mat. 20. 19. & 26. 2. lifted up, John 3. 14 & 12. 32. Now if they had judged him by their Law, he had been ſtoned. Burning, Strangling, and Beheading were in ſome caſes uſed among the Jews, but never Crucifying. 'Twas therefore neceſſary Chriſt ſhould be put to Death by the Romans, that being hanged upon a Tree, he might be made a Curſe for us, Gal. 3. 13. and his Hands and Feet might be pierced. As the Roman Power had brought him to be born at Bethlehem, ſo now to die upon a Croſs, and both according to the Scriptures. It is likewiſe determined concerning us, though not diſcovered to us, what Death we ſhall die, which ſhould free us from all diſquieting Cares about that Matter; Lord, what and when, and how thou haſt appointed.

Secondly, Here's Pilate's Conference with the Priſoner, v. 33, &c. where we have,

1. The Priſoner ſet to the Bar; Pilate, after he had conferred with the chief Prieſts at his Door, entered into the Hall, and called for Jeſus to be brought in. He would not examine him in the Crowd, where he might be diſturbed by the Noiſe, but ordered him to be brought into the Hall, for he made no Difficulty of going in among the Gentiles. We by Sin were become liable to the Judgment of God, and were to be brought before his Bar, therefore Chriſt being made Sin, and a Curſe for us, was arraigned as a Criminal. Pilate entered into Judgment with him, that God might not enter into Judgment with us.

2. His Examination. The other Evangeliſts tell us that his Accuſers had laid it to his Charge, that he perverted the Nation, forbidding to give Tribute to Cæſar, and upon this he is examined.

1. Here's a Queſtion put to him with a deſign to enſnare him, and to find out ſomething upon which to ground an Accuſation. Art thou the King of the Jews? ὁ βασιλεὺς, that King of the Jews that has been ſo much talked of, and ſo long expected. Meſſiah the Prince; art thou he? i. e. doſt thou pretend to be he? Doſt thou call thy ſelf; and wouldſt thou be thought ſo? For he was far from imagining that really he was ſo, and making a Queſtion of that. Some think Pilate ask'd this with an Air of Scorn and Contempt; What art thou a King, that makeſt ſo mean a Figure? Art thou the King of the Jews, by whom thou art thus hated and perſecuted? Art thou King de jure, while the Emperor is only King de facto? Since it could not be proved he ever ſaid it, he would conſtrain him to ſay it now, that he might proceed upon his own Confeſſion.

2. Chriſt anſwers this Queſtion with another, not for Evaſion, but as an Intimation to Pilate, to conſider what he did, and upon what Grounds he went, v. 34. Sayeſt thou this thing of thy ſelf, from a Suſpicion ariſing in thy own Breaſt, or did others tell it thee of me, and doſt thou ask it only to oblige them?

(1.) It is plain thou haſt no Reaſon to ſay that of thy ſelf. Pilate was obliged by his Office to take Care of the Intereſts of the Roman Government, but he could not ſay that that was in any Danger, or ſuffered any Damage by any thing our Lord Jeſus had ever ſaid or done. He never appeared in worldly Pomp, never aſſumed any ſecular Power, never acted as a Judge or Divider, never were any traiterous Principles or Practices objected to him, nor any thing that might give the leaſt Umbrage of Suſpicion.

(2.) If others tell it thee of me, to incenſe thee againſt me, thou oughteſt to conſider who they are, and upon what Principles they go; and whether they who repreſented him as an Enemy to Cæſar, were not really ſuch themſelves, and therefore uſed this only as a Pretence to cover their Malice; which, if ſo, ought to be well weighed by a Judge that would do Juſtice. Nay, if Pilate had been as inquiſitive as he ought to have been in this Matter, he would have found that the true Reaſon why the chief Prieſts were outragious againſt Jeſus, was, becauſe he did not ſet up a temporal Kingdom, in Oppoſition to the Roman Power; if he would have done that, and would have wrought Miracles to bring them out of the Roman Bondage, as Moſes did to bring them out of the Egyptian, they would have been ſo far from ſiding with the Romans againſt him, that they would have made him their King, and have fought under him againſt the Romans; but he not anſwering this Expectation of theirs, they charged that upon him, which they were themſelves moſt notoriouſly guilty of, Diſaffection to, and Deſign againſt the preſent Government; and was ſuch an Information as this fit to be countenanced?

3. Pilate reſents Chriſt's Anſwer, and takes it very heinouſly, v. 35. This is a direct Anſwer to Chriſt's Queſtion, v. 34.

(1.) Chriſt had asked him, Whether he ſpoke of himſelf? No, ſaith he, Am I a Jew? that thou ſuſpecteſt me to be in the Plot againſt thee? I know nothing of the Meſſiah, nor deſire to know, and therefore intereſt not my ſelf in the Diſpute who is the Meſſiah, and who not, 'tis all alike to me. Obſerve with what Diſdain Pilate asks, Am I a Jew? The Jews were upon many Accounts an honourable People, but having corrupted the Covenant of their God, he made them contemptible and baſe before all the People, Mal. 2. 8, 9. So that a Man of Senſe and Honour reckoned it a Scandal to be counted a Jew. Thus good Names often ſuffer for the ſake of the ill Men that wear them. 'Tis ſaid, that when a Turk is ſuſpected of Diſhoneſty, he ſhould ask, What? do you take me for a Chriſtian?

(2.) Chriſt had asked him, whether others told him; yes, ſaith he, and thoſe thine own People, that one would think ſhould be biaſs'd in favour of thee; and the Prieſts, whoſe Teſtimony, in verbum ſacerdotis, ought to be regarded; and therefore I have nothing to do but to proceed upon their Information. Thus Chriſt in his Religion ſtill ſuffers by thoſe that are of his own Nation, even the Prieſts that profeſs Relation to him, but do not live up to their Profeſſion.

(3.) Chriſt had declined anſwering that Queſtion, Art thou the King of the Jews? And therefore Pilate put another Queſtion to him, more general, What haſt thou done? What Provocation haſt thou given to thy own Nation, and particularly the Prieſts, to be ſo violent againſt thee? Surely there cannot be all this Smoke but there is ſome Fire, what is it?

4. Chriſt in his next Reply gives a more full and direct Anſwer to Pilate's former Queſtion, Art thou a King? explaining in what Senſe he was a King, but not ſuch a King as was any ways dangerous to the Roman Government; not a ſecular King, for his Intereſt was not ſupported by ſecular Methods, v. 36. Obſerve,

1. An Account of the Nature and Conſtitution of Chriſt's Kingdom. It is not of this World; 'tis expreſſed negatively, what it is not, to teſtify the preſent Miſtakes concerning it; but the poſitive is implied; it is the Kingdom of Heaven, and belongs to another World. He is a King, and has a Kingdom, but not of this World. (1.) Its Riſe is not from this World. The Kingdoms of Men ariſe out of the Sea, and the Earth, Dan. 7. 3. Rev. 13. 1, 11. But the holy City comes down from God out of Heaven, Rev. 21. 2. His Kingdom is not by Succeſſion, Election, or Conqueſt, but by the immediate and ſpecial Deſignation of the Divine Will and Counſel. (2.) Its Nature is not worldly, 'tis a Kingdom within Men, Luke 17. 21. ſet up in their Hearts and Conſciences, Rom. 14. 17. Its Riches Spiritual, Powers Spiritual, and all its Glory within. The Miniſters of State in Chriſt's Kingdom have not the Spirit of the World, 1 Cor. 2. 12. (3.) Its Guards and Supports are not Worldly, its Weapons ſpiritual, it needed not, nor uſed ſecular Force to maintain and advance it, nor was it carried on in a way hurtful to Kings or Provinces, it did not in the leaſt interfere with the Prerogatives of Princes, or the Property of their Subjects. It tended not to alter any National Eſtabliſhment in ſecular things, not oppoſed any Kingdom but that of Sin and Saton. (4.) Its Tendency and Deſign is not worldly. Chriſt aimed not, nor would allow his Diſciples to aim at the Pomp and Power of the great Men of the Earth. (5.) Its Subjects, tho' they are in the World, yet are not of the World; they are called and choſen out of the World, are born from and bound for another World, they are neither the World's Pupils nor its Darlings, neither governed by its Wiſdom, nor enriched with its Wealth.

2. An Evidence of the ſpiritual Nature of Chriſt's Kingdom produced. If he had deſigned an Oppoſition to the Government, he would have fought them at their own Weapons, and would have repelled Force with Force of the ſame Nature; but he did not take this Courſe. If my Kingdom were of this World, then would my Servants fight, that I ſhould not be delivered to the Jews, and my Kindom be ruined by them. But, (1.) His Followers did not offer to fight, there was no Uproar, no Attempt to reſcue him, tho' the Town was now full of Galileans, his Friends and Country-men, and they generally armed; but the peaceable Behaviour of his Diſciples on this Occaſion was enough to put to Silence the Ignorance of fooliſh Men. (2.) He did not order them to fight, nay, he forbad them, which was an Evidence both that he did not depend upon worldly Aids, for he could have ſummoned Legions of Angels into his Service, which ſhewed that his Kingdom was from above; as alſo that he did not dread worldly Oppoſition, for he was very willing to be delivered to the Jews, as knowing that that which would have been the Deſtruction of any worldly Kingdom, would be the Advancement and Eſtabliſhment of his; juſtly therefore doth he conclude, Now you may ſee my Kingdom is not from hence; in the World, but not of it.

5. In Anſwer to Pilate's further Query, ye replies yet more directly, v. 37. where we have,

1. Pilate's plain Queſtion, Art thou a King then? Thou ſpeakeſt of a Kingdom thou haſt, art thou then in any Senſe a King? And what Colour haſt thou for ſuch a Claim? Explain thy ſelf.

2. The good Confeſſion which our Lord Jeſus witneſſed before Pontius Pilate, in Anſwer to this, 1 Tim. 6. 13. Thou ſayeſt that I am a King, i. e. 'Tis as thou ſayeſt, I am a King; for I came to bear Witneſs of the Truth.

1. He grants himſelf to be a King, tho' not in the Senſe that Pilate meant it. The Meſſiah was expected under the Character of a King, Meſſiah the Prince, and therefore having owned to Caiaphas that he was the Chriſt, he would not diſown to Pilate that he was a King, leſt he ſhould ſeem inconſiſtent with himſelf. Note, Tho' Chriſt took upon him the Form of a Servant, yet even then he juſtly claimed the Honour and Authority of a King.

2. He explains himſelf, and ſhews how he is a King, as he came to bear Witneſs of the Truth; he rules in the Minds of Men by the Power of Truth. If he had meant himſelf a temporal Prince, he would have ſaid, For this End was I born, and for this Cauſe came I into the World. to rule the Nations, to conquer Kings, and take Poſſeſſion of Kingdoms; no, he came to be a Witneſs, a Witneſs for the God that made the World, and againſt Sin that ruins the World, and by this Word of his Teſtimony he ſets up, and keeps up his Kingdom. 'Twas foretold that he ſhould be a Witneſs to the People, and as ſuch a Leader and Commander to the People, Iſa. 55. 4. Chriſt's Kingdom was not of this World, in which Truth faileth, Iſa. 59. 15. Qui neſcit diſſimulare, neſcit regnare; but of that World in which Truth reigns eternally. Chriſt's Errand into the World, and his Buſineſs in the World, was to bear Witneſs to the Truth. (1.) To reveal it, to diſcover to the World that which otherwiſe could not have been known concerning God, and his Will, and good Will to Men, John 1. 18 & 17. ult. (2.) To confirm it, Rom. 15. 8, By his Miracles he bare Witneſs to the Truth of Religion, the Truth of Divine Revelation, and of God's Perfections and Providence, and the Truth of his Promiſe and Covenant, that all Men through him might believe. Now by doing this he is a King, and ſets up a Kingdom.

1. The Foundation and Power, the Spirit and Genius of Chriſt's Kingdom is Truth, Divine Truth; when he ſaid, I am the Truth, he ſaid in Effect, I am a King; he conquers by the convincing Evidence of Truth, he rules by the commanding Power of Truth, and in this Majeſty rides proſperouſly, becauſe of Truth, Pſal. 45. 4. 'Tis with his Truth that he ſhall judge the People, Pſal. 96. 13. 'Tis the Sceptre of his Kingdom; he draws with the Cords of a Man, i. e. with Truth revealed to us, and received by us in the Love of it, and thus he brings Thoughts into Obedience. He came a Light into the World, and rules as the Sun by Day.

2. The Subjects of this Kingdom are thoſe that are of the Truth.

All that by the Grace of God are reſcued from under the Power of the Father of Lies, and are diſpoſed to receive the Truth, and ſubmit to the Power and Influence of it, will hear Chriſt's Voice, i. e. will become his Subjects, and will bear Faith and true Allegiance to him. Every one that has any real Senſe of true Religion, will entertain the Chriſtian Religion, and they belong to his Kingdom; by the Power of Truth he makes them willing, Pſal. 110. 3. All that are in Love with Truth will hear the Voice of Chriſt, for greater, better, ſurer, ſweeter Truths can no where be found than are found in Chriſt, by whom Grace and Truth came; ſo that by hearing Chriſt's Voice, we know that we are of the Truth, 1 John 3. 19.

6. Pilate hereupon puts a good Queſtion to him, but doth not ſtay for an Anſwer, v. 38. He ſaid, What is Truth? and immediately went out again.

1. It is certain this was a good Queſtion, and could not be put to one that was better able to anſwer it. Truth is that Pearl of great Price which the human Underſtanding has a deſire to, and is in queſt of, for it cannot reſt but in that which is, or at leaſt is apprehended to be Truth. When we ſearch the Scriptures, and attend the Miniſtry of the Word, it muſt be with this Enquiry, What is Truth? And with this Prayer, Lead me in thy Truth; into all Truth. But many put this Queſtion, that have not Patience and Conſtancy enough to perſevere in their ſearch after Truth, or not Humility and Sincerity enough to receive it when they have found it, 2 Tim. 3. 7. Thus many deal with their own Conſciences, they aſk them thoſe needful Queſtions, What am I? What have I done? But will not take Time for an Anſwer.

2. It is uncertain with what Deſign Pilate aſked this Queſtion.

1. Perhaps he ſpoke it as a Learner, as one that began to think well of Chriſt, and to look upon him with ſome Reſpect, and deſired to be informed what new Notions he advanced, and what Improvements he pretended to in Religion and Learning. But while he deſired to hear ſome new Truth from him, as Herod to ſee ſome Miracle, the Clamour and Outrage of the Prieſts Mob at his Gate obliged him abruptly to let fall the Diſcourſe.

2. Some think he ſpeaks it as a Judge, enquiring further into the Cauſe now brought before him; let me into this Myſtery, and prithee tell me what the Truth of it is, the true State of this Matter.

3. Others think he ſpeaks it as a Scoffer, in a jeering way. Thou talkeſt of Truth, canſt thou tell what Truth is, or give me a Definition of it. Thus he makes a jeſt of the everlaſting Goſpel, that great Truth which the Chief Prieſts hated and perſecuted, and which Chriſt was now witneſſing to, and ſuffering for; and like Men of no Religion, who take a Pleaſure in bantering all Religions, he ridicules both Sides. And therefore Chriſt made him no Reply, Anſwer not a Fool according to his Folly; caſt not Pearls before Swine. But tho' Chriſt would not tell Pilate what is Truth, he has told his Diſciples, and by them has told us, John 14. 6.

Thirdly, The Reſult of both theſe Conferences with the Proſecutors and the Priſoner, v. 38, 39, 40. In two Things:

1. The Judge appeared his Friend, and favourable to him; for

(1.) He publickly declared him innocent; v. 38. upon the whole Matter I find in him no fault at all. He ſuppoſeth there might be ſome Controverſy in Religion between him and them, wherein he was as likely to be in the right as they, but nothing Criminal appears againſt him. This ſolemn Declaration of Chriſt's Innocency, was, (1.) For the Juſtification and Honour of the Lord Jeſus. By this it appears, that tho' he was treated as the worſt of Malefactors, he had never merited ſuch Treatment. (2.) For the explaining of the Deſign and Intention of his Death. That he did not die for any Sin of his own, even in the Judgment of the Judge himſelf, and therefore he dy'd as a Sacrifice for our Sins, and that even in the Judgment of the Proſecutors themſelves, that one Man ſhould die for the People, John 11. 50. This is he that did no Violence, neither was any Deceit in his Mouth, Iſa. 53. 9. Who was to be cut off but not for himſelf, Dan. 9 26. (3.) For the aggravating of the Sin of the Jews that proſecuted him with ſo much Violence. If a Priſoner have had a fair Trial, and has been acquitted by thoſe that are proper Judges of the Crime, eſpecially if there be no Cauſe to ſuſpect them partial in his Favour, he muſt be believed Innocent, and his Accuſers are bound to acquieſce. But our Lord Jeſus, tho' brought in not Guilty, is ſtill run down as a Malefactor, and his Blood thirſted for.

(2.) He propoſed an Expedient for his Diſcharge; v. 39. You have a Cuſtom, that I ſhould releaſe you a Priſoner at the Paſſover, ſhall it be this King of the Jews? He propoſed this, not to the Chief Prieſts, he knew they would never agree to it, but to the Multitude; 'twas an Appeal to the People, as appears, Mat. 27. 15. Probably he had heard how this Jeſus had been attended but t'other Day with the Hoſanna's of the common People, he therefore looked upon him to be the Darling of the Multitude, and the Envy only of the Rulers, and therefore he made no doubt but they would demand the Releaſe of Jeſus, and that would ſtop the Mouth of the Proſecutors, and all would be well.

1. He allows their Cuſtom, for which perhaps they had had a long Preſcription, in Honour of a Paſſover, which was a Memorial of their Releaſe. But it was adding to God's Words, as if he had not inſtituted enough for the due Commemoration of that Deliverance; and tho' an Act of Mercy might be Injuſtice to the Publick, Prov. 17. 15.

2. He offers to releaſe Jeſus to them according to the Cuſtom. If Pilate had had the Honeſty and Courage that became a Judge, he ſhould not have named an innocent Perſon to be Competitior with a notorious Criminal for this Favour; if he found no Fault in him, he was bound in Conſcience to diſcharge him. But he was willing to trim the Matter, and pleaſe all Sides, and was governed more by worldly Wiſdom than by the Rules of Equity.

2. The People appeared his Enemies, and implacable againſt him, Ver. 40. They cried all again and again, Not this Man; let not him be releaſed, but Barabbas. Obſerve,

1. How fierce and outragious they were. Pilate propoſed the Thing to them calmly, as worthy their mature Conſideration, but they reſolved it in a Heat, and gave in their Reſolution with Clamour and Noiſe, and in the utmoſt Confuſion. Note, The Enemies of Chriſt's Holy Religion cry it down, and ſo hope to run it down, Witneſs the Out-cry at Epheſus, Acts 19. 34. But thoſe who think the worſe of Things or Perſons, merely for their being thus exclaimed againſt, have a very ſmall ſhare of Conſtancy and Conſideration. Nay, There is Cauſe to ſuſpect a Deficiency of Reaſon and Juſtice on that ſide which calls in the Aſſiſtance of popular Tumult.

2. How fooliſh and abſurd they were, intimated in the ſhort Account here given of the other Candidate. Now Barabbas was a Robber; and therefore, 1. A Breaker of the Law of God; and yet he ſhall be ſpared, rather than one who reproved the Pride, Avarice, and Tyranny of the Prieſts and Elders. Tho' Barabbas be a Robber, he will not rob them of Moſes's Seat, nor of their Traditions, and then no Matter. 2. He is an Enemy to the publick Safety, and perſonal Property. The Clamour of the Town uſes to be againſt Robbers, Job 30. 5. Men cried after them as after a Thief, yet here 'tis for one: Thus they do who prefer their Sins before Chriſt. Sin is a Robber, every baſe Luſt is a Robber, and yet fooliſhly choſen rather than Chriſt, who would truly enrich us.

CHAP. XIX.

Tho' in the Hiſtory hitherto this Evangeliſt ſeems induſtriouſly to have declined the recording of ſuch Paſſages as had been related by the other Evangeliſts, yet when he comes to the Sufferings and Death of Chriſt, inſtead of paſſing them over as one aſhamed of his Maſter's Chain and Croſs, and looking upon them as the Blemiſhes of his Story, there he repeats what had been before related, with conſiderable Enlargements, as one that deſired to know nothing but Chriſt and him crucified; to glory in nothing ſave in the Croſs of Chriſt. In the Story of this Chapter we have, (1.) The Remainder of Chriſt's Trial before Pilate, which was tumultuous and confuſed, v. 1—15. (2.) Sentence given, and Execution done upon it, v. 16—18. (3.) The Title over his Head, v. 19—22. (4.) The parting of his Garment, v. 23, 24. (5.) The Care he took of his Mother, v. 25—27. (6.) The giving him Vinegar to drink, v. 28, 29. (7.) His dying Word, v. 30. (8.) The Piercing of his Side, v. 31—37. (9.) The Burial of his Body, v. 38—42. O! that in meditating on theſe Things, we may experimentally know the Power of Chriſt's Death, and the Fellowſhip of his Sufferings.

THEN Pilate therefore took Jeſus and ſcourged him. 2 And the ſoldiers platted a crown of thorns, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple robe. 3 And ſaid, Hail king of the Jews: and they ſmote him with their hands. 4 Pilate therefore went forth again, and ſaid unto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that ye may know that I find no fault in him. 5 Then came Jeſus forth, wearing the crown of thorns, and the purple robe. And Pilate ſaid unto them, Behold the man. 6 When the chief prieſts therefore and officers ſaw him, they cried out, ſaying, Crucifie him, crucifie him. Pilate ſaith unto them, Take ye him, and crucifie him: for I find no fault in him. 7 The Jews anſwered him, We have a law, and by our law he ought to die, becauſe he made himſelf the ſon of God. 8 When Pilate therefore heard that ſaying, he was the more afraid; 9 And went again into the judgment-hall, and ſaith unto Jeſus, Whence art thou? but Jeſus gave him no anſwer. 10 Then ſaith Pilate unto him, Speakeſt thou not unto me? knoweſt thou not, that I have power to crucifie thee, and have power to releaſe thee? 11 Jeſus anſwered, Thou couldeſt have no power at all againſt me, except it were given thee from above: therefore he that delivered me unto thee, hath the greater ſin. 12 And from thenceforth Pilate ſought to releaſe him: but the Jews cried out, ſaying, If thou let this man go, thou art not Ceſars friend: whoſoever maketh himſelf a king, ſpeaketh againſt Ceſar. 13 When Pilate therefore heard that ſaying, he brought Jeſus forth, and ſat down in the judgment-ſeat, in a place that is called the Pavement, but in the Hebrew, Gabbatha. 14 And it was the preparation of the paſſover, and about the ſixth hour: and he ſaith unto the Jews, Behold your king. 15 But they cried out, Away with him, away with him, crucifie him. Pilate ſaith unto them, Shall I crucifie your king? The chief prieſts anſwered, We have no king but Ceſar.

Here is a further Account of the unfair Trial which they gave to our Lord Jeſus. The Proſecutors carrying it on with great Confuſion among the People, and the Judge with great Confuſion in his own Breaſt; between both, the Narrative is ſuch as is not eaſily reduced to a Method, we muſt therefore take the Parts of it as they lie.

Firſt, The Judge abuſeth the Priſoner, tho' he declares him Innocent, and hopes therewith to pacifie the Proſecutors; wherein his Intention, if indeed it were good, will by no means juſtifie his Proceedings, which were probably unjuſt.

1. He ordeted him to be whipt as as a Criminal. Ver. 1. Pilate ſeeing the People ſo outragious, and being diſappointed in his Project of releaſing him upon the People's Choice, took Jeſus and ſcourged him, i. e. appointed the Lictors that attended him to do it. Bede is of Opinion, that Pilate ſcourged Jeſus himſelf with his own Hands, becauſe it is ſaid, he took him, and ſcourged him, that it might be done favourably. Matthew and Mark mention his ſcourging after his Condemnation, but here it appears to have been before. St. Luke ſpeaks of Pilate's offering to chaſtiſe him and let him go, which muſt be before Sentence. This ſcourging of him was deſigned only to pacifie the Jews, and in it Pilate put a Compliment upon them, that he would take their Word againſt his own Sentiments ſo far. The Roman Scourgings were ordinarily very ſevere, not limited, as among the Jews, to Forty Stripes, yet this Pain and Shame Chriſt ſubmitted to for our ſakes.

(1.) That the Scriptures might be fulfilled, which ſpake of his being ſtricken, ſmitten, and afflicted, and the Chaſtiſement of our Peace being upon him, Iſa. 53. 4. Of his giving his Back to the ſmiters, Iſa. 50. 6. Of the Plowers plowing upon his Back, Pſal. 129. 3. He himſelf likewiſe had foretold it, Mat. 20. 19. Mark 10. 34. Luke 18. 32.

(2.) That by his Stripes we might be healed, 1 Pet. 2. 24. We deſerved to have been chaſtiſed with Whips and Scorpions, and to be beaten with many Stripes; having known our Lord's Will and not done it; but Chriſt underwent the Stripes for us, bearing the Rod of his Father's Wrath, Lam. 3. 1. Pilate's Deſign in ſcourging him, was, that he might not be condemn'd, which did not take effect, but intimated what was God's Deſign, that his being ſcourged might prevent our being condemn'd; we having Fellowſhip in his Sufferings, and that did take effect. The Phyſician ſcourged, and ſo the Patient healed.

(3.) That Stripes for his ſake might be ſanctified, and made eaſy to his Followers; and they might, as they did, rejoyce in that Shame, Acts 5. 40. and 16. 22. As Paul did, who was in Stripes above meaſure, 2 Cor. 11. 23. Chriſt's Stripes take out the Sting of theirs, and alter the Property of them. We are chaſtened of the Lord that we may not be condemn'd with the World, 1 Cor. 11. 32.

2. He turned him over to his Soldiers to be ridiculed and made ſport with as a Fool, Ver. 2, 3. The Soldiers that were the Governor's Life-guard, put a Crown of Thorns upon his Head; ſuch a Crown fitteſt for ſuch a King. They put on him a purple Robe; ſome old Thread-bare Coat of that Colour, which they thought good enough to be the Badge of his Royalty, and they complimented him, with, Hail, King of the Jews; like People, like King; and then ſmote him with their Hands.

(1.) See here the baſeneſs and injuſtice of Pilate, that he would ſuffer one whom he believed an innocent Perſon, and if ſo, an excellent Perſon, to be thus abuſed, and trampled on by his own Servants. They who are under the Arreſt of the Law, ought to be under the Protection of it; and their being ſecured is to be their Security. But Pilate did this, (1.) To oblige his Soldiers merry Humour, and perhaps his own too, notwithſtanding the Gravity one might have expected in a Judge. Herod, as well as his Men of War, had juſt before done the ſame, Luke 23. 11. 'Twas as good as a Stage-Play to them, now it was a Feſtival Time; as the Philiſtines made ſport with Sampſon. (2.) To oblige the Jews malicious Humour, and to gratifie them, who deſired that all poſſible Diſgrace might be done to Chriſt, and the utmoſt Indignities put upon him.

(2.) See here the rudeneſs and inſolence of the Soldiers; how perfectly loſt they were to all Juſtice and Humanity, who could thus triumph over a Man in Miſery, and one that had been in Reputation for Wiſdom and Honour, and never did any Thing to forfeit it. But thus hath Chriſt's Holy Religion been baſely miſrepreſented; dreſſed up by ill Men at their Pleaſure, and expoſed to Contempt and Ridicule, as Chriſt was here. (1.) They cloath him with a Mock-robe, as if it were a ſham, and a jeſt, and nothing but the Product of a heated Fancy, and a crazy Imagination. And as Chriſt is here repreſented a King in conceit only, ſo is his Religion as a Concern in conceit only, and God and the Soul, Sin and Duty, Heaven and Hell are with them all Chimeras. (2.) They crown it with Thorns, as if it were a perfect Penance, and the greateſt Pain and Hardſhip in the World; as if to ſubmit to the Conduct of God and Conſcience were to thruſt one's Head into a Thicket of Thorns, but this is an unjuſt Imputation; Thorns and Snares are in the Way of the Froward, but Roſes and Laurels in Religion's Ways.

(3.) See here the wonderful Condeſcenſion of our Lord Jeſus in his Sufferings for us. Great and generous Minds can bear any Thing better than Ignominy; the Toil, and Pain, any Loſs rather than Reproach; yet this the Great and Holy Jeſus ſubmitted to for us. See and admire, (1.) The invincible Patience of a Sufferer leaving us an Example of Contentment and Courage, evenneſs, and eaſineſs of Spirit under the greateſt Hardſhips we may meet with in the way of Duty. (2.) The invincible Love and Kindneſs of a Saviour, who not only chearfully, and reſolutely went through all this, but voluntarily undertook it for us, and for our Salvation. Herein he commended his Love, that he would not only die for us, but die as a Fool dies. (1.) He endured the Pain; not the Pangs of Death only, tho' in the Death of the Croſs thoſe were moſt exquiſite; but as if thoſe were too little, he ſubmitted to thoſe previous Pains. Shall we complain of a Thorn in the Fleſh, and of being buffeted by Affliction, becauſe we need it to hide Pride from us, when Chriſt humbled himſelf to bear thoſe Thorns in the Head, and thoſe buffetings to ſave and teach us, 2 Cor. 12. 7. (2.) He deſpiſed the Shame, the Shame of a Fool's Coat, and the mock Reſpects paid him with, Hail, King of the Jews. If we be at any Time ridiculed for Well-doing, let us not be aſhamed, but glorifie God, for thus we are partakers of Chriſt's Sufferings. He that bore theſe ſham Honours, was recompenced with real Honours, and ſo ſhall we, if we patiently ſuffer ſhame for him.

Secondly, Pilate having thus abuſed the Priſoner, preſents him to the Proſecutors, in hopes they would now be ſatisfied and drop the Proſecution, v. 4, 5. Here he propoſes two Things to their Conſideration:

1. That he had not found any Thing in him which made him obnoxious to the Roman Government, v. 4. I find no Fault in him: οὐδεμίαν αἰτίαν εὑρίσκω, I do not find the leaſt Fault, or Cauſe of Accuſation: Upon further Enquiry he repeats the Declaration he had made, Chap. 18. 38. Hereby he condemn'd himſelf; if he found no fault in him, why did he ſcourge him? Why did he ſuffer him to be abuſed? None ought to ſuffer ill but thoſe that do ill; yet thus many banter and abuſe Religion, who yet, if they be ſerious, cannot but own they find no fault in it. If he found no fault in him, Why did he bring him out to his Proſecutors, and not immediately releaſe him, as he ought to do? If Pilate would have conſulted his own Conſcience only, he had neither ſcourged Chriſt, nor crucified him, but thinking to trim the Matter, to pleaſe the People by ſcourging Chriſt, and ſave his Conſcience by not crucifying him, behold he doth both; whereas, if he had at firſt reſolved to crucifie him, he needed not have ſcourged him. 'Tis common for thoſe who think to keep themſelves from greater Sins, by venturing upon leſſer Sins, to run into both.

2. That he had done that to him which would make him the leſs dangerous to them and to their Government, v. 5. He brought him out to them wearing the Crown of Thorns, his Head and Face all blood, and ſaid, behold the Man whom you are ſo jealous of, intimating, that tho' his having been ſo popular might have given them ſome cauſe to fear that his Intereſt in the Country would leſſen theirs, yet that he had taken an effectual courſe to prevent it, by treating him as a Slave, and expoſing him to Contempt, after which he ſuppoſed the People would never look upon him with any Reſpect, nor could he ever retrieve his Reputation again. Little did Pilate think with what Veneration even theſe Sufferings of Chriſt would in after Ages be commemorated by the beſt and greateſt of Men, who would glory in that Croſs, and thoſe Stripes which he thought would have been to him and his Followers a perpetual and indelible Reproach.

1. Obſerve here how our Lord Jeſus ſhews himſelf dreſs'd up in all the Marks of Ignominy. He came forth willing to be made a Spectacle, and to be hooted at, as no doubt he was, when he came forth in this Garb, knowing that he was ſet for a Sign that ſhould be ſpoken againſt, Luke 2. 34. Did he go forth thus bearing our Reproach, let us go forth to him bearing his Reproach, Heb. 13. 13.

2. How Pilate ſhews him, Pilate unto unto them, behold the Man. He ſaith unto them, ſo the Original is; and the immediate Antecedent being Jeſus, I ſee no inconvenience in ſuppoſing theſe to be Chriſt's own Words; He ſaid, behold the Man you are ſo exaſperated againſt: But ſome of the Greek Copies, and the generality of the Tranſlators ſupply it as we do, Pilate ſaith unto them, with a deſign to qualifie them, Behold the Man; not ſo much to move their Pity, behold a Man worthy your Compaſſion, as to ſilence their Jealouſies, behold a Man not worthy your ſuſpicion; a Man from whom you can henceforth fear no danger; his Crown is prophaned and caſt to the Ground, and now all Mankind will make a jeſt of him.

The Word however is very affecting, Behold the Man. It is good for every one of us with an Eye of Faith to behold the Man Chriſt Jeſus in his Sufferings. Behold this King with the Crown wherewith his Mother crowned him; and the Crown of Thorns, Cant. 3, 11. Behold him, and be ſuitably affected with the Sight. Behold him, and mourn becauſe of him; behold him and love him; be ſtill looking unto Jeſus.

Thirdly, The Proſecutors inſtead of being pacified were but the more exaſperated, v. 6, 7.

1. Obſerve here their Clamour and Outrage. The Chief Prieſts who headed the Mob, cried out with Fury and Indignation, and their Officers or Servants, who muſt ſay as they ſaid, joined with them in crying, Crucifie him, crucifie him. The common People perhaps would have acquieſced in Pilate's Declaration of his Innocency, but their Leaders, the Prieſts, cauſed them to err. Now by this it appears that their Malice againſt Chriſt was, (1.) Unreaſonable and moſt abſurd, in that they offer not to make good their Charge againſt him, or to object againſt the Judgment of Pilate concerning him; but tho' he be Innocent he muſt be crucified. (2.) 'Twas inſatiable and very cruel. Neither the Extremity of his Scourging, and his Patience under it, nor the tender Expoſtulations of the Judge, could mollifie them in the leaſt; no, nor could the Jeſt into which Pilate had turn'd the Cauſe put them into a pleaſant Humour. (3.) 'Twas violent and exceeding reſolute; they will have it their own way, and hazard the Governor's Favour, the Peace of the City, and their own Safety, rather than abate of the utmoſt of their Demands. Were they ſo violent in running down our Lord Jeſus, and in crying, Crucifie him, crucifie him? And ſhall not we be vigorous and zealous in advancing his Name, and in crying, Crown him, crown him? Did their Hatred of him ſharpen their Endeavours againſt him? and ſhall not our Love to him quicken our Endeavours for him and his Kingdom.

2. The Check Pilate gave to their Fury, ſtill inſiſting upon the Priſoner's Innocency. Take ye him and crucifie him, if he muſt be crucified; this is ſpoken ironically, he knew they could not, they durſt not crucifie him; but 'tis as if ſhe ſhould ſay, you ſhall not make me a drudge to your Malice: I cannot with a ſafe Conſcience crucifie him. A good Reſolve if he could but have ſtuck to it. He found no fault in him, and therefore ſhould not have continued to parley with the Proſecutors: They that would be ſafe from Sin ſhould be deaf to Temptation. Nay, he ſhould have ſecured the Priſoner from their Inſults: What was he armed with Power for but to protect the injured? The Guards of Governors ought to be the Guards of Juſtice. But Pilate had not Courage enough to ſtick to his Conſcience; and his Cowardice betrayed him into a Snare.

3. The further Colour which the Proſecutors gave to their Demand, v. 7. We have a Law, and by our Law, if it were but in our Power to execute it, he ought to die, becauſe he made himſelf the Son of God. Now here obſerve,

(1.) They make their boaſt of the Law, even then, when through breaking the Law they diſhonoured God, as is charged upon the Jews, Rom. 2. 23. They had indeed an excellent Law, far exceeding the Statutes and Judgments of other Nations; but in vain did they boaſt of their Law, when they abuſed it to ſuch ill Purpoſes.

(2.) They diſcover a reſtleſs and inveterate Malice againſt our Lord Jeſus. When they could not incenſe Pilate againſt him by alledging that he pretended himſelf a King, they urge this, that he pretended himſelf a God. Thus they turn every ſtone to take him off.

(3.) They pervert the Law, and make that the Inſtrument of their Malice. Some think they refer to a late Law made particularly againſt Chriſt, as if being a Law it muſt be executed right or wrong; whereas there is a Woe to them that decree the unrighteous Decrees, and that write the grievouſneſs which they have preſcribed, Iſa. 10. 1. See Mic. 6. 16. But it ſhould rather ſeem they refer to the Law of Moſes, and if ſo, (1.) It was true that Blaſphemers, Idolaters and falſe Prophets were to be put to Death by that Law. Whoever falſly pretended to be the Son of God was guilty of Blaſphemy, Lev. 24. 16. But then, (2.) It was falſe that he pretended to be the Son of God, for he really was ſo; and they ought to have inquired into the Proofs he produced of his being ſo. If he ſaid he was the Son of God, and the ſcope and tendency of his Doctrine was not to draw People from God, but to bring them to him, and he confirmed his Miſſion and Doctrine by Miracles, as undoubtedly he did beyond Contradiction, by their Law they ought to hearken to him, Deut. 18. 18, 19. and if they did not, they were to be cut off. That which was his Honour, and might have been their Happineſs, if they had not ſtood in their own Light, they impute to him as a Crime for which he ought to die; yet if he ought to die by their Law, he ought not to be crucified, for that was no Death inflicted by their Law.

Fourthly, The Judge brings the Priſoner again to his Trial upon this new Suggeſtion. Obſerve,

1. The concern Pilate was in when he heard this alledged, Ver. 8. When he heard that his Priſoner pretended not to Royalty only, but to Deity, he was the more afraid: This embarraſs'd him more than ever, and made the caſe more difficult both Ways; for, (1.) There was the more danger of offending the People if he ſhould acquit him, for he knew how jealous that People were for the Unity of the Godhead, and what an averſion they now had to other Gods; and therefore, tho' he might hope to pacifie their Rage againſt a pretended King, he could never reconcile them to a pretended God, If this be at the bottom of the Tumult, thinks Pilate, it will not be turned off with a Jeſt. (2.) There was the more danger of offending his own Conſcience if he ſhould condemn him. Is he one (thinks Pilate) that makes himſelf the Son of God, and what if it ſhould prove that he is ſo? What will become of me then? Even natural Conſcience makes Men afraid of being found fighting againſt God. The Heathen had ſome fabulous Traditions of incarnate Deities appearing ſometimes in mean Circumſtances, and treated ill by ſome that paid dear for their ſo doing. Pilate fears leſt he ſhould thus run himſelf into a Premunire.

2. His further Examination of our Lord Jeſus thereupon, v. 9. That he might give the Proſecutors all the fair play they could deſire, he reſumed the Debate, went into the Judgment-Hall, and asked Chriſt, Whence art thou? Obſerve,

1. The Place he choſe for this Examination, he went into the Judgment-Hall, for privacy, that he might be out of the Noiſe and Clamour of the Crowd, and might examine the Thing the more cloſely. They that would find out the Truth as it is in Jeſus, muſt get out of the noiſe of Prejudice, and retire as it were into the Judgment-Hall, to converſe with Chriſt alone.

2. The Queſtion he put to him, Whence art thou? Art thou from Men or from Heaven? From beneath or from above? He had before asked directly, Art thou a King? But doth not here directly ask, Art thou the Son of God? Leſt he ſhould ſeem to meddle with Divine Things too boldly. But in general, Whence art thou? Where waſt thou? And in what World hadſt thou a Being before thy coming into this World.

3. The Silence of our Lord Jeſus when he was examined upon this Head, but Jeſus gave him no Anſwer. This was not a ſullen Silence in Contempt of the Court, nor was it becauſe he knew not what to ſay. But,

(1.) It was a patient Silence, that the Scripture might be fulfilled, As a Sheep before the Shearers is Dumb, ſo he opened not his Mouth, Iſa. 53. 7. This Silence loudly ſpake his Submiſſion to his Father's Will in his preſent Sufferings, which he thus accommodated himſelf to, and compoſed himſelf to bear. He was ſilent becauſe he would ſay nothing to hinder his Sufferings. If Chriſt had avowed himſelf a God, as plainly as he avowed himſelf a King, 'tis likely he would not have condemned him, for he was afraid, at the mention of it by the Proſecutors; and the Romans, tho' they triumphed over the Kings of the Nations they conquered, yet ſtood in awe of their Gods. See 1 Cor. 2. 8. If they had known him to be the Lord of Glory they would not have crucified him, and how then muſt we have been ſaved?

(2.) It was a prudent Silence. When the Chief Prieſts asked him, Art thou the Son of the Bleſſed? he anſwered, I am, for he knew they went upon the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament which ſpeak of the Meſſiah; but when Pilate asked him, he knew he did not underſtand his own Queſtion, having no Notion of the Meſſiah, and of his being the Son of God, and therefore to what purpoſe ſhould he reply to him whoſe Head was filled with the Pagan Theology, to which he would have turned his Anſwer.

4. The haughty Check which Pilate gave him for his Silence, v. 10. Speakeſt thou not unto me? Doſt thou put ſuch an Affront upon me as to ſtand mute? What, knoweſt thou not, that as Preſident of the Province, I have Power, if I think fit, to crucifie thee; and have Power, if I think fit, to releaſe thee. Obſerve here,

(1.) How Pilate magnifies himſelf, and boaſts of his own Authority; as not inferior to that of Nebuchadnezzar, of whom it is ſaid, that whom he would he ſlew, and whom he would he kept alive, Dan. 5. 19. Men in Power are apt to be puffed up with their Power, and the more abſolute and arbitrary it is, the more it gratifies their Pride, and humours that. But he magnifies his Power to an exorbitant Degree, when he boaſts that he had Power to crucifie one whom he had declared Innocent, for no Prince or Potentate has Authority to do wrong. Id poſſumus quod jure poſſumus.

(2.) How he tramples upon our bleſſed Saviour, Speakeſt thou not unto me—? He reflects upon him, (1.) As if he were undutiful and diſreſpectful to thoſe in Authority, not ſpeaking when he was ſpoken to. (2.) As if he were ungrateful to one that had been tender of him; ſpeakeſt thou not to me who have laboured thy Releaſe? (3.) As if he were unwiſe for himſelf; Wilt thou not ſpeak to clear thy ſelf to one that is willing to clear thee? If Chriſt had indeed ſought to ſave his Life, now had been his Time to have ſpoken; but that which he had to do was to lay down his Life.

5. Chriſt's pertinent Anſwer to this Check, v. 11. Where,

1. He boldly rebukes his Arrogance, and rectifies his Miſtake. As big as thou lookeſt and talkeſt, thou couldſt have no Power at all againſt me; no Power to ſcourge, no Power to crucifie, except it were given thee from above. Tho' Chriſt did not think fit to anſwer him when he was impertinent, then anſwer not a Fool according to his Folly, leſt thou alſo be like him; yet he did think fit to anſwer him when he was imperious, then anſwer a Fool according to his Folly, leſt he be wiſe in his own conceit, Prov. 26. 4, 5. When Pilate uſed his Power, Chriſt ſilently ſubmitted to it, but when he grew proud of it, he made him know himſelf. All the Power thou haſt, is given thee from above; which may be taken two Ways.

(1.) As minding him, that his Power in general as a Magiſtrate was a limited Power, and he could do no more than God would ſuffer him to do. God is the Fountain of Power; and the Powers that be, as they are ordained by him, and derived from him, ſo they are ſubject to him: They ought to go no further that his Law directs them; they can go no further than his Providence permits them. They are God's Hand, and his Sword, Pſal. 17. 13. Tho' the Ax may boaſt it ſelf againſt him that heweth therewith, yet ſtill it is but a Tool, Iſa. 10. 5. 15. Let the proud Oppreſſors know, that there is a Higher than they, to whom they are accountable, Eccl. 5. 8. And let this ſilence the Murmurings of the oppreſſed, It is the Lord. God had bid Shimei curſe David; and let it comfort them, that their Perſecutors can do more than God will let them. See Iſa. 51. 12, 13.

(2.) As in informigg him that his Power againſt him in particular, and all the Efforts of that Power, were by the determinate Counſel and Fore-knowledge of God, Acts 2. 23. Pilate never fancy'd himſelf to look ſo great as now, when he ſate in Judgment upon ſuch a Priſoner as this, who was look'd upon by many as the Son of God and King of Iſrael, and had the Fate of ſo great a Man at his Diſpoſe; but Chriſt lets him know that he was herein but an Inſtrument in God's Hand, and could do nothing againſt him, but by the Appointment of Heaven, Acts 4. 27, 28.

.2 He mildly excuſeth and extenuateth his Sin, in Compariſon with the Sin of the Ring-leaders. Therefore he that delivered me unto thee lies under greater Guilt; for thou as a Magiſtrate haſt Power from above, and art in thy Place, thy Sin is leſs than theirs, who, from Envy and Malice, urge thee to abuſe thy Power.

1. It is plainly intimated, that what Pilate did was Sin, a great Sin, and the Force which the Jews put upon him, and which he put upon himſelf in it, would not juſtify him. Chriſt hereby intended a Hint for the awakening of his Conſcience, and the Encreaſe of that Fear he was now under. Others Guilt will not acquit us, nor will it avail in the great Day to ſay, others were worſe than we, for we are not to be judged by Compariſon, but muſt bear our own Burthen.

2. Yet theirs that delivered him up to Pilate was the greater Sin; by this it appears that all Sins are not equal, but ſome more heinous than others; ſome comparatively as Gnats, others as Camels; ſome as Motes in the Eye, others as Beams; ſome as Pence, others as Pounds. He that delivered Chriſt to Pilate was either,

1. The People of the Jews, who cried out, Crucify him, crucify him; they had ſeen Chriſt's Miracles which Pilate had not; to them the Meſſiah was firſt ſent, they were his own, and to them who were now enſlaved, a Redeemer ſhould have been moſt welcome, and therefore it was much worſe in them to appear againſt him than in Pilate.

2. Or rather he means Caiaphas in particular, who was at the Head of the Conſpiracy againſt Chriſt, and firſt adviſed his Death, Chap. 11. 49. The Sin of Caiaphas was abundantly greater than the Sin of Pilate. Caiaphas proſecuted Chriſt from pure Enmity to him and his Doctrine, deliberately, and of Malice perpenſe; Pilate condemned him purely for fear of the People, and it was a haſty Reſolution which he had not time to cool upon.

3. Some think Chriſt means Judas, for tho' he did not immediately deliver him into the Hands of Pilate, yet he betrayed him to thoſe that did. The Sin of Judas was upon many Accounts greater than the Sin of Pilate. Pilate was a Stranger to Chriſt, Judas was his Friend and Follower. Pilate found no fault in him, but Judas knew a deal of good by him. Pilate tho' biaſs'd was not brib'd, but Judas took a Reward againſt the Innocent; the Sin of Judas was a leading Sin, and let in all that followed. He was a Guide to them that took Jeſus. So great was the Sin of Judas, that Vengeance ſuffered him not to live; but when Chriſt ſaid this, or ſoon after, he was gone to his own Place.

Fifthly, Pilate ſtruggles with the Jews to deliver Jeſus out of their Hands, but in vain. We hear no more after this of any thing that paſſed between Pilate and the Priſoner, what remains lay between him and the Proſecutors.

1. Pilate ſeems more zealous than before to get Jeſus diſcharg'd, v. 12. from thenceforth, from this Time, and for this Reaſon, becauſe Chriſt had given him that Anſwer, v. 11. which tho' it had a Rebuke in it, yet he took it kindly; and tho' Chriſt found fault with him, he ſtill continued to find no fault in Chriſt, but ſought to releaſe him, deſired it, endeavoured it; he ſought to releaſe him, he contrived how to do it handſomely and ſafely, and ſo as not to diſoblige the Prieſts. It never doth well, when our Reſolutions to do our Duty are ſwallow'd up in Projects how to do it plauſibly and conveniently. If Pilate's Policy had not prevailed above his Juſtice, he would not have been long ſeeking to releaſe him, but would have done it; Fiat Juſtitia ruat Cœlum.

2. The Jews were more furious than ever, and more violent to get Jeſus crucified. Still they carry on their Deſign with Noiſe and Clamour as before; ſo now they cried out. They would have it thought that the Commonalty was againſt him, and therefore laboured to get him cry'd down by a Multitude, and 'tis no hard Matter to pack a Mob; whereas if a fair Poll had been granted, I doubt not but it would have been carry'd by a great Majority for the releaſing of him. A few mad Men may out-ſhout many wiſe Men, and then fancy themſelves to ſpeak the Senſe (when 'tis but the Nonſenſe) of a Nation, or of all Mankind, but it is not ſo eaſy a thing to change the Senſe of the People, as it is to miſrepreſent it, and to change their Cry. Now Chriſt was in the Hands of his Enemies, his Friends were ſhy, and ſilent, and diſappear'd, and thoſe that were againſt him were forward to ſhew themſelves ſo, and this gave the chief Prieſts an Opportunity to repreſent it as the concurring Vote of all the Jews, that he ſhould be crucified. In this Outcry they endeavour two Things,

(1.) To blacken the Priſoner as an Enemy to Cæſar. He had refuſed the Kingdoms of this World, and the Glory of them, had declared his Kingdom not to be of this World, and yet they will have it that he ſpeaks againſt Cæſar, ἀντιλέγει, he oppoſeth Cæſar, invades his Dignity and Sovereignty. It has always been the Artifice of the Enemies of Religion, to repreſent it as hurtful to Kings and Provinces, when it would be highly beneficial to both.

(2.) To frighten the Judge, as no Friend to Cæſar, if he let this Man go unpuniſhed, and let him go on. Thou art not Cæſar's Friend, and therefore falſe to thy Truſt, and the Duty of thy Place, and obnoxious to the Emperor's Diſpleaſure, and liable to be turned out. They intimate a Threatning, that they would inform againſt him, and get him diſplaced; and here they touched him in a ſenſible and very tender part. But of all People thoſe Jews ſhould not have pretended a Concern for Cæſar, who were themſelves ſo ill affected to him and his Government. They ſhould not talk of being Friends to Cæſar, who were themſelves ſuch back Friends to him; yet thus a pretended Zeal for that which is good often ſerves to cover a real Malice againſt that which is better.

3. When other Expedients had been try'd in vain, Pilate ſlightly endeavoured to banter them out of their Fury, and yet in doing that betrayed himſelf to them, and yielded to the rapid Stream, v. 13, 14, 15. And he had ſtood it out a great while, and ſeemed now as if he would have made a vigorous Reſiſtance upon that Attack, v. 12. he baſely ſurrender'd. Obſerve here,

1. What it was that ſhock'd Pilate, v. 13. When he heard that Saying, that he could not be true to Cæſar's Honour, nor ſure of Cæſar's Favour, if he did not put Jeſus to Death, then he thought it was time to look about him. All they had ſaid to prove Chriſt a Malefactor, and that therefore it was Pilate's Duty to condemn him, did not move him, but he ſtill kept to his Conviction of Chriſt's Innocency; but when they urged that it was his Intereſt to condemn him, then he began to yield. Note, They that bind up their Happineſs in the Favour of Men, make themſelves an eaſy Prey to the Temptations of Satan.

2. What Preparation was made for a definitive Sentence upon this Matter. Pilate brought Jeſus forth, and he himſelf in great State took the Chair; we may ſuppoſe that he called for his Robes, that he might look big, and then he ſate down in the Judgment-Seat. He was condemned with all the Ceremony that could be, (1.) To bring us off at God's Bar, and that all Believers through Chriſt being judged here, might be acquitted in the Court of Heaven. (2.) To take off the Terror of pompous Trials, which his Followers would be brought to for his ſake. Paul might the better ſtand at Cæſar's Judgment Seat, when his Maſter had ſtood there before him.

Notice is here taken of the Place and Time.

1. The Place where Chriſt was condemned; in a Place called the Pavement, but in Hebrew, Gabbatha, probably the Place where he uſed to ſit to try Cauſes or Criminals. Some make Gabbatha to ſignify an encloſed Place, fenced againſt the Inſults of the People, whom therefore he did the leſs need to fear; others an elevated Place, raiſed that all might ſee him.

2. The Time, v. 14. 'Twas the Preparation of the Paſſover, and about the ſixth Hour. Obſerve,

(1.) The Day; 'twas the Preparation of the Paſſover, i. e. for the Paſſover Sabbath, and the Solemnities of that, and the reſt of the Days of the Feaſt of unleavened Bread. This is plain from Luke 23. 45. It was the Preparation, and the Sabbath drew on. So that this Preparation was for the Sabbath. Note, Before the Paſſover there ought to be Preparation. This is mentioned as an Aggravation of their Sin in perſecuting Chriſt with ſo much Malice and Fury; that 'twas when they ſhould have been purging out the old leaven, to get ready for the Paſſover, but the better the Day the worſe the Deed.

(2.) The Hour; it was about the ſixth Hour. Some ancient Greek and Latin Manuſcripts read it about the third Hour, which agrees with Mark 15. 25. And it appears by Mat. 27. 45. that he was upon the Croſs before the ſixth Hour. But it ſhould ſeem to come in here not as a preciſe Determination of the Time, but as an additional Aggravation of the Sin of his Proſecutors, that they were puſhing on the Proſecution, not only on a ſolemn Day, the Day of the Preparation, but from the third to the ſixth Hour, which was, as we call it, Church-time, on that Day they were employed in this Wickedneſs, ſo that for this Day, tho' they were Prieſts, they dropt the Temple-Service, for they did not leave Chriſt till the ſixth Hour, when the Darkneſs began, which frighted them away. Some think that the ſixth Hour with this Evangeliſt is according to the Roman Reckoning and ours, Six of the Clock in the Morning, anſwering to the Jews firſt Hour of the Day; this is very probable, that Chriſt's Trial before Pilate was at the height about ſix in the Morning, which was then a little after Sun-riſing.

3. The Rencounter Pilate had with the Jews, both Prieſts and People, before he proceeded to give Judgment, endeavouring in vain to ſtem the Tide of their Rage.

1. He ſaith unto the Jews, Behold your King. This is a Reproof to them for the Abſurdity and Malice of their innuendo, that this Jeſus made himſelf a King; Behold your King, i. e. him whom you accuſe as a Pretender to the Crown. Is this a Man likely to be dangerous to the Government? I am ſatisfied he is not, and you may be ſo too, and let him alone. Some think he hereby upbraids them with their ſecret Diſaffection to Cæſar; you would have this Man to be your King, if he would but have headed a Rebellion againſt Cæſar. But Pilate, tho' he was far from meaning ſo, ſeems as if he were the Voice of God to them. Chriſt now crowned with Thorns here is as a King at his Coronation, offered to the People, Behold your King, the King which God hath ſet upon his holy Hill of Zion, but they inſtead of entring into it with Acclamation of joyful Conſent, proteſt againſt him, they will not have a King of God's chuſing.

2. They cried out with the greateſt Indignation, Away with him, away with him, which ſpeaks Diſdain as well as Malike, ἆρον, ἆρον, Take him, he is none of ours; we diſown him for our Kinſman, much more for our King; we have not only no Veneration for him, but no Compaſſion; away with him out of our Sight; for ſo it was written of him, he is one whom the Nation abhors, Iſa. 49. 7. and they hid as it were their Faces from him, Iſa. 53. 2, 3. Away with him from the Earth, Acts 22. 22. This ſhews, 1. How we deſerved to have been treated at God's Tribunal; we were by Sin become odious to God's Holineſs, which cried, Away with them, away with them, for God is of purer Eyes than to behold Iniquity; we were alſo become obnoxious to God's Juſtice, which cried againſt us, Crucify them, crucify them, let the Sentence of the Law be executed. Had not Chriſt interpoſed, and been thus rejected of Man, we had been for ever rejected of God. 2. It ſhews how we ought to treat our Sins; we are often in Scripture ſaid to crucify Sin, in Conformity to Chriſt's Death; now they that crucified Chriſt did it with Deteſtation. With a pious Indignation we ſhould run down Sin in us, as they with an impious Indignation run him down who was made Sin for us. The true Penitent caſts away from him his Tranſgreſſions, Away with them, away with them, Iſa. 2. 20, & 30. 22. Crucify them, crucify them; 'tis not fit they ſhould live in my Soul, Hoſ. 14. 8.

3. Pilate willing to have Jeſus releaſed, and yet that it ſhould be their doing, asks them, Shall I crucify your King? In ſaying this, he deſigned either, (1.) To ſtop their Mouths, by ſhewing them how abſurd it was for them to reject one who offered himſelf to them to be their King, at a time when they needed one more than ever. Have they no Senſe of Slavery? No Deſire of Liberty? No Value for a Deliverer? Tho' he ſaw no Cauſe to fear him, they might ſee Cauſe to hope for ſomething from him; ſince cruſhed and ſinking Intereſts are ready to catch at any thing. Or, (2.) To ſtop the Mouth of his own Conſcience; if this Jeſus be a King, (thinks Pilate) he is only King of the Jews, and therefore I have nothing to do but to make a fair Tender of him to them; if they refuſe him, and will have their King crucified, what's that to me? He banter'd them for their Folly, in expecting a Meſſiah, and yet running down one that bid ſo fair to be he.

4. The chief Prieſts, that they might effectually renounce Chriſt, and engage Pilate to crucify him, but otherwiſe ſore againſt their Will, cried out, We have no King but Cæſar. This they knew would pleaſe Pilate, and ſo they hoped to carry their Point, tho' at the ſame time they hated Cæſar and his Government. But obſerve here, (1.) What a plain Indication this is, that the Time for the Meſſiah to appear, even the ſet Time was now come; for if the Jews have no King but Cæſar, then is the Sceptre departed from Judah, and the Law-giver from between his Feet, which ſhould never be till Shiloh come to ſet up a ſpiritual Kingdom. And, (2.) What a righteous thing it was with God to bring upon them that Ruin by the Romans, which followed not long after. (1.) They adhere to Cæſar, and to Cæſar they ſhall go. God ſoon gave them enough of their Cæſars, and according to Jotham's Parable, ſince the Trees chuſe the Bramble for their King, rather than the Vine and the Olive, an evil Spirit is ſent between them, for they could not do it truly and ſincerely, Jud. 9. 12, 19. from hence forward they were Rebels to the Cæſars, and the Cæſars Tyrants to them, and it ended in the Overthrow of their Place and Nation. 'Tis juſt with God to make that a Scourge and Plague to us, which we prefer before Chriſt. (2.) They would have no other King but Cæſar, and never have they had any other to this Day, but have now abode many Days without a King, and without a Prince, Hoſ. 3. 4. without any of their own, but the Kings of the Nations have ruled over them; ſince they will have no King but Cæſar, ſo ſhall their Doom be, themſelves have decided it.

16 Then deliver'd he him therefore unto them to be crucified. And they took Jeſus and led him away. 17 And he bearing his croſs, went forth into a place called the place of a ſcull, which is called in the Hebrew, Golgotha: 18 Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either ſide one, and Jeſus in the midſt.

We have here Sentence of Death paſt upon our Lord Jeſus, and Execution done preſently. A mighty Struggle Pilate had had within him between his Convictions and his Corruptions, but at length his Convictions yielded, and his Corruptions prevailed; the Fear of Man having a greater Power over him than the Fear of God.

Firſt, Pilate gave Judgment againſt Chriſt, and ſigned the Warrant for his Execution, v. 16. We may ſee here,

1. How Pilate ſinned againſt his Conſcience, he had again and again pronounced him innocent, and yet at laſt condemned him as guilty. Pilate, ſince he came to be Governour, had in many Inſtances diſobliged and exaſperated the Jewiſh Nation, for he was a Man of a haughty implacable Spirit, and extremely wedded to his Humour. He had ſeized upon the Corban, and ſpent it upon a Water-work; he had brought in Shields ſtamped with Cæſar's Image, which was very provoking to the Jews; he had ſacrificed the Lives of many to his Reſolutions herein; fearing therefore he ſhould be complained of for thoſe and other Inſolences, he was willing to gratify the Jews. Now this makes the Matter much worſe. If he had been of an eaſy, ſoft, and pliable Diſpoſition, his yielding to ſo ſtrong a Stream, had been the more excuſable; but for a Man that was ſo wilful in other things, and of ſo fierce a Reſolution, to be overcome in a thing of this Nature, ſhews him an ill Man indeed, that could better bear the wronging of his Conſcience, than the croſſing of his Humour.

2. How he endeavoured to transfer the Guilt upon the Jews. He delivered him not to his own Officers (as uſual) but to the Proſecutors, the chief Prieſts and Elders, ſo excuſing the Wrong to his own Conſcience with this, that it was but a permiſſive Condemnation, and that he did not put Chriſt to Death, but only connive at thoſe that did it.

3. How Chriſt was made Sin for us. We deſerved to have been condemned, but Chriſt was condemned for us, that to us there might be no Condemnation. God was now entring into Judgment with his Son, that he might not enter into Judgment with his Servants.

Secondly, Judgment was no ſooner given, but with all poſſible Expedition, the Proſecutors, having gained their Point, reſolved to loſe no Time, (1.) Leſt Pilate ſhould change his Mind, and order a Reprieve; thoſe are Enemies to our Souls, the worſt of Enemies, that hurry us to Sin, and then leave us no room to undo what we have done amiſs. (2.) Leſt there ſhould be an Uproar among People; and there ſhould have been a greater Number againſt, than they had with ſo much Artifice got to be for them.

'Twere well if we would be thus expeditious in that which is good, and not ſtay for more Difficulties.

1. They immediately hurried away the Priſoner. The chief Prieſts greedily flew upon the Prey which they had been long waiting for, now 'tis drawn into their Net. Or they, i. e. the Soldiers who were to attend the Execution, they took him and led him away, not to the Place from whence he came, and thence to the Place of Execution, as is uſual with us, but directly to the Place of Execution. Both the Prieſts and the Soldiers joined in leading him away. Now was the Son of Man delivered into the Hands of Men, wicked and unreaſonable Men. By the Law of Moſes (and in Appeals by our Law) the Proſecutors were to be the Executioners, Deut. 17. 7. And the Prieſts here were proud of the Office. His being led away doth not ſuppoſe him to have made any Oppoſition, but the Scripture muſt be fulfill'd, he was led as a Sheep to the Slaughter, Acts 8. 32. we deſerved to have been led forth with the Workers of Iniquity as Criminals to Execution, Pſal. 125. 5. But he was led forth for us that we might eſcape.

2. To add to his Miſery, they obliged him as long as he was able to carry his Croſs, v. 17. according to the Cuſtom among the Romans; hence Furcifer was among them a Name of Reproach. Their Croſſes did not ſtand up conſtantly, as our Gibbets do in the Places of Execution; becauſe the Malefactor was nailed to the Croſs as it lay along upon the Ground, and then it was lifted up and faſtened in the Earth, and removed when the Execution was over, and commonly buried with the Body, ſo that every one that was crucified had a Croſs of his own. Now Chriſt's carrying his Croſs may be conſidered, (1.) As a part of his Sufferings, he endured the Croſs literally. 'Twas a long and thick Piece of Timber, that was neceſſary for ſuch a Uſe, and ſome think it was neithe ſeaſon'd nor hewn. The bleſſed Body of the Lord Jeſus was tender, and unaccuſtomed to ſuch Burthens; it had now lately been harraſſed and tired out. His Shoulders ſore with the Stripes they had given him; every Jog of the Croſs would renew his Smart, and be apt to ſtrike the Thorns he was crowned with into his Head; yet all this he patiently underwent, and it was but the Beginning of Sorrows. (2.) As anſwering the Type which went before him; Iſaac, when he was to be offered, carry'd the Wood on which he was to be bound, and with which he was to be burned. (3.) As very ſignificant of his Undertaking, the Father having laid upon him the Iniquity of us all, Iſa. 53. 6. and he being to take away Sin, by bearing it in his own Body upon the Tree, 1 Pet. 2. 24. He had ſaid in Effect, on me be the Curſe, for he was made a Curſe for us, and therefore on him was the Croſs. (4.) As very inſtructive to us. Our Maſter hereby taught all his Diſciples to take up their Croſs and follow him. Whatever Croſs he calls us out to bear at any time, we muſt remember he bore the Croſs firſt, and by bearing it for us, bears it off from us in a great meaſure, for thus he hath made his Yoke eaſy, and his Burthen light. He bore that End of the Croſs that had the Curſe upon it, that was the heavy End, and thence all that are his are enabled to call their Afflictions for him light, and but for a Moment.

3. They brought him to the Place of Execution; he went forth, not dragg'd againſt his Will, but voluntary in his Sufferings. He went forth out of the City, for he was crucified without the Gate, Heb. 13. 12. And to put the greater Infamy upon his Sufferings, he was brought to the common Place of Execution, as one in all Points number'd among the Tranſgreſſors; a Place called Golgotha, the Place of a Skull, where they threw dead Mens Skulls and Bones, or where the Heads of beheaded Malefactors were left; a Place ceremonially unclean, there Chriſt ſuffered, becauſe he was made Sin for us, that he might purge our Conſciences from dead Works, and the Pollution of them. If one would take notice of the Traditions of the Elders, there are two which are mentioned by many of the ancient Writers concerning this Place. (1.) That Adam was bury'd here, and that this was the Place of his Skull, and they obſerve that there where Death triumphed over the firſt Adam, there the ſecond Adam triumphed over him. Gerhard quotes for this Tradition, Origen, Cyprian, Epiphanius, Auſtin, Jerom and others. (2.) That this was that Mountain in the Land of Moriah, on which Abraham offer'd up Iſaac, and the Ram was a Ranſom for Iſaac.

4. There they crucified him, and the other Malefactors with him; v. 18. There they crucified him. Obſerve, 1. What Death Chriſt died; the Death of the Croſs, a bloody, painful, ſhameful Death, a curſed Death. He was nailed to the Croſs, as a Sacrifice bound to the Altar, as a Saviour fix'd for his Undertaking; his Ear nail'd to God's Door-Poſt to ſerve him for ever. He was lifted up as the Brazen Serpent hung between Heaven and Earth, becauſe we were unworthy of either, and abandon'd by both. His Hands ſtretched out to invite and embrace us; he hung upon the Tree ſome Hours dying gradually in the full Uſe of Reaſon and Speech, that he might actually reſign himſelf a Sacrifice. 2. In what Company he died; two other with him. Probably thoſe had not been executed at that time, but at the Requeſt of the Chief Prieſts to add to the Diſgrace of our Lord Jeſus; which might be the Reaſon why one of them reviled him, becauſe their Death was haſten'd for his ſake. Had they taken two of his Diſciples, and crucified them with him, it had been an Honour to him; but if ſuch as they had been Partakers with him in Suffering, 'twould have look'd as if they had been Undertakers with him in Satisfaction: Therefore it was order'd that his Fellow-ſufferers ſhould be the worſt of Sinners, that he might bear our Reproach, and that the Merit might appear to be his only. This expoſed him much to be the People's Contempt and Hatred, who are apt to judge of Perſons by the Lump, and are not curious in diſtinguiſhing, and would conclude him not only a Malefactor becauſe he was yoak'd with Malefactors, but the worſt of the Three, becauſe put in the midſt. But thus the Scripture was fulfilled, He was number'd among the Tranſgreſſors. He did not die at the Altar among the Sacrifices, nor mingle his Blood with that of Bulls and Goats; but he dy'd among the Criminals, and mingled his Blood with theirs who were ſacrificed to publick Juſtice.

And now let us pauſe a while, and with an Eye of Faith look upon Jeſus; Was ever Sorrow like unto his Sorrow? See him who was cloathed with Glory ſtript of it all, and cloathed with Shame; him who was the Praiſe of Angels, made a Reproach of Men; who had been with eternal Delight and Joy in the Boſom of his Father, now in the Extremities of Pain and Agony. See him bleeding, ſee him ſtruggling, ſee him dying, ſee him and love him, love him and live to him, and ſtudy what we ſhall render.

19 And Pilate wrote a title, and put it on the croſs. And the writing was, JESUS OF NAZARETH, THE KING OF THE JEWS. 20 This title then read many of the Jews: for the place where Jeſus was crucified was nigh to the city: and it was written in Hebrew, and Greek, and Latin. 21 Then ſaid the chief prieſts of the Jews to Pilate, Write not, The king of the Jews; but that he ſaid, I am king of the Jews. 22 Pilate anſwered, What I have written, I have written. 23 Then the ſouldiers, when they had crucified Jeſus, took his garments (and made four parts, to every ſouldier a part) and alſo his coat: now the coat was without ſeam; woven from the top throughout. 24 They ſaid therefore among themſelves, Let us not rent it, but caſt lots for it, whoſe it ſhall be: that the ſcripture might be fulfilled, which ſaith, They parted my raiment among them, and for my veſture they did caſt lots. Theſe things therefore the ſouldiers did. 25 Now there ſtood by the croſs of Jeſus, his mother, and his mothers ſiſter, Mary the wife of Cleophas, and Mary Magdalene. 26 When Jeſus therefore ſaw his mother; and the diſciple ſtanding by, whom he loved, he ſaith unto his mother, Woman, behold thy ſon. 27 Then ſaith he to the diſciple, Behold thy mother. And from that hour that diſciple took her unto his own home. 28 After this, Jeſus knowing that all things were now accompliſhed, that the ſcripture might be fulfilled, ſaith, I thirſt. 29 Now there was ſet a veſſel full of vinegar: and they filled a ſpunge with vinegar, and put it upon hyſſop, and put it to his mouth. 30 When Jeſus therefore had received the vinegar, he ſaid, It is finiſhed: and he bowed his head, and gave up the ghoſt.

Here are ſome remarkable Circumſtances of Chriſt's dying more fully related than before, which they will take ſpecial Notice of who covet to know Chriſt, and him crucified.

Firſt, The Title ſet up over his Head. Obſerve,

1. The Inſcription it ſelf which Pilate wrote, and order'd to be fix'd to the Top of the Croſs, declaring the Cauſe for which he was crucify'd, v. 19. Matthew called it, αἰτία, the Accuſation; Mark and Luke called it, ἐπιγραφὴ, the Inſcription; John calls it by the proper Latin Name, τίτλος, the Title: And it was this, Jeſus of Nazareth, the King of the Jews. Pilate intended this for his Reproach, that he being Jeſus of Nazareth ſhould pretend to be King of the Jews, and ſet up in Competition with Cæſar, to whom Pilate would thus recommend himſelf, as very jealous for his Honour and Intereſt, when he would treat but a Titular King, a King in Metaphor, as the worſt of Malefactors; but God over-ruled this matter. (1.) That it might be a further Teſtimony to the Innocency of our Lord Jeſus; for here was an Accuſation, which as it was worded contained no Crime. If this be that, if this be all they have to lay to his Charge, ſurely he has done nothing worthy of Death or of Bonds. (2.) That it might ſhew forth his Dignity and Honour. This is Jeſus a Saviour, Ναζωραῖος, the Bleſſed Nazarite, ſanctified to God; this is the King of the Jews, Meſſiah the Prince, the Sceptre that ſhould riſe out of Iſrael, as Balaam had foretold; dying for the good of his People, as Caiaphas had foretold: Thus all theſe three ill Men witneſſed to Chriſt, tho they meant not ſo.

2. The Notice taken of this Inſcription, v. 20. Many of the Jews read it, not only thoſe of Jeruſalem, but thoſe out of the Country, and from other Countries, Strangers and Proſelytes that came up to worſhip at the Feaſt: Multitudes read it, and it occaſioned a great Variety of Reflections and Speculations, as Men ſtood affected. Chriſt himſelf was ſet for a Sign, a Title.

Here are two Reaſons why the Title was ſo much read.

(1.) Becauſe the Place where Jeſus was crucified, tho' without the Gate, yet was nigh the City; which intimates, that if it had been of any great Diſtance off they would not have been led, no not by their Curioſity to go ſee it, and read it. 'Tis an Advantage to have the Means of knowing Chriſt brought to our Doors.

(2.) Becauſe it was written in Hebrew, and Greek, and Latin, which made it legible by all, they all underſtand one or other of theſe Languages, and none more careful to bring up their Children to read than the Jews generally were. It likewiſe made it the more conſiderable; every one would be curious to enquire what it was which was ſo induſtriouſly publiſhed in the three moſt known Languages. In the Hebrew, the Oracles of God were recorded; In Greek, the Learning of the Philoſophers; And, in Latin, the Laws of the Empire: In each of theſe Chriſt is proclaimed King, in whom are hid all the Treaſures of Revelation, Wiſdom, and Power. God ſo ordering it that this ſhould be written in the three then moſt known Tongues, 'twas intimated thereby, that Jeſus Chriſt ſhould be a Saviour to all Nations, and not to the Jews only; and alſo that every Nation ſhould hear in their own Tongue the wonderful Works of the Redeemer. Hebrew, Greek, and Latin, were the vulgar Languages at that time in this Part of the World; ſo that this is ſo far from intimating (as the Papiſts would have it) that the Scripture is ſtill to be retained in theſe three Languages, that on the contrary it teaches us that the Knowledge of Chriſt ought to be diffuſed throughout every Nation in their own Tongue, as the proper Vehicle of it, that People may converſe as freely with the Scriptures, as they do with their Neighbours.

3. The Offence which the Proſecutors took at it, v. 21. They would not have it written, The King of the Jews; but that he ſaid of himſelf, I am the King of the Jews. Here they ſhew themſelves, (1.) Very ſpiteful and malicious againſt Chriſt. 'Twas not enough to have him crucified, but they muſt have his Name crucified too, to juſtify themſelves in giving him ſuch ill Treatment; they thought themſelves concerned to give him an ill Character, and to repreſent him as an Uſurper of Honours and Powers that he was not intitled to. (2.) Fooliſhly jealous of the Honour of their Nation, tho' they were a conquer'd and enſlaved People; yet they ſtood ſo much upon the punctilio of their Reputation, that they ſcorned to have it ſaid, That this was their King. (3.) They ſhew themſelves very impertinent and troubleſome to Pilate; they could not but be ſenſible that they had forced him againſt his Mind to condemn Chriſt; and yet in ſuch a trivial Thing as this they continue to teaze him: And it was ſo much the worſe, in that tho' they had charged him with pretending to be the King of the Jews, yet they had not proved it, nor had he ever ſaid ſo.

4. The Judge's Reſolution to adhere to it. What I have written I have written, and will not alter it to humour them.

1. Hereby an Affront was put upon the chief Prieſts who would ſtill be dictating. It ſeems by Pilate's manner of ſpeaking, that he was uneaſy in himſelf for yielding to them, and vex'd at them for forcing him to it; and therefore he was reſolved to be croſs with them. And by this Inſcription inſinuates, (1.) That notwithſtanding their Pretences, they were not ſincere in their Affections to Cæſar and his Government; they were willing enough to have a King of the Jews, if they could have one to their mind. (2.) That ſuch a King as this, ſo mean and deſpicable, was good enough to be the King of the Jews; and this would be the Fate of all that ſhould dare to oppoſe the Roman Power. (3.) That they had been very unjuſt and unreaſonable in proſecuting this Jeſus, when there was no Fault to be found in him,

2. Hereby Honour was done to the Lord Jeſus. Pilate ſtuck to it with Reſolution, that he was King of the Jews; what he had written was what God had firſt written, and therefore he could not alter: For thus it was written, That Meſſias the Prince ſhall be cut off, Dan. 9. 26. This therefore is the true Cauſe of his Death. He dies, becauſe the King of Iſrael muſt die, muſt thus die. When the Jews reject Chriſt, and will not have him for their King, Pilate a Gentile, ſticks to it that he is a King; which was an Earneſt of what came to paſs ſoon after, when the Gentiles ſubmitted to the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, which the unbelieving Jews had rebelled againſt.

Secondly, The dividing of his Garments among the Executioners, v. 23, 24. Four Soldiers were employed, who when they had crucified Jeſus, had nailed him to the Croſs, and lifted it up and him upon it, and nothing more was to be done but to wait his expiring through the Extremity of Pain, as with us when the Priſoner is turned off; then they went to make a Dividend of his Clothes, each claiming an equal Share; and ſo they made four Parts, as near of the ſame Value as they could, to every Soldier a Part: But his Coat, or upper Garment, whether Cloak or Gown, being a pretty Piece of Curioſity, without Seam, woven from the Top throughout, they agreed to caſt Lots for that. Here obſerve,

1. The Shame they put upon our Lord Jeſus in ſtripping him of his Garments before they crucified him. The Shame of Nakedneſs came in with Sin. He therefore who was made Sin for us bare that Shame, to roll away our Reproach. He was ſtripp'd that we might be cloathed with white Raiment, Rev. 3. 18. and that when we are uncloathed we may not be found naked.

2. The Wages with which theſe Soldiers paid themſelves for crucifying Chriſt. They were willing to do it for his old Cloaths. Nothing is to be done ſo ill, but there will be found Men ill enough to do it for a Trifle. Probably they hoped to make more than ordinary Advantage of his Cloaths, having heard of Cures wrought by the Touch of the Hem of his Garment; or expecting that his Admirers would give any Money for them.

3. The Sport they made about his ſeamleſs Coat, we read not of any thing about him valuable or remarkable but that, and that not for the Richneſs, but only the Variety of it, for it was woven from the Top throughout; no Curioſity therefore in the Shape, but an affected Plainneſs. Tradition ſaith his Mother wove it him, and adds this further, that it was made for him when he was a Child; and like the Iſraelites Cloaths in the Wilderneſs waxed not old: But that's a groundleſs Fancy. The Souldiers thought it pity to rent it, for then 'twould unravel, and a piece of it would be good for nothing; they would therefore caſt Lots for it. While Chriſt was in his dying Agonies, they were merrily dividing his Spoils.

The preſerving of Chriſt's Seamleſs Coat is commonly alluded to, to ſhew the Care all Chriſtians ought to take that they rend not the Church of Chriſt with Strifes and Diviſions; yet ſome have obſerved, that the Reaſon why the Soldiers would not rend Chriſt's Coat, was not out of any Reſpect to Chriſt, but becauſe each of them hoped to have it entire for themſelves: And ſo many cry out againſt Schiſm only that they may engroſs all the Wealth and Power to themſelves. Thoſe who oppoſed Luther's Separation from the Church of Rome, urged much the Tunica inconſutilis, the Seamleſs Coat; and ſome of them laid ſo much ſtreſs upon it, that they were called the Inconſutiliſtæ.

4. The fulfilling of the Scripture in this. David in Spirit foretold this very Circumſtance of Chriſt's Sufferings in that Paſſion. Pſ. 22. The Event ſo exactly anſwering the Prediction, proves, (1.) That the Scriptures is the Word of God which foretold contingent Events concerning Chriſt ſo long before, and they came to paſs according to the Prediction. (2.) That Jeſus is the true Meſſias; for in him all the old Teſtament Prophecies concerning the Meſſias had and have their full Accompliſhments. Theſe Things therefore the Soldiers did.

Thirdly, The Care that he took of his poor Mother.

1. His Mother attends him to his Death, v. 25. Theſe ſtood by the Croſs as near as they could get, his Mother, and ſome of his Relations and Friends with her. At firſt they ſtood near, as 'tis ſaid here; but 'tis probable afterwards the Soldiers forced them to ſtand afar off, as it is ſaid in Matthew and Mark, or they themſelves removed out of the Ground.

(1.) See here the tender Affection of this pious Woman to our Lord Jeſus in his Sufferings: When all his Diſciples, except John, had forſaken him, they continued their Attendance on him. Thus the Feeble were as David, Zech. 12. 8. they were not deterred by the Fury of the Enemy, or the Horror of the Sight. They would not reſcue him, or relieve him, yet they attended him to ſhew their good Will. It is an impious and blaſphemous Conſtruction which ſome of the Popiſh Writers put upon the Virgin Mary ſtanding by the Croſs, that thereby ſhe contributed to the Satisfaction he made for Sin no leſs than he did, and to become a Joint-Mediatrix and Coadjutrix in our Salvation.

(2.) We muſt eaſily ſuppoſe what an Affliction it was to thoſe poor Women to ſee him thus abuſed, eſpecially to the Bleſſed Virgin. Now was fulfilled Simeon's Word, a Sword ſhall pierce through thine own Soul, Luke 2. 35. His Torments were her Tortures; ſhe was upon the Rack while he was upon the Croſs, and her Heart bled with his Wounds, and the Reproaches wherewith they reproached him fell on them that attended him.

(3.) We may juſtly admire the Power of Divine Grace in ſupporting theſe Women, eſpecially the Virgin Mary, under this heavy Trial. We do not find his Mother wringing her Hands, or tearing her Hair, or rending her Cloaths, or making an Out-cry; but with a wonderful Compoſure ſtanding by the Croſs, and her Friends with her. Surely ſhe and they were ſtrengthen'd by a Divine Power to this Degree of Patience: And ſurely the Virgin Mary had a fuller Expectation of his Reſurrection than the reſt had, which ſupported her thus. We know not what we can bear till we are try'd, and then we know who has ſaid, My Grace is ſufficient for thee.

2. He tenderly provides for his Mother at his Death. 'Tis probable Joſeph her Husband was long ſince dead, and that her Son Jeſus had ſupported her, and her Relation to him had been her Maintenance. And now he was dying, what would become of her? He ſaw her ſtanding by, and knew her Cares and Griefs; and he ſaw John ſtanding not far off, and ſo he ſettled a new Relation between his beloved Mother, and his beloved Diſciple: For he ſaid to her, Woman, behold thy Son, for whom henceforward thou muſt have a motherly Affection; and to him, behold thy Mother, to whom thou muſt pay a filial Duty; And ſo, from that Hour, that Hour never to be forgotten, that Diſciple took her to his own Home. See here,

1. The Care Chriſt took of his dear Mother. He was not ſo much taken up with a Senſe of his Sufferings as to forget his Friends: All whoſe Concerns he bore upon his Heart. His Mother perhaps was ſo taken up with his Sufferings, that ſhe thought not what would become of her; but he admitted that Thought. Silver and Gold he had none to leave, no Eſtate, real or perſonal, his Cloaths the Soldiers had ſeiz'd, and we hear no more of the Bag, ſince Judas that had carry'd it, hanged himſelf. He had therefore no other way to provide for his Mother but by his Intereſt in a Friend, which he doth here.

(1.) He calls her Woman, not Mother, not out of any Diſreſpect to her, but becauſe Mother would have been a cutting Word to her that was already wounded to the Heart with Grief: Like Iſaac ſaying to Abraham, My Father. He ſpeaks as one that was now no more in this World, but was already dead to thoſe in it that were deareſt to him. His ſpeaking in this ſeemingly ſlight manner to his Mother as he had done formerly, was deſigned to obviate and give check to the undue Honours which he foreſaw would be given her in the Romiſh Church, as if ſhe were a Joint-Purchaſer with him in the Honours of the Redeemer.

(2.) He directs her to look upon John as her Son; Behold him as thy Son who ſtands there by thee, and be as a Mother to him. See here, (1.) An Inſtance of Divine Goodneſs to be obſerved for our Encouragement. Sometimes when God removes one Comfort from us, he raiſeth up another for us, perhaps there where we looked not for it. We read of Children which the Church ſhall have after ſhe has loſt the other, Iſa. 49. 21. Let none therefore reckon all gone with one Ciſtern dried up; for from the ſame Fountain another may be filled. (2.) An Inſtance of filial Duty to be obſerved for our Imitation. Chriſt has here taught Children to the utmoſt of their Power to provide for the Comfort of their aged Parents. When David was in Diſtreſs he took care of his Parents, and found out a Shelter for them, 1 Sam. 22. 3. So the Son of David here. Children at their Death, according to their Ability, ſhould provide for their Parents if they ſurvive them, and need their Kindneſs.

2. The Confidence he repoſed in the beloved Diſciple. 'Tis to him he ſaith, Behold thy Mother; i. e. I recommend her to thy Care, be thou as a Son to her, to guide her, Iſa. 51. 18. and not to forſake her when ſhe is old, Prov. 23. 22. Now, 1. This was an Honour put upon John, and a Teſtimony both to his Prudence, and to his Fidelity. If he who knows all things had not known that John loved him, he would not have made him his Mother's Guardian. It is a great Honour to be employed for Chriſt, and to be truſted with any of his Intereſt in the World. But, 2. It would be a Care and ſome Charge to John; but he chearfully accepted it, and took her to his own Home, not objecting the Trouble or Expence, or his Obligations to his own Family, or the Ill-will he might contract by it. Note, Thoſe that truly love Chriſt, and are loved of him, will be glad of an Opportunity to do any Service to him or his. Nicephoras's Eccl. Hiſt. l. 2. c. 3. ſaith, That the Virgin Mary lived with John at Jeruſalem eleven Years, and then died. Others, that ſhe lived to remove with him to Epheſus.

Fourthly, The fulfilling of the Scripture in the giving of him Vinegar to drink, v. 28, 29. Obſerve,

(1.) How much Reſpect Chriſt ſhewed to the Scripture, v. 28. Knowing that all things hitherto were accompliſhed, that the Scripture might be fulfilled which ſpake of his drinking in his Sufferings, he ſaith, I thirſt; that is, he called for Drink.

1. It was not at all ſtrange that he was thirſty. We find him thirſty in a Journey, John 4. 6, 7. and now thirſty when he was juſt at his Journey's End. Well might he thirſt, after all the Toil and Hurry which he had undergone; and being now in the Agonies of Death, ready to expire purely by the Loſs of Blood, and Extremity of Pain. The Torments of Hell are repreſented by a violent Thirſt in the Complaint of the rich Man that begg'd for a Drop of Water to cool his Tongue. To hat everlaſting Thirſt we had been condemned, had not Chriſt ſuffered for us.

2. But the Reaſon of his complaining of it is ſomewhat ſurprizing; 'tis the only Word he ſpoke that looked like Complaint of his outward Sufferings. When they ſcourged him, and crowned him with Thorns, he did not cry, O my Head, or my Back; but now he cried, I thirſt. For, (1.) He would thus expreſs the Travail of his Soul, Iſa. 53. 11. He thirſted after the Glorifying of God, and the Accompliſhment of the Work of our Redemption, and the happy Iſſue of his Undertaking. (2.) He would thus take care to ſee the Scripture fulfilled. Hitherto all had been accompliſhed, and he knew it; for this was the Thing he had carefully obſerved all along. And now he called to mind one Thing more which this was the proper Seaſon for the Performance of. By this it appears, he was the Meſſiah, in that not only the Scripture was punctually fulfilled in him, but it was ſtrictly eyed by him. But this it appears, that God was with him of a Truth; that in all he did he went exactly according to the Word of God, taking care not to deſtroy, but to fulfill the Law and the Prophets.

Now, 1. The Scripture has foretold his Thirſt, and therefore he himſelf related it, becauſe it could not otherwiſe be known, ſaying, I thirſt; 'twas foretold, that his Tongue ſhould cleave to his Jaws, Pſal. 22. 15. Sampſon, an eminent Type of Chriſt, when he was laying the Philiſtines Heaps upon Heaps, was himſelf ſore a-thirſt, Judg. 15. 18. ſo was Chriſt when he was upon the Croſs, ſpoiling Principalities and Powers.

2. The Scripture had foretold, that in his Thirſt he ſhould have Vinegar given him to drink, Pſal. 69. 21. They had given him Vinegar to drink before they crucified him, Mat. 27. 34. But the Prophecy was not exactly fulfilled in that, becauſe that was not in his Thirſt, therefore now he ſaid, I thirſt, and called for it again, then he would not drink, but now he received it. Chriſt would rather court an Affront, than ſee any Prophecy unfulfilled. This ſhould ſatisfy us under all our Trials, that the Will of God is done, and the Word of God accompliſhed.

(2.) See how little Reſpect his Perſecutors ſhewed to him, v. 20. There was ſet a Veſſel full of Vinegar, probably according to the Cuſtom at all Executions of this Nature; or as others think, it was now ſet deſignedly for an Abuſe to Chriſt inſtead of the Cup of Wine, which they uſed to give to them that were ready to periſh. With that they filled a Spunge, for they would not allow him a Cup, and they put it upon a Hyſſop, an Hyſſop-Stalk, and with that heav'd it to his Mouth, ὑσσώπῳ περιθέντες, they ſhuck it round with Hyſſop, ſo it may be taken; or as others, they mingled it with Hyſſop-water, and this they gave him to drink, when he was thirſty; a Drop of Water would have cooled his Tongue better than a Draught of Vinegar, yet this he ſubmitted to for us; he had taken the ſour Grapes, and thus his Teeth were ſet on edge; we had forfeited all Comforts and Refreſhments, and therefore they were withheld from him; when Heaven denied him a Beam of Light, Earth denied him a Drop of Water, and put Vinegar in the room of it.

Fifthly, The dying Word wherewith he breath'd out his Soul, v. 30. When he had received the Vinegar, as much of it as he thought fit, he ſaid, It is finiſhed, and with that, bowed his Head, and gave up the Ghoſt. Obſerve,

1. What he ſaid, and we may ſuppoſe him to ſay it with Triumph and Exultation, τετελέσαι, It is finiſhed, a comprehenſive Word, and a comfortable one.

(1.) It is finiſhed; that is, the Malice and Enmity of his Perſecutors had now done its worſt; when he had received that laſt Indignity in the Vinegar they gave him, he ſaid, This is the laſt, I am now going out of their Reach, where the Wicked ceaſe from troubling.

(2.) It is finiſhed, i. e. The Counſel and Commandment of his Father concerning his Sufferings was now fulfilled; 'twas a determinate Counſel, and he took Care to ſee every Iota and Tittle of it exactly anſwered, Acts 2. 23. He had ſaid when he enter'd upon his Sufferings, Father, thy Will be done, and now he ſaith with Pleaſure, It is done. 'Twas his Meat and Drink to finiſh his Work, John 4. 34. and the Meat and Drink refreſhed him, when they gave him Gall and Vinegar.

(3.) It is finiſhed, i. e. all the Types and Prophecies of the Old Teſtament, which pointed at the Sufferings of the Meſſiah were accompliſhed and anſwered. He ſpeaks as if now they had given him the Vinegar, he could not bethink himſelf of any Word in the Old Teſtament that was to be fulfilled betwixt him and his Death, but it had its Accompliſhment, e. g. His being ſold for 30 Pieces of Silver; his Hands and Feet pierced, his Garments divided, &c. And now this is done, It is finiſhed.

(4.) It is finiſhed, i. e. The Ceremonial Law is aboliſhed, and a Period put to the Obligation of it. The Subſtance is now come, and all the Shadows are done away. Juſt now the Veil is rent, the Wall of Partition is taken down, even the Law of Commandments contained in Ordinances, Epheſ. 2. 14, 15. The Moſaick Oeconomy is diſſolved to make way for a better Hope.

(5.) It is finiſhed, i. e. Sin is finiſhed, and an End made of Tranſgreſſion, by the bringing in of an everlaſting Righteouſneſs. It ſeems to refer to Dan. 9. 24. The Lamb of God was ſacrificed to take away the Sin of the World, and it is done, Heb. 9. 26.

(6.) It is finiſhed, i. e. His Sufferings were now finiſhed, both thoſe of his Soul and thoſe of his Body; the Storm is over, the worſt is paſt; all his Pains and Agonies are at an end, and he is juſt going to Paradiſe, entring upon the Joy ſet before him. Let all that ſuffer for Chriſt, and with Chriſt, comfort themſelves with this, that yet a little while, and they alſo ſhall ſay, It is finiſhed.

(7.) It is finiſhed, i. e. his Life was now finiſhed, he was juſt ready to breathe his laſt, and now he is no more in this World, John 17. 11. This is like that of bleſſed Paul, 2 Tim. 4. 7. I have finiſhed my Courſe, my Race is run, my Glaſs is out, Mene, mene, number'd and finiſhed. This we muſt all come to ſhortly.

(8.) It is finiſhed, i. e. The Work of Man's Redemption and Salvation is now compleated, at leaſt the hardeſt part of the Undertaking is over. A full Satisfaction is made to the Juſtice of God; a fatal Blow given to the Power of Satan; a Fountain of Grace opened that ſhall ever flow; a Fountain of Peace and Happineſs laid that ſhall never fail. Chriſt had now gone through with his Work, and finiſhed it, John 17. 4. For as for God his Work is perfect, when I begin (ſaith he) I will alſo make an End. And as in the Purchaſe, ſo in the Application of the Redemption, he that has begun a good Work will perform it; the Myſtery of God ſhall be finiſhed.

2. What he did, he bowed his Head and gave up the Ghoſt. He was voluntary in dying; for he was not only the Sacrifice, but the Prieſt and the Offerer, and the Animus Offerenti was all in all in the Sacrifice: Chriſt ſhew'd his Will in his Sufferings, by the which Will we are ſanctified.

1. He gave up the Ghoſt. His Life was not forcibly extorted from him, but freely reſigned. He had ſaid, Father, into thy Hands I commit my Spirit; thereby expreſſing the Intention of this Act. I give up my ſelf as a Ranſom for many; and accordingly he did give up his Spirit, paid down the Price of Pardon and Life at his Father's Hands: Father, glorify thy Name.

2. He bowed his Head. They that were crucified, in dying ſtretched up their Heads to gaſp for Breath, and did not drop their Heads till they had breathed their laſt; but Chriſt, to ſhew himſelf active in dying, bowed his Head firſt, compoſing himſelf as it were to fall aſleep. God had laid upon him the Iniquity of us all, putting them upon the Head of this Great Sacrifice; and ſome think by this bowing of his Head, he would intimate his Senſe of the Weight upon him: See Pſal. 38. 4. & 40. 12. The bowing of his Head ſhews his Submiſſion to his Father's Will, and his Obedience to Death. He accommodated himſelf to his dying Work as Jacob, who gathered up his Feet to the Bed, and then yielded up the Ghoſt.

31 The Jews therefore, becauſe it was the preparation, that the bodies ſhould not remain upon the croſs on the ſabbath-day, (for that ſabbath-day was an high-day) beſought Pilate that their legs might be broken, and that they might be taken away. 32 Then came the ſoldiers and brake the legs of the firſt, and of the other which was crucified with him. 33 But when they came to Jeſus, and ſaw that he was dead already, they brake not his legs. 34 But one of the ſoldiers with a ſpear pierced his ſide, and forthwith came there out blood and water. 35 And he that ſaw it bare record, and his record is true: and he knoweth that he ſaith true, that ye might believe. 36 For theſe things were done that the ſcripture ſhould be fulfilled, A bone of him ſhall not be broken. 37 And again another ſcripture ſaith, They ſhall look on him whom they have pierced.

This Paſſage concerning the piercing of Chriſt's Side after his Death, is recorded only by this Evangeliſt.

Firſt, Obſerve the Superſtition of the Jews which occaſioned it, v. 31. Becauſe it was the Preparation for the Sabbath, and that Sabbath-day, becauſe it fell in the Paſſover-Week, was a High-day, that they might ſhew a Veneration for the Sabbath, would not have the dead Bodies to remain on the Croſſes on the Sabbath-day, but beſought Pilate that their Legs might be broke, which would be a certain but cruel Diſpatch, and that then they might be buried out of ſight.

Note here, 1. The Eſteem they would be thought to have for the approaching Sabbath, becauſe it was one of the Days of unleavened Bread, and (ſome reckon) the Day of the Offering of the Firſt-Fruits. Every Sabbath-Day is a Holy Day, and a Good Day; but this was a High Day, μεγάλη ἡμέρα, a Great Day. Paſſover-Sabbaths are High Days, Sacrament Days, Supper Days, Communion Days are High Days, and there ought to be more than ordinary Preparation for them; that theſe may be High Days indeed to us, as the Days of Heaven.

2. The Reproach which they reckoned it would be to that Day, if the dead Bodies ſhould be left hanging upon the Croſs. Dead Bodies were not to be left any time, Deut. 21. 23. yet in this Caſe the Jews would have left the Roman Cuſtom to take place, had it not been an extraordinary Day, and many Strangers from all Parts being then at Jeruſalem it would have been an Offence to them. Nor could they well bear the Sight of Chriſt's crucified Body; for unleſs their Conſciences were quite ſear'd when the Heat of their Rage was a little over, they would upbraid them.

3. Their Petition to Pilate, that their Bodies now as good as dead might be diſpatched; not by ſtrangling or beheading them, which would have been a compaſſionate haſtening them out of their Miſery, like the Coup de Grace (as the French call it) to them that are broke upon the Wheel, the Stroke of Mercy, but by the breaking of their Legs, which would carry them off in the more exquiſite Pain. Note, (1.) The tender Mercies of the wicked are cruel. (2.) The pretended Sanctity of Hypocrites is abominable. Theſe Jews would be thought to bear a great Regard to the Sabbath, and yet had no Regard to Juſtice and Righteouſneſs; they made no Conſcience of bringing an innocent and excellent Perſon to the Croſs, and yet ſcrupled letting a dead Body hang upon the Croſs.

Secondly, The Diſpatch of the two Thieves that were crucified with him, v. 32. Pilate was ſtill gratifying the Jews, and gave Orders as they deſired. And the Soldiers came hardned againſt all Impreſſions of Piety, and broke the Legs of the two Thieves, which no doubt extorted from them hideous Outcries, and made them die according to the bloody Diſpoſition of Nero, ſo as to feel themſelves die. One of theſe Thieves was a Penitent, and had received from Chriſt an Aſſurance that he ſhould ſhortly be with him in Paradiſe, and yet died in the ſame Pain and Miſery that the other Thief did, for all Things come alike to all. Many go to Heaven that have Bands in their Death, and die in the Bitterneſs of their Soul. The Extremity of dying Agonies, is no Obſtruction to the living Comforts that wait for holy Souls on t'other ſide Death. Chriſt died, and went to Paradiſe, but appointed a Guard to convey him thither. This is the Order of going to Heaven, Chriſt the Firſt-Fruits, and Fore-runner, afterwards they that are Chriſt's.

Thirdly, The Trial that was made whether Chriſt was dead or no, and the putting of it out of doubt.

1. They ſuppoſed him to be dead, and therefore did not break his Legs, v. 33. Obſerve here, 1. That Jeſus died in leſs Time than Peſons crucified ordinarily did. The Structure of his Body perhaps being extraordinary fine and tender, was the ſooner broke by Pain; or rather, it was to ſhew that he laid down his Life of himſelf, and could die when he pleaſed, tho' his Hands were nailed. Tho' he yielded to Death, yet he was not conquer'd. 2. That his Enemies were ſatisfied he was really dead. The Jews who ſtood by to ſee the Execution effectually done, would not have balked this piece of Cruelty if they had not been ſure he was got out of the Reach of it. 3. Whatever Devices are in Men's Hearts, the Counſel of the Lord ſhall ſtand. 'Twas fully deſigned to break his Legs, but God's Counſel being otherwiſe, ſee how it was prevented.

2. Becauſe they would be ſure he was dead, they made ſuch an Experiment as would put it paſt Diſpute; One of the Soldiers, with a Spear pierced his Side, aiming at his Heart, and forthwith came there out Blood and Water, v. 34.

1. The Soldiers hereby deſigned to decide the Queſtion whether he was dead or no, and by this honourable Wound in his Side, to ſuperſede the ignominious Method of Diſpatch they took with the other two. Tradition ſaith, this Soldier's Name was Longinus, and that having ſome Diſtemper in his Eyes, he was immediately cured of it by ſome Drops of Blood that flowed out of Chriſt's Side lighting on them. Significant enough, if we had any good Authority for the Story.

2. But God had a further Deſign herein; which was,

1. To give an Evidence of the Truth of his Death, in order to the Proof of his Reſurrection. If he was only in a Trance or Swoon, his Reſurrection was a ſham, but by this Experiment he was certainly dead, for this Spear broke up the very Fountains of Life, and according to all the Law, and Courſe of Nature, 'twas impoſſible a Human Body ſhould ſurvive ſuch a Wound as this in the Vitals, and ſuch an Evacuation thence.

2. To give an Illuſtration of the Deſign of his Death. There was much of Myſtery in it, and its being ſo ſolemnly atteſted, v. 35. intimates, there was ſomething miraculous in it, that the Blood and Water ſhould come out diſtinct and ſeparate from the ſame Wound; however, that was very ſignificant. This ſame Apoſtle refers to it as a very conſiderable Thing, 1 John 5. 6, 8.

1. The opening of his Side was ſignificant. When we would proteſt our Sincerity, we wiſh there were a Window in our Hearts, that the Thoughts and Intentions of them might be viſible to all. Thro' this Window opened in Chriſt's Side, you may look into his Heart and ſee Love flaming there, Love ſtrong as Death. See our own Names written there. Some make it an Alluſion to the opening of Adam's Side in Innocency: When Chriſt, the ſecond Adam was fallen into a deep Sleep upon the Croſs, then was his Side opened, and out of it was his Church taken which he eſpouſed to himſelf; ſee Eph. 5. 30, 32. Our devout Poet, Mr. George Herbert, in his Poem called the Bag, very affectingly brings in our Saviour, when his Side was pierced, thus ſpeaking to his Diſciples;

If ye have any Thing to ſend, or write,
(I have no Bag, but here is room)
Unto my Father's Hands, and Sight
(Believe me) it ſhall ſafely come.
That I ſhall mind what you impart,
Look, you may put it very near my Heart,
Or if hereafter any of my Friends,
Will uſe me in this Kind, the Door
Shall ſtill be open; what he ſends
I will preſent, and ſomewhat more,
Not to his Hurt. Sighs will convey Any Thing to me. Heark, Deſpair away.

2. The Blood and Water that flowed out of it were ſignificant.

1. They ſignified the two great Benefits which all Believers partake of through Chriſt, Juſtification and Sanctification. Blood for Remiſſion, Water for Regeneration; Blood for Atonement, Water for Purification. Blood and Water were uſed very much under the Law. Guilt contracted muſt be expiated by Blood; Stains contracted muſt be done away by the Water of Purification. Theſe Two muſt always go together, Ye are ſanctified, ye are juſtified, 1 Cor. 6. 11. Chriſt has joined them together, and we muſt not think to put them aſunder. They both flow from the pierced Side of our Redeemer. To Chriſt crucified we owe both Merit for our Juſtification, and Spirit, and Grace for our Sanctification; and we have as much need of the latter as of the former, 1 Cor. 1. 30.

2. They ſignified the two great Ordinances of Baptiſm and the Lord's Supper, by which thoſe Benefits are repreſented, ſealed, and applied to Believers, they both owe their Inſtitution and Efficacy to Chriſt. 'Tis not the Water in the Font that will be to us the Waſhing of Regeneration, but the Water out of the Side of Chriſt; not the Blood of the Grape that will pacify the Conſcience, and refreſh the Soul, but the Blood out of the Side of Chriſt. Now was the Rock ſmitten, 1 Cor. 10. 4. Now was the Fountain opened, Zech. 13. 1. Now were the Wells of Salvation digg'd, Iſa. 12. 3. Here's the River, the Streams whereof make glad the City of our God.

Fourthly, The Atteſtation of the Truth of this by an Eye-witneſs, v. 35. the Evangeliſt himſelf. Obſerve,

1. What a competent Witneſs he was of the Matters of Fact. (1.) What he bare Record of he ſaw; he had it not by Hear-ſay, nor was it only his own Conjecture, but he was an Eye-witneſs of it; 'tis what we have ſeen and looked upon, 1 John 1. 1. 2 Pet. 1. 16. and had perfect Underſtanding of, Luke 1. 3. (2) What he ſaw he faithfully bare Record of. As a faithful Witneſs he told not only the Truth, but the whole Truth; and did not only atteſt it by Word of Mouth, but left it upon Record in Writing, in perpetuam rei memoriam. (3.) His Record is undoubtedly true; for he wrote not only from his own perſonal Knowledge and Obſervation, but from the Dictates of the Spirit of Truth, that leads into all Truth. (4) He had himſelf a full Aſſurance of the Truth of what he wrote, and did not perſwade others to believe that which he did not believe himſelf; He knows that he ſaith true. (5.) He therefore witneſſed theſe Things that we might believe. He did not record them merely for his own Satisfaction, or the private uſe of his Friends, but made them publick to the World; not to pleaſe the Curious, or entertain the Ingenious, but to draw Men to believe the Goſpel, in Order to their eternal Welfare.

2. What Care he ſhewed in this particular Inſtance. That we may be well aſſured, both of the Truth of Chriſt's Death, he ſaw his Heart's Blood, his Life's Blood let out; and alſo of the Benefits that flow to us from his Death, ſignified by the Blood and Water which came out of his Side. Let this ſilence the Fears of weak Chriſtians, and encourage their Hopes, Iniquity ſhall not be their Ruin, for there came both Water and Blood out of Chriſt's pierced Side, both to juſtify and ſanctify them; and if you aſk, how can we be ſure of this, you may be ſure, for he that ſaw it bare Record.

Fifthly, The Accompliſhment of the Scripture in all this, v. 36. That the Scripture ſhould be fulfilled, and ſo both the Honour of the Old Teſtament may be preſerved, and the Truth of the New Teſtament confirmed. Here are two Inſtances of it together:

1. The Scripture was fulfilled in the preſerving of his Legs from being broke. Therein that Word was fulfilled, A Bone of him ſhall not be broken.

(1.) There was a Promiſe of this made indeed to all the Righteous, but principally pointing at Jeſus Chriſt the Righteous. Pſal. 34. 20. He keepeth all his Bones, not one of them is broken. And David in Spirit ſaith, All my Bones ſhall ſay, Lord, who is like unto thee, Pſal. 35. 10.

(2.) There was a Type of this in the Paſchal Lamb, which ſeems to be eſpecially referred to here, Exod. 12. 46. Neither ſhall ye break a Bone thereof; and 'tis repeated, Num. 9. 12. Ye ſhall not break any Bone of it; for which Law the Will of the Law-maker is the Reaſon, but the Antitype muſt anſwer the Type. Chriſt our Paſſover is ſacrificed for us, 1 Cor. 5. 7. He is the Lamb of God, John 1. 29. and as the true Paſſover his Bones were kept unbroken. This Commandment was given concerning his Bones when dead, as of Joſeph's, Heb. 11. 22.

(3.) There was a Significancy in it; the Strength of the Body is in the Bones; the Hebrew Word for the Bones ſignifies the Strength; and therefore not a Bone of Chriſt muſt be broken, to ſhew, that tho' he be crucified in Weakneſs, his Strength to ſave is not at all broken. Sin breaks our Bones, it broke David's, Pſal. 51. 8. but it did not break his Bones; he ſtood firm under the Burthen; mighty to ſave.

2. The Scripture was fulfilled in the piercing of his Side, v. 37. They ſhall look on him whom they have pierced, ſo it is written, Zech. 12. 10. And there the ſame that pours out the Spirit of Grace, and can be no leſs than the God of the holy Prophets, ſaith, They ſhall look upon me, which is here applied to Chriſt, they ſhall look upon him. 1. It is here implied that the Meſſiah ſhall be pierced; and here it had a more full Accompliſhment than in the piercing of his Hands and Feet. He was pierced by the Houſe of David, and the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem, wounded in the Houſe of his Friends, as it follows, Zech. 13. 6. 2. It is promiſed, that when the Spirit is poured out they ſhall look on him and mourn. This was in part fulfilled when many of thoſe that were his Betrayers and Murtherers were prick'd to the Heart, and brought to believe in him; it will be further fulfilled in Mercy, when all Iſrael ſhould be ſaved, and in Wrath, when they who perſiſted in their Infidelity ſhall ſee him whom they have pierced, and wail becauſe of him, Rev. 1. 7. But it is applicable to us all; we have all been guilty of piercing the Lord Jeſus, and are all concerned with ſuitable Affections to look on him.

38 And after this, Joſeph of Arimathea (being a diſciple of Jeſus, but ſecretly for fear of the Jews) beſought Pilate that he might take away the body of Jeſus: and Pilate gave him leave; he came therefore and took the body of Jeſus. 39 And there came alſo Nicodemus (which at the firſt came to Jeſus by night) and brought a mixture of myrrhe, and aloes, about an hundred pound weight. 40 Then took they the body of Jeſus, and wound it in linen clothes, with the ſpices, as the manner of the Jews is to bury. 41 Now in the place where he was crucified, there was a garden; and in the garden a new ſepulchre, wherein was never man yet laid. 42 There laid they Jeſus therefore, becauſe of the Jews preparation day, for the ſepulchre was nigh at hand.

We have here an Account of the Burial of the bleſſed Body of our Lord Jeſus. The ſolemn Funerals of great Men uſe to be looked at with Curioſity; the mournful Funerals of dear Friends uſe to be attended with Concern. Come, come ſee an extraordinary Funeral, never was the like; come and ſee a Burial that conquered the Grave, and buried it; a Burial that beautified the Grave, and ſoftened it for all Believers. Let us turn aſide now, and ſee this great Sight. Here is,

Firſt, The Body begged, v. 38. This was done by the Intereſt of Joſeph of Ramah, or Arimathea, of whom no mention is made in all the New Teſtament Story, but only in the Narrative which each of the Evangeliſts give us of Chriſt's Burial, wherein he was chiefly concerned. Obſerve,

1. The Character of this Joſeph. He was a Diſciple of Chriſt incognito, a better Friend to Chriſt than he would willingly be known to be. 'Twas his Humour that he was a Diſciple of Chriſt; and ſome ſuch there are, that are themſelves great Men, and unavoidably linked with ill Men; but 'twas his Weakneſs that he was ſo ſecretly, when he ſhould have confeſſed Chriſt before Men, yea, though he had loſt his Preferment by it. Diſciples ſhould openly own themſelves, yet Chriſt may have many that are his Diſciples ſincerely, tho' ſecretly; better ſecretly than not at all, eſpecially, if, like Joſeph here, they grow ſtronger and ſtronger. Some who in leſſer Trials have been Timorous, yet in greater have been bery Couragious; ſo Joſeph here. He concealed his Affection to Chriſt for fear of the Jews, leſt they ſhould put him out of the Synagogue, at leaſt out of the Sanhedrim, which was all they could do. To Pilate the Governour he went boldly, and yet feared the Jews. The impotent Malice of thoſe that can but cenſure and revile, and clamour, is ſometimes more formidable even to wiſe and good Men than one would think.

2. The Part he bore in this Affair. He having by his Place acceſs to Pilate, deſired leave of him to diſpoſe of the Body. His Mother and dear Relations have neither Spirit nor Intereſt to attempt ſuch a Thing. His Diſciples were gone; if no Body appear, the Jews, or Soldiers would bury him with the Thieves; therefore God raiſed up this Gentleman to interpoſe in it, that the Scripture might be fulfilled, and the decorum owing to his approaching Reſurrection maintained. Note, When God has Work to do, he can find out ſuch as are proper to do it, and ſpirit them for it. Obſerve it as an Inſtance of the Humiliation of Chriſt, that his dead Body lay at the Mercy of a Heathen Judge, and muſt be begged before it could be buried. And alſo, That Joſeph would not take the Body of Chriſt till he had asked, and obtained leave of the Governour; for in thoſe Things wherein the Power of the Magiſtrate is concerned, we muſt ever pay a deference to that Power, and peaceably ſubmit to it.

Secondly, The embalming prepared, v. 39. This was done by Nicodemus, another Perſon of Quality, and in a publick Poſt. He brought a mixture of Myrrh and Aloes, which ſome think bitter Ingredients to preſerve the Body; other fragant ones to perfume it. Here's,

1. The Character of Nicodemus, which is much the ſame with that of Joſeph; he was a ſecret Friend to Chriſt, tho' not his conſtant Follower. He at firſt came to Jeſus by Night, but now owned him publickly, as before, John 7. 51. That Grace which at firſt is like a bruiſed Reed, may afterwards become like a ſtrong Cedar; and the trembling Lambs bold as a Lion. See Rom. 14. 4. It is a wonder that Joſeph and Nicodemus, Men of ſuch Intereſt, did not appear ſooner; and ſollicite Pilate not to condemn Chriſt, eſpecially, ſeeing him ſo loath to it. Begging his Life would have been a nobler Piece of Service than begging his Body; but Chriſt would have none of his Friends to endeavour to prevent his Death when his Hour was come. While his Perſecutors were forwarding the Accompliſhments of the Scriptures, his Followers muſt not obſtruct it.

2. The Kindneſs of Nicodemus, which was conſiderable, tho' of a different Nature. Joſeph ſerved Chriſt with his Intereſt, Nicodemus with his Purſe. Probably they agreed it between them, that while one was procuring the Grant, the other ſhould be preparing the Spices; and that for Expedition, becauſe they were ſtraitened in Time.

But why did they make this ado about Chriſt's dead Body?

1. Some think we may ſee in it the weakneſs of their Faith A firm Belief of the Reſurrection of Chriſt the Third Day, would have ſaved them this Care and Coſt, and have been more acceptable than all Spices. Thoſe Bodies indeed to whom the Grave is a long Home need to be clad accordingly; but what need of ſuch Furniture of the Grave for one, that like a way-faring Man, did but turn aſide into it to tarry for a Night, or two.

2. However, we may plainly ſee in it the ſtrength of their Love. Hereby they ſhewed the value they had for his Perſon and Doctrine, and that it was not leſſened by the Reproach of the Croſs. They that had been ſo induſtrious to prophane his Crown, and lay his Honour in the Duſt, may already ſee that they imagine a vain Thing; for as God had done him Honour in his Sufferings, ſo did Men too, even great Men. They ſhewed not only the charitable Reſpects of committing his Body to the Earth, but the honourable Reſpects ſhewed to great Men. This they might do, and yet believe and look for his Reſurrection; nay, this they might do in the belief and expectation of it. Since God deſigned Honour for this Body, they would put Honour upon it. However, we muſt do our Duty according as the preſent Day and Opportunity is, and leave it to God to fulfil his Promiſes in his own Way and Time.

Thirdly, The Body got ready, v. 40. They took it into ſome Houſe adjoining, and having waſhed it from Blood and Duſt, wound it in linen Clothes very decently, with the Spices melted down, 'tis likely, into an Ointment, as the manner of the Jews is to bury, or to embalm, ſo Dr. Hammond, as we ſear dead Bodies.

1. Here was Care taken of Chriſt's Body, 'twas wound in linen Clothes. Among other cloathing that belongs to us, Chriſt put on even the Grave Clothes, to make them eaſy to us, and to enable us to call them our Wedding Clothes. They wound the Body with the Spices, for all his Garments, his Grave-clothes not excepted, ſmell of Myrrh and Aloes; the Spices here mentioned out of the Ivory Palaces, Pſal. 45. 8. and an Ivory Palace, the Sepulchre hewn out of a Rock, was to Chriſt. Dead Bodies and Graves uſe to be noiſome and offenſive; hence Sin is compared to a Body of Death, and an open Sepulchre; but Chriſt's Sacrifice being to God as a ſweet ſmelling Savour, hath taken away our Pollution. No Ointment or Perfume can rejoyce the Heart, ſo as the Grave of our Redeemer doth, where there is Faith to perceive the fragrant Odours of it.

2. In Conformity to this Example, we ought to have regard to the dead Bodies of Chriſtians; not to enſhrine and adore their Reliques, no not thoſe of the moſt eminent Saints and Martyrs; nothing like that was done to the dead Body of Chriſt himſelf; but carefully depoſit the Duſt in the Duſt, as thoſe who believe dead Bodies of the Saints are ſtill united to Chriſt, and deſigned for Glory and Immortality at the laſt Day. The Reſurrection of the Saints will be in the Virtue of Chriſt's Reſurrection, and therefore in burying them we ſhould have an Eye to Chriſt's Burial, for he being dead thus ſpeaketh. Thy dead Man ſhall live, Iſa. 26. 19. In burying our dead it is not neceſſary that in all Circumſtances we imitate the Burial of Chriſt, as if we muſt be buried in Linen, and in a Garden, and be embalmed as he was; but he being buried after the manner of the Jews, it teacheth us, that in Things of this Nature we ſhould conform to the Uſages of the Country where we live, except in thoſe that are Superſtitious.

Fourthly, The Grave pitched upon, in a Garden which belonged to Joſeph of Arimathea, very near the Place where he was crucified. There was a Sepulchre, or Vault prepared for the firſt Occaſion, but not yet uſed. Obſerve.

1. That Chriſt was buried without the City, for thus the Manner of the Jews was to bury, not in their Cities, much leſs in their Synagogues, which ſome have thought better than our Way of burying, yet there was then a peculiar Reaſon for it, which doth not hold now, becauſe the Tomb of a Grave contracted a Ceremonial Pollution; but now the Reſurrection of Chriſt has altered the Property of the Grave, and done away its Pollution for all Believers, we need not keep at ſuch a diſtance from it; nor is it uncapable of a good Improvement, to have the Congregation of the dead in the Church-yard, encompaſſing the Congregation of the living in the Church, ſince they alſo are dying, and in the midſt of Life we are in Death. Thoſe that would (not ſuperſtitiouſly but) by Faith viſit the holy Sepulchre, muſt go forth out of the noiſe of this World.

2. That Chriſt was buried in a Garden. Obſerve,

(1.) That Joſeph had his Sepulchre in a Garden; ſo he contrived it, that it might be a Memorandum, (1.) To himſelf while living; when he was taking the Pleaſure of his Garden, and reaping the Products of it, let him think of dying, and be quickned to prepare for it. The Garden is a proper Place for Meditation, and a Sepulchre there may furniſh us with a proper Subject for Meditation, and ſuch a one as we are loth to admit in the midſt of our Pleaſure. (2.) To his Heirs and Succeſſors when he was gone. 'Tis good to acquaint our ſelves with the Place of our Fathers Sepulchres; and perhaps we might make our own leſs formidable, if we made theirs more familiar.

(2.) That in a Sepulchre in a Garden Chriſt's Body was laid. In the Garden of Eden Death and the Grave firſt received their Power, and now in a Garden they are conquered, diſarmed, and triumphed over. In a Garden Chriſt began his Paſſion, and from a Garden he would riſe and begin his Exaltation. Chriſt fell to the Ground as a Corn of Wheat, John 12. 24. and therefore was ſown in a Garden among the Seeds, for his Dew is as the Dew of Herbs, Iſa. 26. 19. He is the Fountain of Gardens, Cant. 4. 15.

3. That he was buried in a new Sepulchre. This was ſo ordered, (1.) For the Honour of Chriſt; He was not a common Perſon, and therefore muſt not mix with common Duſt. He that was born from a Virgin Womb, muſt riſe from a Virgin Tomb. (2.) For the confirming of the Truth of his Reſurrection; that it might not be ſuggeſted that it was not he but ſome other that roſe, now when many Bodies of Saints ariſe; or, that he roſe by the Power of ſome other, as the Man that was raiſed by the Touch of Eliſha's Bones, and not by his own Power. He that has made all Things new, has new made the Grave for us.

Fifthly, The Funeral ſolemnized, Ver. 42. There laid they Jeſus, that is, the dead Body of Jeſus. Some think the calling of that Jeſus intimates the inſeparable Union between the Divine and Human Nature. Even this dead Body was Jeſus, a Saviour, for his Death is our Life; Jeſus is ſtill the ſame, Heb. 13. 8. There they laid him, becauſe 'twas the Preparation Day.

1. Obſerve here the deference which the Jews paid to the Sabbath, and to the Day of Preparation. Before the Paſſover Sabbath they had a ſolemn Day of Preparation. This Day had been ill kept by the Chief Prieſts, who called themſelves the Church, but was well kept by the Diſciples of Chriſt, who were branded as dangerous to the Church; and 'tis often ſo. (1.) They would not put off the Funeral till the Sabbath Day, becauſe the Sabbath is to be a Day of holy Reſt and Joy, with which the Buſineſs and Sorrow of a Funeral do not well agree. (2.) They would not drive it too late on the Day of Preparation for the Sabbath. What is to be done the Evening before the Sabbath, ſhould be ſo contrived, as that it may neither intrench upon Sabbath-time, nor indiſpoſe us for Sabbath-work.

2. Obſerve the Convenience they took of an adjoining Sepulchre; the Sepulchre they made uſe of was nigh at hand. Perhaps if they had had Time they would have carried him to Bethany, and buried him among his Friends there. And I am ſure he had more right to have been buried in the Chief of the Sepulchres of the Sons of David, than any of the Kings of Judah had; but it was ſo ordered, that he ſhould be laid in a Sepulchre nigh at hand. (1.) Becauſe he was to lye there but a while, as in an Inn, and therefore he took the firſt that offered it ſelf. (2.) Becauſe this was a new Sepulchre. They that prepared it, little thought who ſhould hanſel it; but the Wiſdom of God has Reaches infinitely beyond ours, and makes what uſe he pleaſeth of us and all we have. (3.) We are hereby taught not to be over curious in the Place of our Burial. Where the Tree falls why ſhould it not lye? For Chriſt was buried in the Sepulchre that was next at hand. 'Twas Faith in the Promiſe of Canaan, that directed the Patriarchs deſire to be carried thither for a burying Place; but now that Promiſe is ſuperſeded by a better, that Care is over.

Thus without Pomp or Solemnity is the Body of Jeſus laid in the cold and ſilent Grave. Here lies our Surety under Arreſt for our Debts, ſo that if he be releaſed, his Diſcharge will be ours. Here is the Sun of Righteouſneſs ſet for a while to riſe again in greater Glory, and ſet no more. Here lies a ſeeming Captive to Death, but a real Conqueror over Death; for here lies Death it ſelf ſlain, and the Grave conquered. Thanks be to God who giveth us the Victory.

CHAP. XX.

The Evangeliſt, tho' he began not his Goſpel as the reſt did, yet concludes it as they did, with the Hiſtory of Chriſt's Reſurrection; not of the Thing it ſelf, for none of them deſcribe how he roſe, but of the Proofs and Evidences of it, which demonſtrated that he was riſen. The Proofs of Chriſt's Reſurrection which we have in this Chapter, are 1. Such as occurred immediately at the Sepulchre. (1.) The Sepulchre found empty, and the Grave Clothes in good Order, v. 1—10. (2.) Two Angels appearing to Mary Magdalen at the Sepulchre, v. 11—13. (3.) Chriſt himſelf appearing to her, v. 14—18. 2. Such as occurred afterwards at the Meetings of the Apoſtles. (1.) At one, the ſame Day at Evening that Chriſt roſe, when Thomas was abſent, v. 19—25. At another, that Day Seven-night, when Thomas was with them, v. 26—31. And what is related here is moſtly what was omitted by the other Evangeliſts.

THE firſt day of the week cometh Mary Magdalen early when it was yet dark, unto the ſepulchre, and ſeeth the ſtone taken away from the ſepulchre. 2 Then ſhe runneth and cometh to Simon Peter, and to the other diſciple whom Jeſus loved, and ſaith unto them, They have taken away the Lord out of the ſepulchre, and we know not where they have laid him. 3 Peter therefore went forth, and that other diſciple, and came to the ſepulchre. 4 So they ran both together: and the other diſciple did out-run Peter, and came firſt to the ſepulchre. 5 And he ſtooping down, and looking in, ſaw the linen clothes lying; yet went he not in. 6 Then cometh Simon Peter following him, and went into the ſepulchre, and ſeeth the linen clothes lye; 7 And the napkin that was about his head, not lying with the linen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by it ſelf. 8 Then went in alſo that other diſciple which came firſt to the ſepulchre, and he ſaw, and believed. 9 For as yet they knew not the ſcripture, that he muſt riſe again from the dead. 10 Then the diſciples went away again unto their own home.

There was no one Thing which the Apoſtles were more concerned to produce ſubſtantial Proof of, than the Reſurrection of their Maſter. (1.) Becauſe this was it which he himſelf had appealed to as the laſt and moſt cogent Proof of his being the Meſſiah. They that would not believe other Signs, were referred to this Sign of the Prophet Jonas. And therefore the Enemies were moſt ſollicitous to ſtifle the Notice of this, becauſe it was put to this Iſſue; and if he be riſen, they are not only Murtherers, but Murtherers of the Meſſiah. (2.) Becauſe this was that, upon which the Performance of his Undertaking for our Redemption and Salvation did depend. If he give his Life for a Ranſom, and do not reſume it, it doth not appear that his giving of it was accepted as a Satisfaction. If he be impriſoned for our Debt, and lye by it, we are undone, 1 Cor. 15. 17. (3.) Becauſe he never ſhewed himſelf alive after his Reſurrection to all the People, Acts 10. 40, 41. We would have ſaid, let his ignominious Death be private, and his glorious Reſurrection publick. But God's Thoughts are not as ours; and he ordered that his Death ſhould be publick, before the Sun, by the ſame Token that he bluſhed and hid his Face upon it. But the Demonſtrations of his Reſurrection ſhould be reſerved as a Favour for his particular Friends, and by them be publiſhed to the World, that they might be bleſſed who have not ſeen and yet have believed. The Method of Proof is ſuch as gives abundant Satisfaction to thoſe who are piouſly diſpoſed to receive the Doctrine and Law of Chriſt, and yet leaves room for thoſe to object who are willingly ignorant and obſtinate in their Unbelief. And this is a fair Trial, ſuited to the Caſe of thoſe who are Probationers.

In theſe Verſes we have the firſt ſtep towards the Proof of Chriſt's Reſurrection, which is, that the Sepulchre was found empty. He is not here, and if ſo, they muſt tell us where he is, or we conclude him riſen.

Firſt, Mary Magdalen coming to the Sepulchre finds the Stone taken away. This Evangeliſt doth not mention the other Women that went with Mary Magdalen, but her only, becauſe ſhe was the moſt active and forward in this Viſit to the Sepulchre, and in her appeared the moſt Affection: And, (1.) It was an Affection kindled by a good Cauſe, in conſideration of the great Things Chriſt had done for her. Much was forgiven her, therefore ſhe loved much. (2.) She had ſhewed her Affection to him while he lived, attended his Doctrine, miniſtered to him of her Subſtance, Luke 8. 2, 3. It doth not appear ſhe had any Buſineſs now at Jeruſalem, but to wait upon him, for the Women were not bound to go up to the Feaſt, and probably ſhe and others now followed him the cloſer, as Eliſha did Elijah, now they know their Maſter ſhould ſhortly be taken from their Head, 2 Kings 2. 1, 2. (3.) The continued Inſtances of her Reſpect to him, at, and after his Death, prove the ſincerity of her Love. Note, Love to Chriſt, if it be cordial, will be conſtant. Her Love to Chriſt was ſtrong as Death, the Death of the Croſs, for it ſtood by that; cruel as the Grave, for it made a Viſit to that, and was not deterred by its Terrors.

1. She came to the Sepulchre to waſh the dead Body with her Tears, for ſhe went to the Grave to weep there, and to anoint it with the Ointment ſhe had prepared. The Grave is a Houſe that People do not care for making Viſits to. They that are free among the dead are ſeparated from the living; and it muſt be an extraordinary Affection to the Perſon which will endear his Grave to us. 'Tis eſpecially frightful to the weak and timorous Sex. Could ſhe that had not Strength enough to roll away the Stone, pretend to ſuch a Preſence of Mind as to enter the Grave. The Jews Religion forbad them to meddle any more than needs muſt with Graves and dead Bodies. In viſiting Chriſt's Sepulchre ſhe expoſed her ſelf, and perhaps the Diſciples, to the ſuſpicion of a Deſign to ſteal him away; and what real Service could ſhe do him by it? But her Love anſwers theſe, and a Thouſand ſuch Objections. Note, 1. We muſt ſtudy to do Honour to Chriſt in thoſe Things wherein yet we cannot be profitable to him. 2. Love to Chriſt will take off the Terror of Death and the Grave. If we cannot come to Chriſt but through that darkſome Valley, even in that, if we love him, we will fear no Evil.

(2.) She came as ſoon as ſhe could; for ſhe came,

(1.) Upon the firſt Day of the Week, as ſoon as ever the Sabbath was gone, longing not to ſell Corn, and to ſet forth Wheat, as Amos 8. 5. but to be at the Sepulchre. They that love Chriſt, will take the firſt Opportunity of teſtifying their Reſpects to him. This was the firſt Chriſtian Sabbath, and ſhe begins it accordingly, with Enquiries after Chriſt. She had ſpent the Day before in commemorating the Work of Creation, and therefore reſted; but now ſhe is upon ſearch into the Work of Redemption, and therefore makes a Viſit to Chriſt and him crucified.

(2.) She came early, while it was yet dark; ſo early did ſhe ſet out. Note, Thoſe who would ſeek Chriſt ſo as to find him, muſt ſeek him early, i. e. (1.) Seek him ſollicitouſly, with ſuch a Care as even breaks the Sleep; be up early for fear of miſſing him. (2.) Seek him induſtriouſly; we muſt deny our ſelves and our own Repoſe in Purſuit of Chriſt. (3.) Seek him betimes, early in our Days, early every Day, My Voice ſhalt thou hear in the Morning; that Day is in a fair way to be well ended that is thus begun. They that diligently enquire after Chriſt while it is yet dark, ſhall have ſuch Light given them concerning him, as ſhall ſhine more and more.

3. She found the Stone taken away, which ſhe had ſeen rolled to the Door of the Sepulchre. Now this was,

1. A Surprize to her; for ſhe little expected it. Chriſt crucified is the Fountain of Life, his Grave one of the Wells of Salvation, if we come to it in Faith, tho' to a carnal Heart it be a Spring ſhut up, we ſhall find the Stone rolled away, as Gen. 29. 10. and free Acceſs to the Comforts of it. Surprizing Comforts are the frequent Encouragements of early Seekers.

2. 'Twas the Beginning of a glorious Diſcovery, the Lord was riſen, though ſhe did not at firſt apprehend it ſo. Note, 1. They that are moſt conſtant in their Adherence to Chriſt, and moſt diligent in their Enquiries after him, have commonly the firſt and ſweeteſt Notices of the Divine Grace. Mary Magdalen that followed Chriſt to the laſt in his Humiliation, met him with the firſt in his Exaltation. 2. God ordinarily reveals himſelf in his Comforts to us by Degrees; to raiſe our Expectations, and quicken our Enquiries.

Secondly, Finding the Stone taken away, ſhe haſtens back to Peter and John, who probably lodged together at that End of the Town, not far off, and acquaints them with it; They have taken the Lord out of the Sepulchre, envying him the Honour of ſuch a decent Burying-Place, and we know not where they have laid him, nor where to find him, that we may pay him the Remainder of our laſt Reſpects. Obſerve here,

1. What a Notion Mary had of the Thing as it now appeared; ſhe found the Stone gone; looked into the Grave and ſaw it empty. Now one would expect that the firſt Thought that offered it ſelf ſhould have been, Surely the Lord is riſen, for whenever he had told them that he ſhould be crucified, which ſhe had now lately ſeen accompliſhed, he ſtill ſubjoined in the ſame Breath, that the third Day he ſhould riſe again. Could ſhe feel the great Earthquake that happened as ſhe was coming to the Sepulchre, or getting ready to come, and now ſee the Grave empty, and yet have no Thought of the Reſurrection enter into her Mind; what no Conjecture, no Suſpicion of it? So it ſeems by the odd Conſtruction ſhe puts upon the removing of the Stone, which was very far fetched. Note, When we come to reflect upon our own Conduct in a cloudy and dark Day, we ſhall ſtand amazed at our Dulneſs and Forgetfulneſs, that we could miſs of ſuch Thoughts, as afterwards appear obvious, and how they could be ſo far out of the way, when we had Occaſion for them. She ſuggeſted, They have taken away the Lord; either the chief Prieſts have taken him away, to put him in a worſe Place; or Joſeph and Nicodemus have upon ſecond Thoughts taken him away, to avoid the ill Will of the Jews. Whatever was her Suſpicion, it ſeems it was a great Vexation and Diſturbance to her, that the Body was gone, whereas if ſhe had underſtood it rightly, nothing could be more happy. Note, Weak Believers often make that the Matter of their Complaint, which is really juſt Ground of Hope, and Matter of Joy. We cry out that this and t'other Creature-Comfort is taken away, and we know not how to retrieve it, when indeed the Removal of our temporal Comforts which we lament, is in order to the Reſurrection of our ſpiritual Comforts, which we ſhould rejoyce in too.

2. What a Narrative ſhe made of it to Peter and John. She did not ſtand poring upon the Grief her ſelf, but acquaints her Friends with it. Note, The Communication of Sorrows is one good Improvement of the Communion of Saints. Obſerve, Peter, though he had denied his Maſter, had not deſerted his Maſter's Friends; by this appears the Sincerity of his Repentance, that he aſſociated with the Diſciple whom Jeſus loved. And the Diſciples keeping up their Intimacy with him as formerly, notwithſtanding his Fall, teacheth us to reſtore thoſe with a Spirit of Meekneſs that have been faulty. If God has received them upon their Repentance, why ſhould not we.

Thirdly, Peter and John go with all Speed to the Sepulchre to ſatisfy themſelves of the Truth of what was told them, and to ſee if they could make any further Diſcoveries, v. 3. 4. Some think the other Diſciples were with Petee and John, when the News came; for they told theſe things to the Eleven, Luke 24. 9. Others think Mary Magdalen told her Story only to Peter and John, and the other Women told theirs to the other Diſciples; yet none of them went to the Sepulchre but Peter and John, who were two of the firſt three of Chriſt's Diſciples, often diſtinguiſhed from the reſt by ſpecial Favours. Note, It is well when thoſe that are more honoured than others, with the Privileges of Diſciples, are more active than others in the Duty of Diſciples, more willing to take Pains and run Hazards in a good Work.

1. See here what uſe we ſhould make of others Experiences and Obſervations. When Mary told them what ſhe had ſeen, they would not in this Senſe take her Word, but would go ſee with their own Eyes. Do others tell us of the Comfort and Benefit of Ordinances? Let us be engaged thereby to make Trial of them. Come and ſee how good it is to draw near to God.

2. See how ready we ſhould be to ſhare with our Friends in their Cares and Fears. Peter and John haſten to the Sepulchre, that they might be able to give Mary a ſatisfactory Anſwer to her Jealouſies. We ſhould not grudge any Pains we take, for the ſuccouring and comforting of the weak and timorous Followers of Chriſt.

3. See what haſte we ſhould make in a good Work, and when we are going on a good Errand. Peter and John conſulted neither their Eaſe nor their Gravity, but ran to the Sepulchre. That they might ſhew the Strength of their Zeal and Affection, and might loſe no time. If we are in the way of God's Commandments, we ſhould run that way.

4. See what a good Thing it is to have good Company in a good Work. Perhaps neither of theſe Diſciples would have ventured to the Sepulchre alone, but being both together, they made no Difficulty of it. See Ecclef. 4. 9.

5. See what a laudable Emulation it is among Diſciples, to ſtrive which ſhall excel, which ſhall exceed in that which is good. It was no Breach of ill Manners for John, tho' the younger, to outrun Peter, and get before him. We muſt do our beſt, and neither envy thoſe that can do better, nor deſpiſe thoſe that do as they can, tho' they come behind.

1. He that got foremoſt in this Race was the Diſciple whom Jeſus loved in a ſpecial manner, and who therefore in a ſpecial manner loved Jeſus. Note, Senſe of Chriſt's Love to us, kindling Love in us to him again, will make us to excel in Virtue. The Love of Chriſt will conſtrain us more than any thing to abound in Duty.

2. He that was caſt behind was Peter, who had denied his Maſter, and was in Sorrow and Shame for it, and this clogged him as a Weight; Senſe of Guilt cramps us, and hinders our Enlargements in the Service of God. When Conſcience is offended, we loſe Ground.

Fourthly, Peter and John being come to the Sepulchre, proſecute the Enquiry, yet improve little in the Diſcovery.

1. John went no further than Mary Magdalen had done.

(1.) He had the Curioſity to look into the Sepulchre, and ſaw it was empty. He ſtooped down and looked in. Thoſe that would find the Knowledge of Chriſt muſt ſtoop down and look in, muſt with a humble Heart veil to the Authority of Divine Revelation; and muſt look wiſtly.

(2.) Yet he had not Courage to go into the Sepulchre. The warmeſt Affections are not always accompanied with the boldeſt Reſolutions; many are ſwift to run Religion's Race, that are not ſtout to fight her Battles.

2. Peter, tho' he came laſt, went in firſt, and made a more exact Diſcovery than John had, v. 6. 7. Tho' John out-ran him, he did not therefore turn back, or ſtand ſtill, but made after as faſt as he could, and while John was with a deal of Caution looking in; he came, and with a deal of Courage went into the Sepulchre.

(1.) Obſerve here the Boldneſs of Peter, and how God diſpenſeth his Gifts variouſly, John could out-run Peter, but Peter could out-dare John. 'Tis ſeldom true of the ſame Perſons what David ſaid poetically of Saul and Jonathan, that they were ſwifter than Eagles, and yet ſtronger than Lions, 2 Sam. 1. 23. Some Diſciples are quick, and they are uſeful to quicken them that are ſlow; others are bold, and they are uſeful to hearten them that are timorous; Diverſity of Gifts but one Spirit.

Peter's venturing into the Sepulchre may teach us, (1.) That thoſe who in good Earneſt ſeek after Chriſt, muſt not frighten themſelves with Bugbears and fooliſh Fancies; there's a Lion in the Way, a Ghoſt in the Grave. (2.) That good Chriſtians need not be afraid of the Grave, ſince Chriſt has lain in it, for to them there is nothing in it frightful; 'tis not the Pit of Deſtruction, nor the Worm in it never dying Worms. Let us therefore not indulge, but conquer the Fear we are apt to conceive upon the Sight of a dead Body, or being alone among the Graves, and ſince we muſt be dead and in the Grave ſhortly, let us make Death and the Grave familiar to us, as our near Kindred, Job 17. 14. (3.) We muſt be willing to go through the Grave to Chriſt; that way he went to his Glory, and ſo muſt we. If we cannot ſee God's Face and live, better die than never ſee it. See Job 19. 25, &c.

(2.) Obſerve the Poſture he found things in, in the Sepulchre.

1. Chriſt had left his Grave-Clothes behind him there; what Clothes he appeared in to his Diſciples we are not told, but he never appeared in his Grave Clothes as Ghoſts are ſuppoſed to do; no, he had laid them aſide, becauſe he roſe to die no more; Death was to have no more Dominion over him, Rom. 5. 9. Lazarus came out with his Grave-Clothes on, for he was to us riſen again; but Chriſt riſing to an immortal Life, came out free from thoſe Encumbrances. 2. Becauſe he was going to be clothed with the Robes of Glory, therefore he lays aſide theſe Rags; in the heavenly Paradiſe there will be no more occaſion for Clothes, than there was in the earthly. The aſcending Prophet dropt his Mantle. 3. When we riſe from the Death of Sin to the Life of Righteouſneſs, we muſt leave our Grave-Clothes behind us, muſt put off all our Corruptions. 4. Chriſt left thoſe in the Grave as it were for our Uſe; if the Grave be a Bed to the Saints, thus he hath ſheeted that Bed, and made it ready for them; and the Napkin by it ſelf is of uſe for the mourning Survivers, to wipe away their Tears.

2. The Grave-Clothes were found in very good Order, which ſerves for an Evidence, that his Body was not ſtollen away while Men ſlept. Robbers of Tombs have been known to take away the Clothes and leave the Body; but none ever took away the Body, and left the Clothes, eſpecially when it was fine Linen, and new, Mark 15. 46. Any one would rather chuſe to carry a dead Body in its Clothes naked. Or, if they that were ſuppoſed to have ſtollen it, would have left the Grave Clothes behind, yet it cannot be ſuppoſed they ſhould find Leiſure to fold up the Linen.

(3.) See how Peter's Boldneſs encouraged John; now he took Heart and ventured in, v. 8. and he ſaw and believed, not barely believed what Mary ſaid, that the Body was gone; no Thanks to him to believe what he ſaw, but he began to believe that Jeſus was riſen to Life again, though his Faith as yet was weak and wavering.

1. John followed Peter in venturing. It ſhould ſeem he durſt not have gone into the Sepulchre, if Peter had not gone in firſt. Note, It is good to be emboldened in a good Work by the Boldneſs of others. The Dread of Difficulty and Danger will be taken off, by obſerving the Reſolution and Courage of others. Perhaps John's Quickneſs had made Peter run faſter, and now Peter's Boldneſs makes John venture further than otherwiſe either the one or the other would have done; tho' Peter had lately fallen under the Diſgrace of being a Deſerter, and John had been advanced to the Honour of a Confident, Chriſt having committed his Mother to him; yet John not only aſſociated with Peter, but thought it no Diſparagement to follow him.

2. Yet it ſhould ſeem that John got the Start of Peter in believing. Peter ſaw and wondered, Luke 24. 12. but John ſaw and believed. A Mind diſpoſed to Contemplation, may perhaps ſooner receive the Evidence of Divine Truth, than a Mind diſpoſed to Action.

But what was the Reaſon they were ſo ſlow of Heart to believe? The Evangeliſt tells us, v. 9. as yet they knew not the Scripture, i. e. they did not conſider, and apply, and duly improve what they knew of the Scripture, that he muſt riſe again from the Dead. The Old Teſtament ſpoke of the Reſurrection of the Meſſiah; they believe him to be the Meſſiah, he himſelf had often told them that according to the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament he ſhould riſe again; but they had not a Preſence of Mind ſufficient by theſe to explain the preſent Amuſements. Obſerve here,

1. How unapt the Diſciples themſelves were at firſt to believe the Reſurrection of Chriſt, which confirms the Teſtimony they afterwards gave with ſo much Aſſurance concerning it; for by their Backwardneſs to believe it, it appears they were not credulous concerning it, nor of thoſe ſimple ones that believe every Word. If they had had any Deſign to advance their own Intereſt by it, they would greedily have catched at the firſt Spark of its Evidence, would have raiſed and ſupported one another's Expectations of it, and have prepared the Minds of thoſe that followed them to receive the Notices of; but we find on the contrary, their Hopes were proſtrated, 'twas to them as a ſtrange thing, and one of the furtheſt things in their Thoughts. Peter and John were ſo ſhy of believing it at firſt, that nothing leſs than the moſt convincing Proof the thing was capable of, could bring them to teſtify it afterwards with ſo much Aſſurance. Hereby it appears they were not only honeſt Men, who would not deceive others, but cautious Men, who would not themſelves be impoſed upon.

2. What was the Reaſon of their Slowneſs to believe; becauſe as yet they knew not the Scripture. This ſeems to be the Evangeliſt's Acknowledgment of his own Fault among the reſt; he doth not ſay, for as yet Jeſus had not appeared to them, had not ſhewed them his Hands and his Side, but as yet had not opened their Underſtandings to underſtand the Scriptures, Luke 24. 44, 45. for that's the moſt ſure Word of Prophecy.

(4.) Peter and John purſued their Enquiry no further, but deſiſted, hovering between Faith and Unbelief, v. 10. The Diſciples went away nor much the wiſer to their own Home, πρὸς ἑαυτοὺς, to their own Friends and Companions, the reſt of the Diſciples to their own Lodgings, for Homes they had none at Jeruſalem. They went away,

1. For fear of being taken up upon Suſpicion of a Deſign to ſteal away the Body, or of being charged with it now it was gone; inſtead of improving their Faith, their Care is to ſecure themſelves, ſhift for their own Safety. In difficult dangerous times, it is hard even for good Men to go on in their Work with the Reſolution that becomes them.

2. Becauſe they were at a loſs, and knew not what to do next, nor what to make of what they had ſeen, and therefore not having Courage to ſtay at the Grave, they reſolve to go Home, and wait till God ſhall reveal even this unto them; which is an Inſtance of their Weakneſs as yet.

3. 'Tis probable the reſt of the Diſciples were together, and to them they returned to make Report of what they had diſcovered, and to conſult with them what was to be done, and probably now they appointed their Meeting in the Evening, when Chriſt came to them.

It is obſervable, That before Peter and John came to the Sepulchre, an Angel had appeared there, rolled away the Stone, frighted the Guard, and comforted the Woman; as ſoon as they were gone from the Sepulchre, Mary Magdalen here ſees two Angels in the Sepulchre, v. 12. and yet Peter and John came to the Sepulchre, and go into it, and ſee none; what ſhall we make of this? Where were the Angels when Peter and John were at the Sepulchre, who appeared there before and after? (1.) Angels appear and diſappear at Pleaſure, according to the Orders and Inſtructions given them. They may be, and are really where they are not viſibly, nay it ſhould ſeem may be viſible to one, and not to another at the ſame time, 2 Kings 9, 17. Numb. 22. 23. How they make themſelves viſible, then inviſible, and then viſible again, 'tis Preſumption for us to enquire, but that they do ſo is plain from this Story. (2.) This Favour was ſhewed to thoſe who were early and conſtant in their Enquiries after Chriſt, and was the Reward of them that came firſt and ſtaid laſt, but denied to them that made a tranſient Viſit. (3.) The Apoſtles were not to receive their Inſtructions from the Angels, but from the Spirit of Grace. See Heb. 2. 5.

11 But Mary ſtood without at the ſepulchre, weeping: and as yet ſhe wept, ſhe ſtooped down, and looked into the ſepulchre, 12 And ſeeth two angels in white, ſitting the one at the head, and the other at the feet, where the body of Jeſus had layen: 13 And they ſay unto her, Woman, why weepeſt thou? She ſaith unto them, becauſe they have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him. 14 And when ſhe had thus ſaid, ſhe turned her ſelf back, and ſaw Jeſus ſtanding, and knew not that it was Jeſus. 15 Jeſus ſaith unto her, Woman, why weepeſt thou? whom ſeekeſt thou? ſhe ſuppoſing him to be the gardener, ſaith unto him, Sir, if thou have born him hence, tell me where thou haſt laid him, and I will take him away. 16 Jeſus ſaid unto her, Mary. She turned her ſelf, and ſaith unto him, Rabboni, which is to ſay, Maſter. 17 Jeſus ſaith unto her, Touch me not: for I am not yet aſcended to my Father: but go to my brethren, and ſay unto them, I aſcend unto my Father and your Father, and to my God and your God. 18 Mary Magdalen came and told the diſciples, that ſhe had ſeen the Lord, and that he had ſpoken theſe things unto her.

St. Mark tells us, that Chriſt appeared firſt to Mary Magdalen Mark 16. 9. that Appearance is here largely related; and we may obſerve, Firſt, The Conſtancy and Fervency of Mary Magdalen's Affection to the Lord Jeſus, v. 11.

1. She ſtaid at the Sepulchre, when Peter and John were gone, becauſe there her Maſter had laid, and there ſhe was likelieſt to hear ſome Tidings of him. Note, 1. Where there is a true Love to Chriſt, there will be a conſtant Adherence to him, and a Reſolution with Purpoſe of Heart to cleave to him. This good Woman, though ſhe has loſt him, yet rather than ſeem to deſert him, will abide by his Grave for his ſake, and continue in his Love, even then when ſhe wants the Comfort of it. (2.) Where there is a true Deſire of Acquaintance with Chriſt, there will be a conſtant Attendance on the Means of Knowledge. See Hoſ. 6. 2, 3. the third Day he will raiſe us up; and then ſhall we know the meaning of that Reſurrection, if we follow on to know, as Mary here.

2. She ſtaid there weeping, and theſe Tears loudly ſpake her Affection to her Maſter. They that have loſt Chriſt have Cauſe to weep; ſhe wept at the Remembrance of his bitter Sufferings; wept for his Death, and the Loſs which ſhe and her Friends and the Country ſuſtained by it; wept to think of returning home without him; wept becauſe ſhe did not now find his Body. They that ſee Chriſt, muſt ſeek him ſorrowing, Luke 2. 48. muſt weep not for him, but for themſelves.

3. As ſhe went, ſhe looked into the Sepulchre, that her Eye might affect her Heart. When we are in Search of ſomething we have loſt, we look again and again in the Place where we laſt left it, and expected to have found it; ſhe will look yet ſeven times, not knowing but that at length ſhe might ſee ſome Encouragement. Note, 1. Weeping muſt not hinder ſeeking. Though ſhe wept, ſhe ſtooped down and looked in. 2. Thoſe are likely to ſeek and find, that ſeek with Affection; that ſeek in Tears.

Secondly, The Viſion ſhe had of two Angels in the Sepulchre, v. 12. Obſerve here,

1. The Deſcription of the Perſons ſhe ſaw, They were two Angels in white, ſitting probably on ſome Benches or Ledges hewn out in the Rock, one at the Head, and t'other at the Feet of the Grave, Where we have,

(1.) Their Nature; they were Angels, Meſſengers from Heaven, ſent on Purpoſe on this great Occaſion, (1.) To honour the Son, and to grace the Solemnity of his Reſurrection. Now the Son of God was again to be brought into the World, the Angels have a Charge to attend him, as they did at his Birth, Heb. 1. 6. (2.) To comfort the Saints; to ſpeak good Words to them that were in Sorrow, and by giving them notice that the Lord was riſen to prepare them for the Sight of him.

(2.) Their Number; Two, not a Multitude of the heavenly Hoſt to ſing Praiſe, only two to bear Witneſs; for out of the Mouth of two Witneſſes this Word would be eſtabliſhed.

(3.) Their Array. They were in white, noting, (1.) Their Purity and Holineſs; the beſt of Men ſtanding before the Angels, and compared with them, are cloathed in filthy Garments, Zech. 3. 3. but Angels are ſpotleſs and Glorified Saints, when they come to be as the Angels, ſhall walk with Chriſt in white. (2.) Their Glory, and glorying upon this Occaſion. The White in which they appeared, repreſented the Brightneſs of that State into which Chriſt was now riſen.

(4.) Their Poſture and Place. They ſate as it were repoſing themſelves in Chriſt's Grave, for Angels, tho' they needed not a Reſtoration, were oblig'd to Chriſt for their Eſtabliſhment. Theſe Angels went into the Grave, to teach us not to be afraid of it, nor to think that our reſting in it a while, will be any Prejudice to our Immortality; no, Matters are ſo ordered, that the Grave is not much out of our way to Heaven. It intimates likewiſe that Angels are to be employed about the Saints, not only at their Death, to carry their Souls into Abraham's Boſom, but at the great Day, to raiſe their Bodies, Mat. 24. 31. Theſe Angelick Guards (and Angels are called Watchers, Dan. 4. 23.) keeping Poſſeſſion of the Sepulchre, when they had frighted away the Guards which the Enmies had ſet, repreſents Chriſt's Victory over the Powers of Darkneſs, routing and defeating them. Thus Michael and his Angels are more than Conquerors. Their ſitting to face one another, one at his Bed's-head, the other at the Beds-feet, notes their Care of the entire Body of Chriſt, his Myſtical as well as his Natural Body, from Head to Foot; it may alſo mind us of the two Cherubims, plac'd on eat either End of the Mercy-Seat, looking one at another, Exod. 25. 18. Chriſt crucified was the great Propitiatory, at the Head and Feet of which were theſe two Cherubims, not with flaming Swords to keep us from, but welcome Meſſengers to direct us to the way of Life.

2. Their compaſſionate Enquiry into the Cauſe of Mary Magdalen's Grief, v. 13. Woman why weepeſt thou? This Queſtion was, 1. A Rebuke to her weeping; why weepeſt thou, when thou haſt Cauſe to rejoyce? Many of the Floods of our Tears would dry away before ſuch a Search as this into the Fountain of them. Why art thou caſt down? 2. It was deſign'd to ſhew how much Angels are concern'd at the Griefs of the Saints, having a Charge to miniſter to them for their Comfort. Chriſtians ſhould thus ſympathize with one another. 3. 'Twas only to make an Occaſion of informing her of that which would turn her Mourning into Rejoycing, would put off her Sackcloth, and gird her with Gladneſs.

3. The melancholy Account ſhe gives them of her preſent Diſtreſs. Becauſe they have taken away the bleſſed Body I came to embalm, and I know not where they have laid it. The ſame Story ſhe had told, v. 2. In it we may ſee,

(1.) The Weakneſs of her Faith. If ſhe had had Faith as a Grain of Muſtard-ſeed, this Mountain would have been removed; but we oft perplex our ſelves needleſly with imaginary Difficulties, which Faith would diſcover to us as real Advantages. Many good People complain of the Clouds and Darkneſs they are under, which are the neceſſary Methods of Grace for the humbling of their Souls, the mortifying of their Sin, and the endearing of Chriſt to them.

(2.) The Strength of his Love. They that have a true Affection for Chriſt cannot but be in great Affliction, when they have loſt either the comfortable Tokens of his Love in their Souls, or the comfortable Opportunities of converſing with him and doing him Honour in his Ordinances. Mary Magdalen is not diverted from her Enquiries by the Surprize of the Viſion, nor ſatisfied with the Honour of it; but ſtill ſhe harps upon the ſame String; They have taken away my Lord A Sight of Angels, and their Smiles, will not ſuffice without the Sight of Chriſt, and God's Smiles in him. Nay the Sight of Angels is but an Opportunity of purſuing her Enquiries after Chriſt. All Creatures, the moſt excellent, the moſt dear, ſhould be uſed as Means, and but as Means to bring us into Acquaintance with God in Chriſt. The Angels ask'd her, Why weepeſt thou? Why, ſaith ſhe, I have Cauſe enough to weep, for they have taken away my Lord, and like Micah, What have I more? Do you ask why I weep? My beloved has withdrawn himſelf, and is gone. Note, None knows but they that have experienced the Sorrows of a deſerted Soul, that has had comfortable Evidences of the Love of God in Chriſt and Hopes of Heaven, but has now loſt them, and walks in Darkneſs; ſuch a wounded Spirit, who can bear?

Thirdly, Chriſt's Appearing to her, while ſhe was talking with the Angels, and telling them her Caſe, before they had given her any Anſwer, Chriſt ſteps in himſelf to ſatisfy her Enquiries, for God now ſpeaketh to us by his Son; none but he himſelf can direct us to himſelf. Mary would fain know where the Lord is, and behold he is at her right Hand. Note. 1. Thoſe that will be content with nothing ſhort of a Sight of Chriſt ſhall be put off with nothing leſs. He never ſaid to the Soul that ſought him, Seek in vain. Is it Chriſt thou wouldſt have? Chriſt thou ſhalt have. 2. Chriſt in manifeſting himſelf to thoſe that ſeek him, often outdoes their Expectations. Mary longs to ſee the Dead Body of Chriſt, and complains of he Loſs of that, and behold ſhe ſees him alive, Thus the doth for his praying People more than they are able to ask or think.

In this Appearance of Chriſt to Mary. Obſerve,

1. How he did at firſt conceal himſelf from her.

1. He ſtood as a common Perſon, and ſhe looked upon him accordingly, v. 14. She ſtood expecting an Anſwer to her Complaint from the Angels; and either ſeeing the Shadow, or hearing the Tread of ſome Perſon behind her, ſhe turned her ſelf back, from talking with the Angels, and ſees Jeſus himſelf ſtanding, the very Perſon ſhe was looking for, and yet ſhe knew not that it was Jeſus, Note, 1. The Lord is nigh to them that are of a broken Heart, Pſal. 34. 18. nearer than they are aware. They that ſeek Chriſt, tho' they do not ſee him, yet may be ſure he is not far from them. 2. Thoſe that diligently ſeek the Lord will turn every way in their Enquiry after him. Mary turn'd her ſelf back in Hopes of ſome Diſcoveries. Several of the Ancients ſuggeſt, that Mary was directed to look behind her by the Angel's riſing up, and doing his obeyſance to the Lord Jeſus, whom they ſaw before Mary did; and that ſhe looked back to ſee who it was they paid ſuch a profound Reverence to. But if ſo, it is not likely ſhe would have taken him for the Gardiner; rather therefore 'twas her earneſt Deſire in ſeeking that made her turn every way. 3. Chriſt is often near his People, and they are not aware of him. She knew not that it was Jeſus; not that he appeared in any other Likeneſs, but either it was a careleſs tranſient look ſhe caſt upon him, and her Eyes being full of Care, ſhe could not ſo well diſtinguiſh, or they were holden that ſhe ſhould not know him, as thoſe of the two Diſciples, Luke, 14. 16.

2. He asked her a common Queſtion, and ſhe anſwered him accordingly, v. 15.

1. The Queſtion he ask'd her was natural enough, and what any one would have asked her; Woman why weepeſt thou? Whom ſeekeſt thou? What Buſineſs haſt thou here in the Garden ſo early? And what's all this noiſe and ado for? Perhaps it was ſpoken with ſome roughneſs, as Joſeph ſpake to his Brethren when he made himſelf ſtrange, before he made himſelf known to them. It ſhould ſeem this was the firſt Word Chriſt ſpoke after his Reſurrection; Why weepeſt thou? I am riſen. The Reſurrection of Chriſt has enough in it to allay all our Sorrows, to check the Streams, and dry up the Fountains of our Tears. Obſerve here, Chriſt takes Cognizance, (1.) Of his Peoples Griefs; and enquires, Why they weep? He bottles their Tears, and records them in his Book. (2.) of his Peopels Cares; and enquires, Whom they ſeek, and what they would have? When he knows they are ſeeking him, yet he will know it from them; they muſt tell him whom they ſeek.

2. The Reply ſhe made him is natural enough; ſhe doth not give him a direct Anſwer, but as if ſhe ſhould ſay, Why do you banter me, and upbraid me with my Tears? You know why I weep, and whom I ſeek; and therefore ſuppoſing him to be the Gardiner, the Perſon employ'd by Joſeph to dreſs and keep his Garden, who ſhe thought was come thither thus early to his Work; ſhe ſaid, Sir, if thou haſt carried him home, pray tell me where thou haſt laid him, and I will take him away. See here,

1. The Error of her Underſtanding; ſhe ſuppoſed our Lord Jeſus to be the Gardiner, perhaps, becauſe he asked, What Authority ſhe had to do there? Note, Troubled Spirits in a cloudy and dark Day are apt to miſrepreſent Chriſt to themſelves, and to put wrong Conſtructions upon the Methods of his Providence and Grace.

2. The Truth of her Affection. See how her Heart was upon it to find Chriſt; ſhe puts the Queſtion to every one ſhe meets, like the careful Spouſe, Saw ye him whom my Soul loveth? She ſpeaks a Gardiner fair, and calls him Sir, in hopes to gain ſome Intelligence from him concerning her beloved. When ſhe ſpeaks of Chriſt, ſhe doth not name him; but if thou have born him hence, taking it for granted that this Gardiner was full of Thoughts concerning this Jeſus as well as ſhe, and therefore could not but know whom ſhe meant. Another Evidence of the Strength of her Affection was, that wherever he was laid ſhe would undertake to remove him. Such a Body, with ſuch a Weight of Spices about it, was much more than ſhe could pretend to carry; But true Love thinks it can do more than it can, and makes nothing of Difficulties. She ſuppoſed this Gardiner grudged that the Body of one that was ignominiouſly crucified ſhould have the Honour to be laid in his Maſter's new Tomb, and that therefore he had removed it to ſome ſorry Place, which he thought fitter for it. Yet Mary doth not threaten him to go tell his Maſter, and get him turned out of his Place for it; but undertakes to find out ſome other Sepulchre to which he might be welcome. Chriſt needs not ſtay where he is thought a Burthen.

2. How Chriſt at length made him ſelf known to her, and by a pleaſing Surprize gave her infallible Aſſurances of his Reſurrection. Joſeph at length ſaid to his Brethren, I am Joſeph. So Chriſt here to Mary Magdalen, now he is entered upon his exalted State.

Obſerve, 1. How Chriſt diſcovered himſelf to this good Woman that was ſeeking him in Tears, v. 17. Jeſus ſaith unto her, Mary. 'Twas ſaid with an Emphaſis, and that Air of Kindneſs and Freedom with which he was wont to ſpeak to her. Now he changed his Voice, and ſpake like himſelf; not like the Gardiner. Chriſt's way of making himſelf known to his People is by his Word, his Word applied to their Souls; ſpeaking to them in particular. When thoſe whom God knew by Name in the Counſels of his Love, (Exod. 33. 12.) he calls by Name in the Efficacy of his Grace, then he reveals his Son in them, as in Paul, Gal. 1. 16. when Chriſt called to him by Name, Saul, Saul. Chriſt's Sheep know his Voice, John 10. 4. This one Word, Mary, was like that to the Diſciples in the Storm, It is I. Then the Word of Chriſt doth us good when we put our own Names into the Precepts and Promiſes; in this Chriſt calls to me, and ſpeaks to me.

2. How readily ſhe received this Diſcovery when Chriſt ſaid, Mary, Doſt thou not know me; Art thou and I grown ſuch Strangers? She was preſently aware who it was, as the Spouſe, Cant. 2. 8. It is the Voice of my Beloved. She turn'd herſelf and ſaid, Rabboni, my Maſter. It might properly be read with an Interrogation, Rabboni? Is it my Maſter? Nay but is it indeed? Obſerve,

(1.) The Title of reſpect ſhe gives him. My Maſter; Διδασκαλ, a teaching Maſter. The Jews called their Doctors Rabbies, Great Men. Their Criticks tell us, That Rabbon was with them a more honourable Title than Rabbi; and therefore Mary chuſeth that, and adds a Note of Appropriation, My Great Maſter. Note, Notwithſtanding the Freedom of Communion Chriſt is pleaſed to admit us to with himſelf, we muſt remember that he is our Maſter, and to be approach'd with a godly Fear.

(2.) With what Livlineſs of Affection ſhe gives this Title to Chriſt. She turned herſelf from the Angels whom ſhe had in her Eye, to look unto Jeſus: We muſt take off our Regards from all Creatures, even the brighteſt and beſt to fix them upon Chriſt, from whom nothing muſt divert us, and with whom nothing muſt interfere: When ſhe thought it had been the Gardiner, ſhe looked another way when ſhe ſpoke to him; but now ſhe knew the Voice of Chriſt, ſhe turned herſelf. The Soul that hears Chriſt's Voice, and is turned to him, calls him with Joy and Triumph, My Maſter. See with what Pleaſure thoſe who love Chriſt ſpeak of his Authority over them, My Maſter, My Great Maſter.

3. The farther Inſtructions that Chriſt gave her, v. 17. Touch me not; but go carry the News to the Diſciples.

1. He diverts her from the Expectation of Familiar Society and Converſation with him at this time. Touch me not, for I am not yet aſcended. Mary was ſo tranſported with the Sight of her dear Maſter, that ſhe forgot her ſelf, and that State of Glory into which he was now entering, and was ready to expreſs her Joy by affectionate Embraces of him; which Chriſt here forbids at this time.

(1.) Touch me not thus at all, for I am to aſcend to Heaven. He bid the Diſciples touch him for the Confirmation of their Faith: He allowed the Woman to take hold of his Feet, and worſhip him, Mat. 28. 9. But Mary ſuppoſing that he was riſen as Lazarus was, to live amongſt them conſtantly, and converſe with them freely as he had done, upon that Preſumption was about to take hold of his Hand with her uſual Freedom: This Miſtake Chriſt rectified, ſhe muſt believe him and adore him, as exalted; but muſt not expect to be familiar with him as formerly. See 2 Cor. 5. 16. He forbids her to dote upon his bodily Preſence, to ſet her Heart on that, or expect the Continuance of that, and leads her to that Spiritual Converſe and Communion which ſhe ſhould have with him after he was aſcended to his Father; for the greateſt Joy of his Reſurrection was that it was a Step toward his Aſcenſion. Mary thought now her Maſter was riſen he would preſently ſet up a Temporal Kingdom, ſuch as they had long promiſed themſelves: No, ſaith Chriſt, Touch me not with any ſuch Thought, think not to lay hold on me ſo as to detain me here; for tho' I am not yet aſcended, go to my Brethren, and tell them, I am to aſcend. As before his Death, ſo now after his Reſurrection he ſtill harps upon this, That he was going away, was no more in the World; and therefore they muſt look higher than his bodily Preſence, and look further than the preſent State of Things.

(2.) Touch me not, i. e. Do not ſtay to touch me now, ſtay not now to make any further Enquiries, or give any further Expreſſions of Joy, for I am not yet aſcended; I ſhall not preſently depart, it may as well be done another time, the beſt Service thou canſt do now is to carry the Tidings to the Diſciples; loſe no time therefore, but go away with all ſpeed. Note, Publick Service ought to be preferred before private Satisfaction. 'Tis more bleſſed to give than to receive. Jacob muſt let an Angel go when the Day breaks, and it's time for him to look after his Family. Mary muſt not ſtay to talk with her Maſter, but muſt carry his Meſſage; for it was a Day of good Tidings which ſhe muſt not engroſs the Comfort of, but hand it to others. See that Story, 2 Kings 7. 9.

2. He directs her what Meſſage to carry to his Diſciples. But go to my Brethren, and tell them, not only that I am riſen, ſhe could have told them that of herſelf, for ſhe had ſeen him, but that I aſcend. Obſerve.

(1.) To whom this Meſſage is ſent. Go to my Brethren with it; for he is not aſhamed to call them ſo, (1.) Tho' he was now entering upon his Glory, and was declared to be the Son of God with greater Power than ever; yet he owns his Diſciples as his Brethren, and expreſſeth himſelf with more tender Affection to them than before. He had called them Friends; but never Brethren till now. Though Chriſt be high, yet he is not haughty: Notwithſtanding his Elevation, he diſdains not to own his poor Relations. (2.) Tho his Diſciples had lately carried themſelves very diſingenuouſly towards him; he had never ſeen them together ſince they all forſook him and fled, when he was apprehended. Juſtly might he now have ſent them an angry Meſſage, Go to yonder treacherous Deſerters, and tell them, I'll never truſt them more, or have any thing more to do with them: No, he forgiveth, he forgets, and doth not upbraid.

(2.) By whom it is ſent? by Mary Magdalen, out of whom had been caſt ſeven Devils, yet now thus favoured. This was her Reward for her Conſtancy in adhering to Chriſt, and enquiring after him; and a tacit Rebuke to the Apoſtles who had not been ſo cloſe as ſhe was in attending on the dying Jeſus; nor ſo early as ſhe was in meeting the riſing Jeſus; ſhe becomes an Apoſtle to the Apoſtles.

(3.) What the Meſſage it ſelf is, I aſcend to my Father. Two full Breaſts of Conſolation here are in theſe Words.

1. Our joint Relation to God, reſulting from our Union with Chriſt, is an unſpeakable Comfort. Speaking of that inexhauſtible Spring of Light, Life, and Bliſs, he ſaith, He is my Father and your Father, my God and your God. This is very expreſſive of that near Relation that is between Chriſt and Believers, He that ſanctifieth, and they that are Sanctified are both one; for they agree in one, Heb. 2. 11. Here is ſuch an Advancement of Chriſtians, and ſuch a Condeſcenſion of Chriſt, as brings them very near together: So admirably well is the Matter contrived in order to their Union.

(1.) 'Tis the great Dignity of Believers that the Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt is in him their Father. A vaſt difference indeed there is between the reſpective Foundations of the Relation. He is Chriſt's Father by eternal Generation, ours by a gracious Adoption; yet even that warrants us to call him as Chriſt did, Abba Father. This gives a Reaſon why Chriſt called them Brethren, becauſe his Father was their Father. Chriſt was now aſcending to appear as an Advocate with the Father, with his Father; and therefore we may hope he will prevail for any thing with our Father, and therefore we may hope he will prevail for us.

(2.) 'Tis the great Condeſcenſion of Chriſt that he is pleaſed to own the Believers God, for his God; my God and your God; mine that he may be yours; the God of the Redeemer to ſupport him, Pſal. 89. 26. that he might be the God of the Redeemed to ſave them. The Summary of the New Covenant is that God will be to us a God; and therefore Chriſt being the Surety and the Head of the Covenant, who is primarily dealt with, and Believers only through him, as his ſpiritual Seed, this Covenant Relation faſtens firſt upon him, God becomes his God, and ſo ours; we partaking of a Divine Nature, Chriſt's Father is our Father; and he partaking of the Humane Nature, our God is his God.

2. Chriſt's Aſcenſion into Heaven, in further Proſecution of his Undertaking for us, is likewiſe an unſpeakable Comfort; Tell them I muſt ſhortly aſcend: That's the next Step I am to take. Now this was intended to be,

1. A Word of Caution to theſe Diſciples not to expect the Continuance of his Bodily Preſence on Earth, nor the ſetting up of his Temporal Kingdom among Men, which they dreamt of; no, Tell them I am not riſen to ſtay with them, but to go on their Errand to Heaven: Thus they who are raiſed to a ſpiritual Life in Conformity to Chriſt's Reſurrection, muſt reckon that they riſe to aſcend. They are quickened with Chriſt that they may ſit with him in Heavenly Places Eph. 2. 5, 6. Let them not think that this Earth is to be their Home and Reſt; no, being born from Heaven, they are bound for Heaven. Their Eye and Aim muſt be upon another World, and this ever upon their Hearts, I aſcend; therefore muſt I ſeek things above.

2. A Word of Comfort to them, and to all that ſhall believe in him through their Word. He was then aſcending, he is now aſcending to his Father and our Father. This was his Advancement, he aſcended to receive thoſe Honours and Powers which were to be the Recompence of his Humiliation; he ſaith it with triumph, That they who love him may rejoyce. This is our Advantage; for he aſcended as a Conqueror leading Captivity Captive for us, Pſal. 68. 18. He aſcended as our Forerunner, to prepare a Place for us, and to be ready to receive us. This Meſſage was like that which Joſeph's Brethren brought to Jacob concerning him Gen. 45. 26. Joſeph is yet alive; and not only ſo, vivit imo & in ſenatum venit, he is Governour over all the Land of Egypt: All Power is his.

Some make theſe Words, I aſcend to my God and your God, to include a Promiſe of our Reſurrection in the Virtue of Chriſt's Reſurrection; for Chriſt had proved the Reſurrection of the Dead from theſe Words, I am the God of Abraham, Mat. 22. 32. So that Chriſt here inſinuates, As he is my God, and hath therefore raiſed me; ſo he is your God, and will therefore raiſe you, and be your God, Rev. 21. 3. Becauſe I live you ſhall live alſo: I now aſcend to honour my God, and you ſhall aſcend to him as your God.

Laſtly, Here is Mary Magdalen's faithful Report of what ſhe had ſeen and heard, to the Diſciples, v. 18. She came and told the Diſciples, whom ſhe found together, that ſhe had ſeen the Lord. Peter and John had left her ſeeking him carefully with Tears, and would not ſtay to ſeek him with her; and now ſhe comes to tell them, That ſhe had found him, and to rectify the Miſtake ſhe had led them into by enquiring after the dead Body, for now ſhe found it was a living Body, and a glorified one: So that ſhe found what ſhe ſought, and what was infinitely better, ſhe had Joy in her Sight of the Maſter her ſelf, and was willing to communicate of her Joy, for ſhe knew it would be good News to them. When God comforts us, 'tis with this Deſign, that we may comfort others.

And as ſhe told them what ſhe had ſeen, ſo alſo what ſhe had heard; ſhe had ſeen the Lord alive by the ſame Token, and a good Token it was, That he had ſpoken theſe Things unto her, as a Meſſage to be delivered to them; and ſhe delivered it faithfully. They that are acquainted with the Word of Chriſt themſelves, ſhould communicate their Knowledge for the Good of others, and not grudge that others ſhould know as much as they do.

19 Then the ſame day at evening, being the firſt day of the week when the doors were ſhut, where the diſciples were aſſembled for fear of the Jews, came Jeſus and ſtood in the midſt, and ſaith unto them, Peace be unto you. 20 And when he had ſo ſaid, he ſhewed unto them his hands and his ſide. Then were the diſciples glad when they ſaw the Lord. 21 Then ſaid Jeſus to them again, Peace be unto you : as my Father hath ſent me, even ſo ſend I you. 22 And when he had ſaid this, he breathed on them, and ſaith unto them, Receive ye the holy Ghoſt. 23 Whoſe ſoever ſins ye remit, they are remitted unto them ; and whoſe ſoever ſins ye retain, they are retained. 24 But Thomas, one of the twelve, called Didymus, was not with them when Jeſus came. 25 The other diſciples therefore ſaid unto him, We have ſeen the Lord. But he ſaid unto them, Except I ſhall ſee in his hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and thruſt my hand into his ſide, I will not believe.

The infallible Proofs of Chriſt's Reſurrection, were his ſhewing himſelf alive, Acts 1. 3. In theſe Verſes we have an Account of his firſt Appearance to the College of the Diſciples on the ſame Day he roſe. He had ſent them the Tidings of his Reſurrection by truſty and credible Meſſengers, but to ſhew his Love to them, and confirm their Faith in him, he came himſelf, and gave them all the Aſſurances they could deſire of the Truth of it, that they might not have it by Hear-ſay only, and at ſecond Hand, but might themſelves be Eye-witneſſes of his being alive, becauſe they muſt atteſt it to the World, and build the Church upon that Teſtimony. Now obſerve here, Firſt, When and where this Appearance was, v. 19. It was the ſame Day that he roſe, being the firſt Day of the Week, the Day after the Jewiſh Sabbath, at a private Meeting of the Diſciples ; ten of them, and ſome more of their Friends with them, Luke 24. 33.

There are three ſecondary Ordinances (as I may call them) inſtituted by our Lord Jeſus, to continue in his Church, for the Support of it, and for the due Adminiſtration of the principal Ordinances, the Words, Sacraments and Prayer ; theſe are, the Lord's-day, Solemn Aſſemblies, and a Standing Miniſtry; the Mind of Chriſt concerning each of theſe is plainly intimated to us in theſe Verſes; and of the two firſt here in the Circumſtances of this Appearance, the other, v. 21. Chriſt's Kingdom was to be ſet up among Men, immediately upon his Reſurrection, and accordingly we find the very Day he roſe, tho' but a Day of ſmall Things, yet graced with thoſe Solemnities, which ſhould help to keep up a Face of Religion, throughout all the Ages of the Church.

1. Here's a Chriſtian Sabbath obſerved by the Diſciples, and owned by our Lord Jeſus. The Viſit Chriſt made to his Diſciples, was on the firſt Day of the Week. And the firſt Day of the Week is (I think) the only Day of the Week, or Month, or Year, that is ever mentioned by Number in all the New Teſtament ; and that is ſeveral times ſpoken of as a Day religiouſly obſerved. Tho' it was ſaid here expreſly, v. 1. that Chriſt roſe the firſt Day of the Week, and it might have been ſufficient to ſay here, v. 19. he appeared the ſame Day at Evening, yet to put an Honour upon the Day it is repeated, being the firſt Day of the Week. Not that the Apoſtles deſigned to put Honour upon the Day, they were yet in doubt concerning the Occaſion of it ; but God deſigned to put Honour upon it, by ordering it, that they ſhould be all together to receive Chriſt's firſt Viſit on that Day. Thus in effect he bleſſed and ſanctified that Day, becauſe in it the Redeemer reſted.

2. Here's a Chriſtian Aſſembly ſolemnized by the Diſciples, and that alſo owned by the Lord Jeſus. Probably the Diſciples met here for ſome religious Exerciſe, to pray together; or perhaps they met to compare Notes, and conſider whether they had ſufficient Evidence of their Maſter's Reſurrection, and to conſult what was now to be done ; whether they ſhould keep together or ſcatter. They met to know one another's Minds, ſtrengthen one another's Hands, and concert proper Meaſures to be taken in the preſent critical Juncture.

This Meeting was private, becauſe they durſt not appear publickly, eſpecially not in a Body. They met in a Houſe ; but they kept the Doors ſhut, that they might not be ſeen together, and that none might come among them, but ſuch as they knew ; for they feared the Jews, who would proſecute the Diſciples as Criminals, that they might ſeem to believe the Lye they would deceive the World with, that they came by Night and ſtole him away. Note, 1. The Diſciples of Chriſt, even in difficult Times, muſt not forſake the aſſembling themſelves together, Heb. 10. 25. Thoſe Sheep of the Flock were ſcattered in the Storm, but Sheep are ſociable, and will come together again. It is no new Thing for the Aſſemblies of Chriſt's Diſciples to be driven into Corners, and forced into the Wilderneſs, Rev. 12. 14. Prov. 28. 12. God's People have been often obliged to enter into their Chambers, and ſhut their Doors, as here, for fear of the Jews. Perſecution is allotted them, and Retirement from Perſecution is allowed them, and then where ſhall we look for them but in Dens and Caves in the Earth. It is a real Grief, but no real Reproach to Chriſt's Diſciples, thus to abſcond.

Secondly, What was ſaid and done in this Viſit Chriſt made to his Diſciples, and this Interview between them.

1. When they were aſſembled, Jeſus came among them in his own Likeneſs ; yet drawing a Veil over the Brightneſs of his Body, now begun to be glorified, elſe 'twould have dazled their Eyes, as in his Transfiguration. Chriſt came among them, to give them a Specimen of the Performance of his Promiſe, that where two or three are gathered together in his Name, he will be in the midſt of them.

2. He came, tho' the Doors were ſhut. This doth not at all weaken the Evidence of his having a real human Body after his Reſurrection ; tho' the Doors were ſhut, he knew how to open them without any Noiſe, and come in ſo as that they might not hear him, as formerly he had walked on the Water, and yet had a true Body. It is a Comfort to Chriſt's Diſciples, when their ſolemn Aſſemblies are reduced to Privacy, that no Doors can ſhut out Chriſt's Preſence from them.

We have five Things in this Appearance of Chriſt.

1. His kind and familiar Salutation of his Diſciples. He ſaid, Peace be unto you. This was not a Word of Courſe, tho' commonly uſed ſo, at the meeting of Friends, but a ſolemn uncommon Benediction, conferring upon them all the bleſſed Fruits and Effects of his Death and Reſurrection. The Phraſe was vulgar, but the Senſe was now peculiar, Peace be unto you, is as much as all Good be to you ; all Peace always by all Means. Chriſt had left them his Peace for their Legacy, Chap. 14. 27. By the Death of the Teſtator the Teſtament was become of Force, and he was now riſen from the Dead to prove the Will, and to be himſelf the Executor of it. Accordingly he here makes prompt Payment of the Legacy ; Peace be unto you. His ſpeaking Peace makes Peace, creates the Fruit of the Lips Peace ; Peace with God, Peace in your own Conſciences, Peace with one another : All this Peace be with you ; not Peace with the World : But Peace in Chriſt. His ſudden appearing in the midſt of them when they were full of Doubts concerning him, full of Fears concerning themſelves, could not but put them into ſome Diſorder and Conſternation, the Noiſe of which Waves he ſtills with this Word, Peace be unto you.

2. His clear and undeniable Manifeſtation of himſelf to them, v. 20. And here obſerve,

(1.) The Method he took to convince them of the Truth of his Reſurrection. They now ſaw him alive, whom Multitudes had ſeen dead two or three Days before : Now the only Doubt was, whether this that they ſaw alive was the ſame individual Body which had been ſeen dead ; and none could deſire a further Proof that it was ſo, than the Scars or Marks of the Wounds in the Body. Now,

(1.) The Marks of the Wounds, and very deep Marks ; that without any Pain or Soreneſs remained in the Body of the Lord Jeſus, even after his Reſurrection, that they might be Demonſtrations of the Truth of it. Conquerors glory in the Marks of their Wounds. Chriſt's Wounds were to ſpeak on Earth, that it was he himſelf ; and therefore he roſe with them. They were to ſpeak in Heaven in the Interceſſion he muſt ever live to make ; and therefore he aſcended with them, and appeared in the midſt of the Throne a Lamb as it had been ſlain, and bleeding afreſh, Rev. 5. 6. Nay, it ſhould ſeem he will come again with his Scars, that they may look on him whom they pierced.

(2.) Theſe Marks he ſhewed to his Diſciples for their Conviction. They had not only the Satisfaction of ſeeing him look with the ſame Countenance, and hearing him ſpeak with the ſame Voice they had been ſo long accuſtomed to, ſic oculos, ſic ille manus, ſic ora ferebat ; but the further Evidence of thoſe peculiar Marks. He opened his Hands to them, that they might ſee the Marks of the Wounds on them. He opened his Breaſt, as the Nurſe hers to the Child, to ſhew them the Wound there. Note, The exalted Redeemer will ever ſhew himſelf open handed, and open hearted to all his faithful Friends and Followers. When Chriſt manifeſts his Love to Believers by the Comforts of his Spirit, aſſures them, that becauſe he lives, they ſhall live alſo ; then he ſhews them his Hands and his Side.

(2.) The Impreſſion it made upon them, and the Good it did them.

(1.) They were convinc'd that they ſaw the Lord ; ſo was their Faith confirm'd. At firſt they thought they ſaw an Apparition only, a Phantaſm ; but now they knew it was the Lord himſelf. Thus many true Believers, who, while they were weak, fear'd their Comforts were but imaginary ; afterwards, find them through Grace, real and ſubſtantial. They aſk not, Is it the Lord? But are aſſured, It is he.

(2.) Then they were glad. That which ſtrengthened their Faith, raiſed their Joy ; believing they rejoyce. The Evangeliſt ſeems to write it with ſomething of Tranſport and Triumph ; Then, then, were the Diſciples glad when they ſaw the Lord. If it revived the Spirit of Jacob, to hear that Joſeph is yet alive ; how would it revive the Hearts of thoſe Diſciples to hear that Jeſus is again alive? 'Tis Life from the Dead to them. Now that Word of Chriſt was fulfilled, John 16. 22. I will ſee you again, and your Heart ſhall rejoyce. This wiped away all Tears from their Eyes. Note, A Sight of Chriſt will glad the Heart of a Diſciple at any Time. The more we ſee of Chriſt, the more we ſhall rejoyce in him; and our Joy will never be perfect till we come there where we ſhall ſee him as he is,

3. The honourable and ample Commiſſion he gave them to be his Agents in the planting of his Church, v. 21. Here's,

1. The Preface to their Commiſſion, which was the ſolemn Repetition of the Salutation before ; Peace be unto you. This was intended, either, 1. To raiſe their Attention to the Commiſſion he was about to give them. The former Salutation was to ſtill the Tumult of their Fear, that they might calmly attend to the Proofs of his Reſurrection; this was to reduce the Tranſport of their Joy, that they might ſedately hear what he had further to ſay to them. Or, 2. To encourage them to accept of the Commiſſion he was giving them. Tho' 'twould involve them in a great deal of Trouble, yet he deſigned their Honour and Comfort in it, and in the Iſſue it would be Peace to them. Gideon received his Commiſſion with this Word, Peace be unto thee, Judg. 6. 22, 23. Chriſt is our Peace; if he be with us, Peace is to us. Chriſt was now ſending the Diſciples to publiſh Peace to the World, Iſa. 52. 7. and Chriſt here not only confers it upon them for their own Satisfaction, but commits it to them as a Truſt to be by them tranſmitted to all the Sons of Peace, Luke 10. 5. 6.

2. The Commiſſion it ſelf, which ſounds very great, As my Father hath ſent me, even ſo ſend I you.

1. It is eaſy to underſtand how Chriſt ſent them; he appointed them to go on with his Work upon Earth, and to lay out themſelves for the ſpreading of his Goſpel, and the ſetting up of his Kingdom among Men. He ſent them authorized with a Divine Warrant, armed with a Divine Power; ſent them as Ambaſſadors to treat of Peace, and as Heralds to Proclaim it; ſent them as Servants to bid to the Marriage. Hence they were called Apoſtles, Men ſent.

2. But how Chriſt ſent them. As the Father ſent him, is not ſo eaſily underſtood. Certainly their Commiſſions and Powers were infinitely inferiour to his. But,

1. Their Work was of the ſame Kind with his, and they were to go on where he left off. They were not ſent to be Prieſts and Kings like him, but only Prophets. As he was ſent to bear Witneſs to the Truth, ſo were they; not to be Mediators of the Reconciliation, but only Preachers and Publiſhers of it. Was he ſent, not to be miniſtred to, but to miniſter; not to do his own Will, but the Will of him that ſent him; not to deſtroy the Law and the Prophets, but to fill them up, ſo were they. As the Father ſent him to the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael, ſo he ſent them into all the World.

2. He had a Power to ſend them equal to that which the Father had to ſend him. Here the Force of the Compariſon ſeems to lye. By the ſame Authority the Father ſent me, do I ſend you. This proves the Godhead of Chriſt; the Commiſſions he gave were of equal Authority with thoſe which the Father gave, and as valid and effectual to all Intents and Purpoſes; equal with thoſe he gave to the Old Teſtament Prophets in Viſions. The Commiſſions of Peter and John by the plain Word of Chriſt, are as good as thoſe of Iſaiah and Ezekiel by the Lord ſitting on his Throne; nay, equal with that which was given to the Mediator himſelf for his Work. Had an he unconteſtible Authority, and an irreſiſtible Ability for his Work, ſo had they for theirs. Or thus, As the Father hath ſent me, is as it were the Recital of his Power, by Virtue of the Authority given him as Mediator, he gave Authority to them as his Miniſters, to act for him, and in his Name, with the Children of Men; ſo that they who received them, or rejected them, received or rejected him, and him that ſent him, John 13. 20.

4. The Qualification of them, for the Diſcharge of the Truſt repoſed in them by their Commiſſion. Ver. 22. He breathed on them, and ſaid, Receive ye the Holy Ghoſt. Obſerve,

1. The Sign he uſed to aſſure them of, and affect them with, this Gift he was now about to beſtow upon them, he breathed on them; not only to ſhew them by this Breath of Life that he himſelf was really alive, but to ſignify to them that ſpiritual Life and Power which they ſhould receive from him for all the Services that lay before them. Probably he breathed upon them all together, not upon each ſeverally, and tho' Thomas was not with them, yet the Spirit of the Lord knew where to find him as he did Eldad and Medad, Num. 11. 26. Chriſt here ſeems to refer to the Creation of Man at firſt, by the breathing of the Breath of Life into him, Gen. 2. 7. and to intimate that he himſelf was the Author of that Work; and that the ſpiritual Life and Strength of Miniſters and Chriſtians is delivered from him, and depends upon him as much as the natural Life of Adam and his Seed. As the Breath of the Almighty gave Life to Man, and began the Old World, ſo the Breath of the mighty Saviour gave Life to his Miniſters, and began a new World, Job, 33. 4. Now this intimates to us, 1. That the Spirit is the Breath of Chriſt proceeding from the Son. The Spirit in the Old Teſtament is compared to Breath, Ezek. 37. 9. Come O Breath, but the New Teſtament tells us it is Chriſt's Breath. The Breath of God is put for the Power of his Wrath, Iſa. 11. 4. and 30. 33. But the Breath of Chriſt ſignifies the Power of his Grace; the breathing of Threatnings is changed into the Breathings of Love by the Mediation of Chriſt. Our Words are uttered by our Breath, ſo the Word of Chriſt is Spirit and Life. The Word comes from the Spirit, and the Spirit comes along with the Word. 2. That the Spirit is the Gift of Chriſt. The Apoſtles communicated the Holy Ghoſt by the laying on of Hands, thoſe Hands being firſt lifted up in Prayer for they could only beg this Bleſſing, and carry it as Meſſengers; but Chriſt conferred the Holy Ghoſt by breathing, for he is the Author of the Gift, and from him it comes Orignally. Moſes could not give his Spirit, God did it, Num. 11. 17. but Chriſt did it himſelf.

2. The ſolemn Grant he made ſignified by this Sign, receive ye the Holy Ghoſt, in part now, as an Earneſt of what you ſhall further receive not many Days hence. They now received more of the Holy Ghoſt than they had yet receiv'd. Thus Spiritual Bleſſings are given gradually; to him that has ſhall be given. Now Jeſus began to be glorified, more of the Spirit began to be given; ſee John 7. 39. Let us ſee what is contain'd in this Grant.

1. Chriſt hereby gives them Aſſurance of the Spirit's Aid in their future Work; in the Execution of the Commiſſion now given them. I ſend you, and you ſhall have the Spirit to go along with you. Now the Spirit of the Lord reſted upon them, to qualify them for all the Services that lay before them: Whom Chriſt employs, he will clothe with his Spirit, and furniſh with all needful Powers.

2. He hereby gives them Experience of the Spirit's Influences in their preſent Caſe. He had ſhewed them his Hands and his Side, to convince them of the Truth of his Reſurrection; but the plaineſt Evidences will not of themſelves work Faith, Witneſs the Infidelity of the Soldiers, who were the only Eye-Witneſſes of the Reſurrection. Therefore receive ye the Holy Ghoſt to work Faith in you, and to open your Underſtandings. They were now in Danger of the Jews, therefore receive ye the Holy Ghoſt to work Courage in you. What Chriſt ſaid to them, he ſaith to all true Believers, receive ye the Holy Ghoſt, Eph. 1. 13. What Chriſt gives we muſt receive, muſt ſubmit our ſelves, and our whole Souls to the quickening, ſanctifying Influences of the Bleſſed Spirit; receiving his Motions and comply with them; receive his Powers and make uſe of them; and they who thus obey this Word as a Precept, ſhall have the Benefit of it as a Promiſe, they ſhall receive the Holy Ghoſt as a Guide of their Way, and the Earneſt of their Inheritance.

5. One particular Breath of the Power given them by their Commiſſion, inſtanced in v. 23. Whoſoever Sins ye remit in the due Execution of the Powers you are entruſted with, they are remitted to them, and they may take the Comfort of it. And whoſoever Sins ye retain, i. e. pronounce unpardoned, and the Guilt of them bound on, they are retained, and the Sinner may be ſure of it to his Sorrow. Now this follows upon their receiving the Holy Ghoſt, for if they had not an extraordinary Spirit of diſcerning, they had not been fit to be intruſted with ſuch an Authority; for in the ſtricteſt Senſe, this is a ſpecial Commiſſion to the Apoſtles themſelves, and the firſt Preachers of the Goſpel, who would diſtinguiſh who were in the gall of Bitterneſs and Bond of Iniquity, and who were not. By virtue of this Power Peter ſtruck Ananias and Saphira dead, and Paul ſtruck Elymas blind. Yet it muſt be underſtood as a general Charter to the Church and her Miniſters, not ſecuring an Infallibility of Judgment to any Man, or Company of Men in the World, but encouraging the faithful Stewards of the Myſteries of God to ſtand to the Goſpel they were ſent to preach, for God himſelf would ſtand to it. The Apoſtles in Preaching Remiſſion muſt begin at Jeruſalem, tho ſhe had lately brought upon her ſelf the Guilt of Chriſt's Blood, yet you may declare their Sins remitted upon Goſpel Terms, and Peter did ſo, Acts 2. 38. and 3. 19. Chriſt being riſen for our Juſtification, ſends his Goſpel Heralds to proclaim the Jubilee begun, the Act of Indemnity now paſt; and by this Rule Men ſhall be judged, John 12. 48. Rom. 2. 16. Jam. 2. 12. God will never alter this Rule of Judgment, nor vary from it; whom the Goſpel acquits ſhall be acquitted, and whom that condemns ſhall be condemned; which puts a mighty Honour upon the Miniſtry, and ſhould put a mighty Courage into Miniſters.

Two Ways the Apoſtles and Miniſters of Chriſt remit and retain Sin, and both as having Authority. 1. By a ſound Doctrine. They are commiſſioned to tell the World that Salvation is to be had upon Goſpel Terms, and no other, and they will find God will ſay Amen to it, ſo ſhall their Doom be. 2. By a ſtrict Diſcipline, applying the general Rule of the Goſpel to particular Perſons. Whom you admit into Communion with you, according to the Rules of the Goſpel, God will admit into Communion with himſelf; and whom you caſt out of Communion as impenitent and obſtinate in ſcandalous and infectious Sins, ſhall be bound over to the righteous Judgment of God.

Thirdly, The Incredulity of Thomas, when the report of this was made to him, which introduc'd Chriſt's ſecond Appearance.

1. Here's Thomas's Abſence from this Meeting, v. 24. He is ſaid to be one of the Twelve, one of the College of the Apoſtles, who tho' now Eleven, had been Twelve, and were to be ſo again. They were but Eleven, and one of them was miſſing; Chriſt's Diſciples will never be all together till the general Aſſembly at the great Day. Perhaps it was Thomas's unhappineſs that he was abſent; either he was not well, or had not notice; or perhaps it was his Sin and Folly; either he was diverted by Buſineſs or Company, which he preferred before this Opportunity; or he durſt not come for fear of the Jews; and he called that his Prudence and Caution which was his Cowardice. However by his Abſence he miſſed the Satisfaction of ſeeing his Maſter riſen, and of ſharing with the Diſciples in their Joy upon this Occaſion. Note. Thoſe know not what they loſe, who careleſly abſent themſelves from the ſtated ſolemn Aſſemblies of Chriſtians.

2. The Account which the other Diſciples gave him of the Viſit their Maſter had made them, v, 25. next Time they ſaw him, they ſaid unto him with Joy enough, We have ſeen the Lord; and no doubt they had related to him all that paſt, particularly the Satisfaction he had given them, by ſhewing them his Hands and his Side. It ſeems, tho' Thomas was then from them, he was not long from them; abſenters for a Time muſt not be condemned as Apoſtates for ever: Thomas is not Judas.

Obſerve with what an Exultation and Triumph they ſpeak it, We have ſeen the Lord, the moſt comfortable Sight we ever ſaw. This they ſaid to Thomas, (1.) To upbraid him with his Abſence. We have ſeen the Lord, but thou haſt not, Or rather, (2.) To inform him. We have ſeen the Lord, and we wiſh thou hadſt been here to ſee him too, for thou wouldſt have ſeen enough to ſatisfy thee. Note, The Diſciples of Chriſt ſhould endeavour to build up one another in their moſt Holy Faith, both by repeating what they have heard to thoſe that were abſent, that they may hear it at a ſecond Hand; as alſo by communicating what they have experienc'd. They that by Faith have ſeen the Lord, and taſted that he is gracious, ſhould tell others what God has done for their Souls; only let boaſting be excluded.

3. The Objections Thomas raiſed againſt the Evidence to juſtify himſelf, in his lothneſs to admit it. Tell me not that you have ſeen the Lord alive, you are too credulous, ſome Body has made Fools of you; for my part, except I ſhall, not only ſee in his Hands the print of the Nails, but put my Finger into it, and thruſt my Hand into the Wound in his Side, I am reſolved I will not believe. Some by comparing this with what he ſaid, John 11. 16. and 14. 5. conjecture him to be a Man of a rough moroſe Temper, apt to ſpeak peeviſhly; for all good People are not alike happy in their Temper; however, there was certainly much amiſs in this here.

1. He had either not heeded, or not duly regarded what Chriſt had ſo often ſaid, and that too according to the Old Teſtament that he would riſe again the third Day; ſo that he ought to have ſaid, He is riſen, tho' he had not ſeen him, nor ſpoke with any that had.

2. He did not pay a juſt Deference to the Teſtimony of his Fellow-Diſciples, who were Men of Wiſdom and Integrity, and ought to be credited. He knew them to be honeſt Men; they all Ten of them concurred in the Teſtimony with great Aſſurance and yet he cannot be perſwaded himſelf to ſay that their Record is true. Chriſt had choſen them to be his Witneſſes of this very Thing to all Nations, and yet Thomas, one of their own Fraternity, will not allow them to be competent Witneſſes, nor truſt them farther than he can ſee them. But it was not their Veracity that he queſtion'd but their Prudence; he feared they were too credulous.

3. He tempted Chriſt, and limited the Holy One of Iſrael, when he would be convinced by his own Method, or not at all. He could not be ſure that the Print of the Nails which the Apoſtles told him they had ſeen, would admit the putting of his Finger into them, or the Wound in his Side the thruſting in of his Hand; nor was it fit to deal ſo roughly with a living Body; yet Thomas ties up his Faith to this Evidence; either he will be humoured, and have his Fancy gratified, or he will not believe; ſee Mat 16. 1. and 27. 42.

4. The open avowing of this in the Preſence of the Diſciples, was an Offence and Diſcouragement to them. 'Twas not only a Sin but a Scandal. As one Coward makes many, ſo doth one Unbeliever, one Sceptick, making his Brethrens Heart to faint like his Heart, Deut. 20. 9. Had he only thought this Evil, and then laid his Hand upon his Mouth to ſuppreſs it, his Error had remained with himſelf, but his proclaming his Infidelity, and that ſo peremtorily, might be of ill Conſequence to the reſt, who w ere as yet but weak and wavering.

26 And after eight days, again his diſciples were within, and Thomas with them: then came Jeſus, the doors being ſhut, and ſtood in the midſt, and ſaid Peace be unto you. 27 Then ſaith he to Thomas, Reach hither thy finger, and behold my hands; and reach hither thy hand, and thruſt it into my ſide; and be not faithleſs, but believing. 28 And Thomas anſwered, and ſaid unto him, My Lord and my God. 29 Jeſus ſaith unto him, Thomas, becauſe thou haſt ſeen me, thou haſt believed: bleſſed are they that have not ſeen, and yet have believed. 30 And many other ſigns truly did Jeſus in the preſence of his diſciples, which are not written in this book. 31 But theſe are written, that ye might believe that Jeſus is the Chriſt the Son of God, and that believing ye might have life through his name.

We have here an Account of another Appearance of Chriſt to his Diſciples after his Reſurrection, when Thomas was now with them. And concerning this we may obſerve, Firſt, When it was that Chriſt repeated this Viſit to his Diſciples after eight Days; that Day ſeven-night after he roſe, which muſt therefore be, as that was, the firſt Day of the Week.

1. He deferred his next Appearance for ſome Time, to ſhew his Diſciples that he was not riſen to ſuch a Life as he had formerly lived, to converſe conſtantly with them, but was as one that belonged to another World, and viſited this, only as Angels do, now and then, when there was occaſion. Where Chriſt was during theſe Eight Days, and the reſt of the Time of his Abode on Earth, is Folly to enquire, and Preſumption to determine. Where ever he was, no doubt Angels miniſtered unto him. In the beginning of his Miniſtry he had been Forty Days unſeen, tempted by the evil Spirit, Mat 4. 1, 2. And now in the beginning of his Glory he was Forty Days, for the moſt part unſeen, attended by good Spirits.

2. He deferred it ſo long as Seven Days. And why ſo?

1. That he might put a Rebuke upon Thomas for his Incredulity, he had neglected the former Meeting of the Diſciples; and to teach him to prize thoſe Seaſons of Grace better for the future, he cannot have ſuch another Opportunity of ſeveral Days. He that ſlips one Tide, muſt ſtay a good while for another. A very melancholy Week we have reaſon to think Thomas had of it, drooping and in ſuſpence, while the other Diſciples were full of Joy; and it was long of himſelf, and his own Folly.

2. That he might try the Faith and Patience of the reſt of the Diſciples. They had gained a great Point when they were ſatisfied that they had ſeen the Lord, Then were the Diſciples glad; but he would try whether they could keep the Ground they had got, when they ſaw no more of him for ſome Days. And thus he would gradually wean them from his bodily Preſence, which they had doted and depended too much upon.

3. That he might put an Honour upon the firſt Day of the Week, and give a plain Intimation of his Will, that it ſhould be obſerved in his Church as the Chriſtian Sabbath, i. e. the weekly Day of holy Reſt, and holy Convocations. That One Day in Seven ſhould be religiouſly obſerved, was an Appointment from the beginning, as old as Innocency; and that in the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, the firſt Day of the Week ſhould be that ſolemn Day, this was Indication enough that Chriſt on that Day once and again met his Diſciples in a religious Aſſembly; and 'tis highly probable, in his former Appearance to them, he appointed them that Day ſeven-night to be together again, and promiſed to meet them; and alſo, that he appeared to them every firſt Day of the Week, beſides other Times, during the Forty Days: And the religious Obſervance of that Day has been from hence tranſmitted down to us through every Age of the Church. This therefore is the Day which the Lord has made.

Secondly, Where and how Chriſt made them this Viſit, 'twas at Jeruſalem, for the Doors were ſhut now, as before, for fear of the Jews. There they ſtayed to keep the Feaſt of unleavened Bread Seven Days, which expired the Day before this, yet they would not ſet out on their Journey to Galilee on the firſt Day of the Week, becauſe it was the Chriſtian Sabbath, but ſtay'd till the Day after. Now obſerve,

1. That Thomas was with them; tho' he had withdrawn himſelf once, yet not a ſecond Time. When we have loſt one Opportunity, we ſhould give the more earneſt heed to lay hold on the next, that we may recover our Loſſes. 'Tis a good Sign if ſuch a Loſs whet our Deſires, and a bad Sign if it cool them. And the Diſciples admitted him among them, and did not inſiſt upon his believing the Reſurrection of Chriſt as they did, becauſe as yet it was but darkly revealed; they did not receive him to doubtful Diſputation, but bid him welcome to come and ſee. But obſerve Chriſt did not appear to Thomas for his Satisfaction till he found him in Society with the reſt of the Diſciples, becauſe he would countenance the meetings of Chriſtians and Miniſters, for there will he be in the midſt of them. And beſides he would have all the Diſciples witneſſes of the Rebuke he gave to Thomas, and yet withal, of the tender Care he had of him.

2. That Chriſt came in amongſt them, and ſtood in the midſt, and they all knew him, for he ſhewed himſelf now, juſt as he had ſhew'd himſelf before, v. 19. ſtill the ſame, and no changing. See the Condeſcenſion of our Lord Jeſus. The Gates of Heaven were ready to be opened to him, and there he might have been in the midſt of the Adorations of a World of Angels, yet for the Benefit of his Church he lingered on Earth, and viſited the little private Meeting of his poor Diſciples, and is in the midſt of them.

3. He ſaluted them all in a friendly Manner, as he had done before, he ſaid, Peace be unto you. This was no vain Repetition, but ſignificant of the abundant, and aſſured Peace which Chriſt gives, and of the continuance of his Bleſſings upon his People, for they fail not, but are new every Morning, new every Meeting.

Thirdly, What paſt between Chriſt and Thomas at this Meeting; and that only is recorded, tho' we may ſuppoſe he ſaid a deal to the reſt of them. Here is,

1. Chriſt's gracious Condeſcenſion to Thomas, v. 27. He ſingled him out from the reſt, and applied himſelf particularly to him. Reach hither thy Finger, and ſince thou wilt have it ſo, behold my Hands, and ſatisfy thy Curioſity to the utmoſt about the print of the Nails; Reach hither thy Hand, and if nothing leſs will convince thee, thruſt it into my Side. Here we have,

(1.) An implicit Rebuke of Thomas's Incredulity, in the plain reference which is here had to what Thomas had ſaid, anſwering it Word for Word, for he had heard it tho' unſeen; and one would think his telling him of it ſhould put him to the bluſh. Note, There is not an unbelieving Word in our Tongues, no nor Thought in our Minds at any Time, but it is known to the Lord Jeſus, Pſal. 78. 21.

(2.) An expreſs Condeſcenſion to his Weakneſs, which appears in Two Things. (1.) That he ſuffers his Wiſdom to be preſcribed to, Great Spirits will not be dictated to by their Inferiors, eſpecially in their Acts of Grace, yet Chriſt is pleaſed here to accommodate himſelf even to Thomas's Fancy, in a needleſs Thing, rather than break with him, and leave him, in his Unbelief. He will not break the bruiſed Reed, but as a good Shepherd gathers that which was driven away, Ezek. 34. 16. We ought thus to bear the Infirmities of the Weak, Rom. 15. 1, 2. (2.) He ſuffers his Wounds to be raked into; allows Thomas even to thruſt his Hand into his Side, if then at laſt he would believe. Thus for the Confirmation of our Faith he hath inſtituted an Ordinance on purpoſe to keep his Death in remembrance, though it was an ignominious, ſhameful Death, and one would think ſhould rather have been forgotten, and no more ſaid of it; yet becauſe it was ſuch an Evidence of his Love, as would be an Encouragement to our Faith, he appoints the Memorial of it to be celebrated. And in that Ordinance wherein we ſhew the Lord's Death, we are called, as it were, to put our Finger into the print of the Nails: Reach hither thy Hand to him, who reacheth forth his helping, inviting, giving Hand to thee.

'Tis an affecting Word with which Chriſt cloſeth up what he had to ſay to Thomas. Be not faithleſs but believing; μὴ γίνου ἄπιστος, Do not thou become an Unbeliever; as if he ſhould have been ſealed up under Unbelief, had he not yielded now. This Warning is given to us all, Be not faithleſs; for if we are faithleſs we are Chriſtleſs and Graceleſs, Hopleſs, and Joyleſs; let us therefore ſay, Lord I believe, help thou mine Unbelief.

2. Thomas's believing Conſent to Jeſus Chriſt. He is now aſhamed of Incredulity, and cries out, My Lord and my God, v. 28. We are not told whether he did put his Finger into the print of the Nails; it ſhould ſeem he did it not, for Chriſt ſaith, v. 29. Thou haſt ſeen and believed, Seeing ſufficed. And now Faith comes off a Conqueror, after a ſtruggle of Unbelief.

1. Thomas is now fully ſatisfied of the Truth of Chriſt's Reſurrection; that the ſame Jeſus that was crucified is now alive, and this is he. His ſlowneſs and backwardneſs to believe, may help to ſtrengthen our Faith; for hereby it appears that the Witneſſes of Chriſt's Reſurrection, who atteſted it to the World, and pawned their Lives upon it, were not eaſy, credulous Men, but cautious enough, and that ſuſpended their Belief of it till they ſaw the utmoſt Evidence of it they could deſire. Thus out of the Eater came forth Meat.

2. He therefore believed him to be Lord and God, and we are to believe him ſo. 1. We muſt believe his Deity, that he is God; not a Man made God, but God made Man, as this Evangeliſt had laid down this Theſis at firſt, Chap. 1. 1. The Author and Head of our Holy Religion has the Wiſdom, Power, Sovereignty, and Unchangeableneſs of God, which was neceſſary, becauſe he was to be not only the Founder of it, but the Foundation of it for its conſtant Support, and the Fountain of Life for its Supply. 2. His Mediation, that he is Lord, the One Lord, 1 Cor. 8. 5. 1 Tim. 2. 5. He is ſufficiently authoriz'd as Plenepotentiary to ſettle the great Concerns that lye between God and Man; to take up the Controverſy which would inevitably have been our Ruin, and to eſtabliſh the Correſpondence that was neceſſary to our Happineſs; ſee Acts 2. 36. Rom. 14. 9.

3. He conſented to him as his Lord and his God. In Faith there muſt be the conſent of the Will to Goſpel Terms, as well as the Aſſent of the Underſtanding to Goſpel Truths. We muſt accept of Chriſt to be that to us which the Father had appointed him. My Lord, refers to Adonai, my Fountain and Stay. My God to Elohim, my Prince and Judge. God having conſtituted him the Umpire and Referee, we muſt approve the Choice, and intirely refer our ſelves to him. This is the vital Act of Faith, he is mine, Cant. 2. 16.

4. He made an open Profeſſion of this, before thoſe that had been the Witneſſes of his unbelieving Doubts. He ſaith it to Chriſt, and to compleat the Senſe we muſt read it, Thou art my Lord and my God; or, ſpeaking to his Brethren, This is my Lord and my God. Do we accept of Chriſt as our Lord God, we muſt go to him, and tell him ſo, as David, Pſal. 16. 2. Deliver the Surrender to him as our Act and Deed. Tell others ſo as thoſe that triumph in our Relation to Chriſt, This is my Beloved. Thomas ſpeaks with an ardency of Affection, as one that took hold of Chriſt with all his might, My Lord and my God.

3. The Judgment of Chriſt upon the whole, v. 29. Thomas, becauſe thou haſt ſeen me thou haſt believed, and 'tis well thou art brought to it at laſt upon any Terms; But bleſſed are they that have not ſeen and yet have believed. Here,

1. Chriſt owns Thomas a Believer. Sound and ſincere Believers, tho' they be ſlow and weak, ſhall be graciouſly accepted of the Lord Jeſus. They who have long ſtood it out, if at laſt they yield, ſhall find him ready to forgive. No ſooner did Thomas conſent to Chriſt, but Chriſt gives him the comfort of it, and lets him know that he believes.

2. He upbraids him with his former Incredulity. He might well be aſhamed to think, (1.) That he had been ſo backward to believe, and came ſo ſlowly to his own Comforts. They that in ſincerity have cloſed with Chriſt, ſee a great deal of reaſon to lament it that they did not do it ſooner. (2.) That it was not without much ado that he was brought to believe at laſt. If thou hadſt not ſeen me alive thou wouldſt not have believed; but if no Evidence muſt be admitted but that of our own Senſes, and we muſt believe nothing but what we our ſelves are Eye-witneſſes of, farewel all Commerce and Converſation. If this muſt be the only Method of Proof, how muſt the World be converted to the Faith of Chriſt? He is therefore juſtly blamed for laying ſo much ſtreſs upon this.

3. He commends the Faith of thoſe who believe upon eaſier Terms. Thomas as a Believer was truely bleſſed, but rather bleſſed are they that have not ſeen. 'Tis not meant of not ſeeing the Objects of Faith, for thoſe are inviſible, Heb. 11. 1. 2 Cor. 4. 18. but the Motives of Faith; Chriſt's Miracles, and eſpecially his Reſurrection; Bleſſed are they that ſee not theſe, and yet believe in Chriſt. This may look either backward upon the Old Teſtament Saints who had not ſeen the Things which they ſaw, and yet believed the Promiſe made unto the Fathers, and lived by that Faith. Or forward upon them which ſhould afterwards believe; the Gentiles who had never ſeen Chriſt in the Fleſh, as the Jews had. This Faith is more laudable and praiſe-worthy than theirs who ſaw and believed; for, 1. It evidenceth a better Temper of Mind in thoſe that do believe. Not to ſee and yet to believe argues greater Induſtry in ſearching after Truth, and greater Ingenuity of Mind in embracing it. He that believes upon that Sight, hath his Reſiſtance conquered by a ſort of violence, but he that believes without that, like the Bereans, is more Noble.

2. It is a greater Inſtance of the Power of Divine Grace. The leſs ſenſible the Evidence is, the more doth the work of Faith appear to be the Lord's Doing: Peter is bleſſed in his Faith becauſe Fleſh and Blood has not revealed it to him, Mat. 16. 17. Fleſh and Blood contribute more to their Faith than ſee and believe, than to theirs who ſee not and yet believe. Dr. Lightfoot quotes a Saying of one of the Rabbins, "That one Proſelyte is more acceptable to God than all "the Thouſands of Iſrael that ſtood before Mount Sinai, for they ſaw "and received the Law, but a Proſelyte ſees not, and yet receives it.

Fourthly, The Remark which the Evangeliſt makes upon his Narative, like an Hiſtorian drawing towards a Concluſion, v. 30, 31. And here,

1. He aſſures us that many other things occurr'd which were all worthy to be recorded, but are not written in the Book: Many Signs. Some refer this to all the Signs that Jeſus did during his whole Life. All the wonderous Words he ſpoke, and all the wonderous Works he did; but it ſeems rather to be confined to the Signs he did after his Reſurrection, for theſe were in the preſence of the Diſciples only, which are here ſpoken of, Acts, 10. 41. Divers of his Appearences are not recorded, as appears, 1 Cor. 15. 5, 7. ſee Acts 1. 3. Now,

1. We may here improve this general Atteſtation, that there were other Signs, many other, for the Confirmation of our Faith; and being added to the particular Narratives, very much ſtrengthens the Evidence. They that recorded the Reſurrection of Chriſt were not put to fiſh for Evidence, to take up ſuch ſhort and ſcanty Proofs as they could find, and make out the reſt with Conjecture; No, they had Evidence enough and to ſpare, and more Witneſſes to produce than they had occaſion for. The Diſciples, in whoſe Preſence theſe other Signs were done, were to be Preachers of Chriſt's Reſurrection to others, and therefore it was requiſite they ſhould have proofs of it, ex abundanti, that they might have a ſtrong Conſolation who ventured Life and all upon it.

2. We need not ask why they were not all written, or why not more than theſe, or other than theſe, for it is enough for us that ſo it ſeemed good to the Holy Spirit, by whoſe Inſpiration this was given. Had this Hiſtory been a mere Human Compoſure, it had been ſwelled with a multitude of Depoſitions and Affidavits, to prove the conteſted Truth of Chriſt's Reſurrection, and long Arguments drawn up for the Demonſtration of it; but being a Divine Hiſtory, the Penmen writ with a noble Security, relating what amounted to a competant Proof, ſufficient to convince thoſe that were willing to be taught, and to condemn thoſe that were obſtinate in their Unbelief; and if this ſatisfy not, more would not. Men produce all they have to ſay, that they may gain Credit, but God doth not, for he can give Faith. Had this Hiſtory been written for the Entertainment of the Curious, it would have been more Copious, for every Circumſtance would have brightened, and embeliſhed the Story; but it was written to bring Men to believe, and enough is ſaid to anſwer that Intention, whether Men will hear, or whether they will forbear.

2. He Inſtructs us in the Deſign of recording what we do find here v. 31. Theſe Accounts are given in this and the following Chapter, that ye might believe upon theſe Evidences, that you might believe that Jeſus is the Chriſt the Son of God, declared with Power to be ſo by his Reſurrection.

1. Here's the Deſign of thoſe that wrote the Goſpel. Some write Books for their Diverſion, and publiſh them for their Profit or Applauſe; others to oblige the Athenian Humour; others to inſtruct the World in Arts and Sciences for their ſecular Advantage; but the Evangeliſts wrote without any view of temporal Benefit to themſelves or others, but to bring Men to Chriſt and Heaven, and in order to that to perſwade Men to believe; and for this they took the moſt fitting Methods, they brought to the World a Divine Revelation, ſupported with its due Evidences.

2. The Duty of thoſe that read and hear the Goſpel: 'Tis their Duty to believe, to embrace the Doctrine of Chriſt, and that Record given concerning him, 1 John 5. 11.

1. We are here told what the great Goſpel Truth is which we are to believe, that Jeſus is that Chriſt, that Son of God. (1.) That he is the Chriſt; the Perſon that under the Title of the Meſſiah was promis'd to, and expected by the O. T. Saints; and that according to the ſignification of the Name is annointed of God to be a Prince and Saviour. (2.) That he is the Son of God; not only as Mediator, for then he had not been greater than Moſes who was both a Prophet, Interceſſor, and Lawgiver, but antecedent to his being the Mediator, for if he had not been a Divine Perſon, endued with the Power of a God, and entitl'd to the Glory of a God, he had not been qualified for the Undertaking, not fit either to do the Redeemer's Work, or to wear the Redeemer's Crown.

2. What the great Goſpel Bleſſedneſs is which we are to hope for, That believing we ſhall have Life thro' his Name. This is, 1. To direct our Faith; it muſt have an Eye to the Life, the Crown of Life, the Tree of Life ſet before us. Life thro' Chriſt's Name; the Life propos'd in the Covenant which is made with us in Chriſt, is what we muſt propoſe to our ſelves as the Fulneſs of our Joy, and the abundant Recompence of all our Services and Sufferings. 2. To encourage our Faith, and invite us to believe. Upon the Proſpect of ſome great Advantage Men will venture far, and greater Advantage there cannot be than that which is offer'd by the Words of this Life, as the Goſpel is called, Acts 5. 20. it includes both Spiritual Life in Conformity to God and Communion with him, and Eternal Life in the Viſion and Fruition of him. Both are through Chriſt's Name, by his Merit and Power, and both indefeaſibly ſure to all Believers.

CHAP. XXI.

The Evangeliſt ſeemed to have concluded his Hiſtory with the foregoing Chapter; but as St. Paul ſometimes in his Epiſtles, new Matter occurring, he begins again. He had ſaid, That there were many other Signs which Jeſus did for the Proof of his Reſurrection. And in this Chapter he inſtanceth in one of thoſe many, which was Chriſt's Appearance to ſome of his Diſciples at the Sea of Tiberias, in which we have an Account, (1.) How he diſcovered himſelf to them as they were Fiſhing, filled their Net, and then very familiarly came and dined with them upon what they had caught, v. 1. ——14. (2.) What Diſcourſe he had with Peter after Dinner, (1.) Concerning himſelf, v. 15.—20. (2.) Concerning John, v. 21——23. (3.) The ſolemn Concluſion of this Goſpel, v. 24, 25. 'Tis ſtrange any ſhould ſuppoſe that this Chapter was added by ſome other Hand, when it is expreſly ſaid, v. 24. That the Diſciple whom Jeſus loved, is he which teſtifieth theſe Things.

AFter theſe things Jeſus ſhewed himſelf again to the diſciples at the ſea of Tiberias; and on this wiſe ſhewed he himſelf: 2 There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, and the ſons of Zebedee, and two other of his diſciples. 3 Simon Peter ſaith unto them, I go a fiſhing. They ſay unto him, We alſo go with thee. They went forth and entred into a ſhip immediately, and that night they caught nothing. 4 But when the morning was now come, Jeſus ſtood on the ſhore: but the diſciples knew not that it was Jeſus. 5 Then Jeſus ſaith unto them, Children, have ye any meat? They anſwered him, No. 6 And he ſaid unto them, Caſt the net on the right ſide of the ſhip, and ye ſhall find. They caſt therefore, and now they were not able to draw it for the multitude of fiſhes. 7 Therefore that diſciple whom Jeſus loved, ſaith unto Peter, It is the Lord. Now when Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he girt his fiſhers coat unto him, (for he was naked) and did caſt himſelf into the ſea. 8 And the other diſciples came in a little ſhip (for they were not far from land, but as it were two hundred cubits) dragging the net with fiſhes. 9. As ſoon then as they were come to land, they ſaw a fire of coals there, and fiſh laid thereon, and bread. 10 Jeſus ſaith unto them, Bring of the fiſh, which ye have now caught. 11 Simon Peter went up, and drew the net to land full of great fiſhes, an hundred and fifty and three: and for all there were ſo many, yet was not the net broken. 12 Jeſus ſaith unto them, Come and dine. And none of the diſciples durſt ask him, Who art thou? knowing that it was the Lord. 13 Jeſus then cometh and taketh bread, and giveth them, and fiſh likewiſe. 14 This is now the third time that Jeſus ſhewed himſelf to his diſciples, after that he was riſen from the dead.

We have here an Account of Chriſt's Appearance to his Diſciples at the Sea of Tiberias. Now,

1. Let us compare this Appearance with thoſe that went before. In thoſe Chriſt ſhewed himſelf to his Diſciples when they were met in a ſolemn Aſſembly (it ſhould ſeem for Religious Worſhip) upon a Lord's Day, and when they were altogether, perhaps, expecting his appearing; but in this he ſhewed himſelf to ſome of them occaſionally, upon a Week-day, when they were fiſhing, and little thought of it. Chriſt has many Ways of making himſelf known to his People, uſually in his Ordinances; but ſometimes by his Spirit he viſits them when they are employ'd in common Buſineſs, as the Shepherds, who were keeping their Flock by Night, Luke 2. 8. even here alſo, Gen. 16. 13.

2. Let us compare it with that which followed at the Mountain in Galilee, where Chriſt had appointed them to meet him, Matt. 28. 16. Thitherward they moved as ſoon as the Days of unleavened Bread were over, and diſpoſed of themſelves as they thought fit, till the Time fixed for this Interview, or general Rendezvouz. Now this Appearance was while they were waiting for that, that they might not be weary of waiting. Chriſt is often better than his Word, but never worſe; often prevents and outdoes the believing Expectations of his People, but never diſappoints them.

As to the Particulars of the Story we may obſerve,

Firſt. Who they were to whom Chriſt now ſhew'd himſelf, v. 2. not to all the Twelve, but to Seven of them only. Nathaniel is mentioned as one of them whom we have not met with ſince, John 1. but ſome think he was the ſame with Bartholomew, one of the Twelve. The two not named are ſuppoſed to be Philip of Bethſaida, and Andrew of Capernaum. Obſerve here,

1. It is good for the Diſciples of Chriſt to be much together; not only in ſolemn, religious Aſſemblies, but in common Converſation, and about common Buſineſs. Good Chriſtians ſhould by this Means both teſtify and increaſe their Affection to, and Delight in each other, and edify one another both by Diſcourſe and Example. 2. Chriſt choſe to manifeſt himſelf to them when they were together; not only to countenance Chriſtian Society, but that they might be joint Witneſſes of the ſame Matter of Fact, and ſo might corroborate one another's Teſtimony. Here were Seven together to atteſt this; on which Occaſion ſome obſerve, that the Roman Law required Seven Witneſſes to a Teſtament.

3. Thomas was one of them, and is named next to Peter, as if he now kept cloſer to the Meetings of the Apoſtles than ever. 'Tis well if Loſſes by our Neglects make us more careful afterwards not to ſlip Opportunities.

Secondly, How they were employed, v. 3. Obſerve,

1. Their Agreement to go a Fiſhing. They know not well what to do with themſelves: For my part, ſaith Peter, I'll go a Fiſhing; we'll go with thee then, ſaith they, for we will keep together. Tho' commonly two of a Trade cannot agree, yet they could. Some think they did amiſs in returning to their Boats and Nets, which they had left; but then Chriſt would not have countenanced them in it with a Viſit. It was rather commendable in them; for they did it, (1.) To redeem Time, and not be idle. They were not yet appointed to preach the Reſurrection of Chriſt. Their Commiſſion was in the drawing, but not perfected. The Hour for entring upon Action was not come: 'Tis likely their Maſter had directed them to ſay nothing of his Reſurrection till after his Aſcenſion, nay, not till after the pouring out of the Spirit, and then they were to begin at Jeruſalem. Now in the mean time, rather than do nothing, they would go a Fiſhing; not for Recreation, but for Buſineſs.

'Tis an Inſtance of their Humility, tho' they were advanced to be ſent of Chriſt as he was of the Father, yet they did not take State upon them, but remember'd the Rock out of which they were hewn. 'Tis an Inſtance likewiſe of their Induſtry, and ſpeaks them good Husbands of their Time. While they were waiting, they would not be idling. Thoſe who would give an Account of their Time with Joy, ſhould contrive to fill up the Vacancies of it, to gather up the Fragments of it, (2.) That they might help to maintain themſelves, and not be buthenſome to any. While their Maſter was with them, thoſe that miniſtred to him were kind to them; but now the Bridegroom was taken from them, they muſt faſt in thoſe Days; and therefore their own Hands, as Paul's, muſt miniſter to their Neceſſities; and for that Reaſon Chriſt asked them, Have ye any Meat? This teacheth us with Quietneſs to work, and eat our own Bread.

2. Their Diſappointment in their Fiſhing. That Night they caught nothing, tho 'tis likely they toiled all Night, as Luke 5. 5. See the Vanity of this World; the Hand of the Diligent often returns empty. Even good Men may come ſhort of deſired Succeſs in their honeſt Undertakings. We may be in the Way of our Duty, and yet not proſper. Providence ſo ordered it, that of all Night they ſhould catch nothing, that the miraculous Draughts of Fiſhes in the Morning might be the more wonderful, and the more acceptable. In thoſe Diſappointments which to us are very grievous, God has often Deſigns that are very gracious. Man has indeed a Dominion over the Fiſh of the Sea, but they are not always at his Beck; God only knows the Paths of the Sea, and commands that which paſſeth through them.

Thirdly, After what manner Chriſt made himſelf known to them. 'Tis ſaid, v. 1. He ſhewed himſelf. His Body, tho' a true and real Body, yet was raiſed, as ours will be, a ſpiritual Body, and ſo was viſible only when he himſelf was pleaſed to make it ſo; or rather, came and removed ſo quickly, that it was here or there inconſtant in a Moment, in the twinkling of an Eye.

Four Things are obſervable in the Appearance of Chriſt to them.

1. He ſhewed himſelf to them ſeaſonably. Ver. 4. When the Morning was now come, after a fruitleſs Night's Toil, Jeſus ſtood on the Shore. Chriſt's Time of making himſelf known to his People, is when they are moſt at a Loſs. When they think they have loſt themſelves, he will let them know they have not loſt him. Weeping may endure for a Night; but Joy comes, if Chriſt comes, in the Morning. Chriſt appeared to them not walking upon the Water, becauſe being riſen from the Dead, he was not to be with them as he had been; but ſtanding upon the Shore, becauſe now they were to make towards him. Some of the Ancients put this Significancy upon it, That Chriſt having finiſhed his Work, was got through a ſtormy Sea, a Sea of Blood, to a ſafe and quiet Shore, where he ſtood in Triumph; but the Diſciples having their Work before them were yet at Sea in Toil and Peril. 'Tis Comfort to us when our Paſſage is rough and ſtormy, that our Maſter is at Shore, and we are haſtening to him.

2. He ſhewed himſelf to them gradually. The Diſciples, tho' they had been intimately acquainted with him, knew not preſently that it was Jeſus. Little expecting to ſee him there; and not looking intently upon him, they took him for ſome common Perſon waiting the Arrival of their Boat to buy their Fiſh. Note, Chriſt is often nearer us than we think he is, and ſo we ſhall find afterwards to our Comfort.

3. He ſhew'd himſelf to them by an Inſtance of his Pity, v. 5. He called to them, Children, παιδία Lads, Have ye any Meat? Have ye caught any Fiſh? Here, (1.) The compellation is very familiar; he ſpeaketh unto them as unto his Sons, with the Care and Tenderneſs of a Father, Children. Tho' he was now enter'd upon his exalted State, he ſpoke to his Diſciples with as much Kindneſs and Affection as ever. They were not Children in Age, but they were his Children; the Children which God had given him. (2.) The Queſtion is very kind; Have ye any Meat? He asks, as a tender Father concerning his Children, whether they be provided with that which is fit for them? That if they be not, he may take Care for their Supply. Note, the Lord is for the Body, 1 Cor. 6. 13. Chriſt takes Cognizance of the temporal Wants of his People, and has promiſed them not only Grace ſufficient, but Food convenient. Verily they ſhall be fed, Pſal. 37. 3. Chriſt looks into the Cottages of the Poor, and asks, Children, Have ye any Meat? Thereby inviting them to open their Caſe before him, and by the Prayer of Faith to make their Requeſts known to him, and then let them be careful for nothing, for Chriſt takes Care of them; takes Care for them. Chriſt has herein ſet us an Example of compaſſionate Concern for our Brethren; there are many poor Houſholders diſabled for Labour, or diſappointed in it that are reduced to Straits, whom the Rich ſhould enquire after thus, Have ye any Meat? For the moſt neceſſitous are commonly the leaſt clamorous.

To this Queſtion the Diſciples give a ſhort Anſwer, and ſome think with an Air of Diſcontent and Peeviſhneſs. They ſaid, No. Not giving him any ſuch friendly and reſpectful Title as he had given them: So ſhort do the beſt come in their Returns of Love to the Lord Jeſus. Chriſt put the Queſtion to them, not becauſe he did not know their Wants; but he would know them from them. They that would have Supplies from Chriſt, muſt own themſelves empty and needy.

4. He ſhewed himſelf to them by an Inſtance of his Power; and this perfected the Diſcovery. Ver. 6. He ordered them to caſt the Net on the right Side of the Ship, the contrary Side to what they had been caſting it on, and then they, who were going home empty handed, were enriched with a great Draught of Fiſhes. Here we have,

1. The Orders Chriſt gave them and the Promiſe annexed to thoſe Orders. Caſt the Net there in ſuch a Place, and you ſhall find. He from whom nothing is hid, no not the Inhabitants under the Waters, (Job 26. 5.) knew on what Side of the Ship the Shoal of Fiſhes was, and to that Side he directs them. Note, Divine Providence extends it ſelf to things moſt minute and contingent, and they are happy that know how to take Hints from thence in the Conduct of their Affairs, and acknowledge it in all their Ways.

2. Their Obedience to theſe Orders, and the good Succeſs of that. As yet they knew not that it was Jeſus, however they were willing to be adviſed by any body, and did not bid this ſuppoſed Stranger mind his own Buſineſs, and not meddle with theirs, but took his Counſel; and in being thus obſervant of Strangers, they were obedient to their Maſter unawares. And it ſped wonderful well; now they had a Draught that paid them for all their Pains. Note, Thoſe that are humble, diligent, and patient, tho' their Labours may be croſſed, they ſhall be crowned; they ſometimes live to ſee their Affairs take a happy Turn after many Struggles, and fruitleſs Attempts. There's nothing loſt by obſerving Chriſt's Orders. Thoſe are likely to ſpeed well that follow the Rule of the Word, the Conduct of the Spirit, and the Intimations of Providence; for that's caſting the Net on the right Side of the Ship.

Now the Draught of Fiſhes may be conſidered.

1. As a Miracle in it ſelf: And ſo it was deſigned, to prove that Jeſus Chriſt was raiſed in Power, tho' ſown in Weakneſs; and that all things were put under his Feet, the Fiſhes of the Sea not excepted. Chriſt manifeſts himſelf to his People by doing that for them which none elſe can do, and things which they looked not for.

2. As a Mercy to them; for the ſeaſonable and abundant Supply of their Neceſſities. When their Ingenuity and Induſtry failed them, the Power of Chriſt came in opportunely for their Relief; for he would take Care that they who had left all for him, ſhould not want any good thing. When we are moſt at a loſs, Jehovah Jireh.

3. As the Memorial of a former Mercy, with which Chriſt had formerly recompenced Peter for the Loan of his Boat, Luke 5. 4, &c. This Miracle nearly reſembled that, and could not but put Peter in mind of that, which helped him to improve this; for both that and this affected him much, as meeting him in his own Element, in his own Employment. Latter Favours are deſigned to bring to mind former Favours, that eaten Bread may not be forgotten.

4. As a Myſtery, and very ſignificant of that Work to which Chriſt was now with an enlarged Commiſſion ſending them forth. The Prophets had been fiſhing for Souls, and caught nothing, or very little; but the Apoſtles that let down the Net at Chriſt's Word had wonderful Succeſs, Many more the Children of the Deſolate, Gal. 4. 27. They themſelves, in Purſuance of their former Miſſion, when they were firſt made Fiſhers of Men, had had ſmall Succeſs in Compariſon with what they ſhould now have. When ſoon after this three thouſand were converted in one Day, then the Net was caſt on the right Side of the Ship. It is an Encouragement to Chriſt's Miniſters to continue their Diligence in their Work: One happy Draught at length may be ſufficient to repay many years Toil at the Goſpel Net.

Fourthly, How the Diſciples received this Diſcovery which Chriſt made of himſelf, v. 7, 8. Where we find,

1. That John was the moſt intelligent and quick-ſighted Diſciple. He whom Jeſus loved was the firſt that ſaid, It was the Lord; for thoſe whom Chriſt loves he will in a ſpecial Manner manifeſt himſelf to: His Secret is with his Favourites. John had adhered more cloſely to his Maſter in his Sufferings than any of them; and therefore he has a clearer Eye, and a more diſcerning Judgment than any of them, in Recompence for his Conſtancy. When John was himſelf aware that it was the Lord, he communicated his Knowledge to thoſe with him; for this Diſpenſation of the Spirit is given to every one to profit withal. They that know Chriſt themſelves ſhould endeavour to bring others acquainted with him, we need not engroſs him; there's enough in him for us all. John tells Peter particularly his Thoughts that it was the Lord; knowing he would be glad to ſee him above any of them. Tho' Peter had denied his Maſter; yet having repented, and being taken into the Communion of the Diſciples again, they were as free and familiar with him as ever.

2. That Peter was the moſt zealous and warm-hearted Diſciple; for as ſoon as he heard it was the Lord, for which he took John's Word, the Ship could not hold him, nor could he ſtay the bringing of it to Shore, but into the Sea he throws himſelf preſently that he might come firſt to Chriſt.

(1.) He ſhewed his reſpect to Chriſt by girding his Fiſher's Coat about him, that he might appear before his Maſter in the beſt Cloaths he had, and not rudely ruſh into his Preſence ſtript as he was to his Waſtecoat and Drawers becauſe the Work he was about was toilſome, and he was reſolved to take Pains in it. Perhaps this Fiſher's Coat was made of Leather, or Oil Cloth, and would keep out wet; and he girt it to him that he might make the beſt of his Way through the Water to Chriſt, as he us'd to do after his Nets, when he was intent upon his Fiſhing.

(2.) He ſhewed the Strength of his Affection to Chriſt, and his earneſt Deſire to be with him, by caſting himſelf into the Sea; and either wading or ſwimming to Shore to come to him. When he walked upon the Water to Chriſt, Mat. 14. 28. 29. 'twas ſaid, He came down out of the Ship deliberately; but here it is ſaid, He caſt himſelf into the Sea with Precipitation, ſink or ſwim, he would ſhew his Good-will, and Aim to be with Jeſus. If Chriſt ſuffer me (thinks he) to drown and come ſhort of him, 'tis but what I deſerve for denying him. Peter had had much forgiven, and made it appear he loved much by his willingneſs to run Hazards, and undergo Hardſhips to come to him. They that have been with Jeſus, will be willing to ſwim through a ſtormy Sea, a Sea of Blood to come to him. And it is a laudable Contention among Chriſt's Diſciples to ſtrive who ſhall be firſt with him.

3. That the reſt of the Diſciples were careful and honeſt hearted. Tho' they were not in ſuch a tranſport of Zeal as to throw themſelves into the Sea like Peter, yet they haſtened in the Boat to the Shore, and made the beſt of their Way, v. 8. The other Diſciples, and John with them, who had firſt diſcovered that it was Chriſt, came, ſlowly, yet they came to Chriſt. Now here we may obſerve,

(1.) How variouſly God diſpenſeth his Gifts. Some excel, as Peter and John were very eminent in Gifts and Graces, and are thereby diſtinguiſh'd from their Brethren; others are but ordinary Diſciples that mind their Duty, and are Faithful to him, but do nothing to make themſelves remarkable: And yet both the one and the other, the Eminent and the Obſcure, ſhall ſit down together with Chriſt in Glory; nay, and perhaps, the laſt ſhall be firſt. Of thoſe that do excel, ſome like John are eminently contemplative, have great Gifts of Knowledge, and ſerve the Church with that, others like Peter, eminently active and couragious, are ſtrong and do Exploits, and are thus very ſerviceable to their Generation. Some are uſeful as the Churches Eyes; others as the Churches Hands; and all for the Good of the Body.

(2.) What a great deal of Difference there may be between ſome good People and others in the Way of their honouring Chriſt; and yet both accepted of him. Some ſerve Chriſt more in Acts of Devotion, and extraordinary Expreſſions of a religious Zeal, and they do well, to the Lord they do it; Peter ought not to be cenſured for caſting himſelf into the Sea, but commended for his Zeal, and the Strength of his Affection; and ſo muſt they be that in love to Chriſt quit the World with Mary to ſit at his Feet. But others ſerve Chriſt more in the Affairs of the World, they continue in that Ship, drag the Net, and bring the Fiſh to Shore, as the other Diſciples here, and ſuch ought not to be cenſured as Worldly; for they in their Place are as truely ſerving Chriſt as the other, even in ſerving Tables. If all the Diſciples had done as Peter did, What had become of their Fiſh and their Nets? And yet if Peter had done as they did, we had wanted the Inſtance of holy Zeal. Chriſt was well pleaſed with both, and ſo muſt we.

(3.) That there are ſeveral ways of bringing Chriſt's Diſciples to Shore to him from off the Sea of this World. Some are brought to him by a violent Death, as the Martyrs, that threw themſelves into the Sea in their Zeal for Chriſt; others are brought to him by a Natural Death, dragging the Net, which is leſs terrible: But both meet at length on the ſafe and quiet Shore with Chriſt.

Fifthly, What Entertainment the Lord Jeſus gave them when they came aſhore.

1. He had Proviſion ready for them. When they came to Land, wet and cold, weary and hungry, they found a good Fire there, to warm 'em, and dry 'em, and Fiſh and Bread; competent Proviſion for a good Meal.

(1.) We need not be curious in enquiring whence this Fire, and Fiſh, and Bread came, no more than whence the Meat came which the Ravens brought Elijah. He that could multiply the Loaves and Fiſhes that were, could make new ones if he pleaſed, or turn Stones into Bread, or ſend his Angels to fetch it where he knew 'twas to be had. 'Tis uncertain whether this Proviſion was made in the open Air, or in ſome Fiſher's Cabin, or Hut upon the Shore. Here was nothing ſtately or delicate; we ſhould be content with mean Things, for Chriſt was.

2. We may be comforted in this Inſtance of Chriſt's Care of his Diſciples; he has wherewith to ſupply all their Needs, and knows what Things we have need of. He kindly provided for thoſe Fiſhermen, when they came weary from their Work, for verily they ſhall be fed who truſt in the Lord, and do good. 'Tis encouraging to Chriſt's Miniſters, whom he hath made Fiſhers of Men, that they may depend upon him who employs them to provide for them; and if they ſhould miſs of Encouragement in this World, ſhould be reduced as Paul was, to Hunger and Thirſt, and Faſtings often, let them content themſelves with what they have here, they have better Things in Reſerve, and ſhall eat and drink with Chriſt at his Table, in his Kingdom, Luke 22. 30. A while ago the Diſciples had entertained Chriſt with a broiled Fiſh, Luke 24. 42. and now, as a Friend, he return'd their Kindneſs, and entertain'd them with one; nay, in the Draught of Fiſhes he repay'd them more than an Hundred-fold.

2. He called for ſome of that which they had caught, and they produced it, v. 10, 11. Obſerve here,

(1.) The Command Chriſt gave them to bring their Draught of Fiſh to Shore. Bring of the Fiſh hither which you have now caught, and let us have ſome of them; not as if he needed it, and could not make up a Dinner for them without it; but, (1.) He would have them eat the Labour of their Hands, Pſal. 128. 2. what is got by God's Bleſſing on our own Induſtry, and honeſt Labour, if withal God gave us Power to eat of it, and enjoy Good in our Labour, hath a peculiar Sweetneſs in it. 'Tis ſaid of the ſloathful man, that he roaſteth not that which he took in Hunting; cannot find in his Heart to dreſs what he has been at the Pains to take, Prov. 12. 27. But Chriſt would hereby teach us to uſe what we have. (2.) He would have them taſte the Gifts of his miraculous Bounty, that they might be Witneſſes both of his Power and of his Goodneſs. The Benefits Chriſt beſtows upon us are not to be buried and laid up, but to be uſed and laid out. (3.) He would give a Specimen of the ſpiritual Entertainment he has for all Believers, which in this reſpect is moſt free and familiar, that he ſups with them, and they with him. Their Graces are pleaſing to him, and his Comforts are ſo to them. What he works in them he accepts from them. (4.) Miniſters that are Fiſhers of Men, muſt bring all they catch to their Maſter, for on him their Succeſs depends.

(2.) Their Obedience to this Command, v. 11. It was ſaid, v. 6. they were not able to draw the Net to ſhore, for the Multitude of Fiſhes, i. e. they found it difficult, it was more than they could well do; but he that bid them bring it to ſhore, made it eaſie. Thus the Fiſhers of Men, when they have incloſed Souls in the Goſpel Net, cannot bring them to ſhore, cannot carry on, and compleat the good Work begun, without the continued Influence of the Divine Grace. If he that helped us to catch them, when without his Help we ſhould have caught nothing, do not help us to keep them, and draw them to land, by building them up in their moſt Holy Faith, we ſhall loſe them at laſt, 1 Cor. 3. 7.

Obſerve, 1. Who it was that was moſt active in landing the Fiſh, 'twas Peter, who, as in the former Inſtance, v. 7. he had ſhewed a more zealous Affection to his Maſter's Perſon than any of them, ſo in this ſhewed a more ready Obedience to his Maſter's Commands. But all that are faithful are not a-like forward.

2. The Number of the Fiſhes that were caught. They had the Curioſity to count them, and perhaps it was in order to the making of a Dividend; They were in all a Hundred and Fifty Three, and all great Fiſhes. Theſe were many more than they needed for their preſent Supply, but they might ſell them, and the Money would ſerve to bear their Charges back to Jeruſalem, whither they were ſhortly to return.

3. A further Inſtance of Chriſt's Care of them, to increaſe both the Miracle and the Mercy; for all there were ſo many, and great Fiſhes too, yet was not the Net broken; ſo that they loſt none of their Fiſh, nor damaged their Net. 'Twas ſaid, Luke 5. 6. their Net brake. Perhaps this was a borrowed Net, for they had long ſince left their own; and if ſo, Chriſt would teach us to take care of what he have borrowed, as much as if it were our own. 'Twas well their Net did not break, for they had not now the leiſure they had to mend their Nets. The Net of the Goſpel has incloſed Multitudes; Three Thouſand in one Day, and yet is not broken; 'tis ſtill as mighty as ever to bring Souls to God.

3. He invited them to Dinner. Obſerving them to keep their Diſtance, and that they were afraid to aſk him, Who art thou? becauſe they knew it was their Lord, he called to them very familiarly, Come and dine.

(1.) See here how free Chriſt was with his Diſciples, he treated them as Friends; he did not ſay, Come and wait, come and attend me, but come and Dine: Not go dine by your ſelves, as Servants are appointed to do, but come and dine with me. This kind Invitation may be alluded to, to illuſtrate, (1.) The Call Chriſt gives his Diſciples into Communion with him in Grace here. All Things are now ready, Come and Dine. Chriſt is a Feaſt, come dine upon him; his Fleſh is Meat indeed, his Blood Drink indeed: Chriſt is a Friend, come dine with him, he will bid you welcome, Cant. 5. 1. (2.) The Call he will give them into the Fruition of him in Glory hereafter. Come ye bleſſed of my Father; come and ſit down with Abraham, and Iſaac, and Jacob. Chriſt has wherewithal to dine all his Friends and Followers; there is Room and Proviſion enough for them all.

(2.) See how Reverent the Diſciples were before Chriſt, they were ſomewhat ſhy of uſing the Freedom he invited them to; and by his courting them to their Meat, it ſhould ſeem they ſtood pauſing. Being to eat with a Ruler, ſuch a Ruler, they conſider diligently what is before them: None of them durſt aſk him who art thou? Either, (1.) Becauſe they would not be ſo bold with him. Tho' perhaps he appeared now in ſomething of a Diſguiſe at firſt, as to the Two Diſciples when their Eyes were holden that they ſhould not know him, yet they had very good Reaſon to think it was he, and could be no other. (2.) Becauſe they would not ſo far betray their own Folly. When he had given them this Inſtance of his Power and Goodneſs, they muſt be ſtupid indeed if they queſtioned whether it was he or no. When God in his Providence hath given us ſenſible Proofs of his Care for our Bodies, and hath given us in his Grace manifeſt Proofs of his good Will to our Souls, and good Work upon them, we ſhould be aſhamed of our Diſtruſts, and not dare to queſtion that which he has left us no room to queſtion. Groundleſs Doubts muſt be ſtifled, and not ſtarted.

4. He carved to them, as the Maſter of the Feaſt, v. 13. obſerving them to be ſtill ſhy and timorous, he comes and takes Bread himſelf, and giveth them, ſome to each of them, and Fiſh likewiſe. No doubt he craved a Bleſſing, and gave Thanks, as Luke 24. 30. but it being his known and conſtant Practice, it did not need to be mentioned.

(1.) The Entertainment here was but ordinary, 'twas but a Fiſh-dinner, but coarſly dreſſed; here was nothing pompous, nothing curious; plentiful indeed, but plain and homely. Hunger is the beſt Sawce. Chriſt, tho' entered upon his exalted State, ſhewed himſelf alive by eating, not ſhewed himſelf a Prince by feaſting. Thoſe that could not content themſelves with Bread and Fiſh unleſs they have Sawce and Wine, would ſcarce have found in their Hearts to dine with Chriſt himſelf here.

(2.) Chriſt himſelf began. Though perhaps having a glorified Body, he needed not to eat, yet he would ſhew that he had a true Body which was capable of eating. The Apoſtles produced this as one Proof of his Reſurrection, that they had eaten and drunk with him, Acts 10. 41.

(3.) He gave the Meat about to all his Gueſts. He not only provided it for them, and invited them to it, but he himſelf divided it among them, and put it into their Hands; thus to him we owe the Application, as well as the Purchaſe of the Benefits of Redemption. He giveth us Power to eat of them.

The Evangeliſt leaves them at Dinner, and makes this Remark, v. 14. That this is now the third Time that Jeſus ſhewed himſelf alive to his Diſciples, or the greater Part of them: This is the third Day, ſo ſome. On the Day he roſe he appeared five times. The ſecond Day was that Day ſeven-night; and this was the Third. Or, this was his third Appearance to any conſiderable Number of his Diſciples together; though he had appeared to Mary, to the Women, to the two Diſciples, to Cephas, yet he had but twice before this appeared to any Company of them together. This is taken Notice of, (1.) For the confirming the Truth of his Reſurrection. The Viſion was doubled, was trebled, for the Thing was certain. They who believed not the firſt Sign, ſhould be brought to believe the Voice of the latter Signs. (2.) As an Inſtance of Chriſt's continued Kindneſs to his Diſciples; once and again, and a third Time he viſited them. It's good to keep Account of Chriſt's gracious Viſits, for he keeps Account of them, and they will be remembered againſt us, if we walk unworthily of them, as they were againſt Solomon, when he was minded that the Lord God of Iſrael had appeared unto him twice. This is now the third; have we made a due Improvement of the firſt and ſecond? See 1 Cor. 12. 14. This is the third, perhaps it may be the laſt.

15 So when they had dined, Jeſus ſaith to Simon Peter, Simon, ſon of Jonas, loveſt thou me more than theſe? He ſaith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knoweſt that I love thee. He ſaith unto him, Feed my lambs. 16 He ſaith to him again the ſecond time, Simon, ſon of Jonas, loveſt thou me? He ſaith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knoweſt that I love thee. He ſaith unto him, Feed my ſheep. 17 He ſaith unto him the third time, Simon, ſon of Jonas, loveſt thou me? Peter was grieved, becauſe he ſaid unto him the third time, Loveſt thou me? And he ſaith unto him, Lord, thou knoweſt all things; thou knoweſt that I love thee. Je-ſus ſaith unto him, Feed my ſheep. 18 Verily verily I ſay unto thee, When thou waſt young, thou girdeſt thy ſelf, and walkeſt whither thou wouldeſt: but when thou ſhalt be old, thou ſhalt ſtretch forth thy hands, and another ſhall gird thee, and carry thee whither thou wouldeſt not. 19. This ſpake he ſignifying by what death he ſhould glorify God. And when he had ſpoken this, he ſaith unto him, Follow me.

We have here Chriſt's Diſcourſe with Peter after Dinner, ſo much of it as relates to himſelf. In which,

Firſt, He examines his Love to him, and gives him a Charge concerning his Flock, v, 15, 16, 17. Obſerve,

1. When Chriſt enter'd into this Diſcourſe with Peter, 'twas after they had dined; they had all eaten, and were filled, and 'tis likely were entertained with ſuch edifying Diſcourſe, as our Lord Jeſus uſed to make his Table-talk. Chriſt foreſaw, that what he had to ſay to Peter would give him ſome Uneaſineſs, and therefore would not ſay it till they had dined, becauſe he would not ſpoil his Dinner. Peter was conſcious to himſelf, that he had incurred his Maſter's Diſpleaſure, and could expect no other but to be upbraided with his Treachery and Ingratitude; was this thy Kindneſs to thy Friend? Did not I tell thee what a Coward thou wouldſt prove? Nay, he might juſtly expect to be ſtruck out of the Roll of the Diſciples, and to be expelled the Sacred College. Twice, if not thrice, he had ſeen his Maſter ſince his Reſurrection, and he ſaid not a Word to him of it. We may ſuppoſe Peter full of Doubts, upon what Terms he ſtood with his Maſter; ſometimes hoping the beſt, becauſe he had received Favours from him in common with the reſt, yet not without ſome Fears, leſt the Chiding would come at laſt that would pay for all. But now at length his Maſter put him out of his Pain, ſaid what he had to ſay to him, and confirmed him in his Place as an Apoſtle. He did not tell him of his Fault haſtily, but deferred it for ſome time; did not tell him of it unſeaſonably to diſturb the Company at Dinner; but when they had dined together, in token of Reconciliation, then diſcourſed he with him about it, not as with a Criminal, but as with a Friend. Peter had reproached himſelf for it, and therefore Chriſt did not reproach him for it; nor tell him of it directly, but only by a tacit Intimation; and being ſatisfied in his ſincerity, the Offence was not only forgiven but forgotten, and Chriſt let him know that he was as dear to him as ever. Herein he has given us an encouraging Inſtance of his Tenderneſs towards Penitents, and has taught us in like manner to reſtore ſuch as are fallen with a Spirit of Meekneſs.

2. What was the Diſcourſe it ſelf. Here was the ſame Queſtion three times asked, the ſame Anſwer three times made, and the ſame Reply three times given, with very little Variation, and yet no vain Repetition. 'Twas repeated by our Saviour in the ſpeaking of it, the more to affect Peter, and the other Diſciples that were preſent? 'tis repeated by the Evangeliſt in the writing of it, that were to affect us, and all that read it.

1. Three Times Chriſt asks Peter whether he loves him or no? The firſt time the Queſtion is, Simon Son of Jonas loveſt thou me more than theſe? Obſerve,

1. How he calls him; Simon Son of Jonas. He ſpeaks to him by Name, the more to affect him, as Luke 22. 31. Simon, Simon. He doth not call him Cephas or Peter, the Name he had given him for he had loſt the Credit of his Strength and Stability, which thoſe Names ſignified, but his original Name Simon. Yet he gives him no hard Language, doth not call him out of his Name, tho' he deſerved it; but as he had called him when he pronounced him Bleſſed, Simon Bar jona, Mat. 16. 17. He calls him Son of Jonas (or John or Johanan) to mind him of his Extraction, how mean it was, and unworthy the Honour to which he was advanced.

2. How he catechizeth him. Loveſt thou me more than theſe?

1. Loveſt thou me? If we would try whether we are Chriſt's Diſciples indeed, this muſt be the Enquiry, Do we love him? But there was a ſpecial Reaſon why Chriſt put it now to Peter.

(1.) His Fall had given Occaſion to doubt of his Love. Peter, I have Cauſe to ſuſpect thy Love; for if thou hadſt loved me, thou wouldeſt not have been aſhamed and afraid to own me in my Sufferings. How canſt thou ſay thou loveſt me when thy Heart was not with me? Note, We muſt not reckon it an affront to have our Sincerity queſtion'd, when we our ſelves have done that which makes it queſtionable; after a ſhaking Fall we muſt take heed of ſettling too ſoon, leſt we ſettle upon a wrong Bottom. The Queſtion is affecting; he doth not ask, Doſt thou fear me? Doſt thou honour me? Doſt thou admire me? But, doſt thou love me? Give but Proofs of that, and the Affront ſhall be paſt by, and no more ſaid of it. Peter had profeſſed himſelf a Penitent, Witneſs his Tears, and his Return to the Society of the Diſciples; he was now upon his Probation as a Penitent; but the Queſtion is not, Simon, how much haſt thou wept? How oft haſt thou faſted and afflicted thy Soul? But, doſt thou love me? That's it which will make the other Expreſſions of Repentance acceptable. The great Thing Chriſt eyes in Penitents, is their eying him in their Repentance. Much is forgiven her, not becauſe ſhe wept much, but becauſe ſhe loved much.

(2.) His Function would give Occaſion for the Exerciſe of his Love. Before Chriſt would commit his Sheep to his Care, he asked him, Loveſt thou me. Chriſt hath ſuch a tender Regard to his Flock, that he will not truſt it with any but thoſe that love him, and therefore will love all that are his for his ſake. Thoſe that do not truly love Chriſt, will never truly love the Souls of Men, nor will naturally care for their State as they ſhould; nor will that Miniſter love his Work, that doth not love his Maſter. Nothing but the Love of Chriſt will conſtrain Miniſters to go chearfully through the Difficulties and Diſcouragements they meet with in their Work, 2 Cor. 5. 13, 14. But this Love will make their Work eaſy, and them in good Earneſt in it.

2. Loveſt thou me more than theſe? πλεῖον τούτων.

1. Loveſt thou me more than thou loveſt theſe? More than thou loveſt theſe Perſons? Doſt thou love me better than James or John, thy intimate Friends, or Andrew thy own Brother and Companion? Thoſe do not love Chriſt aright, that do not love him better than the beſt Friend they have in the World, and make it to appear, whenever they ſtand in Compariſon, or in Competition. Or, more than thou loveſt theſe Things; theſe Boats and Nets; more than all the Pleaſure of Fiſhing, which ſome make a Recreation of; more than the Gain of Fiſhing, which others make a Calling of. Thoſe only love Chriſt indeed, that love him better than all the Delights of Senſe, and all the Profits of this World. Loveſt thou me more than thou loveſt theſe Occupations thou art now employ'd in; if ſo, leave them to employ thy ſelf wholly in feeding my Flock. So Dr. Whitby.

2. Loveſt thou me more than theſe love me? more than any of the reſt of the Diſciples love me? And then 'tis either to upbraid him with his vain glorious Boaſt; Tho' all Men ſhould deny thee, yet will not I. Art thou ſtill of the ſame Mind? Or, to intimate to him, that he had now more Reaſon to love him than any of them had, for more had been forgiven to him than to any of them, as much as his Sin in denying Chriſt, was greater than theirs in forſaking him. Tell me therefore which of them will love him moſt? Luke 7. 41. Note, We ſhould all ſtudy to excel in our Love to Chriſt. 'Tis no Breach of the Peace to ſtrive which ſhall love Chriſt beſt; nor any Breach of good Manners to go before others in this Love.

The ſecond and third time that Chriſt puts this Queſtion, (1.) He left out more than theſe; becauſe Peter in his Anſwer modeſtly left it out, not willing to compare himſelf with his Brethren, much leſs to prefer himſelf before them. Tho' we cannot ſay we love Chriſt more than others do, yet we ſhall be accepted if we can ſay, we love him indeed. (2.) In the laſt he altered the Word, as 'tis in the Original. In the two firſt Enquiries, the Original Word is Αγαπᾷς με; Doſt thou retain a Kindneſs for me? In Anſwer to which, Peter uſeth another Word more emphatical, Φιλῶ σε, I love thee dearly. And the laſt Time Chriſt uſeth that Word; and doſt thou indeed love me dearly?

2. Three Times, Peter returneth the ſame Anſwer to Chriſt, Yea, Lord, thou knoweſt that I love thee. Obſerve,

(1.) Peter doth not pretend to love Chriſt more than the reſt of the Diſciples did; he is now aſhamed of that raſh Word of his, Tho' all Men deny thee, yet will not I, and he had Reaſon to be aſhamed of it. Note, Tho' we muſt aim to be better than others, yet we muſt in Lowlineſs of Mind eſteem others better than our ſelves; for we know more Evil by our ſelves, than we do by any of our Brethren.

(2.) Yet he profeſſeth again and again, that he loved Chriſt; yea, Lord, ſurely I love thee, I were unworthy to live if I did not. He had a high Eſteem and Value for him, a grateful Senſe of his Kindneſs, and was entirely devoted to his Honour and Intereſt; his Deſire was towards him, as one he was undone without, and his Delight in him as one he ſhould be unſpeakably happy in. This amounts to a Profeſſion of Repentance for his Sin, for it grieves us to have affronted one we love; and to a Promiſe of Adherence to him for the future, Lord, I love thee, and will never leave thee. Chriſt pray'd that his Faith might not fail, Luke 22. 32. and becauſe his Faith did not fail, his Love did not; for Faith will work by Love. Peter had forfeited his Claim of Relation to Chriſt. He was now to be re-admitted upon his Repentance; Chriſt puts his Trial upon this Iſſue, Doſt thou love me? And Peter joins Iſſue upon it, Lord, I love thee. Note, Thoſe who can truly ſay, through Grace, that they love Jeſus Chriſt, may take the Comfort of their Intereſt in him, notwithſtanding their daily Infirmities.

(3.) He appeals to Chriſt himſelf for the Proof of it, Thou knoweſt that I love thee. And the third Time yet more emphatically, Thou knoweſt all Things, thou knoweſt that I love thee. He doth not vouch his Fellow Diſciples to witneſs for him, they might be deceived in him: nor doth he think his own Word might be taken, the Credit of that was crack'd already, but he calls Chriſt himſelf to witneſs. 1. Peter was ſure that Chriſt knew all Things, and particularly that he knew the Heart, and was a Diſcerner of the Thoughts and Intents of that, John 16. 30. 2. Peter was ſatisfied of this, that Chriſt who knew all Things, knew the Sincerity of his Love to him, and would be ready to atteſt it in his Favour. 'Tis a Terror to an Hypocrite, to think that Chriſt knows all Things; for the Divine Omniſcience will be a Witneſs againſt him. But 'tis a Comfort to a ſincere Chriſtian, that he has that to appeal to; My Witneſs is in Heaven, my Record is on high. Chriſt knows us better than we know our ſelves. Tho' we know not our own Uprightneſs, he doth.

(4.) He was grieved, when Chriſt asked him the third time, Loveſt thou me? v. 17. (1.) Becauſe it put him in mind of his threefold Denial of Chriſt, and was plainly deſigned to do ſo; and when he thought thereon, he wept. Every Remembrance of paſt Sins, even pardoned Sins, renews the Sorrow of a true Penitent. Thou ſhalt be aſhamed when I am pacified toward thee. (2.) Becauſe it put him in fear, leſt his Maſter foreſaw ſome further Miſcarriage of his, which would be as great a Contradiction to his Profeſſion of Love to him as the former was. Surely thinks Peter, my Maſter would not thus put me upon the Rack, if he did not ſee ſome Cauſe for it. What would become of me, If I ſhould be again tempted. Godly Sorrow works Carefulneſs and Fear, 2 Cor. 7. 11.

3. Three times Chriſt committed the Care of his Flock to Peter. Feed my Lambs. Feed my Sheep. Feed my Sheep.

1. Thoſe whom Chriſt committed to Peter's Care were his Lambs and his Sheep. The Church of Chriſt is his Flock, which he hath purchaſed with his own Blood, Acts 20. 28. And he is the chief Shepherd of it. In this Flock ſome are Lambs, young and tender, and weak; others are Sheep, grown to ſome Strength and Maturity. The Shepherd here takes Care of both, and of the Lambs firſt, for upon all Occaſions he ſhewed a particular Tenderneſs for them; the Lambs he gathers in his Arms, and carries in his Boſom, Iſa. 40. 11.

2. The Charge he gives him concerning them, is to feed them. The Word uſed. v. 15. 17. is Βόσκε which ſtrictly ſignifies to give them Food; but the Word uſed v. 16. is ποίμαινε which ſignifies more largely to do all the Office of a Shepherd to them. Feed the Lambs with that which is proper for them, and the Sheep likewiſe with Food convenient. The loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael, ſeek and feed them, and the other Sheep alſo which are not of this Fold. Note, It is the Duty of all Chriſt's Miniſters to feed his Lambs and Sheep. Feed them, i. e. teach them, for the Doctrine of the Goſpel is Spiritual Food. Feed them, i. e. lead them to the green Paſtures, preſiding in their religious Aſſembles, and miniſtring all the Ordinances to them; Feed them by perſonal Application to their reſpective State and Caſe, not only lay meat before them, but feed them with it that are wilful, and will not; or weak and cannot feed themſelves. When Chriſt aſcended on high, he gave Paſtors; left his Flock with them that loved him, and would take Care of them for his ſake.

3. But why did he give this Charge particularly to Peter? Ask the Advocates for the Popes Supremacy, and they will tell you, That Chriſt hereby deſigned to give to Peter, and therefore to his Succeſſors, and therefore to the Biſhops of Rome, an abſolute Dominion and Headſhip over the whole Chriſtian Church; as if a Charge to ſerve the Sheep gave a Power to lord it over all the Shepherds; whereas 'tis plain Peter himſelf never claimed ſuch a Power, nor did the other Diſciples ever own it in him. This Charge given to Peter to preach the Goſpel, is by a ſtrange Fetch made to ſupport the Uſurpation of his pretended Succeſſors, that fleece the Sheep, and inſtead of feeding them, feed upon them. But the particular Application to Peter here was deſigned, (1.) To reſtore him to the Apoſtleſhip, now he repented of his Abjuration of it, and to renew his Commiſſion, both for his own Satisfaction, and for the Satisfaction of his Brethren. A Commiſſion given to one convicted of a Crime, is ſuppoſed to amount to a Pardon; no doubt this Commiſſion given to Peter was an Evidence that Chriſt was reconciled to him, elſe he would never have repoſed ſuch a Confidence in him. Of ſome that have deceived us, we ſay, tho' we forgive them, we will never truſt them; yet Chriſt, when he forgave Peter, truſted him with the moſt valuable Treaſure he had on Earth. (2.) 'Twas deſigned to quicken him to a diligent Diſcharge of his Office, as an Apoſtle. Peter was a Man of a bold and zealous Spirit, always forward to ſpeak and act, and leſt he ſhould be tempted to take upon him the directing of the Shepherds, he is charged to feed the Sheep, as he himſelf charges all the Presbyters to do, and not to lord it over God's Heritage, 1 Pet. 5. 2, 3. If he will be doing, let him do this, and pretend no further. (3.) What Chriſt ſaid to him, he ſaid to all his Diſciples; he charged them all not only to be Fiſhers of Men, tho' that was ſaid to Peter, Luke 5. 10. by the Converſion of of Sinners, but Feeders of the Flock, by the Edification of Saints.

Secondly, Chriſt having thus appointed Peter his doing Work, next cuts out to him his ſuffering Work. Having confirmed to him the Honour of an Apoſtle, he now tells him of further Preferment deſigned him, the Honour of a Martyr. Obſerve.

1. How his Martyrdom is foretold, v. 17. Thou ſhalt ſtretch forth thy Hand, being compelled to it, and another ſhall gird thee as a Priſoner that is pinioned, and carry thee whither naturally thou wouldſt not.

(1.) He prefaceth this Notice he gives to Peter of his Sufferings, with a ſolemn Aſſeveration, Verily, verily I ſay unto thee. 'Twas not ſpoken of as a thing probable, which perhaps might happen, but a thing certain; I ſay to thee. Others perhaps will ſay to thee, as thou didſt to me, This ſhall not be unto thee; but I ſay it ſhall. As Chriſt forſaw all his own Sufferings, ſo he foreſaw the Sufferings of all his Followers; and foretold them, though not in particular as to Peter, yet in general, that they muſt take up their Croſs. Having charged him to feed his Sheep, he bids him not to expect Eaſe and Honour in it, but Trouble and Perſecution, and to ſuffer ill for doing well.

(2.) He foretels particularly that he ſhould die a violent Death, by the Hands of an Executioner. The ſtretching out his Hand, ſome think points at the manner of his Death by crucifying; and the Tradition of the Ancients, if we may rely on that, informs us that Peter was crucified at Rome, under Nero, A. D. 68. or as others ſay, 79. Others think it points at the Bonds and Impriſonments, which thoſe are hampered with that are ſentenced to Death. The Pomp and Solemnity of an Execution, adds much to the Terror of Death, and to an Eye of Senſe, makes it look doubly formidable. Death in theſe horrid Shapes has oft been the Lot of Chriſt's faithful one's, who yet have overcome it by the Blood of the Lamb. This Prediction, though pointing chiefly at his Death, yet was to have its Accompliſhment in his precious Sufferings. It began to be fulfilled preſently, when he was impriſoned, Acts 4. 3. and 5. 18. and 12. 4. No more is implied here in his being carried whither he would not, but that it was a violent Death he ſhould be carried to; ſuch a Death as even innocent Nature could not think of without Dread, nor approach without ſome Reluctancy. He that puts on the Chriſtian, doth not put off the Man; Chriſt himſelf prayed againſt the bitter Cup. A natural Averſion to Pain and Death is well reconcilable with a holy Submiſſion to the Will of God in both. Bleſſed Paul, tho' longing to be unloaded, yet owns he cannot deſire to be uncloathed, 2 Cor. 5. 4.

(3.) He compares this with his former Liberty. Time was when thou kneweſt not any of theſe Hardſhips, thou girdeſt thy ſelf, and walkeſt whether thou wouldſt. Where Trouble comes, we are apt to aggravate it with this, that it has been otherwiſe; and to fret the more at the Grievances of Reſtraint, Sickneſs, and Poverty, becauſe we have known the Sweets of Liberty, Health, and Plenty, Job 29. 2. Pſal. 42. 4. But we may turn it the other way, and reaſon thus with our ſelves, how many Years of Proſperity have I enjoyed more than I deſerved, and improved, and having received Good, ſhall not I receive Evil alſo. See here,

1. What a Change may poſſibly be made with us, as to our Condition in this World. They that have girded themſelves with Strength and Honour, and indulged themſelves in the greateſt Liberties, perhaps Looſes, may be reduced to ſuch Circumſtances as are the Reverſe of all this; ſee 1 Sam. 2. 5.

2. What a Change is preſently made with thoſe that leave all to follow Chriſt, they muſt no longer gird themſelves, but he muſt gird them, and muſt no longer walk whither they will, but whither he will.

3. What a Change will certainly be made with us, if we ſhould live to be old. They that when they were young had Strength of Body, and Vigour of Mind, and could eaſily go through Buſineſs and Hardſhip, and take the Pleaſures they had a Mind to; when they ſhall be old, will find their Strength gone, like Sampſon, when his Hair was cut, and could not ſhake himſelf as at other times.

Chriſt tells Peter he ſhould ſuffer thus in his old Age. (1.) Tho' he ſhould be old, and in a Courſe of Nature not likely to live long; yet his Enemies would haſten him out of the World violently, then when he was about to retire out of it peaceably; and would put out his Candle when 'twas almoſt burned down to the Socket. See 2 Chron. 36. 17. (2.) God would ſhelter him from the Rage of his Enemies, till he ſhould come to be old; that he might be made the fitter for Sufferings, and the Church might the longer enjoy his Service.

2. The Explication of this Prediction, v. 19. This ſpake he to Peter, ſignifying by what Death he ſhould glorify God, when he had finiſhed his Courſe. Obſerve.

(1.) That it is not only appointed to all once to die; but it is appointed to each what Death they ſhould die, whether natural or violent, ſlow or ſudden, eaſy or painful; when Paul ſpeaks of ſo great a Death, he intimates that there are Degrees of Death. There's one way into the World, but many ways out, and God has determined which way we ſhould go.

(2.) That it is the great Concern of every good Man, whatever Death he die, to glorify God in it; for what is our chief End but this? To die to the Lord, at the World of the Lord. When we die patiently, ſubmitting to the Will of God; die chearfully, rejoycing in hope of the Glory of God; and die uſefully, witneſſing to the Truth and Goodneſs of Religion, and encouraging others, we glorify God in dying. And this is the earneſt Expectation and Hope of all good Chriſtians, as it was Paul's that Chriſt may be magnified in them living and dying, Phil. 1. 20.

(3.) That the Death of the Martyrs was in aſpecial manner for the glorifying of God. The Truths of God, which they died in the Defence of, are hereby confirmed. The Grace of God, which carried them with ſo much Conſtancy through their Sufferings, is hereby magnified; and the Conſolations of God which have abounded towards them in their Sufferings, and his Promiſes the Springs of their Conſolations, have hereby been recommended to the Faith and Joy of all the Saints. The Blood of the Martyrs has been the ſeed of the Church, and the Converſion and Eſtabliſhment of thouſands. Precious therefore in the ſight of the Lord is the Death of his Saints, and that which honours him, and thoſe that thereby at ſuch an Expence honour him, he will honour.

3. The Word of Command he gives him hereupon; When he had ſpoken thus, obſerving Peter perhaps to look blank upon it, he ſaith unto him, Follow me. Probably he roſe from the Place where he had ſitten at Dinner, walked off a little, and bid Peter attend him. This Word, Follow me, was, (1.) A further Confirmation of his Reſtoration to his Maſter's Favour, and to his Apoſtleſhip; for Follow me, was the firſt Call. (2.) 'Twas an Explication of the Prediction of his Sufferings; which perhaps Peter at firſt did not fully underſtand till Chriſt gave him that Key to it, Follow me. Expect to be treated as I have been, and to tread the ſame bloody Path that I have trod before thee: For the Diſciple is not greater than his Lord. (3.) 'Twas to excite him to, and encourage him in Faithfulneſs and Diligence in his Work as an Apoſtle. He had bid him feed his Sheep, and let him ſet his Maſter before him as an Example of Paſtoral Care: Do as I have done. Let the Under-Shepherds ſtudy to imitate the Chief-Shepherd. They had followed Chriſt while he was here upon Earth, and now he was leaving them he ſtill preaches the ſame Duty to them, tho' to be performed in another way, Follow me; ſtill they muſt follow the Rules he had given them, and the Example he had ſet them. And what greater Encouragement could they have than this both in Services and in Sufferings. (1.) That herein they did follow him, and it was their preſent Honour; who would be aſhamed to follow ſuch a Leader? (2.) That hereafter they ſhould follow him, and that would be their future Happineſs; and ſo 'tis a Repetition of the Promiſe Chriſt had given Peter, John 13. 36. Thou ſhalt follow me afterwards. They that faithfully follow Chriſt in Grace, ſhall certainly follow him to Glory.

20 Then Peter turning about, ſeeth the diſciple whom Jeſus loved, following; which alſo leaned on his breaſt at ſupper, and ſaid, Lord which is he that betrayeth thee? 21 Peter ſeeing him, ſaid to Jeſus, Lord, and what ſhall this man do? 22 Jeſus ſaith unto him, If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? Follow thou me. 23 Then went this ſaying abroad among the brethren, that that diſciple ſhould not die: yet Jeſus ſaith not unto him, He ſhall not die: but, If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? 24 This is the diſciple which teſtifieth of theſe things, and wrote theſe things: and we know that his teſtimony is true. 25 And there are alſo many other things which Jeſus did, the which if they ſhould be written every one, I ſuppoſe that even the world it ſelf could not contain the books that ſhould be written. Amen.

In theſe Verſes we have,

Firſt, The Conference Chriſt had with Peter concerning John, the beloved Diſciple. In which we have,

1. The Eye Peter caſt upon him, v. 20. Peter in Obedience to his Maſter's Orders followed him, and turning about, pleaſed with the Honours his Maſter now did him, he ſees the Diſciple whom Jeſus loved following likewiſe. Obſerve here,

(1.) How John is deſcribed: He doth not name himſelf, as thinking his own Name not worthy to be preſerved in theſe Records; but gives ſuch a Deſcription of himſelf as ſufficiently informs us who he meant, and withal gives us a Reaſon why he followed Chriſt ſo cloſe. He was the Diſciple whom Jeſus loved, whom he had a particular Kindneſs for above the reſt; and therefore you cannot blame him for coveting to be as much as poſſible within hearing of Chriſt's gracious Words. During theſe few precious Minutes he favoured his Diſciples with his Converſation. and it is probable, mention is here made of John's having leaned on Jeſus's Breaſt, and his enquiring concerning the Traitor; which he did at the Inſtigation of Peter, John 13. 24. as a Reaſon why Peter made the following Enquiry concerning him, to repay him for the former Kindneſs. Then John was in the Favourite's Place, lying in Chriſt's Boſom, and he improved the Opportunity to oblige Peter. And now Peter was in the Favourite's Place, called to take a Walk with Chriſt, he thought himſelf bound in Gratitude to put ſuch a Queſtion for John as he thought would oblige him, we all being deſirous to know things to come, Note, As we have Intereſt at the Throne of Grace, we ſhould improve it for the Benefit one of another. They that help us by their Prayers at one time, ſhould be helped by us with ours at another time. This is the communion of Saints.

2. What he did: He alſo followed Jeſus; which ſhews how well he loved his Company: Where he was, there alſo would this Servant of his be. When Chriſt called Peter to follow him, it looked as if he deſigned to have ſome private talk with him; but ſuch an Affection John had to his Maſter, that he would rather do a thing that ſeem'd rude, than loſe the Benefit of any of Chriſt's Diſcourſe. What Chriſt ſaid to Peter he took as ſaid to himſelf; for that Word of Command, Follow me, was given to all the Diſciples. However he deſired to have Fellowſhip with thoſe that had Fellowſhip with Chriſt, and to accompany thoſe that attended him. The bringing of one to follow Chriſt, ſhould engage others. Draw me, and we will run after thee, Cant. 1. 4.

(3.) The Notice Peter took of it: He turning about ſeeth him. This may be looked upon either, (1.) As a culpable Diverſion from following his Maſter: He ſhould have been wholly intent upon that and have waited to hear what Chriſt had further to ſay to him, and then was he looking about him to ſee who followed. Note, The beſt Men find it hard to attend upon the Lord without Diſtraction; hard to keep their Minds ſo cloſely fixed as they ſhould be, in following Chriſt, and a needleſs and unſeaſonable Regard to our Brethren often diverts us from Communion with God: Or, (2.) As a laudable Concern for his Fellow-Diſciples. He was not ſo elevated with the Honour his Maſter did him in ſingling him out from the reſt, as to deny a kind Look to one that followed. Acts of Love to our Brethren muſt go along with Actings of Faith in Chriſt.

2. The Enquiry Peter made concerning him, v. 21. Lord, and what ſhall this Man do? Thou haſt told me my Work, to feed the Sheep; and my Lot, to be carried whither I would not: What ſhall be his Work, and his Lot? Now this may be taken as the Language.

1. Of Concern for John, and Kindneſs to him; Lord, thou ſheweſt me a great deal of Favour. Here comes thy beloved Diſciple, who never forfeited thy Favour as I have done. He expects to be taken notice of; Haſt thou nothing to ſay to him? Wilt thou not tell him how he muſt be employed, and how he muſt be honoured?

2. Or of Uneaſineſs at what Chriſt had ſaid to him concerning his Sufferings; Lord, muſt I alone be carried whither I would not? Muſt I be marked out to be run down? And muſt this Man have no Share of the Croſs? 'Tis hard to reconcile our ſelves to diſtinguiſhing Sufferings, and the Troubles in which we think we ſtand alone.

3. Or of Curioſity, and a fond Deſire of knowing Things to come, concerning others as well as himſelf. It ſeems by Chriſt's Anſwer there was ſomething amiſs in the Queſtion; when Chriſt had given him the Charge of ſuch a Treaſure, and the Notice of ſuch a Trial, it had well become him to have ſaid, Lord, and what ſhall I do then to approve my ſelf faithful to ſuch a Truſt, in ſuch a Trial? Lord, increaſe my Faith. As my Day is, let my Strength be. But inſtead of this,

(1.) He ſeems more concerned for another, than for himſelf. So apt are we to be buſy in other Mens Matters, but negligent in the Concerns of our own Souls; quick-ſighted abroad, but dim ſighted at home; judging others, and prognoſticating what they will do, when we have enough to do to prove our own Work, and underſtand our own Way.

(2.) He ſeems more concerned about Event, than about Duty. John was younger than Peter, and in a Courſe of Nature likely to ſurvive him; Lord, ſaith he, what Times ſhall he be reſerved for? Whereas, if God by his Grace enable us to perſevere to the End, and finiſh well, and get ſafe to Heaven, we need not aſk, What ſhall be the Lot of thoſe that ſhall come after us? It is well if Peace and Truth be in my Days? Scripture Predictions muſt be eyed for the directing of our Conſciences, not the ſatisfying of our Curioſity.

3. Chriſt's Reply to this Enquiry, v. 22. If I will that he tarry till I come, and do not ſuffer as thou muſt; What is that to thee? Mind thou thy own Duty, thy preſent Duty, Follow thou me.

1. There ſeems to be here an Intimation of Chriſt's Purpoſe concerning John, in two Things:

(1.) That he ſhould not die a violent Death like Peter: but ſhould tarry till Chriſt himſelf came by a natural Death to fetch him to himſelf. The moſt credible of the ancient Hiſtorians tell us, That John was the only one of all the Twelve that did not actually die a Martyr. He was oft in Jeopardy, in Bonds and Baniſhments; but at length died in his Bed in a good old Age. Note, At Death Chriſt comes to us, to call us to Account; and it concerns us to be ready for his coming. 2. Tho' Chriſt calls out ſome of his Diſciples to reſiſt unto Blood, yet not all. Tho' the Crown of Martyrdom is bright and glorious, yet the beloved Diſciple comes ſhort of it.

(2.) That he ſhould not die till after Chriſt's coming to deſtroy Jeruſalem: So ſome underſtand his tarrying till Chriſt comes. All the other Apoſtles died before that Deſtruction; but John ſurvived it many Years. God wiſely ſo ordered it, that one of the Apoſtles ſhould live ſo long to cloſe up the Canon of the New Teſtament; which John did ſolemnly, Rev. 22. 18. And to obviate the Deſign of the Enemy that ſowed Tares even before the Servants fell aſleep. John lived to confront Ebion and Cerinthus, and other Hereticks, who roſe betimes, ſpeaking perverſe things.

2. Others think 'tis only a Rebuke to Peter's Curioſity; and that his tarrying till Chriſt's ſecond coming, is only the Suppoſition of an Abſurdity: Wherefore asketh thou after that which is Foreign and Secret? Suppoſe I ſhould deſign that John ſhould never die. What doth that concern thee? 'Tis nothing to thee when, or where, or how John muſt die. I have told thee how thou muſt die for thy part; 'tis enough for thee to know that, Follow thou me. Note, It is the Will of Chriſt that his Diſciples ſhould mind their own preſent Duty, and not to be curious in their Enquiries about future Events, either concerning themſelves or others. 1. There are many things we are apt to be ſollicitous about that are nothing to us. Other Peoples Characters are nothing to us; 'tis out of our Line to judge them; Rom. 14. 4. Whatſoever they are, ſaith Paul, it makes no matter to me. Other Peoples Affairs are nothing to us to intermeddle in; we muſt quietly work, and mind our own Buſineſs. Many nice and curious Queſtions are put by the Scribes and Diſputers of this world concerning the Counſels of God, and the State of the inviſible World, concerning which we may ſay, What is that to us? What do you think will become of ſuch and ſuch; is a common Queſtion, which may eaſily be anſwered with another; What is that to me? To his own Maſter he ſtands or falls. What is it to us to know the Times and the Seaſons? Secret things belong not to us. 2. The great thing that is all in all to us is Duty, and not Event; for his Duty is ours, Events are God's: Our own Duty, and not another's; for every one ſhall bear his own Burthen: Our preſent Duty, and not the Duty of the Time to come; for ſufficient to the Day ſhall be the Directions thereof: A Good Man's Steps are ordered by the Lord, Pſal. 37. 23. he is guided Step by Step. Now all our Duty is ſumm'd up in this one, of following Chriſt; we muſt attend his Motions, and accommodate our ſelves to them, follow him to do him Honour as the Servant his Maſter; we muſt walk in the Way in which he walked, and aim to be where he is. And if we will cloſely attend to the Duty of following Chriſt, we ſhall find neither Heart nor Time to meddle with that which doth not belong to us.

4. The Miſtake which aroſe from this Saying of Chriſt, That that Diſciple ſhould not die, but abide with the Church to the End of Time; together with the ſuppreſſing of this Motion by a Repetition of Chriſt's Words, v. 23. Obſerve here,

1. The eaſy Riſe of a Miſtake in the Church by miſconſtruing the Sayings of Chriſt, and turning a Suppoſition into a Poſition. Becauſe John muſt not die a Martyr, they conclude he muſt not die at all.

1. They were inclined to expect it, becauſe they could not chuſe but deſire it. Quod volumus facile credimus. For John to abide in the Fleſh when the reſt were gone, and to continue in the World till Chriſt's ſecond coming, they think will be a great Bleſſing to the Church, which in every Age might have Recourſe to him as an Oracle; when they muſt loſe Chriſt's Bodily Preſence, they hope they ſhall have that of his beloved Diſciple: As if that muſt ſupply the Want of his; forgetting that the bleſſed Spirit the Comforter was to do that. Note, We are apt to dote too much on Men and Means, Inſtruments and external Helps, and to think we are happy if we may but have them always with us; whereas God will change his Workmen, and yet carry on his Work, that the Excellency of his Power may be of God, and not of Men. There is no need of immortal Miniſters to be the Guides of the Church, while it is under the Conduct of an eternal Spirit.

2. Perhaps they were confirmed in their Expectations when they now found that John ſurvived all the reſt of the Apoſtles; becauſe he lived long, they were ready to think he ſhould live always: Whereas that which waxeth old is ready to vaniſh away. Heb. 8. ult. However it took Riſe from a Saying of Chriſt's miſunderſtood, and then made a Saying of the Church. Hence learn, (1.) The Uncertainty of human Tradition, and the Folly of building our Faith upon it. Here was a Tradition, an Apoſtolical Tradition, a Saying that went abroad among the Brethren; 'twas early, 'twas common, 'twas publick, and yet 'twas falſe. How little then are thoſe unwritten Traditions to be relied upon, which the Council of Trent hath decreed to be received with a Veneration and pious Affection equal to that which is owing to the Holy Scripture. Here was a traditional Expoſition of Scripture, no new Saying of Chriſt's advanced; but only a Conſtruction put by the Brethren upon what he did really ſay, and yet it was a Miſconſtruction. Let the Scripture be its own Interpreter, and explain it ſelf, as it is in a great Meaſure its own Evidence, and proves it ſelf, for it is light.

(2.) The Aptneſs of Men to miſinterpret the Sayings of Chriſt. The groſſeſt Errors have ſometimes ſhrouded themſelves under the Umbrage of unconteſtable Truths; and the Scriptures themſelves have been wreſted by the unlearned and unſtable. We muſt not think it ſtrange if we hear the Sayings of Chriſt miſinterpreted, vouched to patronize the Errors of Antichriſt; and the impudent Doctrine of Tranſubſtantiation, for Inſtance, pretending to build upon that bleſſed Word of Chriſt. This is my Body.

2. The eaſy rectifying of ſuch Miſtakes by adhering to the Word of Chriſt, and abiding by that. So the Evangeliſt here corrects and controls that Saying among the Brethren, by repeating the very Words of Chriſt. He did not ſay, That that Diſciple ſhould not die, Let us not ſay ſo then; but he ſaid, If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? He ſaid ſo, and no more. Add thou not unto his Words. Let the Words of Chriſt ſpeak for themſelves, and let no Senſe be put upon them but what is genuine and natural; and in that let us agree. Note, The beſt End of Mens Controverſies, would be to keep to the expreſs Words of Scripture, and ſpeak as well as think according to that Word, Iſa. 8. 20. Scripture Language is the ſafeſt and moſt proper Vehicle of Scripture Truth, The Words which the Holy Ghoſt teacheth, 1 Cor. 2. 13. As the Scripture it ſelf duly attended to, is the beſt Weapon wherewith to wound all dangerous Errors, and therefore Deiſts, Socinians, Papiſts, and Enthuſiaſts, do all they can to derogate from the Authority of the Scripture; ſo the Scripture it ſelf humbly ſubſcribed to, is the beſt Weapon Salve to heal the Wounds that are made by different Modes of Expreſſion concerning the ſame Truths. Thoſe that cannot agree in the ſame Logicks and Metaphyſicks, and the Propriety of the ſame Terms of Art, and the Application of them, yet may agree in the ſame Scripture Terms, and then may agree to love one another.

Secondly, We have here the Concluſion of this Goſpel, and with it of the Evangelical Story, v. 24. 25. This Evangeliſt ends not ſo abruptly as the other three did, but with a ſort of Cadency.

1. It concludes with an Account of the Author or Penman of it, connected by a decent Tranſition to that which went before, v. 24. This is the Diſciple which teſtifieth of theſe Things to the preſent Age, and wrote theſe Things for the Benefit of Poſterity, even this ſame that Peter and his Maſter had that Conference about in the foregoing Verſes; John the Apoſtle.

(1.) Obſerve here, that thoſe who wrote the Hiſtory of Chriſt were not aſhamed to put their Names to it. John here doth in effect ſubſcribe his Name. As we are ſure who was the Author of the firſt Five Books of the Old Teſtament, which were the Foundation of that Revelation; ſo we are ſure who were the Penmen of the Four Goſpels, and the Acts, that Pentateuch of the New Teſtament. The Record of Chriſt's Life and Death is not the Report of We know not who, but was drawn up by Men of known Integrity, who were ready not only to depoſe it upon Oath, but which was more, to ſeal it with their Blood.

(2.) Thoſe that wrote the Hiſtory of Chriſt, wrote upon their own Knowledge, not by Hear-ſay, but what they themſelves were Eye and Ear-witneſſes of. The Pen-man of this Hiſtory was a Diſciple, a beloved Diſciple, one that had leaned on Chriſt's Breaſt, had himſelf heard his Sermons and Conferences, had ſeen his Miracles, and the Proofs of his Reſurrection. This is he which teſtifies what he was well aſſured of.

(3.) Thoſe that wrote the Hiſtory of Chriſt, as they teſtified what they had ſeen, ſo they wrote what they had firſt teſtified. It was publiſhed by Word of Mouth with the greateſt Aſſurance, before it was committed to Writing. They teſtified it in the Pulpit, teſtified it at the Bar, ſolemnly averred it, ſtedfaſtly avowed it, not as Travellers give Account of their Travels, to entertain the Company, but as Witneſſes upon Oath give Account of what they know in a Matter of Conſequence, with the utmoſt Caution and exactneſs, to found a Verdict upon. What they wrote they wrote as an Affidavit, which they would abide by. Their Writings are ſtanding Teſtimonies to the World of the Truth of Chriſt's Doctrine, and will be Teſtimonies either for us or againſt us, according as we do or do not receive it.

(4.) It was graciouſly appointed for the Support and Benefit of the Church, that the Hiſtory of Chriſt ſhould be put into Writing, that it might with the greater Fulneſs and Certainty ſpread to every Place and laſt through every Age.

2. It concludes with an Atteſtation of the Truth, of what had been here related. We know that his Teſtimony is true. This may be taken either,

(1.) As ſpeaking the common Senſe of Mankind in Matters of this Nature, which is, that the Teſtimony of one who is an Eyewitneſs, is of unſpotted Reputation, ſolemnly depoſeth what he had ſeen, and puts it into Writing for the greater Certainty, is an unexceptionable Evidence. We know, i. e. All the World knows that the Teſtimony of ſuch a one is valid, and the common Faith of Mankind requires us to give Credit to it, unleſs we can diſprove it; and in other Caſes Verdict and Judgment is given upon ſuch Teſtimonies. The Truth of the Goſpel comes confirm'd by all the Evidence we can rationally deſire or expect in a thing of that Nature. The Matter of Fact, that Jeſus did preach ſuch Doctrines, and work ſuch Miracles, and riſe from the Dead, is prov'd beyond Contradiction, by ſuch Evidence as is always admitted in other Caſes; and therefore to the Satisfaction of all that are impartial; and then let the Doctrine recomend it ſelf, and let the Miracles prove it to be of God. Or,

(2.) As ſpeaking the Satisfaction of the Churches at that Time, concerning the Truth of what is here related. Some take it for the Subſcription of the Church of Epheſus; others of the Angels or Miniſters of the Churches of Aſia to this Narrative. Not as if an inſpired Writing, needed any Atteſtation from Men, or could from thence receive any Addition to its Credibility; but hereby they recommended it to the Notice of the Churches, as an inſpired Writing, and declared the Satisfaction they received by it. Or,

(3.) As ſpeaking the Evangeliſt's own Aſſurance of the Truth of what he wrote, like that, John 19. 35. He knows that he ſaith true. He ſpeaks of himſelf in the plural Number, we know not for Majeſty ſake, but for Modeſty ſake, as 1 John. 1. 1. That which we have ſeen; and 2 Peter 1. 16. Note, The Evangeliſts themſelves were entirely ſatisfied of the Truth of what they have teſtified, and tranſmitted to us. They do not require us to believe what they did not believe themſelves; no, they knew their Teſtimony was true, for they ventured both this Life and t'other upon it; threw away this Life, and depended upon another, on the Credit of what they ſpoke and wrote.

3. It concludes with an & cætera; with a Reference to many other things, very memorable, ſaid and done by our Lord Jeſus, which were well known by many then living, but not thought fit to be recorded for Poſterity, v. 25. There were many Things very remarkable and improvable, which if they ſhould be written at large, with the ſeveral Circumſtances of them, even the World it ſelf i. e. all the Libraries in it could not contain the Books that might be written. Thus he concludes like an Orator, as Paul, Heb. 11. 32. What ſhall I more ſay? For the Time would fail me.

If it be aſked why the Goſpels are not larger, why they did not make the New Teſtament Hiſtory as copious and as long as the Old; it may be anſwered,

1. It was not becauſe they had exhauſted their Subject, and had nothing more to write that was worth writing; no, there were many of Chriſt's Sayings and Doings not recorded by any of the Evangeliſts, which yet were worthy to be written in Letters of Gold. For, (1.) Every thing that Chriſt ſaid and did was worth our Notice, and capable of being improved. He never ſpoke an idle Word, nor did an idle thing; nay, he never ſpoke or did any thing mean or little, or trifling, which is more than can be ſaid of the wiſeſt or beſt of Men. (2.) His Miracles were many, very many, of many Kinds, and the ſame oft repeated, as Occaſion offered. Tho' one true Miracle might perhaps ſuffice to prove a Divine Commiſſion, yet the Repetition of the Miracles upon a great Variety of Perſons, in a great Variety of Caſes, and before a great Variety of Witneſſes, helped very much to prove them true Miracles. Every new Miracle rendered the Report of the former the more credible; and the Multitude of them render the whole Report unconteſtable. (3.) The Evangeliſts upon ſeveral Occaſions give general Accounts of Chriſt's Preaching and Miracles, incluſive of many particulars, as Mat. 4. 23, 24. & 9. 35. & 11. 1. & 14. 14, 15. & 18. 30. & 19. 2. and many the like. When we ſpeak of Chriſt, we have a copious Subject before us, the Reality exceeds the Report, and after all, the one half is not told us. St. Paul quotes one of Chriſt's Sayings, which is not recorded by any of the Evangeliſts, Acts 20 35. and doubtleſs there were many more. All his Sayings were Apophthegems.

2. But it was for theſe three Reaſons:

1. Becauſe it was not needful to write more. This is implied here; there were many other things which were not written, becauſe there was no Occaſion for writing them. What is written, is a ſufficient Revelation of the Doctrine of Chriſt and the Proof of it, and the reſt was but to the ſame Purpoſe. They that from hence argue againſt the Sufficiency of the Scripture, as the Rule of our Faith and Practiſe, and for the Neceſſity of unwritten Traditions ought to ſhew what there is in the Traditions they pretend to Perfective of the written Word, we are ſure there is that which is contrary to it, and therefore reject them. By theſe therefore let us be admoniſhed, for of writing many Books there is no End, Eccl. 12. 12. If we do not believe and improve what is written, neither would we if there had been much more.

2. It was not poſſible to write all. 'Twas poſſible for the Spirit to indite all, but morally impoſſible for the Pen-men to pen all. The World would not contain the Books. 'Tis an Hyperbole common enough and juſtifiable, when no more is intended but this, that it would fill a vaſt and incredible Number of Volumes. 'Twould be ſuch a large and over-grown Hiſtory as never was; ſuch as would juſtle out all other Writings, and leave us no room for them. What Volumes would be filled with Chriſt's Prayers, had we the Record of all thoſe he made, when he continued all Night in Prayer to God, without any vain Repetitions. Much more if all his Sermons and Conferences were particularly related, his Miracles, his Cures, all his Labours, all his Sufferings; 'twould have been an endleſs thing.

2. It was not adviſeable to write much; for the World in a moral Senſe could not contain the Books that ſhould be written. Chriſt ſaid not what he might have ſaid to his Diſciples, becauſe they were not able to bear it; and for the ſame Reaſon the Evangeliſts wrote not what they might have written. The World could not contain χωρῆσαι, 'Tis the Word that's us'd, John 8. 37. My Word has no Place in you; they would have been ſo many, that they would have found no Room. All Peoples Time would have been ſpent in reading, and other Duties would thereby have been crowded out. Much is over-looked of what is writen, much forgotten, and much made the Matter of doubtful Diſputation, much more if there had been ſuch a World of Books of equal Authority and Neceſſity as the whole Hiſtory would have ſwelled to; eſpecially ſince it was requiſite that what was written ſhould be meditated upon, and expounded, which God wiſely thought fit to leave Room for. Parents and Miniſters in giving Inſtruction, muſt conſider the Capacities of them they teach, and like Jacob, muſt take heed of over-driving. Let us be thankful for the Books that are written, and not prize them the leſs for their Plainneſs and Brevity, but diligently improve what God has thought fit to reveal, and long to be there, where our Capacities ſhall be ſo elevated and enlarged, that there will be no Danger of their being over-loaded.

The Evangeliſt concluding with Amen, thereby ſets to his Seal, and let us ſet to ours; an Amen of Faith ſubſcribing to the Goſpel that it is true, all true; and an Amen of Satisfaction in what is written, as able to make us wiſe to Salvation. Amen; So be it.

AN

AN EXPOSITION OF THE ACTS of the APOSTLES, WITH PRACTICAL OBSERVATIONS

We have with an abundant Satisfaction ſeen the Foundations of our Holy Religion laid in the Hiſtory of our Bleſſed Saviour, its Great Author, which was related and left upon Record by Four ſeveral inſpired Writers, who all agree in this Sacred Truth, and the unconteſtable Proofs of it, That JESUS is the CHRIST, the Son of the living GOD; upon this Rock the Chriſtian Church is built; And how it began to be built upon this Rock comes next to be related in this Book which we have now before us. And of this we have the Teſtimony only of one Witneſs; for the Matters of Fact concerning CHRIST, were much more neceſſary to be fully related and atteſted than thoſe concerning the Apoſtles. Had infinite Wiſdom ſeen fit, we might have had as many Books of the Acts of the Apoſtles as we have Goſpels, nay, as we might have had Goſpels; but for fear of overburthening the World, John 21. 25. We have ſufficient to anſwer the End, if we will but make uſe of it.

The Hiſtory of this Book, (which was alſo received as a Part of the Sacred Canon) may be conſidered,

I. As looking back to the preceeding Goſpels, giving Light to them, and greatly aſſiſting our Faith in them. The Promiſes there made we here find made good; particularly the Great Promiſe of the Deſcent of the HOLY GHOST, and his wonderful Operations, both on the Apoſtles, whom here in a few Days we find quite other Men than what the Goſpels left them; no longer weak headed, and weak hearted, but able to ſay that which then they were not able to bear, (John 16. 12.) and bold as Lions to face thoſe Hardſhips, which then as Lambs they trembled at the Thought of; And alſo with the Apoſtles making the Word mighty to the pulling down of Satan's ſtrong Holds, which had been before comparatively preached in vain. The Commiſſion there granted to the Apoſtles we here find executed, and the Powers there lodged in them exerted in Miracles wrought, on the Bodies of People, Miracles of Mercy, reſtoring ſick Bodies to Health; and dead Bodies to Life; Miracles of Judgment; ſtriking Rebels blind or dead; and much greater Miracles wrought on the Minds of People, in conferring Spiritual Gifts upon them, both of Underſtanding and Utterance; and this in purſuance of CHRIST's Purpoſes, and in Performance of his Promiſes, which we had in the Goſpels. The Proofs of CHRIST's Reſurrection, which the Goſpels cloſed with, are here abundantly corroborated, not only by the conſtant and undaunted Teſtimony of thoſe that converſed with him after he roſe, who had all Deſerted him, and one of them denied him, and would not otherwiſe have been rallied again but by his Reſurrection, but muſt have been irretrievably diſperſed; and yet by that were enabled to own him more reſolutely than ever in Defiance of Bonds and Deaths; but by the working of the Spirit with that Teſtimony for the Converſion of Multitudes to the Faith of CHRIST, according to the Word of CHRIST, that his Reſurrection, the Sign of the Prophet Jonas, which was reſerved to the laſt, ſhould be the moſt convincing Proof of his Divine Miſſion. CHRIST had told his Diſciples they ſhould be his Witneſſes, and this Book brings them in witneſſing for Him; That they ſhould be Fiſhers of Men, and here we have them incloſing Multitudes in the Goſpel Net; That they ſhould be the Lights of the World, and here we have the World enlightened by them; but that Day-ſpring from on high, which we there diſcerned the firſt appearing of, we here find ſhining more and more. The Corn of Wheat which there fell to the Ground, here ſprings up and bears much Fruit; The Grain of Muſtard-Seed there, is here a great Tree; And the Kingdom of Heaven which was then at hand, is here ſet up. CHRIST's Predictions of the virulent Perſecution which the Preachers of his Goſpel ſhould be afflicted with (though one could not have imagined that a Doctrine ſo well worthy of all Acceptation, ſhould meet with ſo ſo much Oppoſition) we here find abundantly fulfilled, and alſo the Aſſurances he gave them of extraordinary Supports and Comforts under their Sufferings. Thus as the latter Part of the Hiſtory of the Old Teſtament verifies the Promiſes made to the Fathers in the former Part, as appears by that famous and ſolemn Acknowledgment of Solomon's, which runs like a Receipt in full, 1 Kings 8. 56. There has not failed one Word of all his good Promiſes which he promiſed by the Hand of Moſes his Servant. So this latter Part of the Hiſtory of the New Teſtament exactly anſwers to the Word of CHRIST in the former Part of it: And thus they mutually confirm and illuſtrate each other.

II. As looking forwards to the following Epiſtles, which are an Explication of the Goſpels, which open the Myſtery of CHRIST's Death and Reſurrection, the Hiſtory whereof we had in the Goſpels. This Book introduceth them, and is a Key to them, as the Hiſtory of David is to David's Pſalms. We are Members of the Chriſtian Church, that Tabernacle of GOD among Men, and it is our Honour and Privilege that we are ſo. Now this Book gives us an Account of the Framing and Rearing of that Tabernacle. The Four Goſpels ſhewed us how the Foundation of that Houſe was laid; This ſhews us how the Superſtructure began to be raiſed. (1.) Among the Jews and Samaritans, which we have an Account of in the former Part of this Book. (2.) Among the Gentiles, which we have an Account of in the latter Part. From thence and downward to our own Day, we find the Chriſtian Church ſubſiſting in a viſible Profeſſion of Faith in CHRIST, as the Son of GOD and Saviour of the World, made by his baptized Diſciples, incorporated into religious Societies, ſtatedly meeting in religious Aſſemblies, attending on the Apoſtles Doctrine, and joyning in Prayers and Breaking of Bread, under the Conduct and Precedency of Men that gave themſelves to Prayer and the Miniſtry of the Word, and in a Spiritual Communion with all in every Place that do likewiſe. Such a Body as this there is now in the World, which we belong to, and to our great Satisfaction and Honour, in this Book we find the Riſe and Original of it, vaſtly different from the Jewiſh Church, and erected upon its Ruins; but undeniably appearing to be of GOD, and not of Man; with what Confidence and Comfort may we proceed in, and adhere to our Chriſtian Profeſſion, as far as we find it agrees with this Pattern in the Mount; to which we ought religiouſly to conform and confine our ſelves.

Two Things more are to be obſerved concerning this Book: (1.) The Penman of it; 'twas written by Luke, who wrote the third of the four Goſpels, which bears his Name; and who (as the learned Dr. Whitby ſhews) was, very probably, one of the ſeventy Diſciples, whoſe Commiſſion (Luke 10. 1, &c.) was little inferior to that of the twelve Apoſtles. This Luke was very much a Companion of Paul's, in his Services and Sufferings. Only Luke is with me, 2 Tim. 4. 11. We may know by his Style in the latter Part of this Book, when and where he was with him, for then he writes, We did ſo and ſo, as Chap. 16. 10. 20. 6. and from thenceforward to the End of the Book. He was with Paul in his dangerous Voyage to Rome, when he was carried thither a Priſoner, was with him when from his Priſon there he wrote his Epiſtles to the Coloſſians and Philemon, in both which he is named. And it ſhould ſeem that St. Luke wrote this Hiſtory when he was with St. Paul at Rome, during his Impriſonment there, and was aſſiſtant to him, for the Hiſtory concludes with St. Paul's preaching there in his own hired Houſe. (2.) The Title of it; The Acts of the Apoſtles; Of the Holy Apoſtles, ſo the Greek Copies generally read it, and ſo they are called, Rev. 18. 20. Rejoyce over her ye Holy Apoſtles. One Copy inſcribes it, The Acts of the Apoſtles by Luke the Evangeliſt. (1.) It is the Hiſtory of the Apoſtles, yet here is in it the Hiſtory of Stephen, Barnabas, and ſome other Apoſtolical Men, who tho' not of the Twelve, yet were endued with the ſame Spirit, and employed in the ſame Work. And of thoſe that were Apoſtles, 'tis the Hiſtory of Peter and Paul only that is here recorded, (and Paul was now of the Twelve) Peter the Apoſtle of the Circumciſion, and Paul the Apoſtle of the Gentiles, Gal. 2. 7. But this ſufficeth as a Specimen of what the reſt did in other Places, purſuant to their Commiſſion, for they were none of them idle. And as we are to think what is related in the Goſpels concerning CHRIST ſufficient, becauſe infinite Wiſdom thought ſo, the ſame we are to think here concerning what is related of the Apoſtles, and their Labours; for what more is told us from Tradition of the Labours and Sufferings of the Apoſtles, and the Churches they planted, is altogether doubtful and uncertain, and what, I think, we cannot build upon with any Satisfaction at all; this is Gold, Silver, and precious Stones, built upon the Foundation; That's Wood, Hay, and Stubble. (2.) It is called their Acts or Doings, Geſta Apoſtolorum. So ſome, πράξεις, their Practices of the Leſſons their Maſters had taught them. The Apoſtles were Active Men; and tho' the Wonders they did were by the Word, yet they are fitly called their Acts; They ſpake, or rather the Spirit by them ſpake, and it was done. The Hiſtory is filled with their Sermons, and their Sufferings, yet ſo much did they Labour in their Preachings, and ſo voluntarily did they expoſe themſelves to Sufferings; and ſuch were their Atchievements by both, that they may very well be called their ACTS.

CHAP. I.

The inſpired Hiſtorian begins his Narrative of the Acts of the Apoſtles, (1.) with a Reference to, and a brief Recapitulation of his Goſpel, or Hiſtory of the Life of Chriſt, inſcribing this, as he had done that, to his Friend Theophilus, v. 1, 2. (2.) With a Summary of the Proofs of Chriſt's Reſurrection, and his Conference with his Diſciples, and the Inſtructions he gave them during the forty Days of his Continuance on Earth, v. 2—5. (3.) With a particular Narrative of Chriſt's Aſcenſion into Heaven, his Diſciples Diſcourſe with him before he aſcended, and the Angels Diſcourſe with them after he was aſcended, v. 6—11. (4.) With a general Idea of the Embryo of the Chriſtian Church, and its State, from Chriſt's Aſcenſion to the pouring out of the Spirit, v. 12—14. (5.) With a particular Account of the filling up of the Vacancy that was made in the ſacred College, by the Death of Judas, by the electing of Matthias in his Room.

THE former Treatiſe have I made, O Theophilus, of all that Jeſus began both to do and teach, 2 Until the day in which he was taken up, after that he through the holy Ghoſt had given commandments unto the apoſtles, whom he had choſen. 3 To whom alſo he ſhewed himſelf alive after his paſſion, by many infallible proofs, being ſeen of them forty days, and ſpeaking of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God: 4 And being aſſembled together with them, commanded them that they ſhould not depart from Jeruſalem, but wait for the promiſe of the Father, which, ſaith he, you have heard of me. 5 For John truly baptized with water; but ye ſhall be baptized with the holy Ghoſt, not many days hence.

In theſe Verſes,

Firſt, Theophilus is put in mind, and we in him, of St. Luke's Goſpel, which it will be of uſe for us to caſt an Eye upon before we enter upon the Study of this Book, that we may ſee not only how this begins there where that breaks off, but that as in Water Face anſwers to Face, ſo do the Acts of the Apoſtles to the Acts of their Maſter, the Acts of his Grace.

1. His Patron to whom he dedicates this Book (I ſhould rather ſay his Pupil, for he deſigns in dedicating it to him, to inſtruct and direct him, and not to crave his Countenance or Protection) is Theophilus, v. 1. In the Epiſtle Dedicatory before his Goſpel, he had called him moſt excellent Theophilus, here he calls him no more but O Theophilus; not that he had loſt his Excellency, or that it was diminiſhed, and become leſs illuſtrious, but either he had now quitted his Place, whatever it was, for the ſake of which that Title was given him; or, he was now grown into Years, and deſpiſed ſuch Titles of Reſpect more than he had done; or, Luke was grown more intimate with him, and therefore could addreſs to him with the more Freedom. It was uſual with the Ancients, both Chriſtian and Heathen Writers, thus to inſcribe their Writings to ſome particular Perſon: But the directing ſome of the Books of the Scripture ſo, is an Intimation to each of us to receive them, as if directed to us in particular, to us by Name, for whatſoever Things were written before Time, were written for our learning.

2. His Goſpel is here called the former Treatiſe which he had made, which he had an Eye to in writing this, intending this for a Continuation and Confirmation of that, τ̃ πρῶτον λόγον. The former Word. What is written of the Goſpel, is the Word as truly as what was ſpoken, nay, we now know no unwritten Word that we are to give Credit to, but as it agrees with that which is written. He made the former Treatiſe, and now is divinely inſpired to make this; for Chriſt's Scholars muſt go on towards Perfection, Heb. 6. 1. And therefore their Guides muſt help them on, muſt ſtill teach the People Knowledge, Eccl. 12. 9. and not think that their former Labour, tho' never ſo good, will excuſe them from further Labours; but they ſhould rather be quickened and encouraged by them, as Luke here, who becauſe he had laid the Foundation in a former Treatiſe, will build upon it in this. Let not this therefore drive out that; let not new Sermons and new Books make us forget old ones, but put us in mind of them, and help us to improve them.

3. The Contents of his Goſpel was, That, all that which Jeſus, began both to do and teach; and the ſame is the Subject of the Writings of the other three Evangeliſts. Obſerve, (1.) Chriſt both did and taught. The Doctrine he taught was confirmed by the miraculous Works he did, which proved him a Teacher come from God, Joh. 3. 2. And the Duties he taught were copied out in the holy gracious Works he did, for he hath left us an Example, and that ſuch as proves him a Teacher come from God too, for by their Fruits ye ſhall know them. Thoſe are the beſt Miniſters that both do and teach, whoſe Lives are a conſtant Sermon. (2.) He began both to do and teach; he laid the Foundation of all that was to be taught and done in the Chriſtian Church: His Apoſtles were to carry on and continue what he began, and to do and teach the ſame Things. Chriſt ſet them in, and then left them to go on, but ſent his Spirit to impower them both to do and teach. It is a Comfort to thoſe who are endeavouring to carry on the Work of the Goſpel, that Chriſt himſelf began it. The great Salvation at firſt began to be ſpoken by the Lord, Heb. 2. 3. (3.) The four Evangeliſts, and Luke particularly, have handed down to us all that Jeſus began both to do and to teach; not all the Particulars; the World could not have contain'd them ; but all the Heads, Samplars of all ; ſo many and in ſuch Variety, as that by them you may judge of the reſt. We have the Beginnings of his Doctrine, Matth. iv. 17. and the Beginnings of his Miracles, Jon. ii. 11. Luke had ſpoken, had treated of all Chriſt's Sayings and Doings, had given us a general Idea of them, tho' he had nor recorded each in particular.

4. The Period of the Evangelical Story is fix'd to the Day in which he was taken up, v. 2. Then it was that he left this World, and his bodily Preſence was no more in it ; St. Mark's Goſpel concludes with the Lord's being received up into Heaven, Mark xvi. 19. and ſo doth St. Luke's, Luke xxiv. 51. Chriſt continu'd doing and teaching to the laſt, till he was taken up to the other Work he had to do within the Vail.

Secondly, The Truth of Chriſt's Reſurrection is maintain'd and evidenc'd, v. 3. That Part of what was related in the former Treatiſe was ſo material, that it was neceſſary to be upon all Occaſions repeated. The great Evidence of his Reſurrection was, That he ſhewed himſelf alive to his Apoſtles ; being alive, he ſhewed himſelf ſo, and he was ſeen of them : They were honeſt Men, and one may depend upon their Teſtimony : But the Queſtion is, Whether they were not impos'd upon, as many a well-meaning Man is ? No ; they were not. For,

1. The Proofs were infallible, τεκμήρια plain Indications, both that he was alive ; He walk'd, and talk'd with them, He eat and drank with them ; and that it was he himſelf and not another, for he ſhew'd them again and again the Marks of the Wounds in his Hands and Feet and Side ; which was the utmoſt Proof of the Thing was capable of, or requir'd.

2. They were many, and oft repeated ; He was ſeen by them Forty Days, not conſtantly reſiding with them, but frequently appearing to them, and bringing them by degrees to be fully ſatisfy'd concerning it, ſo that all their Sorrow for his Departure was done away by it. Chriſt's ſtaying upon Earth ſo long after He was enter'd upon His State of Exaltation and Glory, to confirm the Faith of his Diſciples, and comfort their Hearts, was ſuch an Inſtance of Condeſcenſion and Compaſſion to Believers, as may fully aſſure us, that we have a High Prieſt that is touch'd with the feeling of our Infirmities.

Thirdly, A general Hint given of the Inſtructions He furniſh'd his Diſciples with, now he was about to leave them : And they ſince He breathed on them, and open'd their Underſtandings, were better able to receive them.

(1.) He inſtructed them concerning the Work they were to do. He gave Commandments to the Apoſtles whom he had choſen : Note, Chriſt's Choice is always attended with his Charge. Thoſe whom he elected into the Apoſtleſhip, expected he ſhould give them Preferments, but inſtead of that he gave them Commandments. When He took his Journey, and gave Authority to his Servants, turns to every one his Work, Mark xiii. 34. He gave them Commandments through the Holy Ghoſt, which He was Himſelf fill'd with as Mediator, and which he had breath'd into them. In giving them the Holy Ghoſt, he gave them His Commandments, for the Comforter will be a Commander ; and his Office was to bring to their Remembrance what Chriſt had ſaid ; He charg'd thoſe that were Apoſtles by the Holy Ghoſt, ſo the Words, are placed ; It was their receiving the Holy Ghoſt that ſeal'd their Commiſſion, Joh. xx. 22. He was not taken up till after he had given them their Charge, and ſo finiſh'd his Work.

(2.) He inſtructed them concerning the Doctrine they were to preach. He ſpoke to them of the Things pertaining to the Kingdom of GOD ; He had givin them a general Idea of that Kingdom, and the certain Time it ſhould be ſet up in the World, in His Parable, Mar. xiii. But here He let them more into the Nature of it ; as a Kingdom of Grace in this World, and of Glory in the other, and open'd to them that Covenant which is the great Charter by which it is incorporated. Now this was intended (1) To prepare them to receive the Holy Ghoſt, and to go through that which they were deſign'd for. He tells them in ſecrets, what they muſt tell the World ; and they ſhall find that the Spirit of Truth when he comes will ſay the ſame. (2) To be one of the Proofs of Chriſt's Reſurection ; ſo it comes in her, the Diſciples to whom He ſhew'd himſelf alive knew that it was He, not only by what He ſhew'd them, but by what He ſaid to them. None but he could ſpeak thus clearly, thus fully of the Things pertaining to the Kingdom of GOD. He did not entertain them with Diſcourſes of Politicks, or the Kingdoms of Men, of Philoſophy, or the Kingdom of Nature, but pure Divinity, and the Kingdom of Grace ; the Things which moſt nearly concern'd them, and thoſe to whom they were ſent.

Fourthly, A particular Aſſurance given them, that they ſhould now ſhortly receive the Holy Ghoſt, with Orders given them, to expect it, v. 4, 5. He being aſſembled together with them, probably in the Interview at the Mountain in Galilee, which He had appointed before his death ; for there is mention of their coming together again, v. 6. to attend his Aſcenſion. Tho' He had now order'd them to Galilee, yet they muſt not think to continue there, no they muſt return to Jeruſalem, and not depart thence. Obſerve,

1. The Command He gives them to wait ; this was to raiſe their Expectations of ſomething great ; and ſomething very great they had Reaſon to expect from their exalted Redeemer. (1.) They muſt wait till the Time appointed, which is now not many Days hence. They that by Faith hope promiſed Mercies will come, muſt with Patience wait till they do come, according to the Time, the ſet Time. And when the Time draws near, as now it did, we muſt as Daniel, look earneſtly for it, Dan. ix. 3. (2.) They muſt wait in the Place appointed ; in Jeruſalem, for there the Spirit muſt be firſt poured out, becauſe Chriſt was to be as King upon the holy Hill of Zion ; and becauſe the Word of the Lord muſt go forth from Jeruſalem ; That muſt be the Mother-Church. There Chriſt was put to ſhame, and therefore there He will have this Honour done Him ; and this Favour done to Jeruſalem, to teach us to forgive our Enemies and Perſecutors. The Apoſtles were more expos'd to Danger at Jeruſalem than they would have been in Galilee ; but we may chearfully truſt GOD with our Safety when we keep in the Way of our Duty : The Apoſtles were now to put on a publick Character, and therefore muſt venture in a publick Station, Jeruſalem was the fitteſt Candleſtick for thoſe Lights to be ſet up in.

2. The Aſſurance he gives them, that they ſhall not wait in vain ; the Bleſſing deſign'd them ſhall come, and they ſhall find it was worth waiting for ; you ſhall be baptiz'd with the Holy Ghoſt. That is, 1. The Holy Ghoſt ſhall be poured out upon you more plentifully than ever. They had already been Breath'd upon with the Holy Ghoſt, John xx. 22. and they had found the Benefit of it, but now they ſhall have larger Meaſures, of His Gifts, Graces, and Comforts, and be baptiz'd with them ; where there ſeems to be an Alluſion to thoſe Old Teſtament Promiſes of the pouring out of the Spirit, Joel ii. 28. Iſa. xliv. 3. xxxii. 15. 2. Ye ſhall be cleanſed and purified, by the Holy Ghoſt, as the Prieſts were baptiz'd and waſh'd with Water, when they were conſecrated to their Sacred Function ; they had the Sign, you ſhall have the Thing ſignified You ſhall be ſanctified by the Truth, as the Spirit ſhall lead you more and more into it, and your Conſciences purg'd by the Witneſs of the Spirit, that you may ſerve the living GOD in the Apoſtleſhip. 3. Ye ſhall hereby be more effectually than ever engaged to your Maſter, and to his Conduct, as Iſrael was baptiz'd unto Moſes in the Cloud and in the Seas ; you ſhall be ty'd ſo faſt to Chriſt, that you ſhall never for fear of any Sufferings forſake Him again, as once you did.

Now this Gift of the Holy Ghoſt he ſpeaks of, 1. As the Promiſe of the Father which they had heard of him, and might therefore depend upon.

(1.) The Spirit was given by Promiſe, and it was at this Time, the great Promiſe as that of the Meſſiah was before, Luke i. 72. and that of Eternal Life is now, 1 Joh. ii. 25. Temporal good Things are given by Providence, but the Spirit and Spiritual Bleſſings are given by Promiſe. Gal. iii. 28. The Spirit of GOD is not given as the Spirit of Men, is given us, and form'd within us by a courſe of Nature, Zech. xii. 1. but by the Word of GOD. (1.) That the Gift may be the more valuable, Chriſt's thought the Promiſe of the Spirit a Legacy worth leaving to His Church. (2.) That it may be the more ſure, and that the Heirs of Promiſe may be confident of the Immutability of God's Counſel herein. (3.) That it may be of Grace, peculiar Grace, and may be receiv'd by Faith, laying hold on the Promiſe and depending upon it. As Chriſt, ſo the Spirit is receiv'd by Faith.

(2.) 'Twas the Promiſe of the Father, of Chriſt's Father ; Chriſt as Mediator had an Eye to GOD as his Father, Fathering his Deſign, and owning it all along. Of our Father, who if he give us the Adoption of Sons, will certainly give us the Spirit of Adoption, Gal. iv. 5. He will give the Spirit as the Father of Light, as the Father of Spirits, and as the Father of Mercies, 'tis the Promiſe of the Father.

(3.) This Promiſe of the Father they had heard from Chriſt many a time, eſpecially in the Farewell Sermon he preach'd to them a little before He dy'd, wherein He aſſur'd them again and again, that the Comforter ſhould come. This confirms the Promiſe of GOD, and encourageth us to depend upon it, that we have heard it from Jeſus Chriſt ; for in Him all the Promiſes of GOD are Yea and Amen. You have heard it from me, and I'll make it good.

2. As the Prediction of John Baptiſt ; for ſo far back Chriſt here directs them to look, v. 5. you have not only heard it from me, but you had it from John ; when he turn'd you over to me, he ſaid, Mat. iii. 11. I indeed Baptize you with Water, but he that comes after me ſhall Baptize with the Holy Ghoſt. 'Tis a great Honour Chriſt now doth to John not only to quote his Words, but to make this great Gift of the Spirit now at Hand to be the Accompliſhment of them. Thus he confirmeth the Word of his Servants, his Meſſengers, Iſa. xliv. 26. But Chriſt can do more than any of his Miniſters. 'Tis an Honour to them to be employ'd in diſpenſing the Means of Grace, but it is his Prerogative to give the Spirit of Grace, He ſhall Baptize you with the Holy Ghoſt ; ſhall teach you by his Spirit, and give his Spirit to make Interceſſion in you, which is more than the beſt Miniſters preaching with us.

Now this Gift of the Holy Ghoſt thus promiſed, thus propheſy'd of, thus waited for, is that which we find the Apoſtles receiv'd in the next Chapter, for in that this Promiſe had its full Accompliſhment ; that was it that ſhould come, and we look for no other ; for it is here promiſed to be given not many Days hence : He doth not tell them how many, becauſe they muſt keep every Day in a Frame fit to receive it ; other Scriptures ſpeak of the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt to ordinary Believers ; this ſpeaks of that particular Power which by the Holy Ghoſt the firſt Preachers of the Goſpel, and Planters of the Church were endued with, enabling them infallibly to relate to that Age, and record to Poſterity the Doctrine of Chriſt, and the Proofs of it; ſo that by vertue of this Promiſe and the Performance of it, we receive the New Teſtament as of Divine Inſpiration, and venture our Souls upon it.

6 When they therefore were come together, they asked of him, ſaying Lord, wilt thou at this time reſtore again the kingdom to Iſrael? 7 And he ſaid unto them, It is not for you to know the times or the ſeaſons which the Father hath put in his own power. 8 But yet ſhall receive power, after that the holy Ghoſt is come upon you: and ye ſhall be witneſſes unto me, both in Jeruſalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermoſt part of the earth. 9 And when he had ſpoken theſe things, while they beheld, he was taken up, and a Cloud received him out of their ſight. 10 And while they looked ſtedfaſtly toward heaven, as he went up, behold, two Men ſtood by them in white Apparel; 11 Which alſo ſaid, Ye men of Galilee, why ſtand ye gazing up into heaven? this ſame Jeſus, which is taken up from you into heaven, ſhall ſo come, in like manner as ye have ſeen him go into heaven.

In Jeruſalem Chriſt by his Angel had appointed His Diſciples to meet him in Galilee; there He appointed them to meet him in Jeruſalem again ſuch a Day: Thus he would try their Obedience, and it was found ready and chearful; they came together, as he appointed them to be the Witneſſes of his Aſcenſion, which here we have an Account of. Obſerve, Firſt, the Queſtion they ask'd him at this Interview. They came together to him, as thoſe that had conſulted one another about it, and concurr'd in the Queſtion Nemine Contradicente, they came in a Body, and put it to him as the Senſe of the Houſe, Lord, wilt thou at this time reſtore again the Kingdom to Iſrael? Two ways this may be taken.

1. Sure thou wilt not at all reſtore it to the preſent Rulers of Iſrael, the Chief Prieſts and the Elders that put thee to Death, and to compaſs that Deſign, tamely gave up the Kingdom to Cæſar, and own'd themſelves his Subjects. What! Shall thoſe that hate and preſecute Thee and us, be truſted with Power, That be far from Thee. Or rather,

2. Sure thou wilt now reſtore it to the Jewiſh Nation, as far as it will ſubmit to Thee as their King. Now two things were amiſs in this Queſtion.

1. Their Expectation of the Thing it ſelf: They thought Chriſt would reſtore the Kingdom to Iſrael, i. e. that he would make the Nation of the Jews as great and conſiderable among the Nations, as it was in the Days of David and Solomon, of Aſa and Jehoſhaphat, that as Shiloh he would reſtore the Scepter to Judah, and the Lawgiver; where as Chriſt came to ſet up his own Kingdom, and that a Kingdom of Heaven, not to reſtore the Kingdom to Iſrael, an Earthly Kingdom. See how apt even good Men are to place the Happineſs of the Church too much in external Pomp and Power, as if Iſrael were not glorious unleſs the Kingdom were reſtor'd to it, nor Chriſt's Diſciples honour'd unleſs they were Peers of the Realm, whereas we are bid to expect the Croſs in this World, and to wait for the Kingdom in the other World. See how apt we are to retain what we have imbib'd, and how hard it is to get over the Prejudices of Education. The Diſciples having ſuck'd in this Notion with their Milk, that the Meſſiah was to be a Temporal Prince, they were long before they could be brought to have any Idea of his Kingdom as Spiritual. See alſo how Naturally we are bias'd in Favour of our own People; They thought GOD would have no Kingdom in the World unleſs it were reſtor'd to Iſrael, whereas the Kingdoms of this World were to become his, in whom he would be glorified, whether Iſrael ſink or ſwim. See alſo how apt we are to miſunderſtand Scripture, and to underſtand that literally which is ſpoken figuratively, and to expound Scriptures by our Schemes, whereas we ought to form our Schemes by the Scriptures; but when the Spirit ſhall be poured out from on high, our Miſtakes will be rectified, as the Apoſtles ſoon after were.

2. Their Enquiry concerning the Time of it. Lord, wilt thou do it at this Time? Now thou haſt called us together, is it for this Purpoſe; that proper Meaſures may be concerted for the reſtoring of the Kingdom to Iſrael; ſure there cannot be a more favourable Juncture than this. Now herein they miſs'd it, (1.) That they were Inquiſitive into that which their Maſter had never directed or encourag'd them to enquire into. (2.) That they were impatient for the ſetting up of that Kingdom in which they promiſed themſelves ſo great a Share, and would anticipate the Divine Counſels; Chriſt had told them they ſhould ſit on Thrones, Luke xxii. 30. and now nothing will ſerve them but they muſt be in the Throne preſently, and cannot ſtay the Time, whereas he that believeth doth not make haſte, but is ſatisfied that GOD's time is the beſt time.

Secondly, The Check which Chriſt gave to this Queſtion, like that which he had little before given to Peter's Enquiry concerning John, what is that to thee? v. 7. It is not for you to know the Times and Seaſons. He doth not contradict their Expectation that the Kingdom would be reſtor'd to Iſrael, becauſe that Miſtake would ſoon be rectify'd by the pouring out of the Spirit, after which they never had any more Thought of the Temporal Kingdom; and alſo becauſe there is a Senſe of the Expectation which is true, the ſetting up of the Goſpel Kingdom in the World, and their Miſtake of the Promiſe ſhall not make it of none effect; but he checks their Enquiry after the Time.

1. The Knowledge of this is not allow'd to them; It is not for you to know, and therefore 'tis not for you to ask. (1.) Chriſt is now parting from them, and parts in Love, and yet he gives them this Rebuke; which is intended for a Caution to his Church in all Ages, to take heed of ſplitting upon the Rock, which was fatal to our firſt Parents, an inordinate Deſire of forbidden Knowledge, and intruding into Things which we have not ſeen, becauſe GOD has not ſhewn. Neſcire velle quæ Magiſter maximus docere non vult, erudita inſcitia eſt. 'Tis Folly to covet to be wiſe above what is written, and Wiſdom to be content to be no wiſer. (2.) Chriſt had given his Diſciples a great deal of Knowledge above others, to you it is given to know the Myſteries of the Kingdom of GOD, and had promiſed them his Spirit to teach them more; now leſt they ſhould be puff'd up with the Abundance of the Revelations, he here lets them underſtand, that there were ſome Things which it was not for them to know. We ſhall ſee how little Reaſon we have to be proud of our Knowledge, when we conſider how many Things we are ignorant of. (3.) Chriſt had given his Diſciples Inſtructions ſufficient for the Diſcharge of their Duty, both before his Death, and ſince his Reſurrection, and this Knowledge he will have them to be ſatisfied in; for it is enough for a Chriſtian in whom vain Curioſity is a corrupt Humour, to be mortify'd and not gratify'd. (4.) Chriſt had himſelf told his Diſciples the things pertaining to the Kingdom of GOD, and had promiſed that the Spirit ſhould ſhew them Things to come concerning it, John xvi. 13. He had likewiſe given them Signs of the Times, which it was their Duty to obſerve, and a Sin to overlook, Mat. xxiv. 33. xvi. 3. But they muſt not expect or deſire to know either all the Particulars of future Events or the exact Times of them. 'Tis good for us to be kept in the Dark, and left at Uncertainty concerning the Times and Moments (as Dr. Hammond reads it) of future Events concerning the Church, as well as concerning our ſelves, concerning all the Periods of Time, and the final Period of it, as well as concerning the Period of our own Time. Prudens futuri temporis exitum Caliginoſa nocte premit Deus, Hor. As to the Times and Seaſons of the Year, we know in general, there will be Summer and Winter counterchang'd, but we know not particularly which Day will be fair, or which foul, either in Summer or in Winter; ſo as to our Affairs in this World, when 'tis a Summer time of Proſperity, that we may not be ſecure, we are told there will come a Winter time of Trouble. And in that Winter that we may not deſpond and deſpair, we are aſſur'd Summer will return; but what this or that particular Day will bring forth we cannot tell, but muſt accommodate our ſelves to it whatever it is, and make the beſt of it.

2. The Knowledge of it is reſerv'd to GOD as his Prerogative, 'tis what the Father hath put in his own Power; 'tis hid with him. None but He can reveal the Times and Seaſons to come; known unto God are all his Works, but not to us, Acts xv. 18. 'Tis in his Power, and in his only, to declare the End from the Beginning, and by this He proves himſelf to be GOD, Iſa xlvi. 10. And tho' he did think fit ſometimes to let the Old Teſtament Prophets know the Times and Seaſon, as of the Iſraelites Bondage in Egypt Four hundred Years, and in Babylon Seventy Years; yet He has not thought fit to let you know the Times and Seaſons, no not juſt how long it ſhall be before Jeruſalem be deſtroy'd, tho' you be ſo well aſſur'd of the Thing it ſelf. He hath not ſaid, He will not yet give you to know ſomething more than you do of the Times and Seaſons; He did do ſo afterwards to his Servant John, but he has put it in is own Power to do it or not, as he thinks fit. And what is in that New Teſtament Prophecy diſcover'd concerning the Times and Seaſons, is ſo dark and hard to be underſtood, that when we come to apply it, it concerns us to remember this Word, That it is not for us to be poſitive in determining the Times and Seaſons. Buxtorf mentions a Saying of the Rabbins concerning the Coming of the Meſſiah, Rumpatur ſpiritus eoram qui ſupputant tempora,

Thirdly, He cuts them out their Work, and with an Authority aſſures 'em of an Ability to go on with it, and of Succeſs in it. It is not for you to know the Times and the Seaſons, that will do you no good; but know this, v. 8. that you ſhall receive a ſpiritual Power by the Deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt upon you, and ſhall not receive it in vain, for ye ſhall be Witneſſes unto me, and my Glory and your Teſtimony ſhall not be in vain, for it ſhall be receiv'd here in Jeruſalem, in the Country about, and all the World over, v. 8. If Chriſt make us ſerviceable to his Honour in our own Day and Generation, let that be enough for us, and let not us perplex our ſelves about Times and Seaſons to come. Chriſt here tells them,

1. That their Work ſhould be honourable and glorious. You ſhall be Witneſs unto Me. (1.) They ſhall proclaim him King, and publiſh thoſe Truths to the World by which his Kingdom ſhould be ſet up, and he would rule. They muſt openly and ſolemnly preach his Goſpel to the World. (2.) They ſhall prove this, ſhall confirm their Teſtimony, not as Witneſſes do, with an Oath; but with the Divine Seal of Miracles, and ſuper-natural Gifts. Ye ſhall be Martyrs to me, or my Martyrs, as ſome Copies read it; for they atteſted the Truth of the Goſpel with their Sufferings even unto Death.

1. That their Power for this Work ſhould be ſufficient. They had not Strength of their own for it, not Wiſdom or Courage enough, they were naturally of the weak and fooliſh Things of this World, they durſt not appear as Witneſſes for Chriſt upon his Tryal, neither as yet were they able; But ye ſhall receive the Power of the Holy Ghoſt coming upon you, (ſo it may be read) ſhall be animated and acted by a better Spirit than your own; you ſhall have Power to preach the Goſpel, and to prove it out of the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament, which, when they were fill'd with the Holy Ghoſt, they did to Admiration, Acts. xviii. 28. and to confirm it both by Miracles, and by their Sufferings.

Note, Chriſt's Witneſſes ſhall receive Power for that Work to which he calls them. Whom he employs in his Service, he will qualify them for it, and bear them out in it.

3. That their Influence ſhould be great and very extenſive. You ſhall be Witneſſes for Chriſt, and ſhall carry his Cauſe, (1.) In Jeruſalem, there you muſt begin, and many there will receive your Teſtimony; and they that do not, will be left inexcuſable. (2) Your Light ſhall from thence ſhine throughout all Judea, where before we have labour'd in vain. (3) Thence you ſhall proceed to Samaria, tho' at your firſt Miſſion you were forbidden to preach in any of the Cities of the Samaritans. (4) Your Uſefulneſs ſhall reach to the uttermoſt Part of the Earth, and you ſhall be Bleſſings to the whole World.

Fourthly, Having left theſe Inſtructions with them, he leaves them. v. 9. when he had ſpoken theſe Things, and had ſaid all that he had to ſay, he bleſſed them; ſo we were told, Luke xxiv, 50. and while they beheld him, and had their Eye fix'd upon him, receiving his Bleſſing, he was gradually taken up, and a Cloud recived him out of their ſight. We have here Chriſt's aſcending on high. Not fetch'd away as Elijah was, with a Chariot of Fire, and Horſes of Fire, but riſing to Heaven, as he roſe from the Grave, purely by his own Power; his Body being now as the Bodies of the Saints will be at the Reſurrection, a Spiritual Body, and rais'd in Power and Incorruption. Obſerve,

1. He began his Aſcenſion in the ſight of his Diſciples, even while they beheld; They did not ſee him come up out of the Grave becauſe they might ſee him after he was riſen, which would be Satisfaction enough; but they ſaw him go up towards Heaven, and had actually their Eye upon him, with ſo much Care and Intention of Mind, that they could not be deceiv'd. 'Tis probable, that he did not fly ſwiftly up, but mov'd upwards fair and ſoftly, for the further Satisfaction of his Diſciples.

2. He finiſh'd it out of their ſight, in a Cloud; either a thick Cloud, for GOD ſaid, He would dwell in the thick Darkneſs; or a bright Cloud, to ſignify the Splendor of his Glorious Body: 'Twas a bright Cloud that overſhadowed him in his Transfiguration, and moſt probably this was ſo; Mat. xvii. 5. This Cloud received him, 'tis probable, when he was gone about as far from the Earth as the Clouds generally are; yet it was not ſuch a ſpreading Cloud as we commonly ſee, but ſuch as juſt ſerv'd to incloſe him: Now he made the Clouds his Chariot, Pſal. civ. 3. God had often come down in a Cloud, now He went up in one. Dr. Hammond thinks, That the Clouds receiving him here, was the Angels receiving him; for the Appearence of Angels is ordinarily deſcrib'd by a Cloud; comparing Exod. xxv. 22. with Leu. xvi. 2. By the Clouds there is a Sort of a Communication kept up between the upper and lower World, in them the Vapors are ſent up from the Earth, and the Dews ſent down from Heaven; fitly therefore doth He aſcend in a Cloud, who is the Mediator between GOD and Man, by whom GOD's Mercies come down upon us, and our Prayers come up to him. This was the laſt that was ſeen of him, the Eyes of a great many Witneſſes follow'd him into the Cloud, and if we would know what came of him then, we may find, Dan. vii. 14. That One like the Son of Man came with the Clouds of Heaven, and came to the Ancient of Days, and they brought him in the Clouds as he came near before him.

Fifthly, The Diſciples when he was gone out of their ſight, yet ſtill continu'd looking up ſteadfaſtly to Heaven, v. 10. and this longer than it was fit they ſhould; and, Why ſo?

1. Prehaps they hop'd that Chriſt would preſently came back to them again, to reſtore the Kingdom to Iſreal, and were loth to believe they ſhould now part with him for good and all, ſo much did they ſtill dote upon his Bodily Preſence, tho' he had told them, 'twas expedient for them, that he ſhould go away. Or, they look after him as doubting whether he might not be drop'd, as the Sons of the Prophets thought concerning Elijah, 2 Kings ii. 16. and ſo they might have him again.

2. Perhaps, they expected to ſee ſome Change in the viſible Heavens now upon Chriſt's Aſcenſion, that either the Sun ſhould be aſham'd, or the Moon confounded, Iſa. xxiv. 6. as being out-ſhone by his Luſtre: Or rather, that they ſhould ſhew ſome Sign of Joy and Triumph. Or perhaps, they promis'd themſelves a Sight of Glory of the inviſible Heavens, upon their opening to receive him Chriſt had told them, that hereafter they ſhould ſee Heaven open'd, Joh. i. 51. and why ſhould not they expect it now?

Sixthly, Two Angels appear'd to them, and deliver'd them a ſeaſonable Meſſage from GOD; There was a World of Angels ready to receive our Redeemer now he made his publick Entry into the Jeruſalem above; we may ſuppoſe theſe Two loth to be abſent then; yet to ſhew how much Chriſt had at Heart the Concerns of his Church on Earth, he ſent Two of thoſe that came to meet him, back to his Diſciples, who appear as Two Men in White Apparel, bright and gliſtering, for they know, according to the Duty of their Place, that they are really ſerving Chriſt when they are Miniſtring to his Servants on Earth. Now ye are told what they ſaid to them.

1. To check their Curioſity. Ye Men of Galilee, Why ſtand ye gazing up into Heaven? He calls them Men of Galilee, to put them in mind of the Rock out of which they were hewn. Chriſt had put a great Honour upon them in making them his Ambaſſadors; but they muſt remember, that they are Men, earthen Veſſels, and Men of Galilee, illiterate Men, look'd upon with diſdain. Now ſay they, Why ſtand ye here, like Galileans, rude and unpoliſh'd Men, gazing up into Heaven? What would you ſee? you have ſeen all that you were call'd together to ſee, and why do ye look any further? Why ſtand ye gazing? as Men frighten'd and perplex'd, as Men aſtoniſh'd and at their Wits-end. Chriſt's Diſciples ſhould never ſtand at a gaze, becauſe they have a ſure Rule to go by, and a ſure Foundation to build upon.

2. To confirm their Faith concerning Chriſt's ſecond Coming. Their Maſter had often told them of that, and the Angels are ſent at this Time ſeaſonably to put them in mind of it. This ſame Jeſus which is taken up from you into Heaven, and whom you are looking thus long after, wiſhing you had him with you again, is not gone for ever, for there is a Day appointed in which he will come in like manner thence as ye have ſeen him go thither, and you muſt not expect him back till that appointed Day. 1. This ſame Jeſus, ſhall come again in his own Perſon, cloth'd with this glorious Body; this ſame Jeſus, that came once to put away Sin by the Sacrifice of himſelf, will appear the ſecond time without Sin, Heb. ix. 26, 28. that came once in Diſgrace to be judg'd, will come again in Glory to judge. The ſame Jeſus that his given you your Charge, will come again to call you to an Account, how you have perform'd your Truſt. He, and not another, Job. xix. 27, 2. He ſhall come in like manner. He is gone away in a Cloud, and attended with Angels; and Behold, he comes in the Clouds, and with him an innumerable Company of Angels. He is gone up with a Shout, and with the ſound of a Trumpet, Pſal. xlvii. 5. and he will deſcend from Heaven with a Shout, and with the Trump of God, 1 Theſ. iv. 16. You have now loſt the Sight of him in the Clouds, and in the Air, and whither he is gone, you cannot follow him now; but ſhall then, when you ſhall be caught up in the Clouds, to met the Lord in the Air. When we ſtand gazing and trifling, the Conſideration of our Maſter's ſecond Coming, ſhould quicken and awaken us. And when we ſtand gazing and trembling, the Conſideration of it ſhould comfort and encourage us.

12 Then returned they unto Jeruſalem, from the Mount called Olivet, which is from Jeruſalem a ſabbath-days journey. 13 And when they were come in, they went up into an upper-room, where abode both Peter, and James, and John, and Andrew Philip, and Thomas, Bortholomew, and Matthew, James the ſon of Alpheus, and Simon Zelotes, and Judas the brother of James. 14 Theſe all continued with one accord in prayer and ſupplication, with the women, and Mary the mother of Jeſus, and with his brethren.

We are here told,

1. From whence Chriſt aſcended; from the Mount of Olives, v. 12. from that Part of it where the Town of Bethany ſtood, Luke xxiv. 50. There he began his Sufferings, Luke xxii. 39. and therefore there he roll'd away the Reproach of them by his glorious Aſcenſion, and thus ſhew'd, that his Paſſion and his Aſcenſion had the ſame Reference and Tendency. Thus would he enter upon his Kingdom in the ſight of Jeruſalem, and of thoſe undutiful, ungrateful Citizens of his that would not have him to reign over them 'Twas propheſy'd of him, Zech. xiv. 4. That his Feet ſhall ſtand upon the Mount of Olives which is before Jeruſalem, ſhall ſtand laſt there; and preſently it follows, The Mount of Olives ſhall cleave in two, From the Mount of Olives, he aſcended who is the Good Olive-tree, whence we receive the Unction, Zech. iv. 12. Rom. xi. 24. This Mount is here ſaid to be near Jeruſalem, a Sabbath-Day's Journey from it; i. e. a little Way, no further than devout People us'd to walk out on a Sabbath Evening after the Publick Worſhip was over for Meditation; ſome reckon it a Thouſand Paces, others Two Thouſand Cubits; ſome Seven Furlongs, others Eight, Bethany indeed was Fifteen Furlongs from Jeruſalem, John xi. 18. But that Part of the Mount of Olives which was next to Jeruſalem, from whence Chriſt began to ride in Triumph, was but Seven or Eight Furlongs off. The Chaldee Paraphraſt on Ruth i. ſaith, We are Commanded to keep the Sabbaths and the Holy Days, ſo as not to go above Two Thouſand Cubits, which they build upon. Joſh. iii. 4. where in their March through Jordan the Space between them and the Ark was to be Two Thouſand Cubits, God had not then thus limited them, but they limited themſelves, and thus far it is a Rule to us, not to Journey on the Sabbath any more then in order to the Sabbath Work; and as far as is neceſſary to that we are not only allow'd but enjoyn'd, 2 King. iv. 23.

2. Whither the Diſciples return'd. They came to Jeruſalem, according to their Maſter's Appointment, tho' there they were in the midſt of Enemies; But it ſhould ſeem that tho' immediately after Chriſt's Reſurrection they were watch'd, and were in the fear of the Jews, yet after it was known, that they were gone into Galilee, no notice was taken of their Return to Jeruſalem, nor any further Search made for them. GOD can find out hiding Places for his People in the midſt of their Enemies, and ſo influence Saul that he ſhall not ſeek for David any more. At Jeruſalem they went up into an upper Room and there abode; not that they all lodg'd and dieted together in one Room, but there they aſſembled every Day, and ſpent time together in Religious Exerciſes, in expectation of the Deſcent of the Spirit. Divers Conjectures the Learned have about this Upper Room. Some think it was one of the upper Rooms in the Temple; But it cannot be thought that the Chief Prieſts who had the ſetting and letting of thoſe Rooms, would ſuffer Chriſt's Diſciples conſtantly to reſide in any of them. It was ſaid indeed by the ſame Hiſtorian, that they were continually in the Temple, Luke xxiv. 53. but that was in the Courts of the Temple, at the Hours of Prayer, where they could not be hinder'd from attaining; But it ſhould ſeem this Upper Room was in a private Houſe. Mr. Gregory of Oxford is of the ſame Mind, and quotes a Syriac Scholiaſt opon this Place who ſaith, That it was the ſame Upper Room in which they had eaten the Paſſover; And tho' that was called ἀνώγεον this ὑπερῷον both may ſignify the ſame. Whether (ſaith he) it was in the Houſe of St. John the Evangliſt, as Euodius deliver'd, or that of Mary the Mother of John Mark, as others have collected, cannot be certain. Notes, Chap. 3.

3. Who the Diſciples were that kept together. The Eleven Apoſtles are here Nam'd, v. 13. So is Mary the Mother of our Lord, v. 14. and it is the iaſt Time that ever any mention is made of her in the Scriptures. There were others that are here ſaid to be the Brethren of our Lord, His Kinſmen according to the Fleſh; and to make up the Hundred and Twenty ſpoken of v. 15. we may ſuppoſe that all or moſt of the Seventy Diſciples were with them, that were Aſſociates with the Apoſtles, and were employ'd as Evangeliſts.

4. How they ſpent their Time; They all continu'd with one accord in Prayer and Suppplication. Obſerve.

1. They Pray'd and made Supplication. All GOD's People are Praying People, and give themſelves to Prayer. It was now a Time of Trouble and Danger with the Diſciples of Chriſt, they were as Sheep in the midſt of Wolves; and is any afflicted let him Pray, that will ſilence Cares and Fears. They had now Work before them, great Work, and before they enter'd upon it, they were inſtant in Prayer to GOD for his Preſence with them in it. Before they were firſt ſent forth Chriſt ſpent time in Prayer for them, and now they in Prayer for themſelves. They were waiting for the Deſcent of the Spirit upon them, and therefore abounded thus in Prayer; The Spirit deſcended upon our Saviour when He was Praying, Luke iii. 21. thoſe are in the beſt Frame to receive Spiritual Bleſſings that are in a Praying Frame. Chriſt had promis'd now ſhortly to ſend the Holy Ghoſt, now that Promiſe was not to ſuperſede Prayer; but to quicken and encourage it; GOD will be enquired of for promiſed Mercies, and the nearer the Performance ſeems to be, the more earneſt we ſhould be in Prayer for it.

2. They continu'd in Prayer, ſpent much time in it more than ordinary, pray'd frequently, and were long in Prayer; They never miſs'd an Hour of Prayer. They reſolv'd to perſevere herein till the Holy Ghoſt came according to the Promiſe, to pray and not faint. 'Twas ſaid Luke xxiv. 53. they were Praiſing and Bleſſing GOD, here that they continu'd in Prayer and Supplication; for as Praiſe for the Promiſe, is a decent way or begging for the Performance, and Praiſe for former Mercy, of begging further Mercy; ſo in ſeeking to GOD we give him the Glory of that Mercy and Grace which we have found in Him.

3. They did this with one accord; That intimates that they were together in Holy Love, and there was no Quarrel or Diſcord among them, and thoſe who ſo keep the Unity of the Spirit in the Bond of Peace, are beſt prepared to receive the Comforts of the Holy Ghoſt. It alſo ſpeaks their worthy Concurrence in the Supplications that were made; tho' but one ſpoke, they all Pray'd. And if when two agree to ask it ſhall be done for them, much more when many agree in the ſame Petition. See Mat. xviii. 19.

15 And in thoſe days Peter ſtood up in the midſt of the Diſciples, and ſaid, (the number of the names together were about an hundred and twenty) 16 Men and brethren, This ſcripture muſt needs have been fulfilled, which the holy Ghoſt by the mouth of David ſpake before concerning Judas, which was guide to them that took Jeſus. 17 For he was numbred with us, and had obtained part of this miniſtry. 18 Now this Man purchaſed a Field with the reward of iniquity; and falling headlong, he burſt aſunder in the midſt, and all his bowels guſhed out. 19 And it was know unto all the dwellers at Jeruſalem, inſomuch as that field is called in their proper tongue, Aceldama, that is to ſay, The field of Blood. 20 For it is written in the book of pſalms, Let his habitation be deſolate, and let no man dwell therein: and, His biſhoprick let another take. 21 Wherefore of theſe men which have companied with us, all the time that the Lord Jeſus went in and out among us, 22 Beginning from the baptiſm of John, unto that ſame day, that he was taken up from us, muſt one be ordained to be a witneſs with us of his reſurrection. 23 And they appointed two, Joſeph called Barſabas, who was ſirnamed Juſtus, and Matthias. 24 And they prayed, and ſaid, Thou Lord, which knoweſt the hearts of all men, ſhew whether of theſe two thou haſt choſen. 25 That he may take part of this miniſtry and apoſtleſhip, from which Judas by tranſgreſſion fell, that he might go to his own place. 26 And they gave forth their lots; and the lot fell upon Matthias, and he was numbred with the eleven apoſtles.

The Sin of Judas was not only his Shame and Ruin, but it made a Gap in the College of the Apoſtles. They were ordain'd Twelve with an Eye to the Twelve Tribes of Iſreal, deſcended from the Twelve Patriarchs, they were the Twelve Stars that make up the Church's Crown, Rev. xii. 1. and for them Twelve Thornes were deſign'd, Mat. xix. 28. Now being Twelve when they were Learners, if they were but Eleven when they were to be Teachers, it would occaſion every One to enquire what was become of the Twelfth; and ſo revive the remembrance of the Scandal of their Society; And therefore care was taken before the Deſcent of the Spirit to fill up the Vacancy, which now we have an Account of the doing of; Our Lord Jeſus probably having given Directions about it, among other Things which He ſpoke pertaining to the Kingdom of GOD, Obſerve, Firſt, The Perſons concern'd in this Affair.

1. The Houſe conſiſted of about a Hundred and Twenty. Theſe were the Number of the Names, i. e. the Perſons, ſome think the Men only, diſtinguiſh'd from the Women. Dr. Lightfoot reckons that the Eleven Apoſtles, the Seventy Diſciples and about Thirty Nine more all of Chriſt's own Kindred, Country and Concourſe made up this One Hundred and Twenty, and that theſe were a ſort of Synod, or Congregation of Miniſters, a ſtanding Presbytery, Acts iv. 24. to whom none of the reſt durſt joyn themſelves, Chap. v. 13. and they continu'd together till the Perſecution at Stephen's Death diſpers'd them all but Apoſtles, Chap. viii. 1. But he thinks that beſides theſe there were many Hundreds in Jeruſalem, if not Thouſands at this Time that Believed, and we have indeed read of many that believed on him there, but durſt not confeſs Him, and therefore I cannot think as he doth, that they were now form'd into diſtinct Congregations for the Preaching of the Word, and other Acts of Worſhip, nor that there was any thing of that till after the Pouring out of the Spirit, and the Converſions in the following Chapter. Here was the beginning of the Chriſtian Church; this Hundred and Twenty was the Grain of Muſtard Seed that grew, into a Tree, the Leaven that leavened the whole Lump.

2. The Speaker was Peter, who had been and ſtill was the moſt forward Man; and therefore notice is taken of his Forwardneſs and Zeal to ſhew that he had perfectly recover'd the Ground he loſt by his denying his Maſter; And Peter being deſign'd to be the Apoſtle of the Circumciſion, while the Sacred Story ſtays among the Jews he is ſtill brought in, as afterwards when it comes to ſpeak of the Gentiles it keeps to the Story of Paul.

Secondly, The Propoſal which Peter made for the Choice of another Apoſtle. He ſtood up in the midſt of the Diſciples, v. 15. He did not ſit down as one that gave Laws, or had any Supremacy over the reſt, but ſtood up as one that had only a Motion to make in which he paid a Deference to his Brethren, ſtanding up when he ſpoke to them. Now in this Speech we may obſerve,

1. The Account he gives of the Vacancy made by the Death of Judas, in which he is very particular, and as became one that Chriſt had breath'd upon, takes notice of the fulfilling of the Scriptures in it. Here is,

(1.) The Power to which Judas had been advanc'd, v. 17. he was numbred with us, and obtain'd part of this Miniſtry which he are inveſted in. Note, Many are number'd with the Saints in this World. that will not be found among them in the Day of Separation between the precious and the vile. What will it avail us to be added to the number of Chriſtians if we partake not of the Spirit and Nature of Chriſtian's, Judas's having obtain'd part of this Miniſtry was but an Aggravation of his Sin and Ruin, as it will be of theirs who propheſied in Chriſt's Name, and yet were workers of Iniquity.

(2.) The Sin of Judas notwithſtanding his Advancement to this Honour; he was Guide to them that took Jeſus, not only inform'd Chriſt's Perſecutors where they might find Him, which they might have done effectually, tho' he had kept out of ſight: But he had the Impudence to appear openly at the Head of the Party that ſeiz'd Him. He went before them to the Place, and as if he had been proud of the Honour, gave the Word of Command, That ſame is He, hold Him faſt. Note, Ring-leaders in Sin are the worſt of Sinners; eſpecially if thoſe that by their Office ſhould have been Guides to the Friends of Chriſt, are Guides to His Enemies.

(3.) The Ruin of Judas by this Sin; perceiving the Chief Prieſts to ſeek the Life of Chriſt and His Diſciples, he thought to ſave his by going over to them, and not only ſo but to get an Eſtate under them, of which his Wages for his Service he hop'd would be but an Earneſt; But ſee what came of it.

1. He loſt his Money ſhamefully enough; v. 18. he Purchas'd a Field with the Thirty Pieces of Silver, which were the Reward of his Iniquity. He did not purchaſe the Field, but the Wages of his Unrighteouſneſs did; and it is very elegantly expreſs'd, thus in deriſion of his Projects to enrich himſelf by this Bargain, he thought to have purchas'd a Field for himſelf, as Gehazi did with what he got from Naaman by a Lye, ſee 2 King. v. 26. but it prov'd the Purchaſe of a Field to Bury Strangers in; And what the better he was for that? or any of his? It was to him an Unrighteous Mammon, it deceiv'd him; And the Reward of his Iniquity was the Stumbling-block of his Iniquity.

2. He loſt his Life more ſhamefully. We were told Mat. xxvii. 5. that he went away in deſpair, and was ſuffocated, ſo the Word ſignifies there and no more; here it is added (as latter Hiſtorians add to thoſe who went before) that being Strangled or Choak'd with Grief and Horror, he fell Headlong, fell on his Face, ſo Dr. Hammond, and partly with the ſwelling of his own Breaſt, and partly with the Violence of the Fall, he burſt aſunder in the midſt, ſo that all his Bowels tumbled out. If when the Devil was caſt out of a Child he tore him, threw him down, and rent him, and almoſt kill'd him, as we find Mark ix. 36. Luke ix. 42. no Wonder if when he had full Poſſeſſion of Judas he threw him Headlong, and burſt him. The ſuffocating of him which Matthew relates would make him ſwell till he burſt, which Peter relates. He burſt aſunder with a great noiſe, ſo Dr. Edwards which was heard by the Neighbours, and ſo, as it follows, it came to be known, v. 19. his Bowels guſhed out. Luke writes like a Phyſician, underſtanding all the Entrails of the middle and lower Ventricle. Bowelling is Part of the Puniſhment of Traytors. Juſtly do thoſe Bowels guſh out, that were ſhut up againſt the Lord Jeſus. And perhaps Chriſt had an Eye to the Fate of Judas, when he ſaid of the wicked Servant that he would Cut him in ſunder, Mat. xxiv. 51.

(4.) The publick Notice that was taken of this: It was known to all the Dwellers in Jeruſalem, (it was as it were) put into the News-papers, and was all the Talk of the Town, as a remarkable Judgment of GOD upon him that betray'd his Maſter, v. 19. It was not only diſcours'd of among the Diſciples, but it was in every Bodies Mouth, and no Body diſputed the Truth of the Fact. It was known, i. e. it was know to be true, unconteſtably ſo; Now one would think this ſhould have awaken'd thoſe to Repentance that had had any Hand in the Death of Chriſt, when they ſaw him that had the firſt Hand thus made an Example: But their Hearts were harden'd, and theſe of them that were to be ſoften'd, it muſt be done by the Word, and the Spirit working with it.

Here is one Proof of the Notoriety of the Thing mention'd, That the Field which was purchas'd with Judas's Money was call'd Aceldama, the Field of Blood, becauſe it was bought with the Price of Blood, which perpetuated the Infamy not only of him that ſold that Innocent precious Blood, but of them that bought it too. Look how they will anſwer it when GOD ſhall make Inquiſition for Blood.

5. The Fulfilling of the Scriptures in this, which had ſpoken ſo plainly of this, that it muſt needs be fulfilled, v. 16. let none be ſurpriz'd or ſtumbled at it, that this ſhould be the Exit of one of the Twelve, for David had foretold not only his Sin, which Chriſt had taken notice of, John xii. 18. from Pſam. xii. 9. He that eateth Bread with me hath lift up the Heel againſt me, But had alſo foretold,

1. His Puniſhment, Pſal. lxix. 25. Let his Habitation be deſolate, That Pſalm refers to the Meſſiah, mention was made but two or three Verſes before of their giving him Gall and Vinegar, and therefore the following Predictions of the Deſtruction of David's Enemies muſt be apply'd to the Enemies of Chriſt, and particularly to Judas. Perhaps he had ſome Habitation of his own at Jeruſalem, which upon this every Body was afraid to live in, and ſo it became deſolate. This Prediction ſignifies the ſame with that of Bildad concerning the wicked Man, that his Confidence ſhall be rooted out of his Tabarnacle and ſhall bring him to the King of Terrors, It ſhall dwell in his Tabernacle becauſe it is none of his, Brimſtone ſhall be ſcatter'd upon his Habitation. Job. xviii. 14. 15.

2. The Subſtitution of another in his room. His Biſhoprick, or his Office for ſo the Word ſignifies in general, ſhall another take, which is quoted from Pſal. cix. 8. With this Quotation Peter very aptly introduceth the following Propoſal. Note, We are not to think the worſe of any Office that GOD has inſtituted, whether Magiſtracy or Miniſtry either for the Wickedneſs of any that are in that Office, or for the ignominious Puniſhment of that Wickedneſs; Nor will GOD ſuffer any Purpoſe of His to be fruſtrated, any Commiſſion of His to be vacated, or any Work of His to be undone, for the Miſcarriages of them that are intruſted therewith; The unbelief of Man ſhall not make the Promiſe of GOD of none effect. Judas is hang'd, but his Biſhoprick is not loſt. 'Tis ſaid of his Habitation, that no Man ſhall dwell therein, there he ſhall have no Heir, but it is not ſaid ſo of his Biſhoprick, there he ſhall not want a Succeſſor; 'tis with the Officers of the Church as with the Members of it, if the natural Branches be broken off, others ſhall be grafted in, Rom. xi. 17. Chriſt Cauſe ſhall never be loſt for want of witneſſes.

2. The Motion he makes for the Choice of another Apoſtle v. 21. 22. where obſerve,

1. How the Perſon muſt be qualified that muſt fill up the Vacancy; it muſt be one of theſe Men, theſe Seventy Diſciples that have companied with us, that have conſtantly attended us all the Time that the Lord Jeſus went in and out among us, preaching and working Miracles for Three Years and a Half, Beginning from the Baptiſm of John, which the Goſpel of Chriſt commenced from, unto that ſame Day that he was taken up from us. Thoſe that have been diligent and faithful, and conſtant in the Diſcharge of the Duty of a lower Station, are fitteſt to be preferr'd to a higher; that have been faithful in a little, ſhall be entruſted with more. And none ſhould be Employ'd as Miniſters of Chriſt, Preachers of his Goſpel, and Rulers in his Church, but thoſe that are well acquainted with his Doctrine and Doings from firſt to laſt. None ſhall be an Apoſtle but one that has compained with the Apoſtles, and that continually; nor that has viſited them now and then, but been intimately converſant with them.

2 To what Work he is call'd that muſt fill up the Vacancy; he muſt be a Witneſs with us of his Reſurrection. But this it appears that others of the Diſciples were with the Eleven when Chriſt appear'd to them, elſe they could not have been Witneſſes with them, as competent Witneſſes as they of his Reſurrection. The great Thing which the Apoſtles were to atteſt to the World was Chriſt's Reſurrection, for that was the great Proof of his being the Meſſiah, and the Foundation of our Hope in Him. See what the Apoſtles were ordain'd to, not to a ſecular Dignity and Dominion, but to preach Chriſt, and the Power of his Reſurrection.

Thirdly, The Nomination of the Perſon that was to ſucceed Judas in his Office as an Apoſtle.

1. Two, who were known to have been Chriſt's conſtant Attendants, and Men of great Integrity, were ſet up as Candidates for the Place, v. 23. They appointed two, not the Eleven, they did not take upon them to determine who ſhould be put up, but the Hundred and Twenty, for to them Peter ſpoke and not to the Eleven. The two they Nominated were Joſeph and Matthias, of neither of whom we do read elſewhere, except this Joſeph be the ſame with that Jeſus which is called Juſtus, whom Paul ſpeaks of, Col. iv. 11. and who is ſaid to be of the Circumciſion, a Native Jew as this was; and who was a Fellow-worker with Paul unto the Kingdom of God and a Comfort to him; And then it is obſervable, that tho' he came ſhort of being an Apoſtle, he did not therefore quit the Miniſtry, but was very uſeful in a lower Station; for, Are all Apoſtles? Are all Prophets? ſome think this Joſeph is he that is called Joſes, Mark vi. 3. the Brother of James the Leſs. Mark xv. 40. and was call'd Joſes the Juſt, as he was called James the Juſt. Some confound this with that Joſes mention'd Acts iv. 36. But that was of Cyprus, this of Galilee: and it ſhould ſeem to diſtinguſh them, that was call'd Barnabas a Son of Conſolation. This Barſabas a Son of the Oath. Theſe two were both of them ſuch worthy Men, and ſo well qualified for the Office, that they could not tell which of them was fitteſt, but all agreed it muſt be one of them two. They did not propoſe themſelves, nor ſtrive for the Place, but humbly ſat ſtill and were appointed to it.

2. They apply'd themſelves to GOD by Prayer for Direction, not which of the Seventy, for none of the reſt could ſtand in Competion with theſe in the Opinion of all preſent, but which of theſe two? v. 24. 25.

1. They appeal to GOD as the Searcher of Hearts Thou Lord which knoweſt the Hearts of all Men, which we do not, and better than they know their own. Obſerve, when an Apoſtle was to be choſen, he muſt be choſen by his Heart, and the Temper and Diſpoſition of that. Yet Jeſus who knew all Mens Hearts, for Wiſe and Holy Ends choſe Judas to be one of the Twelve. It is Comfortable to us in our Prayers for the Welfare of the Church, and its Miniſters, that the GOD we pray to know the Hearts of all Men, and hath them not only under his Eye, but in his Hand and turns them which way ſoever He will; can make them fit for his Purpoſe, if He do not find them ſo by giving them another Spirit.

2. They deſire to know, Which of theſe God hath choſen; Lord ſhew us that, and we are ſatisfy'd. 'Tis fit GOD ſhould chooſe his own his Servants: and ſo far as He any way by the Diſpoſals of his Providence, or the Gifts of his Spirits, ſhews whom he hath choſen, or what He hath choſen for us, we ouhgt to comply with him.

3. They are ready to receive him as a Brother, whom GOD hath choſen; for they are not contriving to have ſo much the more Dignity themſelves, by keeping out another, but deſire to have One to take part of this Miniſtry, and Apoſtleſhip, to joyn with us in the Work, and ſhare with us in the Honour, from which Judas by Tranſgreſſion fell, threw himſelf, by deſerting and betraying his Maſter, from the Place of an Apoſtle, which he was unworthy of, that he might go to his own Place, the Place of a Traitor, the fitteſt place for him, not only the Gibbet, but to Hell; that was his own Place. Note, Thoſe that betray Chriſt, as they fall from the Dignity of Relation to him, ſo they fall into all Miſery. 'Tis ſaid of Balaam, Numb. xxiv. 14, 15. That he went to his own Place, that is, ſays one of the Rabbins, he went to Hell. Dr. Whitby quotes Ignatius ſaying, There is appointed to every Man ἴδιος τόπος a proper Place, which ſpeaks the ſame with that of GOD's rendering to every Man according to his Works. And our Saviour has ſaid, that Judas's own Place would be ſuch as that it had been better for him that he had never been born, Matth. xxvi. 24. his Miſery ſuch, as to be worſe than not being. Judas had been an Hypocrite, and Hell is the proper Place of ſuch; other Sinners, as Inmates, have their Portion with them, Matth. xxiv. 51.

4. The Doubt was determin'd by Lot. v. 26. which is an Appeal to GOD, and lawful to be us'd for the determining Matters not otherwiſe determinable, provided it be done in a ſolemn religious Manner, and with Prayer, the Prayer of Faith; for the Lot is caſt into the Lap, but the whole Diſpoſal thereof is of the Lord, Prov. xvi. 33. Matthias was not ordain'd by the Impoſition of Hands, as Presbyters were, for he was choſen by Lot, which was the Act of GOD; and therefore as he muſt be baptized, ſo he muſt be ordain'd by the Holy Ghoſt, as they all were not many Days after. Thus the Number of the Apoſtles was made up, as afterwards when James another of the Twelve was martyr'd, Paul was made on Apoſtle.

CHAP. II.

Between the Promiſe of the Meſſiah's Coming, (even the lateſt of thoſe Promiſes) and his Coming, many Ages interven'd; but between the Promiſe of the Spirit, and his coming, there were but a few Days; and during thoſe Days, the Apoſtles tho' they had receiv'd Orders to preach the Goſpel to every Creature, and to begin at Jeruſalem; yet lay perfectly Wind-bound, incognito, and not offering to preach: But in this Chapter the North-wind and the South-wind awake, and then they awake, and we have them in the Pulpit preſently. Here is (1.) The Decent of the Spirit upon the Apoſtles and thoſe that were with them, on the Day of Pentecoſt, v. 1—4 (2.) The various Speculations which this occaſion'd among the People that were now met in Jeruſalem from all Parts, v. 5—13. (3.) The Sermon which Peter preach'd to them hereupon, wherein he ſhews, That this Pouring out of the Spirit, was the Accompliſhment of an Old Teſtament Promiſe, v. 14—21. That it was a Confirmation of Chriſt's being the Meſſiah, which was already prov'd by his Reſurrection, v. 21—32. And that it was a Fruit and Evidence of his Aſcenſion into Heaven, v. 33—36. (4.) The good Effect of this Sermon in the Converſion of many to the Faith of Chriſt, and their Addition to the Church, v. 37—41. (5.) The eminent Piety and Charity of thoſe Primitive Chriſtians, and the manifeſt Tokens of GOD's Preſence with them, and Power in them, v. 43—47.

AND when the day of Pentecoſt was fully come, they were all with one accord in one place. 2 And ſuddenly there came a ſound from heaven, as of a ruſhing mighty wind, and it filled all the houſe where they were ſitting. 3 And there appeared unto them cloven tongues, like as of fire, and it ſat upon each of them. 4 And they were all filled with the holy Ghoſt, and began to ſpeak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance.

We have here an Account of the Deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt upon the Diſciples of Chriſt. Obſerve, Firſt, When and where this was done, which is particularly noted for the greater Certainty of the Thing.

1. It was when the Day of Pentecoſt was fully come. Where there ſeems to be a Reference to the Manner of the Expreſſion in the Inſtitution of this Feaſt, where it is ſaid, Lev. xxiii. 13. Ye ſhall count unto you Seven Sabbaths compleat, from the Day of the Offering of the Firſt-fruits, which was the next Day but one after the Paſſover, the Sixteenth Day of the month Abib, which was the Day that Chriſt roſe. This Day was fully come, i. e. The Night preceding, with a Part of the Day, was fully paſt.

(1.) The Holy Ghoſt came down at the Time of a ſolemn Feaſt, becauſe there was then a great Concourſe of People to Jeruſalem from all Parts of the Country; and of Proſelytes from other Countries, which would make it the more publick, and the Fame of it to be ſpread the ſooner and further, which would contribute much to the propogating of the Goſpel into all Nations. Thus now, as before at the Paſſover, the Jewiſh Feaſts ſerv'd to toll the Bell for Goſpel Services and Entertainments.

(2.) This Feaſt of Pentecoſt was kept in Remembrance of the giving of the Law upon Mount Sinia, from whence the incorporating of the Jewiſh Church was to be dated, which Dr. Lightfoot reckons to be juſt One thouſand four hundred and forty-ſeven Years before this. Fitly, therefore, is the Holy Ghoſt given at that Feaſt, in Fire and in Tongues, for the Promulgation of the Evangelical Law, not as that, to one Nation, but to every Creature.

(3.) This Feaſt of Pentecoſt happen'd on the firſt Day of the Week, which was an additional Honour put on that Day, and a Confirmation of it to be the Chriſtian Sabbath, the Day which the Lord hath made, to be a ſtanding Memorial in his Church of theſe two great Bleſſings, the Reſurrection of Chriſt, and the Pouring out of the Spirit, both on that Day of the Week. This ſerves not only to juſtify us in obſerving that Day under the Style and Title of the Lord's Day; but to direct us in the ſanctifying of it to give GOD Praiſe particularly for thoſe two great Bleſſings; every Lord's Day in the Year, I think, there ſhould be a full and particular Notice taken in our Prayers and Praiſes of theſe Two, as there is by ſome Churches of the One, once a Year, upon Eaſter-Day, and of the Other, once a Year, upon Whitſunday; O that we may do it with ſuitable Affections!

2. It was when they were all with one accord in one Place. What Place it was, we are not told particularly, whether in the Temple, where they attended at publick Times, Luke xxiv. 53. or, whether in their own Upper-Room, where they met at other Times. But it was at Jeruſalem, becauſe it had been the Place which God choſe to put his Name there, and the Prophecy was, That from thence the Word of the LORD ſhould go forth to all Nations, Iſa. ii. 3. And it was now the Place of the general Rendezvous of all devout People; there GOD had promis'd to meet and bleſs them, here therefore He meets them with this Bleſſing of Bleſſings. Tho' Jeruſalem had done the utmoſt Diſhonour imaginable to Chriſt, yet he did this Honour to Jeruſalem, to teach us not to fall out with Places, nor conceive Prejudice againſt them; for GOD has his Remnant in all Places, He had ſo in Jeruſalem.

Here they were in one Place, and they were not as yet ſo many but that one Place, and no large one, would hold them all. And here they were with one accord. We cannot forget how often while their Maſter was with them there were ſtrifes among them which ſhould be greateſt; but now all theſe Strifes were at an End, we hear no more of them; what they had receiv'd already of the Holy Ghoſt when Chriſt breathed on them, had in a good meaſure rectify'd the Miſtakes upon which thoſe Conteſts were grounded, and had diſpos'd them to holy Love. They had pray'd more together of late than uſual, ch. i. 14. and that made them love one another better. By his Grace he thus prepar'd them for the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt; for that bleſſed Dove comes not where there is Noiſe and Clamour but moves upon the Face of the ſtill Waters, not the rugged ones. Would we have the Spirit pour'd out upon us from on high, let us be all of one accord, and notwithſtanding Variety of Sentiments and Intereſts, as no doubt there was among thoſe Diſciples, let us agree to love to another; for where Brethren dwell together in Unity, there it is that the Lord commands his Bleſſing.

Secondly, How, and in what manner the Holy Ghoſt came upon them. We often read in the Old Teſtament of GOD's coming down in a Cloud; as when He took Poſſeſſion of the Tabernacle firſt, and afterwards of the Temple, which intimates the Darkneſs of that Diſpenſation. And Chriſt went up to Heaven in a Cloud, to intimate how much we are kept in the dark concerning the Upper World: But the Holy Ghoſt did not decend in a Cloud; for he was to diſpel and ſcatter the Clouds that overſpread Mens Minds, and to bring Light into the World.

1. Here's an audible Summons given them to awaken their Expectations of ſomething great v. 1. It is here ſaid, (1.) That it came ſuddenly, did not riſe gradually as common Winds do, but was at the height immediately. It came ſooner than they expected, and ſtartled even them that were now together waiting, and probably employ'd in ſome Religious Exerciſes. (2.) It was a Sound from Heaven, like a Thunder-clap, Rev. vi. 1. GOD is ſaid to bring the Winds out of his Treaſuries, Pſ. xxxv. 7. And to gather into his Hands Prov. xxx. 4. From Him this ſound came, like the Voice of One crying, Prepare ye the Way of the Lord. (3.) It was the Sound of a Wind, for the Way of the Spirit, is like that of the Wind, Joh. iii. 8. thou heareſt the ſound thereof, but can'ſt not tell whence it comes, or whither it goes. When the Spirit of Life is to enter into the dry Bones, the Prophet is bid to propheſy unto the Wind, Come from the Four Wind, O Breath, Ezek. xxxvii. 9 And tho' it was not in the Wind that the LORD came to Elijah, yet that prepar'd him to receive his Diſcovery of himſelf in the ſtill ſmall Voice, 1 Kin. xix. 11, 12. God's Way is in the Whirlwind and the Storm, Nah. i. 3. And out of the Whirlwind he ſpoke to Job. (4.) 'Twas a ruſhing mighty Wind; 'twas ſtrong and violent, and came not only with a great Noiſe, but with a great Force, as if it would bear down all before it: This was to ſignify the powerful Influences and Operations of the Spirit of GOD upon the Minds of Men, and thereby upon the World, that they ſhould be mighty through GOD to the caſting down of Imaginations. (5.) It fill'd not only the Room, but all the Houſe where they were ſitting. Probably, it alarm'd the whole City, but to ſhew that it was ſupernatural, preſently fix'd upon that particular Houſe, as ſome think the Wind that was ſent to arreſt Jonah, affected only the Ship that he was in, Jon. i. 4. And as the Wiſe Mens Star ſtood over the Houſe where the Child was: And this would direct the People who obſerv'd it, whither to go to enquire the Meaning of it. This Wind filling the Houſe, would ſtrike an Awe upon the Diſciples, and help to put them into a very ſerious, reverent, and compoſed Frame, for the receiving of the Holy Ghoſt. Thus the Convictions of the Spirit, make way for his Comforts: And the rohug Blaſts of that bleſſed Wind prepare the Soul for its ſoft and gentle Gales.

2. Here's a viſible Sign of the Gift they were to receive. They ſaw cloven Tongues, like as of Fire, v. 3. and it ſate ἐκάθισε not they ſat, thoſe cloven Tongues, but He, i. e. the Spirit ſignify'd thereby, reſted upon each of them, as he is ſaid to reſt upon the Prophets of Old. Or, as Dr. Hammond deſcribes it, "There was "an Appearance of ſomething like flaming Fire lighting on every "One of them, which divided aſunder, and ſo form'd the reſemblance of Tongues, with that Part of them that was next their "Heads divided or cloven." The Flame of a Candle is ſomewhat like a Tongue: And there is a Meteor, which Naturaliſts call Ignis Lambens, not a devouring Fire; ſuch was this. Obſerve,

1. There was an outward ſenſible Sign, for the Confirming of the Faith of the Diſciples themſelves, and for the Convincing of others. Thus the Prophets of Old had frequently their firſt Miſſion confirm'd by Signs, that all Iſreal might know them to be eſtabliſh'd Prophets.

2. The Sign given was Fire that John Baptiſt's Saying concerning Chriſt might be fulfill'd, He ſhall baptize you with the Holy Ghoſt and with Fire; with the Holy Ghoſt, as with Fire. They were now in the Feaſt of Pentecoſt celebrating the Memorial of the giving of the Law upon Mount Sinai, and as that was given in Fire, and therefore is call'd a Fiery Law, ſo is the Goſpel. Ezekiel's Miſſion was confirm'd by a Viſion of burning Coals of Fire. ch. xiii. and Iſaiah's by a Coal of Fire touching his Lips, ch. vi. 7. The Spirit like Fire melts the Heart, ſeparates and burns up the Droſs, and kindles pious and devout Affections in the Soul, in which, as in the Fire upon the Altar, the Spiritual Sacrifices are offer'd up. This is that Fire which Chriſt came to ſend upon the Earth, Luke xii. 49.

3. This Fire appear'd in cloven Tongues. The Operations of the Spirit were many, that of ſpeaking with divers Tongues was one, and was ſingled out to be the firſt Indication of the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt, and to that this Sign had a Reference. (1.) They were Tongues, for from the Spirit we have the Word of GOD, and by him Chriſt would Speak to the World; and he gave the Spirit to the Diſciples, not only to endue them with Knowledge, but to endue them with a Power to publiſh and proclaim to the World what they knew; for the Diſpenſation of the Spirit, is given to every Man to profit withal. (2.) Theſe Tongues were cloven, to ſignify that GOD would hereby divide unto all Nations the Knowledge of his Grace, as He is ſaid to have divided to them by his Providence the Light of the Heavenly Bodies, Deut. iv. 19. The Tongues were divided, and yet they ſtill continued all of one accord; for there may be a ſincere Unity of Affections, where yet there is a Diverſity of Expreſſion. Dr. Lightfoot obſerves, That the dividing of Tongues at Babel, was the caſting off of the Heathen; for when they had loſt the Language in which alone GOD was ſpoken of and preach'd, they utterly loſt the Knowledge of GOD and Religion, and fell into Idolatry. But now after above Two Thouſand Years, GOD by another Dividing of Tongues, reſtores the Knowledge of Himſelf to the Nations.

4. This Fire ſate upon them for ſome Time, to ſhew the conſtant Reſidence of the Holy Ghoſt with them. The Prophetick Gifts of Old were conferr'd ſparingly, and but at ſome Times, but the Diſciples of Chriſt had the Gifts of the Spirit always with them; tho' the Sign, we may ſuppoſe, preſently diſappear'd. Whether theſe Flames of Fire paſs'd from one to another, or whether there were as many Flames as there were Perſons, is not certain: But they muſt be ſtrong and bright Flames, that would be viſible in the Day-light, as it now was, for the Day was fully come.

Thirdly, What was the immediate Effect of this. 1. They were all fill'd with the Holy Ghoſt, more plentifully and powerfully than they were before. They were fill'd with the Graces of the Spirit, and were more than ever under his ſanctifying Influences: were now holy, and heavenly, and ſpiritual; more wean'd from this World, and better acquainted with the other. They were more fill'd with the Comforts of the Spirit, rejoyc'd more than ever in the Love of Chriſt, and the Hope of Heaven, and in it all their Griefs and Fears were ſwallow'd up. They were alſo, for the Proof of this, fill'd with the Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, which is eſpecially meant here: They were endu'd with miraculous Powers, for the Furtherance of the Goſpel. It ſeems evident to me, That not the Twelve Apoſtles only, but all the Hundred and twenty Diſciples, were filled with the Holy Ghoſt alike at this Time: All the Seventy Diſciples who were Apoſtolical Men, and imploy'd in the ſame Work, and all the reſt too that were to preach the Goſpel; for it is ſaid expreſly, Eph. iv. 8, 11. That when Chriſt aſcended on high, (which refers to this here, v. 33.) he gave Gifts unto Men, not only ſome Apoſtles, ſuch were the Twelve; but ſome Prophets and ſome Evangeliſts, ſuch were many of the Seventy Diſciples, Itinerant Preachers, and ſome Paſtors and Teachers ſettled in particular Churches, as we may ſuppoſe ſome of theſe afterwards were. The All here, muſt refer to the All that were together, Chap. i. 15. v. 1.

2. They began to ſpeak with other Tongues, beſides their Native Language, tho' they had never learned any other: They ſpake not Matters of common Converſation, but the Word of GOD, and the Praiſes of his Name, as the Spirit gave them Utterance, or gave them to ſpeak ἀποφθέγγεσθαι to ſpeak Apothegms, ſubſtantial and weighty Sayings, worthy to be had in Remembrance. 'Tis probable, it was not only One that was enabled to ſpeak one Language, and Another another, as it was with the ſeveral Families that were diſpers'd from Babel; but every One was enabled to ſpeak divers Languages, as he ſhould have Occaſion to uſe them: And we may ſuppoſe, that they not only underſtood themſelves, but underſtood one another too, which the Builders of Babel did not, Gen. xi. 7. They did not ſpeak here and there a Word of another Tongue, or ſtammer out ſome broken Sentences; but ſpoke it as readily, properly, and elegantly, as if it had been their Mother-Tongue; for what ever was produc'd by Miracle, was the beſt of the Kind. They ſpake not from any previous Thought or Meditation, but as the Spirit gave them utterance, He furniſh'd them with the Matter as well as the Language, Now this was (1.) A very great Miracle, 'twas a Miracle upon the Mind, (and ſo had moſt of the Nature of a Goſpel Miracle) for in the Mind Words are fram'd. They had not only never learn'd theſe Languages, but had never learn'd any foreign Tongue, which might have facilitated theſe; nay, for ought appears, they had never ſo much as heard theſe Languages ſpoken, or had any Idea of them. They were neither Scholars nor Travellers, nor had had any Opportunity of learning Languages either by Books or Converſation. Peter indeed was forward enough to ſpeak in his own Tongue, but the reſt of 'em were no Spokeſmen, nor were they quick of Apprehenſion; yet now not only the Heart of the Raſh underſtands Knowledge, but the Tongue of the Stammerers is ready to ſpeak elegantly, Iſa. xxxii. 4. When Moſes complain'd, I am ſlow of Speech; God ſaid, I will be with thy Mouth, and Aaron ſhall be thy Spokeſman. But He did more for theſe Meſſengers of his, He that made Man's Mouth, new-made theirs. (2.) A very proper, needful, and ſerviceable Miracle; The Language the Diſciples ſpoke was Syriack, a Dialect of the Hebrew; ſo that it was neceſſary they ſhould be endu'd with the Gift, both for the Underſtanding of the Original Hebrew of the Old Teſtament, in which it was written, and of the Original Greek of the New Teſtament, in which it was to be written. But that was not all, they were commiſſion'd to preach the Goſpel to every Creature, to diſciple all Nations. But here's an Inſuperable Difficulty at the Threſhold; How ſhall they maſter the ſeveral Languages ſo as to ſpeak intelligible to all the Nations, 'twill be the Work of a Man's Life to learn their Languages. And therefore, to prove that Chriſt could give Authority to preach to the Nations, he gives Ability to preach to them in their own Language. And it ſhould ſeem, that this was the Accompliſhment of that Promiſe which Chriſt made to his Diſciples, Joh. xiv. 12. Greater Works than theſe ſhall ye do: For this may well be reckon'd, all Things conſider'd, a greater Work than the miraculous Cures Chriſt wrought; Chriſt himſelf did not ſpeak with other Tongues, nor did he enable his Diſciples to do it while he was with them: but it was the firſt Effect of the Pouring out of the Spirit upon them. And Archbiſhop Tillotſon thinks it probable, That if the Converſion of Infidels to Chriſtianity, were now ſincerely and vigorouſly attempted by Men of honeſt Minds, GOD would extraordinarly countenance ſuch an Attempt with all fitting Aſſiſtance, as He did the firſt Publication of the Goſpel.

5 And there were dwelling at Jeruſalem, Jews, devout Men, out of every nation under heaven. 6 Now when this was noiſed abroad, the multitude came together, and were confounded, becauſe that every Man heard them ſpeak in his own language. 7 And they were all amazed and marvelled, ſaying, one to another, Behold, are not all theſe which ſpeak, Galileans? 8 And how hear we every man in our own tongue, wherein we were born? 9 Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the dwellers in Meſopotamia, and in Judea, and Cappadocia, in Pontus, and Aſia, 10 Phrygia, and Pamphylia, in Egypt, and in the parts of Libya about Cyrene, and ſtrangers of Rome, Jews and proſelytes, 11 Cretes and Arabians, we do hear them ſpeak in our tongues the wonderful works of God. 12 And they were all amazed, and were in doubt, ſaying one to another, What meaneth this? 13 Others mocking ſaid, Theſe men are full of new wine.

We have here an Account of the publick Notice that was taken of this extraordinary Gift, with which the Diſciples were all on a ſudden endued. Obſerve,

Firſt, The great Concourſe of People that there was now at Jeruſalem; it ſhould ſeem more than uſually was at the Feaſt of Pentecoſt. There were dwelling or abiding at Jeruſalem, Jews, that were devout Men, diſpos'd to Religion, and that had the Fear of GOD before their Eyes, ſo the Word properly ſignifies, ſome of them Proſelytes of Righteouſneſs, that were circumciſed, and admitted Members of the Jewiſh Church, others only Proſelytes of the Gate, that forſook Idolatry, and gave up themſelves to the Worſhip of the True GOD, but not to the Ceremonial Law; ſome of thoſe there were at Jeruſalem now, out of every Nation under Heaven whither the Jews were diſpers'd, or, from whence Proſelytes were come. The Expreſſion is Hyperbolical, noting, that there were ſome from moſt of the then known Parts of the World; as much as ever Tyre was, or London is the Rendezvouz of Trading People from all Parts, of Jeruſalem at that Time was of Religious People from all Parts. Now

1. We may here ſee what were ſome of thoſe Countries whence thoſe Strangers came, v. 9, 10, 11. ſome from the Eaſtern Countries, as the Parthians, Medes, Elamites, and Dwellers in Meſopotamia, the Poſterity of Shem; from thence we come in order to Judea, which ought to be mention'd, becauſe tho' the Language of them in Judea was the ſame with that which the Diſciples ſpoke, yet, before, they ſpoke it with the North-Country Tone and Dialect, Thou art a Galilean, and thy Speech bewrays thee, but now they ſpoke it as fine as the Inhabitants of Judea themſelves did: Next come the Inhabitants of Cappadocia, Pontus, and that Country about Propontis, which was particularly call'd Aſia, and theſe were the Countries in which thoſe Strangers were ſcatter'd, to whom St. Peter writes, 1 Pet. i. 1. Next come the Dwellers in Phrygia, and Pamphylia, which lay Weſtward, the Poſterity of Japhet, as were alſo the Strangers of Rome; There were ſome alſo that dwelt in the Southern Parts of Egypt, in the Parts of Libya, about Cyrene. There were alſo ſome from the Iſland of Crete, and ſome from the Deſarts of Arabia; But they were all either Jews originally, diſpers'd into thoſe Countries, or Proſelytes to the Jewiſh Religion, but Natives of thoſe Countres. Dr. Whitby obſerves, that the Jewiſh Writors about this Time as Philo and Joſephus ſpeak of the Jews as dwelling every where through the whole Earth; And that there is not a People upon Earth among whom ſome Jew do not inhabit,

2. We may enquire, what brought all thoſe Jews and Proſelytes together to Jeruſalem at this Time; not to make a tranſient Viſit thither to the Feaſt of Pentecoſt, for they are ſaid to dwell there; they took Lodgings there, becauſe there was at this Time a general Expectation of the Appearing of the Meſſiah; for Daniel's Weeks were juſt now expir'd, the Scepter was departed from Judah, it was then generally thought that the Kingdom of G O D ſhould immediately appear, Luke xv. 11. This brought thoſe who were moſt Zealous and Devout to Jeruſalem, to ſojourn there, that they might have an early Share in the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, and the Bleſſings of that Kingdom.

Secondly, The Amazement which theſe Strangers were ſeiz'd with when they heard the Diſciples ſpeak to them in their own Tongues. It ſhould ſeem the Diſciples ſpoke in various Languages before the People of thoſe Languages came to them; for it is intimated v. 6. that the ſpreading of the Report of this abroad was it that brought the Multitude together, eſpecially thoſe of different Countries, who ſeem to have been more affected with this Work of Wonder than the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem themſelves.

1. They obſerve that the Speakers are all Galileans, that know no other but their Mother Tongue, v. 7. they are deſpicable Men, from whom nothing learned or polite is to be expected. G O D choſe the weak and fooliſh Things of the World to confound the Wiſe and Mighty. Chriſt was thought to be a Galilean, and His Diſciples really were ſo; unlearned and ignorant Men.

2. They acknowledg'd that they ſpoke intelligibly, and readily, their own Language, which they were the moſt competent Judges of, ſo right and exact, that none of their own Countrymen could ſpeak it better. We hear every Man in our own Tongue wherein we were born, v. 8. i. e. we hear one or other of them ſpeak our Native Language. The Parthians hear one of them ſpeak their Language, the Medes hear another of them ſpeak theirs; and ſo of the reſt, v. 11. We do hear them ſpeak in our Tongue the wonderful Work of G O D. Their reſpective Languages were not only unknown at Jeruſalem, but probably deſpis'd and undervalu'd, and therefore it was not only a Surprize, but a pleaſing Surprize to them to hear the Language of their own Country ſpoken, as it naturally is to thoſe that are Strangers in a ſtrange Land.

(1.) The Things they heard the Apoſtles Diſcourſe of were the wonderful Works of G O D, μεγαλεῖα τῦ Θεῦ Magnalia Dei, The great Things of G O D. 'Tis likely the Apoſtles ſpoke of Chriſt and Redemption by him, and the Grace of the Goſpel, and theſe are indeed the Great Things of G O D, and which will be for ever Marvellous in our Eyes.

(2.) They heard them both praiſe GOD for theſe great Things, and inſtruct the People concerning theſe Things in their own Tongue, according as they perceiv'd the Language of their Hearers, or thoſe that enquir'd of them to be. Now tho' perhaps by Dwelling ſome Time at Jeruſalem, they were got to be ſo much Maſters of the Jewiſh Language as that they could have underſtood the Meaning of the Diſciples if they had ſpoken that Language, yet (1.) This was more ſtrange, and help'd to convince their Judgment, that this Doctrine was of G O D, for Tongues were for a Sign to them that believed not, 1 Cor. xiv. 22. (2.) It was more Kind and help'd to engage their Affections, as it was a plain Indication of the Favour intended to the Gentiles, and that the Knowledge and Worſhip of G O D ſhould no longer be confin'd to the Jews, but the Partition Wall ſhould be broken down. And this is to us a plain Intimation of the Mind and Will of G O D, that the Sacred Records of G O D's wonderful Works ſhould be preſerved by all Nations in their own Tongues. That the Scriptures ſhould be read, and publick Worſhip perform'd in the vulgar Languages of the Nations.

3. They wonder at it, and look upon it as an aſtoniſhing Thing, v. 12. They were all amaz'd, They were in an Extaſy, ſo the Word is; And they were in Doubt what the Meaning of it was, and whether it was to introduce the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, which they were big with the Expectation of; They ask'd themſelves, and one another τί ἂν θέλοι τῦτο εἶναι, quid hoc ſibi vult? What is the Tendency of this? Surely it is to dignify and ſo to diſtinguiſh theſe Men as Meſſengers from Heaven, and therefore like Moſes at the Buſh, they will turn aſide and ſee this great Sight.

Thirdly, The Scorn which ſome made of it, who were Natives of Judea and Jeruſalem, probably the Scribes and Phariſees, and Chief Prieſts, who always reſiſted the Holy Ghoſt, They ſaid, theſe Men are full of new Wind, or ſweet Wine. They have drunk too much this Feſtival time; v. 13, Not that they were ſo abſurd as to think that Wine in the Head would enable Men to ſpeak Languages which they never learn'd, but theſe being Native Jews knew not as the others did, that theſe were really the Languages of other Nations, and therefore took what they ſaid to be Gibberiſh and Nonſenſe, ſuch as Drunkards, thoſe Fools in Iſrael ſometimes talk. As when they reſolv'd not to believe the Finger of the Spirit in Chriſt's Miracles, they turn'd it off with this, he caſteth out Devils by Compact with the Prince of the Devils; ſo when they reſolv'd not to believe the Voice of the Spirit in the Apoſtles preaching, they turn'd it off with this, Theſe Men are full of new wine. And if they call'd the Maſter of the Houſe a Wine-bibber, no Marvel if they ſo call them of his Houſhold.

14 But Peter ſtanding up with the eleven, lift up his voice, and ſaid unto them, Ye men of Judea, and all ye that dwell at Jeruſalem, be this known unto you, and hearken to my words: 15 For theſe are not drunken, as ye ſuppoſe, ſeeing it is but the third hour of the day. 16. But this is that which was ſpoken by the prophet Joel, 17 And it ſhall come to paſs in the laſt days. (ſaith God) I will pour out of my Spirit upon all fleſh: and your ſons and your daughters ſhall propheſie, and your young men ſhall ſee viſions, and your old men ſhall dream dreams: 18 And on my Servants, and on my handmaidens I will pour out in thoſe days of my Spirit, and they ſhall propheſie: 19 And I will ſhew wonders in heaven above, and ſigns in the earth beneath; blood, and fire, and vapour of ſmoke. 20 The ſun ſhall be turned into darkneſs, and the moon into blood, before that great and notable day of the Lord come. 21 And it ſhall come to paſs, that whoſoever ſhall call on the name of the Lord ſhall be ſaved. 22 Ye Men of Iſrael, hear theſe words; Jeſus of Nazareth a man approved of God, among you, by miracles and wonders and ſigns, which God did by him in the midſt of you, as ye your ſelves alſo know: 23 Him, being delivered by the determinate counſel and foreknowledge of God, ye have taken, and by wicked hands have crucified and ſlain. 24 Whom God hath raiſed up, having looſed the pains of death: becauſe it was not poſſible that he ſhould be holden of it. 25 For David ſpeaketh concerning him, I foreſaw the Lord always before my face, for he is on my right hand, that I ſhould not be moved. 26 Therefore did my heart rejoyce, and my tongue was glad; moreover alſo, my fleſh ſhall reſt in hope. 27 Becauſe thou wilt not leave my ſoul in hell, neither wilt thou ſuffer thine holy One to ſee corruption. 28 Thou haſt made known to me the ways of life; thou ſhalt make me full of joy with thy countenance. 29 Men and brethren, let me freely ſpeak unto you of the patriarch David, that he is both dead and buried, and his ſepulchre is with us unto this day: 30 Therefore being a prophet, and knowing that God had ſworn with an oath to him, that of the fruit of his oyns, according to the fleſh, he would raiſe up Chriſt, to ſit on his throne: 31 He ſeeing this before, ſpake of the reſurrection of Chriſt, that his ſoul was not left in hell, neither his fleſh did ſee corruption. 32 This Jeſus hath God raiſed up, whereof we all are witneſſes. 33 Therefore being by the right hand of God exalted, and have received of the Father the promiſe of the holy Ghoſt, he hath ſhed forth this, which ye now ſee and hear. 24 For David is not aſcended into the heavens: but he ſaith himſelf, The LORD ſaid unto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand, 35 Until I make thy foes thy footſtool. 36 Therefore let all the Houſe of Iſrael know aſſuredly, that God hath made that ſame Jeſus whom ye have crucified, both Lord and Chriſt.

We have here the Firſt Fruits of the Spirit in the Sermon which Peter preached immediately, directed not to thoſe of other Nations in a ſtrange Language, we are not told what Anſwer he gave to thoſe that were amaz'd and ſaid what meaneth this? but to the Jews in the vulgar Language, even to them that mocked, for he begins with the notice of that, v. 15. and addreſſeth his Diſcourſe, v. 14. to the Men of Judea, and Inhabitants of Jeruſalem, But we have reaſon enough to think that the other Diſciples continued to ſpeak to thoſe who underſtood them, and therefore flock'd about them, in the Langnages of their reſpective Countries, the wonderful works of GOD. And it was not by Peter's Preaching only, but that of all or moſt of the reſt of the Hundred and Twenty, that the Three Thouſand Souls were that Day converted and added to the Church; But Peter's Sermon only is recorded to be an Evidence for him that he was throughly recover'd from his Fall, and throughly reſtor'd to the Divine Favour; he that had ſneakingly deny'd Chriſt, now as courageouſly confeſſeth Him. Obſerve,

1. His Introduction or Preface, wherein he craves the Attention of the Auditory, or demands it rather. Peter ſtood up, v. 14. (to ſhew that he was not drunk) with the Eleven, who concurr'd with him in what he ſaid, and probably in their Turns ſpoke likewiſe to the ſame purpoſe; They that were of greateſt Authority ſtood up to ſpeak to the Scoffing Jews, and to confront thoſe who contradicted and blaſphem'd, but left the Seventy Diſciples to ſpeak to the willing Proſelytes from other Nations, who were not ſo prejudiced, in their own Language. Thus among Chriſt's Miniſters ſome of greater Gifts are called out to inſtruct thoſe that oppoſe themſelves to take hold of Sword and Spear; others of meaner abilities are employ'd in inſtructing thoſe that reſign themſelves, and to be Vine-dreſſers and Husbandmen. Peter lift up his Voice, as one that was both well aſſur'd of, and much affected with what he ſaid; and was neither afraid, nor aſham'd to own it. He apply'd himſelf to the Men of Judea, Ἄνδρες Ἰουδαῖοι the Men that were Jews, ſo it ſhould be read. And you eſpecially that dwell at Jeruſalem, who were acceſſary to the Death of Jeſus, Be this known unto you, which you did not know before, one which you are concerned to know now, and to hearked to my Words, who would draw you to Chriſt, and not to the Words of the Scribes and Phariſees that would draw you from Him. My Maſter is gone whoſe Words you have often heard in vain, but ſhall hear no more as you have done, but he ſpeaks to you by us, Hearken now to our Words.

2. His Anſwer to their blaſphemous Calumny, v. 15. Theſe Men are not drunken as you ſuppoſe. Theſe Diſciples of Chriſt that now ſpeak with other Tongues they ſpeak good Senſe, and know what they ſay, and ſo do theſe they ſpeak to, who are led by their Diſcourſes into the Knowledge of the wonderful Works of GOD. You cannot think they are drunk, for it is but the Third Hour of the Day, Nine of the Clock in the Morning. And before that Time, on the Sabbaths and ſolemn Feaſts the Jews did not uſe to eat or drink; Nay, ordinarily they that are drunk are drunk in the Night; and not in the Morning; Thoſe are beſotted Drunkards indeed, that when they are awake preſently ſeek it yet again, Prov. xxiii. 35.

3. His Account of the miraculous Effuſion of the Spirit, which is deſigned to awaken them all to embrace the Faith of Chriſt, and to joyn themſelves to His Church. Two things he reſolves it into; That it was the Fulfilling of the Scripture, and the Fruit of Chriſt's Reſurrection and Aſſenſion, and conſequently the Proof of both.

Firſt, That it was the Accompliſhment of the Prophecies of the Old Teſtament, which related to the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, and therefore an Evidence that that Kingdom is come, and the other Predictions of it are fulfilled. He inſtanceth in one, that of the Prophet Joel, Chap. ii. 28. It is obſervable, that tho' Peter was filled with the Holy Ghoſt, and ſpake with Tongues as the Spirit gave him Utterance, yet he did not ſet aſide the Scriptures, nor think himſelf above them; Nay, much of his Diſcourſe is Quotations out of the Old Teſtament to which he appeals, and with which he proves what he ſaith: Chriſt's Scholars never learn above their Bible; and the Spirit is given not to ſuperſede the Scriptures, but to enable us to underſtand and improve the Scriptures. Obſerve,

1. The Text it ſelf that Peter quotes, v. 17—21. It refers to the laſt Days, i. e. the Times of the Goſpel, which are therefore called the laſt Days, becauſe the Diſpenſation of GOD's Kingdom among Men which the Goſpel ſets up is the laſt Diſpenſation of Divine Grace; and we are to look for no other, but the Continuation of that to the End of Time. Or, in the laſt Days, i. e. a great while after the ceaſing of Prophecy in the Old Teſtament Church. Or in the Days immediately preceding the Deſtruction of the Jewiſh Nation, in the laſt Days of that People, juſt before that great and notable Day of the Lord, ſpoken of v. 20. it was propheſied of and promiſed, and therefore you ought to expect it, and not to be ſurpriz'd at it, to deſire it and bid it welcome, and not to diſpute it; as not worth taking notice of. The Apoſtle quotes the whole Paragraph, for its good to take Scripture intire; now it was foretold,

(1.) That there ſhould be a more plentiful and extenſive Effuſion of the Spirit of Grace from on high, than had been ever yet. The Prophets of the Old Teſtament had been filled with the Holy Ghoſt, and it was ſaid of the People of Iſrael that GOD gave them his good Spirit to inſtruct them, Neh. ix. 20. But now the Spirit ſhall be poured out not only upon the Jews, but upon all Fleſh, Gentiles as well as Jews, tho' yet Peter himſelf did not underſtand it ſo, as appears, Acts, xi. 17. or upon all Fleſh i. e. upon ſome of all Ranks and Conditions of Men. The Jewiſh Doctors taught that the Spirit came only upon wiſe and rich Men, and ſuch as were of the Seed of Iſrael but GOD will not tye Himſelf to their Rules.

2. That the Spirit ſhould be in them a Spirit of Prophecy; by the Spirit they ſhould be enabled to foretell things to come, and to preach the Goſpel to every Creature. This Power ſhall be given without Diſtinction of Sex; not only your Sons, but your Daughters ſhall prophecy: Without Diſtinction of Age; both your Young Men and your Old Men ſhall ſee Viſions, and dream Dreams, and in them receive Divine Revelations, to be communicated to the Church: and without Diſtinction of outward Condition; even the Servants and Hand-maids ſhall receive of the Spirit, and ſhall propheſie, v. 18. or in general, Men and Women whom GOD calls his Servants and his Hand-maids. In the Beginning of the Age of Prophecy in the Old Teſtament there were Schools of the Prophets, and before that the Spirit of Prophecy came upon the Elders of Iſrael that were appointed to the Government. But now the Spirit ſhall be poured out upon Perſons of inferior Rank, and ſuch as were not brought up in the Schools of the Prophets, for the Kingdom of the Meſſiah is to be purely Spiritual. The mention of the Daughters, v. 17. and the Hand-maidens, v. 18. would make one think that the Women which were taken notice of chap. i. 14. received the extraordinary Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt as well as the Men. Philip the Evangeliſt had Four Daughters who did propheſie, Chap. xxi. 9. And therefore St. Paul finding Abundance of the Gifts both of Tongues and Prophecy in the Church of Corinth, ſaw it needful to prohibit Womens Uſe of thoſe Gifts in publick, 1 Cor. xiv. 26, 34.

3. That one great Thing which they ſhou'd propheſie of, ſhould be the Judgments that were coming upon the Jewiſh Nation, for this was the chief Thing that Chriſt Himſelf had foretold, Matth. xxiv. at his Entrance into Jeruſalem, Luke xix. 41. and when he was going to dye, Luke, xxiii. 29. And theſe Judgments were to be brought upon them to puniſh them for their Contempt of the Goſpel, and their Oppoſition to it, tho' it came to them thus proved. They that would not ſubmit to the Power of GOD's Grace in this wonderful Effuſion of his Spirit, ſhould fall and lie under the pourings out of the Vials of his Wrath; They ſhall break that will not bend.

1. The Deſtruction of Jeruſalem which was about Forty Years after Chriſt's Death is here call'd that great and notable Day of the Lord, becauſe it put a final Period to the Moſaick Oeconomy; the Levitical Prieſthood, and the Ceremonial Law were thereby for ever aboliſhed and done away. The Deſolation it ſelf was ſuch as was never brought upon any Place or Nation either before or ſince. 'Twas the Day of the Lord, for it was the Day of his Vengeance upon that People for crucifying Chriſt, and perſecuting his Miniſters, it was the Year of Recompence for that Controverſy; yea, and for all the Blood of the Saints and Martyrs, from the Blood of righteous Abel, Matth. xxiv. 35. It was a little Day of Judgment. 'Twas a notable Day; in Joel 'tis call'd a terrible Day; for ſo it was to Men on Earth; but here ἐπιφανῆ (after the LXX ſhews) a glorious, illuſtrious Day, for ſo it was to Chriſt in Heaven, 'twas the Epiphany, his Appearing, ſo he himſelf ſpoke of it, Mat. xxiv. 30. The Deſtruction of the Jews, was the Deliverance of the Chriſtians, that were hated and perſecuted by them, and therefore that Day was often ſpoken of by the Prophets of that Time, for the Incouragement of ſuffering Chriſtians, that the Lord was at hand, the Coming of the Lord drew nigh; the Judge ſtood before the Door, Jam. v. 8, 9.

2. The terrible Preſages of that Deſtruction, are here foretold; There ſhall be Wonders in Heaven above, the Sun turned into Darkneſs, and the Moon into Blood; and Signs too in the earth beneath, Blood and Fire. Joſephus, in his Preface to his Hiſtory of the Wars of the Jews, ſpeaks of the Signs and Prodigies that preceded them, terrible Thunders, Lightning and Earthquakes; there was a fiery Commet that hung over the City, for a Year, and a flaming Sword was ſeen pointing down upon it; a Light ſhone upon the Temple and the Altar at Midnight, as if it had been Noon-Day. Dr. Lightfoot gives another Senſe of theſe Preſages; The Blood of the Son of GOD, the Fire of the Holy Ghoſt now appearing, the Vapor of the Smoke in which Chriſt aſcended; the Sun darken'd, and the Moon made Blood at the Time of Chriſt's Paſſion, were all loud Warnings given to that Unbelieving People to prepare for the Judgments coming upon them. Or, it may be apply'd, and very fitly, to the previous Judgments themſelves by which that Deſolation was brought on. The Blood, points at the Wars of the Jews with the Neighbour Nations, with the Samaritans, Syrians, and Greeks, in which Abundance of Blood was ſhed; as there was alſo in their Civil Wars, and the Struggles of the Seditions as they call'd them, which were very bloody; here was no Peace to him that went out, or to him that came in. The Fire and Vapor of Smoke here foretold literally came to paſs in the burning of their Cities and Towns, and Synagogues, and Temple at laſt. And this turning of the Sun into Darkneſs, and Moon into Blood, ſpeaks the Deſolution of their Government, Civil and Sacred, and the extinguiſhing of all their Lights.

3. The ſignal Preſervation of the LORD's People is here promis'd, v. 21. Whoſoever ſhall call upon the Name of the Lord Jeſus (which is the Deſcription of a true Chriſtian, 1 Cor. i. 2.) ſhall be Saved, ſhall eſcape that Judgment; which ſhall be a Type and Earneſt of everlaſting Salvation. In the Deſtructon of Jeruſalem by the Chaldeans, there was a Remnant ſeal'd to be hid in the Day of the LORD's Anger, and in the Deſtruction by the Romans, not one Chriſtian periſh'd. They that diſtinguiſh themſelves by ſingular Piety, ſhall be diſtinguiſh'd by ſpecial Preſervation. And obſerve, The ſav'd Remnant are deſcrib'd by this, that they are a Praying People; they call on the Name of the Lord. Which intimates, that they are not ſav'd by any Merit or Righteouſneſs of their own, but purely by the Favour of GOD, which muſt be ſu'd out by Prayer. 'Tis the Name of the Lord which they call upon, that is their ſtrong Tow-

2. The Application of this Prophecy to the preſent Event, v. 16. This is that which was ſpoken by the Prophet Joel; it is the Accompliſhment of that, it is the full Accompliſhment of it: This is that Effuſion of the Spirit upon all Fleſh, which ſhould come, and we are to look for no other, no more than we are to look for another Meſſiah; For as our Meſſiah ever lives in Heaven reigning and interceeding for his Church on Earth; ſo this Spirit of Grace, the Advocate or Comforter, that was given now according to the Promiſe; will, according to the ſame Promiſe, continue with the Church on Earth to the End, and will work all its Works in it, and for it, and every Member of it, Ordinary and Extraordinary, by the Means of the Scriptures and Miniſtry.

Secondly, That it was the Gift of Chriſt, and the Product and Proof of his Reſurrection and Aſcenſion. From this Gift of the Holy Ghoſt he takes Occaſion to preach unto them Jeſus: And this Part of his Sermon he introduceth with another ſolemn Preface, v. 22. Ye Men of Iſrael, hear theſe Words. 'Tis a Mercy that ye are within hearing of them, and it is your Duty to give heed to them: Words concerning Chriſt, ſhould be acceptable Words to the Men of Iſrael. Here is,

1. An Abſtract of the Hiſtory of the Life of Chriſt, v. 22. He calls him Jeſus of Nazareth, becauſe by that Name he was generally known, but which was ſufficient to roll away that Reproach, he was a Man approv'd of God among you; cenſur'd and condemn'd by Men, but approv'd of GOD; GOD teſtify'd his Approbation of his Doctrine, by the Power He gave him to work Miracles: A Man mark'd out by GOD, ſo Dr. Hammond reads it; ſignaliz'd and made remarkable among you that now hear me; he was ſent to you, ſet up a glorious Light in your Land, you yourſelves are Witneſſes, how he became famous by Miracles, Wonders and Signs, Works above the Power of Nature, out of its ordinary Courſe, and contrary to it, which God did by him; that is, Which he did by that Divine Power, with which he was cloath'd; and in which God plainly went along with him; for no Man could do ſuch Works unleſs God were with him. See what a Streſs Peter lays upon Chriſt's Miracles. (1.) The Matter of Fact was not to be deny'd; for they were done in the midſt of you; in the midſt of your Country, your City, your ſolemn Aſſemblies, as ye yourſelves alſo know. You have been Eye-Witneſſes of his Miracles, I appeal to yourſelves, whether you have any thing to object againſt them, or can offer any thing to diſprove them. (2.) The Inference from them cannot be diſputed; the Reaſoning is as ſtrong as the Evidence; If he did thoſe Miracles, certainly GOD approv'd him, declar'd him to be, what He declar'd himſelf to be, the Son of GOD, and the Saviour of the World; for the GOD of Truth, would never ſet his Seal to a Lye.

2. An Account of his Death and Sufferings; which they were Witneſſes of alſo, but a few Weeks ago. And this was the greateſt Miracle of all, That a Man approv'd of GOD, ſhould thus ſeem to be abandon'd of him, and a Man thus approv'd among the People, and in the midſt of them, ſhould be thus abandon'd by them too: But both theſe Myſteries are here explain'd v. 23. and his Death conſider'd.

(1.) As God's Act; and in Him it was an Act of wonderful Grace, and Wiſdom. He deliver'd him to Death; not only permitted him to be put to Death, but gave him up, devoted him; this is explain'd, Rom. viii. 32. He deliver'd him up for us all: And yet he was approv'd of God, and there was nothing in this that ſignify'd the diſapproving of him; for it was done by the determinate Counſel and Fore-knowledge of God, in infinite Wiſdom, and for Holy Ends, which Chriſt himſelf concurr'd in, and in the means leading to them. Thus Divine Juſtice muſt be ſatisfy'd, Sinners ſav'd, GOD and Man brought together again, and Chriſt himſelf Glorify'd. It was not only according to the Will of God, but according to the Counſel of his Will, that he ſuffer'd and dy'd; according to an Eternal Counſel, which could not be alter'd. This reconcil'd him to the Croſs; Father, Thy Will be done; And, Father, Glorify thy Name; Let thy Purpoſe take Effect, and let the great End of it be attain'd.

(2.) As the Peoples Act; And in them it was an Act of prodigious Sin and Folly; it was fighting againſt GOD, to perſecute One whom He approv'd as the Darling of Heaven; and fighting againſt their own Mercies, to perſecute One that was the greateſt Bleſſing of this Earth: And neither GOD's deſigning it from Eternity, nor his bringing Good out of it to Eternity, would in the leaſt excuſe their Sin; for it was their voluntary Act and Deed, from a Principle morally Evil; and therefore they were wicked Hands, with which you have crucify'd and ſlain him. 'Tis probable, ſome of thoſe were here preſent who had cry'd, Crucify him, Crucify him, or had been otherwiſe aiding and abetting in the Murder, and Peter knew it: However, it was juſtly look'd upon as a National Act, becauſe done both by the Vote of the Great Council, and by the Voice of the great Croud. 'Tis a Rule, Refertur ad univerſos quod publice ſit per majorem partem. He charges it particularly on them as Parts of the Nation on which it would be viſited, the more effectually to bring them to Faith and Repentance, becauſe that was the only Way to diſtinguiſh themſelves from the Guilty, and diſcharge themſelves from the Guilt.

3. An Atteſtation of his Reſurrection, which effectually wip'd away the Reproach of his Death, v. 24. Whom God raiſed up, the ſame that deliver'd him to Death, deliver'd him from Death, and thereby gave a higher Approbation of him, than He had done by any other of the Signs and Wonders, wrought by him, or by all put together; This therefore he inſiſts moſt largely upon.

1. He deſcribes his Reſurrection. GOD looſeth the Bands of Death, becauſe it was impoſſible that he ſhould be holden of it. ὠδῖνας, The Sorrows of Death, the Word is us'd for Travailing-pains; and ſome think, it ſignifies the Trouble and Agony of his Soul, in which it was exceeding Sorrowful, even to the Death, from theſe Pains and Sorrows of Soul, this Travail of Soul, the Father looſed him, when at his Death he ſaid, It is finiſhed. Thus Dr. Goodwin underſtands it; Thoſe Terrors which made Heman's Soul lie like the Slain. Pſal. lxxxix. 15. theſe had hold of Chriſt; but he was too ſtrong for them, and broke through them; this was the Reſurrection of his Soul, (And it is a great thing to bring a Soul out of the Depts of Spiritual Agonies) this was, not leaving his Soul in Hell; as that which follows, that he ſhould not ſee Corruption, ſpeaks of the Reſurrection of the Body; and both together make up the great Reſurrection. Dr. Lightfoot gives another Senſe of this; Having diſſolv'd the Pains of Death in reference to all that believe in him, God rais'd up Chriſt, and by his Reſurrection broke all the Power of Death, and deſtroy'd its Pangs upon his own People: He hath aboliſh'd Death, has alter'd the Property of it; and becauſe it was not poſſible that he ſhould be long holden of it, it is not poſſible that they ſhould be for ever holden. But muſt refer this to the Reſurrection of Chriſt's Body. And Death (ſaith Mr. Baxter) as a Separation between Soul and Body, is by Privation a penal State, tho' not dolorous by poſitive Evil. But Dr. Hammond ſhews, That the Septuagint and from them the Apoſtle here uſeth the Word for Cords and Bands, as Pſ. xviii. 4. to which the Metaphor of looſing, and being held, beſt agree. Chriſt was Impriſon'd for our Debt, was thrown into the Bands of Death, but Divine Juſtice being ſatisfy'd, it was not poſſible he ſhould be detain'd there, either by Right or by Force; for he had Life in himſelf, and in his own Power, and had conquer'd the Prince of Death.

2. He atteſts the Truth of his Reſurrection, v. 32. GOD hath rais'd him up, whereof all we are Witneſſes, we Apoſtles and other our Companions, that were intimately acquainted with him before his Death, were intimately converſant with him after his Reſurrection, did eat and drink with him. They receiv'd Power by the Deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt upon them, on purpoſe that they might be skilful, faithful, and courageous Witneſſes of this thing, notwithſtanding their being charg'd by his Enemies as having ſtollen him away.

3. He ſhew'd it to be the fulfilling of the Scripture, and becauſe the Scripture hath ſaid that he muſt riſe again before he ſaw Corruption, therefore it was impoſſible that he ſhould be holden by Death and the Grave, for David ſpeaks of his being rais'd; ſo it comes in v. 25. The Scripture he refers to, is that of David Pſ. xvi, 8, 9, 10, 11. which tho' in part applicable to David as a Saint, yet refers chiefly to Jeſus Chriſt, of whom David was a Type. Here is,

1. The Text quoted at large, v. 25, 26, 27, 28. for it was all fulfilled in him; and ſhews us,

(1.) The conſtant Regard that our Lord Jeſus had to his Father in his whole Undertaking, I fore-ſaw the Lord before me continually. He ſet before him his Father's Glory as his End in all, fore-ſaw that his Sufferings would redound abundantly to the Honour of GOD, and would iſſue in his own Joy; theſe were ſet before him, and theſe he had an Eye to in all he did and ſuffer'd, and with the Proſpect of theſe he was born up, and carried on, Joh. xiii. 31, 32.— xvii. 4, 5.

(2.) The Aſſurance he had of his Father's Preſence and Power going along with him, He is on my right Hand, the Hand of Action, ſtrengthening, guiding, and upholding that, that I ſhould not be moved, or driven off from my Undertaking, notwithſtanding the Hardſhips I muſt undergo; this was an Article of the Covenant of Redemption, Pſ. lxxxix. 21. With him my Hand ſhall be eſtabliſhed, my Arm alſo ſhall ſtrengthen him. And therefore he is confident the Work ſhall not miſcarry in his Hand. If GOD be at our Right Hand, we ſhall not be mov'd,

(3.) The Chearfulneſs with which our Lord Jeſus went on in his Work, notwithſtanding the Sorrows he was to paſs through. Being ſatisfy'd that I ſhall not be mov'd, but the good Pleaſure of the LORD ſhall proſper in my Hand, therefore doth my Heart rejoyce, and my Tongue is glad; and the Thought of my Sorrow is as nothing to me. Note, It was a conſtant Pleaſure to our Lord Jeſus to look to the End of his Work, and to be ſure that the Iſſue would be Glorious; ſo well-pleas'd was he with his undertaking, that it does his Heart good to think how the Iſſue would anſwer the Deſign: He rejoyc'd in Spirit, Luk. x. 21. My Tongue was glad. In the Pſalm, it is, my Glory rejoyceth; which intimates that our Tongue is our Glory, the Faculty of Speaking is an Honour to us, and never more ſo than when it is imploy'd in praiſing GOD, Chriſt's Tongue was glad, for when he was juſt entring upon his Sufferings, in the Cloſe of his Laſt Supper he ſang an Hymn.

(4.) The pleaſing Proſpect he had of the happy Iſſue of his Death and Sufferings; this was it that carry'd him not only with Courage, but with Chearfulneſs through them; He was putting off the Body, but my Fleſh ſhall reſt, the Grave ſhall be to the Body while it lies there a Bed of Repoſe, and Hope ſhall give it a ſweet Repoſe; it ſhall reſt in Hope, ὅτι, That thou wilt not leave my Soul in Hell; what follows is the Matter of his Hope, or Aſſurance rather.

1. That the Soul ſhall not continue in a State of Separation from the Body; for beſides, that that is ſome Uneaſineſs to a Human Soul made for its Body, it would be the Continuance of Death's Triumph over him, who was in truth a Conqueror over Death. Thou wilt not leave my Soul in Hell, in Hades, in the inviſible State, ſo Hades properly ſignifies: But tho' thou ſuffer it for a time to remove thither, and to remain there, yet thou wilt remand it; thou wilt not leave it there as thou doſt the Souls of other Men.

2. That the Body ſhall lie but a little while in the Grave; Thou wilt not ſuffer thy Holy One to ſee Corruption; the Body ſhall not continue dead ſo long, as that it ſhould begin to putrify or become noiſome; and therefore it muſt return to Life on, or before, the third Day after its Death. Chriſt was GOD's Holy One, ſanctify'd and ſet apart to his Service in the Work of Redemption: He muſt die, for he muſt be conſecrated by his own Blood; but he muſt not ſee Corruption, for his Death was to be unto GOD a ſweet-ſmelling ſavour. And this was typify'd by the Law concerning the Sacrifices, that no Part of the Fleſh of the Sacrifices which was to be eaten, ſhould be kept till the third Day, for fear it ſhould ſee Corruption and begin to putrify, Lev. vii. 15—18.

3. That his Death and Sufferings ſhould be not to him only, but to all his, an Inlet to a bleſſed Immortality. Thou haſt made known to me the Ways of Life, and by me made them known to the World, and laid them open. When the Father gave to the Son to have Life in himſelf, a Power to lay down his Life and to take it again, then He ſhew'd him the Ways of Life both to and fro: The Gates of Death were open'd to him, and the Doors of the ſhadow of Death (Job xxxviii. 17.) to paſs and repaſs thro' them as his Occaſions led him for Man's Redemption.

4. That all his Sorrows and Sufferings ſhould end in perfect and perpetual Felicity: Thou ſhalt make me full of Joy with thy Countenance. The Reward ſet before him, was Joy; a Fulneſs of Joy, and that in God's countenance, in the Countenance he gave to his Undertaking, and to all thoſe, for his ſake, that ſhould believe in him. The Smiles with which the Father receiv'd him, when at his Aſcenſion he was brought to the Ancient of Days, fill'd him with Joy unſpeakable: And that's the Joy of our Lord, into which all his ſhall enter, and in which they ſhall be for ever happy.

2. The Comment upon this Text, eſpecially ſo much of it as relates to the Ruſurrection of Chriſt: He addreſſes himſelf to them with a Title of Reſpect, Men and Brethren, v. 29. You are Men, and therefore ſhould be rul'd with Reaſon; you are Brethren, and therefore ſhould take kindly what is ſaid to you by One that being nearly related to you is heartily concern'd for you, and wiſheth you well; Now, give me leave freely to ſpeak to you concerning the Patriarch David, and let it be no Offence to you if I tell you. That David cannot be underſtood here as ſpeaking of himſelf, but of the Chriſt to come. David is here call'd a Patriarch, becauſe he was the Father of the Royal Family, and a Man of great Note and Eminency in his Generation, and whoſe Name and Memory was juſtly very precious. Now when we read that Pſalm of his, we muſt conſider,

1. That he could not ſay that of himſelf, for he dy'd, and was bury'd, and his Sepulcher remain'd in Jeruſalem, till now when Peter ſpoke this; and his Bones and Aſhes in it; no Body ever pretended that he had riſen, and therefore he could never ſay of himſelf, that he ſhould not ſee Corruption; for it was plain he did ſee Corruption. St. Paul urgeth this, Acts. xiii 35, 36, 37. Tho' he was a Man after GOD's own Heart, yet he went the Way of all the Earth, as he ſaith himſelf, 1 Kings. ii. 2. both in Death and Burial.

2. Therefore certainly he ſpoke it as a Prophet, with an Eye to the Meſſiah, whoſe Sufferings the Prophets teſtify'd before-hand, and with them the Glory that ſhould follow; ſo did David in that Pſalm, as Peter here plainly ſhews.

1. David knew that the Meſſiah ſhould deſend from his Loins v. 30. That GOD had Sworn to him that of the Fruit of his Lions according to the Fleſh, he would raiſe up Chriſt to ſit on his Throne. He promis'd him a Son, the Throne of whoſe Kingdom ſhould be eſtabliſh'd for ever 2 Sam. vii. 12. And it is ſaid, Pſal. cxxxii. 11. GOD Swore it in Truth unto David. When our Lord Jeſus was born, 'twas promis'd that the Lord GOD would give him the Throne of his Father David, Luke i. 32. And all Iſrael knew that the Meſſiah was to be the Son of David, that is, that according to the Fleſh he ſhould be ſo, by his Human Nature; for otherwiſe according to the Spirit, and by his Divine Nature he was to be David's Lord, not his Son. GOD having ſworn to David that the Meſſiah promis'd to his Fathers ſhould be his Son and Succeſſor, the Fruit of his Loins, and Heir to his Throne, he kept this in view in Penning his Pſalms.

2. Chriſt being the Fruit of his Loins, and conſequently in his Loins when he penn'd that Pſalm, (as Levi is ſaid to be in Abraham's Loins when he paid Tythes to Melchizech) if what he ſaith as in his own Perſon, be not applicable to himſelf, as 'tis plain that it is not, we muſt conclude it points to that Son of his, that was then in his Loins, in whom his Family and Kingdom were to have their Perfection and Perpetuity. And therefore when he ſaith that his Soul ſhould not be left in its ſeparate State, nor his Fleſh ſee Corruption, without doubt he muſt be underſtood to ſpeak of the Reſurrection of Chriſt, v. 31. And as Chriſt Dy'd, ſo he Roſe again according to the Scriptures; And that he did ſo we are Witneſſes.

4. Here is a Touch upon his Aſcenſion too. As David did not riſe from the Dead, ſo neither did he aſcend into the Heavens bodily as Chriſt did, v. 34. And further to prove that when he ſpoke of the Reſurrection he meant it of Chriſt, he obſerves that when in another Pſalm he ſpeaks of the next Step of his Exaltation, he plainly ſhews that he ſpoke of another Perſon, and ſuch another as was his Lord, Pſal. cx. 1. The Lord, ſaid unto my Lord, when he had raiſed him from the Dead, Sit thou on my Right Hand, in the higheſt Dignity and Dominion there, Be thou intruſted with the Adminiſtration of the Kingdom both of Providence and Grace, Sit there as King until I make thy Foes either thy Friends or thy Footſtool, v. 35. Chriſt roſe from the Grave to riſe Higher, and therefore it muſt be of his Reſurrection that David ſpoke, and not his own, in the 16*th* Pſalm, for there was no Occaſion for him to Riſe out of his Grave who was not to Aſcend to Heaven.

We now come to the Application of this Diſcourſe concerning the Death, Reſurrection, and Aſcenſion of Chriſt.

1. This explains the Meaning of the preſent wonderful Effuſion of the Spirit in thoſe extraordinary Gifts. Some of the People had ask'd, v. 12. what meaneth this? I'll tell you the Meaning of it ſaith Peter, This Jeſus being Exalted to the Right Hand of GOD, ſo ſome read it, to Sit there, Exalted by the Right Hand of GOD, ſo we read it, by his Power and Authority, it comes all to one, And having receiv'd of the Father to whom he is aſcended, the Promiſe of the Holy Ghoſt, he hath given what he receiv'd (Pſal. lxviii. 18.) and hath ſhed forth this for you now ſee and hear; for the Holy Ghoſt was to be given when Jeſus was Glorified, and not before John vii. 39. you ſee and hear us ſpeak with Tongues that we never learn'd; probably there was an obſervable Change in the Air of their Countenances, which they ſaw, as well as heard the Change of their Voice and Language; now this is from the Holy Ghoſt, whoſe Coming is an Evidence that Jeſus is Exalted, and he has receiv'd this Gift from the Father, to confer it upon the Church, which plainly ſpeaks him to be the Mediator; or middle Perſon between GOD and the Church. The Gift of the Holy Ghoſt was (1.) A Performance of Divine Promiſes already made; here it is called the Promiſes of the Holy Ghoſt, many exceeding great and precious Promiſes the Divine Power has given us, but this is the Promiſes, by way of Eminency, as that of the Meſſiah had been, and this is the Promiſe that includes all the reſt; Hence GOD's giving the Holy Spirit to them that ask'd him, Luke xi. 13. is his giving them all good Things, Matth. vii. 11. Chriſt receiv'd the Promiſe of the Holy Ghoſt, i. e. the promis'd Gift of the Holy Ghoſt, and has given it to us; for all the Promiſes are Yea and Amen in him. (2.) 'Twas a Pledge of all Divine Favours further intended; what you now ſee and hear is but an Erneſt of greater Things.

2. This proves what you are all bound to Believe, That Chriſt Jeſus is the true Meſſiah and Saviour of the World; This he cloſeth his Sermon with, as the Concluſion of the whole Matter, the Quod erat demonſtrandum, v. 36. Therefore let all the Houſe of Iſrael know aſſuredly, That this Truth has now receiv'd its full Confirmation, and we our full Commiſſion to publiſh it, That God has made that ſame Jeſus whom ye have Crucify'd both Lord and Chriſt. They were charg'd to tell no Man that he was Jeſus the Chriſt till after his Reſurrection, Matt. xvi. 20—xvii. 9. But now it muſt be proclaim'd on the Huoſe-tops, to all the Houſe of Iſrael, He that has Ears to hear let him hear it; It is not propos'd as probable but depos'd as certain, let them know it aſſuredly, and know that it is their Duty to receive it as a Faithful Saying, (1.) That GOD has Glorified Him whom they have crucified. This aggravates their Wickedneſs that they Crucify'd, one whom GOD deſigned to Glorify, and put him to Death as a Deceiver, who had given ſuch pregnant Proofs of his Divine Miſſion. And it magnifies the Wiſdom and Power of GOD, that tho' they Crucify'd him, and thought thereby to have put him under an indelible Mark of Infamy, yet GOD had Glorify'd him, and the Indignities they had done him ſerv'd as a Foil to his Luſtre. (2.) That he has Glorify'd him to that Degree, as to make him both Lord and Chriſt; Theſe ſignify the ſame; he is Lord of all, and he is not a Uſurper, but is Chriſt Anointed to be ſo. He is one Lord to the Gentiles, whom had had Lords many, and to the Jews he is Meſſiah, which includes all his Offices. He is the King Meſſiah, as the Chaldee Paraphraſt calls him; or as the Angel to Daniel, Meſſiah the Prince, Dan. ix. 25. This is the great Truth of the Goſpel, which we are to believe, That that ſame Jeſus, the very ſame that was crucified at Jeruſalem is he to whom we owe Allegiance, and from whom we are to expect Protection as Lord and Chriſt.

37 Now when they heard this, they were pricked in their heart, and ſaid unto Peter, and to the reſt of the apoſtles, Men and brethren, what ſhall we do? 38 Then Peter ſaid unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jeſus Chriſt, for the remiſſion of ſins, and ye ſhall receive the gift of the holy Ghoſt. 39 For the promiſe is unto you, and your children, and to all that are far off, even as many as the Lord our God ſhall call. 40 And with many other words did he teſtifie and exhort, ſaying, Save your ſelves from this untoward generation. 41 Then they that gladly receiv'd his word, were baptized: and the ſame day there were added unto them about three thouſand ſouls.

We have ſeen the wonderful Effect of the Pouring out of the Spirit in its Influence upon the Preachers of the Goſpel; Peter in all his Life never ſpoke at that rate that he had done now, with ſuch Fulneſs Perſpicuity and Power, we are now to ſee another bleſſed Fruit of the Pouring out of the Spirit in it's Influence upon the Hearers of the Goſpel; from the firſt Delivery of that Divine Meſſage, it appear'd that there was a Divine Power going along with it, and it was mighty through GOD to do Wonders, Thouſands were immediately brought by it to the Obedience of Faith, 'Twas the Rod of God's Strength ſent out of Zion, Pſal. cx. 2, 3. We have here the Firſt Fruits of that vaſt Harveſt of Souls which by it were gather'd into Jeſus Chriſt. Come and ſee in theſe Verſes the Exalted Redeemer, riding forth in theſe Chariots of Salvation conquering and to conquer, Rev. vi. 2.

In theſe Verſes we find the Word of GOD the Means of beginning and carrying on a good Work of Grace in the Hearts of many, the Spirit of the Lord working by it. Let us ſee the Method of it.

Firſt, They are ſtartled and convinc'd, and put upon a ſerious Enquiry v. 37. when they heard, or having heard, having patiently heard Peter out, and not given him the Interruption they had been us'd to give to Chriſt in his Diſcourſes, (this was one good Point gain'd, that they were become attentive to the Word) they were pricked to the Heart, or, in the Heart, and under a deep Concern and Perplexity, apply'd themſelves to the Preachers with this Queſtion, What ſhall we do? It was very ſtrange that ſuch Impreſſions ſhould be made upon ſuch hard Hearts all of a ſudden. They were Jews bred up in the Opinion of the Sufficiency of their Religion to ſave them, had lately ſeen this Jeſus crucified in Weakneſs and Diſgrace, and were told by their Rulers that he was a Deceiver; Peter had charg'd them with having a Hand, a wicked Hand in his Death, which was likely to have exaſperated them againſt him, yet when they heard this plain Scriptural Sermon they were much affected with it.

1. It put them in Pain; they were pricked in their Hearts. We read of thoſe that were cut to the Heart with Indignation at the Preacher, Acts vii. 54. but theſe were pricked to the Heart with Indignation at themſelves for having been acceſſary to the Death of Chriſt, Peter charging it upon them awaken'd their Conſciences, touch'd them to the quick, and the Reflection they now made upon it was as a Sword in their Bones, it pierced as they had pierced Chriſt. Note, Sinners when their Eyes are open'd cannot but be prick'd to the Heart for Sin, cannot but experience an inward Uneaſineſs; this is having the Heart rent, Joel ii. 13. a broken and contrite Heart, Pſal. li. 17. Thoſe that are truly ſorry for their Sins, and aſham'd of them, and afraid of the Conſequences of them are prick'd to the Heart. A Prick in the Heart is Mortal, and under thoſe Commotions (ſaith Paul) I dy'd, Rom. vii. 9. All my good Opinion of my ſelf, and Confidence in my ſelf fail'd me.

2. It put them upon Enquiry. Out of the Abundance of the Heart thus prick'd, the Mouth ſpoke. Obſerve.

1. To whom they addreſs'd themſelves; to Peter and to the reſt of the Apoſtles, ſome to one, and ſome to another, to them they open'd their Caſe; by them they had been convinc'd, and therefore by them they expect to be counſel'd and comforted. They do not appeal from them to the Scribes and Phariſees to juſtify them againſt the Apoſtles Charge, but apply to them, as owning the Charge and referring the Caſe to them. They call them Men and Brethren, as Peter had call'd them v. 29. 'tis a Style of Friendſhip and Love, rather than a Title of Honour, you are Men, look upon us with Humanity, you are Brethren, look upon us with brotherly Love. Note, Miniſters are ſpiritual Phyſicians, they ſhould be adviſ'd with by thoſe whoſe Conſciences are wounded; And it is good for People to be free and familiar with thoſe Miniſters, as Men, and their Brethren, who deal for their Souls as for their own.

2. What the Addreſs is: What ſhall we do?

1. They ſpeak as Men at a Plunge, that did not know what to do; in a perfect Surprize: Is that Jeſus, whom we have crucify'd, both Lord and Chriſt! Then what become of us, who crucify'd him? we are all undone! Note, No way of being happy, but by ſeeing ourſelves miſerable. When we find ourſelves in Danger of being loſt for ever, there's Hopes of our being made for ever; and not till then.

2. They ſpeak as Men at a Point, that were reſolv'd to do any Thing they ſhall be directed to, preſently; they are not for taking Time to conſider, or adjourning the Proſecution of their Convictions to a more convenient Seaſon, but deſire now to be told what they muſt do to eſcape the Miſery they were liable to Note, Thoſe that are convinc'd of Sin, would gladly know the Way to Peace and Pardon, Acts ix. 6—xvi. 30.

Secondly, Peter and the Apoſtles direct them in ſhort what they muſt do, and what in ſo doing they might expect, v. 38, 39. Sinners convinc'd, muſt be encourag'd; and that which is broken muſt be bound up, Ezek. xxxiv. 16. they muſt be told, That tho' their Caſe is ſad, it is not deſperate, there is Hope for them.

1. He here ſhews them the Courſe they muſt take:

(1.) Repent, that's a Plank after Shipwreck: Let the Senſe of this horrid Guilt which you have brought upon yourſelves by putting Chriſt to Death, awaken you to a penitent Reflection upon all your other Sins, as the Demand of ſome one great Debt brings to light all the Debts of a poor Bankrupt, and to bitter Remorſe and Sorrow for them. This was the ſame Duty that John the Baptiſt and Chriſt had preach'd, and now the Spirit is pour'd out 'tis ſtill inſiſted on; Repent, repent; Change your Mind, change your Way; admit an After-thought.

(2.) Be baptiz'd every one of you in the Name of Jeſus Chriſt, i. e. Firmly believe the Doctrine of Chriſt, and ſubmit to his Grace and Government; and make an open ſolemn Profeſſion of this, and come under an Engagement to abide by it, by ſubmitting to the Ordinance of Baptiſm; be proſelyted to Chriſt and to hi holy Religion, and renounce your Infidelity. They muſt be baptized in the Name of Jeſus Chriſt. They did believe in the Father and the Holy Ghoſt ſpeaking by the Prophets; but they muſt alſo believe in the Name of Jeſus, that he is the Chriſt, the Meſſias promis'd to the Fathers; Take Jeſus for your King, and by Baptiſm ſwear Allegiance to him; take him for your Prophet, and hear him; take him for your Prieſt, to make Atonement for you; which ſeems peculiarly intended here; for they muſt be baptiz'd in his Name for the Remiſſion of Sins upon the Score of Righteouſneſs.

(3.) This is preſs'd upon each particular Perſon, Every one of you; even thoſe of you that have been the greateſt Sinners, if they repent and believe, are welcome to be baptiz'd; and thoſe that think they have been the greateſt Saints, yet have need to repent, and believe, and be baptiz'd. There is Grace enough in Chriſt for every one of you, be ye never ſo many, and Grace ſuited to the Caſe of every One. Iſrael of Old was baptiz'd unto Moſes in the Camp, the whole Body of the Iſraelites together, when they paſs'd through the Cloud, and the Sea, 1 Cor. x. 1, 2. for the Covenant of Peculiarity was National; but now every One of you diſtinctly muſt be baptiz'd in the Name of the Lord Jeſus, and tranſact for himſelf in this great Affair. See Col. i. 28.

2. He gives them Encouragement to take that Courſe:

1. It ſhall be for the Remiſſion of Sins, Repent of your Sin, and it ſhall not be your Ruin; be baptiz'd into the Faith of Chriſt, and in Truth you ſhall be juſtified, which you could never be by the Law of Moſes. Aim at this, and depend upon Chriſt for it, and this you ſhall have. As the Cup in the Lord's Supper is the New Teſtament in the Blood of Chriſt for the Remiſſion of Sins, ſo Baptiſm is in the Name of Chriſt, for the Remiſſion of Sins. Be Waſh'd, and you ſhall be Waſh'd.

2. You ſhall receive the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt, as well as We; for it is deſign'd for a general Bleſſing, ſome of you ſhall receive theſe external Gifts, and each of you, if you be ſincere in your Faith and Repentance, ſhall receive His internal Graces and Comforts, ſhall be Seal'd with the Holy Spirit of Promiſe. Note, All that receive the Remiſſion of Sins, receive the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt: All that are juſtified are ſanctified.

3. Your Children ſhall ſtill have, as they have had, an Intereſt in the Covenant, and a Title to the External Seal of it. Come over to Chriſt to receive thoſe ineſtimable Benefits, for the Promiſe of the Remiſſion of Sins, and the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt is to you and to your Children, v. 39. 'Twas very expreſs, Iſa. xliv. 3. I will pour my Spirit upon thy Seed. And Iſa. lix. 21. My Spirit and my Word ſhall not depart from thy Seed, and thy Seeds Seed. When GOD took Abraham into Covenant he ſaid, I will be a God to thee, and to thy Seed, Gen. xvii. 7. and accordingly every Iſraelite had his Son circumciſed at Eight Days old; Now it is proper for an Iſraelite, when he is by Baptiſm to come into a New Diſpenſation of this Covenant, to ask, What muſt be done with my Children? Muſt they be thrown out, or taken in with me? Taken in (ſaith Peter) by all means, for the Promiſe, that great Promiſe of GOD's being to you a GOD, is as much to you and to your Children now as ever it was.

4. Tho' the Promiſe is ſtill extended to your Children as it has been, yet it is not as it had been confin'd to you and them, but the Benefit of it is deſign'd for all that are afar off, we may add, and their Children, for the Bleſſing of Abraham comes upon the Gentiles, through Jeſus Chriſt, Gal. iii, 14. The Promiſe had long pertain'd to the Iſraelites, Rom. ix. 4. but now it is ſent to thoſe that are afar off, the remoteſt Nations of the Gentiles, and every one of them too, all that are afar off. To this General the following Limitation muſt refer even as many of them, as many particular Perſons in each Nation as the Lord our God ſhall call effectually into the Fellowſhip of Jeſus Chriſt. Note, GOD can make his Call to reach thoſe that are never ſo far off, and none come but whom he calls.

Thirdly, Theſe Directions are follow'd with a needful Caution, v. 40. with many other Words to the ſame Purpoſe, did he teſtify Goſpel Truths, and exhort to Goſpel Duties, now the Word began to work he follow'd it; he had ſaid much in a little, v, 38, 39. and that which one would think included all, and yet he had more to ſay. When we have heard thoſe Words which have done our Souls good, we cannot but wiſh to hear more, to hear many more ſuch Words. Among other Things he ſaid, (and it ſhould ſeem inculcated it) Save your ſelves from this untoward Generation. Be ye free from them. The unbelieving Jews were an untoward Generation, perverſe and obſtinate, they walk'd contrary to GOD and Man. 1 Theſ. ii. 15. wedded to Sin and mark'd for Ruin; now as to them,

1. Give diligence to ſave your ſelves from the Ruin, that you may not be involv'd in that, and may eſcape all thoſe Things, as the Chriſtians did, Repent and be baptized; and when you ſhall not be Sharers with them in Deſtruction, whom you have been Sharers with in Sin. O gather not my Soul with Sinners.

2. In order to this, continue not with them in their Sin, perſiſt not with them in Infidelity. Save your ſelves, that is, ſeparate your ſelves, diſtinguiſh your ſelves from this untoward Generation. Be not Rebellious like this Rebellious Houſe; partake not with them in their Sins, that you ſhare not with them in their Plagues. Note, to ſeparate our ſelves from wicked People, is the only Way to ſave our ſelves from them; tho' we thereby expoſe our ſelves to their Rage and Enmity, we really ſave our ſelves from them; for if we conſider whither they are haſtning, we ſhall ſee its better to have the Trouble of ſwimming againſt their Stream, than the danger of being carried down their Stream. Thoſe that repent of their Sins, and give up themſelves to Jeſus Chriſt, muſt evidence their Sincerity; by breaking off all intimate Society with wicked People. Depart from me ye evil doers; the Reſolution of one that determines to keep the Commandment, of his God. Pſam. cxix. 115. we muſt ſave our ſelves from them, which notes avoiding them with dread and Holy fear, as we would ſave our ſelves from an Enemy that ſeeks to deſtroy us or from a Houſe infected with the Plague.

Forthly, Here it the happy Succeſs and Iſſue of this, v. 41. The Spirit wrought with the Word and wrought Wonders by it. Theſe ſame Perſons that had many of them been Eye-witneſſes of the Death of Chriſt, and the Prodigies that attended it, and were not wrought upon by them, yet were wrought upon by the Preaching of the Word, for that's it, that is the Power of God unto Salvation.

1. They received the Word; and then only the Word doth us good when we do receive it, embrace it, and bid it welcome. They admitted the Conviction of it, and accepted the Offers of it.

2. They gladly received it. Herod heard the Word gladly, but theſe gladly receive it, were not only glad that they had it to receive, but glad that by the Grace of God they were enabled to receive it, tho' it would be a humbling changing Word to them, and would expoſe them to the Enmity of their Countrymen.

3. They were baptized; Believing with the Heart, they made Confeſſion with the Mouth, and enroll'd themſelves among the Diſciples of Chriſt, by that Sacred Rite and Ceremony which He had inſtituted. And tho' Peter had ſaid, be Baptiz'd in the Name of the Lord Jeſus, becauſe the Doctrine of Chriſt was the preſent Truth, yet we have Reaſon to think that in Baptizing them, the whole From Chriſt preſcrib'd was us'd In the Name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghoſt. Note, Thoſe that receive the Chriſtian Covenant ought to receive the Chriſtian Baptiſm.

4. Hereby were added to the Diſciples to the Number of about Three Thouſand Souls that ſame Day. All thoſe that had receiv'd the Holy Ghoſt had their Tongues at Work to preach, and their Hands at Work to baptize, for it was Time to be buſy, when ſuch a Harveſt was to be gather'd in. The Converſion of theſe Three Thouſand, with theſe Words, was a greater Work then the feeding of Four or Five Thouſand with a few Loaves. Now Iſrael began to multiply after the Death of our Joſeph. They are ſaid to be Three Thouſand Souls, which Word is generally us'd for Perſons when Woman and Children are included with Men, as Gen. xliv. 21. Give me the Souls. Gen. xlvi. 27. 70. Souls, which intimates that thoſe that were here baptiz'd, were not ſo many Men, but ſo many Heads of Families, as with their Children and Servants baptiz'd might make up Three Thouſand Souls. Theſe were added to them. Note, They who are joyned to Chriſt are added to the Diſciples of Chriſt, and joyn with them: When we take GOD for our GOD, we muſt take his People to be our People.

42 And they continued ſtedfaſtly in the apoſtles doctrine, and fellowſhip, and in breaking of bread, and and in prayers. 43 And fear came upon every Soul: and many wonders and ſigns were done by the apoſtles. 44 And all that believed were together, and had all things common, 45 And ſold their poſſeſſions and goods, and parted them to all men, as every man had need. 46 And they continuing daily with one accord in the temple, and breaking bread from houſe to houſe, did eat their meat with gladneſs and ſingleneſs of heart, 47 Praiſing God, and having favour with all the people. And the Lord added to the church daily ſuch as ſhould be ſaved.

We often ſpeak of the Primitive Church, and appeal to it, and to the Hiſtory of it; in theſe Verſes we have the Hiſtory of the truly Primitive Church, of the firſt Days of it, its State of Infancy indeed, but, like that, the State of its greateſt Innocence.

Firſt, They kept cloſe to Holy Ordinances, and abounded in all Inſtances of Piety and Devotion, for Chriſtianity admitted in the Power of it will diſpoſe the Soul to Communion with GOD in all thoſe Ways wherein he has appointed us to meet him, and promis'd to meet us.

1. They were diligent and conſtant in their Attendance upon the preaching of the Word. They continu'd in the Apoſtles Doctrine, and never diſown'd or deſerted it, or as it may be read, They continu'd conſtant to the Apoſtles Teaching, or Inſtruction. By Baptiſm they were diſcipled to be taught, and they were willing to be taught. Note, Thoſe who have given up their Names to Chriſt muſt make Conſcience of hearing his Word; for thereby we give Honour to Him, and build up our ſelves in our moſt Holy Faith.

2. They kept up the Communion of Saints: They continu'd in Fellowſhip, v. 42. and continued daily with one accord in the Temple, v. 46. They not only had a mutual Affection to each other, but a great deal of mutual Converſation with each other; they were much together. When they withdrew from the untoward Generation, they did not turn Hermites, but were very intimate with one another, and took all Occaſions to meet; wherever you ſaw one Diſciple, you ſhould ſee more, like Birds of a Father: See how theſe Chriſtians love one another. They were concern'd for one another, ſympathiz'd with one another, and heartily eſpous'd one another's Intereſt's. They had Fellowſhip with one another in religious Worſhip; they met in the Temple; there was their Rendezvouz; for Joynt-fellowſhip with GOD, is the beſt Fellowſhip we can have with one another, 1 Joh. i. 3. Obſerve, (1.) They were daily in the Temple, not only on the Days of the Sabbaths, and ſolemn Feaſts, but on other Days every Day. Worſhipping GOD is to be our daily Work, and where there is Opportunity, the oftner it is done publickly, the better. GOD loves the Gates of Zion, and ſo muſt we. (2.) They were with one accord; Not only no Diſcord or Strif, but a great deal of holy Love among them; and they heartily joyn'd in their publick Services. Tho' they met with the Jews in the Courts of the Temple, yet the Chriſtians kept together by themſelves, and were unanimous in their ſeparate Devotions.

3. They frequently joyn'd in the Ordinance of the Lord's-Supper; They continu'd in breaking of Bread, in celebrating that Memorial of their Maſter's Death, as thoſe that were not aſham'd to own their Relation to and their Dependance upon Chriſt, and him crucify'd. They could not forget the Death of Chriſt, yet they kept up this Memorial of it, and made it their conſtant Practice, becauſe it was an Inſtitution of Chriſt's to be tranſmitted to the ſucceeding Ages of the Church. They broke Bread from Houſe to Houſe; κατ' οἶκον, Houſe by Houſe, they did not think fit to celebrate the Euchariſt in the Temple, for that was peculiar to the Chriſtian Inſtitutes, and therefore they adminiſtred that Ordinance in private Houſes, chooſing ſuch Houſes of the converted Chriſtians as were convenient, to which the Neighbours reſorted; and they went from one another of theſe little Synagogues or Domeſtick Chappels, Houſes that had Churches in them, and there celebrated the Euchariſt, with thoſe that uſually met there to worſhip GOD.

4. They continued in Prayers. After the Spirit was pour'd out, as well as before while they were waiting for him, they continued inſtant in Prayer; for Prayer will never be ſuperſeded till it comes to be ſwallow'd up in everlaſting Praiſe. Breaking of Bread, comes in between the Word and Prayer, for it has a Reference to both, and is a Help to both. The Lord's-Supper is a Sermon to the Eye, and a Confirmation of GOD's Word to us; and it is an Encouragement to our Prayers, and a ſolemn Expreſſion of the Aſcent of our Souls to GOD.

5. They abounded in Thankſgiving; Were continually praiſing GOD, v. 47. That ſhould have a Part in every Prayer, and not be crouded into a Corner. They that have receiv'd the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt, will be much in Praiſe.

Secondly, They were loving one to another, and very kind; Their Charity was as eminent as their Piety, and their joyning together in Holy Ordinances knit their Hearts to each other, and very much endear'd them to one another.

1. They had frequent Meetings for Chriſtian Converſe, v. 44. All that believed were together; Not all thoſe Thouſands in one Place: That was impracticable; But, as Dr. Lightfoot explains it, they kept together in ſeveral Companies, or Congregations, according as their Languages, Nations or other References brought them, and kept them together. And this joyning together, becauſe it was a-part from thoſe that believed not, and becauſe it was in the ſame Profeſſion and Practice of the Duties of Religion, they are ſaid to be together, ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτὸ, They aſſociated together, and ſo both expreſs'd and increas'd their mutual Love.

2. They had all Things common; Perhaps, they had common Tables, as the Spartans of Old, for Familiarity, Temperence, and freedom of Converſation; they eat together, that they who had much might have the leſs, and ſo be kept from the Temptations of Abundance; and they who had little might have the more, and ſo be kept from the Temptations of Want and Poverty. Or, there was ſuch a Concern for one another, and ſuch a Readineſs to help one another as there was Occaſion, that it might be ſaid, they had all Things common, according to the Law of Friendſhip; One wanted not what Another had; for he might have it for the aſking.

3. They were very chearful, and very generous in the Uſe of what they had, Beſides the Religion that was in their ſacred Feaſts, their breaking Bread from Houſe to Houſe, a great deal of it appear'd in their common Meals; they did eat their Meat with Gladneſs and Singleneſs of Heart. They brought the Comforts of GOD's Table along with them to their own, which had two good Effects upon them: (1.) It made them very pleaſant, and enlarg'd their Hearts in holy Joy; they did eat their Bread with Joy, and drank their Wine with a merry Heart, as knowing that God now accepted their Works. None have ſuch Cauſe to be chearful as good Chriſtians have; 'tis pity but that they ſhould always have Hearts to be ſo. (2.) It made them very liberal to their poor Brethren, and enlarg'd their Hearts in Charity. They did eat their Meat with with ſingleneſs of Heart, ἐν ἀφελότητι καρδίας with Liberality of Heart; (ſo ſome) They did not eat their Morſels alone, but bid the Poor welcome to their Tables, not grudgingly, but with all the hearty Freedom imaginable. Note, It becomes Chriſtians to be open hearted, and open-handed, and in every good Work to ſow plentifully, as thoſe on whom GOD hath ſow'd plentifully, and that hope to reap ſo.

4. They raiſ'd a Fund for Charity, v. 45. They ſold their Poſſeſſions and Goods, ſome ſold their Lands and Houſes, others their Stocks and the Furniture of their Houſes and parted the Money to their Brethren, as every Man had need. This was not to deſtroy Property, (as Mr. Baxter ſaith) but Selfiſhneſs. Herein probably they had an Eye to the Command which Chriſt gave to the rich Man, as a Teſt of his Sincerity, Sell that thou haſt, and give to the Poor. Not that this was intended for and Example to be a conſtant binding Rule, as if all Chriſtians, in all Places and Ages, were bound to ſell their Eſtates, and give away the Money in Charity: for St. Paul's Epiſtles after this, often ſpeak of the Diſtinction of Rich and Poor, and Chriſt hath ſaid, that the Poor we have always with us, and ſhall have, and the Rich muſt be always doing them good out of the Rents Iſſues and Profits of their Eſtates, which they diſable themſelves to do, if they ſell them and gave them away all at once. But here the Caſe was extraordinary. (1.) They were under no Obligation of a Divine Command to do this, as appears by what Peter ſaid to Ananias, chap. v. 4. Was it not in thine own Power? But it was a very commendable Inſtance of their Raiſedneſs above the World, their Contempt of it, their Aſſurance of another World, their Love to their Brethren, their Compaſſion to the Poor, and their great Zeal for the Encouraging of Chriſtianity, and the Nurſing of it in its Infancy. The Apoſtles left all to follow Chriſt, and were to give themſelves wholly to the Word and Prayer, and ſomething muſt be done for their Maintenance; ſo that this extraordinary Liberality, was like that of Iſrael in the Wilderneſs towards the Building of the Tabernacle, which needed to be reſtrain'd, Exod. xxxvi. 5, 6. Our Rule is, To give according as GOD hath bleſſed us; yet in ſuch an extraordinary Caſe as this, thoſe are to be praiſed who give beyond their Power, 2 Cor. viii. 3. (2.) They were Jews that did this, and they who believ'd Chriſt muſt believe that the Jewiſh Nation ſhould ſhortly be deſtroy'd, and an End put to the Poſſeſſion of Eſtates and Goods in it, and in the Belief of that they ſold them for the preſent Service of Chriſt and his Church.

Thirdly, GOD own'd them, and gave them ſignal Tokens of his Preſence with them, v. 43. many Wonders and Signs were done by the Apoſtles of diverſe Sorts, which confirm'd their Doctrine, and unconteſtably prov'd that it was from GOD. They that could work Miracles, could have maintain'd themſelves and the Poor that were among them miraculouſly, as Chriſt fed Thouſands with a little Food; but it was as much for the Glory of GOD that it ſhould be done by a Miracle of Grace, inclining People to ſell their Eſtates to do it, as if it had been done by a Miracle in Nature.

But the Lord's giving them Power to work Miracles was not all he did for them, He added to the Church daily. The Word in their Mouths did wonders, and GOD bleſs'd their Endeavours for the Increaſe of the Number of Believers. Note, It is GOD's Work to add Souls to the Church; And it is a great Comfort both to Miniſters and Chriſtians to ſee it.

Fourthly, The People were influenc'd by it; they that were without, the Standers by, that were Spectators.

1. They fear'd them, and had Veneration for them, v. 43. Fear came upon every Soul, i.e. upon very many, who ſaw the Wonders and Signs done by the Apoſtles, and were afraid leſt their not being reſpected as they ſhould be, would bring Deſolation upon their Nation. The Common People ſtood in awe of them, as Herod fear'd John: Tho' they had nothing of external Pomp, to command external Reſpect, as the Scribes long Robes gain'd them the Greetings in the Market-places, yet they had Abundance Spiritual in them that was truly honourable, which poſſeſs'd Men with an inward Reverence for them. Fear came upon every Soul; the Souls of People were ſtrangely influen'd by their awful Preaching and Living.

2. They favour'd them; Tho' we have Reaſon to think, there were thoſe that deſpis'd them and hated them; we are ſure the Phariſees and Chief Prieſts did; yet far the greater Part of the Common People had a Kindneſs for them; they had favour with all the People. Chriſt was ſo violently run upon, and run down by a pack'd Mobb, which cry'd, Crucify him, crucify him; that one would think his Doctrine and Followers were never likely to have an Intereſt in the Common People any more. And yet here we find them in favour with them all; by which it appears that their Proſecuting Chriſt, was a Sort or a Force put upon them by the Artifices of the Prieſts; now they return'd to their Wits, to their right Mind. Note, Undiſſembled Piety and Charity, will command Reſpect; and Chearfulneſs in ſerving GOD, will recommend Religion to thoſe that are without. Some read it, They had Charity to all the People; χάριν ἔχοντες πρὸς ὅλον τ̃ λαὸν they did not confine their Charity to thoſe of their own Community but it was Catholick and Extenſive; and this recommended them very much.

3. They fell over to them; Some or other were daily coming in, tho' not ſo many as the firſt Day; and they were ſuch as ſhould be ſaved. Note, Thoſe that GOD has deſign'd for Eternal Salvation, ſhall one Time or other be effectually brought to Chriſt; and thoſe that are brought to Chriſt, are added to the Church in a Holy Covenant by Baptiſm, and in a Holy Communion by other Ordinances.

CHAP. III.

In this Chapter we have a Miracle and a Sermon: The Miracle wrought to make way for the Sermon, and to confirm the Doctrine that was to be preach'd, and to make way for it into Minds of the People, and then the Sermon to explain the Miracle, and to ſow the Ground which by it was broken up. (1.) The Miracle, was the Healing of a Man that was lame from his Birth, with a Word ſpeaking, v. 1—8. And the Impreſſion which this made upon the People, v. 9—11. (2.) The Scope of the Sermon which was preach'd hereupon, was to bring People to Chriſt, to repent of their Sin in crucifying him, v. 12—19. And to believe in him now he was glorified, and to comply with the Father's Deſign in glorifying him, v. 20—26. The former Part of the Diſcourſe opens the Wound, the latter applies the Remedy.

NOW Peter and John went up together into the temple, at the hour of prayer, being the ninth hour. 2. And a certain man lame from his mother's womb was carried, whom they laid daily at the gate of the temple which is called Beautiful, to ask alms of them that entred into the temple. 3 Who ſeeing Peter and John about to go into the temple, asked an alms. 4 And Peter faſtening his eyes upon him, with John, ſaid, Look on us. 5. And he gave heed unto them, expecting to receive ſomething of them. 6 Then Peter ſaid, Silver and Gold have I none; but ſuch as I have give I thee: In the name of Jeſus Chriſt of Nazareth, riſe up and walk. 7 And he took him by the right hand, and lift him up; and immediately his feet and ancle-bones received ſtrength. 8 And he leaping up, ſtood, and walked, and entred with them into the temple, walking, and leaping, and praiſing God. 9 And all the people ſaw him walking and praiſing God. 10. And they knew that it was he that ſate for alms at the Beautiful gate of the temple: and they were filled with wonder and amazement at that which had happened unto him. 11 And as the lame man which was healed, held Peter and John, all the people ran together unto them in the porch that is called Solomon's, greatly wondring.

We are told in general, chap. ii. 43. That many Signs and Wonders were done by the Apoſtles, which are not written in this Book; but here we have one given us for an Inſtance. As they wrought Miracles not upon every Body, as every Body had Occaſion for them, but as the Holy Spirit gave Direction, ſo as to anſwer the End of their Commiſſion; ſo all the Miracles they did work, are not written in this Book; but ſuch only are recorded as the Holy Ghoſt thought fit to anſwer the End of this ſacred Hiſtory.

Firſt, The Perſons by whoſe Miniſtry this Miracle was wrought, were Peter and John, Two principal Men among the Apoſtles; they were ſo in Chriſt's Time, one Speaker of the Houſe for the moſt part, the other Favourite of the Maſter; and they continue ſo; when, upon the Converſion of Thouſands, the Church was divided into ſeveral Societies, perhaps Peter and John preſided in that which Luke aſſociated with, and therefore he is more particular in recording what they ſaid and did, as afterwards what Paul ſaid and did, when he attended him: Both the one and the other being deſigned for a Specimen of what the other Apoſtles did.

Peter and John had each of them a Brother among the Twelve, with which they were coupled when they were ſent out; yet now they ſeem to be knit together more cloſely than either of them to his Brother; for the Bond of Friendſhip is ſometimes ſtronger than that of Relation; there is a Friend that ſticks cloſer than a Brother. Peter and John ſeem to have had a peculiar Intimacy after Chriſt's Reſurrection more than before, Joh. xx. 2. The Reaſon of which, (if I may have Liberty to conjecture) might be this; That John, a Diſciple made up of Love, was more compaſſionate to Peter upon his Fall and Repentance, and more tender of him in his bitter Weeping for his Sin, than any other of the Apoſtles were, and more ſollicitous to reſtore him with the Spirit of Meekneſs; which made him very dear to Peter ever after: And it was a good Evidence of Peter's Acceptance with God upon his Repentance, that Chriſt's Favourite was made his Boſom Friend: David pray'd after his Fall, Let them that fear thee turn unto me, Pſal. cxix. 79.

Secondly, The Time and Place are here ſet down:

1. It was in the Temple, whither Peter and John went up together; becauſe it was the Place of Concourſe, there were the Shoals of Fiſh, among whom the Net of the Goſpel was to be caſt, eſpecially during the Days of the Pentecoſt, within the compaſs of which we may ſuppoſe this to have happen'd. Note, 'Tis good to go up to the Temple, to attend on publick Ordinances; and it is comfortable to go up together to the Temple, I was glad when they ſaid unto me, Let us go — The beſt Society is Society in worſhipping of GOD.

2. It was at the Hour of Prayer, one of the Hours of publick Worſhip, commonly appointed and obſerv'd among the Jews; Time and Place are two neceſſary Circumſtances of every Action, which muſt be determin'd by Conſent, as is moſt convenient for Edification with Reference to publick Worſhip; There muſt be a Houſe of Prayer, and an Hour of Prayer; the ninth Hour, that is, Three a Clock in the Afternoon was one of the Hours of Prayer among the Jews: Nine in the Morning, and Twelve at Noon, were the other two. See Pſal. lv. 17. Dan. vi. 10. It is of Uſe for private Chriſtians ſo far to have their Hours of Prayer, as may ſerve, tho' not to bind yet to mind Conſcience; Every thing is beautiful in its Seaſon.

Thirdly, The Patient is here deſcrib'd, on whom this miraculous Cure was wrought, v. 2. He was a poor lame Beggar, at the Temple-Gate.

1. He was a Cripple, not by Accident ſo, but born ſo; He was lame from his Mother's Womb, as it ſhould ſeem by a paralytick Diſtemper, which weaken'd his Limbs; for it is ſaid in the Deſcription of his Cure, v. 7. That his Feet and Ancle-bones receiv'd ſtrength. Some ſuch piteous Caſes now and then there are, which we ought to be affected with, and look upon with Compaſſion; and which are deſign'd to ſhew us what we all are by Nature ſpiritually; without ſtrength, lame from our Birth, unable to work or walk in GOD's Service.

2. He was a Beggar; being unable to Work for his Living, he muſt live upon Alms; ſuch are God's Poor: He was laid daily by his Friends at one of the Gates of the Temple, a miſerable Spectacle, unable to do any thing elſe for himſelf but to ask Alms of them that enter'd into the Temple, or came out. There was a Concourſe, and a Concourſe of devout good People, from whom Charity might be expected, and a Concourſe of ſuch People when it might be hoped they were in the beſt frame, and there he was laid. Thoſe that need and cannot work, muſt not be aſham'd to beg. And he would not have been laid there, and laid daily there if he had not been us'd to meet with Supplies, daily Supplies there. Note, Our Prayers and our Alms ſhould go together; Cornelius's did Acts x. 4. Objects of Charity ſhould be in a particular manner welcome to us when we go up to the Temple to pray; 'tis pity that common Beggars at Church-doors ſhould any of them be of ſuch a Character as to diſcourage Charity; but they ought not always to be over-look'd, ſome there are ſurely that merit Regard; and better feed Ten Drones, yea, and ſome Waſps, than let One Bee ſtarve. The Gate of the Temple at which he was laid, is here nam'd, it was call'd Beautiful, for the extraordinary Splendour and Magnificence of it. Dr. Lightfoot obſerves, that this was the Gate that led out of the Court of the Gentiles into that of the Jews, and ſuppoſes that the Cripple would beg only of the Jews, as diſdaining to ask any Thing of the Gentiles. But Dr. Whitby takes it to be at the firſt Entrance into the Temple, and beautify'd ſo ſumptuouſly as became the Frontiſpiece of that Place where the Divine Majeſty vouchſafed to dwell; and it was no diminution to the Beauty of this Gate, that a poor Man lay there begging.

3. He beg'd of Peter and John, v. 3. beg'd an Alms, that was the utmoſt he expected from them, who had the Reputation of being caritable Men, and who, tho' they had not much, yet did Good with what they had. It was not many Weeks ago that the Blind and the Lame came to Chriſt in the Temple, and were heal'd there, Matth. xxi. 14. And why might not he have ask'd more than an Alms, if he new that Peter and John were Chriſt's Meſſengers, and preach'd and wrought Miracles in his Name. But he had that done for him which he look'd not for; ask'd an Alms and had a Cure.

Fourthly, We have here the Method of the Cure:

1. His Expectations were rais'd. Peter inſtead of turning his Eyes from him, as many do from Objects of Charity, turn'd his Eyes to him, nay, he faſten'd his Eyes upon him, that his Eye might affect his Heart with Compaſſion towards him, v. 4. John did ſo too, for they were both guided by one and the ſame Spirit, and concur'd in this Miracle, they ſaid Look on us. Our Eye muſt be ever towards the LORD, the Eye of our Mind, and in token of that the Eye of the Body may properly be fix'd on thoſe whom He employs as the Miniſters of his Grace. This Man needed not be bidden twice to look on the Apoſtles; for he juſtly thought this gave him Cauſe to expect that he ſhould receive ſomething from them, and therefore he gave heed to them, v. 5. Note, We muſt come to GOD both to attend on his Word, and to apply ourſelves to him in Prayer, with Hearts fix'd, and Expectations rais'd. Look up to Heaven, and expect to receive Benefit by that which GOD ſpeaks from thence, and an Anſwer of Peace to the Prayers ſent up thither. I will direct my Prayer unto Thee and will look up.

2. His Expectations of an Alms were balk'd; Peter ſaid, Silver and Gold have I none, and therefore none to give thee; yet he intimates that if he had any, he would give him an Alms, not Braſs, but Silver or Gold. Note, It is not often that Chriſt's Friends and Favourites have abundance of the Wealth of this World, the Apoſtles were very poor, had but juſt enough for themſelves, and no overplus; Peter and John had Abundance of Money laid at their Feet, but that was appropriated to the Maintenance of the Poor of the Church, and they would not convert any of it to their own Uſe, nor diſpoſe of it otherwiſe than according to the Intention of the Donors. Publick Truſts ought to be ſtrictly and faithfully obſerv'd. 2. Many that are well inclin'd to Works of Charity, yet are not in a Capacity of doing any thing conſiderable, while others that have wherewithal to do much, have not a Heart to do any thing.

3. His Expectations, notwithſtanding, were quite out done; Peter had no Money to give him; But (1.) He had that which was better, ſuch an Intereſt in Heaven, ſuch a Power from Heaven, as to be able to cure his Diſeaſe. Note, Thoſe who are poor in the World, may yet be rich, very rich in ſpiritual Gifts, Graces, and Comforts; certainly there is that we are capable of which is infinitely better than Silver and Gold; the Merchandiſe and Gain of it better, Job. xxviii. 12, &c. Prov. iii. 14, &c. (2.) He gave him that which was better, the Cure of his Diſeaſe, which he would gladly have given a great deal of Silver and Gold for, if he had had it, and it could have been ſo obtain'd. This would enable him to work for his Living, ſo that he ſhould not need to beg any more, nay, he ſhould have to give to them that needed, and it is more bleſſed to give than to receive. A miraculous Cure would be a greater Inſtance of God's Favour, and would put a greater Honour upon him, than Thouſands of Gold and Silver could. Obſerve, When Peter had no Silver and Gold to give, yet, (ſaid he) ſuch as I have give I thee. Note, Thoſe may and ought to be otherwiſe charitable and helpful to the Poor, that have not wherewithal to give in Charity; they that have not Silver and Gold, have their Limbs and Senſes, and with theſe may be ſerviceable to the Blind and Lame, and Sick, which if they be not as there is Occaſion, neither would they give to them if they had Silver and Gold. As every one has receiv'd the Gift, ſo let him miniſter it.

Let us now ſee how the Cure was wrought:

1. Chriſt ſent his Word, and healed him, Pſ. cvii. 20. for Healing Grace is given by the Word of Chriſt; that's the Vehicle of the Healing Virtue deriv'd from Chriſt. Chriſt ſpoke Cures by himſelf, the Apoſtles ſpake them in his Name. Peter bids a lame Man riſe up and walk; which would have been a Banter upon him, if he had not premis'd in the Name of Jeſus Chriſt of Nazareth; I ſay it by Warrant from him, and it ſhall be done by Power from him, and all the Glory and Praiſe of it ſhall be aſcrib'd to him. He calls Chriſt Jeſus of Nazareth, which was a Name of Reproach, to intimate, that the Indignities done him on Earth, ſerv'd but as a Foil to his Glories now he was in Heaven. Give him what Name you will, call him if you will in Scorn Jeſus of Nazareth, in that Name, you ſhall ſee Wonders done; for becauſe he humbled himſelf, thus highly was he exalted. He bids the Cripple riſe up and walk; which doth not prove that he had Power in himſelf to do it, but proves, if he attempt to riſe and walk, and in a Senſe of his own Impotency, depend upon a Divine Power to enable him to do it, he ſhall be enabled; and by riſing and walking, he muſt evidence that that Power has wrought upon him; and then let him take the Comfort, and let GOD have the Praiſe. Thus it is in the Healing of our Souls, that are ſpiritually impotent.

2. Peter lent his hand and helped him, v. 7. He took him by the Righ Hand in the ſame Name in which he had ſpoken to him to Ariſe and walk, and lift him up. Not that this could contribute any thing to his Cure, but it was a Sign, plainly intimating the Help he ſhould receive from GOD if he exerted himſelf, as he was bidden. When GOD by his Word commands us to riſe, and walk in the Way of his Commandments; if we mix Faith with that Word, and lay our Souls under the Power of it, He will give his Spirit to take us by the Hand and lift us up. If we ſet ourſelves to do what we can. GOD has promis'd his Grace to enable us to do what we cannot: And by that Promiſe we partake of a new Nature; and that Grace ſhall not be in vain; it was not here; his Feet and Ancle Bones receiv'd Strength; which they had not done, if he had not attempted to riſe, and been help'd up; he doth his Part, and Peter doth his, and yet it is Chriſt that doth all: 'tis He that puts Strength into him. As the Bread multiply'd in the Breaking, and the Water was turn'd into Wine in the Pouring out, ſo Strength was given to the Cripple's Feet in his ſtirring them, and uſing them.

Fifthly, Here's the Impreſſion which this Cure made upon the Patient himſelf, which we may beſt conceive of, if we put our Soul into his Soul's ſtead.

1. He leap'd up, in Obedience to the Command, Ariſe, He found in himſelf ſuch a Degree of Strength in his Feet and Anclebones, that he did not ſteal up fair and ſoftly, with Fear and Trembling, as weak People do when they begin to recover Strength; but he ſtarted up as One refreſh'd with Sleep, boldly, and with great Agility, and as one that queſtion'd not his own Strength. The Incomes of Strength were ſudden, and he no leſs ſudden in ſhewing them. He leap'd, as One glad to quit the Bed or Pad of Straw on which he had lain lo long lame.

2. He ſtood and walk'd; he ſtood without either leaning or trembling, ſtood ſtraight up, and walked without a ſtaff, he trod ſtrongly, and mov'd ſteddily; and this was to manifeſt the Cure, and that it was a thorough Cure. Note, Thoſe who have had Experience of the working of Divine Grace upon them, ſhould evidence what they have experienc'd. Has GOD put Strength into us, let us ſtand before him in the Exerciſes of Devotion, let us walk before him, in all the Inſtances of a religious Converſation. Let us ſtand up reſolutely for Him, and walk chearfully with Him and both in Strength deriv'd and receiv'd from Him.

3. He Held Peter and John, v. 11. We need not ask, why he held them? I believe he ſcarce knew himſelf; but it was in a Tranſport of Joy that he embrac'd them as the beſt Benefactors he ever met with, and hung upon them to a Degree of Rudeneſs; he would not let them go forward, but would have them ſtay with him while he publiſh'd to all about him, what GOD had done for him by them. Thus he teſtify'd his affection to them, he held them, and would not let them go. Some ſuggeſt, that he clung to them for fear leaſt if they ſhould leave him, his Lameneſs ſhould return. Thoſe whom GOD hath heal'd, love them whom he made Inſtruments of their Healing, and ſee the Need of their further Help.

4. He enter'd with them into the Temple. His ſtrong Affection to them held them, but it ſhould not hold them ſo faſt as to keep them out of the Temple whither they were going to preach Chriſt. We ſhould never ſuffer our ſelves to be diverted by the moſt affectionate Kindneſſes of our Friends, from going in the Way of our Duty. But if they will not ſtay with him, he is reſolv'd to go with them, and the rather, becauſe they are going into the Temple, whence he had been ſo long kept by his Weakneſs and his Begging. The impotent Man whom Chriſt cured, was preſently found in the Temple, Joh. v. 14. He went into the Temple, not only to offer up his Praiſes and Thankſgivings to God, but to hear more from the Apoſtles of that Jeſus in whoſe Name he had been heal'd. Thoſe that have experienc'd the Power of Chriſt, ſhould earneſtly deſire to grow in their Acquaintance with Chriſt.

5. He was there walking, and leaping, and praiſing God. Note, The Strength GOD has given us both in Mind and Body, ſhould be made uſe of to his Praiſe, and we ſhould ſtudy how to honour him with it: Thoſe that are heal'd in his Name, muſt walk up and down in his Name, and in his Strength, Zech. x. 12. This Man as ſoon as he could leap, leap'd for Joy in GOD, and prais'd him. Here was that Scripture fulfill'd, Iſa. xxxv. 6. Then ſhall the lame Man leap as a Hart. Now this man was newly cured he was in this Exceſs of Joy and Thankfulneſs: All true Converts walk and praiſe GOD; but perhaps young Converts leap more in his Praiſes.

Sixthly, How the People that were Eye-witneſſes of this Miracle were influenc'd by it, we are next told,

1. They were intirely ſatisfy'd in the Truth of the Miracle, and had nothing to object againſt it. They knew it was he that ſate begging at the Beautiful Gate of the Temple, v. 10. He had ſitten there ſo long, that they all knew him; and for that Reaſon he was choſen to be the Veſſel of this Mercy: Now they were not ſo perverſe as to make any Doubt whether he was the ſame Man, as the Phariſees had queſtion'd concerning the Blind Man that Chriſt cured, John iv. 11. They now ſaw him walking and praiſing God, v. 9. and perhaps took notice of a change in his Mind; for he was now as loud in praiſing GOD, as he had us'd to be in begging Relief. The beſt Evidence that it was a compleat Cure was, that he prais'd GOD for it. Mercies are then perfected when they are ſanctify'd.

2. They admir'd at it; they were fill'd with Wonder and Amazement, v. 10. Greatly wonder'd, v. 11. They were in an Extaſy, There ſeems to be this Effect of the Pouring out of the Spirit, that the People, at leaſt thoſe in Jeruſalem, were much more affected with the Miracles the Apoſtles wrought, than they had been with thoſe of the ſame Kind that had been wrought by Chriſt himſelf, and this was in Order to the Miracles anſwering their End.

3. They gather'd about Peter and John; All the People ran together unto them in Solomon's Porch. Some only to gratify their Curioſity with the Sight of Men that had ſuch Power; others with a Deſire to hear them preach, concluding, that their Doctrine muſt needs be of Divine Original, which thus had a Divine Ratification. They flock'd to Them in Solomon's Porch, a Part of the Court of the Gentiles, where Solomon had built the outer Porch of the Temple. Or, it was ſome Cloyſters or Piazzas which Herod had erected upon the ſame Foundation which Solomon had built that ſtately Porch upon, that bore his Name; Herod being ambitious herein to be a ſecond Solomon. Here the People met to ſee this great Sight.

12. And when Peter ſaw it, he anſwered unto the people, Ye men of Iſrael, why marvel ye at this? or why look ye ſo earneſtly on us, as though by our own power and holineſs we had made this man to walk? 13 The God of Abraham and of Iſaac, and of Jacob, the God of our fathers hath glorified his Son Jeſus; whom ye deliver'd up, and denied him in the preſence of Pilate, when he was determined to let him go. 14 But ye denied the holy one, and the juſt, and deſired a murderer to be granted unto you. 15 And killed the prince of life, whom God hath raiſed from the dead; whereof we are witneſſes. 16 And his name through faith in his name hath made this man ſtrong, whom ye ſee and know: yea, the faith which is by him, hath given him this perfect ſoundneſs in the preſence of you all. 17 And now brethren, I wot that through ignorance ye did it, as did alſo your rulers. 18 But thoſe things which God before had ſhewed by the mouth of all his prophets, that Chriſt ſhould ſuffer; he hath ſo fulfilled. 19 Repent ye therefore and be converted, that your ſins may be blotted out, when the times of refreſhing ſhall come from the preſence of the Lord. 20 And he ſhall ſend Jeſus Chriſt, which before was preached unto you: 21 Whom the heavens muſt receive, until the times of the reſtitution of all things, which God hath ſpoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets ſince the world began. 22 For Moſes truly ſaid unto the fathers, A prophet ſhall the Lord your God raiſe up unto you, of your brethren, like unto me; him ſhall ye hear in all things whatſoever he ſhall ſay unto you. 23. And it ſhall come to paſs, that every ſoul which will not hear that prophet, ſhall be deſtroyed from among the people. 24 Yea, and all the prophets from Samuel, and thoſe that follow after, as many as have ſpoken, have likewiſe foretold of theſe days. 25 Ye are the children of the prophets, and of the covenant which God made with our fathers, ſaying unto Abraham, And in thy ſeed ſhall all the kindreds of the earth be bleſſed. 26 Unto you firſt, God having raiſed up his Son Jeſus, ſent him to bleſs you, in turning away every one of you from his iniquities.

We have here the Sermon which Peter preach'd after he had cur'd the lame Man. When Peter ſaw it. (1.) When he ſaw the People got together in a Croud, he took that Opportunity to preach Chriſt to them, eſpecially the Temple being the Place of their Concourſe, and Solomon's Porch there, let them come and hear a more excellent Wiſdom than Solomon's, for behold a greater than Solomon is here preach'd. (2.) When he ſaw the People affected with the Miracle, and fill'd with Admiration, then he ſow'd the Goſpel Seed in the Ground, which was thus broken up and prepar'd to receive it. (3.) When he ſaw the People ready to adore him and John, he ſtept in immediately and diverted their Reſpects from them, that they might be deredted to Chriſt only; to this he anſwer'd preſently, as Paul and Barnabas at Lyſtra, ſee ch. xiv. 14. 15.

Firſt, He humbly diſclaims the Honour of the Miracle, as not due to them, who were only the Miniſters of Chriſt, or Inſtruments in his Hand for the doing of it. The Doctrines they preach'd were not of their own Invention, nor were the Seals of it their own, but his whoſe the Doctrines were. He addreſſeth himſelf to them as Men of Iſrael, Men to whom pertain'd not only the Law and the Promiſes, but the Goſpel and the Performances, and who were nearly intereſted in the preſent Diſpenſation. Two Things he ask's them,

1. Why they were ſo ſurpriz'd at the Miracles it ſelf? why marvel ye at this? 'Twas indeed marvellous, and they juſtly wonder'd at it, but it was no more than what Chriſt had done many a Time, and they had not duly regarded it, or been affected with it. 'Twas but a little before that Chriſt had rais'd Lazarus from the Dead, and why ſhould this then ſeem ſo ſtrange? Note, Stupid People think that ſtrange now which might have been familiar to them, if it had not been their own Fault. Chriſt had lately riſen from the Dead Himſelf? Why did they not marvel at that? Why were they not convinc'd by that?

2. Why they gave ſo much of the Praiſe of it to them, that were only the Inſtruments of it; Why look ye ſo earneſtly on us? (1.) It was certain, they had made this Man to walk, by which it appear'd that the Apoſtles not only were ſent of GOD, but were ſent to be Bleſſings to the World, Benefactors to Mankind, and were ſent to heal ſick and diſtemper'd Souls, that were ſpiritually lame and impotent, to ſet broken Bones, and make them rejoyce. (2.) Yet they did not do it by any Power or Holineſs of their own; 'twas not done by any Might of their own, any Skill they had in Phyſick, or Surgery, or any Virtue in their Word; the Power they did it by was wholly deriv'd from Chriſt; Nor it was it done by any Merit of their own: The Power which Chriſt gave them to do it they had not deſerv'd, 'twas not by their own Holineſs, for as they were weak Things, ſo they were fooliſh Things that Chriſt choſe to employ; Peter was a ſinful Man. What Holineſs had Judas, yet he wrought Miracles in Chriſt's Name? What Holineſs any of them had, it was wrought in them, and they could not pretend to merit by it. (3.) It was the Peoples fault that they attributed it to their Power and Holineſs, and accordingly look'd at them. Note, The Inſtruments of GOD's Favour to us, tho' they muſt be reſpected yet muſt not be idoliz'd; we muſt take heed of reckoning that to be done by the Inſtrument, which God is the Author of. (4.) It was the Praiſe of Peter and John that they would not take the Honour of this Miracle to themſelves, but carefully tranſmitted it to Chriſt. Uſeful Men muſt ſee to it that they be very humble. Not unto us, O Lord, not unto us, but to thy Name give Glory. Every Crown muſt be caſt at the Feet of Chriſt; not I, but the Grace of God with me.

Secondly, He preacheth Chriſt to them, that was his Buſineſs, that he might lead them into Obedience to Chriſt.

1. He preacheth Chriſt as the true Meſſiah, promis'd to the Fathers, v. 13. for (1.) He is Jeſus the Son of God; Tho' they had lately condemn'd Chriſt as a Blaſphemer, for ſaying he was the Son of GOD, yet Peter avows it, He is His Son Jeſus, to him dear as a Son, to us, Jeſus a Saviour. (2.) GOD hath glorified him in raiſing him up to be King, Prieſt and Prophet of his Church; he glorified him in his Life, and in his Death, as well as in his Reſurrection, and Aſcenſion. (3.) He has glorified him as the God of our Fathers, whom he names with reſpect, for they were great Names with the Men of Iſrael, and juſtly, the God of Abraham, of Iſaac and of Jacob; GOD ſent him into the World purſuant to the Promiſes made to thoſe Patriarchs, that in their Seed the Families of the Earth ſhould be bleſs'd, and the Covenant made with them that GOD would be a God to them and their Seed. The Apoſtles call the Patriarchs their Fathers, and GOD, the GOD of thoſe Patriarchs from whom the Jews were deſcended, to intimate to them that they had no evil Deſign upon the Jewiſh Nation, that they ſhould look upon them with a jealous Eye, but had a value and Concern for it, and were hereby well-wiſhers to it, and the Goſpel they preach'd was the Revelation of the Mind and Will of the GOD of Abraham. See Acts xxvi. 7, 22. Luke i. 72, 73.

2. He chargeth them flat and plain with the Murther of this Jeſus, as he had done before. (1.) You deliver'd Him up to your Chief Prieſts and Elders, the repreſentative Body of the Nation, and you of the common People were influenc'd by them, to clamour againſt him, as if he had been a publick Grievance (2.) You deny'd him, and you diſown'd him, would not have him then to be your King, could not look upon him as the Meſſiah, becauſe he came not in external Pomp and Power; you deny'd him in the preſence of Pilate, renounc'd all the Expectations of your Church in the Preſence of the Roman Governour, who juſtly laugh'd at you for it; you deny'd him againſt the Face of Pilate, ſo Dr. Hammond, in Defiance of his Reaſonings with you. Pilate had determin'd to let Him go, but the People oppos'd it, and overrul'd him. You were worſe than Pilate, for he would have releas'd Him, if you had let him follow his own Judgment. You deny'd the Holy One, and the Juſt who had approv'd himſelf ſo, and all the Malice of his Perſecutors could not diſprove it. The Holineſs and Juſtice of the Lord Jeſus, which is ſomething more than his Innocency, was a great Aggravation of the Sin of thoſe that put him to Death. (3.) You deſir'd a murtherer to be releas'd and Chriſt crucified; as if Barabbas had deſerv'd better at your Hands than the Lord Jeſus; than which a greater Affront could not be put upon him. (4.) You kill'd the Prince of Life. Obſerve the Antitheſis, you prefer'd a Murtherer, a Deſtroyer of Life; and deſtroy'd the Saviour, the Author of Life. You kill'd Him who was ſent to be to you the Prince of Life, and ſo not only forſook, but rebelled againſt your own Mercies. You did an ungrateful Thing in taking away his Life who would have been your Life. You did a fooliſh Thing, to think you could conquer the Prince of Life, who has Life in himſelf, and wou'd ſoon reſume the Life he reſign'd.

3. He atteſts his Reſurrection as before, ch. ii. 32. you thought the Prince of Life might be depriv'd of his Life as any other Prince might be depriv'd of his Dignity and Dominion, but you found your ſelves miſtaken, for God raiſed him from the Dead. So that in putting him to Death you fought againſt GOD, and were baffled. GOD raiſed him from the Dead, and thereby ratify'd his Demands, and Confirm'd his Doctrine, and roll'd away all the Reproach of His Sufferings: And for the Truth of his Reſurrection we are all Witneſſes.

4. He aſcribes the Cure of this impotent Man to the Power of Chriſt. v. 16. His Name through Faith in his Name, in that Diſcovery which he hath made of himſelf, has made this Man ſtrong. He repeats it again, The Faith which is by him hath given him this ſoundneſs. Here, (1.) He appeals to themſelves concerning the Truth of the Miracle; The Man on whom it was wrought is one whom ye ſee, and know, and have known; He was not acquainted with Peter and John before, ſo that there was no Room to ſuſpect a Compact between them, but you know him to be a Cripple from a Child. The Miracles was wrought publickly, in the preſence of you all, not in a Corner, but in the Gate of the Temple, you ſee in what Manner is was done, ſo as that there could be no Juggle in it; you had Liberty to examine it immediately, and may yet. The Cure is compleat, 'tis a perfect ſoundneſs, you ſee the Man walks and leaps, as one that has no Remainder either of Weakneſs or Pain.

(2.) He acquaints them with the Power by which it was wrought. (1.) It is done by the Name of Chriſt, not meerly by naming it as a Spell or Charm, but it is done by us Profeſſors and Preachers of His Name, by virtue of a Commiſſion, and Inſtruction we have received from him, and a Power which he has inveſted us with., That Name which Chriſt has above every Name, His Authority, His Command has done it, as Writs run in the King's Name tho' 'tis an inferiour Officer that executes them. (2.) The Power of Chriſt is fetch'd in through Faith in his Name, a Confidence in Him, a Dependance on him, a believing Application to Him, and Expectation from Him, even that Faith which is δι' αὐτȣ̃ be him, which is of His Working, 'tis not of our ſelves, 'tis the Gift of Chriſt: And it is for his Sake, that He may have the Glory of it, for He is both the Author and Finiſher of our Faith. Dr. Lightfoot ſuggeſts, that Faith is twice nam'd in this Verſe, becauſe of the Apoſtles Faith in doing this Miracle, and the Cripple's Faith in receiving it; But I ſuppoſe it relates chiefly, if not only, to the former. They that wrought this Miracle by Faith derived Power from Chriſt to work it and therefore return'd all the Glory to Him. By this true and juſt Account of the Miracle, Peter both confirm'd the great Goſpel Truth they were to preach to the World, That Jeſus Chriſt is the Fountain of all Power and Grace, and the great Healer and Saviour; And recommended the great Goſpel Duty of Faith in Him, as the only Way of receiving Benefit by him; It explains likewiſe the great Goſpel Myſtery of our Salvation by Chriſt. 'Tis His Name that juſtifies us; that glorious Name of His, The Lord our Righteouſneſs, but we in particular are juſtified by that Name through Faith in it applying it to our ſelves. Thus doth Peter preach unto them Jeſus and Him crucified, as a faithful Friend of the Bridegroom, to whoſe Service and Honour he devoted all his Intereſt.

Thirdly, He encourageth them to hope that tho' they had been guilty of putting Chriſt to Death, yet they might find Mercy; He doth all he can to convince them, yet is careful not to drive them to Deſpair. The Guilt was very great, but

1. He mollifies their Crime by a candid Imputation of it to their Ignorance. Perhaps he perceiv'd by the Countenance of his Hearers, that they were ſtruck with an exceeding Horror, when he told them that they had killed the Prince of Life, and were ready either to ſink down or to fly off, and therefore he ſaw it needful to mitigate the Rigour of the Charge by calling them Brethren; and well might he call them ſo, for he had been himſelf a Brother with them in this Inquity; He had deny'd the Holy One and the Juſt, and ſwore he did not know Him; he did it by Surprize, and for your Parts I know, that through Ignorance ye did it, as did alſo your Rulers, v. 17. This was the Language of Peter's Charity, and teacheth us to make the beſt of thoſe whom we deſire to make better. Peter had ſearch'd the Wound to the Bottom, and now he begins to think of healing it up, in order to which 'tis neceſſary to beget in them a good Opinion of their Phyſician, and could any Thing be more winning than this? And that which bears him out in it, is that he has the Example of his Maſter's Praying for his Crucifiers, and pleading in their behalf, that they knew not what they did. And it is ſaid of the Rulers, that if they had known, they would not have crucify'd the Lord of Glory, ſee 1 Cor. ii. 8. Perhaps ſome of the Rulers, and of the People did therein rebell againſt the Light, and the Convictions of their own Conſciences, and did it through Malice: But the Generality went down the Stream, and did it through Ignorance; as Paul perſecuted the Church, ignorantly and in unbelief, 1 Tim. i. 13.

2. He mollifies the Effect of their Crime, the Death of the Prince of Life; this ſounds very dreadful, But it was according to the Scriptures, v. 18. the Predictions of which, tho' they did not neceſſitate their Sin, yet did neceſſitate his Sufferings; ſo he himſelf ſaith, Thus it is written, and thus it behoved Chriſt to ſuffer. You did it through Ignorance may be taken in this Senſe, you fulfilled the Scripture and did not know it; God by our Hands hath fulfilled what he ſhew'd by the Mouth of all his Prophets, that Chriſt ſhould ſuffer, that was his Deſign, in delivering him up to you, but you had Views of you own, and were altogether ignorant of that Deſign, you meant not ſo, neither did your Heart think ſo: GOD was fulfilling the Scripture when you were Gratifying your own Paſſions, Obſerve, it was not only determin'd in the ſecret Counſel of GOD, but declar'd to the World many Ages before, by the Mouth and Pen of the Prophets, that Chriſt ſhould ſuffer in order to the Accompliſhment of his Undertaking; And it was GOD himſelf that ſhow'd it by them, who will ſee that his Words be made good; what he ſhew'd he fulfill'd, he ſo fulfilled, ſo as he had ſhew'd punctually, and exactly without any Variation; Now tho' this is no Extenuation at all of their Sin in hating and perſecuting Chriſt to the Death, that ſtill appears exceeding ſinful; yet it was an Encouragement to them to repent and hope for Mercy upon their Repentance; not only becauſe in general GOD's gracious Deſigns were carried on by it; (and thus it agrees with the Encouragement Joſeph gave to his Brethren, when they thought their Offence againſt him almoſt unpardonable, Fear not ſaith he, you thought evil againſt me, but God meant it unto good, Gen. l. 15, 20.) but becauſe in particular the Death and Sufferings of Chriſt were for the Remiſſion of Sins, and the Ground of that Diſplay of Mercy he now encourag'd them to hope for.

Fouthly, He exhorts them all to turn Chriſtians, and aſſures them it would be unſpeakably for their Advantage to do ſo; 'Twould be the Making of them for ever. This is the Application of his Sermon.

1. He tells them what they muſt believe.

1. They muſt believe that Jeſus Chriſt is the Promiſed Seed, That Seed in which GOD had told Abraham, that all the Kindreds of the Earth ſhould be bleſs'd, v. 25. This refers to that Promiſe made to Abraham, Gen. xii. 3. which Promiſe was long ere it was fulfill'd, but now at length had its Accompliſhment, in this Jeſus who was of the Seed of Abraham according to the Fleſh, and in him all the Families of the Earth are bleſſed, and not the Families of Iſrael only; All have ſome Benefits by him, and ſome have all Benefits

2. They muſt believe that Jeſus Chriſt is a Prophet, that Prophet like unto Moſes which God had promis'd to raiſe up to them from among their Bretbern, v. 22. This refers to that Promiſe Deut. xviii. 18. Chriſt is a Prophet, for by him GOD ſpeaks unto us; in Him all Divine Revelation centers, and by him it is handed to us; He is a Prophet like unto Moſes; a Favourite of Heaven, more intimately acquainted with the Divine Counſel, and more familiarly convers'd with than any other Prophets. He was a Deliverer of his People out of Bondage, and their Guide through the Wilderneſs like Moſes, a Prince, and a Lawgiver like Moſes; The Builder of the True Tabernacle, as Moſes was of the Typical One; Moſes was Faithful as a Servant, Chriſt as a Son: Moſes was murmur'd againſt by Iſrael, defy'd by Pharaoh, yet GOD own'd him, and ratified his Commiſſion. Moſes was a Pattern of Meekneſs and Patience, ſo is Chriſt. Moſes dy'd by the Word of the Lord, ſo did Chriſt. There was no Prophet like unto Moſes, Num. xii. 6, 7. Deut. xxxiv. 12. but a greater than Moſes is here where Chriſt is. He is a Prophet of GOD's raiſing up, for He took not this Honour of himſelf, but was called of God to it. He was raiſed up unto Iſrael in the firſt Place, He executed this Office in his own Perſon, among them only, they had the firſt Offer of Divine Grace made to them. And therefore he was rais'd up from among them, of them as concerning the Fleſh Chriſt came, which as it was a great Honour done to them, ſo it was both an Obligation upon them, and an Encouragement to them to embrace him. If he come to his own, one would think they ſhould receive him. The Old Teſtament Church was bleſs'd with many Prophets, with Schools of Prophets, for many Ages with a conſtant Succeſſion of Prophets, (which is here taken notice of, from Samuel and thoſe that follow after, v. 24. for from him the prophetick Æra did commence) but thoſe Servants being abus'd, laſt of all GOD ſent them his Son, who had been in his Boſom.

3. They muſt believe that Times of refreſhing will come from the preſence of the Lord, v. 19. and that they will be the Times of the reſtitution of all Things, v. 21. There is a future State; another Life after this; Thoſe Times will come from the Preſence of the Lord; from his glorious Appearance at that Day, his coming at the End of Time. The Abſence of the Lord occaſions many of the Securities of Sinners, and the Diſtruſts of Saints, but his Preſence is haſtning on, which will for ever ſilence both; Behold, the Judge ſtandeth before the Door. The Preſence of the Lord will introduce (1.) The Reſtitution of all Things, v. 21. The new Heavens, and the new Earth, which will be the Product of the Diſſolution of all Things, Rom. xxi. 1. the Renovation of the whole Creation, which is that which it grieves after, as its preſent Burthern under Sin of Man is that which it groans under. Some underſtand this of a State on this ſide the End of Time; but its rather to be underſtood of that End of all Things which GOD hath ſpoken of by the Mouth of all his Holy Prophets ſince the World began; for this is that which Enoch the Seventh from Adam propheſy'd of, Jude xiv. and the temporal Judgments which the other Prophets foretold were typical of that which the Apoſtle calls the Eternal Judgment. This is more clearly and plainly reveal'd in the New Teſtament than it had been before, and all that receive the Goſpel have an Expectation of it. (2.) With this will come the Times of refreſhing, v. 19. of Conſolation to the Lord's People, like a cool Shade to thoſe that have born the Burthern and Heat of the Day; All Chriſtians look for a Reſt that remains for the People of God after the Travels and Toyls of their preſent State, and with the Proſpect of that they are born up under their preſent Sufferings, and carried on in their preſent Services. The Refreſhing that then comes from the preſence of the Lord will continue eternally in the Preſence of the Lord.

2. He tells them what they muſt do.

1. They muſt repent, muſt bethink themſelves of what they have done amiſs, muſt return to their right Mind, admit a ſecond Thought, and ſubmit to the Convictions of it; they muſt begin a-new. Peter who had himſelf deny'd Chriſt, repented, and he would have them to do ſo too.

2. They muſt be converted, muſt face about and direct both their Faces and Steps the contrary Way to what they had been; they muſt return to the Lord their God from whom they had revolted. It is not enough to repent of Sin, but we muſt be converted from it, and not return to it again. They muſt not only exchange the Profeſſion of Judaiſm for that of Chriſtianity, but the Power and Dominion of a carnal worldly ſenſual Mind, for that of Holy, Heavenly, and Divine Principles and Affections.

3. They muſt hear Chriſt the great Prophet; Him ſhall ye hear in all Things whatſoever he ſhall ſay unto you. Attend his Dictates, receive his Doctrine, ſubmit to his Government. Hear Him with a Divine Faith, as Prophets ſhould be heard that come with a Divine Commiſſion. Him ſhall ye hear, and to him you ſhall ſubſcribe with an implicit Faith and Obedience. Hear Him in all Things, let his Laws govern all your Actions, and his Counſels determine all your Submiſſions. Whenever he has a Mouth to ſpeak, you muſt have an Ear to hear. Whatever he ſaith to us tho' never ſo diſpleaſing to Fleſh and Blood, bid it Welcome; ſpeak, Lord, for thy Servant hears.

And a good Reaſon is here given why we ſhould be obſervant of, and obedient to the Word of Chriſt, for it is at our Peril if we turn a deaf Ear to his Call, and a ſtiff Neck to his Yoke; v. 23. every Soul which will not hear that Prophet, and be directed by what he ſaith, ſhall be deſtroy'd from among the People. The Deſtruction of the City and Nation, by War and Famine were threaten'd for ſlighting the Prophets of the Old Teſtament, but the Deſtruction of the Soul, a Spiritual and Eternal Deſtruction is threaten'd for ſlighting Chriſt this great Prophet. They that will not be adviſ'd by the Saviour, can expect no other but to fall into the Hands of the Deſtroyer.

3. He tells them what they might expect.

1. That they ſhould have the Pardon of their Sins; This is always ſpoken of as the great Privilege of all thoſe that Embrace the Goſpel. v. 19. Repent and be converted, that your Sins may be blotted out. This implies (1) That the Remiſſion of Sin is the blotting of it out, as a Cloud is blotted out by the Beams of the Sun, Iſa. xliv. 22. as a Debt is croſs'd and blotted out when it is remitted. It intimates that when GOD forgives Sin he remembers it no more againſt the Sinner; 'tis forgotten as that which is blotted out. All the bitter Things written againſt the Sinner (Job. xiii. 26.) are wip'd out as it were with a Spunge; 'tis the Cancelling of a Bond, the Vacating of a Judgment. (2.) We cannot expect that our Sins ſhould be pardon'd, unleſs we repent of them, and turn from them to GOD. Tho' Chriſt has dy'd to purchaſe the Remiſſion of Sin, yet that we may have the Benefit of that Purchaſe in the Forgiveneſs of our Sins, we muſt repent and be converted: If no Repentance, no Remiſſion. (3.) Hopes of the Pardon of Sin and Repentance ſhould be a powerful Inducement to us to repent. Repent that your Sins may be blotted out: And that Repentance is Evangelical which flows from an Apprehenſion of the Mercy of GOD in Chriſt, and the Hopes of Pardon; This was the firſt and great Argument, Repent for the Kngdom of Heaven is at hand. (4.) The moſt comfortable Fruit of the Forgiveneſs of our Sins will be when the times of refreſhing ſhall come; If our Sins be forgiven us we have now Reaſon to be of good Chear, but the Comfort will be compleat, when the Pardon ſhall be allow'd in open Court, and our Juſtification publiſh'd before Angels and Men; when whom he juſtified, them he glorifies, Rom. viii. 30. As now we are the Sons of God. (1 John iii. 2.) ſo, now we have our Sins blotted out, but it doth not yet appear what are the bleſſed Fruits of it, till the Times of refreſhing ſhall come. During theſe times of Toil and Conflicts, Doubts and Fears within, Troubles and Dangers without, we cannot have that full Satisfaction of our Pardon, and in it, that we ſhall have when the refreſhing Times come, which ſhall wipe away all Tears.

2. That they ſhould have the Comfort of Chriſt's Coming, v. 20, 21. He ſhall ſend Jeſus Chriſt, the ſame Jeſus, the very ſame which before was preached unto you; for you muſt not expect another Diſpenſation, another Goſpel, but the Continuance and Completion of this, muſt not expect another Prophet like unto Jeſus, as Moſes bid you expect another like unto him, for tho' the Heavens muſt receive him till the times of the reſtitution of all things, yet if you repent and be converted you ſhall find no Want of Him; ſome way or other he ſhall be ſeen to you.

1. We muſt not expect Chriſt's Perſonal Preſence with us in this World; for the Heavens which receiv'd him out of the Sight of the Diſciples muſt retain him till the End of Time. To that Seat of the Bleſſed His Bodily Preſence is confin'd, and will be to the End of Time, the Accompliſhment of all things; ſo it may be read. And therefore thoſe diſhonour him, and deceive themſelves, who dream of his corporal Preſence in the Eucharist. 'Tis agreeable to a State of Tryal and Probation that the Glorified Redeemer ſhould be out of Sight becauſe we muſt live by that Faith in him which is the Evidence of Things not ſeen, becauſe He muſt be Believ'd on in the World, he muſt be receiv'd up into Glory. Dr. Hammond reads it, who muſt receive the Heavens, i. e. who muſt receive the Glory and Power of the upper World, he muſt reign till all be made ſubject to him, 1 Cor. xv. 25. Pſal. lxxv. 2.

2. Yet it is promiſ'd that he ſhall be ſent to all that repent and are converted, v. 20. He ſhall ſend Jeſus Chriſt who was preached to you by his Diſciples both before and ſince his Reſurrection and is, and will be all in all to them. (1.) You ſhall have his ſpiritual Preſence; He that is ſent into the World ſhall be ſent to you, you ſhall have the Comfort of His being ſent; he ſhall be ſent among you in his Goſpel, which ſhall be his Tabernacle, his Chariot of War.

(2.) He ſhall ſend Jeſus Chriſt to deſtroy Jeruſalem and the Nation of unbelieving Jews, that are Enemies to Chriſt and Chriſtianity, and to deliver his Miniſters and People from them, and give them a quiet Profeſſion of the Goſpel, and that ſhall be a Time of refreſhing, which you ſhall ſhare in. Then had the Churches reſt. So Dr. Hammond. (3.) The Sending of Chriſt to judge the World at the End of Time will be a Bleſſing to you, you ſhall then lift up your Heads with Joy, knowing that your Redemption draws nigh. It ſeems to refer to this, for till then the Heavens muſt receive Him. v. 21. As GOD's Counſels from Eternity, ſo his Predictions from the Beginning of Time, had a Reference to the Tranſactions of the laſt Day, when the Myſtery of God ſhall be finiſhed, as he had declar'd to his Servants the Prophets, Rev. x. 7. The Inſtitution of all Things in the Church, had an Eye to the Reſtitution of all things at the End of Time.

4. He tells them what Ground they had to expect theſe Things, if they were converted to Chriſt. Tho' they had deny'd him, and put him to Death, yet they might hope to find Favour through him upon the Account of their being Iſraelites; For,

1. As Iſraelites, they had the Monopoly of the Grace of the Old Teſtament, they were above any other of GOD's Favourite Nation, and the Favours GOD beſtow'd upon them were ſuch as had a Reference to the Meſſiah and his Kingdom. Ye are the Children of the Prophets and of the Covenant. A double Privilege.

(1.) They were the Children, that is, the Diſciples of the Prophets, as Children at School; not Sons of the Prophets in the Senſe that we read of ſuch in the Old Teſtament from Samuel and downwards who were, or are train'd up to be endu'd with the Spirit of Prophecy; But you are of that People, from among whom Prophets were raiſ'd up, and to whom Prophets were ſent; it is ſpoken of as a great Favour to Iſrael, that God raiſ'd up of their Sons for Prophets, Amos ii. 11. All the inſpir'd Writers both of the Old and New Teſtament were of the Seed of Abraham; And it was their Honour and Advantage, that unto them were committed the oracles of God, Rom. iii. 2. Their Government was conſtituted by Prophecy, that is, by Divine Revelation, and by it their Affairs were for many Ages very much manag'd, See Hoſ. xii. 13. By a Prophet the Lord brought Iſrael out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was he preſerv'd. Thoſe of the latter Ages of the Church, when Prophecy was ceas'd, yet might be fitly call'd the Children of the Prophets, becauſe they heard, tho' they did not know the Voices of the Prophets which were read in their Synagogues every Sabbath-Day, Acts xiii. 27. Now this ſhould quicken them to embrace Chriſt, and they might hope to be accepted of Him; for their own Prophets had foretold that this Grace ſhould be brought unto them at the Revelation of Jeſus Chriſt, 1 Pet. i. 13. and therefore ought not to be neglected by them, nor ſhould be deny'd to them. Thoſe that are bleſſed with Prophets and Prophecy, as all are that have the Scriptures, are concern'd, not to receive the Grace of God therein in vain; we may apply it particularly to Miniſters Children, who if they plead that effectually with themſelves, as an Inducement to be faithful and forward in Religion, may comfortably plead it with GOD, and hope that the Children of God's Servants ſhall continue.

(2.) They were the Children, that is, the Heirs of the covenant which God made with our Fathers, as Children in the Family. God's Covenant was made with Abraham and his Seed, and they were that Seed, with whom the Covenant was made and on whom the Bleſſings of the Covenant were entail'd; The Promiſe of the Meſſiah was made to you, and therefore if you forſake not your own Mercies, and do not by an obſtinate Infidelity put a Bar in your own Door, you may hope it ſhall be made good to you. That Promiſe here mention'd as the principal Article of the Covenant, In thy Seed ſhall all the Kindreds of the Earth be bleſſed, tho' referring principally to Chriſt, Gal. iii. 16. yet may include the Church alſo, which is his Body, all Believers that are the Spiritual Seed of Abraham, all the Kindreds of the Earth were bleſſed in having a Church for Chriſt among them; and thoſe that were the Seed of Abraham according to the Fleſh, ſtood faireſt for this Privilege; If all the Kindreds of the Earth were to be bleſſed in Chriſt, much more that Kindred, his Kinſmen according to the Fleſh.

2. As Iſraelites they had the firſt Offer of the Grace of the New-Teſtament. Becauſe they were the Children of the Prophets, and the Covenant, therefore to them the Redeemer was firſt ſent, which was an Encouragement to them to hope, that if they did repent and were converted, he ſhould be yet further ſent for their Comfort, v. 20. he ſhall ſend Jeſus Chriſt; for to you firſt he hath ſent him, v. 26. unto you firſt, you Jews, tho' not to you only, God having raiſed up his Son Jeſus, appointed and authoriz'd him to be a Prince and a Saviour, and in Confirmation of that raiſed him from the Dead, ſent him to bleſs you, to make a Tender of his Bleſſing to you, eſpecially that great Bleſſing of turning every one of you from his Iniquities, and therefore it concerns you to receive this bleſſing, and turn from your Iniquities, and you may be encourag'd to hope that you ſhall.

1. We are here told whence Chriſt had his Miſſion; God raiſed up his Son Jeſus and ſent him. God raiſ'd him up when he conſtituted him a Prophet, own'd him by a Voice from Heaven, and fill'd him with his Spirit without Meaſure, and then ſent Him; for to that end he raiſed him up, that he might be his Commiſſioner to treat of Peace. He ſent him to bear Witneſs of the Truth, ſent him to ſeek and ſave loſt Souls, ſent him againſt his Enemies to conquer them: Some refer the Raiſing of him up to the Reſurrection, which was the firſt ſtep towards his Exaltation; That was as it were the renewing of his Commiſſion; and tho' having raiſed him up he ſeemed preſently to take him from us, yet he did really ſend him afreſh to us, in his Goſpel and Spirit.

2. To whom he was ſent; unto You firſt: You of the Seed of Abraham, you that are the Children of the Prophets and of the Covenant, to you is the Tender made of Goſpel Grace. The perſonal Miniſtry of Chriſt, as that of the Prophets was confin'd to the Jews, He was not then ſent but to the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael, and forbid the Diſciples he then ſent forth to go any further; After his Reſurrection he was to be preached indeed to all Nations, but they muſt begin at Jeruſalem, Luke xxiv. 47. And when they went to other Nations they firſt preached to the Jews they found therein. They were the firſt born, and as ſuch had the firſt Privilege of the Offer; ſo far were they from being excluded for their putting of Chriſt to Death, that when he is riſen he is firſt ſent to them, and they are primarily intended to have Benefit by his Death.

3. On what Errand he was ſent; He is ſent to you firſt to bleſs you, that's His primary Errand, not to condemn you as you deſerve, but to juſtify you, if you will accept of the Juſtification offer'd you in the Way wherein it is offer'd; But he that ſends him firſt to bleſs you, if you refuſe and reject that Bleſſing, will ſend him to curſe you with a Curſe, Mal. iv. 6. Note, 1. Chriſt's Errand into the World was to bleſs us, to bring a Bleſſing with him, for the Sun of Righteouſneſs roſe with Healing under his Wings: And when he left the World, he left a Bleſſing behind him, for he was parted from the Diſciples as he bleſſed them, Luke xxiv. 51. He ſent his Spirit to be the great Bleſſing, the Bleſſing of Bleſſings, Iſa. xlvi. 3. 'Tis by Chriſt that GOD ſends Bleſſings to us, and through Him only we can expect to receive them. 2. The great Bleſſing wherewith Chriſt came to bleſs us was the turning of us away from our Iniquities; the ſaving of us from our Sins, Mat. i. 21. to turn us from Sin, that we may be qualified to receive all other Bleſſings; Sin is that which naturally we cleave to, the Deſign of Divine Grace is to turn us from it, nay to turn us againſt it, that we may not only forſake it, but hate it; The Goſpel has a direct Tendency to it, not only as it requires us, or every one of us to turn from our Iniquities, but as it promiſeth us Grace to enable us to do ſo. Therefore do your Part, repent and be converted becauſe Chriſt is ready to do His, in turning you from your Iniquities, and ſo bleſſing you.

CHAP. IV.

In going over the two laſt Chapters, where we met with ſo many good Things that the Apoſtles did; I wonder'd what was become of the Scribes and Phariſees, and chief Prieſts, that they did not appear to contradict and oppoſe them, as they had us'd to treat Chriſt himſelf; ſure they were ſo confounded at firſt with the Pouring out of the Spirit, that they were for a Time ſtruck dumb: But I find we have not loſt them; their Forces rally again, and here we have an Encounter between them and the Apoſtles, for from the Beginning the Goſpel met with Oppoſition. Here (1.) Peter and John are taken up upon a Warrant from the Prieſts, and committed to Jail, v. 1—4. (2.) They are examin'd by a Committee of the Great Sanhedrin, v. 5—7. (3.) They bravely avow what they have done, and preach Chriſt to their Perſecutors, v. 8—12. (4.) Their Perſecutors being unable to anſwer them, enjoin them Silence, threaten them if they go on to preach the Goſpel, and ſo diſmiſs them, v. 13—22. (5.) They apply themſelves to GOD by Prayer for the further Operations of that Grace which they had already experienc'd, v. 32—30. (6.) GOD owns them both outwardly and inwardly, by manifeſt Tokens of his Preſence with them, v. 31—33. (7.) The Believers had their Hearts knit together in Holy Love, and enlarg'd their Charity to the Poor, and the Church flouriſh'd more than ever. To the Glory of Chriſt, v. 33, 34—37.

AND as they ſpake unto the people, the prieſts and the captain of the temple, and the Sadducees came upon them; 2 Being grieved that they taught the people, and preached through Jeſus the reſurrection from the dead. 3 And they laid hands on them, and put them in hold unto the next day: for it was now even-tide. 4 Howbeit, many of them which heard the word, believed; and the number of the men was about five thouſand.

We have here the Intereſts of the Kingdom of Heaven ſucceſfully carry'd on, and the Powers of Darkneſs appearing againſt them to put a Stop to them. Let Chriſt's Servants be never ſo reſolute, Satan's Agents will be ſpiteful; and therefore let Satan's Agents be never ſo ſpiteful, Chriſt's Servants ought to be reſolute.

Firſt, The Apoſtles Peter and John went on in their Work, and did not labour in vain. The Spirit enabled the Miniſters to do their Part, and the People theirs.

1. The Preachers faithfully deliver'd the Doctrine of Chriſt; They ſpake unto the People, to all that were within Hearing, v. 1. What they ſaid concern'd them all, and they ſpoke it openly and publickly. They taught the People, ſtill taught the People Knowledge; taught thoſe that as yet did not believe, for their Conviction and Converſion; and taught thoſe that did believe, for their Comfort and Eſtabliſhment: They preached through Jeſus the Reſurrection from the Dead. This Doctrine of the Reſurrection of the Dead, (1.) was verify'd in Jeſus; this they proved, that Jeſus Chriſt was riſen from the Dead, was the firſt, the Chief that ſhould riſe from the Dead, Acts xxvi. 23. They preach'd the Reſurrection of Chriſt, as their Warrant for what they did Or, (2.) 'Tis ſecur'd by him to all Believers. The Reſurrection of the Dead, includes all the Happineſs of the future State, this they preach'd through Jeſus Chriſt attainable through him, (Phil. iii. 10, 11.) and through him only. They meddled not with Matters of State, but kept to their Buſineſs, and preach'd to People Heaven as their End, and Chriſt as their Way. See Acts xvii. 18.

2. The Hearers chearfully receive it, v. 4. Many of them which heard the Word believed: Not all, perhaps not the moſt, yet many, to the Number of about Five Thouſand, over and above the Three Thouſand, we read of before. See how the Goſpel got Ground, and it was the Effect of the Pouring out of the Spirit. Tho' the Preachers were perſecuted, the Word prevail'd; for ſometimes the Church's ſuffering Days, have been her growing Days, the Days of her Infancy were ſo.

Secondly, The Chief Prieſts and their Party, now made Head againſt them, and did what they could to cruſh them; their Hands were ty'd a while, but their Hearts were not in the leaſt chang'd. Now here Obſerve,

1. Who they were that appear'd againſt the Apoſtles; they were the Prieſts; you may be ſure in the firſt Place, they were always ſworn Enemies to Chriſt and his Goſpel; they were as jealous for their Prieſthood, as Cæſar for his Monarchy, and would not bear One they thought their Rival now when he was preach'd as a Prieſt, as much as when he did preach as a Prophet. With them joyn'd the Captain of the Temple, who 'tis ſuppos'd was a Roman Officer, Governour of the Garriſon that was plac'd in the Tower of Antonia, for the Guard of the Temple: So that ſtill here were both Jews and Gentiles confederate againſt Chriſt. The Sadducees alſo were zealous againſt them, who deny'd the Being of Spirits and the future State. “One would wonder (ſaith “Mr. Baxter) what ſhould make ſuch Brutiſts as the Sadducees “were to be ſuch furious Silencers and Perſecutors; if there's “no Life to come, what harm can other Mens Hopes of it do “them? But in deprav'd Souls all Faculties are vitiated: A “blind Mind has a malignant Heart and a cruel Hand to this “Day”

2. How they ſtood effected to the Apoſtles Preaching; they were grieved that they taught the People, v. 2. It griev'd them both that the Goſpel Doctrine was preach'd, was ſo preach'd ſo publickly, ſo boldly, and that the People were ſo ready to here it. They thought when they had put Chriſt to ſuch an ignominious Death, his Diſciples would ever after be aſham'd and afraid to own him, and the People would have invincible Prejudices againſt his Doctrine; and now it vex'd them to ſee themſelves diſappointed, and that his Goſpel gets Ground, inſtead of loſing it. The wicked ſhall ſee it and be grieved; Pſal. cxii. ult. They were griev'd at that which they ſhould have rejoyc'd in, at that which Angels rejoyce in. Miſerable is their Caſe to whom the Glory of Chriſt's Kingdom is a Grief; for ſince the Glory of that Kingdom is everlaſting it follows of Courſe, that their Grief will be everlaſting too. It griev'd them that the Apoſtles preach'd through Jeſus the Reſurrection from the Dead. The Sadducees, were griev'd that the Reſurrection from the Dead, was preach'd; for they oppos'd that Doctrine, and could not bear to hear of a future State, to hear it ſo well atteſted: The Chief Prieſts were grieved that they preach'd the Reſurrection of the Dead through Jeſus, that he ſhould have the Honour of it; and tho' they profeſs'd to believe the Reſurrection of the Dead, againſt the Sadducees, yet they would rather give up that important Article, than have it preach'd and prov'd to be through Jeſus.

3. How far they proceeded againſt the Apoſtles, v. 3. They laid Hands on them (that is, their Servants and Officers did at their Command) and put them in Hold, committed them to the Cuſtody of the proper Officer unto the next Day; they could not examine them now, for it was Even-tide, and yet would defer it no longer than till next Day. See how GOD trains up his Servants to Sufferings by Degrees, and by leſſer Trials prepares them for a greater; now they reſiſt unto Bonds only, but afterwards to Blood.

5 And it came to paſs on the morrow, that their rulers, and elders, and ſcribes, 6 And Ananias the high prieſt, and Caiaphas, and John, and Alexander, and as many as were of the kindred of the high prieſt, were gathered together at Jeruſalem. 7 And when they had ſet them in the midſt, they asked, By what power, or by what name have ye done this? 8 Then Peter filled with the holy Ghoſt, ſaid unto them Ye rulers of the people, and elders of Iſrael, 9 If we this day be examined of the good deed done to the impotent man, by what means he is made whole; 10 Be it known unto you all, and to all the people of Iſrael, that by the name of Jeſus Chriſt of Nazareth, whom ye crucified, whom God raiſed from the Dead, even by him doth this man ſtand here before you whole. 11 This is the ſtone that was ſet at nought of you builders, which is become the head of the corner. 12 Neither is there ſalvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we muſt be ſaved.

13 Now when they ſaw the boldneſs of Peter and John, and perceiv'd that they were unlearned and ignorant men, they marvelled, and they took knowledge of them, that they had been with Jeſus. 14 And beholding the man which was healed ſtanding with them, they could ſay nothing againſt it.

We have here the Trial of Peter and John before the Judges of the Eccleſiaſtical Court for preaching a Sermon concerning Jeſus Chriſt, and working a Miracle in his Name. This is charg'd upon them as a Crime, which was the beſt Service they could do to GOD or Men.

1. Here's the Court ſet; An extraordinary Court: It ſhould ſeem was call'd on purpoſe upon this Occaſion. Obſerve,

1. The Time when the Court ſate, v. 5, On the morrow, not in the Night, as when Chriſt was to be try'd before them, for they ſeem not to have been ſo hot upon this Proſecution as they were upon that; 'twas well if they began to relent: But they adjourned it to the Morrow and no longer, for they were impatient to get them ſilenc'd, and would loſe no time.

2. The Place where, in Jeruſalem, v. 6. there it was that he told his Diſciples they muſt expect to Suffer hard Things, as he had done before them in that Place. This ſeems to come in here as an Aggravation of their Sin, that in Jeruſalem where there were ſo many that looked for Redemption before it came, yet there were more that would not look upon it when it did come. How is that faithful City become a Harlot. See Matth. xxiii. 37. 'Twas in the Foreſight of Jeruſalem's, ſtanding in her own Light, that Chriſt beheld the City and wept over it.

3. The Judges of the Court. (1.) Their general Character, they were Rulers, Elders, and Scribes, v. 5. The Scribes were Men of Learning who came to diſpute with the Apoſtles, and hoped to confute them: The Rulers and Elders, were Men in Power, who if they could not anſwer them, thought they could find ſome Cauſe or other to ſilence them. If the Goſpel of Chriſt had not been of GOD it could not have made its Way, for it had both the Learning and Power of the World againſt it both the Colleges of the Scribes, and Courts of the Elders. (2.) The Names of ſome of them who were moſt conſiderable. Here were Annas and Caiaphas, Ring-leaders in this Perſecution, Annas the Preſident of the Sanhedrin, and Caiaphas, the High-prieſt (tho' Annas is here call'd ſo,) and Father of the Houſe of Judgment. It ſhould ſeem that Annas and Caiaphas executed the High-Prieſt's Office alternately Year for Year; They two were moſt active againſt Chriſt, then Caiaphas was High-Prieſt, now Annas was; However, they were both equally malignant againſt Chriſt and his Goſpel. John is ſuppoſed to be the Son of Annas; And Alexander, is mentioned by Joſephus, as a Man that made a Figure at that Time. There were others likewiſe that were of the Kindred of the High-Prieſt, that having Dependance on him, and Expectations from him, would be ſure to ſay as he ſaid, and vote with him againſt the Apoſtles. Great Relations and not good have been a ſnare to many.

Secondly, The Priſoners are arraign'd, v. 7.

1. They are brought to the Bar, they ſet them in the midſt, for the Sanhedrin ſate in a Circle, and they who had any Thing to do in the Court ſtood or ſate in the midſt of them, Luke ii. 46. ſo Dr. Lightfoot, thus the Scripture was fulfilled, The Aſſembly of the Wicked has incloſed me, Pſal. xxii. 16. They Compaſſed me about like Bees, Pſal. cxviii. 12. They were ſeated on every Side.

2. The Queſtion they ask'd them was, By what Power or by what Name have ye done this? By what Authority do ye theſe Things? The ſame Queſtion that they had ask'd their Maſter; Matth. xxi. 23. who commiſſion'd you to preach ſuch a Doctrine as this, and empower'd you to work ſuch a Miracle as this? You have no Warrant or Licenſe from us, and therefore are accountable to us whence you have your Warrant. Some think this Queſtion was grounded upon a fond Conceit that the very Naming of ſuch Names might do Wonders, as Acts xix. 13. The Jewiſh Exorciſts made uſe of the Name of Jeſus, Now they would know what Name they made uſe of in their Cure, and conſequently what Name they ſet themſelves to advance in their Preaching. They knew very well that they preach'd Jeſus, and the Reſurrection of the Dead, and the Healing of the Sick, through Jeſus, v. 2. yet they ask them to teaze them, and try if they could get any Thing out of them that look'd criminal.

Thirdly, The Plea they put in, the Deſign of which was not ſo much to clear and ſecure themſelves, as to advance the Name and Honour of their Maſter, who had told them that their being brought before Governours and Kings would give them an Opportunity of preaching the Goſpel to thoſe who otherwiſe they could not have had Acceſs to, and it ſhould be a Teſtimony againſt them. Mark. xiii. 9. Obſerve,

1. By whom this Plea was drawn up, 'twas dictated by the Holy Ghoſt, who fitted Peter more than before, for this Occaſion. The Apoſtles with a holy Negligence of their own Preſervation, ſet themſelves to preach Chriſt, as he had directed them to do in ſuch a Caſe, and then Chriſt made good to them his Promiſe, that the Holy Ghoſt ſhould give them in that ſame Hour what they ſhould ſpeak. Chriſt's faithful Advocates ſhall never want Inſtructions, Mark xiii. 11.

2. To whom it was given in, Peter who is ſtill the chief Speaker addreſſeth himſelf to the Judges of the Court, as the Rulers of the People and Elders of Iſrael, for the Wickedneſs of thoſe in Power doth not diveſt them of their Power, but the Conſideration of the Power they are intruſted with, ſhould prevail to diveſt them of their Wickedneſs. You are Rulers and Elders, and ſhould know more than others of the Signs of the Times, and not oppoſe that which you are bound by the Duty of your Place to embrace and advance, that is the Kingdom of the Meſſiah; you are Rulers and Elders of Iſrael, GOD's People, and if you miſlead them, and cauſe them to err, you'l have a great deal to anſwer for.

3. What the Plea is; It is a ſolemn Declaration,

1. That what they did was in the Name of Jeſus Chriſt, which was a direct Anſwer to the Queſtion the Court ask'd them, v. 9, 10. If we this Day be Examin'd, be call'd to an Account as Criminals ſo the Word ſignifies, for a good Deed (as any one will own it to be) done to the impotent Man, if this be the Ground of the Commitment, this the Matter of the Indictment, if we are put to the Queſtion, by what means, or by whom he is made whole; we have an Anſwer ready, and 'tis the ſame we gave to the People, Chap. iii. 16. we will repeat it to you, as that which we will ſtand by, Be it known to you all who pretend to be ignorant of this Matter, and not to you only, but to all the People of Iſrael, for they are all concern'd to know it, that by the Name of Jeſus Chriſt, that precious powerful prevailing Name, that Name above every Name, even by him whom you in contempt called Jeſus of Nazareth, whom you crucified, both Rulers and People, and whom God hath raiſed from the Dead, and advanc'd to the higheſt Dignity and Dominion, even by him doth this Man ſtand here before you whole; A Monument of the Power of the Lord Jeſus. Here, (1) He juſtifies what he and his Collegue had done in curing the lame Man: 'twas a good Deed; 'twas a Kindneſs to the Man that had begg'd but could not work for his Living; a Kindneſs to the Temple, and to them that went in to Worſhip, who were now freed from the Noiſe and Clamour of that common Begger. Now if we be recon'd with for this good Deed we have no reaſon to be aſham'd, 1 Pet. ii. 20. chap. iv. 14. 16. Let them be aſham'd, who bring us into trouble for it. Note, It is no new thing for good Men to ſuffer ill for doing well. Bene agere & male pati vere Chriſtianum eſt.

(2.) He transfers all the Praiſe and Glory of that good Deed to Jeſus Chriſt. 'Tis by Him and not by any Power of ours that this Man is cur'd; he ſeek not to raiſe an Intereſt for themſelves, or to recommend themſelves by it to the good Opinion of the Court, but let the Lord alone be exalted no matter what comes of us.

(3.) He charges it upon the Judges themſelves that they had been the Murtherers of this Jeſus: 'tis he whom ye crucified, look how you will anſwer it; In order to the bringing of them to believe in Chriſt, (for he aims at no leſs than that) he endeavours to convince them of Sin, of that Sin which one would think of all other was moſt likely to ſtartle Conſcience, their putting Chriſt to Death. Let them take it how they will Peter will balk no Occaſion to tell them of it.

(4.) He atteſts the Reſurrection of Chriſt as the ſtrongeſt Teſtimony to him, and againſt his Perſecutors, they crucified Him, but GOD raiſed Him from the Dead, they took away his Life, but GOD gave it him again, and your further Oppoſition to his Intereſt will ſpeed no better. He tells them GOD raiſed him from the Dead, and they could not for ſhame anſwer him with that fooliſh Suggeſtion that they palm'd upon the people, that His Diſciples came by Night and ſtole him away.

(5.) He preaches this to all the By-ſtanders, to be by them repeated to all their Neighbours, and commands all manner of Perſons, from the higheſt to the loweſt to take notice of it at their Peril; Be it known to you all, that are here preſent, and it ſhall be made known to all the People of Iſrael, where-ever they are diſperſed, in ſpite of all your Endeavours to ſtifle and ſuppreſs the Notice of it; As the Lord GOD of Gods knows, ſo Iſrael ſhall know, all Iſrael ſhall know that Wonders are wrought in the Name of Jeſus, not by repeating it as a Charm, but believing in it as a Divine Revelation of Grace and good Will to Men.

2. That the Name of this Jeſus, by the Authority of which they acted is that Name alone by which Men can be ſav'd. He paſſeth from this particular Inſtance to ſhew, That it is not a particular Sect, a Party that is deſign'd to be ſet up by the Doctrine they preach'd, and the Miracle they wrought, which People might either joyn with, or keep off from at their pleaſure, as it was with the Sects of the Philoſophers, and thoſe among the Jews; but it is a ſacred and divine Inſtitution that is hereby ratify'd and confirm'd, and which all People are highly concern'd to ſubmit to, and come into the Meaſures of. It is not an indifferent Thing, but of an abſolute Neceſſity that People believe in this Name, and call upon it.

1. We are obliged to it in Duty to God, and in Compliance with his Deſigns. v. 11. This is the Stone which was ſet at nought of you Builders, you that are the Rulers of the People, and the Elders of Iſrael, that ſhould be the Builders of the Church, that pretend to be ſo; for the Church is God's Building: Here was a Stone offer'd you to be put in the chief Place of the Building, to be the main Pillar on which the Fabrick might entirely reſt, but you ſet it at nought, rejected it, would not make uſe of it, but threw it by as good for nothing but to make Stepping-ſtone, but this Stone is now become the Head of the Corner; GOD has rais'd up this Jeſus whom you rejected, and by ſetting him at his right Hand, has made him both the Corner-ſtone, and the Head-ſtone, the Center of Unity, and the Fountain of Power. Probably, St. Peter here choſe to make uſe of this Quotation, becauſe Chriſt had himſelf made uſe of it, in anſwer to the Demand of the Chief Prieſts and the Elders concerning his Authority, not long before this, Matth. xxi. 43. Scripture is a try'd Weapon in our ſpiritual Conflicts, let us therefore ſtick to it.

2. We are oblig'd to it for our own Intereſt: We are undone if we do not take Shelter in this Name, and make it our Refuge and ſtrong Tower; for we cannot be ſaved but by Jeſus Chriſt, and if we are not eternally ſaved, we are eternally undone, v. 12. Neither is there Salvation in any other. As there is no other Name by which diſeas'd Bodies can be cur'd, ſo there is no other by which ſinful Souls can be ſaved, “ By him, and him only, by receiving “ and embracing his Doctrine, Salvation muſt now be hoped for by “ All: For there is no other Religion in the World, no, not that “ deliver'd by Moſes, by which Salvation can be had for thoſe “ that do not now come in to this, at the Preaching of it”. So Dr. Hammond. Obſerve here, (1) Our Salvation is our chief Concern and that which ought to lie neareſt our Hearts; our Reſcue from Wrath and the Curſe, and our Reſtoration to GOD's Favour and Bleſſing. (2) Our Salvation is not in our ſelves, nor can be obtain'd by any Merit or Strength of our own; we can deſtroy our ſelves, but we cannot ſave our ſelves. (3) There are among Men many Names that pretend to be ſaving Names, but really are not ſo; many Inſtitutions in Religion that pretend to ſettle a Reconciliation and Correſpondence between GOD and Man, but cannot do it. (4) It is only by Chriſt, and his Name that thoſe Favours can be expected from GOD which are neceſſary to our Salvation, and that our Services can be accepted with GOD. This is the Honour of Chriſt's Name, that it is the only Name whereby we muſt be ſav'd; the only Name we have to plead in all our Addreſſes to GOD. This Name is given. GOD has appointed it, and it is an ineſtimable Benefit freely conferr'd upon us. 'Tis given under Heaven; Chriſt has not only a great Name in Heaven, but a great Name under Heaven; for he has all Power both in the upper and in the lower World: 'Tis given among Men who need Salvation, Men who are ready to periſh. We muſt be ſav'd by his Name, that Name of his, The Lord our Righteouſneſs; and we cannot be ſaved by any other. How far thoſe who have not the Knowledge of Chriſt, nor any actual Faith in him, yet live up to the Light they have, may find Favour with GOD, it is not our Buſineſs to determine: But this we know, that whatever Saving Favour ſuch may receive it is upon the Account of Chriſt, and for his Sake only; ſo that ſtill there is not Salvation in any other, I have ſirnamed thee, tho' thou haſt not known me, Iſa. xlv. 4.

Fourthly, The Stand that the Court was put to in the Perſecution, by this Plea, v. 13, 14. Now was fulfill'd that Promiſe Chriſt made, That he would give them a Mouth and Wiſdom, ſuch as all their Adverſaries ſhall not be able to gainſay or reſiſt.

1. They could not deny the Cure of the lame Man, to be both a good Deed, and a Miracle; He was there ſtanding with Peter and John, ready to atteſt the Cure if there was Occaſion, and they had nothing to ſay againſt it. v. 14. either to diſprove it or to diſparage it: It was well it was not on the Sabbath-day, elſe they would have had that to ſay againſt it.

2. They could not with all their Pomp and Power face down Peter and John; this was a Miracle not inferiour to the Cure of the lame Man, conſidering both what cruel bloody Enemies theſe Prieſts had been to the Name of Chriſt, enough to make any one tremble that appear'd for him; and conſidering what cowardly faint-hearted Advocates thoſe Diſciples had lately been for him; Peter particularly, who deny'd him for Fear of a ſilly Maid; yet now they ſee the Boldneſs of Peter and John, v. 13. Probably, there was ſomething extraordinary and very ſurprizing in their Looks, they appeared not only undaunted by the Rulers, but daring and daunting to them: they had ſomething majeſtick in their Foreheads, ſparkling in their Eyes, and commanding, if not terrifying in their Voice. They ſet their Faces like a Flint, as the Prophet Iſa. i. 7. Ezek. iii. 8. The Courage of Chriſt's faithful Confeſſors, has often been the Confuſion of their cruel Perſecutors. Now,

1. We are here told what increas'd their Wonder; They perceived that they were unlearned and ignorant Men: They enquir'd either of themſelves or others, and found that they were of mean Extraction, born in Galilee, that they were bred Fiſhermen and had no learned Education, had never been at any Univerſity, were not brought up at the Feet of any of the Rabbins, had never been converſant in Courts, Camps, or Colleges; nay, perhaps talk to them at this Time upon any Point in Natural Philoſophy, Mathematicks or Politicks, and you'll find they know nothing of the Matter; and yet ſpeak to them of the Meſſiah and his Kingdom, and they ſpeak with ſo much Clearneſs, Evidence and Aſſurance, ſo pertinently, and ſo fluently, and are ſo ready in the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament relating to it, that the learnedeſt Judge upon the Bench is not able to anſwer them, or to enter the Liſts with them. They were ignorant Men, Ἰδιῶται private Men, Men that had not any publick Character or Employment; and therefore they wonder'd they ſhould have ſuch high Pretentions. They were Idiots, ſo the Word ſignfiies; they look'd upon them with as much Contempt as if they had been meer Naturals, and expected no more from them, which made them wonder to ſee what Freedom they took.

2. We are told what made their Wonder in a great meaſure to ceaſe they took Knowledge of them that they had been with Jeſus: they themſelves, 'tis probable, had ſeen them with him in the Temple, and now recollected that they had ſeen them, or ſome of their Servants, or thoſe about them, inform'd them of it, for they wou'd not be thought themſelves to have taken Notice of ſuch inferiour People: But when they underſtood that they had been with Jeſus, had been converſant with him, attendant on him, and train'd up under him, they knew what to impute their Boldneſs to; nay, their Boldneſs in divine Things was enough to ſhew with whom they had had their Education. Note, Thoſe that have been with Jeſus, in Converſe and Communion with him, have been attending on his Word, praying in his Name, and celebrating the Memorials of his Death and Reſurrection, ſhould carry themſelves in every thing as that thoſe who converſe with them may take Knowledge of them that they have been with Jeſus. And that makes them ſo holy and heavenly, and ſpiritual, and chearful; that has rais'd them ſo much above this World, and fill'd them with another. One may know that they have been in the Mount by the ſhining of their Faces.

15 But when they had commanded them to go aſide out of the council, they conferred among themſelves, 16 Saying, What ſhall we do to theſe men? for that indeed a notable miracle has been done by them, is manifeſt to all them that dwell in Jeruſalem, and we cannot deny it. 17 But that it ſpread no farther among the people, let us ſtraitly threaten them that they ſpeak henceforth to no man in this name. 18 And they called them, and commanded them not to ſpeak at all, nor teach in the name of Jeſus. 12 But Peter and John anſwered and ſaid unto them, Whether it be right in the ſight of God, to hearken unto you more than unto God, judge ye. 20 For we cannot but ſpeak the things which we have ſeen and heard. 21 So when they had further threatned them, they let them go, finding nothing how they might puniſh them, becauſe of the people; for all men glorified God for that which was done. 22 For the man was above forty years old, on whom this miracle of healing was ſhewed.

We have here the Iſſue of the Trial of Peter and John before the Council; They came off now with flying Colours, becauſe they muſt be train'd up to ſufferings by Degrees; and by leſſer Trials be prepared for greater; they now but run with the Foot-men, hereafter we ſhall have them contending with Horſes, Jer. xii. 5.

Firſt, Here's the Conſultation and Reſolution of the Court about this Matter, and their Proceeding thereupon.

1. The Priſoners were order'd to withdraw, v. 15. They commanded them to go aſide out of the Council; willing enough to get clear of them, they ſpoke ſo home to their Conſciences, and not willing they ſhould hear the Acknowledgments that were extorted from them: But tho' they might not hear them, we have them here upon Record. The Deſigns of Chriſt's Enemies are carry'd on in cloſe Cabals, and they dig deep, as if they would hide their Counſels from the LORD.

2. A Debate aroſe upon this Matter: they conferr'd among themſelves; every one is deſired to ſpeak his Mind freely, and to give Advice upon this important Affair. Now the Scripture was fulfilled, That the Rulers would take Counſel together againſt the Lord, and againſt his Anointed, Pſal. ii. 2. the Queſtion propos'd was, What ſhall we do to theſe Men? v. 16. if they would have yielded to the convincing commanding Power of Truth, it had been eaſy to ſay what they ſhould do to theſe Men: They ſhould have plac'd them at the Head of their Council, and receiv'd their Doctrine, and been baptiz'd by them in the Name of the Lord Jeſus, and joyn'd in Fellowſhip with them: But when Men will not be perſwaded to do what they ſhould do, it is no Marvel they are ever and anon at a loſs what to do. The Truths of Chriſt, if Men would but entertain them as they ſhould, would give them no Manner of Trouble or Uneaſineſs, but if they hold them or impriſon them in Unrighteouſneſs, Rom. i. 18. they will find them a burthenſome Stone that they will not know what do with, Zech. xii. 4.

3. They came at laſt to a Reſolution, in two Things.

1. That it was not ſafe to puniſh the Apoſtles for what they had done; very willingly they would have done it, but they had not Courage to do it, becauſe the People eſpoſed their Cauſe, and cry'd up the Miracle; and they ſtood now in as much Awe of them as they had done formerly, when they durſt not lay Hands on Chriſt for fear of the People. By which it appears that the Out cry of the Mob againſt our Saviour, was a forc'd or manag'd Thing, the Stream ſoon return'd to its former Channel. Now they could not find how they might puniſh Peter and John, what Colour they might have for it, becauſe of the People. They knew it would be an unrighteous thing to puniſh them, and therefore ſhould have been reſtrain'd from it by the Fear of GOD; but they conſider'd it only as a dangerous thing, and therefore were held in from it only by the Fear of the People. For,

(1.) The People were convinc'd of the Truth of the Miracle; It was a notable Miracle, γνωστὸν σημεῖον a known Miracle; it was known that they did it in Chriſt's Name, and that Chriſt himſelf had often done the like before; this was a known Inſtance of the Power of Chriſt, and Proof of his Doctrine, that it was a great Miracle, and wrought for the Confirmation of the Doctrine they preach'd, (for it was a Sign) was manifeſt to all that dwelt in Jeruſalem, it was an Opinion univerſally received, and the Miracle being wrought at the Gate of the Temple, univerſal Notice was taken of it; and they themſelves, with all the Craft and all the Front they had, could not deny it to be a true Miracle; every Body would have hooted at them if they had. They could eaſily deny it to their own Conſciences but not to the World. The Proofs of the Goſpel were undeniable.

(2.) They went further, and were not only convin'd of the Truth of the Miracle, but all Men glorify'd God for that which was done; even thoſe that were not perſuaded by it to believe in Chriſt, yet were ſo affected with it as a Mercy to a poor Man, and an Honour to their Country, that they could not but give Praiſe to GOD for it: even Natural Religion taught them to do that, And if the Prieſts had puniſh'd Peter and John for that for which all Men glorify'd God, they would have loſt all their Intereſt in the People, and been abandon'd as Enemies both to GOD and Man. Thus therefore their Wrath ſhall be made to praiſe God, and the Remainder thereof ſhall be reſtrain'd.

2. They yet reſolve, That it is neceſſary to ſilence them for the future, v. 17, 18. They could not prove that they had ſaid or done any Thing amiſs, and yet they muſt no more ſay or do what they have done. All their Care is, that the Doctrine of Chriſt ſpread no further among the People; as if that healing Inſtitution were a Plague begun, the Contagion of which muſt be ſtop'd. See how the Malice of Hell fights againſt the Counſels of Heaven; GOD will have the Knowledge of Chriſt to ſpread all the World over, but the chief Prieſts would have it ſpread no further which he that ſits in Heaven laughs at.

Now to prevent the further ſpreading of this Doctrine;

1. They charge the Apoſtles never to preach it any more: Be it enacted by their Authority, (which they think every Iſraelite is bound in Conſcience to ſubmit to) That no Man ſpeak at all or teach in the Name of Jeſus, v. 18. We do not find that they give them any Reaſon why the Doctrine of Chriſt muſt be ſuppreſs'd; they cannot ſay, 'tis either falſe or dangerous, or of any ill Tendency, and are aſham'd to own the true Reaſon, that it teſtifies againſt their Hypocriſy and Wickedneſs, and ſhocks their Tyranny: But ſtat pro ratione voluntas, We ſtraitly charge and command you, not only that you do not preach this Doctrine publickly, but that ye ſpeak henceforth to no Man, not to any particular Perſon privately, in this Name. v. 17. There is not a greater Service done to the Devil's Kingdom than the Silencing of Faithful Miniſters, and the putting them under a Buſhel that are the Lights of the World.

2. They threaten them if they do, ſtraitly threaten them; it is at their Peril. This Court will reckon it ſelf highly affronted if they do, and they ſhall fall under its Diſpleaſure. Chriſt had not only charg'd them to preach the Goſpel to every Creature, but had promis'd to bear them out in it, and reward them for it. Now theſe Prieſts not only forbid them to preach the Goſpel, but threaten to puniſh it as a heinous Crime; but thoſe who know how to put a juſt Value upon Chriſt's Promiſes, know how to put a juſt Contempt upon the World's Threatnings, tho' they be Threatnings of Slaughter that it breaths out, Acts. ix. 1.

Secondly, Here's the couragious Reſolution of the Priſoners to go on in their Work, notwithſtanding the Reſolutions of this Court, and their Declaration of this Reſolution, v. 19, 20. Peter and John needed not confer together to know one another's Minds, for they were both acted by one and the ſame Spirit, but agree preſently in the ſame Sentiments, and joyntly put in the Anſwer, Whether it be right in the Sight of God, to whom both you and we are accountable, to hearken unto you more than unto God, we appeal to your ſelves, judge ye; For we cannot forbear ſpeaking to every Body the Things which we have ſeen and heard, and are our ſelves full of, and are charg'd to publiſh. The Prudence of the Serpent would have directed them to be ſilent, and tho' they could not with a good Conſcience promiſe that they would not preach the Goſpel any more, yet they needed not tell them that they would: But the Boldneſs of the Lion directed them thus to ſet both the Authority and the Malignity of their Perſecutors at Defiance. They do in Effect tell them, They are reſolv'd to go on in Preaching, and juſtify themſelves in it with two Things.

1. The Command of GOD; You charge us not to preach the Goſpel, he hath charg'd us to preach it, has committed it to us as a Truſt, requiring us upon our Allegiance faithfully to diſpenſe it; Now whom muſt we obey; GOD or you? There they appeal to one of the Communes Notitiæ, to a ſettled and acknowledg'd Maxim in the Law of Nature, that if Men's Commands and GOD's interfere GOD's Commands muſt take place. It is a Rule in the Common Law of England, that if any Statute be made contrary to the Law of GOD, it is null and void. Nothing can be more abſurd than to hearken unto weak and failible Men that are Fellow-Creatures and Fellow-Subjects, more than unto a GOD that is infinitely Wiſe and Holy, our Creator and Sovereign LORD, and the Judge to whom we are all accountable. The Caſe is ſo plain, ſo uncontroverted and ſelf-evident, that we will venture to leave it to your ſelves to judge of it, tho' you are byaſs'd and prejudic'd. Can you think it right in the ſight of God to break a Divine Command in Obedience to a Human Injunction. That is right indeed, which is right in the ſight of God; for his Judgment we are ſure, is according to Truth, and therefore by that we ought to govern our ſelves.

2. The Convictions of their own Conſciences; Tho' they had not had ſuch an expreſs Command from Heaven to preach the Doctrine of Chriſt, yet could not but ſpeak, and ſpeak publickly thoſe Things which they had ſeen and heard. Like Elihu they were full of this Matter, and the Spirit within them conſtrained them, they muſt ſpeak that they might be refreſh'd, Job xxxii. 18, 20. (1.) They felt the Influence of it upon themſelves, what a bleſſed Change it hath wrought upon them, has brought them into a new World, and therefore they cannot but ſpeak of it: And thoſe ſpake the Doctrine of Chriſt beſt, that have felt the Power of it, and taſted the Sweetneſs of it, and have themſelves been deeply affected with it; 'tis as a Fire in their Bones, Jer. xx. 19. (2.) They know the Importance of it to others; they look with Concern upon periſhing Souls, and know they cannot eſcape eternal Ruin but by Jeſus Chriſt, and therefore will be faithful to them in giving them Warning and ſhewing them the right Way. They are Things which we have ſeen and heard and therefore are fully aſſur'd of our ſelves; and Things which we only have ſeen and heard; and therefore, if we do not publiſh them, who will? Who can? Knowing the Favour, as well as the Terror of the Lord, we perſuade Men; for the Love of Chriſt, and the Love of Souls conſtrained us, 2 Cor. v. 11, 14.

Thirdly, There's the Diſcharge of the Priſoners, v. 21. They further threatned them, and thought they frighten'd them, and then let them go. There were many whom they terrify'd into an Obedience to their unrighteous Decrees, they knew how to keep Men in Awe with their Excommunications, Joh. ix. 22. and thought they could have the ſame Influence upon the Apoſtles that they had upon other Men; but they were deceiv'd, for they had been with Jeſus. They threatned them, and that was all they did now; when they had done that, they let them go.

1. Becauſe they durſt not contradict the People, who glorified God for that which was done, and would have been ready (at leaſt they thought ſo) to pull them out of their Seats if they had puniſh'd the Apoſtles for doing it. As Rulers by the Ordinance of GOD are made a Terror and Reſtraint to wicked People; ſo People are ſometimes by the Providence of GOD made a Terror and Reſtraint to wicked Rulers.

2. Becauſe they could not contradict the Miracle, For, v. 22. the Man was about Forty Years old on whom this Miracle of healing was ſhewed. And therefore, (1.) The Miracle was ſo much the greater; he having been lame from his Mother's Womb, chap. iii. 2. The older he grew the more inveterate the Diſeaſe was, and the more hardly cured. If thoſe that are grown into Years, and have been long accuſtom'd to Evil, yet are cur'd of their ſpiritual Impotency to Good, and thereby of their evil Cuſtoms, the Power of Divine Grace is therein ſo much the more magnify'd. (2.) The Truth of it was ſo much the better atteſted; for the Man being above Forty Years old, he was able, like the blind Man whom Chriſt heal'd, when he was ask'd, to ſpeak for himſelf, John ix. 21.

23 And being let go, they went to their own company, and reported all that the chief prieſts and elders had ſaid unto them. 24 And when they heard that, they lift up their voice to God with one accord, and ſaid, Lord, thou art God which haſt made heaven and earth, and the ſea, and all that in them is: 25 Who by the mouth of thy ſervant David haſt ſaid, Why did the heathen rage, and the people imagine a vain thing? 26 The kings of the earth ſtood up, and the rulers were gather'd together againſt the Lord, and againſt his Chriſt. 27 For of a truth againſt thy holy child Jeſus, whom thou haſt anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles, and the people of Iſrael were gather'd together, 28 For to do whatſoever thy hand and thy counſel determined before to be done. 29 And now Lord, behold their threatnings: and grant unto thy ſervants, that with all boldneſs they may ſpeak thy word, 30 By ſtretching forth thine hand to heal: and that ſigns may be done by the name of thy holy child Jeſus. 31 And when they had prayed, the place was ſhaken where they were aſſembled together; and they were all filled with the holy Ghoſt, and they ſpake the word of God with boldneſs.

We hear no more at preſent of the chief Prieſts, what they did when they had diſmiſs'd Peter and John, but are to attend thoſe two Witneſſes. And here we have,

Firſt, Their Return to their Brethren, the Apoſtles and Miniſters, and perhaps ſome private Chriſtians. Ver. 23. Being let go, they went to their own Company, who perhaps were at this Time met together in pain for them, and praying for them; as Acts xii. 12. As ſoon as ever they were at Liberty they went to their old Friends, and return'd to their Church Fellowſhip.

1. Tho' GOD had highly honour'd them, in calling them out to be his Witneſſes, and enabling them to acquit themſelves ſo well, yet they were not puffed up with the Honour done them, nor thought themſelves thereby exalted above their Brethren, but went to their own Company. No Advancement in Gifts or Uſefulneſs, ſhould make us think ourſelves above either the Duties or the Privileges of the Communion of Saints.

2. Tho' their Enemies had ſeverely threaten'd them, and endeavour'd to break their Knot, and frighten them from the Work they were joyntly engag'd in; yet they went to their own Company, and fear'd not the Wrath of their Rulers. They might have had Comfort, if being let go, they had retir'd to their Cloſets, and ſpent ſome Time in Devotion there: But they were Men in a publick Station, and muſt ſeek not ſo much their own perſonal Satisfaction, as the Publick Good. And Chriſt's Followers do beſt in Company, provided it be in their own Company.

Secondly, The Account they gave them of what had paſs'd; They reported all that the chief Prieſts and Elders had ſaid unto them, adding, no doubt, what they were enabled by the Grace of GOD to reply to them, and how their Tryal iſſu'd. They related it to them,

1. That they might know what to expect both from Men, and from GOD in the Progreſs of their Work; from Men they might expect every Thing that was terrifying, but from GOD every Thing that was encouraging; Men would do their utmoſt to run them down, but GOD would take effectual Care to bear them up. Thus the Brethren in the Lord would wax confident through their Bonds, and their Experiences, as Phil. i. 14.

2. That they might have it recorded in the Hiſtory of the Church for the Benefit of Poſterity particularly for the Confirmation of our Faith touching the Reſurrection of Chriſt. The Silence of an Adverſary, in ſome Caſes, is next door to the Conſent and Teſtimony of an Adverſary. Theſe Apoſtles told the chief Prieſts to their Faces, That GOD had raiſed up Jeſus from the Dead, and tho' they were a Body of them together, they had not the Confidence to deny it; but in the ſillieſt and moſt ſneaking Manner imaginable, bid the Apoſtles not tell any Body of it.

3. That they might now joyn with them in Prayers and Praiſes; and by ſuch a Conſort as this, God would be the more glorify'd, and the Church the more edify'd. We ſhould therefore communicate to our Brethern the Providences of GOD that are concerning us, and our Experience of his Preſence with us, that they may aſſiſt us in our Acknowledgment of GOD therein.

Thirdly, Their Addreſs to GOD upon this Occaſion; When they heard of the impotent Malice of the Prieſts, and the potent Courage of the Sufferers, they call'd their Company together, and went to Prayer; They left up their Voice to God with one accord, v. 24. Not that it can be ſuppos'd, that they all ſaid the ſame Words at the ſame time, tho' it was poſſible they might, being all inſpir'd by one and the ſame Spirit, but One in the Name of the reſt lift up his Voice to God, and the reſt joyn'd with him, ὁμοθυμαδὸν. with one Mind, ſo the Word ſignifies, their Hearts went along with him, and ſo tho' but One ſpoke, they all pray'd; One lift up his Voice, and in concurrence with him they all lift up their Hearts, which was in effect lifting up their Voice to GOD; for Thoughts are Words to GOD. Moſes cry'd unto God, when we find not a Word he ſaid.

Now in this ſolemn Addreſs to GOD, we have

1. Their Adoration of GOD as the Creator of the World, v. 24. With one Mind, and ſo in effect with one Mouth they glorify'd God, (Rom. xv. 6.) They ſaid, O Lord, thou art God, GOD alone: Δέσποτα Thou art our Maſter and Soveraign Ruler, (ſo the Word ſignifies) art GOD; GOD and not Man; GOD and not the Work of Mens Hands; the Creator of All, and not the Creature of Mens Fancies. Thou art the GOD which haſt made Heaven and Earth, and the Sea, the upper and lower World, and all the Creatures that are in both. Thus we Chriſtians diſtinguiſh ourſelves from the Heathen, that while they worſhip Gods which they have made, we are worſhipping the GOD that made us and all the World: And it is very proper to begin our Prayer, as well as our Creed, with the Acknowledgment of This, that GOD is the Father Almighty, Maker of Heaven and Earth, and of all Things viſible and inviſible. Tho' the Apoſtles were at this Time full of the Myſtery of the World's Redemption, yet they do not forget or over-look the Hiſtory of the World's Creation; for the Chriſtian Religion was intended to confirm and improve, not to eclipſe or juſtle out the Truths and Dictates of Natural Religion. It is a great Encouragement to GOD's Servants, both in Doing work, and Suffering-work, that they ſerve the GOD that made all Things, and therefore has the Diſpoſal of their Times, and all Events concerning them, and is able to ſtrengthen them under all their Difficulties. And if we give Him the Glory of this, we may take the Comfort of it.

2. Their Reconciling themſelves to the preſent Diſpenſations of Providence by reflecting upon thoſe Scriptures in the Old Teſtament which foretold that the Kingdom of the Meſſiah would meet with ſuch Oppoſition as this at the firſt ſetting of it up in the World, v. 25, 26. GOD that made Heaven and Earth, cannot meet with any Oppoſition to his Deſigns, ſince none dare diſpute or conteſt with Him: Yea, thus it was written, Thus He ſpake by the Mouth, thus He wrote by the Pen, of his Servant David, who appears by this was the Pen-man of the ſecond Pſalm, [illegible] therefore moſt probably of the firſt, and other Pſalms that are not aſcrib'd to any other, tho' they have not his Name in the Title. Let it not therefore be a Surprize to them, or any Diſcouragement to any in embracing their Doctrine, for the Scripture muſt be fulfill'd. It was foretold, Pſal. ii. 1, 2. (1.) That the Heathen would rage at Chriſt and his Kingdom, and be angry at the Attempts to ſet it up, becauſe that would be the pulling down of the Gods of the Heathen, and giving Check to the Wickedneſs of the Heathen. (2.) That the People would imagine all the Things that could be againſt it, to ſilence the Teachers of it, to diſcountenance the Subjects of it, and to cruſh all the Intereſts of it: And if they prove vain Things in the iſſue, that's no thanks to them who imagin'd them. (3.) That the Kings of the Earth particularly would ſtand up in Oppoſition to the Kingdom of Chriſt, as if they were jealous, (tho' there's no Occaſion for their being ſo) that it would interfere with their Powers, and intrench upon their Perogatives. The Kings of the Earth that are moſt favour'd and honour'd by Divine Providence, and ſhould do moſt for GOD, are Strangers and Enemies to divine Grace and do moſt againſt GOD. (4.) That the Rulers would gather together to conſult and decree againſt the Lord, and againſt his Chriſt, againſt both Natural and Revealed Religion. What is done againſt Chriſt, GOD takes as done againſt Himſelf. Chriſtianity was not only deſtitute of the Advantage of the Countenance and Support of Kings and Rulers, it had neither their Power nor their Purſes, but it was oppos'd and fought againſt by them, and they combin'd to run it down, and yet it made its Way.

3. Their Repreſentation of the preſent Accompliſhment of thoſe Predictions in the Enmity and Malice of the Rulers againſt Chriſt. What was fore-told, we ſee fulfill'd, v. 27, 28. 'Tis of a Truth, 'tis certainly ſo, 'tis too plain to be deny'd, and in it appears the Truth of the Prediction, that Herod and Pilate the two Roman Governors, with the Gentiles, the Roman Souldiers under their Command, and with the People of Iſrael the Rulers of the Jews and the Mob, that is under their Influence, were gathered together in a Confederacy againſt the holy Child Jeſus, whom thou haſt anointed. Some Copies add another Circumſtance, ἐν τῇ πόλει σου ταύτῃ in this holy City, where above any Place He ſhould have been welcom'd. But herein they do that which thy Hand and thy Council determined before to be done. See here (1.) The Wiſe and Holy Deſigns GOD had concerning Chriſt. He is here call'd the Child Jeſus, as he was call'd Luke ii. 27, 43. in his Infancy, to intimate, that even in his exalted State He is not aſham'd of his Condeſcenſions for us and that He continues meek and lowly in Heart: In the Height of his Glory He is the Lamb of God, and the Child Jeſus. But He is the Holy Child Jeſus, ſo He was call'd, Luke i. 35. that Holy Thing. And thy Holy Child, the Word ſignifies both a Son, and a Servant παῖδά σου He was the Son of God; and yet in the Work of Redemption He acted as his Fathers Servant, Iſa. xlii. 1. My Servant whom I uphold. 'Twas he whom GOD anointed, both qualify'd for the undertaking, and call'd to it; and thence He was call'd the LORD's Chriſt, v. 26. And this come in as a Reaſon why they ſet themſelves with ſo much Rage and Violence againſt him, becauſe GOD had anointed him; and they were reſolv'd not to reſign, much leſs to ſubmit to him. David was envy'd by Saul, becauſe he was the Lord's Anointed. And the Philiſtines came up to ſeek David when they heard he was anointed, 2 Sam. v. 17. Now the GOD that anointed Chriſt determin'd what ſhould be done to him purſuant to that Anointing; He was anointed to be a Saviour, and therefore 'twas determin'd he ſhould be a Sacrifice, to make Atonement for Sin; He muſt dye therefore, he muſt be ſlain, yet not by his own Hands, therefore GOD wiſely determin'd before by what Hands it ſhould be done, it muſt be by the Hands of thoſe who will treat Him as a Criminal and Malefactor, and therefore it cannot be done by the Hands either of Angels or good Men; He muſt therefore be deliver'd into the Hands of Sinners, as Job was, chap. xvi. 11. And as David was deliver'd to Shimei to be made a Curſe, 2 Sam.

xvi. 11. the Lord has bidden him, God's Hand and his Counſel determin'd it, His Will, and his Wiſdom, GOD's Hand which properly notes his executive Power, yet is here put for his Purpoſe and Decree, becauſe with him ſaying and doing are not two Things as they are with us. His Hand and his Counſel always agree, for whatſoever the Lord pleas'd that did he. Dr. Hammond makes this Phraſe of GOD's Hand determining it to be on Alluſion to the High Prieſt's caſting Lots upon the two Goats on the Day of Atonement, Lev. xvi. 8. in which he lift up the Hand that he happened to have the Lot for the Lord in, and that Goat on which it fell was immediately ſacrific'd: And the Diſpoſal of this Lot was from the Lord, Prov. xvi. 33. Thus GOD's Hand determin'd what ſhould be done, that Chriſt ſhould be the Sacrifice ſlain. Or, (if I may offer a Conjecture) when GOD's Hand is here ſaid to determine, it may not be meant of GOD's Acting Hand, but his Writing Hand, as Job xiii. 26. Thou writeſt bitter Things againſt us; and GOD's Decree is ſaid to be that which is Written in the Scriptures of Truth, Dan. x. 31. and in the Volume of the Book it was written of Chriſt, Pſal. xl. 7. And it was God's Hand that wrote it, His Hand according to his Counſel. The Commiſſion was given under his Hand. (2.) The wicked and unholy Inſtruments that were employ'd in the executing of this Deſign, tho' they meant not ſo, neither did their Heart think ſo. Herod and Pilate, Gentiles and Jews, who had been at Variance with each other, united againſt Chriſt. And God's ſerving his own Purpoſes by what they did was no Excuſe at all for their Malice and Wickedneſs in the doing of it, any more than God's making the Blood of the Martyrs the Seed of the Church extenuated the Guilt of their Bloody Perſecutors. Sin is not the leſs Evil for God's bringing Good out of it, but He is by that the more glorify'd, and will be ſo, when the Myſtery of God ſhall be finiſh'd.

4. Their Petition with reference to their Caſe at this Time. The Enemies were gather'd together againſt Chriſt, and then no Wonder they were ſo againſt his Minſters, The Diſciple is not better than his Maſter, nor muſt expect better Treatment, But being thus inſulted they pray,

1. That GOD would take Cognizance of the Malice of their Enemies. Now Lord behold their Threatnings, v. 29. Behold them as thou art ſaid to behold them in the Pſalm before quoted, Pſal. ii. 4. when they thought to break his Bands aſunder, and caſt away his Cords from them, He that ſits in Heaven laughs at them, and has them in deriſion; And then the Virgin the Daughter of Zion may deſpiſe the impotent Menaces even of the great King, the King of Aſſyria, Iſa. xxxvii. 22. And now Lord; τα νυν, Theſe's an Emphaſis upon the Now, to intimate that then is GOD's Time to appear for his People, when the Power of their Enemies is moſt daring and threatning. They do not dictate to GOD what he ſhall do, but refer themſelves to him, like Hezekiah, Iſa. xxxvii. 17. Open thy Eyes O Lord and ſee; Thou knoweſt what they ſay, Thou beholdeſt miſchief and ſpite, Pſal. x. 14. to Thee we appeal, Behold their Threatnings, and either tye their Hand, or turn their Hearts; make their Wrath as far as it is let looſe to praiſe Thee, and the Remainder thereof do thou reſtrain, Pſal. lxxvi. 10. It is a Comfort to us, that if we are unjuſtly threaten'd, and bear it patiently, we may make ourſelves eaſy by ſpreading the Caſe before the Lord, and leaving it with him.

2. That GOD by his Grace would keep up their Spirits, and animate them to go on chearfully in their Work. Grant unto thy Servants that with all boldneſs they may ſpeak thy Word, tho' the Prieſts and Rulers have enjoyn'd them Silence. Note, In threatning Times our Care ſhould be not ſo much that Troubles may be prevented, as that we may be enabled to go on with Chearfulneſs and Reſolution in our Work and Duty, whatever Troubles we may meet with. Their Prayer is not, Lord, behold their Threatnings and frighten them, and ſtop their Mouths, and fill their Faces with Shame; but behold their Threatnings, and animate us, open our Mouths, and fill our Hearts with Courage. They do not pray, Lord give us a fair Opportunity to retire from our Work, now it is become dangerous, but Lord give us Grace to go on in our Work, and not to be afraid of the Face of Man. Obſerve, (1.) Thoſe that are ſent on God's Errands, ought to deliver their Meſſage with Boldneſs, with all Boldneſs, with all Liberty of Speech, not ſhunning to declare the whole Counſel of God, whoever is offended; not doubting of what they ſay, or of being born out in ſaying it. (2.) GOD is to be ſought unto for an Ability to ſpeak his Word with Boldneſs, and thoſe that deſire divine Aids and Encouragements may depend upon them, and ought to go forth, and go on in the Strength of the Lord God. (3.) The Threatnings of our Enemies, that are deſign'd to weaken our Hands, and drive us off from our Work, ſhould rather ſtir us up to ſo much the more Courage and Reſolation in our Work. Are they daring that fight againſt Chriſt? for Sham, let not us be ſneaking that are for Him.

3. That GOD would ſtill give them Power to work Miracles for the Confirmation of the Doctrine they preached, which by the Cure of the lame Man they found to contribute very much to their Succeſs, and would contribute abundantly to their further Progreſs. Lord, Grant us boldneſs by ſtretching forth thine Hand to heal. Note, Nothing emboldens faithful Miniſters more in their Work than the Tokens of GOD's Preſence with them, and a Divine Power going along with them. They pray, (1.) That GOD would ſtretch forth his hand to heal, both the Bodies and Souls of Men, elſe in vain do they ſtretch forth their Hands; either in Preaching, (Iſa. lxv. 2.) or in Curing, Acts vii. 7. (2.) That Signs and Wonders might be done by the Name of the holy Child Jeſus, which would be convincing to the People, and confounding to the Enemies. Chriſt had promiſed them a Power to work Miracles, for the Proof of their Commiſſion, Mark xvi. 17, 18. Yet they muſt pray for it; and though they had it muſt, pray for the Continuance of it. Chriſt himſelf muſt ask and it ſhall be given him. Obſerve, 'tis the Honour of Chriſt that they aim at in this Requeſt, that the Wonder might be done by the Name of Jeſus, the Holy Child Jeſus, and his Name ſhall have all the Glory.

Fourthly, The gracious Anſwer GOD gave to this Addreſs; not in Word, but in Power.

1. GOD gave them a Sign of the Acceptance of their Prayers v. 31. When they had Pray'd, perhaps many of them pray'd ſucceſſively, one by one, according to the Rule, 1 Cor. xiv. 31. And when they had concluded the Work of the Day, The Place was ſhaken where they aſſembled together, there was a ſtrong mighty Wind, ſuch as that when the Spirit was poured out upon them, chap. ii. 1. which ſhook the Houſe, which was now their Houſe of Prayer. This ſhaking of the Place was deſigned to ſtrike an Awe upon them, and to awaken and raiſe their Expectations, and to give them a ſenſible Token that GOD was with them of a Truth. And perhaps it was to put them in Mind of that Prophecy, Hag. ii. 7. I will ſhake all Nations, and will fill this Houſe with Glory. This was to ſhew them what Reaſon they had to fear GOD more, and then they would fear Man leſs. He that ſhook this Place could make the Hearts of thoſe who threatened his Servants thus to tremble, for he cuts off the Spirit of Princes, and is terrible to the Kings of the Earth. The Place was ſhaken that their Faith might be eſtabliſhed and unſhaken.

2. GOD gave them greater Degrees of his Spirit, which was the Thing they prayed for; Their Prayer without doubt was accepted, for it was anſwered, They were all filled with the Holy Ghoſt more than ever, by which they were not only encourag'd, but enabled to ſpeak the Word of God with boldneſs, and not to be afraid of the proud and haughty Looks of Men. The Holy Ghoſt taught them not only what to ſpeak, but how to ſpeak. Thoſe that were endued habitually with the Powers of the Holy Ghoſt, yet had Occaſion for freſh Supplies of the Spirit according as the various Occurrences of their Service were. They were filled with the Holy Ghoſt at the Bar, v. 2. and now filled with the Holy Ghoſt in the Pulpit, which teaches us to live in an actual Dependance upon the Grace of GOD according as the Duty of every Day require. We need to be anointed with freſh Oyl upon every freſh Occaſion. As in the Providence of GOD, ſo in the Grace of GOD we not only in general live, and have our Being; but move in every particular Actions, Acts xvii. 28. we have here an Inſtance of the Performance of that Promiſe, that GOD will give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him, Luke xi. 13. for 'twas in Anſwer to Prayer that they were filled with the Holy Ghoſt, And an Example of the Improvement of that Gift, which is requir'd of all on whom it is beſtow'd; have it and uſe it, uſe it and have more of it: when they were filled with the Holy Ghoſt, they ſpoke the Word with all boldneſs, for the Miniſtration of the Spirit is given to every Man to profit withal. Talents muſt be traded with, not buried. When they find the Lord God help them by his Spirit, they know they ſhall not be Confounded, Iſa. l. 7.

32 And the multitude of them that believed, were of one heart, and of one ſoul: neither ſaid any of them, that ought of the things which he poſſeſſed, was his own, but they had all things common. 33 And with great power gave the apoſtles witneſs of the reſurrection of the Lord Jeſus: and great grace was upon them all. 34 Neither was there any among them that lacked: for as many as were poſſeſſors of lands or houſes, ſold them, and brought the prices of the things that were ſold, 35 And laid them down at the apoſtles feet: and diſtribution was made unto every man according as he had need. 36 And Joſes, who by the Apoſtles was ſirnamed Barnabas, (which is, being interpreted, The ſon of conſolation) a Levite, and of the Country of Cyprus, 37 Having land, ſold it, and brought the money, and laid it at the apoſtles feet.

1. We have a general Idea given us in theſe Verſes, and it is a very beautiful one of the Spirit and State of this truly Primitive Church. 'tis Conſpectus Sæculi, a View of that Age of Infancy and Innocence.

Firſt, The Diſciples loved one another dearly; Behold how good and how pleaſant it was to ſee how the Multitude of them that believ'd were of one Heart and of one Soul, v. 32. and there was no ſuch Thing as Diſcord or Diviſion among them. Obſerve here,

1. There were Multitudes that believed, even in Jeruſalem where the malignant Influence of the Chief Prieſts was moſt ſtrong. There were Three Thouſand converted on one Day, and Five Thouſand on another, and beſides thoſe that are added to the Church daily: And no doubt they were all baptiz'd, and made Profeſſion of the Faith, for the ſame Spirit that endued the Apoſtles with Courage to preach the Faith of Chriſt, endued them with Courage to confeſs it. Note, The Increaſe of the Church is the Glory of it and the Multitude of them that believe, more than their Quality. Now the Church ſhines and her Light is come when Souls thus fly like a Cloud into her Boſom, and like Doves to their Windows, Iſa. lx. 1, 8.

2. They were all of one Heart and of one Soul. Tho' there were many, very many, of different Ages, Tempers, and Conditions in the World, who perhaps before they believed were perfect Strangers to one another, and yet when they met in Chriſt they were as intimately acquainted as if they had known one another many Years; Perhaps they had been of different Sects among the Jews before their Converſion, or had had Diſcords upon Civil Accounts: But now thoſe were all forgotten and laid aſide, and they were unanimous in the Faith of Chriſt, and being all joyn'd to the Lord, they were joyn'd to one another in holy Love. This was the bleſſed Fruit of Chriſt's dying precept, to his Diſciples, to love one another, and his dying Prayer for them that they all might be one. We have Reaſon to think they divided themſelves into ſeveral Congregations, or Worſhipping Aſſemblies according as their Dwellings were, under their reſpective Miniſters. And yet that occaſion'd no Jealouſy or Uneaſineſs for they were all of one Heart and one Soul notwithſtanding, and lov'd thoſe of other Congregations as truly as thoſe of their own. Thus it was then, and we may not deſpair of ſeeing it ſo again, when the Spirit ſhall be poured out upon us from on high.

Secondly, The Miniſters went on in their Work with great Vigour and Succeſs. v. 33. with great Power gave the Apoſtles witneſs of the Reſurrection of the Lord Jeſus. The Doctrine they preached was the Reſurrection of Chriſt. A Matter of Fact which ſerv'd not only for the Confirmation of the Truth of Chriſt's Holy Religion, but being duly explain'd and illuſtrated with the proper Inferances from it ſerv'd for a Summary of all the Duties, Privileges, and Comforts of Chriſtians. The Reſurrection of Chriſt rightly underſtood, and improv'd, will let us into the great Myſteries of Religion.

By the great Power wherewith the Apoſtles atteſted the Reſurrection may be meant.

1. The great Vigour and Spirit, and Courage, with which they publiſhed and avowed this Doctrine; they do it not ſoftly and diffidently, but with Livelineſs and Reſolution, as thoſe that were themſelves abundantly ſatisfy'd of the Truth of it, and earneſtly deſired that others ſhould be ſo too. Or,

2. The Miracles which they wrought to confirm their Doctrine; with Works of great Power, they gave witneſs to the Reſurrection of Chriſt, God himſelf in them bearing Witneſs too.

Thirdly, The Beauty of the Lord our God ſhone upon them and all their Performances. Great Grace was upon them all, not only all the Apoſtles, but all the Believers, χάρις μεγάλη Grace that had ſomething great in it, magnificent, and very extraordinary, was upon them all.

1. Chriſt poured out Abundance of Grace upon them, ſuch as qualified them for great Services, by enduing them with great Power; it came upon them from on high; from above.

2. There were evident Fruits of this Grace in all they ſaid and did, ſuch as put an Honour upon them, and recommended them to the Favour of GOD, as being in his Sight of great Price.

3. Some think it includes the Favour they were in with the People. Every one ſaw a Beauty and Excellency in them, and reſpected them.

Fourthly, They were very liberal to the Poor, and dead to this World. This was as great an Evidence of the Grace of GOD in them as any other, and recommended them as much to the Eſteem of the People.

1. They inſiſted not upon Property, which even Children ſeem to have a Senſe of, and a Jealouſy for, and which Worldly People triumph in; as Laban, Gen. xxxi. 43. All that thou ſeeſt is mine; and Nabal, 1 Sam. xxv. 11. my Bread and my Water, Theſe Believers were ſo taken up with the Hopes of an Inheritance in t'other World, that this was nothing to them; No Man ſaid that ought of the Things which he poſſeſs'd was his own, v. 32. They did not take away Property, but they were indifferent to it. They did not call what they had, their own, in a way of Pride and vain Glory, boaſting of it, or truſting in it; They did not call it their own, becauſe they had in Affection forſaken all for Chriſt, and were continually expecting to be ſtript of all for their Adherence to him. They did not ſay, that ought was their own, for we can call nothing our own but Sin, what we have in the World is more GOD's than our own, we have it from Him, muſt uſe it for Him, and are accountable for it to Him. No Man ſaid what he had was his own, ἴδιον his peculiar, for he was ready to diſtribute, willing to communicate, and deſired not to eat his Morſel alone, but what he had to ſpare from himſelf and Family, his poor Neighbours were welcome to. They that had Eſtates were not ſollicitous to lay up, but very willing to lay out, and would ſtraiten themſelves to help their Brethren. No Marvel they were of one Heart and Soul, when they ſate ſo looſe to the Wealth of this World, for Meum and Tuum are the great Makebates. Men's holding their own, and graſping at more than their own are the Riſe of Wars and Fightings.

2. They abounded in Charity, ſo that in effect they had all Things common; for v. 34. There was not any among them that lacked, but Care was taken for their Supply. Thoſe that had been maintained upon the publick Charity, when they turn'd Chriſtians, probably were excluded, and therefore it was fit the Church ſhould take Care of them. As there were many Poor that receiv'd the Goſpel, ſo there were ſome Rich that were able to maintain them, and the Grace of GOD made them willing. Therefore thoſe that gather much have nothing over, becauſe what they have over they have for them who gather little, that they may have no Lack, 2 Cor. viii. 14, 15. The Goſpel hath laid all Things common, not ſo that the Poor are allowed to rob the Rich, but ſo as that the Rich are appointed to relieve the Poor.

3. They did many of them ſell their Eſtates to raiſe a Fund for Charity; As many as had poſſeſſions of Lands or Houſes ſold them, v. 34. Dr. Lightfoot computes that this was the Year of Jubilee in the Jewiſh Nation, the 50th Year (the Twenty Eighth ſince they ſettled in Canaan 1400 Years ago) ſo that what was ſold that Year being not to return till the next Jubilee, Lands then took a good Price, And ſo the ſale of thoſe Lands would raiſe the more Money.

Now, 1. We are here told what they did with the Money that was ſo raiſed; they laid it at the Apoſtles Feet, i. e. they left it to them to be diſpos'd of as they thought fit; probably they had their Support from it; from whence elſe could they have it? Obſerve, The Apoſtles would have it laid at their Feet in Token of their holy Contempt of the Wealth of the World; They thought it fitter it ſhould be laid at their Feet then lodged in their Hands, or in their Boſoms. Being laid there it was not hoared up, but diſtribution was made by proper Perſons, unto every Man according as he had need great Care ought to be taken in the Diſtribution of publick Charity; (1.) That it be given to ſuch as have need, that are not able to procure a competent Maintenance for themſelves, through Age, Infancy, Sickneſs, or bodily Diſability, or Incapacity of Mind, Want either of Ingenuity or Activity, croſs Providences, Loſſes, Oppreſſions, a numerous Charge; Thoſe that upon any of theſe Accounts or any other have real need, and have not Relations of their own to help them, but above all thoſe that are reduc'd to Want for well doing, and for the Teſtimony of a good Conſcience, ought to be taken Care of, and provided for, and with a prudent application of what is given ſo as may be moſt for their Benefit. (2.) That it be given to every Man for whom it is intended according as he had need, without Partiality or Reſpect of Perſons; 'Tis a Rule in diſpenſing Charity as well as adminiſtrating Juſtice ut parium par ſit ratio, that thoſe who are equally needing and equally deſerving, ſhould be equally helped, and that the Charity ſhould be ſuited and adapted to the Neceſſity; as the Word is.

2. Here is one particular Perſon inſtanced in that was remarkable, for this generous Charity; it was Barnabas, afterwards Paul's Collegue. Obſerve,

1. The Account here given concerning him, v. 36. his Name was Joſes: He was of the Tribe of Levi, for there were Levites among the Jews of the Diſperſion, who 'tis probable preſided in their Synagogue Worſhip, and according to the Duty of that Tribe taught them the good Knowledge of the Lord. He was born in Cyprus, a great Way off from Jeruſalem, his Parents tho' Jews, having a Settlement there. Notice is taken of the Apoſtle's changing his Name, after he aſſociated with them; 'tis probable he was one of the Seventy Diſciples, and as he increaſed in Gifts and Graces, grew eminent, and was reſpected by the Apoſtles, who in token of their Value for him, gave him a Name, Barnabas; The Son of Prophecy, ſo it properly ſignifies, he being endued with extrordinary Gifts of Prophecy; But the Helleniſt Jews (ſaith Grotius) called Praying παράκλησις, and therefore by that Word it is render'd here a Son of Exhortation, ſo ſome, one that had an excellent Faculty of Healing, and Perſuading; we have an Inſtance of it, Acts xi. 22, 24. A Son of Conſolation, ſo we read it; One that did himſelf walk very much in the Comforts of the Ghoſt, a chearful Chriſtian, and this enlarg'd his Heart in Charity to the Poor, or, One that was eminent for comforting the Lord's People, and ſpeaking Peace to wounded troubled Conſciences, he had an admirable Felicity that Way. There were two among the Apoſtles that were called Boanerges, Sons of Thunder, Mar. iii. 17. But here was a Son of Conſolation with them; each had their ſeveral Gift, neither muſt cenſure the other, but both eaſe one another, let the one ſearch the Wound, and then let the other heal it and bind it up.

2. Here's an Account of his Charity, and great Generoſity to the publick Fund; his is particularly taken notice of, becauſe of the Eminency of his Services afterwards in the Church of GOD, eſpecially in carrying the Goſpel to the Gentiles; which that it might not appear to come from any ill Will to his own Nation, we have here his Benevolence to the Jewiſh Converts; or perhaps this is mention'd becauſe it was a leading Card, and an Example to others; he having Land, whether in Cyprus where he was born, or in Judea where he now lived, or elſewhere is not certain, but he ſold it, not to buy elſewhere to Advantage, but as a Levite indeed, who knew he had the Lord God of Iſrael for his Inheritance, he deſpis'd earthly Inheritances, would be cumber'd no more with them, but brought the Money and laid it at the Apoſtle's Feet, to be given in Charity. Thus as One that was deſign'd to be a Preacher of the Goſpel, he diſentangled himſelf from the Affairs of this Life. And he loſt nothing upon the Ballance of the Account, by laying the Purchaſe of Money at the Apoſtles Feet, when he himſelf was in effect numbred among the Apoſtles, by that Word of the Holy Ghoſt, Separate me Barnabas and Saul, for the Work whereunto I have call'd them, Acts xiii. 2. Thus for the Reſpect he ſhew'd to the Apoſtles, as Apoſtles, he had an Apoſtle's Reward.

CHAP. V.

In this Chapter we have (1.) The Sin and Puniſhment of Ananias and Sapphira, who for lying to the Holy Ghoſt were ſtruck Dead at the Word of Peter, v. 1—11. (2.) The flouriſhing State of the Church in the Power that went along with the Preaching of the Goſpel. v. 12—16. (3.) The Impriſonment of the Apoſtles, and their miraculous Diſcharge out of Priſon, with freſh Orders to go on to preach the Goſpel, which they did to the great Vexation of their Perſecutors v. 17—26. (4.) Their Arraignment before the great Sanhedrin, and their Juſtification of themſelves in what they did, v. 27—33. (5.) Gamaliels Counſel concerning them, that they ſhould not perſecute them, but let them alone and ſee what would come of it, and their Concurrence for the preſent with this Advice, in the Diſmiſſion of the Apoſtles with no more but a Scourging, v. 34—40. (6.) The Apoſtles chearful Progreſs in their Work, notwithſtanding the Prohibition laid upon them, and the Indignity done them, v. 41, 42.

BUT a certain man, named Ananias, with Sapphira his wife, ſold a poſſeſſion, 2 And kept back part of the price, his wife alſo being privy to it, and brought a certain part, and laid it at the apoſtles feet. 3. But Peter ſaid, Ananias, why hath Satan filled thine heart to lie to the Holy Ghoſt, and to keep back part of the price of the land? 4 Whilſt it remained, was it not in thine own? and after it was ſold, was it not in thine own power? why haſt thou conceiv'd this thing in thine heart? thou haſt not lied unto Men, but unto God. 5 And Ananias hearing theſe words, fell down and gave up the Ghoſt: and great fear came on all them that heard theſe things. 6 And the young Men aroſe, wound him up, and carried him out, and buried him. 7 And it was about the ſpace of three hours after, when his wife, not knowing what was done, came in, 8 And Peter anſwered unto her, Tell me whether ye ſold the Land for ſo much. And ſhe ſaid, Yea, for ſo much. 9 Then Peter ſaid unto her, How is it that ye have agreed together, to tempt the Spirit of the Lord? behold, the feet of them which have buried thy husband are at the door, and ſhall carry thee out. 10 Then ſhe fell down ſtraitway at his feet, and yielded up the Ghoſt: and the young men came in and found her dead, and carrying her forth, buried her by her husband. 11 And great fear came upon all the church, and upon as many as heard theſe things.

The Chapter begins with a melancholy, But, which puts a Stop to the pleaſant and agreeable Proſpect of Things which we had in the foregoing Chapters; as every Man, ſo every Church in its beſt State has its But, (1.) The Diſciples were very holy and heavenly, and ſeem'd to be all exceeding good; But it prov'd there were Hypocrites among them, whoſe Hearts were not right in the Sight of GOD, who when they were baptiz'd and took upon them the Form of Godlineſs, deny'd the Power of Godlineſs, and ſtopt ſhort of that. There is a Mixture of Bad with Good in the beſt Societies on this ſide Heaven; Tares will grow among the Wheat until the Harveſt. (2.) It was the Praiſe of the Diſciples that they came up to that Perfection which Chriſt recommended to the Rich young Man, they ſold what they had and gave to the Poor, But even that prov'd a Cloak and Cover of Hypocriſy, which was thought the greateſt Proof and Evidence of Sincerity. (3.) The Signs and Wonders which the Apoſtles wrought were hitherto Miracles of Mercy, But now comes in a Miracle of Judgment; And here's an Inſtance of Severity, following the Inſtances of Goodneſs that God may be both lov'd and fear'd. Obſerve here, Firſt, The Sin of Ananias and Sapphira his Wife. 'Tis good to ſee Husband and Wife joyning together in that which is Good, but to be confederate in Evil, is to be like Adam and Eve when they agreed to eat the forbidden Fruit, and were one in their Diſobedience.

Now their Sin was,

1. That they were ambitious of being thought eminent Diſciples, and of the firſt Rank, when really they were not true Diſciples; would paſs for ſome of the moſt fruitful Trees in Chriſt's Vineyard, when really the Root of the Matter was not found in them. They ſold a Poſſeſſion, and brought the Money, as Barnabas did, to the Apoſtles Feet, that they might not ſeem to be behind the very chief of the Believers, but might be applauded and cry'd up, and ſtand ſo much the fairer for Preferment in the Church; which perhaps they thought would ſhortly ſhine in ſecular Pomp and Grandeur. Note, 'Tis poſſible Hypocrites may deny themſelves in one Thing, but then it is to ſerve themſelves in another; may forgo their ſecular Advantage in one Inſtance with a Proſpect of finding their Account in ſomething elſe. Ananias and Sapphira would take upon them a Profeſſion of Chriſtianity, and make a fair Shew in the Fleſh with it, and ſo would mock GOD and deceive others, when they knew they could not go through with the Chriſtian Profeſſion. It was commendable, and ſo far 'twas right in that Rich young Man, that he would not pretend to follow Chriſt when if it ſhould come to a Pinch, he knew he could not come up to his Terms, but he went away ſorrowful; Ananias and Sapphira pretended they could come up to the Terms that they might have the Credit of being Diſciples, when really they could not, and ſo were a Diſcredit to Diſcipleſhip. Note, It is often of fatal Conſequence, for People to go a greater Length in Profeſſion than their inward Principle will admit of.

2. That they were covetous of the Wealth of the World and diſtruſtful of GOD and his Providence. They Sold the Land, and perhaps then in a Pang of Zeal deſign'd no other but to dedicate the Whole of the Purchaſe Money to pious Uſes, and made a Vow, or at leaſt conceiv'd a full Purpoſe to do ſo; But when the Money was receiv'd, their Heart fail'd them, that they kept back part of the price, v. 2. becauſe they lov'd the Money, and thought it was too much to part with at once, and to truſt in the Apoſtles Hands; and becauſe they knew not but they might want it themſelves, and tho' now all Things were common, yet it would not be ſo long, and what ſhould they do in a Time of Need, if they ſhould leave themſelves Nothing to take to. They could not take GOD's Word that they ſhould be provided for, but throught they would play a wiſer Part than the reſt had done, and lay up for a rainy Day. Thus they thought to ſerve both God and Mammon, God by bringing Part of the Money to the Apoſtles Feet, and Mammon by keeping the other Part in their own Pocket; as if there were not an All ſufficiency in GOD to make up the Whole to them, except they retain'd ſome in their own Hands by way of Caution Money. Their Hearts were divided, ſo were they found Faulty, Hoſ. x. 2. They halted between too; if they had been through pac'd Worldlings they would not have ſold their Poſſeſſion, and if they had been through-pac'd Chriſtians they would not have detain'd Part of the Price.

3. That they thought to deceive the Apoſtles, and make them believe they brought the whole Purchaſe-Money, when really it was but a Part. They came with as good an Aſſurance, and as great a Show of Piety and Devotion as any of them, and laid the Money at the Apoſtles Feet, as if it were their All. They diſſembled with GOD and his Spirit, with Chriſt and his Church and Miniſters; And this was their Sin.

Secondly, The indictment of Ananias, which prov'd both his Condemnation and Execution for this Sin. When he brought the Money, and expected to be commended and encour'd as others were, Peter took him to Task about it. He without any Enquiry, or Examination of Witneſſes concerning it, charges him peremptorily with the Crime, and aggravates it, and lays load upon him for it, ſhewing it him in its own Colour, v. 3, 4. The Spirit of GOD in Peter, not only diſcover'd the Fact without any Information, when perhaps no one in the World knew it but the Man and his Wife themſelves, but likewiſe diſcern'd the Principle of reigning Infidelity in the Heart of Ananias, which was at the Bottom of it, and therefore proceeded againſt him ſo ſuddenly. Had it been a Sin of Infirmity, through the Surprize of a Temptation, Peter would have taken Ananias aſide, and have bid him go home and fetch the reſt of the Money, and repent of his Folly in attempting to put this Cheat upon them: But he knew that his Heart was fully ſet in him to do this Evil, and therefore allow'd him not Space to repent him. He here ſhew'd him,

1. The Original of his Sin. Satan fill'd his Heart, he not only ſuggeſted it to him, and put it into his Head, but he hurry'd him on with a Reſolution to do it. Whatever is contrary to the good Spirit, proceeds from the evil Spirit; And thoſe Hearts are fill'd by Satan, in which Worldlineſs reigns, and has the Aſcendant. Some think Ananias was one of thoſe that had receiv'd the Holy Ghoſt, and was fill'd with his Gifts, but having provok'd the Spirit to withdraw from him, now Satan fill'd his Heart: As when the Spirit of the Lord departed from Saul, an evil Spirit, from God troubled him. Satan is a Lying Spirit, he was ſo in the Mouth of Ahab's Prophets, and ſo he was in the Mouth of Ananias, and by that made it appear that he fill'd his Heart.

2. The Sin it ſelf, He ly'd to the Holy Ghoſt; A Sin of ſuch an heinous Nature that he could not have been guilty of it, if Satan had not fill'd his Heart. The Phraſe which we render lying to the Holy Ghoſt, is ψεύσασθαί σε τὸ Πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον which ſome read, to bely the Holy Ghoſt; which may be taken two Ways: (1.) That he bely'd the Holy Ghoſt in himſelf; ſo Dr. Lightfoot takes it, and ſuppoſeth, that Ananias was not an ordinary Believer, but a Mininſter, and One that had receiv'd the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt with the Hundred and Twenty (for Mention is made of him immediately after Barnabas) yet he durſt thus by diſſembling, bely and ſhame that Gift. Or thus; They who had ſold their Eſtates and laid the Money at the Apoſtles Feet, did it by the ſpecial Impulſe of the Holy Ghoſt, enabling them to do an Act ſo very great and generous, and Ananias pretended, that he was mov'd by the Holy Ghoſt to do what he did, as others were, whereas it appear'd by his Baſeneſs that he was not under the Influence of the Good Spirit at all; for had it been his Work, it would have been perfect. (2.) That he bely'd the Holy Ghoſt in the Apoſtles, to whom he brought the Money; he miſrepreſented the Spirit they were acted by, either by a Suſpicion that they would not faithfully diſtribute what they were intruſted with, which was a baſe Suggeſtion, as if they were falſe to the Truſt repos'd in them; Or, by an Aſſurance that they could not diſcover the Fraud. He bely'd the Holy Ghoſt, when by what he did he would have it thought, that thoſe who are endu'd with the Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt might as eaſily be impos'd upon as other Men, like Gehazi, whom his Maſter convicted of his Error by that Word, Went not mine Heart with thee? 2 Kings v. 26. It is charg'd upon the Houſe of Iſrael and Judah, when like Ananias here, they dealt very treacherouſly, that they bely'd the Lord, ſaying, It is not He. Jer. v. 11, 12. Thus Ananias thought the Apoſtles were altogether ſuch as himſelf; and this was belying the Holy Ghoſt in them, as if He were not in them a Diſcerner of Spirits; whereas they had all the Gifts of the Spirit in them, which to others were divided ſeverally. See 1 Cor. xii. 8, 10. They that pretend to an Inſpiration of the Spirit in impoſing upon the Church their own Fancies either in Opinion or Practice, that ſay, They are mov'd from above, when they are carry'd on by their Pride, Covetouſneſs, or Affectation of Dominion, bely the Holy Ghoſt.

But we read it, to lye unto the Holy Ghoſt; which Reading is countenanc'd by v. 4. Thou haſt not ly'd unto Men, but unto God. (1.) Ananias told a lye, a deliberate Lye, and with a Purpoſe to deceive; he told Peter, he had ſold a Poſſeſſion, Houſe or Lands, and this was the Purchaſe Money. Perhaps, he expreſs'd himſelf in Words thas were capable of a double Meaning, us'd ſome Equivocations about it, which he thought might palliate the Matter a little, and ſave him from the Guilt of a downright Lye; or perhaps, he ſaid nothing; but it was all one, he did as the reſt did who brought the whole Price, and would be thought to do ſo, and expected the Praiſe they had that did ſo, and the ſame Privilege and Acceſs to the Common-Stock as they had; and therefore it was an implicite Proteſtation that he brought the whole Price, as they did. And this was a Lye; for he kept back Part. Note, Many are brought to groſs Lying by reigning Pride, and Affectation of the Applauſe of Men; particularly in Works of Charity to the Poor. That therefore we may not be found boaſting of a falſe Gift given to us, or given by us, Prov. xxv. 14. we muſt not boaſt even of a true Gift; which is the Meaning of our Saviour's Caution in Works of Charity, Let not thy left Hand know what thy right Hand doth. Thoſe that brag of Good-works they never did, or promiſe Good-works they never do, or make the Good-works they do, more or better than really they are, come under the Guit of Ananias's Lye; which it concerns us all to dread the Thought of. (2.) He told this Lye to the Holy Ghoſt. 'Twas not ſo much to the Apoſtles, as to the Holy Ghoſt in them, that the Money was brought, and that was ſaid, which was ſaid, v. 4. Thou haſt not ly'd unto Men, not to Men only, not to Men chiefly, tho' the Apoſtles be but Men, but thou ly'd unto God. From hence it is juſtly infer'd, that the Holy Ghoſt is GOD; for he that lyeth to the Holy Ghoſt lyeth to GOD. “They that ly'd “ to the Apoſtles, acted and acting by the Spirit of GOD, are “ ſaid to lye to GOD, becauſe the Apoſtles acted by the Power “ and Authority of GOD: From whence it follows, (as Dr. “ Whitby well obſerves) That the Power and Authority of the “ Spirit, muſt be the Power and Authority of GOD.” And as he further argues, “Ananias is ſaid to lye to God, becauſe he ly'd “ to that Spirit in the Apoſtles which enabled them to diſcern “ the Secrets of Mens Hearts and Actions, which being the “ Property of GOD alone, he that lyes to him muſt therefore “ lye to GOD, becauſe he lies to One who has the incommunicable Property of GOD, and conſequently to Divine Eſſence.”

3. The Aggravations of the Sin, v. 4. Whilſt it remain'd was it not thine own? And after it was ſold, was it not in thine own power? which may be underſtood two ways; 1. Thou waſt under no Temptation to keep back Part of the Price; Before it was ſold it was thy own, and not mortgaged, nor encumbred, or any way engag'd for Debt. And when it was ſold it was in thy own Power to diſpoſe of the Money at thy Pleaſure, ſo that thou mighteſt as well have brought the Whole as a Part. Thou hadſt no Debts to pay, perhaps no Children to provide for, ſo that thou waſt not under the Influence of any particular Inducement to keep back part of the price. Thou waſt a Tranſgreſſor without a Cauſe. Or, 2. Thou waſt under no Neceſſity of ſelling thy Land at all, or bringing any of the Money to the Apoſtles Feet: Thou mighteſt have kept the Money if thou hadſt pleas'd and the Land too, and never have pretended to this Piece of Perfection. This Rule of Charity, the Apoſtle gives, that People be not preſs'd, and that it be not urg'd as of neceſſity, becauſe God loves a chearful Giver, 2 Cor. ix. 7. and Philemon muſt do a good Work, not as it were of neceſſity, but willingly, Philem. 14. As it is better not to vow than to vow and not to pay, ſo better had it been for him not to have ſold his Land at all, than thus to keep back Part of the Price, not to have pretended to do the good Work, than thus to do it by the halves. When it was Sold it was in thine own Power, but it was not ſo when it was vow'd, thou hadſt then open'd thy Mouth to the Lord, and could'ſt not go back. Thus in giving our Hearts to GOD, we are not admitted to divide them: Satan like the Mother, whoſe own the Child was not would take up with a Half but GOD will have all or none.

4. All this Guilt thus aggravated is charg'd upon him: Why, haſt thou conceiv'd this Thing in thine Heart? Obſerve, Tho' Satan filled his Heart to do it, yet he is ſaid to have conceived it in his own Heart, which ſhews that we cannot extenuate our Sins by laying the Fault of them upon the Devil; he atempts, but he cannot force, 'tis of our own Luſts that we are drawn away and entic'd. The ill Thing whatever it is that is ſaid or done, the Sinner has conceiv'd it in his own Heart, and therefore if thou ſcorneſt, thou alone ſhall bear it. The Cloſe of the Charge is very high, but very juſt; Thou haſt not lied unto Men but unto God; What Emphaſis both the Prophet lay upon that of Ahaz, not wearying Men only, but wearying my God alſo, Iſa. vii. 13. and Moſes upon that of Iſrael, your Murmurings are not againſt us, but againſt the Lord, Exod. xvi. 8. ſo here thou mighteſt have impos'd upon us, who are Men like thy ſelf, but Be not deceiv'd God is not mocked; If we think to put a Cheat upon GOD, we ſhall prove in the End to have put a fatal Cheat upon our own Souls.

Thirdly, The Death and Bruial of Ananias; v. 5, 6.

1. He dy'd upon the Spot. Ananias hearing theſe Words was ſpeechleſs in the ſame Senſe that he was, who was charge'd with intruding into the Wedding Feaſt without a Wedding Garment he had nothing to ſay for himſelf; But that was not all, he was ſtruck ſpeechleſs with a Witneſs, for he was ſtruck Dead; he fell down and gave up the Ghoſt. It doth not appear whether Peter deſign'd and expected that this would follow upon what he ſaid to him, 'tis likely he did, for to Sapphira his Wife Peter particularly ſpoke Death, v. 9. ſome think an Angel ſtruck him, that he Dy'd, as Herod, Acts xii. 23. or his own Conſcience ſmote him with ſuch Horrour and Amazement at the Senſe of his Guilt, that he ſunk and dy'd away under the Load of it; And perhaps when he was convicted of Lying to the Holy Ghoſt, he remembred the Unpardonableneſs of the Blaſphemy againſt the Holy Ghoſt, which ſtruck him like a Dagger to the Heart. See the Power of the Word of GOD, in the Mouth of the Apoſtles. As it was to ſome a Savour of Life unto Life, ſo it was to others a Savour of Death unto Death. As there are thoſe whom the Goſpel juſtifies ſo there are thoſe whom it condemns.

This Puniſhment of Ananias may ſeem ſevere, but we are ſure it was juſt; (1.) It was deſign'd to maintain the Honour of the Holy Ghoſt, as now lately pour'd out upon the Apoſtles, in order to the ſetting up of the Goſpel Kingdom. 'Twas a great Affront which Ananias put upon the Holy Ghoſt, as if he could be impos'd upon, and it had a direct Tendency to invalidate the Apoſtles Teſtimony; for if they could not by the Spirit diſcover this Fraud, How could they by this Spirit diſcover the deep Things of GOD, which they were to reveal to the Children of Men? It was therefore neceſſary the Credit of the Apoſtles Gifts and Powers ſhould be ſupported tho' it was at this Expence. (2.) It was deſign'd to deter others from the like Preſumptions, now at the Beginning of this Diſpenſation. Simon Magus afterwards was not thus puniſh'd, nor Elymas, but Ananias was made an Example now at firſt, that with the ſenſible Proofs given what a comfortable Thing it is to receive the Spirit, there might be alſo ſenſible Proofs given what a dangerous Thing it is to reſiſt the Spirit, and do deſpiſe to him. How ſeverely was the worſhipping of the Golden Calf puniſh'd, and the gathering of Sticks on the Sabbath-Day, when the Law, of the Second and Fourth Commandments were now newly given! ſo was the Offering of ſtrange Fire by Nadab and Abihu, and the Mutiny of Korah and his Company, when the Fire from Heaven was now newly given, and the Authority of Moſes and Aaron now newly eſtabliſh'd.

The doing of this by the Miniſtry of Peter, who himſelf with a Lye deny'd his Maſter but a while ago, intimates that it was not the Reſentment of a Wrong done to himſelf, for then he who had himſelf been faulty, would have had Charity for them that offended, and he who himſelf had repented, and been forgiven, would have forgiven this Affront, and endeavour'd to bring this Offender to Repentance; But it was the Act of the Spirit of God in Peter, to him the Indignity was done, and by him the Puniſhment was inflicted.

2. He was buryed preſently; for that was the Manner of the Jews. v. 5. The young Men, that 'tis probable were appointed to that Office in the Church of burying the Dead, as among the Romans the Libitinarii and Pollinctores; Or, the young Men that attended the Apoſtles, and waited on them, they wound up the dead Body in Grave-clothes, carryed it out of the City, and buryed it decently, though he dyed in Sin, and by an immediate Stroke of Divine Vengeance.

Fourthly, The Reckoning with Sapphira, the Wife of Ananias who perhaps was firſt in the Tranſgreſſion, and tempted her Husband to eat this forbidden Fruit. She came in to the Place, where the Apoſtles were, which as it ſhould ſeem was Solomon's Porch, for there we find them, v. 12. a Part of the Temple where Chriſt us'd to walk, Joh. x. 23. She came in about Three Hours after, expecting to ſhare in the Thanks of the Houſe for her coming in and conſenting to the Sale of the Land, of which perhaps ſhe was entitled to her Dower, or Thirds; for ſhe knew not what was done: 'Twas ſtrange, no Body ran to tell her of the ſudden Death of her Husband, that ſhe might keep away: Perhaps they did, and ſhe was not at home; and ſo when ſhe came to preſent her ſelf before the Apoſtles as a Benefactor to the Fund, ſhe met with a Breach inſtead of a Bleſſing.

1. She was found guilty of ſharing with her Husband in his Sin, by a Queſtion that Peter ask'd her, v. 8. Tell me whether ye ſold the Land for ſo much? naming the Sum which Ananias had brought and laid at the Apoſtles Feet, was that all you receiv'd for the Sale of the Land, and had you no more for it? No, ſaith ſhe, we had no more, but that was every Farthing we received. Ananias and his Wife agreed to tell the ſame Story, and the Bargain being private, and by Conſent kept to themſelves, no Body cou'd diſprove them, and therefore they thought they might ſafely ſtand in the Lie, and ſhould gain Credit to it. 'Tis ſad, to ſee thoſe Relations who ſhould quicken one another to that which is Good, harden one another in that which is Evil.

2. Sentence is paſt upon her, that ſhe ſhould partake in her Husband's Doom, v. 9.

(1.) Her Sin is open'd; How is it ye have agreed together to tempt the Spirit of the Lord? Before he paſſeth Sentence, he makes her to know her Abominations, and ſhews her the Evil of her Sin.

(1.) That they tempted the Spirit of the Lord; As Iſrael tempted GOD in the Deſart, when they ſaid, Is the Lord among us? Or is He not? after they had ſeen ſo many miraculous Proofs of his Power, and not only his Preſence but his Preſidency, when they ſaid, Can God furniſh a Table? ſo here, Can the Spirit in the Apoſtles diſcover this Fraud? Can they diſcern that this is but a Part of the Price, when we tell them it is the Whole? Can he judge through this dark Cloud? Job xxii. 13. They ſaw they had the Gift of Tongues, but had they the Gift of diſcerning Spirits? Thoſe that preſume upon Security and Impunity in Sin, tempt the Spirit of GOD, they tempt GOD as if He were altogether ſuch an One as themſelves.

(2.) That they agreed together to do it; making the Bond of their Relation to each other, which by the Divine Inſtitution is a ſacred Tie, to become a Bond of Iniquity. 'Tis hard to ſay which is worſe between Yoke-fellows and other Relations, a Diſcord in Good, or Concord in Evil. It ſeems to intimate their agreeing together to do it was a further tempting of the Spirit, as if when they had engag'd to keep one another's Counſel in this Matter, even the Spirit of the LORD himſelf could not diſcover them. Thus they digg'd deep to hide their Council from the Lord; but were made to know it's in vain. How is it that ye are thus infatuated? What ſtange Stupidity has ſeiz'd you, that you would venture to make Trial of that which is paſt diſpute? How is it that you who are baptiz'd Chriſtians, do not underſtand your ſelves better? How durſt you run ſo great a Riſque?

(3.) Her Doom is read; Behold the Feet of them which have bury'd thy Husband are at the Door, perhaps he heard them coming he knew that they could not be long; and they ſhall carry thee out. As Adam and Eve who agreed to eat the forbidden Fruit, were turn'd together out of Paradice, ſo Ananias and Sapphira, who agreed to tempt the Spirit of the Lord, were together chas'd out of the World.

3. The Sentence executed it ſelf; There needed no Executioner, a killing Power went along with Peter's Word, as ſometimes as healing Power did; for the GOD in whoſe Name he ſpoke, kills and makes alive; and out of his Mouth (and Peter was now his Mouth) both Evil and Good proceed, v. 10. Then fell ſhe down ſtraightway at his Feet. Some Sinners GOD makes quick Work with, while others he bears long with; for which Difference doubtleſs there are good Reaſons; but he is not accountable to us for them. She heard not till now that her Husband was dead, the Notice of which, with the Diſcovery of her Sin, and the Sentence of Death paſſed upon her, ſtruck her as a Thunderbolt, and took her away as with a Whirlwind. And many Inſtances there are of ſudden Deaths, which are not to be look'd upon as the Puniſhment of ſome groſs Sin like this here; we muſt not think that all who dye ſuddenly are Sinners above others; perhaps 'tis in Favour to them, that they have quick Paſſage, however, 'tis Forewarning to all to be always ready: But here 'tis plain it was in Judgment. Some put the Queſtion concerning the eternal State of Ananias and Sapphira, and incline to think that the Deſtruction of the Fleſh, was that the Spirit might be ſav'd in the Day of the Lord Jeſus: And I ſhould go in with that charitable Opinion, if there had been any Space given them to repent, as there was to that inceſtuous Corinthian: But ſecret Things belong not to us. 'Tis ſaid, She fell down at Peter's Feet; there where ſhe ſhould have laid the whole Price, and did not, ſhe was herſelf laid, as it were to make up the Deficiency The young Men that had the Care of Funerals, coming in, found her Dead, and 'tis not ſaid, they wound her up, as they did Ananias, but they carry'd her out as ſhe was, and bury'd her by her Husband; and probably, an Inſcription was ſet over their Graves, intimating that they were joynt Monuments of Divine Wrath againſt thoſe that lye to the Holy Ghoſt. Some ask, Whether the Apoſtles kept the Money which they did bring, and concerning which they Lied. I am apt to think they did; they had not the Superſtition of thoſe who ſaid, It is not lawful for us to put it into the Treaſury; For, unto the Pure, all things are pure. What they brought was not polluted to them that they brought it to; but what they kept back, was polluted to them that kept it back. Uſe was made of the Cenſers of Korah's Mutineers.

Fifthly, The Impreſſion that this made upon the People; Notice is taken of this in the Midſt of the Story, v. 5. Great Fear came upon all that heard theſe Things; that heard what Peter ſaid, and ſaw what followed; Or, upon all that heard the Story of it; for no doubt, it was all the Talk of the City. And again, v. 11. Great Fear came upon all the Church, and upon as many as heard theſe Things.

1. They that had joyn'd themſelves to the Church were hereby ſtruck with an Awe of GOD, and of his Judgments, and with a greater Veneration of this Diſpenſation of the Spirit they were now under. It was not a Damp or Check to their holy Joy, but taught them to be ſerious in it, and to rejoyce with Trembling. All that laid their Money at the Apoſtles Feet after this, were afraid of keeping back any Part of the Price.

2. All that heard it were put into a Conſternation by it, and were ready to ſay, Who is able to ſtand before this Holy Lord God, and his Spirit in the Apoſtles? as 1 Sam. vi. 20.

12 And by the hands of the apoſtles were many ſigns and wonders wrought among the people; (and they were all with one accord in Solomon's porch. 13 And of the reſt durſt no man joyn himſelf to them: but the people magnified them. 14 And believers were the more added unto the Lord, multitudes both of men and women) 15 Inſomuch that they brought forth the ſick into the ſtreets, and laid them on beds and couches, that at the leaſt, the ſhadow of Peter paſſing by, might overſhadow ſome of them. 16 There came alſo a multitude out of the cities round about unto Jeruſalem, bringing ſick folks, and them which were vexed with unclean ſpirits: and they were healed every one.

We have here an Account of the Progreſs of the Goſpel, notwithſtanding this terrible Judgment inflicted upon Two Hypocrites.

1. Here's a general Account of the Miracles which the Apoſtles wrought, v. 12. By the Hand, of the Apoſtles were many Signs and Wonders wrought among the People; many Miracles of Mercy, for one of Judgment. Now the Goſpel Power return'd to its proper Channel, which is that of Mercy and Grace. GOD had come out of his Place to puniſh, but now returns to his Place, to his Mercy-ſeat again. The Miracles they wrought prov'd their Divine Miſſion; they were not a few but many, of diverſe Kinds, and oft repeated; they were Signs and Wonders ſuch Wonders as were confeſſedly Signs of a Divine Preſence and Power; they were not done in a Corner, but among the People, who were at Liberty to enquire into them, and if there had been any Fraud or Colluſion in them would have diſcover'd it.

1. We are here told what are the Effects of theſe Miracles which the Apoſtles wrought.

Firſt, The Church was hereby kept together, and confirm'd in their Adherence both to the Apoſtles, and to one another. They of the Church were all with one accord in Solomon's Porch.

1. They met in the Temple, in the open Place that was call'd Solomon's Porch. 'Twas ſtrange the Rulers of the Temple ſuffer'd them to keep their Meeting there: But GOD inclin'd their Hearts to tolerate them there a While, for the more convenient Spreading of the Goſpel; and they who permitted Buyers and Sellers, could not for ſhame prohibit ſuch Preachers and Healers there. They all met in publick Worſhip; ſo early is the Inſtitution of Religious Aſſemblies obſerv'd in the Church, which muſt by no Means be forſaken or let fall, for in them a Profeſſion of Religion is kept up.

2. They were there with one Accord, unanimous in their Doctrine, Worſhip and Diſcipline; And there was no Diſcontent or Murmuring about the Death of Ananias and Sapphira, as there was againſt Moſes and Aaron, about the Death of Korah and his Company, ye have killed the People of the Lord, Numb. xvi. 41. The Separation of Hypocrites by diſtinguiſhing Judgments ſhould make the Sincere cleave ſo much the cloſer to each other, and to the Goſpel Miniſtry.

Secondly, It gain'd the Apoſtles very great Reſpect, who were the prime Miniſters of State in Chriſt's Kingdom.

1. The other Miniſters kept their Diſtance; of the reſt of their Company durſt no Man joyn himſelf to them, as their Equal, or an Aſſociate with them; Tho' others of them were endued with the Holy Ghoſt and ſpoke with Tongues, yet none of them at this Time did ſuch Signs and Wonders as the Apoſtles did; And therefore they acknowledg'd their Superiority, and in every Thing yielded to them.

2. All the People magnified them, and had them in great Veneration; ſpoke of them with Reſpect, and repreſented them as the Favourites of Heaven, and unſpeakable Bleſſings to this Earth. Tho' the chief Prieſts vilify'd them, and did all they could to make them contemptible, that did not hinder the People from Magnifying them, who ſaw the Thing in a true Light. Obſerve, The Apoſtles were far from Magnifying themſelves, they tranſmitted the Glory of all they did very carefully and faithfully to Chriſt, and yet the People magnify'd them, for they that humbled themſelves ſhall be exalted, and thoſe honour'd that honour GOD only.

Thirdly, The Church encreas'd in Number, v. 14. Believers were the more added to the Lord, and no doubt joyn'd themſelves to the Church, when they ſaw that GOD was in it of a Truth even Multitudes both of Men and Women. They were ſo far from being deter'd by the Example that was made of Ananias and Sapphira, that they were rather invited by it into a Society that kept ſuch a ſtrict Diſcipline. Obſerve,

1. Believers are added to the Lord Jeſus, joyned to him, and ſo joyned to his myſtical Body, from which nothing can ſeparate us and cut us off, but that which ſeparates us and cuts us off from Chriſt. Many have been brought to the Lord, and yet there is Room for others to be added to him, added to the Number of thoſe that are united to him; and Additions will ſtill be in the making till the Myſtery of GOD ſhall be finiſh'd, and the Number of the Elect accompliſh'd.

2. Notice is taken of the Converſion of Women as well as Men; more Notice than generally was in the Jewiſh Church, in which they neither receiv'd the Sign of Circumciſion, nor were oblig'd to attend the ſolemn Feaſts; And the Court of Women was one of the outer Courts of the Temple. But as among thoſe that follow'd Chriſt, while he was upon Earth, ſo among thoſe that believ'd on him after he went to Heaven, great Notice was taken of the good Women.

Fourthly, The Apoſtles had Abundance of Patients, and gain'd Abundance of Reputation both to them and their Doctrine, by the Cure of them all v. 15, 16. ſo many Signs and Wonders were Wrought by the Apoſtles, that all Manner of People put in for the Benefit of them, both in City and Country, and had it.

1. In the City; They brought forth their Sick into the Streets, for 'tis probable the Prieſts would not ſuffer them to bring 'em into the Temple to Solomon's Porch, and the Apoſtles had not Leiſure to come to the Houſes of them all. And they laid them on Beds and Couches, becauſe they were ſo weak that they could neither go nor ſtand, that at the leaſt the ſhadow of Peter paſſing by might overſhadow ſome of them, tho' it could not reach them all; And it ſhould ſeem it had the deſired Effect, as the Woman's Touch of the Hem of Chriſt's Garment had; and in this among other Things that Word of Chriſt was fulfilled, greater Works than theſe ſhall ye do. GOD expreſſes his Care of his People by His being their Shade on the right Hand; And the benign Influences of Chriſt as a King, are compar'd to the ſhadow of a great Rock. Peter comes between them and the Sun and ſo heals them, cuts them off from a Dependance upon Creature-ſufficiency as inſufficient, that they may expect Help only from that Spirit of Grace with whom he was fill'd. And if ſuch Miracles were wrought by Peter's Shadow, we have Reaſon to think they were ſo by the other Apoſtles, as by the Handkerchiefs from Paul's Body Acts xix. 12. no doubt both being with an actual Intention in the Minds of the Apoſtles thus to heal; ſo that it is abſurd hence to infer a healing Virtue in the Relicks of Saints that are dead and gone, we read not of any cur'd by the Relicks of Chriſt Himſelf, after he was gone, as certainly we ſhould if there had been any ſuch Thing.

2. In the Country Towns; Multitudes came to Jeruſalem from the Cities round about, bringing ſick Folks that were afflicted in Body, and them that were vexed with unclean Spirits, that were troubled in Mind, and they were healed every one, diſtemper'd Bodies and diſtemper'd Minds were ſet to rights. Thus Opportunity was given to the Apoſtles, both to convince Peoples Judgments by theſe Miracles, of the heavenly Original of the Doctrine they preach'd; and alſo to engage Peoples Affections both to them and it, by giving them a Specimen of its beneficial Tendency to the Welfare of this lower World.

17 Then the high prieſt roſe up, and all they that were with him, (which is the ſect of the ſadduces,) and were filled with indignation. 18 And laid their hands on the apoſtles, and put them in the common priſon, 19 But the angel of the Lord by night opened the priſon-doors, and brought them forth, and ſaid, 20 Go, ſtand and ſpeak in the temple to the people, all the words of this life. 21 And when they heard that, they entered into the temple early in the morning, and taught. But the high prieſt came, and they that were with him, and called the council together, and all the ſenate of the children of Iſrael, and ſent to the priſon to have them brought. 22 But when the Officers came, and found them not in the priſon, they returned, and told, 23 Saying, The priſon truly found we ſhut with all ſafety, and the keepers ſtanding without before the doors: but when we had opened, we found no man within. 24 Now when the high prieſt, and the captain of the temple, and the chief prieſts heard theſe things, they doubted of them whereunto this would grow. 25 Then came one and told them, ſaying, Behold, the men whom ye put in priſon, are ſtanding in the temple, and teaching the people.

Never did any good Work go on with any Hope of Succeſs, but it met with Oppoſition; They that are bent to do Miſchief cannot be reconcil'd to them who make it their Buſineſs to do Good. Satan the Deſtroyer of Mankind, ever was, and will be an Adverſary to thoſe who are the Benefactors of Mankind; and it would have been ſtrange if the Apoſtles had gone on thus teaching and healing, and had had no Check. In theſe Verſes we have the Malice of Hell, and the Grace of Heaven ſtruggling about them; the one to drive them off from this good Work, the other to animate them in it.

Firſt, The Prieſts were inrag'd at them, and clapt them up in Priſon, v. 17, 18. Obſerve,

1. Who their Enemies and Perſecutors were. The High Prieſt was the Ring-leader, Annas or Caiaphas, who ſaw their Wealth and Dignity, their Power and Tyranny, that is, their All at Stake, and inevitably loſt if the Spiritual and Heavenly Doctrine of Chriſt get Ground and prevail among the People. Thoſe that were moſt forward to joyn with the High-prieſt herein, were the Sect of the Sadduces, who had a particular Enmity to the Goſpel of Chriſt, becauſe it confirm'd and eſtabliſh'd the Doctrine of the inviſible World, the Reſurrection of the Dead, and the Future State, which they deny'd. It is not ſtrange if Men of no Religion be bigotted in their Oppoſition to True and Pure Religion.

2. How they were affected towards them; ill affected, and exaſperated to the laſt Degree, when they heard and ſaw what flocking there was to the Apoſtles, and how conſiderable they were become, they roſe up in a Paſſion, as Men that could no longer bear it, and were reſolv'd to make Head againſt it, being filled with Indignation at the Apoſtles for preaching the Doctrine of Chriſt, and curing Sick; and at the People for hearing them and bringing the Sick to them to be cured; and at themſelves and their own Party, for ſuffering this Matter to go ſo far, and not knocking it o'the Head at firſt. Thus are the Enemies of Chriſt and his Goſpel a Torment to themſelves. Envy ſlays the ſilly One.

3. How they proceeded againſt them, v. 18. They laid their hands, perhaps their own Hands, ſo low did their Malice make them ſtoop, or rather, the Hands of their Officers, and put them in the common Priſon, among the worſt of Malefactors. Hereby they deſign'd (1.) To put a Reſtraint upon them; tho' they could not lay any thing criminal to their Charge, worthy of Death or of Bonds, yet while they had them in Priſon, they kept them from going on in their Work, and that they reckon'd a good Point gain'd. Thus early were the Ambaſſadors of Chriſt in Bonds. (2.) To put a Terror upon them, and ſo to drive them off from their Work; The laſt Time they had them before them they had only threaten'd them, chap. iv. 21. but now finding that did not do, they impriſon'd them, to make them afraid of them. (3.) To put a Diſgrace upon them, and therefore they choſe to clap them up in the Common Priſon, that being thus vilify'd, the People might not as they had done magnify them. Satan hath carry'd on his Deſign againſt the Goſpel very much, by making the Preachers and Profeſſors of it deſpicable.

Secondly, GOD ſent his Angel to releaſe them out of Priſon, and to renew their Commiſſion to preach the Goſpel; The Powers of Darkneſs fight againſt them, but the Father of Lights fights for them, and ſends an Angel of Light to plead their Cauſe: The Lord will never deſert His Witneſſes, His Advocates, but will certainly ſtand by them, and bear them out.

1. The Apoſtles are diſcharg'd legally diſcharg'd from their Impriſonment, v. 19. The Angel of the Lord by Night in ſpite of all the Locks and Bars that were upon them, open'd the Priſon Doors, and in ſpite of all the Vigilance and Reſolution of the Keepers that ſtood without before the Doors, brought forth the Priſoners, (See v. 12.) gave them Authority to go out, without Crime, and led them through all Oppoſition. This Deliverance is not ſo particularly related, as that of Peter, ch. xiii. 7, &c. but the Miracle here, was the very ſame with that there. Note, There's no Priſon ſo dark, ſo ſtrong, but GOD can both viſit his People in it, and if he pleaſeth, fetch them out of it, This Diſcharge of the Apoſtles out of Priſon by an Angel, was a reſemblance of Chriſt's Reſurrection and his Diſcharge out of the Priſon of the Grave, and would help to confirm the Apoſtles Preaching of it.

2. They are charg'd, and legally charg'd to go on with their Work, ſo as thereby to be diſcharg'd from the Prohibition which the High Prieſt laid them under; the Angel bid them, Go, ſtand, and ſpeak in the Temple to the People all the Words of this Life, v. 20. When they were miraculouſly ſet at Liberty, they muſt not think it was that they might ſave their Lives by making their Eſcape out of the Hands of their Enemies. No; 'twas that they might go on with their Work, with ſo much the more Boldneſs. Recoveries from Sickneſs, Releaſes out of Trouble, are granted us, and are to be look'd upon by us as granted, not that we may enjoy the Comforts of our Life, but that GOD may be honour'd with the Services of our Life. Let my Soul live, and it ſhall praiſe thee, Pſal. cxix. 175. Bring my Soul out of Priſon, as the Apoſtles here, that I may praiſe thy Name, Pſ. cxlii. 7. See Iſa. xxxviii. 22.

Now in this Charge given them, Obſerve, (1.) Where they muſt preach; Speak in the Temple. One wou'd think, tho' they might not quit their Work, yet it had been Prudence to go on with it in a more private Place, where it would give leſs Offence to the Prieſts than in the Temple, and ſo would the leſs expoſe them. No; Speak in the Temple, for that the Place of Concourſe, that's your Father's Houſe, and is not to be as yet quite left deſolate. Is it not for the Preachers of Chriſt's Goſpel to retire into Corners as long as they can have any Opportunity of Preaching in the great Congregation. (2.) To whom they muſt preach; Speak to the People. Not to the Princes and Rulers, for they will not hearken; but to the People who are willing and deſirous to be taught, and whoſe Souls are as precious to Chriſt, and ought to be ſo to you, as the Souls of the Greateſt. Speak to the People, to all in general, for all are concern'd. (3.) How they muſt preach; Go, ſtand, and ſpeak: Which intimates, not only that they muſt ſpeak publickly, ſtand up and ſpeak, that all may hear; but they muſt ſpeak boldly and reſolutely, ſtand, and ſpeak; that is, ſpeak it as thoſe that reſolve to ſtand to it, to live and dye by it. (4.) What they muſt ſpeak; All the Words of this Life. This Life which you have been ſpeaking of among your ſelves; referring perhaps, to the Conferences concerning Heaven which they had among themſelves for their own and one another's Encouragement in Priſon; Go, and preach the ſame in the World, that others may be comforted with the ſame Comforts with which you your ſelves are comforted of GOD. Or, of this Life which the Sadducees deny, and therefore perſecute you; preach that, tho' you know that's it they have Indignation at. Or, of this Life emphatically; this heavenly, divine Life, in Compariſon with which, the preſent earthly Life doth not deſerve the Name. Or, theſe Words of Life, the very ſame you have preach'd, theſe Words which the Holy Ghoſt puts into your Mouth. Note, The Words of the Goſpel, are the Words of Life: quickening Words; they are Spirit, and they are Life. Words whereby we may be ſav'd; that's the ſame with this here, Acts xi. 24. The Goſpel is the Word of this Life, for it ſecures to us the Privileges of our Way, as well as thoſe of our Home; and the Promiſes of the Life that now is, as well as that to come. And yet even the Spiritual and Eternal Life are brought ſo much to Light in the Goſpel, that they may be call'd this Life; for the Word is nigh thee. Note, The Goſpel is concerning Matters of Life and Death, and Miniſters muſt preach it and hear it accordingly. They muſt ſpeak All the Words of this Life, and not conceal any for fear of offending, or in hope of ingratiating themſelves with their Rulers, Chriſt's Witneſſes are ſworn to ſpeak the whole Truth.

Thirdly, They went on with their Work, v. 21. When they heard that, when they heard that it was the Will of GOD they ſhould continue to preach in the Temple, they return'd to Solomon's Porch there, v. 21. (1.) It was a great Satisfaction to them to have theſe freſh Orders. Perhaps they began to queſtion whether if they had their Liberty, they ſhould preach as publickly in the Temple as they had done, becauſe they had been bid, when they were perſecuted in one City, to flee to another. But now the Angel order'd them to go preach in the Temple; their Way was plain, and they ventur'd without any Difficulty, enter'd into the Temple, and fear'd not the Face of Man. Note, If we may but be ſatiſfy'd concerning our Duty, our Buſineſs is to keep cloſe to that, and then we may chearfully truſt GOD with our Safety.

(2.) They ſet themſelves preſently to execute them without Diſpute or Delay. They enter'd into the Temple early in the Morning, as ſoon as the Gates were open'd, and People began to come together there, and taught them the Goſpel of the Kingdom; and did not at all fear what Man cou'd do unto them. The Caſe here was extraordinary, the whole Treaſure of the Goſpel is lodg'd in their Hands; if they be ſilent now, the Springs are ſhut up, and the whole Work falls to the Ground, and is made to ceaſe; which is not the Caſe of ordinary Miniſters, who therefore are not by this Example bound to throw themſelves into the Mouth of Danger; and yet when GOD gives Opportunity of doing Good, tho' we be under the Reſtrain and Terror of Human Powers, we ſhould venture far, rather than let go ſuch an Opportunity.

Fourthly, The High Prieſt and his Party, went on with their Proſecution, v. 21. They ſuppoſing they had the Apoſtles ſure enough, call'd the Council, together, a great and extraordinary Council, for they ſummon'd all the Senate of the Children of Iſrael. See here,

1. How they were prepar'd, and how big with Expectation to cruſh the Goſpel of Chriſt and the Preachers of it, for they rais'd the whole Poſſe. The laſt Time they had the Apoſtles in Cuſtody, they conven'd them only before a Committee of thoſe that were of the Kindred of the High Prieſt, who were oblig'd to act cautiouſly, but now that they might proceed further and with more Aſſurance, they call'd together πᾶσαν τὴν γερουσίαν all the Elderſhip, that is, ſaith Dr. Lightfoot, all the Three Courts or Benches of Judges in Jeruſalem, not only the great Sanhedrin conſiſting of Seventy Elders, but the other Two Judicatories that were erected one in the outer Court Gate of the Temple, the other in the inner or Beautiful Gate, conſiſting of Twenty three Judges each. So that if their were a full Appearance, here were One hundred and ſixteen Judges: Thus GOD order'd it, that the Confuſion of the Enemies might be more publick, and the Apoſtles Teſtimony againſt them, and that thoſe might hear the Goſpel who would not hear it otherwiſe than from the Bar: Howbeit, the High Prieſt meant not ſo, neither did his Heart think ſo; but it was in his Heart to rally all his Forces againſt the Apoſtles, and by a univerſal Conſent to cut them all off at once.

2. How they were balk'd, and had their Faces fill'd with Shame; He that ſits in Heaven laughs at them, and ſo may we too, to ſee how gravely the Court it ſet; and we may ſuppoſe the High Prieſt makes a ſolemn Speech to them, ſetting forth the Occaſion of their coming together; That a very dangerous Faction was now lately rais'd in Jeruſalem, by the Preaching of the Doctrine of Jeſus, which it was needful for the Preſervation of their Church, (which never was in ſuch Danger as now) ſpeedily and effectually to ſuppreſs; That it was now in the Power of their Hands to do it, for he had the Ring-leaders of the Faction now in the Common-Priſon, to be proceeded againſt, if they would but agree to it, with the utmoſt Severity. An Officer is in order hereunto diſpatch'd immediately to fetch the Priſoners to the Bar: But ſee how they are baffled;

1. The Officer come and tell them, That they are not to be found in the Priſon, v. 22, 23. The laſt Time they were forthcoming when they were call'd for, ch. iv. 7. But now they were gone; and the Report which the Officers make is, The Priſon doors truly found we ſhut with all ſafety, nothing had been done to weaken them; the Keepers had not been wanting to their Duty we found them ſtanding without before the Doors, and knowing nothing to the contrary, but that the Priſoners were all ſafe: but when we went in we found no Man therein, i. e. none of the Men we were ſent to fetch: But it is likely the common Priſoners they found there. Which Way the Angel fetch'd them out, whether by ſome Back-way or opening the Door, and faſtening it cloſe again, the Keepers all the while aſleep, we are not told; however it was, they were gone. The LORD knows, tho' we do not, how to deliver the Godly out of Temptation, and how to looſe thoſe that are in Bonds for his Name's ſake, and He will do it, as here, when He has Occaſion for them.

Now think how blank the Court look'd when the Officers made this Return upon their Order, v. 14. When the High Prieſt, and the Captain of the Temple, and the Chief Prieſts heard thoſe Things; they were all at a plunge, and look'd one upon another, doubting what this thing ſhould be. They were extremely perplex'd, were at their Wits-end, having never been ſo diſappointed in all their Lives of a Thing they were ſo ſure of. It occaſion'd various Speculations; ſome ſuggeſting that they were conjur'd out of the Priſon, and made their Eſcape by Magick Arts; Others, That the Keepers had play'd Tricks with them, not knowing how many Friends theſe Priſoners had that were ſo much the Darlings of the People. Some fear'd that having made ſuch a wonderful Eſcape, they would be the more follow'd; Others, That tho' perhaps they had frighten'd them from Jeruſalem, they ſhould hear of them again in ſome Part or other of the Country, where they would do yet more Miſchief, and it would be yet more out of their Power to ſtop the ſpreading of the Infection; and now they begin to fear, that inſtead of curing the Ill, they have made it worſe. Note, Thoſe often diſtreſs and embaraſs themſelves that think to diſtreſs and embaraſs the Cauſe of Chriſt.

2. Their Doubt is in part determin'd; and yet their Vexation is increas'd by another Meſſenger, who brings them Word, That their Priſoners are preaching in the Temple, v. 25. Behold, the Men whom ye put in Priſon, and ſent for to your Bar, are now hard by you here, ſtanding in the Temple, under your Noſe and in Defiance of you, teaching the People. Priſoners that have broke Priſon uſe to abſcond, for fear of being re-taken: But theſe Priſoners that here made their Eſcape, dare to ſhew their Faces even there where their Perſecutors have the greateſt Influence. Now this confounded them more than any Thing. Common Malefactors may have Art enough to break Priſon, but they are uncommen Ones that have Courage enough to avow it when they have done.

26 Then went the captain with the officers, and brought them without violence: (for they feared the people, leſt they ſhould have been ſtoned) 27 And when they had brought them, they ſet them before the council: and the high prieſt asked them, 28 Saying, Did not we ſtraitly command you, that you ſhould not teach in this name? and behold ye have filled Jeruſalem with your doctrine, and intend to bring this man's blood upon us. 29 Then Peter and the other apoſtles anſwered and ſaid, We ought to obey God rather than man. 30 The God of our fathers raiſed up Jeſus, whom ye ſlew and hanged on a tree. 31 Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a prince and a ſaviour, for to give repentance unto Iſrael, and forgiveneſs of ſins. 32 And we are his Witneſſes of theſe things; and ſo is alſo the holy Ghoſt, whom God hath given to them that obey him. 33 When they heard that, they were cut to the heart, and took counſel to ſlay them. 34 Then ſtood there up one in the council a Phariſee, named Gamaliel, a doctor of law, had in reputation among all the people, and commanded to put the apoſtles forth a little ſpace. 35 And ſaid unto them, Ye men of Iſrael, take heed to yourſelves, what ye intend to do as touching theſe men. 36 For before theſe days roſe up Theudas boaſting himſelf to be ſomebody, to whom a number of men, about four hundred, joyned themſelves: who was ſlain, and all, as many as obeyed him were ſcattered, and brought to nought. 37 After this man roſe up Judas of Galilee, in the days of the taxing, and drew away much people after him: he alſo periſhed, and all, even as many as obeyed him, were diſperſed. 38 And now I ſay unto you, Refrain from theſe men, and let them alone: for if this counſel, or this work be of men, it will come to nought: 39 But if it be of God, ye cannot overthrow it; leſt haply ye be found even to fight againſt God. 40 And to him they agreed: and when they had called the apoſtles, and beaten them, they commanded that they ſhould not ſpeak in the name of Jeſus, and let them go. 41 And they depart from the preſence of the council, rejoycing that they were counted worthy to ſuffer ſhame for his name. 42 And daily in the temple, and in every houſe, they ceaſed not to teach and preach Jeſus Chriſt.

We are not told what it was that the Apoſtels preach'd to the People; no doubt it was according to the Direction of the Angel, the Words of this Life; but what paſs'd between them and the Council, we have here an Account of; for in their Sufferings there appear'd more of a Divine Power and Energy, than even in their Preaching. Now here we have, Firſt, The ſeizing of the Apoſtes a ſecond Time. We may think, if GOD deſign'd this, why were they reſcu'd from their firſt Impriſonment? But that was deſign'd to humble the Pride and check the Fury of their Perſecutors; and now He would ſhew that they were diſcharg'd; not becauſe they fear'd a Tryal, for they were ready to ſurrender themſelves, and make their Appearance before the greateſt of their Enemies.

1. They brought them without Violence, with all the Reſpect and Tenderneſs that could be; did not pull them out of the Pulpit, not bind them, or drag them along, but ſpoke them fair. And One would think they had Reaſon to do ſo in reverence to the Temple, that holy Place, and for fear of the Apoſtles, leſt they ſhould ſtrike them as they did Ananias, or call for Fire from Heaven upon them as Elias did; but all that reſtrain'd their Violence, was, their fear of the People, who had ſuch a Veneration for the Apoſtles that they would ſtone them, if they offer'd them any Abuſe.

2. Yet they brought them to thoſe who they knew were violent againſt 'em, and were reſolv'd to take violent Courſes with them, v. 27. They brought them to ſet them before the Council, as Delinquents, Thus the Powers that ſhould have been a Terror to Evil Works, and Workers, became ſo to the Good.

Secondly, Their Examination; Being brought before this auguſt Aſſembly, the High-Prieſt, as the Mouth of the Court, told them what it was they had to lay to their Charge, v. 28.

1. That they had diſobey'd the Commands of Authority, and would not ſubmit to the Injunctions, and Prohibitions given them, v. 28, Did not we by virtue of our Authority, ſtraitly charge and command you upon Pain of our higheſt Diſpleaſure, that they ſhould not teach in this Name? but you have diſobey'd our Commands, and go on to preach not only without our Licenſe, but againſt our expreſs Order. Thus they who make void, the Commandments of GOD, commonly are very ſtrict in binding on their own Commandments, and inſiſting upon their own Power. Did not we command you? Yes, they did; but did not Peter at the ſame Time tell them, that GOD's Authority was ſuperiour to theirs, and his Commands muſt take place of theirs! And they had forgot that.

2. That they ſpread falſe Doctrine, among the People, or at leaſt a ſingular Doctrine, and which was not allow'd by the Jewiſh Church, nor agreed with what was deliver'd from Moſes's Chair. Ye have fill'd Jeruſalem with your Doctrine, and thereby have diſturb'd the publick Peace, and drawn People from the publick Eſtabliſhment. Some take this for a haughty ſcornful Word, this ſilly ſenſeleſs Doctrine of yours, that is not worth taking notice of, you have made ſuch a Noiſe with, that even Jeruſalem, the Great and Holy City, is become full of it, and it's all the Talk of the Town. They are angry that Men whom they look'd upon as deſpicable, ſhould make themſelves thus conſiderable.

3 That they had a malicious Deſign againſt the Government, and aim'd to ſtir up the People againſt it, by repreſenting it as wicked and tyrannical, and that had made it ſelf juſtly odious both to GOD and Man; Ye intend to bring this Man's Blood, the Guilty of it before GOD, the Shame of it before Men, upon us. Thus they charge them not only with Contumacy, and Contempt of the Court, but with Sedition and Faction, and a Plot to ſet not only the People againſt them, for having perſecuted even to Death, not only ſo Innocent but ſo Good and Great a Man as this Jeſus, but the Romans too, for having drawn them into it. See here how thoſe that with a great deal of Preſumption will do an ill Thing, yet cannot bear to hear of it afterwards, or to have it charg'd upon them. When they were in the Heat of the Perſecution, they could cry daringly enough, His Blood be upon us, and upon our Children, Let us bear the Blame for ever: But now they have Time for a cooler Thought, they take it as a heinous Affront to have his Blood laid at their Door. Thus are they convicted and condemned by their own Conſciences, and dread lying under that Guilt which they were not afraid to involve themſelves in.

Thirdly, Their Anſwer to the Charge exhibited againſt them; Peter and the other Apoſtles all ſpake to the ſame Purpoſe; whether ſeverally examin'd, or anſwering joyntly, they ſpake as one and the ſame Spirit gave them Utterance, depending upon the Promiſe, their Maſter had made them, That when they were brought before Councils, it ſhould be given them in that ſame Hour what they ſhould ſpeak, and Courage to ſpeak it.

1. They juſtify themſelves in their Diſobedience to the Commands of the Great Sanhedrin, as great as it was v. 29. We ought to obey GOD rather than Men. They do not plead the Power they had to work Miracles, that ſpoke ſufficiently for them, and therefore they humbly decline mentioning it themſelves, but they appeal to a Maxim univerſally own'd, and which even natural Conſcience ſubſcribes to, and which comes home to their Caſe; GOD had commanded them to teach in the Name of Chriſt, and therefore they ought to do it, tho' the Chief Prieſts forbad them. Thoſe Rulers ſet up in Oppoſition to GOD, and have a great deal to anſwer for, who puniſh Men for Diſobedience to them, in that which was their Duty to GOD.

2. They juſtify themſelves in doing what they could to fill Jeruſalem with the Doctrine of Chriſt, tho' in Preaching Him up, they did indeed reflect upon thoſe that maliciouſly run Him down; and if they thereby bring his Blood upon them, they may thank themſelves, It is charg'd upon them as a Crime that they preach'd Chriſt and his Goſpel; Now, ſay they, we will tell you who this Chriſt is, and what his Goſpel is, and then do you judge whether we ought not to preach it; nay, and we ſhall take this Opportunity to preach it to you, whether you will hear, or whether you will forbear.

1. The Chief Prieſts are told to their Faces the Indignities they did to this Jeſus; Ye ſlew him, and hang'd him on a Tree, you cannot deny it. The Apoſtles, inſtead of making an Excuſe, or begging their Pardon for bringing the Guilt of this Man's Blood upon them, repeat the Charge, and ſtand to it: 'Twas you that ſlew him; 'twas your Act and Deed. Note, Peoples being unwilling to hear of their Faults, is no good Reaſon why they ſhould not be faithfully told of them. 'Tis a common Excuſe made for not reproving Sin, That the Times will not bear it. But they whoſe Office it is to reprove, muſt not be aw'd by that; the Times muſt bear it, and ſhall bear it; Cry aloud, and ſpare not; Cry aloud, and fear not.

2. They are told alſo what Honours GOD put upon this Jeſus, and then let them judge who was in the Right, the Perſecutors of his Doctrine, or the Preachers of it. He calls GOD the God of our Fathers, not only ours but yours, to ſhew that in preaching Chriſt they did not preach a new God, nor entice People to come and worſhip other Gods; nor did they ſet up an Inſtitution contrary to that of Moſes and the Prophets. But they adher'd to the God of the Jewiſh Fathers, and that Name of Chriſt which they preach'd, anſwer'd the Promiſes made to the Fathers, and the Covenant GOD enter'd into with them, and the Types and Figures of the Law he gave them. The GOD of Abraham Iſaac, and Jacob, is the God and Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt; ſee what Honour he did him.

1. He raiſed him up; i. e. he qualify'd him for, and call'd him to his great Undertaking. It ſeems to refer to the Promiſe GOD made by Moſes, A Prophet ſhall the Lord your God raiſe up unto you. GOD raiſed him up out of Obſcurity, and made him great. Or, it may be meant of his raiſing him up from the Grave; you put Him to Death, but GOD has reſtor'd him to Life, ſo that GOD and you are manifeſtly conteſting about this Jeſus, and which muſt we ſide with.

2. He exalted him with his Right Hand. ὕψωσε hath lifted him up. You loaded him with Diſgrace, but GOD has crown'd him with Honour, and ought we not to honour Him whom GOD honours? GOD has exalted him, τῆ δεξιᾷ αὐτοῦ, with His Right Hand, i. e. by his Power put forth, Chriſt is ſaid to live by the Power of God. Or, to his Right Hand, to ſit there, to reſt there, to rule there, He has inveſted them with the higheſt Dignity, and intruſted him with the higheſt Authority, And therefore we muſt teach in his Name, for GOD has given him a Name above every Name.

3. He hath appointed him to be a Prince and a Saviour, and therefore we ought to preach in His Name, and to publiſh the Laws of his Government, as He is a Prince, and the Offers of his Grace as He is a Saviour. Obſerve, There is no having Chriſt to be our Saviour, unleſs we be willing to take him for our Prince: We cannot expect to be redeem'd and heal'd by Him, unleſs we give up our ſelves to be rul'd by Him. The Judges of Old were Saviours; Chriſt's Ruling is in Order to His Saving, and Faith takes an intire Chriſt, that came not to ſave us in our Sins, but to ſave us from our Sins.

4. He is appointed as a Prince and a Saviour, to give Repentance to Iſrael and Remiſſion of Sins, Therefore they muſt preach in His Name to the People of Iſrael, for his Favours were deſign'd premarily and principally for them, and none that truly lov'd their Country could be againſt that. Why ſhould the Rulers and Elders of Iſrael oppoſe One, who came with no leſs a Bleſſing to Iſrael than Repentance and Pardon. Had He been exalted to give Deliverance to Iſrael from the Roman Yoke, and Dominion over the Neighbouring Nations, the chief Prieſts would have welcom'd Him with all their Hearts. But Repentance and Remiſſion of Sins are Bleſſings they neither value nor ſee their Need of, and therefore they can by no Means admit His Doctrine. Obſerve here, (1.) Repentance and Remiſſion go together, where-ever Repentance is wrought, Remiſſion is without fail granted, and the Favour given to all thoſe to whom is given the Qualification for it. And on the other Hand, no Remiſſion without Repentance; None are freed from the Guilt and Puniſhment of Sin, but thoſe that are freed from the Power and Dominion of Sin; that are turn'd from it, and turn'd againſt it. (2.) It is Jeſus Chriſt that gives, and is authoriz'd to give both Repentance and Remiſſion. Whatſoever is requir'd in the Goſpel Covenant is promis'd; Are we appointed to repent, Chriſt is appointed to give Repentance; by his Spirit working with the Word, to awaken the Conſcience, to work Contrition for Sin, and an effectual Change in the Heart and Life. The new Heart in his Work, and the broken Spirit a Sacrifice of his providing; And when he has given Repentance, if he ſhould not give Remiſſion, he would forſake the Work of his Hands. See how neceſſary it is that we repent, and that we apply our-ſelves to Chriſt by Faith for his Grace to work Repentance in us.

5. All this is well atteſted, (1.) By the Apoſtles themſelves; They are ready to teſtify upon Oath if requir'd, that they ſaw Him alive after his Reſurrection, and ſaw Him aſcend into Heaven; and alſo that they experienc'd the Power of His Grace upon their Hearts, raiſing them up to that which was far above their Natural Capacities. We are his Witneſſes, appointed by him to publiſh this to the World, and if we ſhould be ſilent, as you would have us, we ſhould betray a Truſt, and be falſe to it. When a Cauſe is in Trying Witneſſes of all Men ought not to be ſilenc'd, for the Iſſue of the Cauſe depends on their Teſtimony. (2.) By the Spirit of God. We are Witneſſes, competent Ones, and whoſe Teſtimony is ſufficient before any Human Judicature; But that is not all, The Holy Ghoſt is Witneſſes, a Witneſs from Heaven, for God hath given his Gifts and Graces to them that obey Chriſt. Therefore we muſt preach in this Name becauſe for this End the Holy Ghoſt is given us, whoſe Operations we cannot ſtifle.

Note, The giving of the Holy Ghoſt to obedient Believers, no only to bring them to the Obedience of Faith, but to make them eminently uſeful therein is a very ſtrong Proof of the Truth of Chriſtianity. GOD gave the Holy Ghoſt by His Son, and in His Name, John xiv. 26. and in Anſwer to his Prayer, John xiv. 16. nay, it was Chriſt that ſent from the Father, John xv. 26. xvi. 7. and this proves the Glory to which the Father has exalted him. The great Work of the Spirit being not only to juſtify Chriſt, (1 Tim. iii. 16) but to glorify him, and all his Gifts having a direct Tendency to exalt his Name proves that his Doctrine is Divine, elſe it would not be carry'd on thus by a Doctrine Power. And (Laſtly) The giving of the Holy Ghoſt to them that obey Chriſt, both for their Aſſiſtance in their Obedience, and as a preſent Recompence for their Obedience, is a plain Evidence that it is the Will of GOD that Chriſt ſhould be obey'd; and then judge whether we ought to obey you in Oppoſition to him.

Fourthly, The Impreſſion which the Apoſtles Defence of themſelves made upon the Court; 'Twas contrary to what one would have expected from Men that pretended to Reaſon, Learning, and Sanctity; ſure ſuch fair Reaſoning could not but clear the Priſoners, and convert the Judges; No, inſtead of yielding to it, they rag'd againſt it, and were fill'd,

1. With Indignation at what the Apoſtles ſaid; They were cut to the Hearts, angry to ſee their own Sin-ſet in Order before them; ſtark mad to find that the Goſpel of Chriſt had ſo much to ſay for it ſelf, and Conſequently was likely to get Ground. When a Sermon was preach'd to the People to this purpoſe, they were pricked to the Heart, in Remorſe and Godly Sorrow, Acts ii. 37. Theſe here were cut to the Heart with Rage and Indignation. Thus the ſame Goſpel is to ſome a Savour of Life unto Life, to others of Death unto Death. The Enemies of the Goſpel not only deprive themſelves of it's Comforts, but fill themſelves with Terrors, and are their own Tormentors,

2. With Malice againſt the Apoſtles themſelves; ſince they ſee they cannot ſtop their Mouths, any other way but by ſtopping their Breath, they take Counſel to ſlay them, hoping that ſo they ſhould cauſe the Work to ceaſe. While the Apoſtles went on in the Service of Chriſt with a holy Security and Serenity of Mind, perfectly compos'd, and in a ſweet Enjoyment of themſelves, their Perſecutors went on in their Oppoſition to Chriſt, with a conſtant Perplexity and Perturbation of Mind, and Vexation of themſelves.

Fifthly, The grave Advice which Gamaliel a topping Man in the Council gave upon this Occaſion, the Scope of which was to moderate the Fury of theſe Bigots, and check the Violence of the Proſecution. This Gamaliel is here ſaid to be a Phariſee by his Profeſſion and Sect, and by Office, a Doctor of the Law, one that ſtudy'd the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament, read Lectures upon the Sacred Authors, and train'd up Pupils in the Knowledge of them; Paul was brought up at his Feet; Acts xxii. 3. and Tradition ſaith, that ſo were Stephen and Barnabas. Some ſay he was the Son of that Simeon that took up Chriſt in his Arms when he was preſented in the Temple; and Grandſon of the famous Hillel. He is here ſaid to be in Reputation among all the People, for his Wiſdom and Conduct, it appearing by this Paſſage that he was a moderate Man, and not apt to go in with furious Meaſures. Men of Temper and Charity are juſtly had in Reputation, for checking the Incendiaries that otherwiſe would ſet the World on Fire. Now Obſerve here,

1. The neceſſary Caution he gives to the Council, with reference to the Caſe before them; He commanded to put the Apoſtles forth a little while, that he might ſpeak the more freely, and be the more freely anſwer'd: 'Twas fit the Priſoners ſhould withdraw when their Cauſe was to be debated; And then put the Houſe in Mind of the Importance of this Matter, which in their Heart they were not capable of conſidering as they ought. Ye Men of Iſrael, ſaith he, Take heed to yourſelves, conſider what you do, Or intend to do as touching theſe Men, v. 35. It is not a common Caſe, and therefore ſhould not be haſtily determin'd. He calls them Men of Iſrael, to enſore this Caution: You are Men, that ſhould be govern'd by Reaſon, Be not then as the Horſe and the Mule that have no underſtanding; you are Men of Iſrael, that ſhould be govern'd by Revelation, Be not then as Strangers and Heathens, that have no regard to GOD and his Word. Take heed to yourſelves, now you are angry at theſe Men, leſt you meddle to your own hurt. Note, The Perſecutors of GOD's People had beſt look to themſelves, leſt they fall into the Pit which they dig. We have need to be cautious whom we give Trouble to, leſt we be found making the Hearts of the Righteous ſad.

2. The Caſes he cites, to pave the Way to his Opinion two Inſtances he gives of factious ſeditious Men, ſuch as they would have the Apoſtles thought to be, whoſe Attempts came to nothing of themſelves, from whence he infers, that if theſe Men were indeed ſuch as they repreſented them, their Cauſe would ſink with its own Weight, and Providence would infatuate and defeat them, and then they needed not perſecute them.

(1.) There was one Theudas, that made a mighty Noiſe for a While, as one ſent of GOD, boaſting himſelf to be ſome-body, ſome great One, ſo the Word is, either a Teacher or a Prince with a divine Commiſſion, to effect ſome great Revolution either in the Church or in the State; And he obſerves here, v. 36. concerning him, (1.) How far he prevail'd; a Number of Men, about 400 in all, joyn'd themſelves to him, that knew not what to do with themſelves, or hoped to mend themſelves; And they ſeem'd then a formidable Body. (2.) How ſoon his Pretenſions were all daſh'd; for when he was ſlain, probably in War, there needed no more ado, all as many as obey'd him were ſcatter'd, and melted away like Snow before the Sun. Now compare that Caſe with this, you have ſlain Jeſus the Ring-leader of this Faction, you have taken him off: Now if he was, as you ſay he was, an Impoſtor and Pretender, his Death, like that of Theudas, will be the Death of his Cauſe, and the final Diſperſion of his Followers, From what has been we may infer what will be in a like Caſe; The ſmiting of the Shepherd will be the Scattering of the Sheep; And if the GOD of Peace had not brought again from the Dead that great Shepherd, Diſperſion of the Sheep at his Death, had been total and final.

(2.) The Caſe was the ſame with Judas of Galilee, v. 37. Obſerve, (1.) The Attempt he made. 'Tis ſaid to be after this; which ſome read beſides this, or let me mention after this, ſuppoſing that Judas's Inſurrection was long in Time before that of Theudas; for it was in the Time of the Taxation, viz. that as our Saviours Birth, Luke ii. 1. and that of Theudas, they would make the ſame with that of one Theudas, whom Joſephus ſpeak of, that mutiny'd in the Time of Cuſpius Fadus; But that was in the Days of Claudius Cæſar, ſome Years after Gamaliel ſpoke this, and therefore could not be the ſame. It is not eaſy to determine particularly when theſe Events happen'd, nor whether this Taxing were the ſame with that at our Saviour's Birth, or one of a later Date. Some think this Judas of Galilee was the ſame with Judas Gaulonites, whom Joſephus ſpeaks of, others not. 'Tis probable they were Caſes that lately happened, and were freſh in Memory; This Judas drew away much People after him, who gave Credit to his Pretenſions. But (2.) Here's the Defeat of his Attempt, and that without any Interpoſal of the great Sanhedrin, or any Decree of theirs againſt him, it did not need, he alſo periſh'd, and all even as many as obey'd him, or were perſuaded by him were diſpers'd. Many have fooliſhly thrown away their Lives, and brought others into the ſame Snares, by a Jealouſy for their Liberties, in the Days of the Taxing, who had better have been content, when Providence had ſo determin'd, to ſerve the King of Babylon.

3. His Opinion upon the whole Matter.

1. That they ſhould not perſecute the Apoſtles, v. 38. Now I ſay unto you, τὰ νῦν For the preſent, as the matter now ſtands, my Advice is, Refrain from theſe Men; neither puniſh them for what they have done, nor reſtrain them for the future. Connive at them, let them take their Courſe; let not our Hand be upon them. 'Tis uncertain whether he ſpoke this out of Policy, for fear of Offending either the People or the Romans, and making further Miſchief: The Apoſtles did not attempt any Thing by outward Force, the Weapons of their Welfare were not carnal, and therefore why ſhould any outward Force be us'd againſt them? Or, whether he was under ſome preſent Convictions, at leaſt of the Probability of the Truth of the Chriſtian Doctrine, and thought it deſerv'd better Treatment, at leaſt a fair Tryal; Or, whether it was only the Language of a mild quiet Spirit, that was againſt Perſecution for Conſcience ſake; Or, whether GOD put this Word into his Mouth, beyond his own Intention, for the Deliverance of the Apoſtles at this Time; We are ſure there was an over-ruling Providence in it, that the Servants of Chriſt might not only come off, but come off honourably.

2. That they ſhould refer this Matter to Providence: Wait the Iſſue, and ſee what it will come to. If it be of Men, 'twill come to nought of itſelf, If of God it will ſtand, in ſpite of all your Powers and Policies. That which is apparently wicked and immoral muſt be ſuppreſs'd, elſe the Magiſtrate bears the Sword in vain; But that which has a Show of Good, and 'tis doubtful whether it be of God or Men, 'tis beſt to let it alone, and let it take its Fate, not to uſe any external Force for the ſuppreſſing of it. Chriſt rules by the Power of Truth, not of the Sword.

What Chriſt ask'd concerning John's Baptiſm, was it of Heaven or of Men; was a Queſtion proper to be ask'd concerning the Apoſtles Doctrine and Baptiſm, which follow'd Chriſt, as John Baptiſt's went before him: Now they having own'd concerning the former, that they could not tell whether it was from Heaven or of Men, ought not to be too confident concerning the latter; But take it which way you will, 'tis a Reaſon why they ſhould not be perſecuted.

1. If this Council, and this Work, this forming of a Society, and incorporating it in the Name of Jeſus, be of Men, it will come to nothing. If it be the Counſel and Work of fooliſh crack-brained Men, that know not what they do, let them alone a While, and they will run themſelves out of Breath, and their Folly will be manifeſt before all Men; and they will make themſelves ridiculous. If it be the Counſel and Work of politick deſigning Men, who under Colour of Religion are ſetting up a ſecular Intereſt, let them alone a While, and they will throw off the Maſk, and their Knavery will be manifeſt to all Men, and they will make themſelves odious; And Providence will never countenance it; 'twill come to nothing in a little Time; And if ſo, your Perſecuting and Oppoſing it, is very needleſs; There's no Occaſion for giving your ſelves ſo much Trouble, and bringing ſuch an Odium upon your ſelves, to kill that which if you give it a little Time will dye of itſelf. The unneceſſary Uſe of Power is an Abuſe of it. But

2. If it ſhould prove (and as wiſe Men as you have been miſtaken) that this Counſel and this Work is of God, that theſe Preachers have their Commiſſions and Inſtructions from Him, that they are as truly His Meſſengers to the World as the Old Teſtament Prophets were, Then what do you think of Perſecuting them? of this Attempt of yours, v. 33. to ſlay them? you muſt conclude it to be (1.) A fruitleſs Attempt againſt them. If it be of God you cannot overthrow it; For there is no Wiſdom, nor Counſel againſt the Lord; He that ſits in Heaven laugh's at you. It may be the Comfort of all that are ſincerely on GOD's Side, that have a ſingle Eye to his Will as their Rule, and his Glory as their End, but whatſoever is of GOD cannot be overthrown totally and finally, tho' it may be very vigorouſly oppos'd; It may be run upon, but cannot be run down. (2.) A dangerous Attempt to themſelves, Pray let it alone, leaſt haply ye be found even to Fight againſt God, and I need not tell you who will come off by the worſe in that Conteſt. Woe unto him that ſtrives with his Maker, for he will not only be overcome as an impotent Enemy, but ſeverely reckon'd with as a Rebel, and Traytor againſt his rightful Prince. They that hate and abuſe GOD's faithful People, that reſtrain and ſilence his faithful Miniſters fight againſt God, for he takes what is done againſt them as done againſt Himſelf; whoſo touches them, touches the Apple of his Eye.

Well; this was the Advice of Gamaliel, we wiſh it were duly conſider'd by thoſe that perſecute for Conſcience ſake; for it was a good Thought, and natural enough, tho' we are uncertain what the Man was. The Tradition of the Jewiſh Writers is, that for all this, he liv'd and dy'd an inveterate Enemy to Chriſt and his Goſpel; and tho' (now at leaſt) he was not for Perſecuting the Followers of Chriſt, yet he was the Man who compos'd that Prayer which the Jews uſe to this Day, for the extirpating of Chriſtians and Chriſtianity. On the contrary, the Tradition of the Papiſts is that he turn'd Chriſtian, and became an eminent Patron of Chriſtianity, and a Follower of Paul who when Time was, had ſate at his Feet. If that had been ſo, 'tis very probable we ſhould have heard of him ſomewhere in the Acts or Epiſtles.

Sixthly, The Determination of the Council upon the whole Matter, v. 40.

1. Thus far they agreed with Gamaliel, that they let fall the Deſign of putting the Apoſtles to Death. They ſay a great deal of Reaſon in what Gamaliel ſaid, and for the preſent it gave ſome check to their Fury, and a remainder of their Wrath was reſtrain'd by it.

2. Yet they could not forbear giving ſome Vent to their Rage (ſo outragious was it) contrary to the Convictions of their Judgments and Conſciences; for tho' they were adviſ'd to let them alone, ye (1.) They beat them, ſcourg'd them as Malefactors, ſtript them, and whipt them, as they us'd to do in the Synagogues, and Notice is taken, v. 41. of the Ignominy of it; Thus they thought to make them aſham'd of Preaching, and the People aſham'd of hearing them; As Pilate ſcourg'd our Saviour to expoſe Him, when yet he declar'd he found no Fault in Him. (2.) They commanded them that they ſhould not ſpeak any more in the Name of Jeſus; that if they could find no other Fault with their Preaching, they might have this Ground to reproach it, That it was againſt Law, and not only without the Permiſſion, but againſt the expreſs Order of their Superiours.

Seventhly, The wonderful Courage and Conſtancy of the Apoſtles in the Midſt of all theſe Injuries and Indignities done them. When they were diſmiſs'd they departed from the Council, and we do not find one Word they ſaid by Way of Reflection upon the Court, and the unjuſt Treatment given them; when they were reviled, they reviled not again, and when they ſuffer'd they threaten'd not, but committed their Cauſe to Him, to whom Gamaliel had refer'd it, even to a God who judgeth righteouſly; All their Buſineſs was to preſerve the Poſſeſſion of their own Souls, and to make full Proof of their Miniſtry, notwithſtanding the Oppoſition given them; And both theſe they did to Admiration.

1. They bore their Sufferings with an invincible Chearfulneſs, v. 41. when they went out, perhaps with the Marks of the Laſhes given them on their Arms and Hands appearing, hiſs'd at by the Servants and Rabble it may be, or publick Notice given of the Infamous Puniſhment they had undergone, inſtead of being aſham'd of Chriſt, and their Relation to him, they rejoyced that they were counted worthy to ſuffer ſhame for His Name. They were Men, and Men in Reputation, that had never done any Thing to make themſelves vile, and therefore could not but have a Senſe of the Shame they ſuffer'd, which it ſhould ſeem was more grievous to them than the Smart, as it uſeth to be to ingenuous Minds; But they conſider'd that it was for the Name of Chriſt that they were thus abus'd, becauſe they belong'd to Him, and ſerv'd his Intereſt, and their Sufferings ſhould be made to contribute to the further Advancement of His Name, And therefore (1.) They reckon'd it an Honour; look'd upon it that they were counted worthy to ſuffer Shame, Καταξιώθησαν ἀτιμασθῆναι that they were honour'd to be diſhonour'd for Chriſt. Reproach for Chriſt is true Preferment; as it makes us comformable to his Pattern, and ſerviceable to his Intereſt. (2.) They rejoyc'd in it, remembring what their Maſter had ſaid to them at their firſt ſetting out, Matth. v. 11, 12. When Men ſhall revile you, and perſecute you, Rejoyce and be exceeding Glad; They rejoyc'd not only though they ſuffer'd Shame, their Troubles did not diminiſh their Joy, but that they ſuffer'd Shame, their Troubles encreas'd their Joy, and added to it. If we ſuffer ill for doing well, provided we ſuffer it well and as we ſhould, we ought to rejoyce in that Grace which enabled us to do.

2. They went on in their Work with indefatigable Diligence v. 42. They were puniſh'd for Preaching, and were commanded not to preach, and yet they ceaſed not to teach and preach; they omitted no Opportunity, nor abated any thing of their Zeal or Forwardneſs. Obſerve, (1.) When they preach'd; daily; not only on Sabbath-Days, or on Lord's-Days, but every Day; as duly as the Day came, without intermitting any Day, as their Maſter did, Luke xix. 47. Matth. xxvi. 55. not fearing that they ſhould either kill themſelves, or cloy their Hearers. (2.) Where they preach'd; both publickly in the Temple, and privately in every Houſe; in promiſcuous Aſſemblies, to which all reſorted, and in the ſelect Aſſemblies of Chriſtians for ſpecial Ordinances.

They did not think that either one would excuſe them from the other, for the Word muſt be preach'd in ſeaſon and out of ſeaſon. Tho' in the Temple they were more expos'd, and under the Eye of their Enemies; yet did they not confine themſelves to their little Oratories in their own Houſes, but ventured into the Poſt of Danger: And tho' they had the Liberty of the Temple, a conſecrated Place, yet they made no Difficulty of preaching in Houſes, in every Houſe, even the pooreſt Cottage. They viſited the Families of thoſe that were under their Charge, and gave particular Inſtructions to them, according as their Caſe, requir'd; even to the Children and Servants. (3.) What was the Subject Matter of their Preaching; They preach'd Jeſus Chriſt, they preach'd concerning him; that was not all, they preach'd him up, they propos'd him, to thoſe that heard them, to be their Prince and Saviour. They did not preach themſelves, but Chriſt, as faithful Friends to the Bridegroom, making it their Buſineſs to advance his Intereſt. This was the Preaching that gave moſt Offence to the Prieſts; they were willing they ſhould preach any Thing but Chriſt; but they would not alter their Subject to pleaſe them. It ought to be the conſtant Buſineſs of Goſpel Miniſters to preach Chriſt; Chriſt, and him crucify'd: Chriſt, and him glorify'd; nothing beſide this, but what is reducible to it.

CHAP. VI.

In this Chapter we have (1.) The Diſcontent that was among the Diſciples about the Diſtribution of the publick Charity, v. 1. (2.) The Election and Ordination of Seven Men who ſhould take Care of that Matter, and eaſe the Apoſtles of the Burthen, v. 2—6. (3.) The Increaſe of the Church, by the Addition of many to it, v. 7. (4.) A particular Account of Stephen, one of the Seven. (1.) His great Activity for Chriſt, v. 8. (2.) The Oppoſition he met with from the Enemies of Chriſtianity, and his Diſputes with them, v. 9, 10. (3.) The convening of him before the Great Sanhedrin, and the Crimes laid to his Charge, v. 11—14. (4.) GOD's owning him upon his Tryal, v. 15.

AND in thoſe days, when the number of the diſciples was multiplied, there aroſe a murmuring of the Grecians againſt the Hebrews, becauſe their widows were neglected in the daily miniſtration. 2 Then the Twelve called the multitude of the Diſciples unto them, and ſaid, It is not reaſon that we ſhould leave the word of God, and ſerve tables. 3 Wherefore, brethren, look ye out among you ſeven men of honeſt report, full of the holy Ghoſt, and wiſdom, whom we may appoint over this buſineſs, 4 But we will give ourſelves continually to prayer, and to the miniſtry of the word.
5 And the ſaying pleaſed the whole multitude: and they choſe Stephen, a man full of faith and of the holy Ghoſt, and Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicholas a proſelyte of Antioch. 6 Whom they ſet before the apoſtles:
and when they had prayed, they laid their hands on them. 7 And the word of God increaſed; and the number of the diſciples multiplied in Jeruſalem greatly; and a great company of the prieſts were obedient to the faith.

Having ſeen the Church's Struggles with its Enemies, and triumph'd with her in her Victories, we now come to take a View of the Adminiſtration of its Affairs at Home: And here we have,

Firſt, An unhappy Diſagreement among ſome of the Church-Members, which might have been of ill Conſequence; but was prudently accommodated and taken up in Time, v. 1. When the number of the Diſciples (for ſo Chriſtians were firſt call'd, Learners of Chriſt) was multiply'd to many Thouſands in Jeruſalem then aroſe a Murmuring.

1. It doth our Hearts good to find that the Number of the Diſciples is multiply'd, as no doubt it vex'd the Prieſts and Sadduces to the Heart to ſee it. The Oppoſition that the Preaching of the Goſpel met with, inſtead of checking its Progreſs, contributed to the Succeſs of it; and this Infant Chriſtian Church, like the Infant Jewiſh Church in Egypt, the more it was afflicted, the more it multiply'd. The Preachers were beaten, threatn'd, abus'd, and yet the People receiv'd their Doctrine, invited no doubt thereto by their wonderful Patience and Chearfulneſs under their Trial, which convinc'd Men, that they were born up and carry'd on by a better Spirit than their own.

2. Yet it caſts a Damp upon us to find that the multiplying of the Diſciples proves an Occaſion of Diſcord. Hitherto, they were all with one accord; this had been oft taken notice of to their Honour: But now they were multiply'd, they began to murmur; as in the Old World, when Men began to multiply, they corrupted themſelves. Thou haſt multiply'd the Nation, and not increas'd their Joy, Iſa. xi. 7. When Abraham and Lot encreas'd their Families, there was a Strife between their Herdmen: ſo it was here, there aroſe a Murmuring, not an open falling-out, but a ſecret Heart-burning.

(1.) The Complainants were the Grecians or Helleniſts, againſt the Hebrews. The Jews that were ſcatter'd in Greece and other Parts, who ordinarily ſpoke the Greek Tongue, and read the Old Teſtament in the Greek Verſion, and not the Original Hebrew, many of which being at Jeruſalem at the Feaſt, embrac'd the faith of Chriſt, and were added to the Church, and ſo continu'd there; theſe complain'd againſt the Hebrews, the Native Jews, that us'd the Original Hebrew of the Old Teſtament. Some of each of theſe became Chriſtians; and it ſeems their joint embracing of the Faith of Chriſt, did not prevail as it ought to have done to extinguiſh the little Jealouſies they had had one of another before their Converſion; but they retain'd ſomewhat of that old Leaven, not underſtanding, or not remembring, that in Chriſt Jeſus there is neither Greek nor Jew, no Diſtinction of Hebrew and Helleniſt, but all are alike welcome to Chriſt, and ſhould be for his Sake dear to one another.

(2.) The Complaint of theſe Grecians was, That their Widows were neglected in their daily Miniſtration, i. e. In the Diſtribution of the publick Charity, and the Hebrew Widows had more Care taken of them. Obſerve, The firſt Contention in the Chriſtian Church was about a Money matter: But 'tis Pity that the little Things of this World ſhould be Make-bates among thoſe that profeſs to be taken up with the great Things of another World. A great deal of Money was gather'd for the Relief of the Poor; but as uſeth to be in ſuch Caſes, it was impoſſible to pleaſe every Body in the laying of it out. The Apoſtles at whoſe Feet it was laid, did their beſt to diſpoſe of it ſo as to anſwer the Intentions of the Donors, and no doubt, deſign'd to do it with the utmoſt Impartiality, and were far from reſpecting the Hebrews more than the Grecians; and yet here they are complain'd to, and implicitely complain'd of, that the Grecian Widows were neglected, tho' they were as real Objects of Charity, yet they had not ſo much allow'd them, or not to ſo many, or not ſo duly paid them, as the Hebrews. Now (1.) Perhaps this Complaint was groundleſs and unjuſt, and there was no Cauſe for it. But thoſe who upon any Account lye under Diſadvantages, (as the Grecian Jews did in compariſon with them that were Hebrews of the Hebrews) are apt to be jealous that they are ſlighted, when really they are not ſo. And 'tis the common Fault of poor People, that inſtead of being thankful for what is given them, they are querulous and clamorous, and finding Fault that more is not given them, or that more is given to others than to them. And there is Envy and Coveteouſneſs, thoſe Roots of Bitterneſs, to be found among the Poor, as well as among the Rich, notwithſtanding the humbling Providences they are under, and ſhould accommodate themſelves to. But (2.) we will ſuppoſe, there might be ſome Occaſion for their Complaint. (1.) Some ſuggeſt, That tho' their other Poor were well provided for, yet their Widows were neglected; becauſe the Managers govern'd themſelves by an ancient Rule which the Hebrews obſerv'd, That a Widow was to be maintain'd by her Husband's Children. See 1 Tim. v. 4. But (2.) I take it, that the Widows are here put for all the Poor, becauſe many of them that were in the Church-Book, and receiv'd Alms, were Widows, who were well provided for by the Induſtry of their Husbands while they lived, but were reduc'd to Straits when they were gone. As thoſe that have the Adminiſtration of publick Juſtice, ought in a particular manner to protect Widows from Injury, Iſa. i. 17. Luke xviii. 3. ſo thoſe that have the Adminiſtration of publick Charity, ought in a particular manner to provide for Widows what is neceſſary, See 1 Tim. v. 3. And Obſerve, the Widows here, and the other Poor, had a daily Miniſtration: Perhaps they wanted Forecaſt, and could not ſave for hereafter, and therefore the Managers of the Fund in Kindneſs to them, gave them Day by Day, their daily Bread; they lived from Hand to Mouth. Now it ſeems the Grecian Widows were comparatively neglected; perhaps thoſe that diſpos'd of the Money, conſider'd that there was more brought into the Fund by the rich Hebrews, than was by the rich Grecians, who had not Eſtates to ſell as the Hebrews had; and therefore the poor Grecians ſhould have leſs out of the Fund; This, tho' there was ſome tolerable Reaſon for it, they thought hard, and unfair. Note, In the beſt order'd Church in the World, there will be ſomething amiſs, ſome Male-adminiſtration, or other, ſome Grievances or at leaſt ſome Complaints; they are the beſt that have the leaſt and feweſt.

Secondly, The happy Accomodation of this Matter, and the Expedient pitch'd upon for the taking away of the Cauſe of this Murmuring. The Apoſtles had hitherto the directing of the Matter, Applications were made to them, and Appeals in Caſe of Grievances; they were oblig'd to employ Perſons under them, who did not take all the Care they might have taken, nor were ſo well fortify'd as they ſhould have been againſt Temptations to Partiality: And therefore ſome Perſons muſt be choſen to manage this Matter, who have more Leiſure to attend it than the Apoſtles had, and were better qualify'd for the Truſt, than thoſe whom the Apoſtles employ'd were. Now Obſerve,

1. How the Method was propos'd by the Apoſtles; They call'd the Multitude of the Diſciples unto them; the Heads of the Congregations of Chriſtians in Jeruſalem, the principal leading Men. The Twelve themſelves would not determine any Thing without them; for in Multitude of Counſellors there is Safety; And in an Affair of this Nature, they might be beſt able to adviſe who were more converſant in the Affairs of this Life than the Apoſtles were.

(1.) The Apoſtles urge that they could by no means admit ſo great a Diverſion as this would be from their great Work; v. 2. It is not reaſonable that we ſhould leave the Word of God, and ſerve Tables. Receiving and Paying Money was ſerving Tables, too like the Table of the Money-Changers in the Temple; This was foreign to the Buſineſs which the Apoſtles were called to, They were to preach the Word of God, and tho' they had not ſuch Occaſion to ſtudy for what they preach'd as we have, it being given in that ſame Hour what they ſhould ſpeak, yet they thought that was Work enough for a whole Man, and to employ all their Thoughts, and Cares, and Time, though one Man of them was more than Ten of us, than Ten Thouſand. If they ſerve Tables, they muſt in ſome meaſure leave the Word of God, they could not attend their preaching Work ſo cloſely as they ought. Pectora noſtra duas non admittentia Curas. Tho' this ſerving Tables was for pious Uſes, and ſerving the Charity of rich Chriſtians, and the Neceſſity of poor Chriſtians, and in both ſerving Chriſt, yet the Apoſtles would not take ſo much Time from their Preaching as this would require. They will no more be drawn from their Preaching by the Money laid at their Feet, than they will be drawn from it by the Stripes laid on their Backs. While the Number of the Diſciples was few, the Apoſtles might manage this Matter without making it any conſiderable Avocation from their main Buſineſs: But now their Number was encreas'd they could not do it. It is not Reaſon, ὐκ ἀρεϛὸν ἐϛι, It is not fit or commendable that we ſhould neglect the Buſineſs of feeding Souls with the Bread of Life, to attend the Buſineſs of relieving the Bodies of the Poor. Note, Preaching the Goſpel is the beſt Work, and the moſt proper and needful that a Miniſter can be employ'd in; and that which he muſt give himſelf wholly to, 1 Tim. iv. 15. which that he may do, he muſt not entangle himſelf in the Affairs of this Life, 2 Tim. ii. 4. no not in the outward Buſineſs of the Houſe of God, Neh. xi. 16.

(2.) They therefore deſire that Seven Men might be choſen well qualify'd for the Purpoſe, whoſe Buſineſs it ſhould be to ſerve Tables, διακονεῖν τραπέζαις, to be Deacons to the Tables, v. 3. The Buſineſs muſt be minded, muſt be better minded than it had been, and than the Apoſtles could mind it, And therefore proper Perſons muſt be choſen, who tho' they might be occaſionally employ'd in the Word and Prayer, yet were not ſo devoted intirely to it as the Apoſtles were. And theſe muſt take Care of the Church's Stock, muſt review, and pay, and keep Accounts; muſt buy thoſe Things which they had Need of againſt the Feaſt, John xiii. 29. and attend to all thoſe Things which are neceſſary, in ordine ad ſpiritualia, in order to Spiritual Exerciſes, that every Thing might be decently and in good Order, and no Perſon or Thing neglected. Now,

1. The Perſons muſt be duly qualify'd. The People are to chooſe, and the Apoſtles to ordain, but the People have no Authority to chooſe, nor the Apoſtles, to ordain Men utterly unfit for the Office, Look out Seven Men, ſo many they thought might ſuffice for the preſent, more might be added afterwards if there were Occaſion. Theſe muſt be (1.) of honeſt Report, Men free from Scandal, that were looked upon by their Neighbours as Men of Intergrity, and faithful Men, well atteſted to, as Men that might be truſted; not under a Blemiſh for any Vice, but on the contrary, well ſpoken of for every Thing that's virtuous and Praiſe-worthy, μαρτυρουμένους, Men that can produce good Teſtimonials concerning their Converſation. Note, Thoſe that are employ'd in any Office of the Church, ought to be Men of honeſt Report, of a blameleſs, nay of a beautiful Character, which is requiſite not only to the Credit of their Office, but to the due Diſcharge of it. (2.) They muſt be full of the Holy Ghoſt, muſt be fill'd with thoſe Gifts and Graces of the Holy Ghoſt which were neceſſary to the right Management of this Truſt; They muſt not only be honeſt Men, but they muſt be Men of Parts, and Men of Courage; ſuch as were to be made Judges in Iſrael, Exod. xviii. 21. able Men, fearing God, Men of Truth, and hating Coveteouſneſs, and hereby appearing to be full of the Holy Ghoſt. (3.) They muſt be full of Wiſdom. 'Twas not enough that they were honeſt good Men, but they muſt be diſcreet, judicious Men, that could not be impos'd on, and would order Things for the beſt, and with Conſideration. Full of the Holy Ghoſt and Wiſdom, i. e. of the Holy Ghoſt as a Spirit of Wiſdom. We find the Word of Wiſdom given by the Spirit, as diſtinct from the Word of Knowledge, by the ſame Spirit, 1 Cor. xii. 8. They muſt be full of Wiſdom who are intruſted with Publick Money, that it may be diſpos'd of not only with Fidelity, but with Frugality.

2. The People muſt nominate the Perſons; Look ye out among you ſeven Men, conſider among yourſelves who are the fitteſt for ſuch a Truſt, and whom you can with the moſt Satisfaction confide in. They might be preſum'd to know better, or at leaſt, were fitter to enquire what Character Men had, than the Apoſtles; and therefore they are entruſted with the Choice.

3. The Apoſtles will ordain them to the Service, will give them their Charge, that they may know what they have to do, and make Conſcience of doing it; and give them their Authority, that the Perſons concern'd may know whom they are to apply to, and ſubmit to in Affairs of that Nature; Men whom we may appoint. In many Editions of our Engliſh Bibles, there has been an Error of the Preſs here, for they have read it, whom ye may appoint, as if the Power were in the People, whereas 'twas certainly in the Apoſtles, whom we may appoint over this Buſineſs to take Care of it, and to ſee that there be neither Waſte nor Want.

(3.) The Apoſtles engage to addict themſelves wholly to their Work as Miniſters, and the more cloſely, if they can but get fairly quit of this troubleſome Office, v. 4. We will give ourſelves continually to Prayer, and to the Miniſtry of the Word. See here (1.) What are the two great Goſpel Ordinances, the Word and Prayer; by theſe Two, Communion between GOD and his People is kept up and maintain'd: By the Word he ſpeaks to them, and by Prayer they ſpeak to Him; and theſe have a mutual Reference to each other. By theſe Two the Kingdom of Chriſt muſt be advanc'd, and Additions made to it; we muſt propheſy upon the dry Bones, and then pray for a Spirit of Life from GOD to enter into them. By the Word and Prayer, other Ordinances are ſanctified to us, and Sacraments have their Efficacy. (2.) What is the great Buſineſs of Goſpel Miniſters? To give themſelves continually to Prayer, and to the Miniſtry of the Word; they muſt ſtill be either fitting and furniſhing themſelves for thoſe Services, or employing themſelves in them, either publickly or privately; in the ſtated Times, or out of them. They muſt be GOD's Mouth to the People in the Miniſtry of the Word, and the Peoples Mouth to GOD in Prayer. In order to the Conviction and Converſion of Sinners, and the Edification and Conſolation of Saints, we muſt not only offer up our Prayers for them, but we muſt miniſter the Word to them, ſeconding our Prayers with our Endeavours, in the uſe of appointed Means; nor muſt we only miniſter the Word to them, but we muſt pray for them, that it may be effectual; for GOD's Grace can do all without our Preaching, but our Preaching can do nothing without GOD's Grace. The Apoſtles were endued with extraordinary Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, Tongues and Miracles, and yet that which they gave themſelves continually to, was Preaching and Praying, by which they might edify the Church. And thoſe Miniſters, without doubt, are the Succeſſors of the Apoſtles, (not in the Plenitude of the Apoſtolical Power, thoſe are daring Uſurpers who pretend to that, but in the beſt and moſt excellent of the Apoſtolical Work) who give themſelves continually to Prayer, and to the Miniſtry of the Word; and ſuch Chriſt will always be with even to the End of the World.

2. How this Propoſal was agreed to, and preſently put in Execution by the Diſciples; 'twas not impos'd upon them by an abſolute Power, tho' they might have been bold in Chriſt to do that, (Philem. 8.) but propos'd, as that which was highly convenient, and then the Saying pleas'd the whole Multitude, v. 5. It pleas'd them to ſee the Apoſtles ſo willing to diſcharge themſelves from intermeddling in ſecular Affairs, and to tranſmit them to others; it pleas'd them to hear that they would give themſelves to the Word and Prayer; and therefore they neither diſputed the Matter, nor deferr'd the Execution of it.

1. They pitch'd upon the Perſons; 'tis not likely they all caſt their Eye upon the ſame Men, every One had his Friend, whom he thought well of. But the major Vote fell upon the Perſons here nam'd, and the reſt, both of the Candidates and Electors, acquieſced, and made no Diſturbance, as the Members of Societies in ſuch Caſes ought to do. An Apoſtle, who was an extraordinary Officer, was choſen by Lot, which is more immediately the Act of God: But the Overſeers of the Poor were choſe by the Suffrage of the People; in which yet a Regard is to be had to the Providence of GOD, who has all Mens Hearts and Tongues in his Hand.

We have a Liſt of the Perſons choſen; ſome think they were ſuch as were before of the Seventy Diſciples; but that is not likely; for they were ordained by Chriſt himſelf long ſince to preach the Goſpel, and there was no more Reaſon that they ſhould leave the Word of God to ſerve Tables than that the Apoſtles ſhould; It is therefore more probable that they were of thoſe that were converted ſince the pouring out of the Spirit; for it was promis'd to all that would be baptiz'd, that they ſhould receive the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt, and the Gift according to that Promiſe is that Fulneſs of the Holy Ghoſt, which was requir'd in thoſe that were to be choſen to this Service. We may further conjecture concerning theſe Seven. (1.) That they were ſuch as had ſold their Eſtates, and brought the Money into the common Stock; for cæteris paribus theſe were fitteſt to be intruſted with the Diſtribution of it, which had been moſt generous in the Contribution to it. (2.) That theſe Seven were all of the Grecians or Helleniſt Jews, for they have all Greek Names. And this would be moſt likely to ſilence the Murmurings of the Grecians (which occaſion'd this Inſtitution) to have the Truſt lodg'd in thoſe that were Foreigners like themſelves, who would be ſure not to neglect them: Nicolas 'tis plain was one of them, for he was a Proſelyte of Antioch, and ſome think the Manner of Expreſſion intimates that they were all Proſelytes of Jeruſalem, as he was of Antioch.

The firſt nam'd is Stephen, the Glory of the Septem-viri, a Man full of Faith and of the Holy Ghoſt, he had a ſtrong Faith in the Doctrine of Chriſt, and was full of it above moſt, full of Fidelity, full of Courage; ſo ſome, for he was full of the Holy Ghoſt, of his Gifts and Graces; he was an extraordinary Man, and excelled in every Thing that was good; his Name ſignifies A Crown. Philip is put next, becauſe he having uſed this Office of a Deacon well, thereby obtain'd a good Degree, and was afterwards ordain'd to the Office of an Evangeliſt, a Companion and Aſſiſtant to the Apoſtles; for ſo he is expreſly call'd Acts xxi. 8. compare Eph. iv. 11. And his preaching and baptizing, which we read of, Acts viii. 12, was certainly not as a Deacon, for 'tis plain that Office was ſerving Tables in Oppoſition to the Miniſtry of the Word, but as an Evangeliſt; And when he was preferr'd to that Office, we have Reaſon to think he quitted his Office as incompatible with that. And as for Stephen nothing we find done by him proves him to be a Preacher of the Goſpel, for he only diſputes in the Schools, and pleads for his Life at the Bar, v. 9. and chap. vii. 2.

The laſt nam'd is Nicolas, who ſome ſay, afterwards degenerated, (as the Judas among theſe Seven) and was the Founder of the Sect of the Nicolaitans, which we read of Rev. ii. 6, 15. and which Chriſt there ſaith once and again was a Thing he hated. But ſome of the Ancients clear him from that Charge, and tell us, that tho' that vile impure Sect denominated themſelves from him, yet it was unjuſtly, and becauſe he only inſiſted much upon it, that they that had Wives ſhould be as tho' they had none; thence they wickedly inferr'd, that they that had Wives ſhould have them in Common, which therefore Tertullian, when he ſpeaks of the Community of Goods, particularly excepts, Omnia indiſcreta apud nos, præter uxores. Apol. c. 39.

2. The Apoſtles appointed them to this Work of ſerving Tables for the preſent, v. 6. The People preſented them to the Apoſtles, who approv'd their Choice; and ordain'd them. (1.) They pray'd with them, and for them, that GOD would give them more and more of the Holy Ghoſt, and of Wiſdom, that he would qualify them for the Service to which they were call'd, and own them in it, and make them thereby a Bleſſing to the Church, and particularly to the Poor of the Flock. All that are employ'd in the Service of the Church, ought to be committed to the Conduct of the Divine Grace by the Prayers of the Church. (2.) They laid their Hands on them, i. e. they Bleſſed them in the Name of the Lord; for laying on Hands was uſed in Bleſſing; ſo Jacob bleſſed both the Sons of Joſeph; And without Controverſy, the leſs is bleſſed of the greater, Heb. vii. 7. The Deacons are bleſſed by the Apoſtles; and the Overſeers of the Poor by the Paſtors of the Congregation. Having by Prayer implor'd a Bleſſing upon them, they did by the laying on of Hands, aſſure them, that the Bleſſing was conferr'd in anſwer to the Prayer; And this was giving them Authority to execute that Office, and laying an Obligation upon the People to be obſervant of them therein.

Thirdly, The Advancement of the Church hereupon; when Things were thus put into good Order in the Church, Grievances were redreſs'd, and Diſcontents ſilenc'd, then Religion got Ground, v. 7.

1. The Word of God increas'd, Now the Apoſtles reſolv'd to ſtick more cloſely than ever to their Preaching: It ſpread the Goſpel further, and brought it Home with the more Power. Miniſters diſentangling themſelves from ſecular Employments, and addicting themſelves intirely, and vigorouſly to their Work, will contribute very much, as a Means, to the Succeſs of the Goſpel. The Word of God is ſaid to encreaſe, as the Seed ſown encreaſeth, when it comes up again thirty, ſixty, a hundred Fold.

2. Chriſtians grow numerous; The Number of the Diſciples multiply'd in Jeruſalem greatly; when Chriſt was upon Earth His Miniſtry had leaſt Succeſs in Jeruſalem, yet now that City affords moſt Converts. GOD has his Remnant even in the worſt of Places.

3. A great Company of the Prieſts were obedient to the Faith; Then is the Word and Grace of GOD greatly magnify'd, when thoſe are wrought upon by it that were leaſt likely, as the Prieſts here, who either had oppos'd it, or at leaſt were link'd in with thoſe that had. The Prieſts whoſe Preferments aroſe from the Law of Moſes, yet were willing to let them go for the Goſpel of Chriſt; And it ſhould ſeem they came in, in a Body, many of them agreed together for the keeping up of one another's Credit, and the ſtrengthening of one another's Hands, to join at once in giving up their Names to Chriſt, πολὺς ὄχλος, A great Croud of Prieſts were, by the Grace of GOD, help'd over their Prejudices, and were obedient to the Faith, ſo their Converſion is deſcrib'd. (1.) They embrac'd the Doctrine of the Goſpel; their Underſtandings were captivated to the Power of the Truths of Chriſt, and every oppoſing objecting Thought, brought into Obedience to Him. 2 Cor. x. 4, 5. The Goſpel is ſaid to be made known for the Obedience of Faith, Rom. xvi. 26. Faith is an Act of Obedience, for this is GOD's Commandment that we believe, 1 John iii. 23. (2.) They evidenc'd the Sincerity of their believing the Goſpel of Chriſt by a chearful compliance with all the Rules and Precepts of the Goſpel. The Deſign of the Goſpel is to refine and reform our Hearts and Lives; It's Faith gives Law to us, and we muſt be obedient to it.

8 And Stephen full of faith and power, did great wonders and miracles among the People. 9 Then there aroſe certain of the ſynagogue, which is called the ſynagogue of the Libertines, and Cyrenians, and Alexandrians, of them of Cilicia, and of Aſia, diſputing with Stephen. And they were not able to reſiſt the wiſdom and the ſpirit by which he ſpake. 11 Then they ſuborned men which ſaid, We have heard him ſpeak blaſphemous words againſt Moſes, and againſt God. 12 And they ſtirred up the people, and the elders, and the ſcribes, and came upon him, and caught him, and brought him to the council. 13 And ſet up falſe witneſſes which ſaid, This man ceaſeth not to ſpeak blaſphemous words againſt this holy place, and the law. 14 For we have heard him ſay, that this Jeſus of Nazareth ſhall deſtroy this place, and ſhall change the cuſtoms which Moſes delivered us. 15 And all that ſat in the council, looking ſtedfaſtly on him, ſaw his face as it had been the face of an angel.

Stephen no doubt was diligent and faithful in the Diſcharge of his Office as a Diſtributor of the Church's Charity, and laid out himſelf to put that Affair in a good Method, and did it to univerſal Satisfaction; And tho' it appears here that he was a Man of uncommon Gifts, and fitted for a higher Station, yet being called to that Office he did not think it below him to do the Duty of it. And being faithful in a little, he was ſoon intruſted with more; And tho' we do not find him propagating the Goſpel by preaching and baptizing, yet we find him here call'd out to very honourable Services, and own'd in them.

Firſt, He prov'd the Truth of the Goſpel, by working Miracles in Chriſt's Name, v. 8.

1. He was full of Faith and Power, i. e. of a ſtrong Faith, by which he was enabled to do great Things. They that are full of Faith, are full of Power, becauſe by Faith the Power of God is engag'd for us. His Faith did ſo fill him, that it left no room for Unbelief, and made Room for the Influences of Divine Grace, ſo that, as the Prophet ſpeaks, he was full of Power by the Spirit of the Lord of Hoſts, Mich. iii. 8. By Faith we are empty'd of ſelf, and ſo are filled with Chriſt, who is the Wiſdom of God, and the Power of God.

2. Being ſo, he did great Wonders and Miracles among the People, openly, and in the ſight of all, for Chriſt's Miracles feared not the ſtricteſt Scrutiny. It is not ſtrange that Stephen, tho' he was not a Preacher by Office, yet did theſe great Wonders; for we find that theſe were diſtinct Gifts of the Spirit, and divided ſeverally, for to one was Given the working of Miracles, and to another Prophecy, 1 Cor. xii. 10, 11. And thoſe Signs follow'd not only them that preach'd, but them that believ'd, Mark xvi. 17.

Secondly He pleaded the Cauſe of Chriſtianity againſt thoſe that oppos'd it and argued againſt it, v. 9, 10. he ſerv'd the Intereſt of Religion as a Diſputant, in the high Places of the Field, while others were ſerving them as Vinedreſſers and Husbandmen.

1. We are here told who were his Opponents, v. 9. They were Jews, but Helleniſt Jews, Jews of the Diſperſion, who ſeem to have been more zealous for their Religion than the Native Jews; 'Twas with Difficulty that they retain'd the Practice and Profeſſion of it in the Country, where they liv'd, where they were as ſpeckled Birds, and not without great Expence and Toil that they kept up their Attendance at Jeruſalem, and this made them more active Sticklers for Judaiſm, than they were whoſe Profeſſion of their Religion was cheap and eaſy. They were of the Synagogue which is call'd the Synagogue of the Libertines; the Romans call'd thoſe Liberti or Libertini, that either being Foreigners, were naturaliz'd; or being Slaves by Birth, were manumis'd or made Freemen. Some think theſe Libertines were ſuch of the Jews, as had obtain'd the Roman Freedom, as Paul had, Acts xv. 37. And it is probable, he was the moſt forward Man of this Synagogue of the Libertines in diſputing with Stephen, and engag'd others in the Diſpute; for we find him buſy in the Stoning of Stephen, and conſenting to his Death. There were others that belong'd to the Synagogue of the Cyreneans and Alexandrians, of which Synagogue the Jewiſh Writers ſpeak; and others that belong'd to their Synagogue, who were of Cilicia and Aſia; and if Paul as a Freeman of Rome did not belong to the Synagogue of the Libertines, he belong'd to this as a Native of Tarſus, a City of Cilicia; 'tis probable, he might be a Member of both. The Jews that were born in other Countries, and had Concerns in them, had frequent Occaſion not only to reſort to, but to reſide in Jeruſalem. And each Nation had its Synagogue, as in London there are French, and Dutch, and Daniſh Churches: And thoſe Synagogues were the Schools to which the Jews of thoſe Nations ſent their Youth to be educated in the Jewiſh Learning. Now thoſe that were Tutors and Profeſſors in theſe Synagogues, ſeeing the Goſpel grow, and the Rulers conniving at the Growth of it, and fearing what would be the Conſequence of it to the Jewiſh Religion, which they were jealous for, being confident of the Goodneſs of their Cauſe, and their own Sufficiency to manage it, would undertake to run down Chriſtianity by Force of Argument; and it was a fair and rational Way of dealing with it, and what Religion is always ready to admit. Produce your Cauſe, ſaith the LORD, bring forth your ſtrong Reaſons, Iſa. xli. 21. But why did they diſpute with Stephen? And why not with the Apoſtles themſelves? (1.) Some think becauſe they deſpis'd the Apoſtles as unlearned and ignorant Men, whom they thought it below them to engage with; but Stephen was bred a Scholar, and they thought it their Honour to meddle with their Match. (2.) Others think 'twas becauſe they ſtood in Awe of the Apoſtles, and could not be ſo free and familiar with them as they could be with Stephen, who was in an inferiour Office. (3.) Perhaps they having given a publick Challenge, Stephen was choſe and appointed by the Diſciples to be their Champion; for it was not meet that the Apoſtles ſhould leave the Preaching of the Word of God to engage in Controverſy. Stephen that was only a Deacon in the Church, and a very ſharp young Man, and of bright Parts, and better qualify'd to deal with wrangling Diſputants than the Apoſtles themſelves, is appointed to this Service. (4.) Some Hiſtorians ſay, that Stephen had been bred up at the feet of Gamaliel, and Saul, and the reſt of 'em ſet upon him as a Deſerter, and with a particular Fury made him their Mark. 'Tis probable, they diſputed with Stephen becauſe he was zealous to argue with them, and convince them. And this was the Service which GOD had call'd him to.

2. We are here told how he carry'd the Point in his Diſpute, v. 10. They were not able to reſiſt the Wiſdom and the Spirit by which he ſpake. They could not either ſupport their own Arguments, or anſwer his. He prov'd by ſuch irreſiſtable Arguments that Jeſus is the Chriſt, and deliver'd himſelf with ſo much Clearneſs and Fulneſs, that they had nothing to object againſt what he ſaid; tho' they were not convinc'd, yet they were confounded. 'Tis not ſaid, they were not able to reſiſt him, but they were not able to reſiſt the Wiſdom and the Spirit by which he ſpake, i. e. that Spirit of Wiſdom which ſpake by him: Now was fulfilled that Promiſe, I will give you a Mouth and Wiſdom which all your Adverſaries ſhall not be able to gainſay or reſiſt. Luke xxi. 15. They thought they had only diſputed with Stephen, and could make their Part good with him; but they were diſputing with the Spirit of GOD in him, for whom they were an unequal Match.

Thirdly, At length he ſeal'd it with his Blood; ſo we ſhall find he did in the next Chapter, here we have ſome Steps taken by his Enemies towards it. When they could not anſwer his Arguments as a Diſputant, they proſecuted him as a Criminal, and ſuborn'd Witneſſes againſt him to ſwear Blaſphemy upon him, " On ſuch Terms (ſaith Mr. Baxter here) doth we diſpute with " malignant Men, and it is next to a Miracle of Providence, " that no greater Number of religious Perſons have been murther'd in the World, by the Way of Perjury and Pretence of " Law, when ſo many Thouſands hate them who make no " Conſcience of Falſe Oaths." They ſuborn'd Men, i. e. Inſtructed them what to ſay, and then hir'd them to ſwear it. They were the more inrag'd againſt him, becauſe he had prov'd them to be in the Wrong, and ſhew'd 'em the right Way; for which they ought to have given him their beſt Thanks; Was he therefore become their Enemy becauſe he told them the Truth, and prov'd it to be ſo? Now let us Obſerve here,

1. How with all poſſible Art and Induſtry they incenc'd both the Government and the Mob againſt him, that if they could not prevail by the one, they might by the other, v. 12. They ſtirred up the People againſt him, that if the Sanhedrin ſhould ſtill think fit, according to Gamaliel's Advice, to let him alone, yet they might run him down by a popular Rage and Tumult; they alſo find means to ſtir up the Elders and the Scribes againſt him, that if the People ſhould countenance and protect him, they might prevail by Authority. Thus they doubted not but to gain their Point, when they had two Strings to their Bow.

2. How they got him to the Bar: They came upon him, when he little thought of it, and caught him and brought him to the Council, They came upon him in a Body, and flew upon him as a Lion upon his Prey; ſo the Word ſignifies. By their rude and violent Treatment of him, they would repreſent him both to the People and to the Government as a dangerous Man, that would either flee from Juſtice if he were not watch'd, or fight with it if he were not put under a Force. Having caught him, they brought him triumphantly into the Council, and as it ſhould ſeem, ſo haſtily that he had none of his Friends with him. They had found when they brought many together, they embolden'd one another, and ſtrengthen'd one another's Hands; and therefore they'll try how to deal with them ſingly.

3. How they were prepar'd with Evidence ready to produce againſt him; They were reſolv'd they would not be run a-ground as they were when they brought our Saviour upon his Trial, and then were to ſeek for Witneſſes. Theſe were got ready before-hand, and were inſtructeed to make Oath, That they had heard him ſpeak blaſphemous Words againſt Moſes, and againſt God, v. 11. againſt this Holy Place and the Law, v. 13. for they heard him ſay, what Jeſus would do to their Place and their Cuſtoms, v. 14. 'Tis probable, he had ſaid ſomething to that Purpoſe; and yet they who ſwore it againſt him, are call'd falſe Witneſſes, becauſe tho' there was ſomething of Truth in their Teſtimony, yet they put a wrong and malicious Conſtruction upon what he had ſaid, and perverted it. Obſerve,

1. What was the general Charge exhibited againſt him, That he ſpoke blaſphemous Words; and to aggravate the Matter, he ceaſeth not to ſpeak blaſpemous Words; 'tis his common Talk, his Diſcourſe in all Companies, whereſoever he comes; he makes it his Buſineſs to inſtill his Notions into all he Converſeth with. It intimates likewiſe ſomething of Contumacy and contempt of Admonition; he hath been warn'd againſt it, and yet ceaſeth not to talk at this Rate. Blaſphemy is juſtly reckon'd a heinous Crime, to ſpeak contemptibly and reproachfully of GOD our Maker, and therefore Stephen's Perſecutors would be thought to have a mighty Concern upon them for the Honour of GOD's Name, and to do this in a Jealouſy for that: As it was with the Confeſſors and Martyrs of the Old Teſtament, ſo it was with thoſe of the New, Their Brethren that hateth them and caſt them out ſaid, Let the Lord be glorify'd; and pretended they did him Service in it.

He is ſaid to have ſpoken blaſphemous Words againſt Moſes, and againſt GOD: Thus far they were right, that they who blaſpheme Moſes, if they mean the Writings of Moſes, which were given by Inſpiration of GOD, blaſpheme GOD himſelf. They that ſpeak reproachfully of the Scriptures, and ridicule them, reflect upon GOD himſelf, and do Deſpite to him. His great Intention is to magnify the Law and make it honourable; thoſe therefore that vilify the Law and make it contemptible blaſpheme his Name; for he has magnify'd his Word above all his Name.

But, Did Stephen blaſpeme Moſes? by no Means, he was far from it. Chriſt, and the Preachers of his Goſpel, never ſaid any Thing that look'd like blaſpheming Moſes, they always quoted his Writings with Reſpect, appeal'd to them, and ſaid no other Things but what Moſes ſaid ſhould come; very unjuſtly therefore is Stephen indicted for Blaſpheming Moſes. But,

2. Let us ſee how this Charge is ſupported and made out; Why truly when the Thing was to be proved, all they can charge him with is, That he hath ſpoken Blaſphemous Words againſt this Holy Place, and the Law; and this muſt be deem'd and taken as Blaſphemy againſt Moſes, and againſt GOD himſelf. Thus doth the Charge dwindle when it comes to the Evidence. (1.) He is charg'd with Blaſpheming this Holy Place. Some underſtand that of the City of Jeruſalem, which was the Holy City, and which they had a mighty Jealouſy for: But 'tis rather meant of the Temple, that Holy Houſe. Chriſt was condemn'd as a Blaſphemer for Words which were thought to reflect upon the Temple, which they ſeem'd concern'd for the Honour of, then when they by their Wickedneſs had Prophan'd it. (2.) He is charg'd with Blaſpheming the Law; of which they made their Boaſt, and in which they put their Truſt, then when through breaking of the Law they diſhonour'd GOD, Rom. iii. 23.

Well, But how can they make this out? Why, here the Charge dwindles again; for all they can accuſe him of is, That they had themſelves heard him ſay, (But how it came in, or what Explication he gave of it, they think not themſelves bound to give Account) That this Jeſus of Nazareth, who was ſo much talk'd of, ſhall deſtroy this Place, and change the Cuſtoms which Moſes deliver'd us. He could not be charg'd with having ſaid any Thing to the Diſparagement either of the Temple or of the Law. The Prieſts had themſelves profan'd the Temple, by making it not only a Houſe of Merchandize, but a Den of Thieves; yet they would be thought zealous for the Honour of it, againſt One that had never ſaid any Thing amiſs of it, but had attended it more as a Houſe of Prayer, according to the true Intention of it, than they had. Nor had he ever reproach'd the Law as they had.

But (1.) He had ſaid, That Jeſus of Nazareth ſhall deſtroy this Place; deſtroy the Temple, deſtroy Jeruſalem. 'Tis likely he might ſay ſo; And what Blaſphemy is it againſt the Holy Place, to ſay, that it ſhould not be perpetual any more than Shiloh was? And that the Juſt and Holy GOD would not continue the Privileges of his Sanctuary to thoſe that abus'd them? Had not the Prophets given the ſame Warning to their Fathers of the Deſtruction of that Holy Place by Chaldeans, Nay, when the Temple was firſt built, had not GOD himſelf given the ſame Warning? This Houſe which is High, ſhall be an Aſtoniſhment, 1 Chron. vii. 21. And is he a Blaſphemer then who tells them, That Jeſus of Nazareth, if they continue their Oppoſition to him, will bring a juſt Deſtruction upon their Place and Nation, and they may thank themſelves. Thoſe wickedly abuſe their Profeſſion of Religion, who under Colour of that, call the Reproofs given them for their diſagreeable Converſations, blaſphemous Reflections up their Religion.

2. He had ſaid, That this Jeſus ſhall change the Cuſtoms which Moſes deliver'd us. And it was expected, that in the Days of the Meſſiah they ſhould be chang'd, and that the Shadows ſhould be done away when the Subſtance was come; yet this was no eſſential Change of the Law, but the Perfecting of it; Chriſt came not to deſtroy, but to fulfill the Law; and if he chang'd ſome Cuſtoms that Moſes deliver'd, it was to introduce and eſtabliſh thoſe that were much better. And if the Jewiſh Church had not obſtinately refus'd to come in to this New Eſtabliſhment, and adher'd to the Ceremonial Law, for ought I know, their Place had not been deſtroy'd; ſo that for putting them into a certain Way to prevent their Deſtruction, and for giving them certain Notice of their Deſtruction, if they did not take that Way, he is accus'd as a Blaſphemer.

Laſtly, We are here told how GOD own'd him when he was brought before the Council, and made it to appear, that he ſtood by him, v. 15. All that ſate in the Council, the Prieſts, Scribes, and Elders, looking ſtedfaſtly on him, being a Stranger and One they had not yet had before them, they ſaw his Face as it had been the Face of an Angel. 'Tis uſual for Judges to obſerve the Countenance of the Priſoner, which ſometimes is an Indication either of Guilt or Innocence: Now Stephen appear'd at the Bar with the Countenance as of an Angel.

1. Perhaps it intimates no more, than that he had an extraordinary pleaſant, chearful Countenance, and there was not in it the leaſt Sign either of Fear for himſelf, or Anger at his Perſecutors, he look'd as if he were never better pleas'd in his Life than he was now, when he was call'd out to bear his Teſtimony to the Goſpel of Chriſt thus publickly, and ſtood fair for the Crown of Martyrdom. Such an undiſturb'd Serenity, ſuch an undaunted Courage, and ſuch an unaccountable Mixture of Mildneſs and Majeſty there was in his Countenance, that every One ſaid, he look'd like an Angel; enough ſure to convince the Sadduces that there are Angels, when they ſaw before their Eyes an Incarnate Angel.

2. It ſhould rather ſeem that there was a miraculous Splendour and Brightneſs upon his Countenance, like that of our Saviour, when he was transfigur'd; or at leaſt that of Moſes, when he came down from the Mount; GOD deſigning thereby to put Honour upon his faithful Witneſs, and Confuſion upon his Perſecutors and Judges, whoſe Sin would be highly aggravated, and would be indeed a Rebellion againſt the Light, if notwithſtanding this, they proceeded againſt him. Whether he himſelf wiſt that the Skin of his Face ſhone or no, we are not told; but all that ſate in the Council ſaw it, and probably took notice of it to one another, and an errant ſhame 'twas that when they ſaw it, and could not but ſee by it, that he was own'd of God, they did not call him from ſtanding at the Bar, to ſit in the chief Seat upon the Bench. Wiſdom and Holineſs make a Man's Face to ſhine, and yet theſe will not ſecure Men from the greateſt Indignities; and no Wonder, when the ſhining of Stephen's Face would not be his Protection; tho' it had been eaſy to prove, that if he had been guilty of putting any Diſhonour upon Moſes, GOD would not thus have put Moſes's Honour upon him.

CHAP. VII

When our Lord Jeſus call'd his Apoſtles out to be employ'd in Services and Sufferrings for him, he told them, that yet the laſt ſhould be firſt, and the firſt laſt; which was remarkably fulfill'd in St. Stephen and St. Paul, who were both of them late Converts, in Compariſon of the Apoſtles, and yet got the Start of them, both in Services and Sufferings; for GOD in conferring Honours and Favours, often croſſeth Hands: In this Chapter we have the Martyrdom of Stephen, the firſt Martyr of the Chriſtian Church, who led the Van in that Noble Army. And therefore his Sufferings and Death are more largely related than of any other, for Direction and Encouragement to all thoſe who are called out to reſiſt unto Blood, as he did. Here's (1.) His Defence of himſelf before the Council, in Anſwer to the Matters and Things he ſtood charg'd with, the Scope of which is to ſhew, that it was no Blaſphemy againſt GOD, nor any Injury at all to the Glory of his Name, to ſay, that the Temple ſhould be deſtroy'd, and the Cuſtoms of the Ceremonial Law chang'd. And (1.) He ſhews this by going over the Hiſtory of the Old Teſtament, and obſerving, that GOD never intended to confine his Favours to that Place, or that Ceremonial Law; and that they had no Reaſon to expect He ſhould, for the People of the Jews had always been a provoking People, and had forfeited the Privileges of their Peculiarity: Nay, that that Holy Place, and that Law, were but Figures of Good Things to come, and it was no Diſparagement at all to them to ſay, that they muſt give place to better things, v. 1—50. And then (2.) He applies this to them that proſecuted him, and ſate in Judgment upon him, ſharply Reproving them for their Wickedneſs, by which they had brought upon themſelves the Ruin of their Place and Nation, and then could not bear to hear of it, v. 51—53. (3.) The putting of him to Death by Stoning of him, and his patient, chearful, pious Submiſſion to it, v. 54—60.

THEN ſaid the high prieſt, Are theſe things ſo? 2 And he ſaid, Men, brethren and fathers, hearken, The God of glory appeared unto our father Abraham, when he was in Meſopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran, 3 And ſaid unto him, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and come into the land which I ſhall ſhew thee. 4 Then came he out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Charran: and from thence, when his father was dead, he removed him into this land wherein ye now dwell. 5 And he gave him none inheritance in it, no not ſo much as to ſet his foot on: yet he promiſed that he would give it to him for a poſſeſſion, and to his ſeed after him, when as yet he had no child. 6 And God ſpake on this wiſe, that his ſeed ſhould ſojourn in a ſtrange land, and that they ſhould bring them into bondage, and entreat them evil four hundred years. 7 And the nation to whom they ſhall be in bondage, will I judge, ſaid God: and after that ſhall they come forth, and ſerve me in this place. 8 And he gave him the covenant of circumciſion: and ſo Abraham begat Iſaac, and circumciſed him the eighth day: and Iſaac begat Jacob, and Jacob begat the twelve patriarchs: 9 And the patriarchs moved with envy, ſold Joſeph into Egypt: but God was with him, 10 And delivered him out of all his afflictions, and gave him favour and wiſdom in the ſight of Pharaoh king of Egypt; and he made him governour of Egypt, and all his houſe. 11 Now there came a dearth over all the land of Egypt and Canaan, and great affliction; and our fathers found no ſuſtenance. 12 But when Jacob heard that there was Corn in Egypt, he ſent out our fathers firſt. 13 And at the ſecond time Joſeph was made known to his brethren; and Joſeph's kindred was made known unto Pharoah. 14 Then ſent Joſeph, and called his father Jacob to him, and all his kindred, threeſcore and fifteen Souls. 15 So Jacob went down into Egypt, and died, he and our fathers, 16 And were carried over into Sichem, and laid in the Sepulchre that Abraham bought for a ſum of money of the ſons of Emmor the father of Sichem.

Stephen is now at the Bar before the Great Council of the Nation, indicted for Blaſphemy; what the Witneſſes ſwore againſt him, we had an Account of in the foregoing Chapter, That he ſpoke blaſphemous Words againſt Moſes and GOD; for he ſpoke againſt this Holy Place, and the Law. Now here,

1. The High-prieſt calls upon him to anſwer for himſelf, v. 1. He was Preſident, and as ſuch, the Mouth of the Court, and therefore he ſaith, You, the Priſoner at the Bar, you hear what is ſworn againſt you, what do you ſay to it? Are theſe Things ſo? Have you ever ſpoken any Words to this Purpoſe? If you have, will you recant them, or will you ſtand to them? Guilty or Not Guilty? This carry'd a Shew of Fairneſs, and yet ſeems to have been ſpoken with an Air of Haughtineſs; and thus far he ſeems to have prejudg'd the Cauſe, that if it were ſo, that he had ſpoken ſuch and ſuch Words, he ſhall certainly be adjudg'd a Blaſphemer, whatever he may offer in Juſtification or Explanation of them.

2. He begins his Defence, and it is long, but it ſhould ſeem by his breaking off abrubtly, juſt when he came to the main Point, v. 50. that it would have been much longer, if his Enemies would have given him Leave to ſay all he had to ſay. In general we may Obſerve.

1. That in this Diſcourſe he appears to be a Man ready and mighty in the Scriptures, and thereby thoroughly furniſh'd for every good Word and Work. He can relate Scripture Stories, and ſuch as were very pertinent to his Purpoſe, off-hand, without looking in his Bible. He was fill'd with the Holy Ghoſt, not ſo much to reveal to him New Things, or open to him the ſecret Counſels and Decrees of GOD concerning the Jewiſh Nation, with them to convict theſe Gainſayers; No, but to bring to his Remembrance the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament, and to teach him how to make Uſe of them for their Conviction. They that are full of the Holy Ghoſt, will be full of the Scripture, as Stephen was.

2. That he quotes the Scriptures according to the Septuagint Tranſlation, by which it appears he was one of the Helleniſt Jews, who us'd that Verſion in their Synagogues: And his following that, occaſions divers Variations from the Hebrew Original in this Diſcourſe, which the Judges of the Court did not correct becauſe they knew how he was led into them; nor is it any Derogation to the Authority of that Spirit by which he ſpoke, for the Variations are not material. We have a Maxim, Apices juris non ſunt jura.

Theſe Verſes carry on this his Compendium of Church Hiſtory to the End of the Book of Geneſis. Obſerve,

1. His Preface; Men, Brethren and Fathers, hearken. He gives them, tho' not flattering Titles, yet civil and reſpectful Ones, ſignifies his Expectation of fair Treatment with them; from Men, he hopes to be treated with Humanity, and that Brethren and Fathers will uſe him in a fatherly brotherly Way. They are ready to look upon him as an Apoſtate from the Jewiſh Church, and an Enemy to them. But to make Way for their Conviction to the Contrary, he addreſſeth himſelf to them as Men, Brethren and Fathers, reſolving to look on himſelf as One of them, tho' they would not ſo look on him. He craves their Attention; Hearken; Tho' he was about to tell them what they already knew, yet he begs of them to hearken to it, becauſe tho' they knew it all, yet they would not without a very cloſe Application of Mind, know how to apply it to the Caſe before them.

2. His Entrance upon the Diſcourſe; Which (however it may ſeem to thoſe that read it careleſly) is far from being a long Ramble only to amuſe the Hearers, and give them a Diverſion by telling them an old Story. No; it is all pertinent, and ad rem, to ſhew them, that God had not his Heart ſo much upon that Holy Place and the Law, as they had; but as he had a Church in the World many Ages before that Holy Place was founded, and the Ceremonial Law given, ſo he would have, when they ſhould both have had their Period.

Firſt, He begins with the Call of Abraham out of Ur of the Chaldees, by which he was ſet apart for GOD to be the Truſtee of the Promiſe, and the Father of the Old Teſtament Church. This we had an Account of Gen. xii. 1, &c. And it is referr'd to, Neh. ix. 7, 8. His native Country, was idolatrous Country, 'twas Meſopotamia, v. 2. the Land of the Chaldeans, v. 4. thence GOD brought him at two Removes, not too far at once, dealing tenderly with him, He firſt brought him out of the Land of the Chaldeans to Charran or Harun, a Place in the Mid-way between that and Canaan, Gen. xi. 31. and from thence Five Years after, when his Father was Dead, He remov'd him into the Land of Canaan, wherein ye now dwell. It ſhould ſeem, the firſt Time that GOD ſpoke to Abraham, He appear'd in ſome viſible Diſplay of the Divine Preſence, as the GOD of Glory, v. 3. to ſettle a Correſpondence with him; and then afterwards He kept up that Correſpondence, and ſpoke to him from Time to Time as there was Occaſion, without repeating his viſible Appearances as the GOD of Glory.

From this Call of Abraham, we may Obſerve, (1.) That in all our Ways we muſt acknowledge GOD, and attend the Conduct of his Providence, as of the Pillar of Cloud and Fire. It is not ſaid, Abraham remov'd, but GOD remov'd him into this Land wherein ye now dwell, and he did but follow his Leader. (2.) Thoſe whom GOD takes into Covenant with himſelf, He diſtinguiſheth from the Children of this World; they are affectually call'd out of the State, out of the Land of their Nativity; they muſt ſit looſe to the World, and live above it, and every Thing in it, even that in it which is moſt dear to them, and muſt truſt GOD to make it up to them in another and better Country; that is, the Heavenly, which he will ſhew them. GOD's Choſen muſt follow Him with an implicit Faith and Obedience.

But let us ſee what this is to Stephen's Caſe.

1. They had charg'd him as a Blaſphemer of GOD, and an Apoſtate from the Church; therefore he ſhews that he is a Son of Abraham, and values himſelf upon his being able to ſay, Our Father Abraham, and that he is a faithful Worſhipper of the God of Abraham, whom therefore he here calls the God of Glory. He alſo ſhews, that he owns Divine Revelation, and that particularly by which the Jewiſh Church was founded and incorporated.

2. They were proud of their being circumcis'd; and therefore he ſhews, that Abraham was taken under GOD's Conduct, and into Communion with him, before he was circumcis'd, for that was not till v. 8. With this Argument Paul proves, That Abraham was juſtify'd by Faith, becauſe he was juſtify'd when he was in Uncircumciſion; and ſo here.

3. They had a mighty Jealouſy for this Holy Place; which may be meant of the whole Land of Canaan; for it was call'd the Holy Land, Immanuel's Land; and the Deſtruction of the Holy Houſe, inferr'd that of the Holy Land. Now, ſaith Stephen, you need not be ſo proud of it; for (1.) You came originally out of Ur of the Chaldees, where your Fathers ſerv'd other Gods, Joſh. xxiv. 2. and you were not the firſt Planters of this Country. Look therefore unto the Rock whence ye were hewn, and the Hole of the Pit out of which ye were dig'd; that is, as it follows there; Look unto Abraham your Father, for I call'd him alone, Iſa. li. 1, 2. think of the Meanneſs of your Beginnings, and how you are intirely indebted to Divine Grace, and then you'll ſee Boaſting to be for ever excluded. 'Twas GOD that rais'd up the righteous Man from the Duſt, and call'd him to his Foot, Iſa. xli. 2. But if his Seed degenerate, let them know, GOD can deſtroy this Holy Place, and raiſe up to himſelf another People, for he is not a Debtor to them. (2.) GOD appear'd in his Glory to Abraham a great Way of in Meſopotamia, before he came near Canaan, nay, before he dwelt in Charran; ſo that you muſt not think GOD's Viſits are ty'd to this Land: No, He that brought the Seed of the Church from a Country ſo far Eaſt, can if he pleaſeth carry the Fruit of it to another Country as far Weſt. (3.) GOD made no haſte to bring him into this Land, but let him linger ſome Years by the Way; which ſhews that GOD has not his Heart ſo much upon this Land, as you have, neither is his Honour, nor the Happineſs of his People, bound up in it: 'Tis therefore neither Blaſphemy nor Treaſon, to ſay, it ſhall be deſtroy'd.

Secondly, The unſettled State of Abraham and his Seed for many Ages after he was call'd out of Ur of the Chaldees. God did indeed promiſe that he would give it him for a Poſſeſſion, and to his Seed after him, v. 5. But 1. As yet he had no Child, nor any by Sarah for many Years after. 2. He himſelf was but a Stranger and Sojourner in that Land, and GOD gave him no Inheritance in it, not ſo much as to ſet his Foot on; but there he was as in a ſtrange Country, where he was always upon the Remove, and could call nothing his own. 3. His Poſterity did not come to the Poſſeſſion of it of a long time; After Four hundred Years they ſhall come and ſerve me in this Place, and not till then, v. 7. Nay, 4. They muſt undergo a great deal of Hardſhip and Difficulty before they ſhall be put into the Poſſeſſion of that Land, they ſhall be brought into Bondage, and ill treated in a ſtrange Land: And this, not as the Puniſhment of any particular Sin, as their Wandering in the Wilderneſs was, for we never find any ſuch Account given of their Bondage in Egypt: but ſo GOD had appointed, and it muſt be. And at the End of Four hundred Years, reckoning from the Birth of Iſaac, that Nation to whom they ſhall be in Bondage, will I judge, ſaid GOD. Now this teacheth us, (1.) That known unto GOD are all his Works before hand. When Abraham had neither Inheritance nor Heir, yet he was told he ſhould have both, the one a Land of Promiſe, and the other a Child of Promiſe; and therefore both had, and receiv'd by Faith. 2. That GOD's Promiſes, tho' they are ſlow, yet they are ſure in the Operation of them, they will be fulfill'd in the Seaſon of them, tho' perhaps not ſo ſoon as we expect. (3.) That tho' the People of GOD may be in Diſtreſs and Trouble for a Time, yet GOD will at length both reſcue them, and reckon with thoſe that do oppreſs them; for, Verily there is a GOD that judgeth in the Earth.

But let us ſee how this ſerves Stephen's Purpoſe.

1. The Jewiſh Nation which they were ſo jealous for the Honour of, was very inconſiderable in its Beginnings; As their common Father Abraham was fetch'd out of Obſcurity in Ur of the Chaldees, ſo their Tribes, and the Heads of them were fetch'd out of Servitude in Egypt, when they were the feweſt of all People, Deut. vii. 7. And what needs ſo much a-do, as if their Ruin when they bring it upon themſelves by Sin, muſt be the Ruin of the World, and of all GOD's Intereſt in it? No; He that brought them out of Egypt, can bring them into it again, as He threaten'd, Deut. xxviii. 68. and yet be no Loſer, while He can out of Stones raiſe up Children unto Abraham.

2. The ſlow Steps by which the Promiſe made to Abraham advanc'd towards the Performance, and the many ſeeming Contradictions here taken notice of, plainly ſhews that it had a ſpiritual Meaning, and that the Land principally intended to be convey'd and ſecured by it, was the better Country, that is the Heavenly; as the Apoſtle ſhews from this very Argument, that the Patriarchs ſojourn'd in the Land of Promiſe, as in a ſtrange Country; thence inferring that they look'd for a City that had Foundations, Heb. xi. 9, 10. It was therefore no Blaſphemy to ſay, that Jeſus ſhall deſtroy this Place, when at the ſame time we ſay, that he ſhall lead us to the Heavenly Canaan, and put us in Poſſeſſion of that, of which the earthly Canaan was but a Type and Figure.

Thirdly, The Building up of the Family of Abraham, with the Entail of Divine Grace upon it, and the Diſpoſals of Divine Providence concerning it, which take up the reſt of the Book of Geneſis.

1. GOD engag'd to be a God to Abraham and to his Seed; and in Token of that, appointed that he and his Male-ſeed ſhould be circumcis'd, Gen. xvii. 9. He gave him the Covenant of Circumciſion, i. e. That Covenant which Circumciſion was the Seal of; And accordingly, when Abraham had a Son born he Circumcis'd him the 8th Day, v. 8. by which he was both oblig'd by the Divine Law, and intereſted in the Divine Promiſe, for Circumciſion had Reference to both, being a Seal of the Covenant both on GOD's Part, I will be to thee a God all ſufficient, and on Man's Part, walk before me, and be thou perfect. And then when effectual Care was thus taken for the ſecuring of Abraham's Seed, to be a Seed to ſerve the Lord, they began to multiply; Iſaac begat Jacob, and Jacob the Twelve Patriarchs, or Roots of the reſpective Tribes.

2. Joſeph the Darling and Bleſſing of his Father's Houſe was abus'd by his Brethren, they envy'd him becauſe of his Dreams, and ſold him into Egypt; Thus early did the Children of Iſrael begin to grudge thoſe among them that were Eminent and outſhone others, of which their Enmity to Chriſt, who like Joſeph was a Nazarite among his Brethren was a great Inſtance.

3. GOD own'd Joſeph in his Troubles, and was with him Gen. xxxiv. 2, 21. by the Influence of his Spirit, both on his Mind, giving him Comfort, and on the Minds of thoſe he was concern'd with, giving him Favour in their Eyes. And thus at length he deliver'd him out of his Afflictions, and Pharaoh made him the Second Man in the Kingdom, Pſal. cv. 20, 21, 22. And thus he not only arriv'd to great Preferment among the Egyptians, but became the Shepherd and Stone of Iſrael, Gen. xliv. 24.

4. Jacob was compell'd to go down into Egypt, by a Famine which forc'd him out of Canaan, a Dearth which was a great Affliction to that degree, that our Fathers found no ſuſtenance in Canaan, v. 9. That fruitful Land was turn'd into Barrenneſs: But hearing that there was Corn in Egypt, treaſur'd up by the Wiſdom of his own Son, he ſent out our Fathers firſt to fetch Corn, v. 12. And the ſecond Time that they went, Joſeph who at firſt made himſelf ſtrange to them, made himſelf known to them; And it was notify'd to Pharoah that they were Joſeph's Kindred, and had a Dependance upon him, v. 13. whereupon with Pharoah's leave, Joſeph ſent for his Father Jacob to him into Egypt, with all his Kindred and Family, to the number of ſeventy five Souls, to be ſubſiſted there, v. 14. In Geneſis they are ſaid to be Seventy Souls, Gen. xlvi. 27. But the Septuagint there make them ſeventy five, and Stephen or Luke follow that Verſion as Luke iii. 36. where Cainan is inſerted, that is not in the Hebrew Text, but in the Septuagint. Some by excluding Joſeph and his Sons, who were in Egypt before, which reduceth the Number to Sixty Four, and adding the Sons of the Eleven Patriarchs make the Number Seventy Five.

5. Jacob and his Sons dy'd in Egypt, v. 16. But were carry'd over to be buried in Canaan, v. 17. A very conſiderable Difficulty occurs here; 'Tis ſaid they were carry'd over into Sychem, whereas Jacob was bury'd not in Sychem, but near Hebron, in the Cave of Macpelah where Abraham and Iſaac were buried, Gen. l. 13. Joſeph's Bones indeed were bury'd in Sychem, Joſh. xxiv. 32. and it ſeems by this (tho' it is not mention'd in the Story) that the Bones of all the other Patriarchs were carry'd with his, each of them giving the ſame Commandment concerning them that he had done; And of them this muſt be underſtood not of Jacob himſelf. But then that Sepulchre in Sychem was bought by Jacob, Gen, xxxiii. 19. and by that it is deſcrib'd, Joſh. xxiv. 32. How then is it here ſaid to be bought by Abraham? Dr. Whitby's Solution of this is very ſufficient; he ſupplies it thus: Jacob went down into Egypt and dy'd, he and our Fathers; And (our Fathers) were carry'd over into Sychem; And he i. e. Jacob was laid in the Sepulchre that Abraham bought for a Sum of Money. Gen. xxiii. (Or, they were laid there, i. e. Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob) And they, viz. the other Patriarchs were bury'd in the Sepulchre bought of the Sons of Emmor the Father of Sychem.

Let us now ſee what this is to Stephen's Purpoſe.

1. He ſtill minds them of the mean Beginning of the Jewiſh Nation, as a Check to their priding of themſelves in the Glories of that Nation; And that it was by a Miracle of Mercy, that they were rais'd up out of Nothing to what they were from ſo ſmall a Number to be ſo great a Nation; But if they anſwer not the Intention of their being ſo rais'd, they can expect no other but to be deſtroy'd. The Prophets frequently put them in Mind of the bringing of them out of Egypt, as an Aggravation of their Contempt of the Law of GOD, and here it is urg'd upon them as an Aggravation of their Contempt of the Goſpel of Chriſt.

2. He minds them likewiſe of the Wickedneſs of thoſe that were the Patriarchs of their Tribes, in envying their Brother Joſeph, and ſelling him into Egypt; and the ſame Spirit was ſtill working in them towards Chriſt and his Miniſters.

3. Their Holy Land they doted ſo much upon, their Fathers were long kept out of the Poſſeſſion of and met with Dearth and great Affliction in it; And therefore let them not think it ſtrange if after it has been ſo long polluted with Sin, it be at length deſtroy'd.

4. The Faith of the Patriarchs in deſiring to be buried in the Land of Canaan, plainly ſhew'd that they had an Eye to the Heavenly Country, which it was the Deſign of this Jeſus to lead them to.

17 But when the time of the promiſe drew nigh, which God had ſworn to Abraham, the people grew and multiplied in Egypt, 18 Till another king aroſe, which knew not Joſeph. 19 The ſame dealt ſubtilly with our kindred, and evil entreated our fathers, ſo that they caſt out their young children, to the end they might not live. 20 In which time Moſes was born, and was exceeding fair, and nouriſhed up in his fathers houſe three months. 21 And when he was caſt out, Pharoahs daughter took him up, and nouriſhed him for her own ſon. 22 And Moſes was learned in all the wiſdom of the Egyptians, and was mighty in words and in deeds. 23 And when he was full forty years old, it came into his heart to viſit his brethren, the children of Iſrael. 24 And ſeeing one of them ſuffer wrong, he defended him, and avenged him that was oppreſſed, and ſmote the Egyptian: 25 For he ſuppoſed his brethren would have underſtood, how that God by his hand would deliver them: but they underſtood not. 26 And the next day he ſhewed himſelf unto them as they ſtrove, and would have ſet them at one again, ſaying, Sirs, ye are brethren; why do ye wrong to one another? 27 But he that did his neighbour wrong, thruſt him away, ſaying, Who made thee a ruler and a judge over us? 28 Wilt thou kill me as thou didſt the Egyptian yeſterday? 29 Then fled Moſes at this ſaying, and was a ſtranger in the land of Madian, where he begat two ſons.

Stephen here goes on to relate.

Firſt, The wonderful Encreaſe of the People of Iſrael in Egypt; 'Twas by a Wonder of Providence, that in a little Time they advanc'd from a Family into a Nation.

1. It was when the time of the Promiſe drew nigh; the Time when they were to be form'd into a People. During the firſt two hundred and fifteen Years after the Promiſe made to Abraham, the Children of the Covenant were encreaſed but to Seventy, But in the latter two hundred and fifteen Years they encreaſed to ſix hundred thouſand fighting Men; The Motion of Providence is ſometimes quickeſt, when it comes neareſt the Centre. Let not us be diſcourag'd at the Slowneſs of the Proceedings towards the Accompliſhment of GOD's Promiſes, GOD knows how to redeem the Time that ſeems to have been loſt. And when the Year of the Redeemed is at Hand, can do a double Work in a ſingle Day.

2. It was in Egypt where they were oppreſs'd and rul'd with rigour; When their Lives were made ſo bitter to them, that one would think they ſhould have wiſh'd to be written Childleſs, yet they marry'd in Faith, that GOD in due Time would viſit them; And GOD bleſſed them who thus honour'd Him, ſaying, Be fruitful and multiply. Suffering Times have oft been growing Times with the Church.

Secondly, The extream Hardſhips which they underwent there, v. 18, 19. When the Egyptians obſerv'd them to encreaſe in Number, they encreas'd their Burthens; in which Stephen obſerves three Things.

1. Their baſe Ingratitude; They were oppreſs'd by another King that knew not Joſeph, i. e. did not conſider the good Service that Joſeph had done to that Nation, for if he had, he would not have made ſo ill a Requital to his Relations and Family. Thoſe that injure good People are very ungrateful, for they are the Bleſſings of the Age and Place they live in.

2 Their helliſh Craft and Policy; They dealt ſubtilly with our Kindred. Come on, ſaid they, let us deal wiſely, thinking thereby to ſecure themſelves, but it prov'd dealing fooliſhly for they did but treaſure up Wrath by it. Thoſe are in a great Miſtake, who think they deal ſubtilly for themſelves, when they deal deceitfully, or unmercifully with their Brethren.

3. Their barbarous and inhuman Cruelty; That they might effectually extirpate them, they caſt out their young Children to the End they might not live. The killing of their infant Seed, ſeem'd a very likely way to cruſh an Infant Nation.

Now Stephen ſeems to obſerve this to them, not only that they might further ſee how mean their Beginnings were, fitly repreſented (perhaps with an Eye to the Expoſing of the young Children in Egypt) by the forlorn State of a helpleſs out-caſt Infant, Ezeck. xvi. 4. And how much they were indebted to GOD for His Care of them, which they had forfeited and made themſelves unworthy of, But alſo that they might conſider that what they were now doing againſt the Chriſtian Church in its Infancy was as impious and unjuſt, and would be in the Iſſue as fruitleſs and ineffectual, as that was which the Egyptians did againſt the Jewiſh Church in its Infancy. You think you deal ſubtilly in your evil entreating us, and in perſecuting young Converts you do as they did in caſting out the young Children, but you'l find its to no Purpoſe; in ſpite of your Malice, Chriſt's Diſciples will increaſe and multiply.

Thirdly, The raiſing up of Moſes to be their Deliverer Stephen was charg'd with having ſpoken blaſphemous Words againſt Moſes, in Anſwer to which Charge he here ſpeaks very honourably of Him.

1. Moſes was born when the Perſecution of Iſrael was at the hotteſt, eſpecially in that moſt cruel Inſtance of it, the Murthering of the new born Children. At that Time Moſes was born, v. 20. and was himſelf in Danger as ſoon as he came into the World, (as our Saviour alſo was at Bethlehem) of falling a Sacrifice to that Bloody Edict. GOD is preparing for his Peoples Deliverance, then when their Day is darkeſt, and their Diſtreſs deepeſt.

2. He was exceeding fair; His Face began to ſhine as ſoon as he was born, as a happy Preſage of the Honour GOD deſign'd to put upon him. He was ἀστεῖος τῷ Θεῷ fair towards God. He was Sanctify'd from the Womb, and that made him beautiful in GOD's Eyes, for it is the Beauty of Holineſs that is in GOD's Sight of great Price.

3. He was wonderfully preſerved in his Infancy.

Firſt, By the Care of his tender Parents, who nouriſhed him three Months in their own Houſe, as long as they durſt; And then by a favourable Providence that threw him into the Arms of Pharaoh's Daughter, who took him up, and nouriſhed him for her own Son, v. 21. for thoſe whom GOD deſigns to make ſpecial Uſe of, he will take ſpecial Care of. And did he thus protect the Child Moſes, much more will he ſecure the Intereſts of His Holy Child Jeſus (as he is call'd chap. iv. 27.) from the Enemies that are gather'd together againſt him.

4. He became a great Scholar, v. 22. He was learned in all the Wiſdom of the Egyptians, who were then fam'd for all Manner of polite Literature, particularly Philoſophy, Aſtronomy, and (which perhaps help'd to lead them to Idolatry) Hieroglyphicks, Moſes having his Education at Court had Opportunity of improving himſelf by the beſt Books, Tutors, and Converſation, in all the Arts and Sciences, and had a Genius for them. Only we have Reaſon to think that he had not ſo far forgotten the GOD of his Fathers, as to acquaint himſelf with the unlawful Studies and Practices of the Magicians of Egypt, any further than was neceſſary to the confuting of them.

5. He became a prime Miniſter of State in Egypt, that ſeems to be meant by his being mighty in Words and Deeds. Tho' he had not a ready Way of expreſſing himſelf, but ſtammer'd, yet he ſpoke admirable good Senſe, and every Thing he ſaid commanded Aſſent, and carry'd its own Evidence of Force of Reaſoning along with it. And in Buſineſs none went on with ſuch Courage and Conduct, and Succeſs. Thus was he prepar'd by human Helps for theſe Services, which after all he could not be throughly furniſh'd for without Divine Illumination. Now by all this Stephen will make it appear, that notwithſtanding the malicious Inſinuations of his Perſecutors he had as high and honourable Thoughts of Moſes as they had.

Fourthly, The Attempts which Moſes made to deliver Iſrael, which they kick'd at, and would not cloſe in with. This Stephen inſiſts much upon, and it ſerves for a Key to this Story, Exod. ii. 11—15. As doth alſo that other Conſtruction which is put upon it by the Apoſtle, Heb. xi. 24, 25, 26. There it is repreſented as an Act of holy Self-Denial, here as a deſign'd Preludium to, or Entrance upon the publick Service he was to be call'd out to, v. 23. When he was full forty Years Old, in the Prime of his Time for Preferment in the Court of Egypt, it came into his Heart (for GOD put it there) to viſit his Brethren the Children of Iſrael, and to ſee which way he might do them any Service; and he ſhew'd himſelf as a publick Perſon, with a publick Character.

1. As Iſrael's Saviour. This he gave a Specimen of, in avenging an oppreſs'd Iſraelite, and killing the Egyptian that abus'd him, v. 24. ſeeing one of his Brethren ſuffer wrong, he was mov'd with Compaſſion towards the Sufferer, and a juſt Indignation at the wrong Doer, as Men in publick Stations ſhould be, and he aveng'd him, that was oppreſs'd, and ſmote the Egyptian, which if he had been only a private Perſon, he could not lawfully have done; but he knew that his Commiſſion from Heaven would bear him out. And he ſuppos'd that his Brethren (who could not but have ſome Knowledge of the Promiſe made to Abraham, that the Nation that ſhould oppreſs them God would judge) would have underſtood that God by his Hand would deliver them; for he could not have had either Preſence of Mind, or Strength of Body to do what he did, if he had not been cloathed with ſuch a divine Power as evidenc'd a divine Authority. If they had but underſtood the Signs of the Times, they might have taken this for the Drawing of the Day of their Deliverance; But they underſtood not, they did not take this as it was deſign'd, for the ſetting up of a Standard, and ſounding of a Trumpet to proclaim Moſes their Deliverer.

2. As Iſrael's Judge; This he gave a Specimen of, the very next Day, in offering to accommodate Matters between two contending Hebrews, wherein he plainly aſſum'd a publick Character, v. 26. he ſhew'd himſelf to them as they ſtrove, and putting on an Air of Majeſty and Authority, he would have ſet them at one again, and as their Prince have determin'd the Controverſy between them, ſaying, Sirs ye are Brethren, by Birth and Profeſſion of Religion, why do ye wrong to one another, for he obſerv'd that (as in moſt Strifes) there was a Fault on both Sides; and therefore in order to Peace and Friendſhip, there muſt be a mutual Remiſſion and Condeſcention. When Moſes was to be Iſrael's Deliverer out of Egypt, he ſlew the Egyptians, and ſo deliver'd Iſrael out of their Hands; But when he was to be Iſrael's Judge, and Law-giver, he rul'd them with the Golden Sceptre, not the Iron Rod, he did not kill and ſlay them when they ſtrove, but gave them excellent Laws and Statutes, and determin'd upon their Complaints and Appeals made to him, Exod. xviii. 16.

But the contending Iſraelite that was moſt in the Wrong thruſts him away, v. 27. would not bear the Reproof, tho' a juſt and gentle one, but was ready to fly in his Face, with who made thee a Ruler and a Judge over us? Proud and litigious Spirits are impatient of Check and Controul. Rather would theſe Iſraelites have their Bodies rul'd with Rigour by their Task-Maſters, than be deliver'd and have their Minds rul'd with Reaſon by their Deliverer. The wrong Doer was ſo enrag'd at the Reproof given him, that he upbraided Moſes with the Service he had done to their Nation in killing the Egyptian, which, if they had pleas'd, would have been the Earneſt of further and greater Service. Wilt thou Kill me as thou didſt the Egyptian Yeſterday? v. 28. charging that upon him as his Crime, and threatening to accuſe him for it, which was the hanging out of the Flag of Defiance to the Egyptians, and the Banner of Love and Deliverance to Iſrael. Hereupon Moſes fled into the Land of Midian, and made no more Attempt to deliver Iſrael, till forty Years after. He ſettled as a Stranger in Midian, Marry'd and had two Sons by Jethro's Daughter, v. 29.

Now let us ſee how this ſerves Stephen's Purpoſe.

1. They charg'd him with blaſpheming Moſes, in Anſwer to which he retorts upon them the Indignities which their Fathers did to Moſes which they ought to be aſham'd of, and humbled for, inſtead of picking Quarrels thus under Pretence of Zeal for the Honour of Moſes with one that had as great a Veneration for him as any of them had.

2. They perſecuted him for Diſputing in Defence of Chriſt and his Goſpel, in oppoſition to which they ſet up Moſes and his Law, But (ſaith he) you had beſt take heed (1.) leaſt you hereby do as your Fathers did, refuſe and reject one whom GOD has rais'd up to be to you a Prince and a Saviour; you may underſtand, if you will not wilfully ſhut your Eyes againſt the Light, that GOD will by this Jeſus deliver you out of a worſe Slavery than that in Egypt, take heed then of thruſting him away, but receive him as a Ruler and a Judge over you. (2.) leſt you hereby fare as your Fathers far'd, who for this were juſtly left to dye in their Slavary, for the Deliverance came not till Forty Years after; This will come of it; you put away the Goſpel from you, and it will be ſent to the Gentiles; you will not have Chriſt, and you ſhall not have him, ſo ſhall your Doom be, Matth. xxiii. 38, 39.

30 And when forty years were expired, there appeared unto him in the wilderneſs of mount Sina, an angel of the Lord in a flame of fire in a buſh. 31 When Moſes ſaw it, he wondred at the ſight; and as he drew near to behold it, the voice of the Lord came unto him, 32 Saying I am the God of thy fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Iſaac, and the God of Jacob. Then Moſes trembled, and durſt not behold. 33 Then ſaid the Lord to him, Put off thy ſhoes from thy feet, for the place where thou ſtandeſt is holy ground. 34 I have ſeen, I have ſeen the afflictions of my people which is in Egypt, and I have heard their groaning, and am come down to deliver them. And now come, I will ſend thee into Egypt. 35 This Moſes whom they refuſed, ſaying, Who made thee a ruler and a judge? the ſame did God ſend to be a ruler, and a deliverer, by the hands of the angel which appeared to him in the buſh. 36 He brought them out, after that he had ſhewed wonders and ſigns in the land of Egypt, and in the Red ſea, and in the wilderneſs forty years. 37 This is that Moſes which ſaid unto the Children of Iſrael, A prophet ſhall the Lord your God raiſe up unto you of your Brethren like unto me: him ſhall ye hear. 38 This is he that was in the church in the wilderneſs, with the angel which ſpake to him in the mount Sina, and with our fathers: who received the lively oracles to give unto us. 39 To whom our fathers would not obey, but thruſt him from them, and in their hearts turned back again into Egypt. 40 Saying unto Aaron, Make us Gods to go before us: for as for this Moſes, which brought us out of the land of Egypt, we wot not what is become of him. 41 And they made a calf in thoſe days, and offered ſacrifice unto the idol, and rejoyced in the works of their own hands.

Stephen here proceeds in his Story of Moſes; and let any One judge, Whether theſe be the Words of one that was a Blaſphemer of Moſes? No, nothing could be ſpoken more honourable of him. Here's Firſt, The Viſion which he ſaw of the Glory of God, at the Buſh, v. 30. When Forty Years were expir'd, during all which Time Moſes was bury'd alive in Madian, and was now grown old, and One would think paſt Service, that it might appear that all his Performances were Products of a Divine Power and Promiſe, as it appear'd that Iſaac was a Child of Promiſe, by his being born of Parents ſtricken in Years, now at eighty Years Old he enters upon that Poſt of Honour to which he was born, in Recompence for his Self-Denial at Forty Years old. Obſerve,

1. Where GOD appear'd to him; In the Wilderneſs of Mount Sinai, v. 30. And when he appear'd to him there, that was Holy Ground, v. 33. which Stephen takes Notice of as a Check to thoſe who prided themſelves in the Temple, that Holy Place, as if there were no Communion to be had with GOD but there; whereas GOD met Moſes, and manifeſted Himſelf to him in a remote, obſcure Place, in the Wilderneſs of Sinai. They deceive themſelves, if they think GOD is ty'd to Places, He can bring his People into a Wilderneſs, and there ſpeak comfortably to them.

2. How he appear'd to him; In a Flame of Fire, for our GOD is a conſuming Fire; and yet the Buſh in which this Fire was, tho' combuſtible Matter was not conſum'd; which as it repreſented the State of Iſrael in Egypt, where tho' they were in the Fire of Affliction, yet they were not conſum'd; ſo perhaps may be look'd upon as a Type of Chriſt's Incarnation, and the Union between the Divine and Human Nature; GOD manifeſted in the Fleſh, was as the Flame of Fire manifeſted in the Buſh.

3. How Moſes was affected with this; (1.) He wonder'd at the Sight. v. 31. It was a Phænomenon which all his Egyptian Learning could not furniſh him with the Solution of. He had the Curioſity at firſt to pry into it, I will turn aſide now, and ſee this great Sight; but the nearer he drew the more he was ſtruck with Amazement. And (2.) He trembled and durſt not behold, durſt not look wiſtly upon it; for he was ſoon aware that it was not a fiery Meteor, but the Angel of the Lord; and no other but the Angel of the Covenant, of the Son of GOD himſelf: This ſet him on trembling. Stephen was accus'd for Blaſpheming Moſes and GOD, chap. vi. 11. as if Moſes had been a little GOD; but by this it appears he was a Man ſubject to like Paſſions as we are; and particularly that of Fear, upon any appearance of the Divine Majeſty and Glory.

Secondly, The Declaration which he heard of the Covenant of God, v. 32. The Voice of the Lord came to him; for Faith comes by Hearing: And this was it, I am the God of thy Fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Iſaac, and the God of Jacob. And therefore, (1.) I am the ſame that I was. The Covenant God made with Abraham ſome Ages ago, was, I will be to thee a GOD, a God All-ſufficient. Now, ſaith GOD, that Covenant is ſtill in full Force; it is not cancell'd or forgotten, but I am as I was, the GOD of Abraham, and now I will make it appear ſo; for all the Favours, all the Honours GOD put upon Iſrael, were founded upon this Covenant with Abraham, and flow'd from it. 2. I will be the ſame that I am. For if the Death of Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob, cannot break the Covenant Relation between GOD and them, (as by this it appears it could not) then Nothing elſe can. And then He will be a God.

1. To their Souls, which are now ſeparated from their Bodies. Our Saviour by this, proves the Future State, Matth. xxii. 31. Abraham is dead, and yet GOD is ſtill his GOD therefore Abraham is ſtill alive. GOD never did that for him in this World, which would anſwer the true Intent, and full Extent of that Promiſe, that He would be the God of Abraham; and therefore it muſt be done for him in the other World. Now this is that Life and Immorality, which are brought to light by the Goſpel, for the full Conviction of the Sadducees, who deny'd it. Thoſe therefore who ſtood up in Defence of the Goſpel, and endeavour'd to propagate that, were ſo far from Blaſpheming Moſes, that they did the greateſt Honour imaginable to Moſes and that glorious Diſcovery which GOD made of himſelf to him at the buſh.

2. To their Seed; GOD in declaring Himſelf, thus the God of their Fathers, intimated His Kindneſs to their Seed, that they ſhould be lov'd for the Father's ſakes, Rom. xi. 28. Deut. vii. 8. Now the Preachers of the Goſpel preach'd up this Covenant, the Promiſe made of God unto the Fathers; unto which Promiſe thoſe of the twelve Tribes that did continue ſerving God, hoped to come, Acts xxvi. 6. 7. And ſhall they under Colour of ſupporting the Holy Place and the Law, oppoſe the Covenant which was made with Abraham and his Seed, his ſpiritual Seed, before the Law was given, and long before the Holy Place was built, ſince GOD's Glory muſt be for ever advanc'd and our Glorying for ever enlenc'd, GOD will have our Salvation to be by Promiſe, and not by the Law; the Jews therefore who preſecuted the Chriſtians under Pretence that they blaſphem'd the Law, did themſelves blaſpheme the Promiſe, and forſook all their own Mercies that were contain'd in it.

Thirdly, The Commiſſion which GOD gave him to deliver Iſrael out of Egypt. The Jews ſet up Moſes in Competition with Chriſt, and accus'd Stephen as a Blaſphemer, becauſe he did not do ſo too: But Stephen here ſhews that Moſes was an eminent Type of Chriſt, as he was Iſrael's Deliverer; when GOD had declar'd himſelf the God of Abraham, he proceeded.

1. To order Moſes into a reverent Poſture; Put off thy Shoes from thy Feet. Enter not upon ſacred Things with low, and cold, and common Thoughts. Keep thy Foot, Eccleſ. v. 1. be not haſty and raſh in thy Approaches to GOD. Tread ſoftly.

2. To order Moſes into a very eminent Service; When he is ready to receive Commands, he ſhall have Commiſſion. He is commiſſion'd to demand Leave from Pharaoh for Iſrael to go out of his Land, and to enforce that Demand, v. 34. Obſerve (1) The Notice GOD took both of their Sufferings, and of their Senſe of their Sufferings. I have ſeen, I have ſeen their Affliction, and have heard their Groaning. GOD has a compaſſionate Regard to the Troubles of his Church, and the Groans of his preſecuted People, and their Deliverance takes Riſe from his Pity. (2.) The Determination He fix'd to redeem them by the Hand of Moſes; I am come down to deliver them. It ſhould ſeem, tho' GOD is preſent in all Places, yet He uſeth that Expreſſion here of coming down to deliver them, becauſe that Deliverance was typical of what Chriſt did, when for us Men and for our Salvation he came down from Heaven; He that aſcended, firſt deſcended, Moſes is the Man that muſt be employ'd; Come and I will ſend thee into Egypt; and if GOD ſend him, He will own him, and give him Succeſs.

Fourthly, His acting in Purſuance of this Commiſſion, wherein he was a Figure of the Meſſiah. And Stephen takes Notice here again of the Slights they had put upon him, the Affronts they had given him, and their Refuſal to have him to reign over them, as tending very much to magnify his Agency in their Deliverance

1. GOD put Honour upon him, whom they put Contempt upon, v. 25. This Moſes whom they refus'd whoſe kind Offers, and good Offices they rejected with Scorn, ſaying, Who made thee a Ruler and a Judge? Thou takeſt too much upon thee, thou Son of Levi, Numb. xvi. 3. That ſame Moſes did God ſend to be a Ruler, and a Deliverer, by the Hands of the Angel which appear'd to him in the Buſh; It may be underſtood, either that GOD ſent to him by the Hand of the Angel; Or, that by the Hand of the Angel going along with him, he became a Compleat Deliverer. Now by this Example, Stephen would intimate to the Council, That this Jeſus whom they now refus'd as their Fathers did Moſes, ſaying, Who made thee a Prophet and a King? Who gave thee this Authority? even this ſame has GOD advanc'd to be a Prince and a Saviour, a Ruler and a Deliverer; as the Apoſtles had told them a while ago chap. v. 30. That the Stone which the Baliders refus'd, was become the Head Stone in the Corner, ch. iv. 11.

2. GOD ſhew'd Favour to them by him, and he was very forward to ſerve them, tho' they had thruſt him away. GOD might juſtly have refus'd them his Service, and he might juſtly have declin'd it; but 'tis all forgotten; they are not ſo much as upbraided with it, v. 36. He brought them out, notwithſtanding, after that he had ſhewed Wonders and Signs in the Land of Egypt; which were afterwards continu'd for the compleating their Deliverance, according as the Caſe call'd for it, in the red Sea and in the Wilderneſs Forty Years. So far is he from blaſpheming Moſes, that he admires him as a glorious Inſtrument in the Hand of GOD for the Forming of the Old Teſtament Church: But it doth not at all derogate from his juſt Honour, to ſay, That he was but an Inſtrument; and that he is out ſhone by this Jeſus; whom he encourageth theſe Jews yet to cloſe with, and to come into his Intereſt, not fearing but that then they ſhould be receiv'd into his Favour, and receive Benefit by him, as the People of Iſrael were deliver'd by Moſes, tho' they had once refus'd him.

Fifthly, His Prophecy of Chriſt and his Grace. v. 37. He not only was a Type of Chriſt, many were ſo that perhaps had not an actual Fore-ſight of his Day, but Moſes ſpoke of him. v. 37. This is that Moſes, which ſaid unto the Children of Iſrael, A Prophet ſhall the Lord your God raiſe up unto you of your Brethren. This is ſpoken of as one of the greateſt Honours GOD put upon him; nay, as that which exceeded all the reſt, That by him he gave Notice to the Children of Iſrael of the Great Prophet that ſhould come into the World, rais'd their Expectation of him, and oblig'd them to receive him. When his bringing of them out of Egypt is ſpoken of, 'tis with an Emphaſis of Honour, This is that Moſes, Exod. i. 26. and ſo it is here, This is that Moſes. Now, this is very full to Stephen's Purpoſe; in aſſerting, that Jeſus ſhould change the Cuſtoms of the Ceremonial Law, he was ſo far from blaſpheming Moſes, that really he did him the greateſt Honour imaginable, by ſhewing how the Prophecy of Moſes was accompliſh'd, which was ſo clear, that as Chriſt told them himſelf, If they had believ'd Moſes, they would have believ'd him, John v. 46.

1. Moſes in GOD's Name told them, That in the fulneſs of Time they ſhould have a Prophet rais'd up among them, One of their own Nation, that ſhould be like unto him, xviii. 15, 18. a Ruler and a Deliverer, a Judge and a Law-giver, like him, who ſhould therefore have Authority to change the Cuſtoms that he had deliver'd and to bring in a better Hope, as the Mediator of a better Teſtament.

2. He charg'd them to hear that Prophet, to receive his Dictates, to admit the Change He would make in the Cuſtoms, and to ſubmit to him in every thing: And this would be the greateſt Honour you can do to Moſes, and to his Law, who ſaid, Hear ye him; and came to be a Witneſs to the Repetition of this Charge by a Voice from Heaven, as the Transfiguration of Chriſt, and by his Silence he gave Conſent to it, Mat. xvii. 5.

Sixthly, The Eminent Services which Moſes continu'd to do to the People of Iſrael, after he had been inſtrumental to bring them out of Egypt, v. 38. And herein alſo he was a Type of Chriſt, who yet ſo far exceeds him, that it is no Blaſphemy to ſay, He has Authority to change the Cuſtoms that Moſes deliver'd. It was the Honour of Moſes.

1. That he was in the Church in the Wilderneſs; He preſided in all the Affairs of it for Forty Years; was King in Jeſhurun. Deut. xxxiii. 5. The Camp of Iſrael, is here call'd the Church in the Wilderneſs; for it was a ſacred Society, incorporated by a Divine Charter, under a Divine Government, and bleſs'd with Divine Revelation; The Church in the Wilderneſs, was a Church, tho' it was not yet perfectly form'd, as it was to be when they came to Canaan, but every Man did that which was right in his own Eyes, Deut. xii. 8, 9. 'Twas the Honour of Moſes, that he was in that Church, and many a Time it had been deſtroy'd if Moſes had not been in it to intercede for it. But Chriſt is the Preſident and Guide of a more excellent and glorious Church than that in the Wilderneſs was, and is more in it, as the Life and Soul of it, than Moſes could be in that.

2. That he was with the Angel that ſpoke to him in the Mount Sinai, and with our Fathers, was with him in the holy Mount twice Forty Days, with the Angel of the Covenant, Michael our Prince. Moſes was immediately converſant with GOD; but never lay in his Boſom, as Chriſt did from Eternity. Or, theſe Words may be taken thus; Moſes was in the Church in the Wilderneſs, but it was with the Angel that ſpake to him in Mount Sinai, that is, at the burning Buſh; for that was ſaid to be at Mount Sinai, v. 30. that Angel went before him, and was Guide to him, elſe he could not have been a Guide to Iſrael, of this GOD ſpeaks, Exod. xxiii. 20. I ſend an Angel before thee, and Exod. xxxiii. 2. and ſee Numb. xx. 16. He was in the Church with the Angel, without whom he could have done no Service to the Church; but Chriſt is himſelf that Angel, which was with the Church in the Wilderneſs, and therefore has an Authority above Moſes.

3. That he received the lively Oracles to give unto them; Not only the Ten Commandments, but the other Inſtructions which the LORD ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, Speak them to the Children of Iſrael. (1.) The Words of GOD are Oracles, certain and infallible, and of unqueſtionable Authority and Obligation; they are to be conſulted as Oracles, and by them all Controverſies muſt be determin'd. (2.) They are lively Oracles, for they are the Oracles of the Living GOD; not of the dumb and dead Idols of the Heathens. The Word that GOD ſpeaks, is Spirit and Life; not that the Law of Moſes could give Life, but it ſhew'd the Way to Life, If thou will enter into Life, keep the Commandments. (3.) Moſes receiv'd them from GOD, and deliver'd Nothing as an Oracle to the People, but what he had firſt receiv'd from GOD. (4.) The lively Oracles which he receiv'd from GOD, he faithfully gave to the People to be obſerv'd and preſerv'd. 'Twas the principal Privilege of the Jews, That to them were committed the Oracles of GOD. And it was by the Hand of Moſes that they were committed: As Moſes gave them not that Bread; ſo neither did he give them that Law from Heaven, Joh. vi. 32. but God gave it them; and He that gave them thoſe Cuſtoms by his Servant Moſes might, no doubt, when He pleas'd change the Cuſtoms by his Son Jeſus, who has receiv'd more Lively Oracles to give unto us, than Moſes did.

Seventhly, The Contempt that was after this, and notwithſtanding this, put upon him by the People; They that charg'd Stephen with ſpeaking againſt Moſes, would do well to anſwer what their own Anceſtors had done, and they tread in their Steps.

1. They would not obey him, but thruſt him from them, v. 35. they murmur'd at him, mutiny'd againſt him, refus'd to obey his Orders, and ſometimes were ready to ſtone him; Moſes did indeed give them an excellent Law, but by this it appear'd that it could not make the Comers thereunto perfect. Heb. x. i. for in their Hearts they turned back again into Egypt, and prefer'd their Garlick and Onions there, before the Manna they had under the Conduct of Moſes or the Milk and Honey they hoped for in Canaan. Obſerve, Their ſecret Diſaffection to Moſes, and Inclination to Egyptianiſm (if I may ſo call it) it was in Effect turning back to Egypt, 'twas doing it in Heart, many that pretend to be going forwards towards Canaan by keeping up a Shew and Profeſſion of Religion, yet at the ſame Time are in their Hearts turning back to Egypt, like Lot's Wife to Sodom, and will be dealt with as Deſerters, for 'tis the Heart that GOD looks at. Now if the Cuſtoms that Moſes deliver'd to them could not prevail to change them, wonder not that Chriſt comes to change the Cuſtoms, and to introduce a more ſpiritual Way of Worſhip.

2. They made a golden Calf inſtead of him, which beſides the Affront that was thereby done to GOD, was a great Indignity to Moſes; for it was upon this Conſideration that they made the Calf, Becauſe as for this Moſes who brought us out of the Land of Egypt, we wot not what is become of him, therefore make us Gods of Gold; as if a Calf were ſufficient to ſupply the Want of Moſes, and as capable of going before them into the promis'd Land. So they made a Calf in thoſe Days when the Law was given them, and offer'd Sacrifices unto the Idol, and rejoyced in the Work of their own Hands; ſo proud were they of their new God, that when they had ſitten down to eat and drink, they roſe up to play. By all this it appears, there was a great deal which the Law could not do, in what it was weak through the Fleſh; it was therefore neceſſary that this Law ſhould be perfected by a better Hand, and he was no Blaſphemer againſt Moſes, who had ſaid Chriſt had done it.

42 Then God turned, and gave them up to worſhip the hoſt of heaven; as it is written in the book of the prophets, O ye houſe of Iſrael, have ye offered to me ſlain beaſts, and ſacrifices, by the ſpace of forty years in the wilderneſs? 43 Yea, ye took up the tabernacle of Moloch, and the ſtar of your God Remphan, figures which ye made, to worſhip them: and I will carry you away beyond Babylon. 44 Our fathers had the tabernacle of witneſs in the Wilderneſs, as he had appointed, ſpeaking unto Moſes, that he ſhould make it according to the faſhion that he had ſeen. 45 Which alſo our fathers that came after, brought in with Jeſus into the poſſeſſion of the Gentiles, whom God drove out before the face of our fathers, unto the days of David. 46 Who found favour before God, and deſired to find a tabernacle for the God of Jacob. 47 But Solomon built him an houſe. 48 Howbeit, the moſt high dwelleth not in temples made with hands; as ſaith the prophet, 49 Heaven is my throne, and earth is my footſtool: what houſe will ye build me? ſaith the Lord: or what is the place of my reſt? 50 Hath not my hand made all theſe thing?

Two Things we have in theſe Verſes.

Firſt, Stephen upbraids them with the Idolatry of their Fathers, which GOD gave them up to as a Puniſhment for their early forſaking Him in worſhipping the golden Calf: And this was the ſaddeſt Puniſhment of all for that Sin, as it was of the Idolatry of the Gentile World, that God gave them up to a Reprobate Senſe. When Iſrael was joyn'd to Idols, joyn'd to the Golden Calf, and not long after to Baal-peor, God ſaid, Let them alone; let them go on, v. 43. Then GOD turn'd, and gave them up to worſhip the Hoſt of Heaven. He particularly caution'd them no to do it, at their Peril, and gave them Reaſons why they ſhould not; but when they were bent upon it, He gave them up to their own Hearts Luſt, withdrew his Reſtraining Grace, and then they walk'd in their own Counſels, and were ſo ſcandalouſly mad upon their Idols, as never any People were. Compare Deut. iv. 9. with Jer. viii. 2.

For this he quotes a Paſſage out of Amos v. 25. for it would be leſs invidious to tell them their own from an Old Teſtament Prophet, who upbraids them,

1. For not ſacrificing to their own GOD in the Wilderneſs, v. 42. Have ye offer'd to me ſlain Beaſts and Sacrifices by the Space of Forty Years in the Wilderneſs? No; during all that Time it was intermitted, they did not ſo much as keep the Paſſover after the ſecond Year: It was GOD's Condeſcenſion to them, that He did not inſiſt upon it during their unſettled State; but then let them conſider, how ill they requited him in offering Sacrifices to Idols, when GOD diſpens'd with their Offering to Him. This is alſo a Check to their Zeal for the Cuſtoms that Moſes deliver'd to them, and their Fear of having them chang'd by this Jeſus, that immediately after they were deliver'd, they were for forty Years together diſus'd as needleſs Things.

2. For Sacrificing to other Gods, after they came to Canaan, v. 43. ye took up the Tabernacle of Moloch, Moloch was the Idol of the Children of Ammon, to which they barbarouſly offer'd their own Children in Sacrifice, which they could not do without great Terrour and grief to themſelves and their Families, yet this unnatural Idolatry they arriv'd to, when GOD gave them up to worſhip the Hoſt of Heaven. See 2 Chron. xxviii. 3. It was ſurely the ſtrongeſt Deluſion that ever People were given up to, and the greateſt Inſtance of the Power of Satan in the Children of Diſobedience, and therefore 'tis here ſpoken of emphatically, Yea, you took up the Tabernacle of Moloch, you ſubmitted even to that; And to the Worſhip of the Star of your God Remphan; ſome think it ſignifies the Moon, as Moloch doth the Sun. Others take it for Saturn, for that Planet is call'd Remphan in the Syriack and Perſian Languages. The Septuagint puts it for Chiun, as being a Name more commonly known. They had Images repreſenting the Star like the Silver Shrines for Diana, here call'd the Figures which they made to worſhip. Dr. Lightfoot thinks they had Figures repreſenting the whole ſtarry Firmament, with all the Conſtellations, and the Planets, and theſe are call'd Remphan, The high Repreſentation, like the Cæleſtial Globe; a poor Thing to make an Idol of, and yet better than a Golden Calf.

Now for this it is threaten'd, I will carry you away beyond Babylon. In Amos it is beyond Damaſcus, meaning to Babylon, the Land of the North. But Stephen changes it, with an Eye to the Captivity of the Ten Tribes who were carry'd away beyond Babylon by the River of Gozan, and in the Cities of the Medes, 2 Kin. xvii. 6. Let it not therefore ſeem ſtange to them, to hear of the Deſtruction of this Place, for they had heard of it many a Time from the Prophets of the Old Teſtament, who were not therefore accus'd as Blaſphemers by any but the wicked Rulers; 'Twas obſerv'd in the Debate on Jeremiah's Caſe, that Micha was not call'd to an Account, tho' he propheſy'd ſaying, Zion ſhall be plough'd as a Field, Jer. xxvi 18, 19.

Secondly, He gives an Anſwer particularly to the Charge exhibited againſt him relating to the Temple, that he ſpoke Blaſphemous Words againſt that Holy Place, v. 44—50. he was accus'd for ſaying that Jeſus would deſtroy this Holy Place. And what if I did ſay ſo, ſaith Stephen, The Glory of the Holy GOD is not bound up in the Glory of this Holy Place, but that may be preſerv'd untouch'd, tho' this be laid in the Duſt; For,

1. 'Twas not till our Fathers came into the Wilderneſs in their Way to Canaan, that they had any fix'd Place of Worſhip, and yet the Patriarchs many Ages before worſhipped GOD acceptably, at the Alters they had adjoining to their own Tents, in the open Air, ſub dio; and he that was worſhipped without any holy Place, in the firſt and beſt and pureſt Ages of the Old Teſtament Church, may, and will be ſo when this Holy Place is deſtroy'd without any Diminution to his Glory.

2. The holy Place was at firſt but a Tabernacle mean and moveable, and ſpeaking it ſelf to be ſhort liv'd, and not deſign'd to continue always. Why might not this holy Place, tho' built of Stones, be decently brought to its End, and gave Place to its Betters, as well as that tho' fram'd of Curtains. As it was no Diſhonour but an Honour to GOD, that the Tabernacle gave Way to the Temple, ſo it is now that the material Temple gives way to the Spiritual one, and ſo it will be when at laſt the Spiritual Temple ſhall give way to the Eternal One.

3. That Tabernacle was a Tabernacle of Witneſs, or of Teſtimony a Figure for the Time then preſent, Heb. ix. 9. a Figure of good Things to come, of the true Tabernacle which the Lord pitched, and not Men, Heb. viii. 2. This was the Glory both of the Tabernacle and Temple, that they were erected for a Teſtimony of that Temple of God which in the latter Days ſhould be opened in Heaven, Rev. xi. 19. and of Chriſt's Tabernacling it on Earth (as the Word is, Joh. i. 14) and of the Temple of his Body,

4. That Tabernacle was fram'd juſt as GOD appointed, and according to the Faſhion which Moſes ſaw in the Mount; which plainly intimates, that it had Reference to good Things to come; its Riſe being Heavenly, its Meaning and Tendency was ſo. And therefore it was no Dimunition at all to its Glory, to ſay, That this Temple made with Hands ſhould be deſtory'd, in order to the building of another made without Hands; which was Chriſt's Crime, Mark xiv. 58. and Stephen's.

5. That Tabernacle was pitch'd firſt in the Wilderneſs; It was not a Native of this Land of yours, to which you think it muſt for ever be confin'd, but was brought in the next Age, by our Fathers that came after thoſe who firſt erected it, into the Poſſeſſion of the Gentiles, into the Land of Canaan, which had long been in the Poſſeſſion of the devoted Nations, whom GOD drove out before the Face of our Fathers. And why may not GOD ſet up his ſpiritual Temple, as He had done the material Tabernacle, in thoſe Countries that were now the Poſſeſſion of the Gentiles? That Tabernacle was brought in by thoſe who came with Jeſus, i. e. Joſhua. And I think for Diſtinction ſake, and to prevent Miſtakes, it ought to be ſo read, both here and Heb. iv. 8. yet in naming Joſhua here, which in Greek is Jeſus, there may be a tacit Intimation, that as the Old Teſtament Joſhua brought in that typical Tabernacle, ſo the New Teſtament Joſhua ſhould bring in the true Tabernacle into the Poſſeſſion of the Gentiles.

6. That Tabernacle continu'd for many Ages, even to the Days of David, above four hundred Years before there was any Thought of building a Temple, v. 45. David found favour before God, did indeed deſire this further Favour to have Leave to build GOD a Houſe, to be a conſtant ſettled Tabernacle or dwelling Place for the Shechinah, or the Tokens of the Preſence of the GOD of Jacob, v. 46. Thoſe who have found favour with God, ſhould ſhew themſelves forward to advance the Intereſts of his Kingdom among Men.

7. GOD had his Heart ſo little upon a Temple, or ſuch a Holy Place as they were ſo jealous for, that when David deſir'd to build one, he was forbidden to do it, GOD was in no Haſte for One, as He told David, 2 Sam. vii. 7. and therefore it was not he, but his Son Solomon ſome Years after that built him a Houſe. David had all that ſweet Communion with GOD in publick Worſhip which we read of in his Pſalms, before there was any Temple built.

8. GOD often declared that Temples, made with Hands were not his Delight, nor could add any Thing to the Perfection of his Reſt and Joy. Solomon when he dedicated the Temple, acknowledg'd that GOD dwelleth not in Temples made with Hands; He has not need of them, is not benefitted by them, cannot be confin'd to them: The whole World is His Temple, in which he is every where preſent, and fills it with his Glory, and what occaſion has He for a Temple then to manifeſt himſelf in? Indeed the pretended Deities of the Heathen needed Temples made with Hands, for they were Gods made with Hands, v. 41. and had no other Place to manifeſt themſelves in but in their own Temples; But the one only true and living GOD needs no Temple, for the Heaven is his Throne in which he reſts, and the Earth is his Footſtool, over which he rules, v. 49, 50. And therefore What Houſe will ye build me comparable to this which I have already? Or, What is the Place of my Reſt? What need I a Houſe either to repoſe my ſelf in, or to ſhew my ſelf? Hath not my Hand made all theſe Things? and ſhew his Eternal Power and Godhead, Rom. i. 24. they ſhew themſelves ſo to all Mankind, that they are without Excuſe who worſhip other Gods. And as the World is thus GOD's Temple wherein he is manifeſted, ſo it is GOD's Temple in which he will be worſhipped. As the Earth is full of His Glory, and is therefore His Temple, Iſa. vi. 3. ſo the Earth is or ſhall be full of his Praiſe, Hab. ii. 3. and all the Ends of the Earth ſhall fear Him, Pſal. lxvii. 7. and upon that Account this His Temple: It was therefore no Reflection at all upon this holy Place, however they might take it, to ſay that Jeſus ſhall deſtroy this Temple, and ſet up another into which all Nations ſhall be admitted, Acts xv. 16, 17. And it would not ſeem ſtrange to them, who conſider'd that Scripture which Stephen here quotes, Iſa. lxvi. 1, 2, 3. which as it ſpoke GOD's comparative Contempt of the external Part of his Service, ſo it plainly foretold the Rejection of the unbelieving Jews, and the Welcome of the Gentiles into the Church that were of a contrite Spirit.

51 Ye ſtiff-necked, and uncircumciſed in heart and ears, ye do always reſiſt the holy Ghoſt: as your father did, ſo do ye. 52 Which of the prophets have not your fathers perſecuted? and they have ſlain them, which ſhewed before of the coming of the juſt one, of whom ye have been now the betrayers and murderers: 53 Who have received the law by the diſpoſition of Angels, and have not kept it.

Stephen was going on in his Diſcourſe (as it ſhould ſeem by the Thread of it) to ſhew that as the Temple, ſo the Temple Service muſt come to an End, and it would be the Glory of both to give Way to that Worſhip of the Father in Spirit and in Truth, which was to be eſtabliſh'd in the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, ſtript of the pompous Ceremonies of the Old Law; and ſo was going to apply all this which he had ſaid more cloſely to his preſent Purpoſe; But he perceiv'd they could not bear it; They could patiently hear the Hiſtory of the Old Teſtament told, 'twas a Piece of Learning which they themſelves dealt much in, but if Stephen go about to tell them that their Power and Tyranny muſt come down, and that the Church muſt be govern'd by a Spirit of Holineſs and Love, and Heavenly-mindedneſs, they will not ſo much as give him the Hearing. 'Tis probable he perceiv'd this, and that they were going to ſilence him; And therefore he breaks off abruptly in the Midſt of his Diſcourſe, and by that Spirit of Wiſdom, Courage, and Power wherewith he was fill'd, he ſharply rebuked his Perſecutors, and gave them their own; for if they will not admit the Teſtimony of the Goſpel to them, it ſhall become a Teſtimony againſt them.

Firſt, They, like their Fathers, were ſtubborn and wilful, and would not be wrought upon by the various Methods GOD took to reclaim and reform them, they were like their Fathers, inflexible both to the Word of GOD and to his Providences.

1. They were ſtiff-necked, v. 51.) and would not ſubmit their Necks to the ſweet and eaſy Yoke of GOD's Government, nor draw in it, but were like a Bullock unaccuſtomed to the Yoke: Or, they would not bow their Heads, no not to GOD Himſelf, would not do Obeiſance to him, would not humble themſelves before Him; The ſtiff Neck is the ſame with the hard Heart, obſtinate and contumacious, and that will not yield, the general Character of the Jewiſh Nation, Exod. xxxii. 9. in xxxiii. 3. 5, xxxiv. 9. Deut. ix. 6, 13. xxxi. 27. Ezek ii. 4.

2. They were uncircumciſed in Heart and Ears; Their Hearts and Ears were not devoted and given up to GOD, as the Body of the People were in Profeſſion by the Sign of Circumciſion; In Name and Show you are circumciſed Jews, but in Heart and Ears you are ſtill uncircumciſed Heathens, and pay no more Deference to the Authority of your GOD than they do, Jer. ix. 26. you are under the Power of unmortify'd Luſts and Corruptions which ſtop your Ears to the Voice of GOD, and harden your Hearts to that which is both moſt commanding and moſt affecting. They had not that Circumciſion made without Hands, in putting off the Body of the Sins of the Fleſh, Col. ii. 11.

Secondly, They like their Fathers were not only not influenc'd by the Methods GOD took to reform them, but they were enrag'd and incens'd againſt them, ye do always reſiſt the Holy Ghoſt.

1. They reſiſted the Holy Ghoſt ſpeaking to them by the Prophets, whom they oppoſed and contradicted, hated and ridicul'd; This ſeems eſpecially meant here, by the following Explication, which of the Prophets have not your Fathers perſecuted? In perſecuting and ſilencing them that ſpake by the Inſpiration of the Holy Ghoſt, they reſiſted the Holy Ghoſt. Their Fathers reſiſted the Holy Ghoſt in the Prophets that GOD rais'd up to them, and ſo did they in Chriſt's Apoſtles and Miniſters, who ſpake by the ſame Spirit, and had greater Meaſures of his Gifts than the Prophets of the Old Teſtament had, and yet were more reſiſted.

2. They reſiſted the Holy Ghoſt ſtriving with them by their own Conſciences, and would not comply with the Convictions and Dictates of them. God's Spirit ſtrove with them as with the Old World, but in vain they reſiſted him, took Part with their Corruptions againſt their Convictions, and rebell'd againſt the Light. There is that in our ſinful Hearts that always reſiſts the Holy Ghoſt, a Fleſh that Luſts againſt the Spirit, and wars againſt his Motions; But in the Hearts of GOD's Elect, when the Fulneſs of Time comes, this Reſiſtance is overcome and overpower'd, and after a Struggle the Throne of Chriſt is ſet up in the Soul, and every Thought that had exalted it ſelf againſt it, is brought into Captivity to it; 2 Cor. x. 3, 5. That Grace therefore which effects this Change might more fitly be call'd Victorious Grace than Irreſiſtible.

Thirdly, They like their Fathers perſecuted and ſlew thoſe whom GOD ſent unto them to call them to Duty, and make them Offers of Mercy.

1. Their Fathers had been the cruel and conſtant Perſecutors of the Old Teſtament Prophets, v. 57. Which of the Prophets have not your Fathers perſecuted? more or leſs, one Time or other they had a Blow at them all. Even thoſe that liv'd in the beſt Reigns, when the Princes did not perſecute them, yet there was a malignant Party in the Nation that mock'd at them, and abus'd them, and moſt of them were at laſt either by Colour of Law, or popular Fury put to Death; and that which aggravated the Sin of perſecuting the Prophets was, that the Buſineſs of the Prophets they were ſo ſpiteful at, was to ſhew before of the coming of the juſt One; to give Notice of GOD's kind Intentions towards that People, to ſend the Meſſiah among them in the Fulneſs of Time. They that were the Meſſengers of ſuch glad Tydings ſhould have been courted and careſs'd, and have had the Preferments of the beſt of Benefactors, but inſtead of that had the Treatment of the worſt of Malefactors.

2. They had been the Betrayers and Murtherers of the juſt One himſelf, as Peter had told them, Acts. iii. 24. v. 30. They had hir'd Judas to betray him, and had in a manner forc'd Pilate to condemn him, and therefore 'tis charg'd upon them, that they were His Betrayers and Murtherers. Thus they were the genuine Seed of thoſe who ſlew them that foretold his coming, which by ſlaying Him, they ſhew'd they would have done if they had liv'd then, And thus as our Saviour had told them, they brought upon themſelves the Guilt of the Blood of all the Prophets. Which of the Prophets would they have ſhew'd any Reſpect to, that had no Regard to the Son of GOD himſelf.

Fourthly, They like their Fathers put Contempt upon Divine Revelation, and would not be guided and govern'd by it; and this was the Aggravation of their Sin, that GOD had given, as to their Fathers his Law, ſo to them his Goſpel in vain.

1. Their Fathers received the Law, and have not kept it, v. 53. GOD wrote to them the great Things of His Law, after he had firſt ſpoken them to them, and yet they were counted by them as a ſtrange or foreign Thing, which they were no way concern'd in. The Law is ſaid to be receiv'd by the Diſpoſition of Angels, becauſe Angels were employ'd in the Solemnity of giving the Law; in the Thundrings and Lightnings, and the Sound of the Trumpet. 'Tis ſaid to be ordain'd by Angels, Gal. iii. 19. And GOD is ſaid to come with Ten Thouſand of his Saints to give the Law, Deut. xxxiii. 2. And it was a Word ſpoken by Angels, Heb. ii. 2. This put an Honour both upon the Law, and the Law-giver, and ſhould encreaſe our Veneration for both. But they that thus receiv'd the Law, yet kept it not, but by making the Golden Calf broke it immediately in a capital Inſtance.

2. They receiv'd the Goſpel now, not by the Diſpoſition of Angels, but of the Holy Ghoſt, not with the Sound of a Trumpet, but which was more ſtrange, in the Gift of Tongues, and yet they did not embrace it. They would not yield to the plaineſt Demonſtrations, no more than their Fathers before them did, for they were reſolv'd not to comply with GOD, either in his Law or in his Goſpel.

We have Reaſon to think Stephen had a great deal more to ſay, and would have ſaid it if they would have ſuffer'd him, but they were wicked and unreaſonable Men, with whom he had to do, that could no more bear Reaſon than they could ſpeak it.

54 When they heard theſe things, they were cut to the heart, and they gnaſhed on him with their teeth. 55 But he being full of the holy Ghoſt, looked up ſtedfaſtly into heaven, and ſaw the glory of God, and Jeſus ſtanding on the right hand of God.
56 And ſaid, Behold, I ſee the heavens opened, and the Son of man ſtanding on the right hand of God.
57 Then they cried out with a loud voice, and ſtopped their ears, and ran upon him with one accord.
58 And caſt him out of the city, and ſtoned him: and the witneſs laid down their clothes at a young mans feet, whoſe name was Saul. 59 And they ſtoned
Stephen, calling upon God, and ſaying, Lord Jeſus receive my ſpirit. 60 And he kneeled down, and cried with a loud voice, Lord, lay not this ſin to their charge. And when he had ſaid this, he fell aſleep.

We have here the Death of the firſt Martyr of the Chriſtian Church, and there is in this Story a lively Inſtance of the Outrage and Fury of the Perſecutors, ſuch as we may expect to meet with if we are call'd out to ſuffer for Chriſt; and of the Courage and Comfort of the perſecuted that are thus call'd out. Here's Hell in its Fire and Darkneſs, and Heaven in its Light and Brightneſs; and theſe here ſerve as Foils to ſet off each other. It is not here ſaid, that the Votes of the Council were taken upon his Caſe, and that by the Majority, he was found guilty, and then condemn'd, and order'd to be ſton'd to Death, according to the Law, as a Blaſphemer; but it is likely ſo it was, and that it was not by the Violence of the People without Order of the Council that he was put to Death; for here is the uſual Ceremony of regular Executions, he was caſt out of the City, and the Hands of the Witneſſes were firſt upon him.

Let us obſerve here the wonderful Diſcompoſure of the Spirits of his Enemies and Perſecutors, and the wonderful Compoſure of his Spirit.

Firſt, See the Strength of Corruption in the Perſecutors of Stephen; Malice in Perfection, Hell it ſelf broken looſe, and Men become incarnate Devils! The Serpen's Seed ſpitting their Venom.

1. When they heard theſe Things, they were cut to the Heart, v. 54. διεπρίοντο, the ſame Word that is us'd, Heb. xi. 37. and tranſlated, they were ſawn aſunder. They were put to as much Torture in their Minds, as ever the Martyrs were put to in their Bodies. They were fill'd with Indignation at the unanſwerable Arguments that Stephen urg'd for their Conviction, and that they could find Nothing to ſay againſt them. They were not prick'd to the Heart with Sorrow, as thoſe were Acts ii. 37. but cut to the Heart with Rage and Fury, as they themſelves were, ch. v. 33. Stephen rebuk'd them ſharply, as Paul expreſſes it, Tit. i. 13. ἀποτόμως, cuttingly, for they were cut to the Heart, by the Reproof. Note, Rejecters of the Goſpel, and Oppoſers of it, are really Tormentors to themſelves. Enmity to GOD is a Heart-cutting Thing; Faith and Love are Heart-healing. When they heard how he that look'd like an Angel, before he began his Diſcourſe, talk'd like an Angel, like a Meſſenger from Heaven, before he had done it, they were like a wild Bull in a Net, full of the Fury of the Lord, Iſa. li. 20. deſparing to run down a Cauſe ſo bravely pleaded, and yet reſolv'd not to yeild to it.

2. They gnaſh'd upon him with their Teeth; This ſpeaks (1.) great Malice and Rage againſt him; Job complain'd of his Enemy, that he gnaſh'd upon him with his Teeth, Job xvi. 9. The Language of this was, O that we had of his Fleſh to eat! Job. xxxi. 31. They grinn'd at him, as Dogs at thoſe they are enrag'd at; and therefore Paul cautioning againſt thoſe of the Circumciſion, ſaith, Beware of Dogs, Phili. iii 2. Enmity at the Saints, turns Men into brute Beaſts. (3.) Great Vexation within themſelves; They fretted to ſee in him ſuch manifeſt Tokens of a Divine Power and Preſence, and it vex'd them to the Heart. The Wicked ſhall ſee it, and be griev'd, he ſhall gnaſh with his Teeth and melt away, Pſ. cxii. 10. Gnaſhing of the Teeth is often us'd to expreſs the Horrour and Torments of the Damn'd. Thoſe that have the Malice of Hell, cannot but have with it ſome of the Pains of Hell.

3. They cry'd out with a loud Voice, v. 50. To irritate and excite one another, and to drown the Noiſe of the Clamours of their own and one anothers Conſciences; when he ſaid, he ſaw Heaven open'd, they cry'd with a loud Voice, that he might not be heard to ſpeak. Note, It is very common for a righteous Cauſe, particularly the righteous Cauſe of Chriſt's Religion, to be endeavour'd to be run down by Noiſe and Clamour; what is wanting in Reaſon, is made up in Tumult, and the Cry of him that ruleth among Fools, while the Words of the Wiſe are heard in quiet. They cry'd with a loud Voice, as Soldiers when they are going to engage in Battle, muſtering up all their Spirit and Vigour for this deſperate Encounter.

4. They ſtopped their Ears, that they might not hear their own Noiſineſs, Or, perhaps under pretence, that they could not bear to hear his Blaſphemies. As Caiphas rent his Clothes when Chriſt ſaid, Hereafter ye ſhall ſee the Son of Man coming in Glory, Mat. xxvi. 64. 65. So theſe here, ſtop'd their Ears when Stephen ſaid, I now ſee the Son of Man ſtanding in Glory; both pretending, that what was ſpoken was not to be heard with Patience. Their ſtopping their Ears, was (1.) A manifeſt Speciment of their wilful Obſtinacy; they were reſolv'd they would not hear what had a Tendency to convince them, which was it that the Prophets often complain'd of; They were like the deaf Adder, that will not hear the Voice of the Charmer. Pſal. lviii. 4, 5.

2. It was a fatal Omen of that judical Hardneſs to which GOD would give them up. They ſtopped their Ears, and then GOD in a Way of righteous Judgment ſtop'd them. That was the Work that was now in doing with the Unbelieving Jews, Make the Heart of this People fat, and their Ears heavy; thus was Stephen's Character of them anſwer'd, Ye uncircumcis'd in Heart and Ears.

5. They ran upon him with one accord; The People and the Elders of the People, Judges, Proſecutors, Witneſſes and Spectators, they all flew upon him, as Beaſts upon their Prey: See how violent they were, and in what Haſte, they ran upon him with one accord, One and all, hoping thereby to terrify him, and put him into Confuſion; envying him his Compoſure and Comfort in Soul, with which he wonderfully enjoy'd himſelf in the Midſt of this Hurry, they did all they could to ruffle him.

6. They caſt him out of the City, and ſtoned him; as if he were not worthy to live in Jeruſalem; nay, not worthy to live in this World; pretending herein to execute the Law of Moſes, Lev. xxiv. 16. He that blaſphemeth the Name of the LORD, ſhall ſurely be put to Death, all the Congregation ſhall certainly ſtone him. And thus they had put Chriſt to Death, when this ſame Court had found him guilty of Blaſphemy, but that for his greater Ignominy they were deſirous he ſhould be crucify'd, and God over-rul'd it for the fulfilling of the Scripture. The Fury with which they manag'd the Execution, is intimated in that, they caſt him out of the City, as if they could not bear the Sight of him; they treated him as an Anathema, as the Off-ſcouring of all Things. The Witneſſes againſt him, were the Leaders in the Execution, according to the Law. Deut. xvii. 7. The Hands of the Witneſſes ſhall be firſt upon him to put him to Death; and particularly in the Caſe of Blaſphemy, Lev. xxiv. 14. Deut. xiii. 9. Thus they were to confirm their Teſtimony. Now the Stoning of a Man being a laborious Piece of Work, the Witneſſes put off their upper Garments that they might not hang in their Way, and they laid them down at a young Man's Feet whoſe name was Saul; now a pleas'd Spectator of this Tragedy; 'tis the firſt Time we find Mention of his Name, we ſhall know it and love it better when we find it chang'd to Paul, and him chang'd from a Perſecutor into a Preacher. This little Inſtance of his Agency in Stephen's Death, he afterwards reflected upon with Regret, Acts xxii. 20. I kept the Raiment of them that ſlew him.

Secondly, See the Strength of Grace in Stephen, and the wonderful Inſtances of GOD's Favour to him, and working in him. As his Perſecutors were full of Satan, ſo was he full of the Holy Ghoſt, fuller than ordinary anointed with freſh Oil for the Combat, that as the Day, ſo might the Strength be. Upon this Account they are bleſſed who are perſecuted for Righteouſneſs Sake, that the Spirit of God and of Glory reſts upon them, 2 Pet. iv. 14. When he was choſen to publick Service he was deſcrib'd to be a Man full of the Holy Ghoſt, ch. vi. 5. and now he is call'd out to Martyrdom he has ſtill the ſame Character. Note, They that are full of the Holy Ghoſt are fit for any thing, either to do for Chriſt, or ſuffer for him. And thoſe whom GOD calls out to hard Services for his Name, He will qualify them for thoſe Services, and carry them comfortably through them, by filling them with the Holy Ghoſt; that as their Afflictions for Chriſt do abound, their Conſultation in him may yet more abound, and then none of theſe Things move them.

Now here we have a remarkable Communion between this bleſſed Martyr and the Bleſſed Jeſus in this critical Moment. When the Followers of Chriſt are for his Sake kill'd all the Day long, and accounted as Sheep for the Slaughter, Doth that ſeparate them from the Love of Chriſt? Doth He love them the leſs? Do they love Him the leſs? No, by no Means; and ſo it appears by this Story: In which we may Obſerve,

1. Chriſt's gracious Manifeſtation of himſelf to Stephen, both for his Comfort, and for his Honour in the midſt of his Sufferings; when they were cut to the Heart, and gnaſh'd upon him with their Teeth, ready to eat him up, then he had a View of the Glory of Chriſt, ſufficient to fill him with Joy unſpeakable; which was intended not only for his Encouragement, but for the Support and Comfort of all GOD's ſuffering Servants in all Ages.

1. He being full of the Holy Ghoſt, look'd up ſtedfaſtly into Heaven, v. 55. (1.) Thus he look'd above the Power and Fury of his Perſecutors, and did as it were deſpiſe them, and laugh them to ſcorn, as the Daughter of Zion, Iſa. xxxvii. 22. They had their Eyes fix'd upon him full of Malice ard Cruelty, but he look'd up to Heaven, and never minded them; was ſo taken up with the eternal Life, now in proſpect, that he ſeem'd to have no manner of Concern for the natural Life, now at ſtake. Inſtead of looking about him to ſee either which Way he was in Danger, or which Way he might make his Eſcape, he looks up to Heaven; for thence only comes his Help, and thitherwards his Way is ſtill open; tho' they compaſs him about on every Side, they cannot interrupt his intercourſe with Heaven. Note, A believing Regard to GOD and the upper World, will be of great Uſe to us to ſet us above the Fear of Man; for as far as we are under the Influence of that, we forget the Lord our Maker, Iſa. li. 13. (2.) Thus he directed his Sufferings to the Glory of GOD, to the Honour of Chriſt, and did as it were appeal to Heaven concerning them Lord for thy Sake I ſuffer this; and expreſs his earneſt Expectation that Chriſt ſhould be magnify'd in his Body. Now he was ready to be offer'd, he looks ſtedfaſtly to Heaven, as One willing to offer himſelf. (3.) Thus he lifted up his Soul with his Eyes to GOD in the Heavens in pious Ejaculations, calling upon GOD for Wiſdom and Grace to carry him through this Trial in a right Manner. GOD has promis'd that He will be with his Servants whom He calls out to ſuffer for him; but He will for this be ſought unto. He is nigh unto them, but 'tis in that which they call upon him for. Is any afflicted, let him pray. (4.) Thus he breathed after the heavenly Country to which he ſaw the Fury of his Perſecutors would preſenly ſend him. 'Tis good for dying Saints to look up ſtedfaſtly to Heaven; yonder's the Place whither Death will carry my better Part, and then O Death where is thy Sting? (5.) Thus he made it to appear that he was full of the Holy Ghoſt; for wherever the Spirit of Grace dwells, and works, and reigns, He directs the Eye of the Soul upward. Thoſe that are full of the Holy Ghoſt will look up ſtedfaſtly to Heaven, for there the Heart is. (6.) Thus he put himſelf into a Poſture to receive the following Manifeſtation of the Divine Glory and Grace. If we expect to hear from Heaven, we muſt look up ſtedfaſtly to Heaven.

2. He ſaw the Glory of GOD, v. 55. for he ſaw in order to that, the Heavens open'd, v. 52. Some think his Eyes were ſtrengthen'd and the Sight of them ſo rais'd above his natural Pitch, by a ſupernatural Power, that he ſaw into the third Heaven, tho' at ſo vaſt a Diſtance, as Moſes's Sight was enlarg'd to ſee the whole Land of Canaan. Others think, 'was a Repreſentation of the Glory of GOD ſet before his Eyes, as before Iſaiah and Ezekiel, Heaven did as it were come down to him, as Rev. xxi. 2. The Heavens were open'd to give him a View of the Happineſs he was going to, that he might in Proſpect of that go chearfully thro' Death, ſo great a Death. Would we by Faith look up ſtedfaſtly we might ſee the Heavens open'd by the Mediation of Chriſt, the Vail being rent, and a new and living Way laid open for us into the Holieſt: The Heaven is open'd for the ſettling of a Correſpondence between God and Men, that his Favours and Bleſſings may come down to us, and our Prayers and Praiſes may go up to him. We may alſo ſee the Glory of GOD, as far as he has reveal'd it in Word; and the Sight of this will carry us through all the Terrors of Sufferings and Death.

3. He ſaw Jeſus ſtanding on the right Hand of God, v. 55. the Son of Man, ſo it is, v. 56. Jeſus being the Son of Man, having taken our Nature with him to Heaven, and being there clothed with a Body, might be ſeen with bodily Eyes, and ſo Stephen ſaw him. When the Old Teſtament Prophets ſaw the Glory of GOD, it was attended with Angels. The Schechinah or Divine Preſence in Iſaiah's Viſion was attended with Seraphim; in Ezekiel's Viſion with Cherubim; both ſignifying the Angels, the Miniſters of GOD's Providence: But here no mention is made of the Angels, tho' they ſurround the Throne and the Lamb; and inſtead of them Stephen ſees Jeſus at the right Hand of GOD, the great Mediator of GOD's Grace, from whom more Glory redounds to GOD than from all the Miniſtrations of the Holy Angels; The Glory of GOD ſhines brighteſt in the Face of Jeſus Chriſt: for there ſhines the Glory of his Grace, which is the moſt illuſtrious Inſtance of his Glory. GOD appears more Glorious with Jeſus ſtanding at his right Hand, than with Millions of Angels about him. Now, (1.) Here is a proof of the Exaltation of Chriſt to the Father's right Hand; the Apoſtles ſaw him aſcend, but they did not ſee him ſit down, a Cloud receiv'd him out of their ſight. We are told that he ſate down on the right Hand of GOD, but was he ever ſeen there? Yes: Stephen ſaw him there, and was abundantly ſatisfy'd with the Sight. He ſaw Jeſus at the right Hand of GOD, noting both his tranſcendent Dignity, and his Sovereign Dominion: his uncontroulable Ability, and his univerſal Agency; whatever GOD's right hand either gives to us, or receives from us, or doth concerning us, 'tis by him, for he is his right Hand. (2.) He is uſually ſaid to ſit there; but Stephen ſees him ſtanding there as One more than ordinarily concern'd at preſent for his ſuffering Servant; He ſtood up as a Judge to plead his Cauſe againſt his Perſecutors, he is rais'd up out of his holy Habitation, Zech. ii. 13. Comes out of Place to puniſh, Iſa. xxvi. 21. He ſtands ready to receive him and crown him, and in the mean Time to give him a Proſpect of the Joy ſet before him. (3.) This was intended for the Encouragement of Stephen, he ſees Chriſt is for him, and then no Matter who is againſt him. When our Lord Jeſus was in his Agony an Angel appear'd to him ſtrengthning him, but Stephen had Chriſt himſelf appearing to him. Note, Nothing ſo comfortable to dying Saints, nor ſo animating to ſuffering Saints, as to ſee Jeſus at the right Hand of GOD; and bleſſed be GOD, by Faith we may ſee him there.

4. He told thoſe about him what he ſaw, v. 56. Behold I ſee the Heavens open'd; That which was a Cordial to him, ought to have been a Conviction to them, and a Caution to them to take heed of proceeding againſt One whom Heaven thus ſmil'd upon; and therefore what he ſaw he declar'd, let them make what Uſe they pleas'd of it. If ſome were exaſperated by it, others perhaps might be wrought upon to conſider this Jeſus whom they perſecuted, and to believe in him.

2. His pious addreſſes to Jeſus Chriſt; the Manifeſtation of GOD's Glory to him, did not ſet him above praying, but rather ſet him upon it. They ſtoned Stephen calling upon God, v. 59. Tho' he call'd upon God, and by that ſhew'd himſelf to be a true-born Iſraelite, yet they proceeded to ſtone him, not conſidering how dangerous it is to fight againſt thoſe that have an Intereſt in Heaven. Tho' they ſtoned him, yet he call'd upon God; nay, therefore he call'd upon him. Note, It is the Comfort of thoſe who are unjuſtly hated and perſecuted by Men, that they have a GOD to go to, a GOD All-ſufficient to call upon. Men ſtop their Ears, as they did here, v. 57. but GOD doth not. Stephen was now caſt out of the City, but he was not caſt out from his God. He was now taking his Leave of the World, and therefore calls upon GOD, for we muſt do that as long as we live. Note, It is good to dye praying; then we need Help; Strength we never had, to do a Work we never did, add how much we fetch in that Help and Strength, but by Prayer.

Two ſhort Prayers Stephen offer'd up to GOD in his dying Moments, and in them as 'twere breath'd out his Soul.

1. Here's a Prayer for himſelf; Lord Jeſus, receive my Spirit. Thus Chriſt had himſelf reſign'd his Spirit immediately into the Hand of the Father: we are here taught to reſign ours into the Hands of Chriſt as Mediator, by him to be recommended to the Father. Stephen ſaw Jeſus ſtanding at the Father's right Hand, and he thus calls to him, Bleſſed Jeſus, do that for me now, which thou ſtandeſt there to do for all thine, Receive my departing Spirit into thy Hand. Obſerve,

(1.) The Soul is the Man, and our great Concern living and diyng, muſt be about our Souls, Stephen's Body was to be miſerably broke and ſhatter'd, and overwhelm'd with a Shower of Stones, the earthly Houſe of this Tabernacle violenly beaten down and abus'd; but however it goes with that, Lord, ſaith he, let my Spirit be ſafe; Let it go well with my poor Soul. Thus while we live, our Care ſhould be, that tho' the Body be ſtarv'd or ſtripp'd, the Soul may be fed and cloath'd, tho' the Body lies in Pain, the Soul may dwell at Eaſe. And when we dye, that tho' the Body be thrown by as a diſpis'd broken Veſſel, and a Veſſel in which there is no Pleaſure, yet the Soul may be preſented a Veſſel of Honour; That GOD may be the Strength of the Heart, and its Portion, tho' the Fleſh fail.

(2.) Our Lord Jeſus is God, to whom we are to ſeek, and in whom we are to confide, and comfort ourſelves living and dying. Stephen here prays to Chriſt, and ſo muſt we; for it is the Will of GOD that all Men ſhould thus honour the Son, even as they honour the Father. 'Tis Chriſt we are to commit our ſelves to, who alone is able to keep what we commit to him againſt that Day. 'Tis neceſſary we have an Eye to Chriſt when we come to dye; for there's no venturing into another World but under his Conduct; no living Comforts in dying Moments, but what are fetch'd from him.

(3.) Chriſt's receiving our Spirits at Death, is the great Thing we are to be careful about, and to comfort our ſelves with. We ought to be in Care about this while we live, that Chriſt may receive our Spirits when we dye; For if he reject and diſown them, whither will they betake themſelves? How can they eſcape being a Prey to a roaring Lion? To him therefore we muſt commit them daily to be rul'd and ſanctify'd, and made meet for Heaven, and then, and not otherwiſe he will receive them And if this has been our Care while we live, it may be our Comfort when we come to dye, that we ſhall be receiv'd into everlaſting Habitations.

2. Here's a Prayer for his Perſecutors, v. 60.

1. The Circumſtances of this Prayer are obſervable, for it ſeems to have been offer'd up with ſomething more of Solmnity than the former. (1.) He kneel'd down; which was an Expreſſion of his Humility in Prayer. (2.) He cry'd with a loud Voice; which was an Expreſſion of his Importunity. But why ſhould he thus ſhew more Humility and Importunity in this Requſt than in the former? Why, there was none could doubt of his being in good earneſt in his Prayers for himſelf, and therefore there he needed not to uſe ſuch outward Expreſſions of it; but in his Prayer for his Enemies, becauſe that is ſo much againſt the Grain of corrupt Nature, 'twas requiſite he ſhould give Proofs of his being in earneſt.

2. The Prayer it ſelf; Lord, lay not this Sin to their charge; therein he follow'd the Example of his dying Maſter who pray'd thus for his Perſecutors, Father forgive them; and ſet an Example to all following Sufferers in the Cauſe of Chriſt, thus to pray for thoſe that perſecute them, Prayer may preach: this did ſo to thoſe who ſton'd Stephen: and therefore he kneel'd down that they might take Notice he was going to pray, and cry'd with a loud Voice, that they might take Notice of what he ſaid, and might learn. (1.) That what they did was a Sin, a great Sin. which if Divine Mercy and Grace did not prevent, would be laid to their Charge, to their everlaſting Confuſion. (2.) That notwithſtanding their Malice and Fury againſt him, he was in Charity with them and was ſo far from deſiring that GOD would avenge his Death upon them, that it was his hearty Prayer to God, that it might not in any Degree be laid to their Charge. A ſad Reckoning there would be for it, if they did not repent, it would certainly be laid to their Charge; but he for his Part, did not deſire the woful Day. Let them take notice of this, and when their Thoughts were cool, ſurely they would not eaſily forgive themſelves putting him to Death, who could ſo eaſily forgive them. The Blood-thirſty hate the Upright, but the Juſt ſeek his Soul, Prov. xxix. 10. (3.) That tho' the Sin was very heinous yet they muſt not deſpair of the Pardon of it upon their Repentance. If they would lay it to their Hearts, GOD would not lay it to their charge. "Do you think (ſaith St. Auſtin) that " Paul heard Stephen pray this Prayer? 'Tis likely he did (ſaith " he and ridicul'd it then; (audivit ſubſannans, ſed irriſit) but " afterwards he had the Benefit of it, and far'd the better for it."

3. His expiring with this; When he had ſaid this, he fell aſleep: Or, as he was ſaying this, the Blow came that was mortal. Note, Death is but a Sleep to good People; not the Sleep of the Soul. Stephen had given that up into Chriſt's Hand, but the Sleep of the Body; 'tis its Reſt from all its Griefs and Toils, 'tis perfect Eaſe and indolence. Stephen dy'd, as much in a Hurry as ever any Man did, and yet when he dy'd, he fell aſleep; he apply'd himſelf to his Dying-work with as much Compoſure of Mind, as if he had been going to ſleep; 'twas but cloſing his Eyes and dying. Obſerve, He fell aſleep when he was praying for his Perſecutors; 'tis expreſs'd as if he thought he could not dye in Peace till he had done that. It contributes very much to our dying comfortably, to dye in charity with all Men; we are then found of Chriſt in Peace; Let not the Sun of Life go down upon our Wrath. He fell aſleep; the vulgar Latin adds, in the Lord; in the embraces of his Love. If he thus ſleep, he ſhall do well; he ſhall awake again in the Morning of the Reſurrection, CHAP. VIII.

In this Chapter we have an Account of the Perſecutions of the Chriſtians, and the propagating of Chriſtianity thereby 'Twas ſtrange, but very true, that the Diſciples of Chriſt the more they were afflicted. the more they multiply'd. (1.) Here's the Church ſuffering, upon the Occaſion of the putting Stephen to Death a very ſharp Storm aroſe which forc'd many from Jeruſalem v. 1—3. (2.) Here's the Church ſpreading by the Miniſtry of Philip and Others that were diſpers'd upon that Occaſion. We have here, (1.) The Goſpel brought to Samaria, preach'd there, v. 4, 5. Embrac'd there, v. 6—8 even by Smion Magus, v. 9—13. The Gift if the Holy Ghoſt conferr'd upon ſome of the Believing Samaritans by the Impoſition of the Hands, of Peter and John, v. 14—17. And the ſevere Rebuke given by Peter to Simon Magus forbbing Money for a Power he beſtow that Gift, v. 18—25. (2.) The Goſpel ſent to Ethiopia, by the Eunuch, a Perſon of Quality of that Country, He is returning home in his Chariot from Jeruſalem, v. 26—28. Philip is ſent to him, and in his Chariot preaches Chriſt to him, v. 29, —35. baptizeth him upon his Profeſſion of the Chriſtian Faith, v. 36—38. And then leaves him, v. 39, 40. Thus in different Ways and Methods, the Goſpel was diſpers'd among the Nations, and one Way or other, Have they not all heard?

AND Saul was conſenting unto his death. And at that time there was a great perſecution againſt the church which was at Jeruſalem: and they were all ſcattered abroad throughout the regions of Judea and Samaria, except the apoſtles. 2. And devout men carried Stephen to his burial, and made great lamentation over him, 3 As for Saul, he made havock of the church entring into every houſe, and haling men and women, committed them to priſon.

In theſe Verſes we have

Firſt, Something more concerning Stephen, and his Death; how People ſtood affected to it; variouſly, as generally in ſuch Caſes, according to Men's different Sentiments of Things. Chriſt had told his Diſciples when he was parting with them, Joh. xvi. 20. Ye ſhall weep and lament, but the World ſhall rejoyce. Accordingly here is,

1. Stephen's Death rejoyc'd in by one; by many, no doubt, but by One in particular, and that was Saul, who was afterwards call'd Paul; he was conſenting to his Death, συνευδοκῶν he conſented to it with Delight; ſo the Word ſignifies; he was pleas'd with it, he fed his Eyes with this bloody Spectacle, in hopes it would put a Stop to the Growth of Chriſtianity. We have Reaſon to think, that Paul order'd Luke to inſert this for Shame to himſelf, and Glory to Free-Grace. Thus he owns himſelf guilty of the Blood of Stephen, and aggravates it with this that he did not do it with Regret and Reluctancy but with Delight and a full Satisfaction, like thoſe who not only do ſuch Things, but have pleaſure in them that do them.

2. Stephen's, Death bewail'd by others, v. 2. Devout Men, which ſome underſtand of thoſe that were properly ſo call'd Proſelytes, One of whom Stephen himſelf propably was: Or, it may be taken more largely, ſome of the Church that were more devout and zealous than the reſt, went and gather'd up the poor cruſh'd and broken Remains, to which they gave a decent Interment: probably in the Field of Blood, which was bought ſome Time ago to bury Strangers in. They bury'd him ſolemnly, and made great Lamentation over him; Tho' his Death was of great Advantage to himſelf, and great Service to the Church, yet they bewail'd it as a general Loſs, ſo well qualify'd was he for the Service, and ſo likely to be uſeful both as a Deacon and as a Diſputant. 'Tis an ill Symptom if when ſuch Men are taken away it is not laid to Heart. Thoſe devout Men paid theſe their laſt Reſpects to Stephen, (1.) To ſhew that they were not aſham'd of the Cauſe for which he ſuffer'd, nor aſham'd of the Wrath of thoſe that were Enemies to it, for tho' they now triumph, the Cauſe is a righteous Cauſe, and will be at laſt a victorious One. (2.) To ſhew the great Value and Eſteem they had for this faithful Servant of Jeſus Chriſt, this firſt Martyr for the Goſpel, whoſe Memory ſhall always be precious to them, notwithſtanding the Ignominy of his Death. They ſtudy to do Honour to him whom GOD put Honour upon. (3.) To teſtify their Belief and Hope of the Reſurrection of the Dead, and the Life of the World to come,

Secondly, An account of this Perſecution of the Church, which begins upon the Martyrdom of Stephen. When the Fury of the Jews ran with ſuch Voilence, and to ſuch a Height againſt Stephen it could not quickly either ſtop itſelf or ſpend itſelf. The Bloody are often in Scripture call'd Blood-thirſty; for when they have taſted Blood they thirſt for more. One would have thought Stephen's dying Prayers, and dying Comforts ſhould have overcome them, and melted them into a better Opinion of Chriſtians and Chriſtianity. But it ſeems it did not; The Perſecution goes on; for (1.) They were more exaſperated when they ſaw they could prevail nothing, as if they hoped to be too hard for GOD himſelf, they reſolve to follow their Blow; And perhaps becauſe they were none of them ſtruck Dead upon the Place for Stoning Stephen, their Hearts were the more fully ſet in them to do Evil. (2.) Perhaps the Diſciples were the more embolden'd to diſpute againſt them as Stephen did, ſeeing how triumphantly he finiſh'd his Courſe, which would provoke them ſo much the more. Obſerve,

1. Againſt whom this Perſecution was rais'd; it was againſt the Church in Jeruſalem, which is no ſooner planted, but it is perſecuted; as Chriſt often intimated, that Tribulation and Perſecution would ariſe becauſe of the Word. And Chriſt had particularly foretold that Jeruſalem would ſoon be made too hot for his Followers, for that City had been famous for Killing the Prophets, and Stoning them that were ſent to it, Matth. xxiii. 37. It ſhould ſeem that in this Perſecution many were put to Death, for Paul owns that at this Time he perſecuted this Way unto the Death, Acts xxii. 4. And chap. xxvi. 10. that when they were put to Death he gave his Voice againſt them.

2. Who was an active Man in it; None ſo zealous, ſo buſy as Saul, a young Phariſee, v. 3. As for Saul (who had been twice mention'd before, and now again for a notorious Perſecutor) he made Havock of the Church; he did all he could to lay it waſte and ruin it; he cared not what Miſchief he did to the Diſciples of Chriſt, nor knew when to take up. He aim'd at no leſs than the cutting off of the Goſpel Iſrael, that the Name of it ſhould be no more in Remembrance, Pſal. lxxxiii. 4. he was the fitteſt Tool the chief Prieſts could find out to ſerve the Purpoſes; He was Informer-general againſt the Diſciples, A Meſſenger of the great Council to be employ'd in ſearching for Meetings, and ſeizing all that were ſuſpected to favour that Way. Saul was bred a Scholar, a Gentleman, and yet did not think it below him to be employ'd in the dirtieſt Work of that Kind. (1.) He enter'd into every Houſe, making no Difficulty of breaking open Doors Night or Day, and having a Force attending him for that Purpoſe. He enter'd into every Houſe where they us'd to keep their Meetings, Or every Houſe that had any Chriſtians in it, or was thought to have. No Man could be ſecure in his own Houſe, tho' it is his Caſtle. (2.) He hal'd with the utmoſt Contempt and Cruelty both Men and Women, drag'd them along the Streets, without any Regard to the Tenderneſs of the weaker Sex.. He ſtooped ſo low as to take Cognizance of the meaneſt that were leavened with the Goſpel, ſo extreamly bigotted was he. (3.) He committed them to Priſon, in order to their being try'd and put to Death, unleſs they would renounce Chriſt; And ſome we find were compell'd by him to blaſpheme, Acts xxvi. 11.

3. What was the Effect of this Perſecution?

They were all ſcattered abroad, v. 1. not all the Believers, but all the Preachers; who were principally ſtruck at, and againſt whom Warrants were iſſued out to take them up. They remembring our Maſter's Rule, when they perſecute you in one City, flee to another, diſpers'd themſelves by Agreement throughout the Regions of Judea, and of Samaria; not ſo much for Fear of Sufferings, for Judea and Samaria were not far off from Jeruſalem, but that, if they made a publick Appearance there as they determined to do, their Perſecutors Power would ſoon reach them there; But becauſe they look'd upon this as an Intimation of Providence to them to ſcatter; Their Work was pretty well done in Jeruſalem, and now it was Time to think of the Neceſſities of other Places, for their Maſter had told them that they muſt be his Witneſſes in Jeruſalem firſt, and then in all Judea and in Samaria, and then to the uttermoſt Parts of the Earth, Acts i. 8. and that Method they obſerve. Tho' Perſecution may not drive us off from our Work, yet it may ſend us, as a Hint of Providence to work elſewhere.

The Preachers were all ſcatter'd except the Apoſtles, who probably were directed by the Spirit to continue at Jeruſalem yet for ſome Time, they being by the ſpecial Providence of GOD ſcreen'd from the Storm, and by the ſpecial Grace of GOD enabled to face the Storm. They tarried at Jeruſalem, that they might be ready to go where their Aſſiſtance was moſt needed by the other Preachers that were ſent to break the Ice; As Chriſt order'd his Diſciples to go to thoſe Places where he himſelf deſign'd to come, Luke x. 1. The Apoſtles continued longer together at Jeruſalem than one would have thought, conſidering the Command and Commiſſion given them, to go into all the World, and to Diſciple all Nations; ſee Acts xv. 6. Gal. i. 17. But what was done by the Evangeliſts whom they ſent forth, was reckoned as done by them.

4 Therefore they that were ſcattered abroad, went every where preaching the word. 5 Then Philip went down to the City of Samaria, and preached Chriſt unto them. 6 And the people with one accord gave heed unto thoſe things which Philip ſpake, hearing, and ſeeing the miracles which he did. 7 For unclean ſpirits, crying with a loud voice, came out of many that were poſſeſſed with them: and many taken with palſies, and that were lame, were healed. 8 And there was great joy in that city. 9 But there was a certain man, called Simon, which before-time in the ſame city uſed ſorcery, and bewitched the people of Samaria, giving out that himſelf was ſome great one. 10 To whom they all gave heed from the leaſt to the greateſt, ſaying, This man is the great power of God. 11 And to him they had regard, becauſe that of long time he had bewitched them with ſorceries. 12 But when they believed Philip, preaching the things concerning the kingdom of God, and the Name of Jeſus Chriſt, they were baptized both men and women. 13 Then Simon himſelf believed alſo: and when he was baptized, he continued with Philip, and wondred, beholding the miracles and ſigns which were done.

Samſon's Riddle is here again unriddl'd, Out of the Eater comes forth Meat, and out of the Strong Sweetneſs. The Perſecution that was deſign'd to extirpate the Church, was by the over-ruling Providence of GOD made an Occaſion of the Enlargement of it. Chriſt had ſaid, I am come to ſend Fire on the Earth. And they thought by ſcattering thoſe who were kindled with that Fire to have put it out, but inſtead of that they did but help to ſpread it.

1. Here's a general Account of what was done by them all; v. 4. They went every where preaching the Word. They did not go to hide themſelves for Fear of Suffering, no nor to ſhew themſelves as proud of their Sufferings; but they went up and down to ſcatter the Knowledge of Chriſt in every Place where they were ſcattered. They went every where, into the Way of the Gentiles, and the Cities of the Samaritans, which before they were forbidden to go into, Acts x. 5. They did not keep together in a Body, tho' that might have been a Strength to them, but they ſcatter'd into all Parts; not to take their Eaſe but to find out Work; They went Evangelizing the Word, preaching the Word of the Goſpel, that was it which fill'd them, and which they endeavour'd to fill the Country with, thoſe of them that were preaching, in their Preaching, and others in their common Converſe. They were now in a Country where they were no Strangers, for Chriſt and his Diſciples had convers'd much in the Regions of Judea; ſo that they had a Foundation laid there for them to build upon; And it would be requiſite to let the People there know what that Doctrine which Jeſus had preached there ſome time ago was come to, and that it was not left and forgotten, as perhaps they were made to believe.

2. A particular Account of what was done by Philip; we ſhall hear of the Progreſs and Succeſs of others of them afterwards, ch. ix. 19. But here muſt attend the Motions of Philip, not Philip the Apoſtle, but Philip the Deacon, who was choſen and ordain'd to ſerve Tables, but having us'd the Office of a Deacon well, he purchas'd to himſelf a good Degree, and great boldneſs in the Faith, 1 Tim. iii. 13. Stephen was advanc'd to the Degree of a Martyr, Philip to the Degree of an Evangeliſt, which when he entered upon, being oblig'd by it to give himſelf to the Word and Prayer, he was no doubt diſcharg'd from the Office of a Deacon, for how could he ſerve Tables at Jeruſalem, which by that Office he was oblig'd to do, when he was preaching in Samaria? And 'tis probable two others were choſen in the Room of Stephen and Philip. Now Obſerve, Firſt, What wonderful Succeſs Philip had in his Preaching, and what Reception he met with.

1. The Place he choſe was the City of Samaria; The head City of Samaria, the Metropolis of that Country, which ſtood there where the City of Samaria had formerly ſtood, which we read of the Building of, 1 Kings xvi. 24. now call'd Sebaſte. Some think it was the ſame with Sychem or Sychar, that City of Samaria where Chriſt was, Joh. iv. 6. Many of that City then believ'd in Chriſt, tho' he did no Miracle among them, v. 39, 41. and now Philip three Years after carries on the Work then begun. The Jews would have no Dealings with the Samaritans; but Chriſt ſent his Goſpel to ſlay all Enmities, and particularly that between the Jews and the Samaritans, by making them One in his Church.

2. The Doctrine he preach'd was Chriſt; for he determined know Nothing elſe: He preached Chriſt to them, he proclaimed Chriſt to them, ſo the Word ſignifies: as King when he comes to the Crown is proclaim'd throughout his Dominions. The Samaritans had an Expectation of the Meſſiah's Coming, as appears by Joh. iv. 25. now Philip tells them, He is come; and that the Samaritans are welcome to Him. Miniſters Buſineſs is to preach Chriſt, Chriſt, and him crucify'd; Chriſt, and him glorify'd.

3. The Proofs he produc'd for the Confirmation of his Doctrine, were Miracles, v. 6. To convince that he had his Commiſſion from Heaven, and therefore not only they might venture upon what he ſaid, but they were bound to yield to it, he ſhews them this Broad Seal of Heaven annex'd to it, which the GOD of Truth would never put to a Lye: The Miracles were undeniable, they heard and ſaw the Miracles which he did; they heard the commanding Words he ſpoke, and ſaw the amazing Effect of them immediately; that he ſpake, and it was done. And the Nature of the Miracles was ſuch as ſuited the Intention of his Commiſſion, and gave Light and Luſtre to it.

(1.) He was ſent to break the Power of Satan; and in Token of that, unclean Spirits, being charg'd in the Name of the Lord Jeſus to remove, came out of many that were poſſeſs'd with them, v. 7. As far as the Goſpel prevails, Satan is forc'd to quit his Hold of Men, and his Intereſt in them, and then thoſe are reſtor'd to themſelves, and to their right Mind again, who while he kept Poſſeſſion, were diſtracted. Wherever the Goſpel gains the Admiſſion and Submiſſion it ought to have, evil Spirits are diſlodg'd, and particularly unclean Spirits, all Inclinations to the Luſts of the Fleſh, which war againſt the Soul; for GOD has called us from Uncleanneſs to Holineſs, 1 Theſ. iv. 7. This was ſignify'd by the caſting of theſe unclean Spirits out of the Bodies of People, who, 'tis here ſaid, came out crying with a loud Voice, which ſignifies that they came out with great Reluctancy, and ſore againſt their Wills, but were forc'd to acknowledge themſelves overcome by a ſuperiour Power, Mark i. 26. iii. 11. ix. 26.

(2.) He was ſent to heal the Minds of Men, to cure a Diſtemper'd World, and to put it in a good State of Health; and in Token of that, many that were taken with Palſies, and that were lame, were heal'd. Thoſe Diſtempers are inſtanced in, that were moſt difficult to be cur'd by a Courſe of Nature, that the miraculous Cure might be the more illuſtrious; and thoſe that were moſt expreſſive of the Diſeaſe of Sin, and that moral Impotency which the Souls of Men labour under as to the Service of GOD. The Grace of GOD in the Goſpel, is deſign'd for the healing of thoſe that are ſpiritually lame and paralytick, and cannot help themſelves, Rom. v. 6.

4. The Acceptance which Philip's Doctrine thus prov'd met with in Samaria, v. 6. The People with one Accord gave heed to thoſe Things which Philip ſpake; induc'd thereto by the Miracles which ſerv'd at firſt to gain Attention, and ſo by Degrees to gain Aſſent. There then begins to be ſome Hopes of People, when they begin to take Notice of what is ſaid to them concerning the Things of their Souls and Eternity; when they begin to give heed to the Word of GOD, as thoſe that are well-pleas'd to hear it, deſirous to underſtand and remember, and that look upon themſelves as concern'd in it. The Common People gave heed to Philip οἱ ὄχλοι a Multitude of them, not here and there One, but with one accord; they were all of a Mind, that the Doctrine of the Goſpel was fit to be enquir'd into, and an impartial Hearing given to it.

5. The Satisfaction they had in attending on, and attending to Philip's Preaching, and the Succeſs it had with many of them, v. 8. There was great Joy in that City; for v. 12. They believ'd Philip, and were baptiz'd into the Faith of Chriſt; the Generality of them, both Men and Women. Obſerve, (1.) Philip preach'd the Things concerning the Kingdom of GOD, the Conſtitution of that Kingdom, the Laws and Ordinances of it, the Liberties and Privileges of it, and the Obligations we are all under to be the Loyal Subjects of that Kingdom; and he preach'd the Name of Jeſus Chriſt as King of that Kingdom, his Name, which is above every Name; he preach'd it up in its commanding Power and Influence, all that by which he had made himſelf known. (2.) The People not only gave heed to what he ſaid, but at length believ'd it; were fully convinc'd that it was of GOD, and not of Men, and gave up themſelves to the Conduct and Government of it. As to this Mountain on which they had hitherto worſhipped GOD, and plac'd a great deal of Religion in it, they were now as much wean'd from it, as ever they had been wedded to it, and become the true Worſhippers, who worſhip the Father in Spirit, and in Truth, and in the Name of Chriſt, the true Temple, Joh. iv. 20, 23. (3.) When they believ'd, without Scruple (tho' they were Samaritans) and without Delay they were baptized, openly profeſs'd the Chriſtian Faith, promis'd to adhere to it, and then by waſhing them with Water, were ſolemnly admitted into the Communion of the Chriſtian Church, and own'd as Brethren by the Diſciples. Men only were capable of being admitted into the Jewiſh Church by Circumciſion: But to ſhew that in Jeſus Chriſt there is neither Male nor Female, Gal. iii. 28. but both are alike welcome to him, the initiating Ordinance is ſuch as Women are capable of; for they are number'd with GOD's Spiritual Iſrael, tho' not with Iſrael according to the Fleſh, Numb. i. 2. And from hence it is eaſily gathered, that Women are to be admitted to the Lord's Supper, tho' it doth not appear that there were any amongſt thoſe to whom it was firſt adminiſter'd. (4.) This occaſion'd great Joy; Each One rejoyc'd for himſelf, as he in the Parable who found the Treaſure hid in the Field; and they all rejoyc'd for the Benefit hereby brought to their City, and that it came without Oppoſition, which it would ſcarce have done if Samaria had been within the Juriſdiction of the Chief Prieſts. Note, The bringing of the Goſpel to any Place is juſt Matter of Joy, of great Joy for that Place. Hence the ſpreading of the Goſpel in the World is often propheſy'd of in the Old Teſtament as the diffuſing of Joy among the Nations, Pſ. lxvii. 4. Let the Nations be glad, and ſing for Joy, 1 Theſ. i. 6. The Goſpel of Chriſt doth not make Men melancholy, but fills them with Joy, if it be received as it ſhould be; for it is glad Tydings of great Joy to all People, Luk. ii. 10.

Secondly, What there was in particular at this City of Samaria, that made the Succeſs of the Goſpel there more than ordinary wonderful.

1. That Simon Magus had been buſy there, and had gained a great Intereſt among the People, and yet they believed the Things that Philip ſpoke. To unlearn that which is bad proves many Times a harder Task, than to learn that which is good. Theſe Samaritans, tho' they were not Idolaters as the Gentiles, nor prejudiced againſt the Goſpel by Traditions received from their Fathers, yet they had of late been drawn to follow Simon a Conjurer, (for ſo Magus ſignifies) that made a mighty Noiſe among them, and had ſtrangely bewitched them.

We are here told,

(1.) How ſtrong the Deluſion of Satan was, by which they were brought into the Intereſts of this great Deceiver; He had been for ſome Time, nay, for a long time, in this City uſing Sorcery; perhaps, he came thither by the Inſtigation of the Devil, ſoon after our Saviour had been there, to undo what he had been doing there; for it was always Satan's Way, to cruſh a good Work in its Bud and Infancy, 1 Cor. xi. 3. 1 Theſſ. iii. 5. Now

1. Simon aſſum'd to himſelf that which was conſiderable; He gave out that himſelf was ſome Great One; and would have all People to believe ſo, and to pay him Reſpect accordingly, and then as to every Thing elſe, they might do as they pleas'd; he had no Deſign to reform their Lives, or improve their Worſhip and Devotion, only to make them believe that he was τὶς μέγας, ſome Divine Perſon or other. Juſtin Martyr ſaith, he would be worſhipped as, πρῶτον Θεὸν, the Chief God. He gave out himſelf to be the Son of GOD, the Meſſiah; ſo ſome think. Or, to be an Angel or a Prophet; perhaps he was uncertain within himſelf what Title of Honour to pretend to; but he would be thought ſome great One. Pride and Ambition, and an Affectation of Grandeur, has always been the Principle of abundance of Miſchief both to the World, and to the Church.

2. The People aſcrib'd to him what he pleas'd; (1.) They all gave heed to him, from the leaſt to the greateſt; both Young and Old, both Poor and Rich, both Governours and Governed, to him they had Regard, v. 10, 11. and perhaps the more, becauſe the Time fixed for the Coming of the Meſſiah was now expir'd, which had raiſed a general Expectation of the Appearing of ſome Great One about this Time. Probably, he was a Native of their Country, and therefore they embraced him the more chearfully, that by giving Honour to him they might reflect it upon themſelves. (2.) They ſaid of him, This Man is the great Power of God; The Power of God, That Great Power; ſo it might be read. That Power which made the World. See how ignorant inconſiderate People miſtake that which is done by the Power of Satan, as if it were done by the Power of GOD. Thus in the Gentile World, Devils paſs for Deities; and in the Antichriſtian Kingdom, all the World wonders after a Beaſt to whom the Dragon gives his Power, and who opens his Mouth in Blaſphemy againſt GOD, Rev. xiii. 2, 5. (3.) They were brought to it by his Sorceries; he bewitched the People of Samaria, v. 9. Bewitched them with Sorceries, v. 11. that is, Either (1.) By his Magick Arts he bewitched the Minds of the People, at leaſt ſome of them, who drew in others; Satan by GOD's Permiſſion filled their Hearts to follow Simon. O fooliſh Galatians, ſaith Paul, who hath bewitched you, Gal. iii. 1. Theſe People are ſaid to be bewitched by Simon, becauſe they were ſo ſtrangely infatuated to believe a Lye. Or, (2.) By his Magick Arts he did many Signs and lying Wonders, which ſeemed to be Miracles, but were really not ſo; like thoſe of the Magicians of Egypt, and thoſe of the Man of Sin, 2 Theſſ. ii. 9. When they knew no better, they were influenced by his Sorceries; but when they were acquainted with Philip's real Miracles, they ſaw plainly that the one was real, and the other a Sham, and there was as much Difference as between Aaron's Rod and thoſe of the Magicians. What is the Chaff to the Wheat, Jer. xxiii. 28.

Thus, notwithſtanding the Influence Simon Magus had had upon them, and the Lothneſs there generally is in People to own themſelves in an Error, and to retract it, yet when they ſaw the Difference between Simon and Philip, they quitted Simon, gave heed no longer to him, but to Philip. And thus you ſee,

(2.) How ſtrong the Power of Divine Grace is, by which they were brought to Chriſt, who is Truth itſelf; and was (as I may ſay) the Great Undeceiver. By that Grace working with the Word, they that had been led Captive by Satan, were brought into Obedience to Chriſt. Where Satan as a ſtrong Man arm'd kept Poſſeſſion of the Palace, and thought himſelf ſafe, Chriſt as a ſtronger than he diſpoſſeſs'd him, and divided the Spoil; led Captivity captive, and made thoſe the Trophies of his Victory whom the Devil had triumph'd over. Let us not deſpair of the Worſt, when even thoſe whom Simon Magus had bewitch'd were brought to believe.

2. Here's another Thing yet more wonderful, that Simon Magus himſelf became a Convert to the Faith of Chriſt, in Shew and Profeſſion for a Time. Is Saul alſo among the Prophets? Yes,

v. 13. Simon himſelf believed alſo; he was convinc'd that Philip preach'd a true Doctrine, becauſe he ſaw it confirm'd by real Miracles, which he was the better able to judge of, becauſe he was conſcious to himſelf of the Trick of his own pretended ones. (1.) The preſent Conviction went ſo far, that he was baptiz'd, was admitted as other Believers were into the Church by Baptiſm; and we have no Reaſon to think that Philip did amiſs in baptizing him; no, nor in baptizing him quickly. Tho' he had been a very wicked Man, a Sorcerer, a Pretender to Divine Honours, yet upon his Solemn Profeſſion of Repentance for his Sin, and Faith in Jeſus Chriſt, he was baptiz'd. For as great Wickedneſs before Converſion keeps not true Penitents from the Benefit of GOD's Grace, ſo neither ſhould it keep profeſſing Ones from Church Fellowſhip. Prodigals when they return, muſt be joyfully welcom'd home, tho' we cannot be ſure but that they will play the Prodigal again. Nay, tho' he was now but an Hypocrite, and really in the Gall of Bitterneſs, and Bond of Iniquity all this while, and would ſoon have been found to be ſo, if he had been try'd a while, yet Philip baptiz'd him; for 'tis GOD's Prerogative to know the Heart, the Church and its Miniſters muſt go by a Judgment of Charity, as far as there is Room for it. 'Tis a Maxim in the Law, Donec contrarium patet, ſemper præſumitur meliori parti; We muſt hope the beſt as long as we can. And it is a Maxim in the Diſcipline of the Church, De ſecretis non judicat Eccleſia; The Secrets of the Heart GOD only judgeth. (2.) The preſent Conviction laſted ſo long, that he continued with Philip; tho' afterwards he apoſtatiz'd from Chriſtianity, yet not quickly. He courted Philip's Accquaintance, and now he that had given out himſelf to be ſome Great One, is content to ſit at the Feet of a Preacher of the Goſpel. Even bad Men, very bad, may ſometimes be in a good Frame, very good; and they whoſe Hearts ſtill go after their Covetouſneſs, may poſſibly not only come before GOD as his People come, but continue with them. (3.) The preſent Conviction was wrought and kept up by the Miracles; He wonder'd to ſee himſelf ſo far outdone in Signs and Miracles. Many wonder at the Proofs of Divine Truths, that never experience the Power of them.

14 Now when the apoſtles which were at Jeruſalem, heard that Samaria had receiv'd the word of God, they ſent unto them Peter and John: 15 Who when they were come down, prayed for them, that they might receive the holy Ghoſt. 16 (For as yet he was fallen upon none of them: only they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jeſus.) 17 Then laid they their hands on them, and they received the holy Ghoſt. 18 And when Simon ſaw that through laying on of the apoſtles hands, the holy Ghoſt was given, he offered them money, 19 Saying, Give me alſo this power, that on whomſoever I lay hands, he may receive the holy Ghoſt. 20 But Peter ſaid unto him, Thy money periſh with thee, becauſe thou haſt thought that the gift of God may be purchaſed with money. 21 Thou haſt neither part nor lot in this matter; for thy heart is not right in the ſight of God. 22 Repent therefore of this thy wickedneſs, and pray God, if perhaps the thought of thine heart may be forgiven thee. 23 For I perceive that thou art in the gall of bitterneſs, and in the bond of iniquity. 24 Then anſwered Simon and ſaid, pray ye to the Lord for me, that none of theſe things which ye have ſpoken come upon me. 25 And when they had teſtified and preached the word of the Lord, returned to Jeruſalem, and preached the goſpel in many villages of the Samaritans.

GOD had wonderfully own'd Philip in his Work as an Evangeliſt at Samaria; but he could do no more than an Evangeliſt, there were ſome peculiar Powers reſerv'd to the Apoſtles for the keeping up of the Dignity of their Office. And here we have an Account of what was done by two of them there, Peter and John. The Twelve kept together at Jeruſalem, v. 1. and thither theſe good Tydings were brought them, That Samaria had receiv'd the Word of GOD, v. 14. that a great Harveſt of Souls was gather'd, and was likely to be gather'd in to Chriſt there. The Word of GOD was not only preached to them, but received by them, they bid it welcome, admitted the Light of it, and ſubmitted to the Power of it. When they heard it, they ſent unto them Peter and John. If Peter had been, as ſome ſay he was, the Prince of the Apoſtles, he would have ſent ſome of them, or if he had ſeen Cauſe, would have gone himſelf of his own accord; but he was ſo far from that, that he ſubmitted to an Order of the Houſe, and as a Servant to the Body, went whither they ſent him. Two Apoſtles were ſent, the two moſt eminent to Samaria. (1.) To encourage Philip, to aſſiſt him, and ſtrengthen his Hands: Miniſters in a higher Station, and that excel in Gifts and Graces, ſhould contrive how they may be helpful to thoſe in a lower Sphere, and contribute to their Comfort and Uſefulneſs. (2.) To carry on the good Work that was begun among the People, and with thoſe heavenly Graces that had enrich'd them to confer upon them ſpiritual Gifts. Now Obſerve, Firſt, How they advanced and improved thoſe of them that were ſincere; It is ſaid, v. 16. That the Holy Ghoſt was as yet fallen upon none of them, in thoſe extraordinary Powers which were conveyed by the Deſcent of the Spirit upon the Day of Pentecoſt; they were none of them endued with the Gift of Tongues, which ſeems then to have been the moſt uſual immediate Effect of the Pouring out of the Spirit; See chap. x. 45, 46. which was both an eminent Sign to them which believed not, and of excellent Service to them that did. This, and other ſuch Gifts they had not, only they were baptized in the Name of the Lord Jeſus, and ſo engag'd to him, and intereſted in him, which was neceſſary to Salvation, and in that they had Joy and Satisfaction, v. 8. tho' they could not ſpeak with Tongues. They that are indeed given up to Chriſt, and have experienced the ſanctifying Influences and Operations of the Spirit of Grace, have great Reaſon to be thankful, and no Reaſon to complain, tho' they have not thoſe Gifts that are for Ornament, and would make them bright.

But 'tis intended that they ſhall go on to the Perfection of the preſent Diſpenſation, for the greater Honour of the Goſpel: We have Reaſon to think that Philip had receiv'd theſe Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt himſelf, but not a Power to confer them; the Apoſtles muſt come to do that: And they did it, not upon all that were baptized, but upon ſome of them, (and it ſhould ſeem) ſuch as were deſign'd for ſome Office in the Church, or at leaſt to be eminent active Members of it; and upon ſome of them one Gift of the Holy Ghoſt, and upon others another, See 1 Cor. xii. 4, 8. xiv. 26.

Now in order to this,

1. The Apoſtles pray'd for them, v. 15. The Spirit is given not to ourſelves only, Luke xi. 13. but to others alſo in anſwer to Prayer. I will put my Spirit within you, Ezek. xxxvi. 27. But I will for this be enquired of, v. 37. We may take Encouragement from this Example, in praying to GOD to give the renewing Graces of the Holy Ghoſt to them, whoſe Spiritual Welfare we are concerned for; for our Children, for our Friends, for our Miniſters, we ſhould pray, and pray earneſtly, that they may receive the Holy Ghoſt; for that includes all Bleſſings.

2. They laid their Hands upon them; to ſignify that their Prayers were anſwered, and that the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt was conferr'd upon them; for upon the Uſe of this Sign, They received the Holy Ghoſt, and ſpake with Tongues. The Laying on of Hands was anciently uſed in Bleſſing, by thoſe who bleſs'd with Authority. Thus the Apoſtles bleſs'd theſe new Converts, ordain'd ſome to be Miniſters and confirm'd others in their Chriſtianity. We cannot now, nor can any thus give the Holy Ghoſt by the Laying on of Hands; but this may intimate to us, that thoſe whom we pray for, we ſhould uſe our Endeavours with.

Secondly, How they diſcovered and diſcarded him that was an Hypocrite among them, and that was Simon Magus; for they knew how to ſeparate between the Precious and the Vile. Now Obſerve here,

1. The wicked Propoſal that Simon made, by which his Hypocriſy was diſcover'd, v. 18, 19. When he ſaw that through laying on of the Apoſtles Hands the Holy Ghoſt was given, which ſhould have confirmed his Faith in the Doctrine of Chriſt, and increas'd his Veneration for the Apoſtles, it gave him a Notion of Chriſtianity, as no other but an exalted Piece of Sorcery, in which he thought himſelf capable of being equal to the Apoſtles, and therefore offer'd them Money, ſaying, Give me alſo this Power. He doth not deſire them to Lay their Hands on him, that he might receive the Holy Ghoſt himſelf, for he did not foreſee that any Thing was to be got by that, but that they would convey to him a Power to beſtow the Gift upon others. He was ambitious to have the Honour of an Apoſtle, but not at all ſollicitous to have the Spirit and Diſpoſition of a Chriſtian; He was more deſirous to gain Honour to himſelf, than to do Good to others. Now in making this Motion. (1.) He put a great Affront upon the Apoſtles, as if they were Mercenary Men, would do any Thing for Money, and lov'd it as well as he did; whereas they had left what they had for Chriſt, ſo far were they from aiming to make it more. (2.) He put a great Affront upon Chriſtianity, as if the Miracles that were wrought for the Proof of it were done by Magick Arts, only of a different Nature from what he himſelf had practis'd formerly. (3.) He ſhew'd that like Balaam, he aim'd at the Rewards of Divination; for he would not have bid Money for this Power if he had not hoped to get Money by it. (4.) He ſhew'd that he had a very high Conceit of himſelf, and that he had never his Heart truly humbled; Such a Wretch as he had been before his Baptiſm, ſhould have ask'd like the Prodigal, to be made as one of the hired Servants; but as ſoon as he is admitted into the Family, no leſs a Place will ſerve him than to be one of the Stewards of the Houſhold, and to be intruſted with a Power which Philip himſelf had not: but the Apoſtles only.

2. The juſt Rejection of his Propoſal, and the cutting Reproof Peter gave him for it, v. 20, 21, 22, 23.

1. Peter ſhews his Crime, v. 20. thou haſt thought that the Gift of God may be purchaſed with Money. And thus, (1.) He had overvalued the Wealth of this World as if it were an equivalent for any Thing, and as if becauſe, as Solomon ſaith, It anſwers all Things relating to the Life that now is, it would anſwer all Things relating to the other Life, and would purchaſe the Pardon of Sin, the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt, and Eternal Life. (2.) He had undervalued the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt, and put it upon a Level with the Common Gifts of Nature and Providence. He thought the Power of an Apoſtle might as well be had for a good Fee as the Advice of a Phyſician or a Lawyer, which was the greateſt Deſpite that could be done to the Spirit of Grace. All the Buying and Selling of Pardons and Indulgences in the Church of Rome is the Product of this ſame wicked Thought, that the Gift of God may be purchaſed with Money, when the Offer of Divine Grace ſo expreſly runs without Money and without Price.

2. He ſhews him his Character, which is inferr'd from his Crime. From every Thing that a Man ſaith or doth amiſs, we cannot infer that he is an Hypocrite, in the Profeſſion he makes of Religion; But this of Simon's was ſuch a fundamental Errour, as could by no Means conſiſt with a State of Grace; his bidding Money (and that got by Sorcery too) was an unconteſtable Evidence that he was yet under the Power of a worldly and carnal Mind, and was yet that Natural Man which receiveth not the Things of the Spirit of God, neither can he know them. And therefore Peter tells them plainly. (1.) That his Heart was not right in the Sight of God, v. 21. Tho' thou profeſſeſt to believe, and art baptiz'd, yet thou art not ſincere; We are as our Hearts are, If they be not right, we are wrong; And they are open in the Sight of God, who knows them, judgeth them, and judgeth of us by them. That our Hearts are, which they are in the Sight of God, who cannot be deceiv'd, and if they be not right in the Sight, whatever our Pretenſions be, our Religion is vain, and will ſtand us in no ſtead. Our great Concern is to approve ourſelves to Him in our Integrity, for otherwiſe we cheat ourſelves into our own Ruin. Some refer this particularly to the Propoſal he made; What he ask'd is deny'd him, becauſe his Heart is not right in the Sight of God in asking it; he doth not aim at the Glory of GOD, or the Honour of Chriſt in it, but to make a Hand of it for himſelf; he asks and has not, becauſe he asks amiſs, that he may conſume it upon his Luſts, and be ſtill thought ſome great one. (2.) That he is in the Gall of Bitterneſs, and in the Bond of Iniquity; I perceive that thou art ſo; v. 33. This is plain Dealing, and plain Dealing is beſt, when we are Dealing about Souls and Eternity. Simon had got a great Name, among the People, and of late a good Name too among GOD's People, and yet Peter here gives him a black Character. Note, 'Tis poſſible for a Man to continue under the Power of Sin, and yet to put on a Form of Godlineſs. I perceive it ſaith Peter. 'Twas not ſo much by the Spirit of Diſcerning with which Peter was endued that he perceiv'd this, as by Simon's Diſcovery of it in the Propoſal he made. Note, The Diſguiſes of Hypocrites many Times are ſoon ſeen through; The Nature of the Wolf ſhews it ſelf, notwithſtanding the Cover of the Sheeps Cloathing. Now the Character here given of Simon is really the Character of all wicked People. 1. They are in the Gall of Bitterneſs. Odious to God as that which is bitter as Gall is to us, Sin is an abominable Thing which the Lord hates, and Sinners are by it made abominable to him; They are vicious in their own Nature; In-dwelling Sin is a Root of Bitterneſs that bears Gall and Wormwood, Deut. xxix. 18. The Faculties corrupted, and the Mind embitter'd againſt all Good, Heb. xii. 15. It ſpeaks likewiſe the pernicious Conſequences of Sin; the End is bitter as Wormwood. 2. They are in the Bond of Iniquity; Bound over to the Judgment of God by the Guilt of Sin, and bound under the Dominion of Satan by the Power of Sin; led Captive by him at his Will, and it is a ſore Bondage, like that in Egypt, making the Life bitter.

3. He reads him his Doom in two Things.

1. He ſhall ſink with his Worldly Wealth, which he overvalued; Thy Money periſh with Thee. (1.) Hereby Peter rejects his Offer with the utmoſt Diſdain and Indignation; Doſt thou think thou canſt bribe us to betray our Truſt, and to put the Power we are intruſted with into ſuch unworthy Hands? away with thee and thy Money too, we will have nothing to do with either; Get thee behind me Satan. When we are tempted with Money to do an evil Thing, we ſhould ſee what a periſhing Thing Money is, and ſcorn to be byaſs'd with it; 'Tis the Character of the upright Man, that he ſhakes his Hands from holding, from touching of Bribes, Iſa. xxxiii. xv. (2.) He warns him of his Danger of utter Deſtruction if he continu'd in this Mind; Thy Money will periſh, and thou wilt loſe it, and all that thou canſt purchaſe with it; As Meats for the Belly, and the Belly for Meats, 1 Cor. vi. 13. ſo Goods for Money, and Money for Goods, but God ſhall deſtroy both it and them, they periſh in the uſing; But that's not the worſt of it, thou wilt periſh with it, and it with thee, and it will be an Aggravation of thy Ruin, and a heavy Load upon thy periſhing Soul, that thou hadſt Money which might have been laid at the Apoſtles Feet as a Charity, and would have been accepted, but was thruſt into their Hands as a Bribe, and was rejected. Son remember this.

(2.) He ſhall come ſhort of the Spiritual Bleſſings which he undervalued; v. 21. Thou haſt neither Part nor Lot in this Matter; Thou haſt nothing to do with the Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, thou doſt not underſtand them, thou art excluded from them, haſt put a Bar in thine own Door; Thou canſt not receive the Holy Ghoſt thy ſelf, nor Power to confer the Holy Ghoſt upon others, for thy Heart is not right in the ſight of God if thou thinkeſt that Chriſtianity is a Trade to live by in this World, and therefore thou haſt no Part or Lot in the Eternal Life in the other World which the Goſpel offers. Note, 1. There are many who profeſs the Chriſtian Religion, and yet have no Part or Lot in the Matter, no Part in Chriſt, John xiii. 8. no Lot in the Heavenly Canaan. 2. They are thoſe whoſe Hearts are not right in the ſight of God, are not animated by a right Spirit, nor guided by a right Rule, nor directed to the right End.

4. He gives him good Counſel notwithſtanding, v. 22. Tho' he was angry with him, yet he did not abandon him; And tho' he would have him ſee his Caſe to be very bad, yet he would not have him think it deſperate, yet now there is Hope in Iſrael. Obſerve.

(1.) What is it that he adviſeth him to? He muſt do his firſt Works. (2.) He muſt repent; muſt ſee his Error, and retract it, muſt change his Mind and Way; muſt be humbled and aſham'd for what he has done, his Repentance muſt be particular, Repent of this, own thy ſelf Guilty in this, and be ſorry for it. He muſt lay load upon himſelf for it, muſt not extenuate it by calling it a Miſtake, or miſguided Zeal, but muſt aggravate it by calling it Wickedneſs, his Wickedneſs, the Fruit of his own Corruption. Thoſe that have ſaid and done amiſs, muſt as far as they can unſay it, and undo it again by Repentance. (2.) He muſt pray to GOD, muſt pray that GOD would give him Repentance, and Pardon upon Repentance. Penitents muſt pray, which implies a Deſire towards GOD, and a Confidence in Chriſt. Simon Magus, as great a Man as he thinks himſelf, ſhall not be courted into the Apoſtles Communion, how much ſoever ſome would think it a Reputation to them, upon any other Terms than thoſe upon which other Sinners are admitted, Repentance and Prayer.

(2.) What Encouragement he gives him to do this, if perhaps the Thought of thy Heart, this wicked thought of thine may be forgiven thee. Note, 1. There may be a great deal of Wickedneſs in the Thought of the Heart, its falſe Notions and corrupt Affections, and wicked Projects, which muſt be repented of, or we are undone. 2. The Thought of the Heart tho' never ſo wicked, yet ſhall be forgiven upon our Repentance, and not laid to our Charge. When Peter here puts a perhaps upon it, the Doubt is of the Sincerity of his Repentance, not of his Pardon, if his Repentance be ſincere. If Indeed the Thought of thy Heart may be forgiven, ſo it may be read. Or, it intimates, that the Greatneſs of his Sin might juſtly make the Pardon doubtful, tho' the Promiſe of the Goſpel had put the Matter out of Doubt, in caſe he did truly repent. Like that, Sam. iii. 29. if ſo be there may be hope.

3. Simon's Requeſt to them to pray for him, v. 24. He was ſtartled and put into Confuſion by that which Peter ſaid; finding that reſented thus, which he thought would have been embrac'd with both Arms; And he cries out, Pray ye to the Lord for me, that none of the Things which ye have ſpoken come upon me. Here was (1.) ſomething well; That he was affected with the Reproof given him, and terrify'd by the Character given of him, enough to make the ſtouteſt Heart to Tremble. And that being ſo, he begg'd the Prayers of the Apoſtles for him, wiſhing to have an Intereſt in them, who, he believ'd had a good Intereſt in Heaven. (2.) Something wanting; he begg'd of them to pray for him, he did not pray for himſelf as he ought to have done. And in deſiring them to pray for him his Concern is more that the Judgments he had made himſelf liable to, might be prevented than that his Corruptions might be mortify'd, and his Heart by Divine Grace be made right in the Sight of GOD. Like Pharaoh, who would have Moſes intreat the Lord for him, that he would take away this Death only, not that he would take away this Sin, this Hardneſs of Heart, Exod. viii. 8. x. 17. Some think Peter had denounc'd ſome particular Judgments againſt him, as againſt Ananias, as Sapphira, which upon this Submiſſion of his at the Apoſtles, Interceſſion were prevented. Or, from what is related he might infer, that ſome Token of GOD's Wrath would fall upon him, which he thus dreaded and deprecated.

Laſtly, Here is the Return of the Apoſtles to Jeruſalem, when they had finiſh'd the Buſineſs they came about, for as yet they were not to diſperſe. But tho' they came hither to do that Work which was peculiar to them as Apoſtles, yet Opportunity offering it ſelf, they apply'd themſelves to that which was Common to all Goſpel Miniſters. (1.) There in the City of Samaria they were Preachers; They teſtify'd the Word of the Lord, ſolemnly atteſted the Truth of the Goſpel, and confirm'd what the other Miniſters preach'd. They did not pretend to bring them any thing new, tho' they were Apoſtles, but bore their Teſtimony to the Word of the Lord as they had receiv'd it. (2.) In their Road home they were Itenerant Preachers; As thou paſt through many Villages of the Samaritans they preach'd the Goſpel: Tho' the Congregations there were nothing ſo conſiderable as in the Cities, either for Number or Figure, yet their Souls were as precious, and the Apoſtles did not think it below them to preach the Goſpel to them. GOD has a Regard to the Inhabitants of His Villages in Iſrael, Jud. v. 11. and ſo ſhould we.

26 And the Angel of the Lord ſpake unto Philip, ſaying, Ariſe and go toward the ſouth, unto the way that goeth down from Jeruſalem unto Gaza, which is deſert. 27 And he aroſe and went: and behold a man of Ethiopia, an eunuch, of great authority under Candace queen of the Ethiopian, who had the Charge of all her treaſure, and had come to Jeruſalem for to worſhip, 28 Was returning, and ſitting in his chariot, read Eſaias the prophet. 29 Then the Spirit ſaid unto Philip, Go near and joyn thy ſelf to this chariot. 30 And Philip ran thither to him, and heard him read the prophet Eſaias, and ſaid, Underſtandeſt thou what thou readeſt? 31 And he ſaid, How can I, except ſome man ſhould guide me? and he deſired Philip that he would come up and ſit with him. 32 The place of the Scripture which he read, was this, He was led as a ſheep to the ſlaughter, and like a lamb dumb before his ſhearer, ſo opened he not his mouth: 33 In his humiliation his judgment was taken away; and who ſhall declare his generation? for his life is taken from the earth. 34 And the eunuch anſwered Philip, and ſaid, I pray thee, of whom ſpeaketh the prophet this? of himſelf, or of ſome other man? 35 Then Philip opened his mouth and began at the ſame ſcripture, and preached unto him Jeſus. 36 And as they went on their way, they came unto a certain water: and the eunuch ſaid, See, here is water; what doth hinder me to be baptized? 37 And Phillip ſaid, if thou believeſt with all thine heart, thou mayeſt. And he anſwered and ſaid, I believe that Jeſus Chriſt is the Son of God. 38 And he commanded the chariot to ſtand ſtill: and they went down both into the water both Philip and the Eunuch; and he baptized him. 39 And when they were come up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, that the eunuch ſaw him no more: and he went on his way rejoycing. 40 But Philip was found at Azotus; and paſſing through, he preached in all the cities till he came to Ceſarea.

We have here the Story of the Converſion of an Ethiopian Eunuch to the Faith of Chriſt. By whom we have Reaſon to think the Knowledge of Chriſt was ſent into that Country where he liv'd, and that Scripture fulfill'd, Ethiopia ſhall ſoon ſtretch out her Hands, one of the firſt of the Nations unto GOD, Pſal. lxviii. 30.

Firſt, Philip the Evangeliſt is directed into the Road where he would meet with this Ethiopian, v. 26. when the Churches in Samaria were ſettled and his Miniſters appointed them, the Apoſtles went back to Jeruſalem, but Philip ſtays expecting to be employ'd in breaking up freſh Ground in the Country; And here we have,

1. Direction given him by an Angel (probably in a Dream or Viſion of the Night) what Courſe to ſteer. Ariſe and go towards the South. The Angels were not employ'd to preach the Goſpel, they were often employed in carrying Meſſages to Miniſters for Advice and Encouragement, as chap. v. 19. We cannot now expect ſuch Guides in our Way, but doubtleſs there is a ſpecial Providence of GOD converſant about the Removes and Settlements of Miniſters; and one Way or other he will direct thoſe who ſincerely deſire to follow him, into that Way in which he will own them, he will guide them with his Eye. He muſt go ſouthward, to the Way that leads from Jeruſalem to Gaza, through the Deſart or Wilderneſs of Judea. Philip would never have thought of going thither, into a Deſert, into a common Road through the Deſert, ſmall Probability of finding Work there, yet thither he is ſent, according to our Saviour's Parable, foretelling the Call of the Gentiles, Go ye into the High-ways, and the Hedges, Matth. xxii. 9. ſometimes GOD opens a Door of Opportunity to his Miniſters in Places very unlikely.

2. His Obedience to this Direction, v. 27. He aroſe and went without objecting, or ſo much as asking what Buſineſs have I there? Or what Likelyhood of doing Good there? he went out not knowing whither he went, or whom he was to meet.

Secondly, An Account is given of this Eunuch, v. 27. who, and what he was on whom this diſtinguiſhing Favour was beſtow'd.

1. He was a Foreigner; A Man of Ethiopia. There were Two Ethiopias; one in Arabia, but that lay Eaſt from Canaan: It ſhould ſeem this way of Ethiopia in Africk, which lay South, beyond Egypt; a great way from Jeruſalem; for in Chriſt they that were afar off were made nigh, according to the Promiſe, that the Ends of the Earth ſhould ſee the great Salvation. The Ethiopians were look'd upon as the meaneſt and moſt deſpicable of the Nations, Black-Moors, as if Nature had ſtigmatiz'd them, yet the Goſpel is ſent to them, and Divine Grace looketh upon them, tho' they are black, tho' the Sun has look'd upon them.

2. He was a Perſon of Quality, A great Man in his own Country. A Eunuch, not in Body, but in Office, Lord Chamberlain, or Steward of the Houſhould. And either by the Dignity of his Place, or by his perſonal Character which commanded Reſpect, he was of great Authority, and bore a mighty Sway under Candace Queen of the Ethiopians, who probably was Succeſſor to the Queen of Sheba, who is call'd the Queen of the South; That Country being govern'd by Queens to whom Candace was a common Name as Pharaoh to the Kings of Egypt. He had the Charge of all her Treaſure, ſo great a Truſt did ſhe repoſe in him. Not many Mighty, not many Noble are call'd, but ſome are.

3. He was a Proſelyte to the Jewiſh Religion, for he came to Jeruſalem for to worſhip. Some think he was a Proſelyte of Righteouſneſs, that was circumciſed and kept the Feaſts; others that he was only a Proſelyte of the Gate, a Gentile, but that had renounc'd Idolatry, and worſhipped the GOD of Iſrael occaſionally in the Court of the Gentiles. But if ſo, then Peter was not the firſt that preach'd the Goſpel to the Gentiles, as he ſaith he was. Some think there were Remains of the Knowledge of the True GOD in this Country, ever ſince the Queen of Sheba's Time; and probably the Anceſtor of this Eunuch was one of her Attendants, who tranſmitted to his Poſterity what he learn'd at Jeruſalem.

Thirdly, Philip and the Eunuch are brought together into a cloſe Converſation; and now Philip ſhall know the Meaning of his being ſent into a Deſert, for there he meets with a Chariot that ſhall ſerve for a Synagogue, and one Man, the Converſion of whom ſhall be in Effect for ought he knows, the Converſion of a whole Nation.

1. Philip is order'd to fall in Company with this Traveller that's going Home from Jeruſalem towards Gaza, thinking he has done all the Buſineſs of his Journey, when the great Buſineſs which the over-ruling Providence of GOD deſign'd in it, was yet undone. He had been at Jeruſalem, where the Apoſtles were preaching the Chriſtian Faith, and Multitudes profeſſing it, and yet there he had taken no Notice of it, and made no Enquiries after it, nay, it ſhould ſeem had ſlighted it, and turn'd his back upon it, yet the Grace of GOD purſues him, overtakes him in the Deſart, and there overcomes him. Thus GOD is often found of thoſe that ſought him not, Iſa. lxv. 1. Philip has this Order, not by an Angel as before but by the Spirit whiſpering it in his Ear; v. 29. Go near and joyn thy ſelf to this Chariot; Go ſo near that the Gentleman may take Notice of thee. We ſhould ſtudy to do Good to thoſe we light in Company with upon the Road: Thus the Lips of the Righteous may feed many. We ſhould not be ſo ſhy of all Strangers as ſome affect to be Thoſe we know nothing elſe, we know this of, that they have Souls.

2. He finds him reading in his Bible, as he ſate in his Chariot, v. 28. He ran to him and heard him read, he read up, for the Benefit of thoſe that were with him, v. 30. He not only reliev'd the Tediousneſs of the Journey, but redeem'd Time by Reading, not Philoſophy, Hiſtory, or Politicks, much leſs a Romance or a Play, but the Scriptures; the Book of Eſaias; That Book Chriſt read in, Luke iv. 17. And the Eunuch here, which ſhould recommend it particularly to our reading. Perhaps the Eunuch was now reading over again thoſe Portions of Scripture which he had heard read and expounded at Jeruſalem, that he might recollect what he heard. Note, 1. It is the Duty of every one of us to converſe much with the Holy Scriptures. 2. Perſons of Quality ſhould abound more than others in the Exerciſes of Piety, becauſe their Example will influence many, and they have their Time more at Command. 3. 'Tis Wiſdom for Men of Buſineſs to redeem Time for Holy Duties; Time is precious, and it is the beſt Husbandry in the World to gather up the Fragments of Time that none be loſt; to fill up every Minute with ſomething that will turn to good Account. 4. When we are returning from publick Worſhip, we ſhould uſe Means in private for the keeping up of the good Affections there kindled, and the preſerving of the good Impreſſions there made, 1 Chron. xxix. 18. 5. Thoſe that are diligent in ſearching the Scriptures, are in a fair Way to improve in Knowledge; for to him that hath ſhall be given.

3. He puts a fair Queſtion to him, Underſtandeſt thou what thou readeſt? Not by Way of Reproach, but with Deſign to offer him his Service. Note, What we read and hear of the Word of God it highly concerns us to underſtand; eſpecially what we read and here concerning Chriſt; and therefore we ſhould often ask ourſelves, Whether we underſtand it or no? Have ye underſtood all theſe Things? Matth. xiii. 51. And have ye underſtood them aright? We cannot profit by the Scriptures unleſs we do in ſome meaſure underſtand them, 1 Cor. xi. 16, 17. And bleſſed be GOD, what is neceſſary to Salvation, is eaſy to be underſtood.

4. He in a Senſe of his Need of Aſſiſtance, deſires Philip's Company, v. 31. How can I underſtand, ſaith he, except ſome one guide me? therefore pray come up and ſit with me. 1. He ſpeaks as one that had very low Thoughts of himſelf and his own Capacity and Attainments. He was ſo far from taking it as an Affront, to be ask'd, whether he underſtood what he read? tho' Philip was a Stranger, on foot, prabably look'd mean, (which many a leſs Man would have done, and have call'd him an impertinent Fellow, and bid him go about his Buſineſs, What was it to him? that he takes the Queſtion kindly; makes a very modeſt Reply, How can I? We have Reaſon to think he was an intelligent Man, and as well acquainted with the Meaning of Scripture as moſt were, and yet modeſtly confeſſeth his Weakneſs. Note, Thoſe that would learn, muſt ſee their need to be taught. The Phophet muſt firſt own that he knows not what theſe be, and then the Angel will tell him, Zech. iv. 13. 2. He ſpeaks as One very deſirous to be taught, to have ſome One to guide him Obſerve, He read the Scripture, tho' there were many Things in it which he did not underſtand; Tho' there be many Things in the Scriptures which are dark and hard to be underſtood, nay, which are often miſunderſtood, yet we muſt not therefore throw them by; but ſtudy them for the Sake of thoſe Things that are eaſy, which is the likelieſt Way to come by Degrees to the underſtanding oft hoſe Things that are difficult; for Knowledge and Grace grow gradually. 3. He invited Philip to come up and ſit with him; not as Jehu took Jonadab into his Chariot, to Come ſee his Zeal for the Lord of Hoſts, 2 Kings x. 16. but rather, Come, ſee my Ignorance; and inſtruct me. He will gladly do Philip the Honout to take into the Coach with him, if Philip will do him the Favour to expound a Portion of Scripture to him. Note, In order to our right underſtanding of the Scripture, 'tis requiſite we ſhould have ſome One to guide us; ſome good Books, and ſome good Men, but above all, the Spirit of Grace to lead us into all Truth.

Fourthly, The Portion of Scripture which the Eunuch recited, with ſome Hints of Philip's Diſcourſe upon it; The Preachers of the Goſpel had a very good Handle to take hold of thoſe by, that were converſant with the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament, and receiv'd them, eſpecially when they found them actually engag'd in the Study of them, as the Eunuch was here.

1. The Chapter he was reading was the 53d of Iſaiah, two Verſes of which are here quoted, v. 32, 33. Part of the 7th and 8th Verſes; they are ſet down according to the Septuagint Verſion, which in ſome Things differs from the Original Hebrew. Grotius thinks the Eunuch read it in the Hebrew, but Luke takes the Septuagint Tranſlation, as readier to the Language in which he wrote; and he ſuppoſeth that the Eunuch had learn'd from the many Jews that were in Ethiopia both their Religion and Language. But conſidering that the Septuagint Verſion was made in Egypt, which was the next Country adjoyning to Ethiopia, and lay betwixt them and Jeruſalem, I rather think that Tranſlation was moſt familiar to him. It appears by Iſaiah xx. 4. that there was much Communication between thoſe two Nations Egypt and Ethiopia. The greateſt Variation from the Hebrew is, that what in the Orignal is, He was taken from Priſon, and from Judgment, hurry'd with the utmoſt Violence and Precipitation from one Judgment-ſeat to another; Or, From Force and from Judgment he was taken away, i. e. It was from the Fury of the People and their continual Clamours, and the Judgment of Pilate thereupon, that he was taken away; is here read, In his Humiliation his Judgment was taken away; He appear'd ſo mean and deſpicable in their Eye that they deny'd him common Juſtice, and againſt all the Rules of Equity, which every Man is entitled to the Benefit of, they declar'd him Innocent, and yet condemn'd him to dye; nothing criminal can be prov'd upon him, but he is down, and down with him. Thus in his Humiliation his Judgment was taken away; ſo, the Senſe is much the ſame with that of the Hebrew.

So that theſe Verſes foretold concerning the Meſſiah,

1. That he ſhould dye; Should be led to the Slaughter, as Sheep that were offered in Sacrifice. That his Life ſhould be taken from among Men, taken from the Earth. With what little Reaſon then was the Death of Chriſt a Stumbling-block to the Unbelieving Jews, when it was ſo plainly foretold by their own Prophets? and was ſo neceſſary to the Accompliſhment of his Undertaking? Then is the Offence of the Croſs ceaſed.

2. That he ſhould dye wrongfully; Should dye by Violence, ſhould be hurry'd out of his Life, and his Judment ſhall be taken way; no Juſtice done him; for he muſt be cut of, but not for himſelf.

3. That he ſhould die patiently, like a Lamb dumb before the Shearer; nay, and before the Butcher too, ſo He opened not his Mouth; Never was ſuch an Example of Patient as our Lord Jeſus was in his Sufferings; when he was accus'd, when he was abus'd he was ſilent, reviled not again, threaten'd not.

4. That yet he ſhould live for ever, to Ages which cannot be number'd; for ſo I underſtand thoſe Words, Who ſhall declare his Generation? The Hebrew Word properly ſignifies, The Duration of One Life (Eccleſ. i. 4.) Now who can conceive or expreſs how long he ſhall continue notwithſtanding this; for his Life is only taken from the Earth: in Heaven he ſhall live to endleſs and innumerable Ages, as it follows in Iſa. liii. 10. He ſhall prolong his Days.

2. The Eunuch's Queſtion upon this is, Of whom ſpeaketh the Prophet this? v. 34. He doth not deſire Philip to give him ſome critical Remarks upon the Words and Phraſes, and the Idioms of the Language, but to acquaint him with the general Scope and Deſign of the Prophecy, to furniſh him with a Key, in the Uſe of which he might, by comparing one Thing with another, be let into the Meaning of the particular Paſſages. Prophecies had uſually in them ſomething of Obſcurity, till they were explain'd by the Accompliſhment of them, as this now was. 'Tis a material Queſtion he asks, and a very ſenſible one; Doth the Prophet ſpeak this of himſelf? in Expectation of being us'd, being miſus'd, as the other Prophets were? Or, doth he ſpeak it of ſome other Man, in his own Age, or in ſome Age to come. 'Tho the Modern Jews will not allow it to be ſpoken of the Meſſiah, yet their ancient Doctors did ſo interpret it; and perhaps the Eunuch knew it, and did, partly underſtand it ſo himſelf, only he propos'd this Queſtion to draw on Diſcourſe with Philip; for the Way to improve in Learning, is to conſult the learned; As they muſt enquire the Law at the Mouth of the Prieſts, Mal. ii. 7. ſo they muſt enquire the Goſpel, eſpecially that Part of the Treaſure which is hid in the Field of the Old Teſtament, at the Mouth of the Miniſters of Chriſt. The Way to receive good Inſtructions, is to ask good Queſtions.

3. Philip takes this fair Occaſion given him, to open to him the great Myſtery of the Goſpel concerning Jeſus Chriſt, and him crucify'd. He began at this Scripture, took that for his Text (as Chriſt did another Paſſage of the ſame Prophecy, Luke iv. 21.) and preached unto him Jeſus, v. 34. That's all the Account given us of Philip's Sermon, becauſe it was the ſame in Effect with Peter's Sermons, which we have had before. The Buſineſs of Goſpel Miniſters, is to preach Jeſus, and that's the Preaching that's likely to do Good. 'Tis probable, Philip had now Occaſion for his Gift of Tongues, that he might preach Chriſt to this Ethiopian in the Language of his own Country. And here we have an Inſtance of ſpeaking of the Things of GOD, and ſpeaking of them to good Purpoſe, not only as we ſit in the Houſe, but as we walk by the Way, according to that Rule, Deut. vi. 7.

Fifthly, The Eunuch is baptis'd in the Name of Chriſt, v. 36, 37, 38. It is probable, the Eunuch had heard at Jeruſalem of the Doctrine of Chriſt, ſo that it was not altogether new to him; But if he had, what could that do towards this ſpeedy Conqueſt that was made of his Heart for Chriſt? It was a powerful working of the Spirit with, and by Philip's Preaching, that gain'd the Point. Now here we have

1. The modeſt Propoſal which the Eunuch made of himſelf to Baptiſm, v. 36. As they went on their Way diſcourſing of Chriſt, the Eunuch asking more Queſtions, and Philip anſwering them to his Satisfaction, they came unto a certain Water, a Well, River, or Pond, the Sight of which made the Eunuch thing of being baptiz'd. Thus GOD by Hints of Providence which ſeem caſual, ſometimes puts People in Mind of their Duty, which otherwiſe perhaps they would not have thought of. The Eunuch knew not how little a While Philip might be with him, nor where he might afterwards enquire for him; he could not expect his travelling with him to his next Stage, and therefore if Philip think fit, he will take the preſent Convenience which offers it ſelf of being baptiz'd, See here is Water, which perhaps we may not meet a great While again, What doth hinder me to be baptiz'd? Canſt thou ſhew any Cauſe why I ſhould not be admitted a Diſciple and Follower of Chriſt by Baptiſm. Obſerve, 1. He doth not demand Baptiſm, doth not ſay, Here is Water, and here I am reſolv'd I will be baptis'd; for if Philip have any Thing to offer to the contrary, he is willing to wave it for the preſent. If he think him not fit to be baptiz'd, or if there be any Thing in the Inſtitution of the Ordinance which will not admit ſuch a ſpeedy Adminiſtration of it, he will not inſiſt upon it. The moſt forward Zeal muſt ſubmit to Order and Rule. But, (2.) He doth deſire it, and unleſs Philip can ſhew Cauſe why not, he deſires it now, and is not willing to defer it. Note, In the ſolemn Dedicating and Devoting of our ſelves to GOD, 'tis good to make haſte and not to delay; for the preſent Time, is the beſt Time Pſ. cxix. 63. They who have receiv'd the Thing ſignify'd by Baptiſm, ſhould not put off receiving the Sign. The Eunuch fear'd leſt the good Affections now working in him ſhould cool and abate, and therefore was willing preſently to bind his Soul with the baptiſmal Bonds unto the LORD, that he might bring the Matter to an Iſſue.

2. The fair Declaration which Philip made him of the Terms upon which he might have the Privilege of Baptiſm, v. 37. If thou believeſt with all thine Heart, thou may'ſt, i. e. If thou believeſt this Doctrine which I have preach'd to thee concerning him, and ſet to thy Seal that it is true. He muſt believe with all his Heart, for with the Heart Man believeth, not with the Head only, by an Aſſent to Goſpel Truths, in the Underſtanding; but with the Heart by a Conſent of the Will to Goſpel Terms. If thou do indeed believe with all thy Heart, thou art by that united to Chriſt, and if thou give Proofs and Evidences that thou doſt ſo, thou may'ſt by Baptiſm be joyn'd to the Church.

The Confeſſion of Faith which the Eunuch made in order to his being baptiz'd; 'Tis very ſhort, but 'tis comprehenſive, and much to the Purpoſe, and what was ſufficient, I believe that Jeſus Chriſt is the Son of GOD. He was before a Worſhipper of the True GOD, ſo that all he had to do now, was to receive Chriſt Jeſus the LORD. (1.) He believes that Jeſus is the Chriſt, the true Meſſiah promiſ'd, the Anointed One. (2.) That Chriſt is Jeſus, a Saviour, the alone Saviour of his People from their Sins. And (3.) That this Jeſus Chriſt is the Son of GOD, that he has a Divine Nature, as the Son is of the ſame Nature with the Father; and that being the Son of GOD, he is the Heir of all Things. This is the principal peculiar Doctrine of Chriſtianity, and whoſoever believes this with all their Heart, and confeſs it, they and their Seed are to be baptiz'd.

4. The Baptizing of him hereupon; The Eunuch order'd his Coachman to ſtop, commanded the Chariot to ſtand ſtill, 'twas the beſt Baiting place he ever met with in any of his Journies; They went down both into the Water, for they had no convenient Veſſels with them being upon a Journey, wherewith to take up Water, and muſt therefore go down into it; not that they ſtript off their Clothes, and went naked into the Water, but going bare-foot according to the Cuſtom, they went perhaps up to the Ancles or Mid-leg into the Water, and Philip ſprinkled Water upon him, according to the Prophecy which this Eunuch had probably but juſt now read, (for it was but a few Verſes before thoſe which Philip found him upon) and was very oppoſite to his Caſe Iſa. lii. 15. So ſhall he ſprinkle many Nations, Kings and Great Men ſhall ſhut their Mouths at him, ſhall ſubmit to him, and acquieſce in him, for that which had not before been told them ſhall they ſee, and that which they had not heard ſhall they conſider. Obſerve, Tho' Philip had very lately been deceiv'd in Simon Magus, and had admitted him to Baptiſm tho' he afterwards appear'd to be no true Convert, yet he did not therefore ſcruple to baptize the Eunuch upon his Profeſſion of Faith immediately, without putting him upon a longer Trial than uſual. If ſome Hypocrites croud into the Church that afterwards prove a Grief and Scandal to us, yet we muſt not therefore make the Door of Admiſſion any ſtraiter than Chriſt has made it; they ſhall anſwer for their Apoſtacy, and not we.

Sixthly, Philip and the Eunuch are parted preſently; and this is as ſurprizing as the other Parts of the Story. One would have expected that the Eunuch ſhould either have ſtaid with Philip, or have taken him along with him into his own Country, and there being ſo many Miniſters in theſe Parts he might be ſpar'd, and it would be worth While: but GOD order'd otherwiſe; as ſoon as they were come up out of the Water, before the Eunuch went into his Chariot again, the Spirit of the LORD caught away Philip. v. 39. and did not give him Time to make an Exhortation to the Eunuch, as uſual after Baptiſm, which 'tis probable the One intended, and the Other expected; but his ſudden Departure was ſufficient to make up the Want of that Exhortation, for it ſeems to have been miraculous, and that he was caught up in the Air in the Eunuch's Sight, and ſo carry'd out of his Sight; and the working of this Miracle upon Philip, was a Confirmation of his Doctrine, as much as the working of a Miracle by him would have been. He was caught away, and the Eunuch ſaw him no more; but having loſt his Miniſter return'd to the Uſe of his Bible again. Now here we are told,

1. How the Eunuch was diſpos'd; He went on his Way rejoycing. He purſu'd his Journey, Buſineſs call'd him Home, and he muſt haſten to it; for it was no Way inconſiſtent with his Chriſtianity, which places no Sanctity or Perfection in Mens being Hermits or Recluſes, but is a Religion which Men may, and ought to carry about with them into the Affairs of this Life. But he went on rejoycing; ſo far was he from reflecting upon this ſudden Reſolution, and Change, or Advancement rather, in his Religion, with any Regret, that his ſecond Thoughts confirm'd him abundantly in it, and he went on rejoycing with Joy unſpeakable and full of Glory; he was never better pleas'd in all his Life. (1.) He rejoyc'd that he himſelf was joyn'd to Chriſt, and had an Intereſt in him. And (2.) That he had theſe good Tydings to bring to his Country-men, and a Proſpect of bringing them alſo, by Virtue of his Intereſt among them, into Fellowſhip with Chriſt; for he return'd not only a Chriſtian but a Miniſter. And ſome Copies read this Verſe thus; And when they were come up out of the Water, the Holy Spirit fell upon the Eunuch; (without the Ceremony of the Apoſtle's Impoſition of Hands) but the Angel of the LORD caught away Philip.

2. How Philip was diſpos'd of v. 40. He was found at Azotus, or Aſhdod, formerly a City of the Philiſtines, there the Angel or Spirit of the LORD drop'd him, which was above Thirty Miles from Gaza, whither the Eunuch was going; and where Dr. Lightfoot thinks he took Ship, and went by Sea into his own Country. But Philip wherever he was would not be idle, Paſſing through he preach in all the Cities till he came to Cæſarea, and there he ſettled, and for ought appears, had his principal Reſidence ever after; for at Cæſarea we find him in a Houſe of his own, Acts. xx. 8. He that had been faithful in Working for Chriſt as an Itinerant, at length gains a Settlement.

CHAP. IX.

In this Chapter we have, 1. The famous Story of St. Paul's Converſion from being an outragious Perſecutor of the Goſpel of Chriſt, to be an illuſtrious Profeſſor and Preacher of it. (1.) How he was firſt awaken'd and wrought upon by an Appearance of Chriſt himſelf to him as he was going upon an Errand of Perſecution to Damaſcus; and what Condition he was in while he lay under the Power of thoſe Convictions and Terrors, v. 1—9. (2.) How he was baptiz'd by Ananias, by immediate Directions from Heaven, v. 10, 19. (3.) How he immediately commenc'd Doctor, and preach'd the Faith of Chriſt, and prov'd what he preach'd, v. 20—22. (4.) How he was perſecuted, and narrowly eſcap'd with his Life, v. 23—25. (5.) How he was admitted among the Brethren at Jeruſalem, how he preach'd and was perſecuted there, v. 16—30. (6.) The Reſt and Quietneſs which the Churches enjoy'd for ſome Time after this, v. 31, 2. The Cure wrought by Peter on Æneas, who had long been laid up of a Palſy, v. 32—35. 3. The raiſing of Tabitha from Death to Life, at the Prayer of Peter, v. 36—43.

AND Saul yet breathing out threatnings and ſlaughter againſt the diſciples of the Lord, went unto the high prieſt, 2 And deſired of him letters to Damaſcus to the ſynagogues, that if he found any of this way, whether they were men or women, he might bring them bound unto Jeruſalem. 3 And as he journeyed he came near Damaſcus: and ſuddenly there ſhined round about him a light from heaven, 4 And he fell to the earth, and heard a voice, ſaying unto him, Saul, Saul, why perſecuteſt thou me? 5 And he ſaid, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord ſaid, I am Jeſus, whom thou perſecuted: It is hard for thee to kick againſt the pricks. 6 And he trembling and aſtoniſhed, ſaid, Lord, what wilt thou have me to do? And the Lord ſaid unto him, Ariſe, and go into the city, and it ſhall be told thee what thou muſt do. 7 And the men which journeyed with him, ſtood ſpeechleſs, hearing a voice, but ſeeing no man. 8 And Saul aroſe from the earth; and when his eyes were opened, he ſaw no man, but they led him by the hand, and brought him into Damaſcus. 9 And he was three days without ſight, and neither did eat nor drink.

We found Mention made of Saul twice or thrice in the Story of Stephen, for the ſacred Penman even long'd to come to his Story; and now we are come to it, not quite taking Leave of Peter, but from hence-forward being moſtly taken up with Paul the Apoſtle of the Gentiles, as Peter was of the Circumciſſion. His Name in Hebrew was Saul, deſir'd, tho' as remarkably little in Stature, as his Name-ſake King Saul was tall and ſtately; One of the Ancients call him Homo tricubitalis, but four Foot and a half in Height; his Roman Name which he went by among the Citizens of Rome, was Paul, Little. He was born in Tarſus, a City of Cilicia, a Free City of the Romans, and himſelf a Freeman of that City. His Father and Mother were both Native Jews, therefore he calls himſelf a Hebrew of the Hebrews; he was of the Tribe of Benjamin, which adher'd to Judah. His Education was in the Schools of Tarſus firſt, which was a little Athens for Learning; there he acquainted himſelf with the Philoſophy and Poetry of the Greeks. Thence he was ſent to the Univerſity at Jeruſalem, to ſtudy Divinity and the Jewiſh Law; his Tutor was Gamaliel an eminent Phariſee; he had extraordinary natural Parts, and improv'd mightily in Learning; he had likewiſe a Handy-craft Trade, was bred to Tent-making; which was common with thoſe among the Jews that were bred Scholars (as Dr. Lightfoot ſaith) for the Earning of their Maintenance. and the Avoiding of Idleneſs.

This is the young Man on whom the Grace of GOD wrought this mighty Change here recorded, about a Year after the Aſcenſion of Chriſt, or little more. We are here told,

Firſt, How bad he was, how very bad, before his Converſion; juſt before, he was an inveterate Enemy to Chriſtianity, did his utmoſt to root it out, by perſecuting all that embrac'd it. In other Reſpects he was well enough, as touching the Righteouſneſs which is of the Law, blameleſs, a Man of no ill Morals, but a Blaſphemer of Chriſt, a Perſecutor of Chriſtians, and injurous to both, 1 Tim. xiii. And ſo ill inform'd was his Conſcience, that he thought he ought to do what he did againſt the Name of Chriſts Acts xxvi. 9. and that he did God Service in it, as was fortold, John xvi. 2. Here we have,

1. His general Enmity and Rage againſt the Chriſtian Religion, v. 1. He yet breath'd out Threatnings and Slaughter againſt the Diſciples of the Lord. The Perſons perſecuted, were the Diſciples of the Lord, becauſe they were ſo; under that Character he hated and perſecuted them; the Matter of the Perſecution was Threatnings and Slaughter. There is Perſecution in Threatning, as Acts iv. 17, 21. it terrifies the Spirit, and breaks that: And tho' we ſay, Threaten'd Folks Live long; yet thoſe whom Saul threaten'd, if he prevail'd not thereby to frighten them from Chriſt, he ſlew them; he perſecuted them to Death, Acts xxii. 4. His breathing out Threatning and Slaughter, intimates that it was natural to him, and his conſtant Buſineſs, he even breath'd in this, as in his Element; he breath'd it out with Heat and Vehemence, his very Breath, like that of ſome venomous Creatures, was peſtilential, he breath'd Death to the Chriſtians wherever he came; he puffed at them in his Pride, Pſ. xii. 5. ſpit his Venom at them in his Rage. Saul yet breathing thus; it intimates, 1. That he ſtill perſiſted in it; not ſatisfy'd with the Blood of thoſe he had ſlain, ſtill he cries, Give, Give. 2. That he ſhall ſhortly be of another Mind; as yet he breathes out Threatnings and Slaughter, but he has not long to live ſuch a life as this, that Breath will be ſtop'd ſhortly.

2. His particular Deſign upon the Chriſtians, at Damaſcus: Thither was the Goſpel now lately carry'd by thoſe that fled from the Perſecution at Stephen's Death, and thought to be ſafe and quiet there, and were conniv'd at by thoſe in Power there: But Saul cannot be eaſy if he knows a Chriſtian is quiet; and therefore hearing that the Chriſtians in Damaſcus were ſo, he reſolves to give them Diſturbance. In order to this, he applies himſelf to the High-Prieſt for a Commiſſion, v. 1. to go to Damaſcus, v. 2. The High-Prieſt needed not to be ſtirr'd up to perſecute the Chriſtians, he was forward enough of himſelf to do it; But it ſeems the young Perſecutor drove more furiouſly than the old One. Leaders in Sin are the worſt of Sinners: And the Proſelytes which the Scribes and Phariſees make, often prove ſeven Times more the Children of Hell than themſelves. He ſaith, Acts xxii. 5. that this Commiſſion was had from the Whole Eſtate of the Elders. And proud enough this furious Bigot was, to have a Commiſſion to him directed, with the Seal of the Great Sanhedrin affix'd to it.

Now the Commiſſion was to impower him to enquire among the Synagogues or Congregations of the Jews that were at Damaſcus, Whether there were any that belong'd to them that inclin'd to favour this new Sect or Hereſy, that believ'd in Chriſt? and if he found any ſuch, whether Men or Women, to bring them up Priſoners to Jeruſalem, to be proceeded againſt according to Law by the Great Council there. Obſerve, (1.) The Chriſtians are here ſaid to be thoſe of this Way; thoſe of the Way; ſo 'tis in the Original, Perhaps the Chriſtians ſometimes call'd themſelves ſo, from Chriſt The Way; Or becauſe they look'd on themſelves as but in the Way, and not as yet at home. Or, the Enemies thus repreſented it as a Way by himſelf, a By-way, a Party, a Faction. (2.) The High-Prieſt and Sanhedrin claim'd a Power over the Jews in all Countries, and had a Deference paid to their Authorty in Matters of Religion by all their Synagogues, even thoſe that were not of the Juriſdiction of the Civil Goverment of the Jewiſh Nation. And ſuch a Sovereignty the Roman Pontiff now claims, as the Jewiſh Pontiff then did, tho' he has not ſo much to ſhew for it. (3.) By this Commiſſion all that worſhipp'd GOD in the Way that they call'd Hereſy, tho' agreeing exactly with the Original Inſtitutes, even of the Jewiſh Church, whether they were Men or Woman, were to be proſecuted. Even the weaker Sex, who in a Caſe of this Nature, might deſerve Excuſe, or at leaſt Compaſſion, ſhall find neither with Saul no more than they do with the Popiſh Perſecutors. (4.) He was order'd to bring them all bound to Jeruſalem, as Criminals of the firſt Magnitude; which, as it would be the more likely to terrify them, ſo it would be to magnify Saul, as having the Command of the Forces that were to carry them up, and Opportunity of breathing out Threatnings and Slaughter. Thus was Saul employ'd when the Grace of GOD wrought that great Change in him. Let not us then deſpair of renewing Grace for the Converſion of the greateſt Sinners, nor let ſuch deſpair of the pardoning Mercy of GOD for the greateſt Sin; for Paul himſelf obtain'd Mercy, that he might be a Monument, 1 Tim. i. 13.

Secondly, How ſuddenly and ſtrangely a bleſſed Change was wrought in him, not in the Uſe of any ordinary Means, but by Miracles. The Converſion of Paul, is one of the Wonders of the Church. Here in,

(1.) The Place and Time of it; As he journeyed he came near to Damaſcus; and there Chriſt met with him.

1. He was in the Way, travelling upon his Journey, not in the Temple, or the Synagogue, or in the Meeting of Chriſtians, but by the Way, The Work of Converſion is not ty'd to the Church, tho' ordinarily publick Adminiſtrations are made Uſe of. Some are reclaim'd in Slumberings on the Bed, Job xxxiii. 15, 16, 17. And ſometimes in travelling upon the Road alone. Thoughts are as free, and there is as good an Opportunity of communing with our own Hearts, as upon the Bed; and there the Spirit may ſet with us; for that Wind blows where is liſteth. Some obſerve that Saul was ſpoken to abroad in the open Air, that there might be no Suſpicion of Impoſture, or a Trick put upon him in it.

He was near Damaſcus, almoſt at his Journey's End, ready to enter the City, the chief City, of Syria. Some obſerve, that he who was to be the Apoſtle of the Gentiles, was converted to the Faith of Chriſt in a Gentile Country. Damaſcus had been famous for perſecuting GOD's People formerly, they threſhed in Gilead with threſhing Inſtruments of Iron, Amos i. 3. and now it was likely to be ſo again.

2. He was in a wicked Way; purſuing his Deſign againſt the Chriſtians at Damaſcus, and pleaſing himſelf with the Thought that he ſhould devour this new-born Child of Chriſtianity there. Note, Sometimes the Grace of GOD works upon Sinners when they are at the worſt, and hotly engag'd in the moſt deſperate ſinful Purſuits; which is much for the Glory both of GOD's Pity, and of his Power.

4. The cruel Edict and Decree he had with him, drew near to be put in Execution: And now it was happily prevented. Which may be conſider'd, (1.) As a great Kindneſs to the poor Saints at Damaſcus, who had Notice of his coming, as appears by what Ananias ſaid, v. 13. 14. and were apprehenſive of their Danger from him, and trembled as poor Lambs at the Approach of a ravening Wolf; Saul's Converſion was their Security for the preſent. Chriſt has many Ways of delivering the Godly out of Temptation, and ſometimes doth it by a Change wrought in their Perſecutors, either reſtraining their wrathful Spirits, Pſ. lxxvi. 10. and mollifying them for a Time, as the Old Teſtament Saul, who relented towards David more than once, 1 Sam. xxiv. 16. xxvi. 21. Or, renewing their Spirits, and fixing upon them durable Impreſſions, as upon the New Teſtament Saul here. (2.) It was alſo a very great Mercy to Saul himſelf to be hinder'd from executing his wicked Deſign, in which if he had now proceeded perhaps it had been the filling up of the Meaſure of his Iniquity. Note, It is to be valu'd as a ſignal Token of the Divine Favour, if GOD either by the inward Operations of his Grace, or the outward Occurrences of his Providence prevent us from proſecuting and executing a ſinful Purpoſe, 1 Sam. xxv. 32.

(2.) The Appearance of Chriſt to him in his Glory: Here it is only ſaid, That there ſhined round about him a Light from Heaven: But it appears by what follows, v. 17. that the Lord Jeſus was in this Light, and appear'd to him by the Way. He ſaw that Juſt One, Acts xxii. 14. and ſee Acts xxvi. 13. whether he ſaw him at a Diſtance as Stephen ſaw him, in the Heavens, or nearer in the Air, is not certain. It is not inconſiſtent with what is ſaid of the Heavens receiving Chriſt till the End of Time, Acts iii. 21. to ſuppoſe that he did upon ſuch an extraordinary Occaſion as this make a perſonal Viſit, but a very ſhort one, to this lower World; 'Twas neceſſary to Paul's being an Apoſtle, that he ſhould have ſeen the Lord, and ſo he did, 1 Cor. ix. 1. xv. 8.

1. This Light ſhined upon him ſuddenly, ἐξαίφνης, when Paul never thought of any ſuch Thing, and without any previous Warning. Chriſt's Manifeſtations of himſelf to poor Souls, are many Times ſudden and very ſurprizing, and He prevents them with the Bleſſing of his Goodneſs. This the Diſciples that Chriſt call'd to himſelf found. Or, ever I was aware, Cant. vi. 12.

2. 'Twas a Light from Heaven, the Fountain of Light, from the GOD of Heaven, the Father of Lights. 'Twas a Light above the brightneſs of the Sun, Acts xxvi. 13. for it was viſible at Mid-Day, and outſhone the Sun in his Meridian Strength and Luſtre, Iſa. xxiv. 23.

3. It ſhone round about him, not in his Face only, but on every ſide him; let him turn which way he will, he finds himſelf ſurrounded with the Diſcoveries of it. And this was deſign'd not only to ſtartle him, and awaken his Attention, for well may he expect to hear, when he is thus made to ſee ſomething very extraordinary; But to ſignify the enlightning of his Underſtanding with the Knowledge of Chriſt. The Devil comes to the Soul in Darkneſs, by it he gets and keeps Poſſeſſion of it. But Chriſt comes to the Soul in Light, for he is himſelf the Light of the World, bright and glorious in himſelf, beneficial and gracious to us as Light. The firſt Thing in this new Creation, as in that of the World, is Light, 2 Cor. iv. 6. Hence all Chriſtians are ſaid to be the Children of the Light and of the Day, Eph. v. 5.

(3.) The Arreſting of Saul, and his Attachment, he fell to the Earth, v. 4. ſome think he was on Foot, and this Light which perhaps was accompained with a Thunder Clap, ſo terrify'd him that he could not keep his Feet, but fell upon his Face, uſually a Poſture of Adoration, but here of Aſtoniſhment. 'Tis probable that he was mounted, as Balaam, when he went to curſe Iſrael, and perhaps better mounted than he; for Saul was now in a publick Poſt, was in haſte, and the Journey was long, ſo that 'tis not likely he ſhould travel on Foot. The ſudden Light would frighten the Beaſt he rode on, and make it throw him: And it was GOD's good Providence that his Body got no Hurt by the Fall, but Angels had a particular Charge concerning him to keep all his Bones, ſo that not one of them was broken. It appears Acts xxvi. 14. that all that were with him fell to the Earth as well as he. But the Deſign was upon him.

1. As the Effect of Chriſt's Appearing to him, and of the Light which ſhone round about him. Note, Chriſt's Manifeſtation of himſelf to poor Souls, are humbling, they lay them very low, in mean Thoughts of themſelves, and an humble Submiſſion to the Will of GOD. Now mind Eye ſees thee, ſaith Job, I abhor my ſelf. I ſaw the Lord, ſaith Iſaiah, ſitting upon a Throne, And I ſaid, Woe is me for I am undone.

2. As a Step toward his intended Advancement. He is deſign'd not only to be a Chriſtian, but to be a Miniſter, and Apoſtle, a great Apoſtle, and therefore he muſt thus be caſt down. Note, Thoſe whom Chriſt deſigns for the greateſt Honours, are commonly firſt laid low. Thoſe that are deſign'd to excell in Knowledge and Grace, are commonly laid low firſt, in a Senſe of their own Ignorance and Sinfulneſs. Thoſe whom GOD will employ, and firſt ſtruck with a Senſe of their Unworthineſs to be employ'd.

(4.) The Arraigning of Saul. Being by the Fall taken into Cuſtody, and as it were ſet to the Bar, he heard a Voice ſaying to him, (and it was diſtinguiſhing to him only, for tho' they that were with him heard a Sound, v. 7. yet they knew not the Words, Chap. xxii. 9.) Saul, Saul, Why perſecuteſt thou me? Obſerve here,

1. Saul not only ſaw a Light from Heaven, but heard a Voice from Heaven; Where-ever the Glory of GOD was ſeen, the Word of GOD was heard, as Exod. xx. 18. and to Moſes, Num. vii. 6. and to the Prophets; GOD's Manifeſtations of himſelf were never dumb Shews, for he magnifies his Word above all his Name, and what was ſeen was always deſign'd to make Way for what was ſaid. Saul heard a Voice. Note, Faith comes by hearing; hence the Spirit is ſaid to be receiv'd by the hearing of Faith, Gal. iii. 2. The Voice he heard was the Voice of Chriſt: when he ſaw that juſt One, he heard the Voice of his Mouth, Acts xxii. 14. Note, Then the Word we hear is likely to profit us when we hear it as the Voice of Chriſt, 1 Theſ. ii. 13 It is the Voice of my Beloved; No Voice but his can reach the Heart. Seeing and Hearing are the two learning Senſes, Chriſt here by both thoſe Doors enter'd into Saul's Heart.

2. What he heard was very awakening.

1. He was call'd by his Name, and that doubled, Saul, Saul, ſome think in calling him Saul, he Hints at that great Perſecuter of David, whoſe Name he bore. He was indeed a ſecond Saul, and ſuch an Enemy to the Son of David, as he was to David. Calling him by his Name intimates the particular Regard that Chriſt had to him, I have ſirnamed thee tho' thou haſt not known me. Iſa. xlv. 4. ſee Exod. xxxiii. 12. His calling him by Name, brought the Conviction home to his Conſcience, and put it paſt Diſpute to whom the Voice ſpoke this. Note, what GOD ſpeaks in general is then likely to do us good when we apply it to ourſelves, and inſert our own Names into the Precepts and Promiſes which are expreſs'd generally; as if GOD ſpoke to us by Name, and when he ſaith Ho every one, he had ſaid Ho ſuch a one; Samuel, Samuel, Saul, Saul.

The doubling of it Saul, Saul, intimates (1.) The deep Sleep that Saul was in, he needed to be call'd again and again, as Jer. xxii. 29. O Earth, Earth, Earth. (2.) The tender Concern that the Bleſſed Jeſus had for him, and for his Recovery; He ſpeaks as one in earneſt, 'tis like Martha, Martha, Luke, x. 41. or Simon, Simon, Duke xxii. 31. or O Jeruſalem, Jeruſalem, Matth. xxii. 37. He ſpeaks to him as to one in imminent Danger, at the Pit's brink, and juſt ready to droy in; Saul, Saul, doſt thou know whither thou art going, and what thou art doing.

2. The Charge exhibited againſt him is, Why perſecuteſt thou me? Obſerve here, 1. Before Saul is made a Saint, he is made to ſee himſelf a Sinner, a great Sinner, a Sinner againſt Chriſt. Now he was made to ſee that Evil by himſelf which he never ſaw before, Sin reviv'd and he dy'd. Note. A humbling Conviction of Sin is the firſt Step towards a ſaving Converſion from Sin. 2. He is convinc'd of one particular Sin, which he was moſt notoriouſly guilty of, and had juſtify'd himſelf in, and thereby Way is made for his Conviction of all the reſt. 3. The Sin he is convic'd of is Perſecution, Why perſecuteſt thou me. 'Tis a very affectionate Expoſtulation, enough to melt a Heart of Stone. Obſerve 1. The Perſon ſinning; 'tis thou; thou that art not one of the ignorant, rude, unthinking Croud, that will run down any Thing that they hear put into an ill Name, but thou haſt had a liberal, learned Education, haſt good Parts and Accompliſhments, haſt the knowledge of the Scriptures, which if duly conſider'd, would ſhew thee the Folly of it. 'Tis worſe in thee than in another. 2. The Perſon ſinn'd againſt; 'Tis Me, who never did thee any Harm, who came from Heaven to Earth to do thee Good; who was not long ſince crucify'd for thee, and was not that enough, but muſt I afreſh be crucify'd by thee? 3. The Kind and Continuance of the Sin. 'Twas Perſecution, and he was at this Time engag'd in it: not only thou haſt perſecuted, but thou perſecuteſt, thou perſiſteſt in it. He was not at this Time haling any to Priſon, killing them. But that was the Errand he came upon to Damaſcus; he was now projecting it, and pleaſing himſelf with the Thought of it. Note, They that are deſigning Miſchief, are in GOD's Account doing Miſchief. 4. The Queſtion put to him upon it, Why doſt thou do it. (1.) 'Tis complaining Language; Why dealeſt thou thus unjuſtly, thus unkindly with my Diſciples. Chriſt never complain'd ſo much of thoſe who perſecuted him in his own Perſon, as He did here of thoſe who perſecuted him in his Followers. He complains of it as it was Saul's Sin, Why art thou ſuch an Enemy to thy Self, to thy GOD. Note, The Sins of Sinners are a very grievous Burthen to the Lord Jeſus. He is grieved for them, Mark iii. 5. he is preſſed under them. Amos ii. 12. (2.) 'Tis convincing Language; Why doſt thou thus? canſt thou give any good Reaſon for it? Note, 'Tis good for us often to ask ourſelves Why we do ſo and ſo? that we may diſcern what an unreaſonable Thing Sin is. And of all Sins none ſo unreaſonable, ſo unaccountable, as the Sin of perſecuting the Diſciples of Chriſt, eſpecially when it is diſcover'd to be, as certainly it is, perſecuting Chriſt. Thoſe have no Knowledge who eat up God's People, Pſal. xiv. 4. Why perſecuteſt thou me? he thought he was only perſecuting a Company of poor, weak, ſilly People, that were an Offence and Eye-ſore to the Phariſees, little imagining that it was one in Heaven that he was all this while inſulting; for ſurely if he had known he would not have perſecuted the Lord of Glory. Note, Thoſe who perſecute the Saints, perſecute Chriſt himſelf, and he takes what's done againſt them, as done againſt himſelf, and accordingly will be the Judgment in the great Day, Matth. xxv. 45.

(5.) Saul's Queſtion upon his Indictment, and the Reply to it, v. 5.

1. He makes Enquiry concerning Chriſt. Who art thou Lord? he give no direct Anſwer to the Charge prefer'd againſt him, being convicted by his own Conſcience, and ſelf-condemn'd. If GOD contend with us for our Sins, we are not able to anſwer for one of a Thouſand, eſpecially ſuch a one as the Sin of Perſecution. Convictions of Sin when they are ſet home with Power upon the Conſcience, will ſilence all Excuſes, and ſelf Juſtifications. Tho' I were Righteous yet would I not anſwer. But he deſires to know who is his Judge; The Compellation is reſpectful. Lord; he who had been a Blaſphemer of Chriſt's Name, now ſpeaks to Him as his Lord. The Queſtion is proper, Who art thou? This implies his preſent Unacquaintedneſs with Chriſt, he knew not his Voice as his own Sheep do; But he deſires to be acquainted with him; he is convinc'd by this Light which encloſeth him, that 'tis one from Heaven that ſpeaks to him, and he has a Veneration for every Thing that appears to him to come from Heaven, and therefore, Lord who art thou? What is thy Name? Jud. xiii. 17. Gen. xxxii. 29. Note, There is then ſome Hopes of People when they begin to enquire after Jeſus Chriſt.

2. He has an Anſwer immediately, in which we have,

1. Chriſt's gracious Revelation of himſelf to him. He is always ready to anſwer the ſerious Enquiries of thoſe who covet an Acquaintance with him. I am Jeſus whom thou perſecuteſt. The Name of Jeſus was not unknown to him, his Heart had riſen at it many a Time, and gladly would he bury it in Oblivion, he knew it was the Name that he perſecuted, but little did he think to hear it from Heaven, or from the Midſt of ſuch a Glory as now ſhone round about him. Note, Chriſt brings Souls into Fellowſhip with himſelf, by manifeſting himſelf to them. He ſaid (1.) I am Jeſus, a Saviour. I am Jeſus of Nazareth, ſo it is Acts xxii. 8. Saul us'd to call him ſo when he blaſphem'd him; I am that very Jeſus whom thou uſedſt to call in Scorn Jeſus of Nazareth. And he would ſhew that now he is in Glory, he is not aſham'd of his Humiliation. (2.) I am that Jeſus whom thou perſecuteſt, and therefore it is at thy Peril if thou perſiſt in this wicked Courſe. There is nothing more effectual to awaken and humble the Soul, than to ſee Sin to be againſt Chriſt, an Affront to him, and a contradiction to his Deſigns.

2. His gentle Reproof of him. It is hard for thee to kick againſt the Pricks, or Goads; to ſpurn at the Spur. It is hard, i. e. it is in itſelf an abſure and evil Thing, and will be of fatal Conſequence to him that doth it. Thoſe kick at the Goad that ſtifle and ſmother the Convictions of Conſcience, that rebel againſt GOD's Truths, and Laws, that quarrel with his Providences, and that perſecute and oppoſe his Miniſters, becauſe they reprove them, and their Words are as Goads and as Nails. They that revolt more and more when they are ſtricken by the Word or Rod of GOD, that are enrag'd at Reproofs and fly in the Face of their Reprovers, they kick againſt the pricks, and will have a deal to anſwer for.

(6.) His Surrender of himſelf to the Lord Jeſus at length, v. 6. See here,

1. The Frame and Temper he was in, when Chriſt had been dealing with him. (1.) He trembled as one in a great Fright. Note, Strong Convictions ſet home by the bleſſed Spirit, will make an awaken'd Soul to tremble. How can thoſe chuſe but tremble, that are made to ſee the Eternal GOD provok'd againſt them, the whole Creation at War with them, and their own Souls upon the Brink of Ruin. (2.) He was aſtoniſh'd, was fill'd with Amazement, as one brought into a new World, that knew not where he was. Note, The convincing converting Work of Chriſt is aſtoniſhing to the awaken'd Soul, and fills it with Admiration. What is this that GOD has done with me? And what will he do?

2. His Addreſs to Jeſus Chriſt when he was in this Frame, Lord, What wilt thou have me to do? which may be taken, (1.) As a ſerious Requeſt for Chriſt's Teachings. Lord I ſee I have hitherto been out of the Way, Thou that haſt ſhewed me my Error ſet me to rights; Thou that haſt diſcovered Sin to me, diſcover to me the Way to Pardon and Peace; 'tis like that, Men and Brethren, What muſt we do? Note, A ſerious Deſire to be inſtructed by Chriſt in the Way of Salvation, is an Evidence of a good Work begun in the Soul. Or, (2.) As a ſincere Reſignation of himſelf to the Conduct and Government of the Lord Jeſus. This was the firſt Word that Grace ſpoke in Paul, and with this began a Spiritual Life, Lord Jeſus, What wilt thou have me to do? Did not he know what he had to do? Had he not his Commiſſion in his Pocket, and what had he to do but to execute it; No, he had done enough of this Work already, and reſolves now to change his Maſter, and employ himſelf better; Now it is not, What will the High Prieſt and the Elders have me to do; What will my own wicked Appetites and Paſſions have me to do? But What wilt Thou have me to do? The great Change in Converſion is wrought upon the Will, and conſiſts in the Reſignation or that to the Will of Chriſt.

3. The general Direction Chriſt gave him in Anſwer to this. Ariſe, go into the City of Damaſcus, which thou art now near to, and it ſhall be told thee what thou muſt do. 'Tis Encouragement enough to have further Inſtruction promis'd him, But (1.) He muſt not have it yet; it ſhall be told him ſhortly what he muſt do, but for the preſent he muſt pauſe upon what has been ſaid to him, and improve that. Let him conſider a While what he has done in perſecuting Chriſt, and be deeply humbled for that, and then he ſhall be told what he has further to do. (2.) He muſt not have it in this Way, by a Voice from Heaven, for it is plain he cannot bear it, he trembles and is aſtoniſh'd; He ſhall be told therefore what he muſt do by a Man like himſelf, whoſe Terror ſhall not make him afraid, nor his Hand be heavy upon him; which Iſrael deſir'd at Mount Sinai. Or it is an Intimation that Chriſt wou'd take ſome other Time to manifeſt himſelf further to him, when he was more compos'd, and this Fright pretty well over. Chriſt manifeſts himſelf to his People by Degrees; And both what he doth, and would have them to do, tho' they know not now, they ſhall know hereafter.

(7.) How far his Fellow-Travellers were affected with this, and what Impreſſion it made upon them; They fell to the Earth as he did, but roſe without being bidden, which he did not, but lay ſtill till it was ſaid to him Ariſe, for he lay under a heavier Load than any of them did. But when they were up,

1. They ſtood Speechleſs, as Men in Confuſion, and that was all, v. 7. They were going on the ſame wicked Errand that Paul was, and perhaps to the beſt of their Power were as ſpiteful as he, yet we do not find that any of them were converted, tho' they ſaw the Light, and were ſtruck down, and ſtruct dumb by it. No external Means will of themſelves work a Change in the Soul, without the Spirit and Grace of GOD, which diſtinguiſheth between ſome and others; Among theſe that journey'd together, one is taken, and the other left. They ſtood ſpeechleſs; None of them ſaid, Who art thou Lord? or What wilt thou have me to do? as Paul did; but none of GOD's Children are born dumb.

2. They heard a Voice, but ſaw no Man; they heard Paul ſpeak, but ſaw not him to whom he ſpoke, nor heard diſtinctly what was ſaid to him; which reconciles it with what is ſaid of this Matter, chap. xxii. 9. where it is ſaid they ſaw the Light and were afraid, which they might do, and yet ſee no Man in the Light, as Paul did; And that they heard not the Voice of him that ſpake to Paul ſo as to underſtand what he ſaid, tho' they did hear a confuſed Noiſe. Thus they who came hither to be the Inſtruments of Paul's Rage againſt the Church, ſerve for Witneſſes of the Power of GOD over him.

(8.) What Condition Saul was in after this, v. 8, 9.

1. He aroſe from the Earth when Chriſt bid him, but probably not without Help, the Viſion had made him ſo faintly and weak, I will not ſay like Belſhazzar, when the Joynts of his Loyns were looſed, and his Knees ſmote one againſt another; but like Daniel, when upon the Sight of Viſion no Strength remained in them, Dan. x. 16, 17.

2. When his Eyes were open'd he found that his Sight was gone, and he ſaw no Man, none of the Men that were with him, and began now to be buſy about him. 'Twas not ſo much this glaring Light that by dazling his Eyes had dim'd them, Nimium ſenſibile Lædit ſenſum; for then thoſe with him would have loſt their Sight too, But it was a Sight of Chriſt whom the reſt ſaw not that had this Effect upon him. Thus a believing Sight of the Glory of GOD in the Face of Chriſt dazles the Eyes to all Things here below. Chriſt in order to the further Diſcovery of himſelf and his Goſpel to Paul, took him off from the Sight of other Things, which he muſt look off, that he may look unto Jeſus, and to him only.

3. They led him by the Hand into Damaſcus; Whether to a publick Houſe, or to ſome Friend's Houſe is not certain, But thus he who thought to have led the Diſciples of Chriſt Priſoners and Captives to Jeruſalem, was himſelf led a Priſoner and a Captive to Chriſt into Damaſcus. He was thus taught what Need he had of the Grace of Chriſt to lead his Soul, being naturally blind, and apt to miſtake, into all Truth.

4. He lay without Sight, and without Food, neither did eat nor drink for Three Days, v. 9. I do not think as ſome do, that now he had his Rapture into the third Heavens which he ſpeaks of 2 Cor. xii. ſo far from that, that we have Reaſon to think he was all this Time rather in that Belly of Hell, ſuffering GOD's Terrors for his Sins, which were now ſet in Order before him. He was in the dark concerning his own ſpiritual State; and was ſo wounded in Spirit for Sin, that he could reliſh neither Meat nor Drink.

10 ¶ And there was a certain diſciple at Damaſcus, named Ananias, and to him ſaid the Lord in a viſion, Ananias, And he ſaid, Behold, I am hear Lord. 11 And the Lord ſaid unto him, Ariſe, and go into the ſtreet, which is called Straight. and enquire in the houſe of Judas, for one called Saul of Tarſus: for behold, he prayeth, 12 And hath ſeen in a viſion, a man, named Ananias, coming in, and putting his hand on him, that he might receive his ſight. 13 Then Ananias anſwered, Lord, I have heard by many of this man how much evil he hath done to thy ſaints at Jeruſalem, 14 And here he hath authority from the chief prieſts, to bind all that call on thy name. 15 But the Lord ſaid unto him, Go thy way: for he is a choſen veſſel unto me, to bear my name before the Gentiles, and kings, and the children of Iſrael. 16 For I will ſhew him how great Things he muſt ſuffer for my names ſake. 17 And Ananias went his way, and entred into the houſe, and putting his hands on him, ſaid, brother Saul, the Lord (even Jeſus that appeared unto thee in the way as thou cameſt) hath ſent me, that thou mighteſt receive thy ſight, and be filled with the holy Ghoſt. 18 And immediately there fell from his eyes as it had been ſcales, and he received ſight forthwith, and aroſe and was baptized. 19 And when he had received meat, he was ſtrengthened. Then was Saul certain days with the diſciples which were at Damaſcus. 20 And ſtraightway he preached Chriſt in the ſynagogues, that he is the ſon of God. 21 But all that heard him were amazed, and ſaid, Is not this he that deſtroyed them which called on this name in Jeruſalem, and came hither for that intent, that he might bring them bound unto the chief prieſts? 22 But Saul increaſed the more in ſtrength, and confounded the Jews which dwelt at Damaſcus, proving that this is very Chriſt.

As for GOD His Work is perfect; If he begin he will make an End; A good Work was begun in Saul, when he was brought to Chriſt's Feet in that Word, Lord, What wilt thou have me to do? And never did Chriſt leave any that were brought to that. Tho' Saul was ſadly mortify'd when he lay three Days blind, yet he was not abandon'd, Chriſt here takes Care of the Work of his own Hands; He that hath torn will heal, that hath ſmitten will bind up, that has convinc'd will comfort.

Firſt, Ananias is here order'd to go and look after him, to heal and help him, for he that cauſeth Grief will have Compaſſion.

1. The Perſon employ'd is Ananias, a certain Diſciple at Damaſcus, not lately driven thither from Jeruſalem, but a Native of Damaſcus, for it is ſaid, Acts xxii. 12. that he had a good report of all the Jews which dwelt there, as a Devout Man according to the Law, he had lately embrac'd the Goſpel, and given up his Name to Chriſt, and as it ſhould ſeem officiated as a Miniſter, at leaſt pro hac vice, tho' it doth not appear he was apoſtolically ordain'd. But why were not ſome of the Apoſtles from Jeruſalem ſent for upon this great Occaſion, or Philip the Evangeliſt who had lately baptiz'd the Eunuch, and might have been fetch'd hither by the Spirit in a little Time? ſurely becauſe Chriſt would employ Variety of Hands in eminent Services, that the Honours might not be monopoliz'd or engroſs'd by a few. And would put Work into the Hands, and thereby put Honour upon the Heads of thoſe that were mean and obſcure, to encourge them; And would direct us to make Uſe of the Miniſters that are where our Lot is caſt, if they have obtain'd Mercy to be faithful, tho' they are not of the moſt eminent.

2. The Direction given him is to go and enquire at ſuch a Houſe, probably an Inn, for one Saul of Tarſus. Chriſt in a Viſion call'd to Ananias by Name, v. 10. 'Tis likely it was not the firſt Time that he heard the Words of God, and ſeen the Viſions of the Almighty, for without Terror or Confuſion he readily anſwers, Behold, I am here Lord, ready to go where-ever thou ſendeſt me, and do whatever thou biddeſt me. Go then, ſaith Chriſt, into the Street which is called Straight, and enquire in the Houſe of Judas, where Strangers us'd to lodge, for one called Saul of Tarſus. Note, Chriſt very well knows where to find out thoſe that are his in their Diſtreſſes. When their Relations it may be know not what's become of them, they have a Friend in Heaven that knowns in what Street, in what Houſe, nay, and which is more, in what Frame they are; He knows their Souls in Adverſity.

3. Two Reaſons are given him, why he muſt go and enquire for this Stranger, and offer him his Service.

1. Becauſe he prays, and his coming to him muſt anſwer his Prayer. This is a Reaſon (1.) Why Ananias needed not to be afraid of him, as we find he was, v. 13, 14. There's no Queſtion, ſaith Chriſt, but he is a true Convert, for behold he prays. Behold, notes the Certainty of it, aſſure thy ſelf it is ſo, Go, and ſee elſe. Chriſt was ſo pleas'd to find Paul praying, that he muſt have others to take Notice of it, Rejoyce with me, for I have found the Sheep which I have loſt. It notes alſo the Strangeneſs of it; Behold, and wonder, that he who but 'tother Day breath'd nothing but Threatnings and Slaughter, now breaths nothing but Prayer. But was it ſuch a ſtrange Thing for Saul to pray? Was he not a Phariſee, and have we not Reaſon to think he did as the reſt of them did, make long Prayers in the Synagogues and the Corners of the Streets? Yes; but now he began to pray after another Manner than he had done: Then he ſaid his Prayers, now he pray'd them. Note, Regenerating Grace evermore ſets People on praying. You may as ſoon find a living Man without Breath, as a living Chriſtian without Prayer. If breathleſs, lifeleſs; and ſo if prayerleſs, graceleſs. (2.) As a Reaſon why Ananias muſt go to him with all Speed; 'Tis no Time to linger, for behold he prays. If the Child cry, the tender Nurſe haſtens to it with the Breaſt. Saul here, like Ephraim, is bemoaning himſelf, reproaching himſelf, as a Bullock unaccuſtom'd to the Yoke, and kicking againſt the Goad. O! go to him quickly, and tell him, He is a dear Son, a pleaſant Child, and ſince I ſpake againſt him, for perſecuting me, I do earneſtly remember him ſtill, Jer. xxxi. 18, 19, 20. Obſerve, (1.) What Condition Saul was now in; He was under Conviction of Sin, trembling and aſtoniſh'd. The ſetting of Sin in Order before us, ſhould drive us to Prayer. He was under a bodily Affliction, blind and ſick; and, Is any afflicted? Let him pray. Chriſt had promiſed him, That it ſhould be further told him what he ſhould do, v. 6. and he prays that One may be ſent to him to inſtruct him: Note, What GOD has promis'd we muſt pray for; He will for this be enquired of, and particularly for divine Inſtruction.

2. Becauſe he hath ſeen in a Viſion ſuch a Man coming to him, to reſtore him to his Sight, and Ananias's coming to him muſt anſwer his Dream, for it was of GOD, v. 12. He hath ſeen in a Viſion a Man named Ananias, and juſt ſuch a Man as thou art, coming in ſeaſonably for his Relief, and putting his Hand on him that he might receive his Sight. Now this Viſion Paul had, may be conſider'd, (1.) As an immediate Anſwer to his Prayer, and the keeping up of that Communion with GOD which he had entred into by Prayer. He had in Prayer ſpread the Miſery of his own Caſe before GOD, and GOD preſently manifeſts himſelf, and the kind Intentions of his Grace to him; And it is very encouraging to know GOD's Thoughts to us ward. (2.) As deſign'd to raiſe his Expectations, and to make Ananias's Coming more welcome to him. He would readily receive him as a Meſſenger from GOD, when he was told before hand in Viſion that One of that Name would come to him. See what a great Thing it is to bring a ſpiritual Phyſician and his Patient together, here's two Viſions in order to it; when GOD in his Providence doth it without Viſions, brings a Meſſenger to the afflicted Soul, an Interpreter One among a Thouſand to ſhew unto Man his Uprightneſs, it muſt be acknowledg'd with Thankfulneſs to his Praiſe.

Secondly, Ananias objects againſt going to him, and the Lord anſwers the Objection. See how condeſcendingly the Lord admits his Servant to reaſon with him.

1. Ananias pleads, that this Saul was a notorious Perſecutor of the Diſciples of Chriſt, v. 13, 14. (1.) He had been ſo at Jeruſalem, Lord, I have heard by many of this Man, what a malicious Enemy he is to the Goſpel of Chriſt. All thoſe that were ſcatter'd upon the late Perſecution, many of whom are come to Damaſcus, tell, how much Evil he hath done to thy Saints at Jeruſalem, that he was the moſt virulent violent Perſecutor of all the reſt, and a Ring-leader in the Miſchief; what Havock he has made of the Church. There was no Man they were more afraid of, no not the High Prieſt himſelf, than of Saul, Nay, (2.) His Errand to Damaſcus at this Time, is to perſecute us Chriſtians, here he has Authority from the chief Prieſts, to bind all that call on thy Name, to treat the Worſhippers of Chriſt as the worſt of Criminals. Now why doth Ananias object this? Not, therefore I do not owe him ſo much Service; why ſhould I do him a Kindneſs, who has done, and deſign'd us ſo much Unkindneſs, No, Chriſt has taught us another Leſſon, to render Good for Evil, and pray for our Perſecutors. But if he be ſuch a Perſecutor of Chriſtians, (1.) Will it be ſafe for Ananias to go to him? Will not he throw himſelf like a Lamb into the Mouth of the Lion? And if he thus bring himſelf into Trouble he will be blam'd for his Indiſcretion. (2.) Will it be to any purpoſe to go to him, can ſuch a hard Heart ever be ſoften'd, or ſuch an Ethiopian ever change his Skin.

2. Chriſt over-rules the Objection, v. 16, 17. Do not tell me how bad he has been, I know it very well, but go thy Way with all Speed, and give him all the Help thou canſt, for he is a choſen Veſſel, or Inſtrument unto me. I deſign to put a Confidence in him, and then thou needſt not fear him. He was a Veſſel in which the Goſpel Treaſure ſhould be lodg'd, in order to the Conveyance of it to many; an Earthen Veſſel, 2 Cor. iv. 7. but a choſen Veſſel. The Veſſels GOD uſeth, he himſelf chooſeth; and it is fit he ſhould himſelf have the chooſing of the Inſtruments he employs, Joh. xv. 16. Ye have not choſen me, but I have choſen you. He is a Veſſel of honour, and muſt not be neglected in his preſent forlorn Condition, or thrown away as a deſpiſed broken Veſſel, or a Veſſel in which there is no Pleaſure. He is deſign'd, 1. For eminent Services. He is to bear my Name before the Gentiles, is to be the Apoſtle of the Gentiles, and to carry the Goſpel to Heathen Nations. Chriſt's Name is the Standard to which Souls muſt be gather'd, and under which they muſt be liſted, and Saul muſt be a Standard-bearer, he muſt bear Chriſt's Name, i. e. muſt bear Witneſs to it before Kings, King Agrippa, and Cæſar himſelf; Nay, he muſt bear it before the Children of Iſrael, tho' there were ſo many Hands already at Work about them. 2. For eminent Sufferings, v. 16. I will ſhew him how great Things he muſt ſuffer for my Names ſake. He that has been a Perſecutor, ſhall be himſelf perſecuted. Chriſt's ſhewing him this intimates either his bringing him to theſe Tryals, as Pſal. lx. 3. thou haſt ſhewed thy People hard Things, Or his giving him Notice of them beforehand, that they might be no Surprize to him. Note, Thoſe that bear Chriſt's Name, muſt expect to bear the Croſs, for his Name; And thoſe that do moſt for Chriſt, are often call'd out to ſuffer moſt for him. Saul muſt ſuffer great Things. This one would think was cold Comfort for a young Convert, But it is but like telling a Soldier of a bold and brave Spirit, when he is liſted, that he ſhall take the Field and enter upon Action ſhortly; Saul's Sufferings for Chriſt ſhall redound ſo much to the Honour of Chriſt and the Service of the Church, ſhall be ſo balanc'd with ſpiritual Comforts, and recompens'd with eternal Glories, that it is Diſcouragement to him to be told how great Things he muſt ſuffer for Chriſt's Names ſake.

Thirdly, Ananias preſently goes on Chriſt's Errand to Saul, and with good Effect. He had ſtarted an Objection againſt going to him, but when an Anſwer was given to it he drop'd it, and did not inſiſt upon it. When Difficulties are remov'd, what have we to do but to go on with our Work, and not hang upon an Objection.

1. Ananias deliver'd his Meſſage to Saul, v. 17. Probably he found him in Bed, and apply'd to him as a Patient. (1.) He put his Hands on him; 'Twas promis'd as one of the Signs that ſhould follow them that believe, That they ſhould lay Hands on the Sick, and they ſhould recover, Mar. xvi. 18. and it was for that Intent that he put his Hands on him. Saul came to lay violent Hands upon the Diſciples at Damaſcus, but here a Diſciple lays a helping healing Hand upon him; The Blood thirſty hate the upright, but the juſt ſeek his Soul. (2.) He call'd him Brother, becauſe he was made a Partaker of the Grace of GOD, tho' not yet baptiz'd. And his Readineſs to own him as a Brother, intimated to him GOD's Readineſs to own him as a Son, tho' he had been a Blaſphemer of GOD, and a Perſecutor of his Children. (3.) He produceth his Commiſſion from the ſame Hand, that had laid hold on him by the Way, and now had him in Cuſtody. That ſame Jeſus that appear'd unto thee in the Way as thou cameſt, and convinc'd thee of thy Sin in perſecuting him, has now ſent me to thee to comfort thee. Una eademque manus vulnus opemque tulit. His Light ſtruck the blind, but he hath ſent me to thee that thou mighteſt receive thy Sight, for the Deſign was not to blind thine Eyes, but to dazzle them, that thou mighteſt ſee Things by another Light. He that then put Clay upon thine Eyes hath ſent me to waſh them that they may be cur'd. Ananias might deliver his Meſſage to Saul very appoſitely in the Prophet's Words, Hoſ. vi. 1, 2. Come and turn to the Lord, for he will turn and he will heal thee, he hath ſmitten, and he will bind thee up; Now after Two Days he will revive thee, and the Third Day he will raiſe thee up, and thou ſhalt live in his Sight. Corroſives ſhall be no more apply'd but Lenitives. (4.) He aſſures him that he ſhall not only have his Sight reſtor'd, but be fill'd with the Holy Ghoſt. He muſt himſelf be an Apoſtle, and muſt in nothing come behind the chief of the Apoſtles, and therefore muſt receive the Holy Ghoſt immediately, and not as others did by the Interpoſition of the Apoſtles; and Ananias's putting his Hands upon him before he was baptiz'd, was not for the conferring of the Holy Ghoſt.

2. Ananias ſaw the good Iſſue of his Miſſion.

1. In Chriſt's Favour to Saul; At the Word of Ananias, Saul was diſcharg'd from his Confinement, by the reſtoring of his Sight; for Chriſt's Commiſſion to open the Priſon to them that were bound, (Iſa. lxi. 1.) is explain'd by the giving of Sight to the blind, Luke iv. 18. and Iſa. xlii. 7. Chriſt's Commiſſion is to open the blind Eyes, and to bring out the Priſoners from the Priſon. Saul is deliver'd from the Spirit of Bondage by his receiving Sight, v. 18. which was ſignified by the falling of Scales from his Eyes; And this immediately, and forthwith; the Cure was ſudden, to ſhew that 'twas miraculous. This ſignify'd the recovering of him, (1.) From the Darkneſs of his unconverted State; when he perſecuted the Church of GOD, and walk'd in the Spirit and Way of the Phariſees he was blind, he ſaw not the Meaning either of the Law or of the Goſpel, Rom. vii. 9. Chriſt often told the Phariſees they were blind, and could not make them ſenſible of it, they ſaid, We ſee, John ix. 41. Saul is ſav'd from his Phariſaical Blindneſs by being made ſenſible of it. Note, Converting Grace opens the Eyes of the Soul, and makes the Scales to fall from them. Acts xxiv. 18. To open Mens Eyes, and turn them from Darkneſs to Light; This was it that Saul was ſent among the Gentiles to do by the Preaching of the Goſpel, and therefore muſt firſt experience it in himſelf. (2.) From the Darkneſs of his preſent Terrors under the Apprehenſion of Guilt upon his Conſcience, and the Wrath of GOD againſt him: This fill'd him with Confuſion; during thoſe three Days he ſat in Darkneſs, like Jonah for Three Days in the Belly of Hell; But now the Scales fell from his Eyes, the Cloud was ſcatter'd, and the Sun of Righteouſneſs roſe upon his Soul with healing under his Wings.

2. In Saul's Subjection to Chriſt, he was baptiz'd, and thereby ſubmitted himſelf to the Government of Chriſt, and caſt himſelf upon the Grace of Chriſt. Thus he was enter'd into Chriſt's School, hir'd into his Family, liſted under his Banner, and joyn'd himſelf to him for better, for worſe. The Point it was gain'd, 'tis ſettled, Saul is now a Diſciple of Chriſt, not only ceaſeth to oppoſe him, but devotes himſelf entirely to his Service and Honour.

Fourthly, The good Work that was begun in Saul, is carry'd on wonderfully; This new-born Chriſtian, tho' he ſeem'd as One born out of due Time, yet preſently comes to Maturity.

1. He receiv'd his bodily Strength, v. 19. He had continu'd Three Days faſting, which with the mighty Weight that was all that Time upon his Spirits, had made him very weak; but when he had receiv'd Meat, he was ſtrengthen'd, v. 19. The Lord is for the Body, and therefore Care muſt be taken of that to keep it in good plight, that it may be fit to ſerve the Soul in GOD's Service, and that Chriſt may be magnify'd in it, Phil. i. 20.

2. He aſſociated with the Diſciples that were at Damaſcus, fell in with 'em, convers'd with them, went to their Meetings, and joyned in Communion with them. He had lately breath'd out Threatnings and Slaughter againſt them; but now breaths Love and Affection to them. Now the Wolf dwells with the Lamb, and the Leopard lies down with the Kid, Iſa. xi. 6. Note, Thoſe that take GOD for their God, takes his People for their People. Saul aſſociated with the Diſciples, becauſe now he ſaw an Amiableneſs and Excellency in them, becauſe he lov'd them, and found that he improv'd in Knowledge and Grace by converſing with them, and thus he made Profeſſion of his Chriſtian Faith, and openly declar'd himſelf a Diſciple of Chriſt, by herding with thoſe that were his Diſciples.

3. He preach'd Chriſt in the Synagogues, v. 20. To this he had an extraordinary Call, and for it an extraordinary Qualification, GOD having immediately reveal'd his Son to him, and in him, that he might preach him, Gal. i. 15, 16. He was ſo full of Chriſt himſelf, that the Spirit within him conſtrain'd him to preach him to others, and like Elihu, to ſpeak that he might be refreſhed, Job xxxii. 18. Obſerve, 1. Where he preach'd, in the Synagogues of the Jews; for they were to have the firſt offer made them. The Synagogues were their Places of Concourſe, there he met with them together; and there they us'd to preach againſt Chriſt, and to puniſh his Diſciples; by the ſame Token that Paul himſelf had puniſh'd them oft in every Synagogue, Acts xxvi. 11. and therefore there he would face the Enemies of Chriſt, where they were moſt daring; and openly profeſs Chriſtianity, there where he had moſt oppos'd it. 2. What he preach'd; He preach'd Chriſt, When he begun to be a Preacher, he fix'd that for his Principle, which he ſtuck to ever after, We preach not our ſelves, but Chriſt Jeſus the Lord; Nothing but Chriſt, and him crucify'd. He preach'd concerning Chriſt, That he is the Son of GOD, His Beloved Son, in whom He is well-pleaſed, and with us in him, and not otherwiſe. 3. How People were affected with it, v. 21. All that heard him were amaz'd, and ſaid, Is not this he that deſtroy'd them which call'd on this Name in Jeruſalem? and now doth he call on this Name himſelf, and perſuade others to call upon it, and ſtrengthen the Hands of thoſe that do. Quantum mutatus ab illo! Is Saul alſo among the Prophets? Nay, Did he not come hither for that Intent, to ſeize all the Chriſtians he could find, and bring them bound to the Chief Prieſts? Yes, he did; who would have thought then, that he ſhould preach Chriſt as he doth? Doubtleſs this was look'd upon by many as a great Confirmation of the Truth of Chriſtianity, that one who had been ſuch a notorious Perſecutor of it, came on a ſudden to be ſuch an intelligent, ſtrenuous and capacious Preacher of it. This Miracle upon the Mind of ſuch a Man out-ſhone the Miracles upon Mens Bodies; and giving a Man ſuch another Heart, was more than giving Men to ſpeak with other Tongues.

4. He confuted and confounded thoſe that oppos'd the Doctrine of Chriſt, v. 22. He not only ſignaliz'd himſelf in the Pulpit, but in the Schools, and ſhew'd himſelf ſupernaturally enabled not only to preach the Truth, but to maintain and defend it when he had preach'd it. (1.) He increas'd in Strength; He became more intimately acquainted with the Goſpel of Chriſt, and his pious Affections grew more ſtrong, he grew more bold and daring, and reſolute in the Defence of the Goſpel; he increas'd the more for the Reflections that were caſt upon him, v. 21. in which his new Friends upbraided him as having been a Perſecutor, and his old Friends upbraided him as being now a Turn-coat; but Saul inſtead of being diſcourag'd by the various Remarks made upon his Converſion, was thereby ſo much the more embolden'd finding he had enough at hand wherewith to anſwer the worſt they could ſay of him. 2. He ran down his Antagoniſts, and confounded the Jews which dwelt at Damaſcus; he ſilenc'd them, and ſhamed them; anſwered their Objections to the Satisfaction of all indifferent Perſons, and preſs'd them with Arguments which they could make no Reply to. In all his Diſcourſes with the Jews, he was ſtill proving that this Jeſus is very Chriſt, is thee Chriſt, the Anointed of GOD, the true Meſſiah promis'd to the Fathers. He was proving it, συμβιβάζων; affirming it, and confirming it; Teaching with Perſuaſion. And we have Reaſon to think he was inſtrumental to convert many to the Faith of Chriſt, and to build up the Church at Damaſcus, which he came thither to make Havock of. Thus out of the eater came forth Meat, and out of the ſtrong Sweetneſs.

23 ¶ And after that many days were fulfilled, the Jews took counſel to kill him. 24 But their laying await was known of Saul: and they watched the gates day and night to kill him. 25 Then the diſciples took him by night, and let him down by the wall in a basket. 26 And when Saul was come to Jeruſalem, he aſſayed to join himſelf to the diſciples: but they were all afraid of him, and believed not that he was a diſciple. 27 But Barnabas took him, and brought him to the apoſtles, and declared unto them how he had ſeen the Lord in the way, and that he had ſpoken to him, and how he had preached boldly at Damaſcus in the name of Jeſus. 28 And he was with them coming in, and going out at Jeruſalem. 29 And he ſpake boldly in the name of the Lord Jeſus, and diſputed againſt the Grecians: but they went about to ſlay him. 30 Which when the brethren knew, they brought him down to Ceſarea, and ſent him forth to Tarſus. 31 Then had the churches reſt throughout all Judea, and Galilee, and Samaria, and were edified and walking in the fear of the Lord, and in the comfort of the Holy Ghoſt, were multiplied.

Luke here makes no Mention of Paul's Journey into Arabia, which he tells us himſelf was immediately after his Converſion, Gal. i. 16, 17. As ſoon as GOD had reveal'd his Son in him, that he might preach him, he went not up to Jeruſalem, to receive Inſtructions from the Apoſtles, as any other Convert would have done that was deſign'd for the Miniſtry, but he went to Arabia, where there was new Ground to break up, and where he would have Opportunity of teaching, but not of learning. Thence he return'd to Damaſcus, and there Three Years after his Converſion, this happen'd which is here recorded.

Firſt, He met with Difficulties at Damaſcus, and had a narrow Scape of being kill'd there. Obſerve,

1. What his Danger was, v. 23. The Jews took Council to kill him being more enrag'd at him than at any other of the Preachers of the Goſpel; not only becauſe he was more lively and zealous in his Preaching than any of them, and more ſucceſsful, but becauſe he had been ſuch a remarkable Deſerter, and his being a Chriſtian, was a Teſtimony againſt them. 'Tis ſaid, v. 24. The Jews watched the Gates Day and Night to kill him; they incens'd the Governour againſt him as a dangerous Man, who therefore kept the City with a guard to apprehend him at his going out or coming in, 2 Cor. xi. 32. Now Chriſt, ſhew'd Paul what great Things he muſt ſuffer for his Name, v. 16. when here is preſently the Government in Arms againſt him, which was a great Thing, and, as all his other Sufferings, afterwards help'd to make him conſiderable, Saul was no ſooner a Chriſtian, but a Preacher; no ſooner a Preacher, but a Sufferer; ſo quick did he riſe to the Top of his Preferment. Note, Where GOD gives great Grace, He commonly exerciſes it with great Trials.

2. How he was deliver'd; (1.) The deſign againſt him was diſcover'd. Their lying in wait, was known of Saul by ſome Intelligence, whether from Heaven, or from Men, we are not told. (2.) The Diſciples contriv'd to help him away, hid him 'tis likely by Day, and in the Night, the Gates being watched that he could not get away thro' them, they let him down by the Wall in a Basket, as he himſelf relates it, 2 Cor. xi. 33. ſo he eſcap'd out of their Hands. This Story as it ſhews us, That when we enter into the Way of God, we muſt look for Temptation, and prepare accordingly; ſo it ſhews us, That the Lord knows how to deliver the Godly out of Temptation, and will, with the Temptation, alſo make a Way to eſcape, that we may not be by it detered or driven from the Way of GOD.

Secondly, He met with Difficulties at Jeruſalem, the firſt Time he went thither, v. 26. He came to Jeruſalem. This is thought to be that Journey to Jeruſalem, which he himſelf ſpeaks of, Gal. i. 18. After three Years, I went up to Jeruſalem (ſaith he) to ſee Peter, and abode with him Fifteen Days. But I rather incline to think, that this was a Journey before that, becauſe his coming in and going out, his preaching and diſputing, v. 28, 29. ſeems to be more than would conſiſt with his Fifteen Days ſtay, for that was no more, and to require a longer Time. And, beſides, now he came a Stranger, but then he came ἱστορῆσαι Πέτρον to confer with Peter as One he was intimate with. However, it might poſſibly be the ſame. Now Obſerve.

1. How ſhy his Friends were of him, v. 26. When he came to Jeruſalem he did not go to the Chief Prieſts and the Phariſees, he had taken his Leave of them long ſince, but he aſſay'd to joyn himſelf to the Diſciples. Wherever he came he own'd himſelf, One of that deſpis'd, perſecuted People, and aſſociated with them; they were now in his Eyes, the Excellent Ones of the Earth in whom was all his Delight. He deſir'd to be acquainted with them, and to be admitted into Communion with them. But they look'd ſtrange upon him, ſhut the Door againſt him, and would not go about any of their religious Exerciſes if he were by; for they were afraid of him. Now might Paul be tempted to think himſelf in an ill Caſe, when the Jews had abandon'd and perſecuted him, and the Chriſtians would not receive and entertain him. Thus doth he fall into divers Temptations, and needs the Armour of Righteouſneſs, as we all do, both on the Right Hand and on the left, that we may not be diſcourag'd either by the unjuſt Treatment of our Enemies, or the unkind Treatment of our Friends.

(1.) See what was the Cauſe of their Jealouſy of him; They believ'd not that he was a Diſciple; but that he only pretended to be ſo, and came among them as a Spy, or an Informer. They knew what a bitter Perſecutor he had been, with what Fury he went to Damaſcus ſome time ago, had heard nothing of him ſince, and therefore thought he was but a Wolf in Sheep's Clothing. The Diſciples of Chriſt had need to be cautious whom they admit into Communion with them; Believe not every Spirit. There is need of the Wiſdom of the Serpent to keep the Mean between the Extremes of Suſpicion on the one Hand, and Credulity on the other; yet methinks it is ſafer to err on the charitable ſide, becauſe it is an adjudg'd Caſe, That 'tis better Tares ſhould be found among the Wheat, than that the Wheat ſhould any of it be rooted up, and thrown out of the Field.

(2.) See how it was remov'd, v. 27. Barnabas took him to the Apoſtles themſelves, who were not ſo ſcrupulous as the inferiour Diſciples, to whom he firſt aſſay'd to joyn himſelf, and he declar'd to them, (1.) What Chriſt had done for him, had ſhew'd himſelf to him in the Way, and ſpoken to him, and what he ſaid. (3.) What he had ſince done for Chriſt; Had preach'd boldly at Damaſcus in the Name of Jeſus. How Barnabas come to know this more than the reſt of them; we are not told, whether he had himſelf been at Damaſcus, or had had Letters from thence, or diſcours'd with ſome of that City, by which he came to the Knowledge of this; or whether he had formerly been acquainted with Paul in the Grecian Synagogues, or at the Feet of Gamaliel, and had ſuch an Account of his Converſion from himſelf, as he ſaw Cauſe enough to give Credit to; ſo it was, that being ſatisfy'd himſelf, he gave Satisfaction to the Apoſtles concerning him, he having brought no Teſtimonials from the Diſciples at Damaſcus, thinking he needed not, as ſome others, Epiſtles of Commendation, 2 Cor. iii. 1. Note, The introducing of a young Convert into the Communion of the Faithful, is a very good Work, and which as we have Opportunity, we ſhould be ready to.

2. How ſharp his Enemies were upon him.

1. He was admitted into the Communion of the Diſciples, which was no little Provocation to his Enemies; It vex'd the unbelieving Jews to ſee Saul a Trophy of Chriſt's Victory, and a Captive to his Grace, who had been ſuch a Champion for their Cauſe, to ſee him coming in, and going out with the Apoſtles, v. 28. and to hear them glorying in him, or rather glorifying God in him.

2. He appear'd vigorous in the Cauſe of Chriſt; and this was yet more provoking to them, v. 29. He ſpake boldly in the Name of the Lord Jeſus. Note, Thoſe that ſpeak for Chriſt, have Reaſon to ſpeak boldly; for they have a good Cauſe, and ſpeak for One who will at laſt ſpeak for himſelf and them too. The Grecians and Helleniſt Jews were moſt offended at him, becauſe he had been one of them; and they drew him into a Diſpute, in which no doubt he was too hard for them, as he had been for the Jews at Damaſcus. One of the Martyrs ſaid, tho' ſhe could not diſpute for Chriſt, ſhe could dye for Chriſt; but Paul could do both. Now the Lord Jeſus divided the Spoils of the ſtrong Man arm'd in Saul. For that ſame natural Quickneſs and Fervour of Spirit which while he was in Ignorance and Unbelief made him a furious bigotted Perſecutor of the Faith, made him a moſt zealous couragious Defender of the Faith.

3. This brought him into Peril of his Life, with which he narrowly eſcap'd; The Grecians when they found they could not deal with him in Diſputation, contriv'd to ſilence him another Way; they went about to ſlay him, as they did Stephen, when they could not reſiſt the Spirit by which he ſpake, Acts vi. 10. That's a bad cauſe, that has Recourſe to Perſecution for its laſt Argument. But Notice was given of this Conſpiracy too, and effectual Care taken to ſecure this young Champion, v. 30. When the Brethren knew what was deſign'd againſt him, they brought him down to Cæſarea. They remember'd how the putting of Stephen to Death upon his diſputing with the Grecians, had been the Beginning of a ſore Perſecution; and therefore were afraid of having ſuch a Vein open'd again, and haſten'd Paul out of the Way. He that flies, may fight again; he that fled from Jeruſalem, might do Service at Tarſus, the Place of his Nativity; and thither they deſired him by all Means to go, in hopes he might go on in his Work with more Safety than at Jeruſalem. Yet it was alſo by Direction from Heaven that he left Jeruſalem at this Time; as he tells us himſelf, Acts xxii. 17, 18. That Chriſt now appear'd to him, and order'd him to go quickly out of Jeruſalem, for he muſt be ſent to the Gentiles, v. 21. Thoſe by whom GOD has Work to do, ſhall be protected from all the Deſigns of their Enemies againſt them till it is done. Chriſt's Witneſſes cannot be ſlain till they have finiſh'd their Teſtimony.

Thirdly, The Churches had now a comfortable Gleam of Liberty and Peace, v. 31. Then had the Churches Reſt. Then when Saul was converted, ſo ſome; when that Perſecutor was taken off, thoſe were quiet whom he us'd to irritate; and then thoſe were quiet whom he us'd to moleſt. Or, Then, when he was gone from Jeruſalem, the Fury of the Grecian Jews was a little abated, and they were the more willing to bear with the other Preachers, now Saul was gone out of the Way. Obſerve,

1. The Churches had Reſt; After a Storm comes a Calm. Tho' we are always to expect troubleſome Times, yet we may expect that they ſhall not laſt always. This was a Breathing time allow'd them to prepare them for the next Encounter. The Churches that were already planted, were moſtly in Judea, Galilee and Samaria, within the Limits of the Holy Land. There were the firſt Chriſtian Churches, where Chriſt had himſelf laid the Foundation.

2. They made a good Uſe of this lucid Interval; Inſtead of growing ſecure and wanton in the Day of their Proſperity, they abounded more in their Duty, and made a good Uſe of their Tranquility. (1.) They were edify'd, were built up in their moſt holy Faith; The more free and conſtant Enjoyment they had of the Means of Knowledge and Grace, the more they increas'd in Knowledge and Grace. (2.) They walk'd in the Fear of the Lord; Were more exemplary themſelves for a holy heavenly Converſation. They liv'd ſo, as that all who convers'd with them might ſay, Surely the Fear of GOD reigns in thoſe People. (3.) They walk'd in the Comfort of the Holy Ghoſt: They were not only faithful, but chearful in Religion; they ſtuck to the Ways of the Lord, and ſang in thoſe Ways. The Comfort of the Holy Ghoſt was their Conſolation, and that which they made their chief Joy. They had Recourſe to the Comfort of the Holy Ghoſt. Thoſe are moſt likely to walk chearfully that walk circumſpectly.

3. GOD bleſs'd it to them for their Increaſe in Number; They were multiply'd. Sometimes the Church multiplies the more for its being afflicted, as Iſrael in Egypt; yet if it were always ſo, the Saints of the moſt High would be worn out; at other Times its Reſt contributes to its Growth, as it enlargeth the Opportunity of Miniſters, and invites thoſe in that at firſt are afraid of ſuffering. Or, then when they walk'd in the Fear of God, and his Comforts, then they were multiply'd. Thus they that will not be won by the Word, may be won by the Converſation of Profeſſors.

32 ¶ And it came to paſs, as Peter paſſed throughout all quarters, he came down alſo to the ſaints which dwelt at Lydda. 33 And there he found a certain man named Eneas, which had kept his bed eight years, and was ſick of the palſie. 34 And Peter ſaid unto him, Eneas, Jeſus Chriſt maketh thee whole: ariſe, and make thy bed. And he aroſe immediately. 35 And all that dwelt at Lydda, and Saron, ſaw him, and turned to the Lord.

Here we have

Firſt, The Viſit Peter made to the Churches that were newly planted by the diſpers'd Preachers, v. 32.

1. He paſs'd through all Quarters; As an Apoſtle, he was not to be the reſident Paſtor of any one Church, but the itinerent Viſitor of many Churches; to confirm the Doctrine of inferiour Preachers, to confer the Holy Ghoſt on them that believ'd, and to ordain Miniſters. He paſs'd, διὰ πάντων among them all who pertained to the Churches of Judea, Galilee, and Samaria, mention'd in the foregoing Chapter. He was like his Maſter, always upon the Remove, and went about doing Good; But ſtill his Head quarters were at Jeruſalem, for there we ſhall find him impriſon'd, chap. xii.

2. He came to the Saints at Lydda; This ſeems to be the ſame with Lod, a City in the Tribe of Benjamin mention'd, 1 Chr. viii. 12. Ezr. ii. 33. The Chriſtians are call'd Saints, not only ſome particular eminent Ones, as St. Peter and St. Paul, but every ſincere Profeſſor of the Faith of Chriſt. Theſe are the Saints of the Earth, Pſal. xvi. 3.

Secondly, The Cure Peter wrought on Eneas, a Man that had been Bed-rid Eight Years, v. 33.

1. His Caſe was very deplorable; he was ſick of the Palſy, a dumb Palſy, perhaps a dead Palſy, the Diſeaſe was extream, for he kept his Bed; 'twas inveterate, for he kept his Bed eight Years; And we may ſuppoſe both he himſelf, and all about him deſpair'd of Relief for him, and concluded upon no other but that he muſt ſtill keep his Bed till he remov'd to his Grave. Chriſt choſe ſuch Patients as thoſe, whoſe Diſeaſes were incurable in a Courſe of Nature, to ſhew how deſperate the Caſe of fallen Mankind was when he undertook their Cure. When we were without Strength, as this poor Man, he ſent his Word to heal us.

2. His Cure was very admirable, v. 34. (1.) Peter intereſted Chriſt in his Caſe, and engag'd him for his Relief; Eneas, Jeſus Chriſt maketh thee whole. Peter doth not pretend to do it ſelf by any Power of his own, but declares it to be Chriſt's Act and Deed, and directs him to look up to Chriſt for Help, and aſſures him of an immediate Cure; not he will make thee, but he doth make thee whole; and a perfect Cure, not he makes thee eaſy, but he makes thee whole: He doth expreſs himſelf by Way of Prayer to Chriſt that he would make him whole, but as one having Authority from Chriſt, and that knew his Mind he declares him made whole. (2.) He order'd him to beſtir himſelf, to exert himſelf, Ariſe and make thy Bed, that all may ſee thou art throughly cur'd. Let none ſay that becauſe it is Chriſt that by the Power of his Grace works all our Works in us, therefore we have no Work, no Duty to do; for tho' Jeſus Chriſt makes thee whole, yet thou muſt ariſe, and make uſe of the Power he gives thee. Ariſe and make thy Bed, for another Uſe than it has been, to be a Bed of Reſt to thee, no longer a Bed of Sickneſs. (3.) Power went along with this Word, he aroſe immediately, and no doubt very willingly made his own Bed.

Thirdly, The good Influence this had upon many, v. 35. All that dwelt at Lydda and Saron ſaw him and turn'd to the Lord. We can ſcarce think that every individual Perſon in thoſe Countries took Cognizance of the Miracle, and was wrought upon by it, but many, the Generallity of the People in the Town of Lydda, and in the Country of Saron or Sharon, a fruitful Plain or Valley, of which it was foretold Sharon ſhall be a Fold of Flocks, Iſa. lxv. 10.

1. They all made Enquiry into the Truth of the Miracle, did not overlook it, but ſaw him that was healed, and ſaw that it was a miraculous Cure that was wrought upon him, by the Power of Chriſt, and in his Name, and with a Deſign to confirm and ratify that Doctrine of Chriſt which was now preach'd to the World.

2. They all ſubmitted to the convincing Proof and Evidence there was in this of the Divine Original of the Chriſtian Doctrine and turn'd to the Lord; to the Lord Jeſus; they turn'd from Judaiſm to Chriſtianity; they embrac'd the Doctrine of Chriſt, and ſubmitted to his Ordinances; and turn'd themſelves over to him to be rul'd, and taught, and ſav'd by him.

36 ¶ Now there was at Joppa a certain diſciple named Tabitha, which by interpretation is called Dorcas: this woman was full of good works, and alms-deeds which ſhe did. 37 And it came to paſs in thoſe days, that ſhe was ſick, and died: whom when they had waſhed, they laid her in an upper chamber. 38 And foraſmuch as Lydda was nigh to Joppa, and the diſciples had heard that Peter was there, they ſent unto him two men, deſiring him that he would not delay to come to them. 39 Then Peter aroſe, and went with them. When he was come, they brought him into the upper chamber: and all the widows ſtood by him, weeping and ſhewing the coats and garments which Dorcas made while ſhe was with them. 40 But Peter put them all forth, and kneeled down and prayed, and turning him to the body, ſaid Tabitha, ariſe. And ſhe opened her eyes: and when ſhe ſaw Peter, ſhe ſat up. 41 And he gave her his hand, and lift her up: and when he had called the ſaints and widows, preſented her alive. 42 And it was known throughout all Joppa, and many believed in the Lord. 43 And it came to paſs, that he tarried many days in Joppa with one Simon a tanner.

Here we have a greater Miracle wrought by Peter, for the confirming of the Goſpel, and which exceeded the former; the raiſing of Tabitha to Life, when ſhe had been for ſome Time dead. Here is, Firſt, The Life and Death, and Character of Tabitha, on whom this Miracle was wrought, v. 36, 37.

1. She liv'd at Joppa, a Sea-port Town in the Tribe of Dan, where Jonah took Shippin to go to Tarſhiſh, now call'd Japho.

2. Her Name was Tabitha, a Hebrew Name, the Greek for which is Dorcas, both ſignifying a Doe, or Hind, or Deer, a pleaſant Creature; Nephthali is compar'd to a Hind or Deer, a pleaſant Creature; Nephthali is compar'd to a Hind let looſe, giving goodly Words. And the Wife to the kind and tender Husband, is as the loving Hind, and as the pleaſant Roe, Prov. v. 19.

3. She was a Diſciple, one that had embrac'd the Faith of Chriſt and was baptiz'd; And not only ſo, but was eminent above many for Works of Charity; ſhe ſhew'd her Faith by her Works, her good Works, which ſhe was full of, that is, which ſhe abounded in; her Head was full of, Cares and Contrivances which way ſhe ſhould do Good. She deviſed liberal Things, Iſa. xxxii. 8. her Hands were full of good Employment, ſhe made a Buſineſs of doing Good, was never idle, having learn'd to maintain good Works, Tit. ii. 14. to keep up a conſtant Courſe and Method of them. She was full of good Works, as a Tree that's full of Fruit. Many are full of good Words that are empty and barren in good Works, but Tabitha was a great Doer, no great Talker; non magna loquimur ſed vivimus. Among other good Works, ſhe was remarkable for her Alms-deeds which ſhe did, not only her Works of Piety, which are good Works and the Fruits of Faith, but Works of Charity and Beneficence, flowing from Love to our Neighbour, and a holy Contempt of this World. Obſerve, She is prais'd not only for the Alms which ſhe gave, but for the Alms-deeds which ſhe did. Thoſe that have not Eſtates wherewith to give in Charity, may yet be able to do in Charity, working with their Hands, or walking with their Feet, for the Benefit of the Poor. And they who will not do a charitable Deed whatever they may pretend, if they were Rich would not beſtow a charitable Gift. She was full of Alms-deeds, ὧν ἐποίει which ſhe made; there's an Emphaſis upon her doing them, becauſe what her Hand found to do of this Kind ſhe did with all her Might, and perſever'd in. They were Alms-deeds not which ſhe purpos'd and deſign'd, and ſaid ſhe would do, but which ſhe did: not which ſhe began to do, but which ſhe did, which ſhe went through with; which ſhe perform'd the doing of; 2 Cor. viii. 11. ix. 7. This is the Life and Character of a certain Diſciple, and ſhould agree to all the Diſciples of Chriſt; for if thus we bear much Fruit then are we his Diſciples indeed, Joh. xv. 8.

4. She was remov'd in the midſt of her Uſefulneſs, v. 37. in thoſe days ſhe fell ſick and dy'd. It is promis'd to thoſe who conſider the Poor, not that they ſhall never be ſick, but that the Lord will ſtrengthen them upon the Bed of Languiſhing, at leaſt with Strength in their Soul, and ſo will make all the Bed in their Sickneſs, will make it eaſy, Pſal. xli. 1, 3. They cannot hope that they ſhall never dye, merciful Men are taken away, and merciful Women too, witneſs Tabitha, but they may hope that they ſhall find Mercy of the Lord in that Day, 2 Tim. i. 18.

5. Her Friends and thoſe about her did not preſently bury her as uſual, becauſe they were in Hopes Peter would come and raiſe her to Life again, but they waſh'd the Body according to the Cuſtom, which they ſay was with warm Water, which if there were any Life remaining in the Body would recover it; ſo that this was done to ſhew that ſhe was really and truly dead; They try'd all the uſual Methods to bring her to Life and could not. Conclamatum eſt. They laid her out in her Grave-Cloaths in an upper Chamber. Which Dr. Lightfoot thinks was probably the publick Meeting-Room for the Believers of that Town; and they laid the Body there, that Peter if he would come might raiſe her to Life the more ſolemnly in that Place.

Secondly, The Requeſt which her Chriſtian Friends ſent to Peter to come to them with all Speed, not to attend the Funeral, but if it might be to prevent it, v. 38. Lydda where Peter now was, was nigh to Joppa, and the Diſciples at Joppa had heard that Peter was there, and that he had rais'd Eneas from a Bed of Languiſhing, and therefore ſent to him two Men to make the Meſſage the more ſolemn and reſpectful, deſiring him that he would not delay to come to them, not telling him the Occaſion, leſt he ſhould modeſtly decline coming upon ſo great an Errand, as to raiſe the Dead; If they can but get him to them, they will leave it to him. Their Friend was dead, and it was too late to ſend for a Phyſician, but not too late to ſend for Peter. Poſt mortem medicus, is an Abſurdity, but not Poſt mortem Apoſtolus.

Thirdly, The Poſture in which he found the ſurviving, when he came to them, v. 40. Peter aroſe and went with them, v. 39. Tho' they did not tell him what they wanted him for, yet he was willing to go along with them, believing it was upon ſome good Account or other that he was ſent for. Let not faithful Miniſters grudge to be at every Body's Beck, as far as they have Ability, when the great Apoſtle made himſelf the Servant of all, 1 Cor. ix. 19. He found the Corpſe laid in the Upper-chamber, and attended by Widows; probably, ſuch as were in the Communion of the Church, poor Widows; there they were.

1. Commending the Deceas'd; A good Work, when there was that in them which was truly commendable, and recommendable to Imitation, and it is done modeſtly and ſoberly, and without Flattery of the Survivors, or any ſiniſter Intention, but purely for the Glory of GOD, and the exciting of others to that which is virtuous and praiſe-worthy. The Commendation of Tabitha, was like her own Virtues, not in Word, but in Deed: Here were no Encomiums of her in Orations, or Poems incrib'd to her Memory; but the Widows ſhew'd the Coats and Garments which ſhe made for them and beſtow'd upon them, while ſhe was with them. It was the Comfort of Job while he liv'd, that the Loins of the Poor bleſs'd him, becauſe they were warm'd with the Fleece of his Sheep, Job. xxxi. 20. And here it was the Credit of Tabitha when ſhe was dead, that the Backs of the Widows prais'd her for the Garments which ſhe made them. And thoſe are certainly beſt prais'd, whoſe own Works praiſe them in the Gates, whether others Words do or no. And it is much more honourable to cloath a Company of crazy Widows with needful Cloathing, for Night and Day, who will pray for their Benefactors when they do not ſee them, than to cloath a Company of lazy Footmen with rich Liveries, who perhaps behind their Backs will curſe them that clothe them, Eccleſ. vii. 21. and 'tis what all that are Wiſe and Good will take a greater Pleaſure in; for Goodneſs is true Greatneſs, and will paſs better in the Account ſhortly. Obſerve, (1.) Into what Channel Tabitha turn'd much of her Charity, doubtleſs there were other Inſtances of her Alms-deeds which ſhe did, but this was now produc'd: She did as it ſhould ſeem (with her own Hands) make Coats and Garments for poor Widows, who perhaps with their our Labour could make a ſhift to get their Bread, but could not earn enough to buy Clothes. And this is an excellent Piece of Charity, If thou ſeeſt the Naked, that thou cover him, Iſa. lviii. 7. and not think it enough to ſay, Be ye warmed, Jam. ii. 15, 2. (16.) What a grateful Senſe the Poor had of her Kindneſs; They ſhew'd the Coats, nor aſham'd to own that they were indebted to her for the Cloaths on their Backs. Thoſe are horribly ungrateful indeed that have Kindneſs ſhewn them, and will not make at leaſt an Acknowledgment of it by ſhewing the Kindneſs that is done 'em, as theſe Widows here did. They that receive Alms are not oblig'd ſo induſtriouſly to conceal it, as thoſe are who give Alms. When the Poor reflect upon the rich as uncharitable, and unmerciful, they ought to reflect upon themſelves, and conſider whether they are not unthankful and ungrateful. Their ſhewing their Coats and Garments which Dorcas made, tended to the Praiſe not only of her Charity, but of her Induſtry, according to the Character of the virtuous Woman, that ſhe layeth her Hands to the Spindle, or at leaſt to the Needle, and then ſtretcheth out her Hand to the Poor, and reacheth forth her Hands to the Needy, of what ſhe has work'd; and when GOD and the Poor have thus had their Due, ſhe makes herſelf Coverings of Tapeſtry, and her own Cloathing as Silk and Purple, Prov. xxxi. 19, 20, 21, 22.

2. They were here lamenting the Loſs of her; The Widows ſtood by Peter weeping. When the Merciful are taken away, it ſhould be laid to Heart, eſpecially by thoſe to whom they have been in a particular Manner merciful. They needed not to weep for her, ſhe was taken from the Evil to come; ſhe reſts from her Labours, and her Works follow her, beſides thoſe ſhe leaves behind her; but they weep for themſelves and for their Children, who will ſoon find the Want of ſuch a good Woman, that had not left her Fellow. Obſerve, They take Notice of what good Dorcas did while ſhe was with them; but now ſhe is gone from them, and that's the Grief. Thoſe that are charitable will find that the Poor they have always with them, but 'tis well if thoſe that are poor find that the Charitable they have always with them. We muſt make a good Uſe of the Lights that yet a little while are with us, becauſe they will not be always with us, will not be long with us. And when they are gone, we ſhall think what they did when they were with us. It ſhould ſeem the Widows wept before Peter as an Inducement to him, if he could do any thing, to have Compaſſion on them, and help them, and reſtore One to them that us'd to have Compaſſion on them. When charitable People are dead, there's no praying them to Life again; but when they are ſick, that Piece of Gratitude is owing them to pray for their Recovery, that if it be the Will of GOD, thoſe may be ſpar'd to live, who can ill be ſpar'd to dye.

Fourthly, The Manner how ſhe was rais'd to Life.

1. Privately, She was laid in the Upper room, where they us'd to have their publick Meetings, and it ſhould ſeem there was great Crouding about the dead Body, in Expectation what would be done; but Peter put them all forth, all the weeping Widows, all but ſome few Relations of the Family, or perhaps the Heads of the Church, to joyn with him in Prayer; as Chriſt did, Mat. ix. 25. Thus Peter declin'd every thing that look'd like Vainglory and Oſtentation; they came to ſee, but he did not come to be ſeen. He put them all forth, that he might with the more Freedom pour out his Soul before GOD in Prayer upon this Occaſion, and not be diſturb'd with their noiſy and clamorous Lamentations.

2. By Prayer; in his healing Eneas there was an implicit Prayer, but in this greater Work, he addreſs'd himſelf to GOD by ſolemn Prayer, as Chriſt when he rais'd Lazarus; but Chriſt's Prayer was with the Authority of a Son, who quickens whom he will: Peter's with the Submiſſion of a Servant, who is under Direction, and therefore he kneel'd down and pray'd.

3. By the Word, a quickening Word, a Word which is Spirit and Life; He turn'd to the Body, which intimates, that when he pray'd, he turn'd from it; Leſt the Sight of it ſhould diſcourage his Faith, he look'd another Way, to teach us, like Abraham, againſt Hope, to believe in Hope, and overlook the Difficulties that lie in the Way, not conſidering the Body as now dead, leſt we ſhould ſtagger at the Promiſe, Rom. iv. 19, 20. But when he had pray'd, he turn'd to the Body, and ſpake in his Maſter's Name, and according to his Example, Tabitha, ariſe; Return to Life again. Power went along with this Word, and ſhe came to Life, opened her Eyes which Death had clos'd. Thus in the raiſing of dead Souls of Spiritual Life, the firſt Sign of Life, is the opening of the Eyes of the Mind, Acts xxi. 18. When ſhe ſaw Peter, ſhe ſate up, to ſhew that ſhe was really and truly alive. And, v. 41. He gave her his Hand and lift her up; not as if ſhe labour'd under any remaining Weakneſs; but thus he would as it were welcome her to Life again, and give her the right Hand of Fellowſhip among the Living, from whom ſhe had been cut off. And Laſtly, He call'd the Saints and Widows, who were all in Sorrow for her Death, and preſented her alive to them, to their great Comfort; particularly of the Widows, who were all in Sorrow for her Death, and preſented her alive to them, to their great Comfort; particularly of the Widows, who laid her Death much to Heart, v. 41. to them he preſented her, as Elijah, 1 Kin. xvii. 23. and Eliſha, 2 Kin. iv. 36. and Chriſt, Luke vii. 15. preſented the dead Sons alive to their Mothers. And the greateſt Joy and Satisfaction is expreſs'd by Life from the Dead.

Fifthly, The good Effect of this Miracle.

1. Many were by it convinc'd of the Truth of the Goſpel, that it was from Heaven, and not of Men, and believ'd in the Lord v. 42. The Thing was known throughout all Joppa; it would be in every Body's Mouth quickly, and it being a Town of Seafaring Men, the Notice of it would be the ſooner carry'd from thence to other Countries; and tho' ſome never minded it, many were wrought upon by it. This was the End of Miracles, to confirm a Divine Revelation.

2. Peter was hereby induc'd to continue ſome time in this City, v. 43. Finding that a Door of Opportunity was open'd for him there, he tarry'd there many Days, till he was ſent thence, and ſent for from thence upon Buſineſs to another Place. He tarry'd not in the Houſe of Tabitha, tho' ſhe was rich, leſt he ſhould ſeem to ſeek his own Glory; but he took up his Lodging with one Simon a Tanner, an ordinary Tradeſman, which is an Inſtance of his Condeſcention and Humility. And hereby he has taught us, not to mind high Things, but to condeſcend to them of low Eſtate, Rom. xiii. 16. And tho' Peter might ſeem to be bury'd in Obſcurity here in the Houſe of a poor Tanner by the Sea-ſide; yet hence GOD fetch'd him to a noble Piece of Service, in the next Chapter; for thoſe that humble themſelves ſhall be exalted.

CHAP. X.

'Tis a Turn very new and remarkable, which the Story of this Chapter gives to the Acts of the Apoſtles; Hitherto both at Jeruſalem and every where elſe where the Miniſters of Chriſt came, they preach'd the Goſpel only to the Jews, or thoſe Greeks that were circumcis'd and proſelyted to the Jews Religion; But now, Lo, we turn to the Gentiles; and to them the Door of Faith is here open'd: Good News indeed to us Sinners of the Gentiles. The Apoſtle Peter is the Man that is firſt employ'd to admit uncircumcis'd Gentiles into the Chriſtian Church; and Cornelius, a Roman Centurion, or Colonel, is the firſt that with his Family and Friends are ſo admitted, Now here we are told, (1.) How Cornelius was directed by a Viſion to ſend for Peter, and did ſend for him acordingly, v. 1—8. (2.) How Peter was directed by a Viſion to go to Cornelius, tho' he was a Gentile, without making any Scruple of it; and did go accordingly, v. 9—23. (3.) The happy Interview between Peter preach'd in the Houſe of Cornelius to him and to his Friends, v. 34—43. (5.) The Baptizing of Cornelius and his Friends with the Holy Ghoſt firſt, and then with Water, v. 44—48.

THERE was a certain man in Ceſaria, called Cornelius, a centurion of the band called the Italian band. 2 A devout man, and one that feared God with all his Houſe, which gave much alms to the people, and pray'd to God always. 3 He ſaw in a viſion evidently, about the ninth hour of the day, an angel of God coming in to him, and ſaying unto him, Cornelius. 4 And when he looked on him, he was afraid, and ſaid, What is it, Lord? And he ſaid unto him, Thy prayers and thine alms are come up for a memorial before God. 5 And now ſend men to Joppa and call for one Simon, whoſe ſirname is Peter: 6 He lodged with one Simon a tanner, whoſe houſe is by the ſea ſide; he ſhall tell thee what thou oughteſt to do. 7 And when the angel, which ſpaken to Cornelius, was departed, he called two of his houſhold ſervants, and a devout ſouldier of them that waited on him continually; 8 And when he had declared all theſe things unto them, he ſent them to Joppa.

The bringing of the Goſpel to the Gentiles, and the bringing of them who had been Strangers and Foreigners to be Fellow Citizens with the Saints, and of the Houſhold of GOD, was ſuch a Myſtery to the Apoſtles themſelves, and ſuch a Surprize, Eph. iii. 3, 6. that it concerns us carefully to obſerve all the Circumſtances of the Beginning of this great Work, this Part of the Myſtery of Godlineſs, Chriſt preach'd to the Gentiles, and believed on in the World, 1 Tim. iii. 16. It is not unlikely, that ſome Gentiles might before now ſtep into a Synagogue of the Jews, and hear the Goſpel preach'd, but the Goſpel was never yet deſignedly preach'd to the Gentiles, nor any of them baptiz'd; Cornelius was the firſt. And here we have.

Firſt, An Account given us of this Cornelius, who and what he was that was the Firſt-born of the Gentiles to Chriſt; We are here told, that he was a great Man, and a good Man; two Characters that ſeldom meet, but here they did; and where they do meet they put a Luſter upon each other; Goodneſs makes Greatneſs truly valuable, and Greatneſs makes Goodneſs much more ſerviceable.

1. Cornelius was an Officer of the Army, v. 1. He was at preſent quartered in Caſarea, a ſtrong City, lately re-edify'd and fortify'd by Herod the Great, and call'd Cæſarea in Honour of Auguſtus Cæſar. It lay upon the Sea-ſhore, very convenient for the keeping up of a Correſpondence between Rome and its Conqueſts in thoſe Parts. The Roman Governour or Proconſul, ordinarily reſided here, Acts xxiii. 23, 24. xxiv. 6. Here there was a Band, or Cohort, or Regiment of the Roman Army, which probably was the Governor's Life-Guard, and is here call'd the Italian Band, becauſe that they might be the more ſure of their Fidelity, they were all native Romans or Italians; Cornelius had a Command in this Part of the Army. His Name Cornelius, was much us'd among the Romans, among ſome of the moſt Antient and Noble Families. He was an Officer of conſiderable Rank and Figure, a Centurion. We read of one in our Saviour's Time of that Rank whom he gave a great Commendation of, Matth. viii. 10. When a Gentile muſt be pitch'd upon to receive the Goſpel firſt, 'tis not a Gentile Philoſopher, much leſs a Gentile Prieſt, who are bigotted to their Notions and Worſhips, and prejudic'd againſt the Goſpel of Chriſt; but a Gentile Soldier, who is a Man of more free Thought, and he that truly is ſo, when the Chriſtian Doctrine is fairly ſet before him, cannot but receive it, and bid it welcome. Fiſhermen, unlearned and ignorant Men, were the firſt of the Jewiſh Converts, but not ſo of the Gentiles; for the World ſhall know that the Goſpel has that in it which may recommend it to Men of polite Learning and a liberal Education, as we have Reaſon to think this Centurion was. Let not Soldiers and Officers of the Army plead that their Employment frees them from the Reſtraints which ſome others are under, and giving them an opportunity of living more at large, may excuſe them if they be not religious; for here was an Officer of the Army that embrac'd Chriſtianity and yet was neither turn'd out of his Place, nor turn'd himſelf out. And, laſtly, it was a Mortification to the Jews, that not only the Gentiles were taken into the Church, but the firſt that was taken in, was an Officer of the Roman Army, which was to them the Abomination of Deſolation.

2. He was, according to the Meaſure of the Light he had, a religious Man; 'Tis a very good Character that is given of him, v. 2. He was no Idolater, no Worſhipper of Falſe Gods, or Images, nor allow'd himſelf in any of thoſe Immoralities which the greater Part of the Gentile World were given up to, to puniſh them for their Idolatry. (1.) He was poſſeſs'd with a Principle of Regard to the True and Living GOD; He was a devout Man, and one that feared GOD; he believ'd in one GOD, the Creator of Heaven and Earth, and had a Reverence of his Glory, and Authority, and a dread of offending him by Sin; and tho' he was a Soldier, it was no Diminution to the Credit of his Valour to tremble before GOD. (2.) He kept up Religion in his Family; He fear'd GOD with all his Houſe. He would not admit any Idolaters under his Roof; but took Care that not himſelf only, but all his, ſhould ſerve the LORD. Every good Man will do what he can that thoſe about him may be good too. (3.) He was a very charitable Man; He gave much Alms to the People; the People of the Jews, notwithſtanding the Singularities of their Religion. Tho' he was a Gentile he was willing to contribute to the Relief of one that was a real Object of Charity, without asking, What Religion he was of? (4.) He was much in Prayer; He pray'd to GOD always. He kept up ſtated Times for Prayer, and was conſtant to them. Note, Wherever the Fear of GOD rules in the Heart, it will appear both in Works of Charity and of Piety, and neither will excuſe us from the Other.

Secondly, The Orders given him from Heaven by the Miniſtry of an Angel, to ſend for Peter to come to him; which he would never have done, if he had not been thus directed to do it. Obſerve,

1. How, and in what Way, theſe Orders were given him; He had a Viſion, in which an Angel deliver'd them to him, 'twas about the ninth Hour of the Day; at three of the Clock in the Afternoon, which is with us an Hour of Buſineſs and Converſation; but then, becauſe it was in the Temple, the Time of the Offering of the Evening-Sacrifice, it was made by devout People, an Hour of Prayer, to intimate, that all our Prayers are to be offer'd up in the Virtue of the Great Sacrifice. Cornelius was now at Prayer, ſo he tells us himſelf, v. 30. Now here we are told, (1.) That an Angel of GOD came in to him, By the Brightneſs of his Countenance, and the manner of his coming in, he knew him to be ſomething more than a Man, and therefore nothing leſs than an Angel, an Expreſs from Heaven. (2.) That he ſaw him evidently, with his bodily Eyes, not in a Dream preſented to his Imagination; but in a Viſion, preſented to his Sight, for his greater Satisfaction; it carry'd its own Evidence along with it. (3.) That he call'd him by his Name, Cornelius, to intimate the particular Notice GOD took of him. (4.) That this put Cornelius for the preſent into ſome Confuſion, v. 4. When he look'd on him, he was afraid; The wiſeſt and beſt Men have been ſtruck with Fear upon the Appearance of any extraordinary Meſſenger from Heaven; and juſtly, for ſinful Man knows he has no Reaſon to expect any good Tydings from thence. And therefore Cornelius cries, What is it Lord? What is the Matter? This he ſpeaks as one afraid of ſomething amiſs, and long'd to be eas'd of that Fear, by knowing the Truth: Or, as one deſirous to know the Mind of GOD, and ready to comply with it, as Joſhua, What ſaith my Lord unto his Servant? And Samuel, Speak, for thy Servant heareth.

2. What the Meſſage was, that was deliver'd him.

1. He is aſſur'd, that GOD accepts of him in walking according to the Light he had, v. 4. Thy Prayers and thine Alms are come up for a Memorial before GOD. Obſerve, Prayers and Alms muſt go together. We muſt follow our Prayers with Alms; for the Faſt that GOD hath choſen, is to draw out the Soul to the Hungry, Iſa, lviii. 6, 7. 'Tis not enough to pray that what we have may be ſanctify'd to us, but we muſt give Alms of ſuch Things as we have; and then behold, all Things are clean to us, Luke xi. 41. And we muſt follow our Alms with our Prayers, that GOD would graciouſly accept them, and that they may be bleſſed to thoſe to whom they are given. Cornelius pray'd, and gave Alms, not as the Phariſees, to be ſeen of Men, but in Sincerity as unto GOD; and he is here told, That they were come up for a Memorial before GOD; they were upon Record in Heaven, in the Book of Remembrance that is written there for all that fear GOD, and ſhall be remembred to his Advantage; thy Prayers ſhall be anſwer'd, and thine Alms recompenc'd. The Sacrifices under the Law, are ſaid to be for a Memorial, See Lev. ii. 9, 16. v. 12. vi. 15. And Prayers and Alms are our Spiritual Offerings, which GOD is pleas'd to take Cognizance of, and have Regard to. The Divine Revelation communicated to the Jews, as far as the Gentiles were concern'd in it, not only as it directed and improv'd the Light and Law of Nature, but as it promis'd a Meſſiah to come, Cornelius believ'd and ſubmitted to; what he did, he did in that Faith, and was accepted of GOD in it; for the Gentiles to whom the Law of Moſes came, were not oblig'd to become Circumciſed Jews, as thoſe to whom the Goſpel of Chriſt comes, are to become Baptiz'd Chriſtians.

2. He is appointed to enquire after a further Diſcovery of Divine Grace, now lately made to the World, v. 5, 6. He muſt ſend forthwith to Joppa, and enquire for one Simon Peter, he lodgeth at the Houſe of one Simon a Tanner; his Houſe is by the Sea-ſide, and if he be ſent for, he will come; and when he comes, he ſhall tell thee what thou oughteſt to do, in anſwer to thy Queſtion, What is it Lord? Now here are two Things very ſurprizing, and well worthy our Conſideration.

(1.) Cornelius prays and gives Alms, in the Fear of GOD; is Religious himſelf, and keeps up Religion in his Family; and all this ſo as to be accepted of GOD in it, and yet there is ſomething further that he ought to do; he ought to embrace the Chriſtian Religion, now GOD has eſtabliſhed it among Men. Not, he may do it if he pleaſes, it will be an Improvement and Entertainment to him; but he muſt do it, 'tis indiſpenſably neceſſary to his Acceptance with GOD for the future, tho' he has been accepted in his Services hitherto. He that believ'd the Promiſe of the Meſſiah, muſt now believe the Performance of that Promiſe. Now God had given a further Record concerning his Son, than what had been given in the Old Teſtament Prophecies, He requires that we receive that when it is brought to us: And now neither our Prayers nor our Alms, come up for a Memorial before GOD unleſs we believe in Jeſus Chriſt; for 'tis that further which we ought to do. This is his Commandment, That we believe. Prayers and Alms are accepted from thoſe that believe that the Lord is God and have not Opportunity of knowing more. But from thoſe to whom it is preach'd, That Jeſus is Chriſt, 'tis neceſſary to the Acceptance of their Perſons, Prayers and Alms, that they believe That, and reſt upon him alone for Acceptance.

(2.) Cornelius has now an Angel from Heaven talking to him, and yet he muſt not receive the Goſpel of Chriſt from this Angel, nor be told by him what he ought to do, but all that the Angel has to ſay is, Send for Peter, and he ſhall tell thee. As the former Obſervation puts a mighty Honour upon the Goſpel ſo doth this upon the Goſpel Miniſtry; 'twas not to the higheſt of Angels, but to them who were leſs than the leaſt of all Saints, that this Grace was given to preach among the Gentiles the unſearchable Riches of Chriſt, Eph. iii. 8. that the Excellency of the Power might be of GOD, and the Dignity of an Inſtitution of Chriſt ſupported; for unto the Angels hath he not put in Subjection the World to come, Heb. ii. 5. but to the Son of Man as the Sovereign, and the Sons of Men as his Agents and Miniſters of State, whoſe Terror ſhall not make us afraid, nor their Hand be heavy upon us, as this Angel now was to Cornelius. And as it was an Honour to the Apoſtle that he muſt preach that which an Angel might not, ſo it was a further Honour that an Angel was diſpatch'd on Purpoſe from Heaven to order him to be ſent for. To bring a faithful Miniſter and a willing People together is a Work worthy of an Angel, and what therefore the greateſt of Men ſhould be glad to be employ'd in.

Thirdly, His immediate Obedience to theſe Orders, v. 7, 8. He ſent with all Speed to Joppa to fetch Peter to him. Had he himſelf only been concern'd, he would have gone to Joppa to him. But he had a Family, and Kinſmen, and Friends, v. 24. a little Congregation of them that could not go with him to Joppa, and therefore he ſends for Peter. Obſerve.

1. When he ſent; As ſoon as ever the Angel which ſpoke unto him was departed. Without Diſpute or Delay, he was obedient to the Heavenly Viſion. He perceiv'd by what the Angel ſaid, he was to have ſome further Work preſcrib'd him, and he long'd to have it told him. He made haſte, and delayed not to do this Commandment. In any Affair wherein our Souls are concern'd, 'tis good for us not to loſe Time.

2. Whom he ſent. Two of his Houſhold Servants, who all feared GOD, and a devout Soldier, one of them that waited on him continually. Obſerve, a Devout Centurion, had devout Soldiers; A little Devotion commonly goes a great Way with Soldiers, But there would be more of it in the Soldiers, if there were but more of it in the Commanders. Officers in an Army that have ſuch a great Power over the Soldiers, as we find the Centurion had, Matth. viii. 9. have a great Opportunity of promoting Religion, at leaſt of reſtraining Vice and Profaneneſs in thoſe under their Command, if they would but improve it. Obſerve, when this Centurion was to chooſe ſome of his Soldiers to attend his Perſon and to be always about him, he pitch'd upon ſuch of them as were Devout, they ſhall be prefer'd and countenanc'd, to encourage others to be ſo; he went by David's Rule, Pſal. ci. 6. Mine Eye ſhall be upon the Faithful in the land, that they may dwell with me.

3. What Inſtructions he gave them, v. 8. he declar'd all theſe Things unto them, told them of the Viſion he had, and the Orders given him to ſend for Peter, becauſe Peter's coming was a Thing in which they were concern'd, for they had Souls to ſave as well as he. Therefore he doth not only tell them where to find Peter, which he might have thought it enough to do, the Servant knows not what his Lord doth; but he tells them on what Errand he was to come, that they might importune him.

9 ¶ On the morrow as they went on their journey, and drew nigh unto the city, Peter went up upon the houſe top to pray, about the ſixth hour. 10 And he became very hungry, and would have eaten: but while they made ready, he fell into a trance. 11 And ſaw heaven opened, and a certain veſſel deſcending unto him, as it had been a great ſheet, knit at the four corners, and let down to the earth: 12 Wherein were all manner of four footed beaſts of the earth, and wild beaſts, and creeping things, and fowls of the air. 13 And there came a voice to him, Riſe, Peter, kill and eat. 14 But Peter ſaid, Not ſo Lord: for I have never eaten any thing that is common or unclean. 15 And the voice ſpeak unto him again the ſecond time, What God hath cleanſed, that call not thou common. 16 This was done thrice: and the veſſel was received up again into heaven. 17 Now while Peter doubted in himſelf what this viſion which he had ſeen ſhould mean; behold, the men, which were ſent from Cornelius, had made enquiry for Simons houſe, and ſtood before the gate. 18 And called, and asked whether Simon which was ſirnamed Peter, were lodged there.

Cornelius had receiv'd poſitive Orders from Heaven to ſend for Peter, whom otherwiſe he had not heard of, or at leaſt not heeded; But here is another Difficulty that lyes in the Way of bringing them together. The Queſtion is, Whether Peter will come to Cornelius when he is ſent for? not as if he thinks it below him to come at a Beck, or as if he is afraid to preach his Doctrine to a polite Man as Cornelius was; But it ſticks at a Point of Conſcience; Cornelius is a very worthy Man, and has many good Qualities, But he is a Gentile, he is not circumciſed: And becauſe GOD in his Law had forbidden his People to aſſociate with idolatrous Nations, they would not keep Company with any but thoſe of their own Religion, tho' they were never ſo deſerving; and carried the Matter ſo far, that they made even the involuntary Touch of a Gentile to contract a ceremonial Pollution, Joh. xviii. 28. Peter had not got over this ſtingy bigotted Notion of his Countrymen, and therefore will be ſhy of coming to Cornelius. Now to remove this Difficulty he has a Viſion here, to prepare him to receive the Meſſage ſent him by Cornelius, as Ananias had to prepare him to go to Paul. The Scriptures of the Old Teſtament had ſpoken plainly of the bringing in of the Gentiles into the Church, Chriſt had given him plain intimations of it, when he order'd them to teach all Nations, and yet even Peter himſelf that knew ſo much of his Maſter's Mind cannot underſtand it, till it was here reveal'd by Viſion, that the Gentiles ſhould be Fellow-Heirs, Eph. iii. 6. Now here Obſerve, Firſt, The Circumſtances of this Viſion.

1. It was when the Meſſengers ſent from Cornelius were now near the City. v. 9. Peter know nothing of their Approach, and they knew nothing of his Praying, but He that knew both him and them was preparing Things for the Interview, and facilitating the End of their Negotiation. To all GOD's Purpoſes there is a Time, a proper Time. And he is pleas'd often to bring Things to the Minds of his Miniſters which they had not thought of juſt then when they have Occaſion to uſe them.

2. It was when Peter went up upon the Houſe top to Pray, about Noon. (1.) Peter was much in Prayer, much in ſecret Prayer, tho' he had a great deal of publick Work upon his Hands. (2.) He pray'd about the Sixth Hour, according to David's Example, who not only Morning and Evening, but at Noon addreſs'd himſelf to GOD by Prayer, Pſal. lv. 17. From Morning to Night we would think to be too long to be without Meat, yet who thinks 'tis too long to be without Prayer. (3.) He pray'd upon the Houſe top; Thither he retir'd for Privacy, where he could neither hear nor be heard, and ſo might avoid both Diſtraction and Oſtentation. There upon the Roof of the Houſe he had a full View of the Heavens, which might aſſiſt his pious Adoration of the GOD he pray'd to, and there he had alſo a full View of the City and Country which might aſſiſt his pious Compaſſion of the People he had pray'd for. (4.) He had this Viſion immediately after he had pray'd, as an Anſwer to his Prayer for the ſpreading of the Goſpel; And becauſe the Aſcent of the Heart the GOD in Prayer is an excellent Preparative to receive the Diſcoveries of the Divine Grace and Favour.

3. It was when he became very hungry, and was waiting for his Dinner, v. 10. probably he had not eaten before, that Day, tho' doubtleſs he had pray'd before; And now he would have eaten, ἤθελε γεύσασθαι, he would have taſted, which intimates his great Moderation and Temperance in eating; when he was very hungry, yet he would be content with a little, with a Taſte, and would not fly upon the Spoil. Now this Hunger was a proper inlet to the Viſion about Meats, as Chriſt's Hunger in the Wilderneſs was to Satan's Temptations to turn Stones into Bread.

Secondly, The Viſion itſelf, which was not ſo plain as that to Cornelius, but more figurative and enigmatical, to make the deeper Impreſſion.

1. He fell into a Trance, or Extaſy, not of Terror, but of Contemplation, with which he was ſo intirely ſwallow'd up as not only not to be regardful, but not to be ſenſible of external Things; He quite loſt himſelf to this World, and ſo had his Mind intirely free for Converſe with Divine Things, as Adam in Innocency, when the deep Sleep fell upon him. The more clear we get of the World, the more near we get to Heaven, whether Peter was now in the Body or out of the Body, he could not himſelf tell, much leſs can we, 2 Cor. xii. 2, 3. ſee Gen. xv. 12. Acts xxii. 17.

2. He ſaw Heaven open'd; that he might be ſure his Authority to go to Cornelius was indeed from Heaven; That it was a Divine Light which alter'd his Sentiments, and a Divine Power that gave him his Commiſſion. The Opening of the Heavens ſignify'd the Opening of a Myſtery that had been hid, Rom. xvi. 20.

3. He ſaw a great Sheet full of all manner of Living Creatures, which deſcended from Heaven, and was let down to him, to the Earth, i. e. to the Roof of the Houſe where he now was. Here were not only Beaſts of the Earth, but Fowls of the Air, which might have flown away, laid at his Feet; and not only tame Beaſts, but wild. Here were no Fiſhes of the Sea, becauſe there were none of them in particular unclean, but whatever had Fins and Scales were allow'd to be eaten. Some make this Sheet thus fill'd to repreſent the Church of Chriſt. It comes down from Heaven, from Heaven open'd, not only to ſend it down, Rev. xxi. 2. but to receive Souls ſent up from it; 'Tis Knit at the Four Corners, to receive thoſe from all Parts of the World that are willing to be added to it; and to retain and keep thoſe ſafe that are taken in to it, that they may not fall out; And in this we find ſome of all Countries, Nations and Language, without any Diſtinction of Greek or Jew, or any Diſadvantage put upon Barbarian, or Scythian, Col. iii. 2. The Net of the Goſpel incloſeth all both bad and good, thoſe that before were clean, and unclean. Or it may be apply'd to the Bounty of the Divine Providence, which antecedently to the Prohibitions of the Ceremonial Law had given to Man a Liberty to uſe all the Creatures, to which by the cancelling of that Law we are now reſtor'd. By this Viſion we are taught to ſee all the Benefit and Service we have from the inferiour Creatures coming down to us from Heaven, 'Tis the Gift of GOD who made them, made them fit for us, and then gave to Man a Right to them, and Dominion over them. Lord, what is Man that he ſhould be thus magnify'd, Pſal. viii. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8. How would it double our Comfort in the Creatures, and our Obligations to ſerve GOD in the Uſe of them, to ſee them thus let down to us out of Heaven.

4. Peter was order'd by a Voice from Heaven to make Uſe of this Plenty and Variety which GOD had ſent him. v. 13. Riſe, Peter, kill and eat, without putting any Difference between clean and unclean, take which thou haſt moſt Mind to. The Diſtinction of Meats which the Law made was intended to put a Difference between Jew and Gentiles, that it might be difficult to them to dine and ſup with a Gentile, becauſe they would have that ſet before them which they were not allow'd to eat; And now the taking off of that Prohibition was a plain Allowance to converſe with the Gentiles, and to be free and familiar with them, now they might fare as they far'd, and therefore might eat with them, and be Fellow-Commoners with them.

5. Peter ſtuck to his Principles, and would by no Means hearken to the Motion, tho' he was Hungry, v. 14. Not ſo Lord. Tho' Hunger will break through Stone Walls, God's Laws ſhould be to us a ſtronger Fence than Stone-Walls, and not ſo eaſily broken through. And he will adhere to God's Laws, tho' he had a Countermand by a Voice from Heaven, not knowing at firſt but that Kill and Eat was a Command of Tryal whether he would adhere to the more ſure Word the Written Law, and if ſo his Anſwer had been very good, Not ſo Lord; Temptations to eat forbidden Fruit muſt not be parleyed with, but peremptorily rejected; we muſt ſtartle at the Thought of it, Not ſo Lord. The Reaſon he gives is, For I have never eaten any Thing that is common or unclean; Hitherto I have kept my Integrity in this Matter, and will ſtill keep it. If GOD by his Grace has preſerv'd us from groſs Sin unto this Day, we ſhould uſe that as an Argument with our ſelves, to abſtain from all Appearance of Evil. So ſtrict were the pious Jews in this Matter that the ſeven Brethren, thoſe Glorious Martyrs under Antiochus, choſe rather to be tortur'd to Death in the moſt cruel Manner that ever was than to eat Swines Fleſh, becauſe it was forbidden by the Law; No Wonder then that Peter ſaith it with ſo much Pleaſure, that his Conſcience could witneſs for him, that he had never gratify'd his Appetite with any forbidden Food.

6. GOD by a Second Voice from Heaven proclaim'd the Repeal of the Law in this Caſe, v. 15. What God hath cleans'd, that call not thou common. He that made the Law might alter it when he pleas'd, and reduce the Matter to its firſt State, GOD had for Reaſons ſuited to the Old Teſtament Diſpenſation, reſtrain'd the Jews from Eating ſuch and ſuch Meats, which while that Diſpenſation laſted they were obblig'd in Conſcience to ſubmit to; But he has now for Reaſons ſuited to the New Teſtament Diſpenſation, taken off that Reſtraint, and ſet the Matter at large, has cleans'd that which was before polluted to us, and we ought to make Uſe of, and ſtand faſt in the Liberty wherewith Chriſt has made us Free, and not call that common or unclean which GOD has now declared clean. Note, We ought to welcome it as a great Mercy, that by the Goſpel of Chriſt we are freed from the Diſtinction of Meats, which was made by the Law of Moſes, and that now every Creature of God is good and nothing to be refus'd; not ſo much becauſe hereby we gain the uſe of Swines Fleſh, Hares, Rabbets, and other pleaſant and wholeſome Food for our Bodies, But chiefly becauſe Conſcience is hereby freed from a Yoke in Things of this Nature, that we might ſerve GOD without Fear. Tho' the Goſpel has made Duties which were not ſo by the Law of Nature, yet it has not like the Law of Moſes made Sins that were not ſo. Thoſe who command to abſtain from ſome Kinds of Meats, at ſome Times of the Year, and place Religion in it, call that common which God hath cleans'd, and in that Error more than in any Truth are the Succeſſors of Peter.

7. This was done thrice, v. 16. The Sheet was drawn up a little Way, and let down again the ſecond Time, and ſo the third Time, with the ſame Call to him to Kill and Eat, and the ſame Reaſon, that what God hath cleanſed we muſt not call common; But whether Peter's Refuſal was repeated the ſecond and third Time is not certain; ſure it was not, when his Objection had the firſt time receiv'd ſuch a ſatisfactory Anſwer. The Doubling of Pharaoh's Dream, and ſo the Trebling of Peter's Viſion was to ſhew that the Thing was certain, and engage him to take ſo much the more Notice of it. The Inſtructions given us in the Things of GOD whether by the Ear in the Preaching of the Word, or by the Eye in Sacraments, need to be oft repeated; Precept muſt be upon Precept, and Line upon Line. But at laſt the Veſſel was receiv'd up into Heaven. Thoſe who make this Veſſel to repreſent the Church including both Jews and Gentiles, as this did both clean and unclean Creatures, make this very aptly to ſignify the Admiſſion of the believing Gentiles into the Church, and into Heaven too, into the Jeruſalem above; Chriſt has open'd the Kingdom of Heaven to all Believers, and there we ſhall find, beſides thoſe that are ſealed out of all the Tribes of Iſrael, an innumerable Company out of every Nation. Rev. vii. 9. but they are ſuch as God has cleans'd.

Thirdly, The Providence which very opportunely explain'd this Viſion, and gave Peter to underſtand the Intention of it, v. 17, 18.

1. What Chriſt did, Peter knew not juſt then, (John xiii. 7.) He doubted within himſelf what this Viſion which he had ſeen ſhould mean. He had no Reaſon to doubt the Truth of it, that it was a Heavenly Viſion, all his Doubt was concerning the Meaning of it Note, Chriſt reveals himſelf to his People by degrees, and not all at once; and leaves them to doubt a while, to ruminate upon a Thing, and debate it too and fro in their own Minds before he clears it up to them.

2. Yet he was made to know preſently; for the Men which were ſent from Cornelius were juſt now come to the Houſe, and were at the Gate enquiring whether Peter lodg'd there, and by their Errand it will appear what was the Meaning of this Viſion. Note, GOD knows what Services are before us, and therefore how to prepare us; And we then better know the Meaning of what he has taught us, when we find what Occaſion we have to make Uſe of it.

19 ¶ While Peter thought on the viſion, the ſpirit ſaid unto him, Behold, three men ſeek thee. 20 Ariſe therefore and get thee down, and go with them, doubting nothing: for I have ſent them. 21 Then Peter went down to the men which were ſent unto him for Cornelius; and ſaid, Behold, I am he whom ye ſeek: what is the cauſe wherefore ye are come? 22 And they ſaid, Cornelius the centurion, a juſt man, and one that feareth God, and of good report among all the nation of the Jews, was warned from God by an holy angel, to ſend for the unto his houſe, and to hear words of thee. 23 Then called he them in, and lodged them. And on the morrow Peter went away with them, and certain brethren from Joppa accompanied him. 24 And the morrow after they entred into Ceſarea: and Cornelius waited for them, and had, called together his kinſmen and near friends. 25 And as Peter was coming in, Cornelius met him, and fell down at his feet, and worſhipped him. 26 But Peter took him up, ſaying, Stand up, I my ſelf alſo am a man. 27 And as he talked with him, he went in, and found many that were come together. 28 And he ſaid unto them, Ye know how that it is an unlawful thing for a man that is a Jew, to keep company, or come unto one of another nation: but God had ſhewed me, that I ſhould not call any man common or unclean. 29 Therefore came I unto you without gainſaying, aſſoon as I was ſent for: I ask therefore, for what intent ye have ſent for me. 30 And Cornelius ſaid, Four days ago I was faſting until this hour, and at the ninth hour I prayed in my houſe, and behold, a man ſtood before me in bright cloathing, 31 And ſaid, Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thine alms are had in remembrance in the ſight of God. 32 Send therefore to Joppa, and call hither Simon whoſe ſirname is Peter; he is lodged in the houſe of one Simon a tanner, by the ſea-ſide; who when he cometh, ſhall ſpeak unto thee. 33 Immediately therefore I ſent to thee; and thou haſt well done that thou art come. Now therefore are we all here preſent before God, to hear all things that are commanded thee of God.

We have here the Meeting between Peter the Apoſtle, and Cornelius the Centurion. Tho' Paul was deſign'd to be the Apoſtle of the Gentiles, and to gather in the Harveſt among them, and Peter to be the Apoſtle of the Circumciſion, yet it is order'd that Peter ſhall break the Ice, and reap the firſt Fruits of the Gentiles, that the believing Jews who retain'd too much of the Old Leaven of Ill-will to the Gentiles might be the better reconcil'd to their Admiſſion into the Church, when they were firſt brought in by their own Apoſtle, which Peter urgeth againſt thoſe that would have impos'd Circumciſion upon the Gentile Converts, Acts xv. 7. Ye know that God made Choice among us that the Gentiles by my Mouth ſhould hear the Word of the Goſpel. Now here

Firſt, Peter is directed by the Spirit, to go along with Cornelius's Meſſengers, v. 19, 20. And this is the Expſiotion of the Viſion; Now the Riddle is unriddl'd, while Peter thought on the Viſion. He was muſing upon it, and then it was open'd to him. Note, Thoſe that would be taught the Things of GOD, muſt think on thoſe things; that would underſtand the Scripture, muſt meditate in them Day and Night. He was at a Loſs about it, and then had it explain'd; which encourages us when we know not what to do, to have our Eyes up unto GOD for Direction. Obſerve,

1. Whence he had the Direction; The Spirit ſaid to him what he ſhould do. 'Twas not ſpoken to him by an Angel, but ſpoken in him by the Spirit ſecretly whiſpering it in his Ear, as it were, as GOD ſpoke to Samuel, 1 Sam. ix. 15. or impreſſing it powerfully upon his Mind, ſo that he knew it to be a divine Afflatus, or Inſpiration, according to the Promiſe, Job xvi. 13.

2. What the Direction was. (2.) He is told, before any of the Servants could come up to tell him, That there are Three Men below want to ſpeak with him, v. 19. And he muſt ariſe from his Muſings, leave off thinking of the Viſion, and go down to Them. v. 20. Thoſe that are ſearching into the Meaning of the Words of God, and the Viſions of the Almighty, ſhould not be always poring, no, nor alwaws praying; but ſhould ſometimes look abroad, look about them and they may meet with that which will be of Uſe to them in their Enquires; for the Scripture is in the fulfilling every Day. (2.) He is order'd to go along with the Meſſengers to Cornelius, tho' he was a Gentile, doubting nothing. He muſt not only go, but go chearfully, without out Reluctancy or Hæſitation, or any Scruple concerning the Lawfulneſs of it; not doubting whether he might go; No, nor whether he ought to go; for it was his Duty. Go with them, for I have ſent them; and I will bear thee out in going along with them, however thou may'ſt be cenſur'd for it. Note, When we ſee our Call clear to any Service, we ſhould not ſuffer ourſelves to be perplex'd with Doubts and Scruples concerning it, ariſing from former Prejudices or Prepoſſeſſions, or a Fear of Mens Cenſure. Let every Man be fully perſuaded in his own Mind, and prove his own Work.

Secondly, He receives both them and their Meſſage; He went down to them, v. 21. So far was he from going out of the Way, or refuſing to be ſpoken with, as One that was ſhy of them; or making them tarry, as One that took State upon him, that he went to them himſelf; told them, he was the Perſon they were enquiring for. And,

1. He favourably receives their Meſſage, with Abundance of Openneſs and Condeſcenſion he asks, What their Buſineſs is? What they have to ſay to him, What is the Cauſe wherefore ye are come? And they tell him their Errand, v. 22. Cornelius, an Officer of the Roman Army, a very honeſt Gentleman, and One that has more Religion than moſt of his Neighbours, that fears God above many, (Neh. vii. 2.) who tho' he is not a Jew himſelf, has carry'd it ſo well, that he is of good Report among all the People of the Jews, they will all give him a good Word, for a Conſcientious, ſober, charitable Man; ſo that it will be no Diſcredit to thee to be ſeen in his Company, he was warn'd from God, ἐχρηματίσθη he had an Oracle from God, ſent him by an Angel (and the lively Oracles of the Law of Moſes, were given by the Diſpoſition of Angels) by which he was order'd to ſend for thee to his Houſe, (where he is expecting thee, and ready to bid thee welcome) and to hear Words of thee: They know not what Words, but they are ſuch as he may hear from thee, and not from any One elſe ſo well; Faith comes by Hearing. When Peter repeats this, he tells us more fully, they are Words whereby thou and all thy Houſe ſhall be ſaved, chap. xi. 14. Come to him, for an Angel bid him ſend for thee; Come to him, for he is ready to hear and receive thoſe ſaving Words thou haſt to bring him.

2. He kindly entertain'd the Meſſengers, v. 23. He call'd them in, and lodg'd them. He did not bid them go and refreſh and repoſe themſelves in an Inn at their own Charge, but was himſelf at the Charge of entertaining them in his own Quarters. What was a getting ready for him, v. 10. They ſhould be welcome to ſhare in; he little thought what Company he ſhould have when he beſpoke his Dinner, but GOD foreſaw it. Note, It becomes Chriſtians and Miniſters to be hoſpitable, and ready, according as their Ability is, and there is Occaſion for it, to entertain Strangers. Peter lodg'd them tho' they were Gentiles, to ſhew how readily he comply'd with the Deſign of the Viſion in eating with Gentiles; for he immediately took them to eat with him. Tho' they were two of them Servants, and the other a common Soldier, yet Peter thought it not below him to take them into his Houſe. Probably, he did it that he might have ſome Talk with them about Cornelius and his Family; for the Apoſtles tho' they had Inſtructions from the Spirit, yet made Uſe of other Informations, as they had Occaſion for them.

Thirdly, He went with them to Cornelius, whom he found ready to receive and entertain him.

1. Peter when he went with them, was accompany'd by certain Brethren from Joppa, where he now was, v. 23. Six of them went along with him, as we find, chap. xi. 12. Either Peter deſir'd their Company, that they might be Witneſſes of his proceeding cautiouſly with Reference to the Gentiles; and of the good Ground on which he went, and therefore he voucheth them, chap. xi. 12. Or, they offer'd their Service to attend him, and deſir'd they might have the Honour and Happineſs of being his Fellow-Travellers. This was one Way in which the Primitive Chriſtians very much ſhew'd their Reſpect to their Miniſters, they accompany'd them in their Journies, to keep them in Countenance, to be their Guard, and as there was Occaſion, to miniſter to them; with a further Proſpect not only of doing them Service, but of being edify'd by their Converſe. 'Tis Pity thoſe who have Skill and Will to do Good to others by their Diſcourſe, ſhould want an Opportunity for it by travelling alone.

2. Cornelius when he was ready to receive him, had got ſome Friends together of Cæſarea; It ſeems it was above a Day's Journey, near two, from Joppa to Cæſarea; for 'twas the Day after they ſet out that they enter'd into Cæſarea, v. 24. and the Afternoon of that Day, v. 30. 'Tis likely they travelled on foot, the Apoſtles generally did ſo. Now when they came into the Houſe of Cornelius, Peter found (1.) That he was expected, and that was an Encouragement to him. Cornelius waited for them, and ſuch a Gueſt was worth waiting for; nor can I blame him if he waited with ſome Impatience, longing to know what that mighty Thing was which an Angel bid him expect to hear from Peter. (2.) That he was expected by many, and that was a further Encouragement to him. As Peter brought ſome with him to partake of the ſpiritual Gift he had now to diſpenſe; ſo Cornelius had call'd together not only his own Family, but his Kinſmen and near Friends to partake with him of the heavenly Inſtructions he expected from Peter, which would give Peter a larger Opportunity of doing Good. Note, We ſhould not covet to eat our ſpiritual Morſels alone, Job xxxi. 17. It ought to be both given and taken as a Piece of Kindneſs and Reſpect to our Kindred and Friends to invite them to joyn with us in religious Exerciſes; to go with us to hear a good Sermon. What Cornelius ought to do he thought his Kinſmen and Friends ought to do too; and therefore let them come hear it at the firſt Hand, that it may be no Surprize to them to ſee him change upon it.

Fourthly, Here's the firſt Interview between Peter and Cornelius: In which we have,

1. The profound and indeed undue Reſpect and Honour which Cornelius paid to Peter; v. 25. He met him as he was coming in, and inſtead of taking him in his Arms and embracing him as a Friend, which would have been very acceptable to Peter, he fell down at his Feet and worſhipped him. Some think, as a Prince and a great Man, according to the Uſage of the Eaſtern Countries. Others think, as an Incarnate Deity, or as if he took him to be the Meſſiah himſelf. His worſhipping a Man, was indeed culpaple, but conſidering his preſent Ignorance, it was excuſable, commendable; and that was a great Veneration for divine and heavenly Things: No Wonder if till he was better inform'd, he took him to be the Meſſiah, and therefore worſhipped him whom he was order'd to ſend for by an Angel from Heaven: But the worſhipping of his pretended Succeſſor, who is not only a Man, but a ſinful Man, the Man of Sin himſelf, is altogether inexcuſable, and ſuch an Abſurdity, as would be incredible, if we were not told before, that all the World would worſhip the Beaſt, Rev. xiii. 4.

2. Peter's modeſt, and indeed juſt and pious Refuſal of this Honour that was done him, v. 26. He took him up into his Arms with his own Hands, (tho' Time was, when he little thought he ſhould ever either receive ſo much Reſpect from, or ſhew ſo much Affection to an uncircumcis'd Gentile) ſaying, Stand up, I myſelf alſo am a Man, and therefore not to be worſhipped thus. The good Angels of the Churches, are like the good Angels of Heaven, cannot bear to have the leaſt of that Honour ſhewn to them, which is due to GOD only, See thou do it not, ſaith the Angel to John, Rev. xix. 10. xx. 9. And in like manner, the Apoſtle to Cornelius. How careful was Paul that no Man ſhould think of him above what he ſaw in him, 2 Cor. xii. 6. Chriſt's faithful Servants could better bear to be vilify'd, than to be edify'd. Peter did not entertain a Surmiſe that his great Reſpect for him, tho' exceſſive might contribute to the Succeſs of his Preaching, and therefore if he will be deceiv'd, let him be deceiv'd; No, let him know that Peter is a Man, that the Treaſure is in earthen Veſſels, that he may value Treaſure for its own ſake.

Fifthly, The Account which Peter and Cornelius give to each other, and to the Company, of the Hand of Heaven in bringing them together. As he talk'd with him, συνομιλῶν αὐτῷ, he went in, v. 27. Peter went in talking familiarly with Cornelius, endeavouring by the Freedom of his Converſe with him to take off ſomething of that Dread which he ſeem'd to have of him; and when he came in, he found many that were come together, more than he expected; which added Solemnity as well as Opportunity of doing Good, to this Service. Now

1. Peter declares the Direction GOD gave to him to come to thoſe Gentiles, v. 21, 29. They knew it had never been allow'd by the Jews, but always look'd upon as an unlawful Thing, ἀθέμιτον an Abomination for a Man that is a Jew, a Native Jew, as I am, to keep Company, or come unto One of another Nation, a Stranger, an uncircumcis'd Gentile. It was not made ſo by the Law of GOD, but by the Decree of their Wiſe Men, which they look'd upon to be no leſs obliging. They did not forbid them to converſe or traffick with Gentiles in the Street, or Shop, or upon the Exchange, but to eat with them. Even in Joſeph's Time, the Egyptians and Hebrews could not eat together, Gen. xliii. 32. The three Children would not defile themſelves with the King's Meat, Dan. i. 8. They might not come into the Houſe of a Gentile, for they look'd upon it to be ceremoniell polluted. Thus ſcornfully did the Jews look upon the Gentiles, who were not behind-hand with them in Contempt, as appears by many Paſſages in the Latin Poets. But now, ſaith Peter, God hath ſhew'd me, by a Viſion, that I ſhou'd not call any Man common or unclean, nor refuſe to converſe with any Man for the ſake of his Country. Peter that had taught his new Converts to ſave themſelves from the untoward Generation of wicked Men, (chap. ii. 40.) is now himſelf taught to joyn himſelf with the towardly Generation of devout Gentiles: Ceremonial Characters were aboliſh'd, that more Regard might be had to Moral ones. Peter thought it neceſſary to let them know how he came to change his Mind in this Matter, and that it was by a Divine Revelation, leſt he ſhould be upbraided with it as having uſed Lightneſs.

GOD having thus taken down the Partition-Wall,

(1.) He aſſures them of his Readineſs to do them all the good Offices he could, that when he kept at a Diſtance, it was not out of any perſonal Diſguſt to them, but only becauſe he wanted Leave from Heaven, which now he had receiv'd, he was at their Service; Therefore came I unto you, without gainſaying, as ſoon as I was ſent for, ready to preach the ſame Goſpel to you that I have preach'd to the Jews. The Diſciples of Chriſt could not but have ſome Notion of the Preaching of the Goſpel to the Gentiles, but they imagin'd it muſt be only to thoſe Gentiles that were firſt proſelyted to the Jewiſh Religion; which Miſtake Peter acknowledges was now rectify'd.

(2.) He enquires wherein he might be ſerviceable to them; I aſk therefore for what Intent ye have ſent for me? What do you expect from me, or what Buſineſs have you with me? Note, Thoſe that deſire the Help of GOD's Miniſters ought to look well to it that they propoſe right Ends to themſelves in it, and do it with a good Intent.

2. Cornelius declares the Direction GOD gave to him to ſend for Peter; and that it was purely in Obedience to thoſe Directions that he had ſent for him. Then we are right in our Aims in ſending for and attending on a Goſpel Miniſtry, when we do it with a Regard to the Divine Appointment inſtituting that Ordinance and requiring us to make Uſe of it. Now

1. Cornelius gives an Account of the Angels Appearing to him, and ordering him to ſend for Peter; not as glorying in it, but as that which warrented his Expectation of a Meſſage from Heaven by Peter.

(1.) He tells how this Viſion found him employ'd, v. 30. Four Days ago I was faſting until this Hour, this Hour of the Day that it is now, when Peter came, about the Middle of the Afternoon. By this it appears that Religious Faſting in order to the greater Seriouſneſs and Solemnity of Praying was us'd by devout People that were not Jews; the King of Nineveh proclaim'd a Faſt, Jon. iii. 5. Some give theſe Words another Senſe, From Four Days ago I have been faſting until this Hour, as if he had eaten no Meat, or at leaſt no Meal, from that Time to this. But it comes in as an Introduction to the Story of the Viſion; and therefore the former muſt be the Meaning. He was at the ninth Hour praying in his Houſe; not in the Synagogue, but at home: I will that Men pray wherever they dwell. His Praying in his Houſe, intimates that it was not a ſecret Prayer in his Cloſet, but in a more publick Room of his Houſe, with his Family about him. And perhaps after Prayer he retir'd, and had this Viſion. Obſerve, At the ninth Hour of the Day, Three of the Clock in the Afternoon moſt People were Travelling or trading, working in the Fields, viſiting their Friends, taking their Pleaſure, or taking a Nap after Dinner; yet then Cornelius was at his Devotions; which ſhews how much he made Religion his Buſineſs; and then it was that he had this Meſſage from Heaven Thoſe that would hear comfortably from GOD, muſt be much in ſpeaking to him.

(2.) He deſcribes the Meſſenger that brought him this Meſſage from Heaven; There ſtood a Man before me in bright Cloathing; ſuch as Chriſt's when he was transfigur'd, and that of the two Angels who appear'd at Chriſt's Reſurrection, Luke xxiv. 4. and at his Aſcenſion, Acts i. 10. ſhewing their Relation to the World of Light.

(3.) He repeats the Meſſage that was ſent him, v. 31, 32. juſt as we had it, v. 4, 5, 6. only here it is ſaid, Thy Prayer is heard. We are not told what his Prayer was, but if this Meſſage was an Anſwer to it, and it ſhould ſeem it was, we may ſuppoſe, that finding the Deficiency of Natural Light, and that it left him at a Loſs how to obtain the Pardon of his Sin, and the Favour of GOD, he pray'd that GOD would make ſome further Diſcoveries of himſelf to him, and of the Way of Salvation. Well, ſaith the Angel, ſend for Peter, and he ſhall give thee ſuch a Diſcovery.

2. He declares his own and his Friends Readineſs to receive the Meſſage he had to deliver, v. 33. Immediately therefore I ſent to thee, as I was directed, and thou haſt well done that thou haſt come to us, tho' we are Gentiles. Note, Faithful Miniſters do well to come to People that are willing and deſirous to receive Inſtruction from them; to come when they are ſent for; 'tis as good a Deed as they can do.

Well, Peter is come to do his Part; But will they do theirs? Yes: Thou art here prepar'd to ſpeak, and we are here prepar'd to hear, 1 Sam. iii. 9, 10. Obſerve,

1. Their religious Attendance upon the Word; We are all here preſent before GOD, we are here in a religious Manner, are here as Worſhippers; they thus compoſe themſelves into a ſerious awful Frame of Spirit. Therefore becauſe thou art come to us by ſuch a Warrant, on ſuch an Errand, becauſe we have ſuch a Price in our Hand as we never had before, and perhaps may never have again, we are ready now at this Time of Worſhip here in this Place of Worſhip, tho' it was in a private Houſe. We are preſent πάρεσμεν, we are at the Buſineſs, and are ready to come at a Call. If we would have GOD's ſpecial Preſence at an Ordinance, we muſt be there with a ſpecial Preſence, an Ordinance Preſence: Here I am. We are all preſent, All that were invited. We and all that belong to us, we and all that is within us; the whole of the Man muſt be preſent; not the Body here, and the Heart with the Fools Eyes in the Ends of the Earth. But that which makes it indeed a religious Attendance, is, we are preſent before God. In holy Ordinances we preſent our ſelves unto the Lord; and we muſt be as before Him, as thoſe that ſee his Eye upon us.

2. The Intention of this Attendance; We are preſent to hear all Things that are commanded thee of God, and given thee in Charge to be deliver'd to us. Obſerve, (1.) Peter was there to preach all Things that were commanded him of God; for as he had an ample Commiſſion to preach the Goſpel, ſo he had full Inſtructions what to preach. (2.) They were ready to hear, not whatever he pleas'd to ſay, but what he was commanded of God to ſay. The Truths of Chriſt were not communicated to the Apoſtles, to be publiſh'd or ſtifled, as they thought fit; but intruſted with them to be publiſh'd to the World. We are ready to hear all, to come at the Beginning of the Service, and ſtay to the End, and be attentive all the While, elſe how can we hear all. We are deſirous to hear all that thou art commiſſion'd to preach, tho' it be never ſo diſpleaſing to Fleſh and Blood, and never ſo contrary to our former Notions, or preſent ſecular Intereſts. We are ready to hear all, and therefore let nothing be kept back that is profitable for us.

34 ¶ Then Peter opened his mouth, and ſaid, Of a truth I perceive that God is no reſpecter of perſons: 35 But in every nation, he that feareth him and worketh righteouſneſs, is accepted with him. 36 The word which God ſent unto the children of Iſrael, preaching peace by Jeſus Chriſt (he is Lord of all) 37 That word (I ſay) you know, which was publiſhed throughout all Judea, and began from Galilee, after the baptiſm which John preached; 38 How God anointed Jeſus of Nazareth with the holy Ghoſt, and with power; who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppreſſed of the devil: for God was with him. 39 And we are witneſſes of all things which he did, both in the land of the Jews, and in Jeruſalem; whom they ſlew and hanged on a tree: 40 Him God raiſed up the third day, and ſhewed him openly, 41 Not to all the People, but unto witneſſes, choſen before of God, even to us, who did eat and drink with him after he roſe from the dead. 42 And he commanded us to preach unto the people, and to teſtifie that it is he which was ordained of God to be the judge of quick and dead. 43 To him give all the prophets witneſs, that through his name whoſoever believeth in him, ſhall receive remiſſion of ſins.

We have here Peter's Sermon, preach'd to Cornelius and his Friends; that is An Abſtract or Summary of it; for we have Reaſon to think, that he did with many other Words teſtify and exhort to this Purpoſe. 'Tis intimated, that he deliver'd himſelf with a great deal of Solemnity and Gravity but with Freedom and Copiouſneſs, in that Phraſe, that he open'd his Mouth and ſpoke, v. 34. O ye Corinthians our Mouth is open to you, ſaith Paul, 2 Cor. vi. 11. You ſhall find us communicative, if we but find you inquiſitive. Hitherto the Mouths of the Apoſtles had been ſhut to the uncircumcis'd Gentiles, they had nothing to ſay to them; now GOD gave unto them, as He did to Ezekiel, the Opening of the Mouth.

This excellent Sermon of Peter's, is admirably ſuited to the Circumſtances of thoſe to whom he preach'd it; for it was a new Sermon.

Firſt, Becauſe they were Gentiles to whom he preach'd, he ſhews, That notwithſtanding that, they were intereſted in the Goſpel of Chriſt which he had to preach, and intitled to the Benefit of it upon an equal Foot with the Jews; 'Twas neceſſary this ſhould be clear'd, or elſe with what Comfort could either he preach or they hear? He therefore lays down this as an undoubted Principle, That God is no Reſpecter of Perſons, doth not know Favour in Judgment, as the Hebrew Phraſe is, Which Magiſtrates are forbidden to do, Deut. i. 17, xvi. 19. Prov. xxi. 13. and are blam'd for doing, Pſal. lxxxii. 2. And it is often ſaid of GOD, that He doth not reſpect Perſons, Deut. x. 17. 2 Chron. xix. 7. Job xxxiv. 19. Rom. ii. 11. Col. iii. 25. 1 Pet. i. 17. He doth not give Judgment in Favour of a Man, for the ſake of any external Advantage foreign to the Merits of the Cauſe; GOD never perverts Judgment upon perſonal Regards and Conſiderations, nor countenanceth an ill Man in an ill Thing for the ſake of his Beauty or Stature, his Country, Parentage, Relations, Wealth or Honour in the World; GOD as a Benefactor gives Favours arbitrarily and by Sovereignty, Deut. vii. 7, 8. ix. 5, 6. Matth. xx. 10. But He doth not as a Judge, ſo give Sentence. But in every Nation, and under every Denomination, he that fears God, and works Righteouſneſs, is accepted of Him, v. 3.

The Caſe is plainly thus:

1. GOD never did, nor ever will juſtify and ſave a wicked Jew, that liv'd and dy'd impenitent, tho' he was of the Seed of Abraham, and a Hebrew of the Hebrews, and had all the Honour and Advantages that attended Circumciſion. He doth and will render Indignation and Wrath, Tribulation and Anguiſh upon every Soul of Man that doth evil, and of the Jew firſt; whoſe Privileges and Profeſſions, inſtead of ſcreening him from the Judgment of GOD, will but aggravate his Guilt and Condemnation. See Rom. ii. 3, 8, 9, 17. Tho' GOD has favour'd the Jews above other Nations with the Dignities of viſible Church-Memberſhip; ſhip; yet He will not therefore accept of any particular Perſons of that Dignity, if they allow themſelves in Immoralities contradictor to their Profeſſion, and particularly in Perſecution, which was now more than any other, the National Sin of the Jews.

2. He never did, nor ever will reject or refuſe an honeſt Gentile, who tho' he has not the Privileges and Advantages that the Jews have, yet like Cornelius, fears GOD, and worſhips him, and works Righteouſneſs, i. e. Is juſt and charitable towards all Men: who lives up to the Light he has both in a ſincere Devotion, and in a regular Converſation, whatever Nation he is of, tho' never ſo far remote from Kindred to the Seed of Abraham, tho' never ſo deſpicable, nay, tho' in never ſo ill a Name, that ſhall be no Prejudice to him; GOD judgeth of Men by their Hearts, not by their Country or Parentage. And wherever He finds an upright Man, He will be found an Upright God, Pſal. xviii. 25. Obſerve, Fearing God, and working Righteouſneſs, muſt go together, for as Righteouſneſs towards Men, is a Branch of true Religion, ſo Religion towards God, is a Branch of univerſal Righteouſneſs. Godlineſs and Honeſty muſt go together, and neither will excuſe for the Want of other. But where theſe are predominant, no Doubt is to be made of Acceptance with GOD, Not that any Man ſince the Fall can obtain the Favour of GOD, otherwiſe than through the Mediation of Jeſus Chriſt, and by the Grace of GOD in him: But thoſe that have not the Knowledge of him, and cannot have an explicite Regard to him, may yet receive Grace from GOD, for his Sake, to fear GOD, and to work Righteouſneſs. And wherever GOD gives Grace to do ſo, as He did to Cornelius, He will through Chriſt accept the Work of his own Hands.

Now (1.) This was always a Truth, before Peter perceiv'd it; That GOD reſpecteth no Man's Perſon. 'Twas the fix'd Rule of Judgment from the Beginning, if thou doſt well, ſhalt thou not be accepted? and if not well, Sin, and the Puniſhment of it, lies at the Door, Gen. iv. 7. GOD will not ask in the Great Day, What Country Men were of? but, What they were; what they did? and, How they ſtood affected towards Him, and towards their Neighbours? And if Mens Perſonal Character receiv'd neither Advantage nor Diſadvantage from the great Difference that was between Jews and Gentile, much leſs from any leſſer Difference of Sentiments and Practices that may happen to be among Chriſtians themſelves, as thoſe about Meats and Days Rom. xiv. 'Tis certain, the Kingdom of God is not Meat and Drink, but Righteouſneſs and Peace, and Joy in the Holy Ghoſt, and he that in theſe Things ſerveth Chriſt, is accepted of God, and ought to be approved of Men; For dare we reject thoſe whom GOD doth not;

(2.) Yet now it was made more clear than it had been? This great Truth had been darken'd by the Covenant of Peculiarity made with Iſrael, and the Badges of Diſtinction put upon them. The Ceremonial Law was a Wall of Partition between them and other Nation; in it 'twas true, that GOD favour'd that Nation, Rom. iii. 1, 2. ix. 4. And from thence particular Perſons among them were ready to infer, that they were ſure of GOD's Acceptance, tho' they liv'd as they liſt; and that no Gentile could poſſibly be accepted of GOD; GOD had ſaid a great deal by the Prophets to prevent and rectify this Miſtake; but now at length He doth it effectually, by aboliſhing the Covenant of Peculiarity, and repealing the Ceremonial Law; and ſo ſetting the Matter at large, and both Jew and Gentile upon the ſame Level before God; and Peter is here made to perceive it by comparing the Viſion which he had, with that which Cornelius had. Now in Chriſt Jeſus, 'tis plain, neither Circumciſion availeth any thing, nor Uncircumciſion, Gal. v. 6. Col. iii. 11.

Secondly, Becauſe they were Gentiles inhabiting a Place within the Confines of the Land of Iſrael, he refers them to what they themſelves could not but know concerning the Life and Doctrine, the Preaching and Miracles, the Death and Sufferings of our Lord Jeſus; for theſe were Things, the Report of which ſpread into every Corner of the Nation, v. 36, &c. It facilitates the Work of Miniſters when they deal with ſuch as have ſome Knowledge of the Things of GOD, to which they may appeal, and on which they may build.

1. They knew in General, the Word, that is, the Goſpel which God ſent to the Children of Iſrael. That Word, I ſay, ye know, v. 37. Tho' the Gentiles were not admitted to hear it, Chriſt and his Diſciples were not ſent but to the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael, yet they could not but hear of it; 'twas all the Talk both of City and Country. We are often told in the Goſpels, how the Fame of Chriſt went into all Parts of Canaan, when he was on Earth, as afterwards the Fame of his Goſpel went into all Parts of the World, Rom. x. 18. That Word, that divine Word, that Word of Power and Grace, you know. (1.) What the Purport of this Word was; GOD by it publiſh'd the good Tydings of Peace by Jeſus Chriſt; ſo it ſhould be read, ἐυαγγελιζόμενος εἰρήνην. 'Tis GOD himſelf that proclaims Peace, who juſtly might have proclaim'd War? He lets the World of Mankind know, that He is willing to be at Peace with them through Jeſus Chriſt, in him He was reconciling the World to Himſelf. (2.) To whom it was ſent; To the Children of Iſrael in the firſt Place: the prime Offer is made to them. This all their Neighbours heard of, and were ready to envy them thoſe Advantages of the Goſpel, more than they ever envy'd them thoſe of their Law. Then ſaid they among the Heathen, The LORD hath done great Things for them, Pſal. cxxvi. 3.

2. They knew the ſeveral Matters of Fact, relating to this Word of the Goſpel, ſent to Iſrael.

1. They knew the Baptiſm of Repentance which John preached by Way of Introduction to it, and in which the Goſpel firſt began, Mark i. 1. They knew what an Extraordinary Man John was and what a direct Tendency his Preaching had to prepare the Way of the LORD; they knew what great flocking there was to his Baptiſm, what an Intereſt he had, and what he did.

2. They knew that immediatly after John's Baptiſm, the Goſpel of Chriſt, that Word of Peace, was publiſh'd throughout all Judea, and that it took Riſe from Galilee. The twelve Apoſtles, and ſeventy Diſciples, and our Maſter himſelf, publiſhed theſe glad Tydings in all Parts of the Land. So that we may ſuppoſe there was not a Town or Village in all the Land of Canaan, but had the Goſpel preach'd in it.

3. They knew that Jeſus of Nazareth, when he was here upon Earth, went about doing Good; They knew what a Benefactor he was to that Nation, both to the Souls and Bodies of Men; how he made it his Buſineſs to do Good to all, and never did Hurt to any. He was not idle, but ſtill doing; not ſelfiſh, but doing Good; did not confine himſelf to one Place, nor wait till People came to him to ſeek his Help, but he went to them, went about from Place to Place, and wherever he came he was doing Good. Hereby he ſhew'd that he was ſent of GOD, who is good, and doth Good, and therefore doth Good, becauſe He is Good. And who hereby left not himſelf without witneſs, to the World, in that He did Good. Acts xiv. 17. And in this he hath ſet us an Example of indefatigable Induſtry in ſerving GOD and our Generation; for therefore we came into the World that we may do all the Good we can in it; and therein, like Chriſt, we muſt always abide and abound.

4. They knew more particularly that he healed all that were oppreſſed of the Devil, and help'd them from under his oppreſſing Power. By this it appear'd not only that he was ſent of GOD, as 'twas a Kindneſs to Men; but that he was ſent to deſtroy the Works of the Devil; for thus he obtain'd many a Victory over him.

5. They knew that the Jews put him to Death; they ſlew him by hanging him on a Tree. When Peter preach'd to the Jews, he ſaid, whom ye ſlew; but now he preach'd to the Gentiles, 'tis whom they ſlew; they to whom he had done, and deſign'd ſo much Good.

All this they knew; but leſt they ſhould think it was only a Report, and was magnify'd as Reports uſe to be more than the Truth; Peter for himſelf and the reſt of the Apoſtles atteſts it, v. 39. We are Witneſſes, Eye-witneſſes of all Things which he did; and Ear-witneſſes of the Doctrine which he preach'd, both in the Land of the Jews, and in Jeruſalem, in City and Country.

3. They did now, or might know by all this, that he had a Commiſſion from Heaven to preach and act as he did. This he ſtill harps upon in his Diſcourſe, and takes all Occaſions to hint it to them. Let them know,

1. That this Jeſus is Lord of all; It comes in a Parentheſis, but is the principal Propoſition intended to be prov'd, That Jeſus Chriſt by whom Peace is made between GOD and Man, be it Lord of all; not only as God over all bleſſed for evermore, but as Mediator, all Power both in Heaven and in Earth is put into his Hand, and all Judgment committed to him. He is Lord of Angels, they are all his humble Servants: He is Lord of the Powers of Darkneſs, for he hath triumph'd over them. He is King of Nations, has a Power over all Fleſh; He is King of Saints, all the Children of GOD are his Scholars, his Subjects, his Soldiers.

2. That GOD anointed him with the Holy Ghoſt and with Power: He was both authoriz'd and enabled to do what he did by a Divine Anointing; from whence he was call'd Chriſt, the Meſſiah the Anointed One. The Holy Ghoſt deſcended upon him at his Baptiſm, and he was full of Power both in Preaching and working Miracles, which was the Seal of a Divine Miſſion.

3. That GOD was with him, v: 38. His Works were wrought In GOD; GOD not only ſent him, but was preſent with him all along, own'd him, ſtood by him and carry'd him on in all his Services and Sufferings. Note, Thoſe whom GOD anoints He will accompany; will himſelf be with thoſe to whom He has given his Spirit.

Thirdly, Becauſe they had heard no more for certain concerning this Jeſus, Peter declares to them his Reſurrection from the Dead, and the Proofs of it, that they might not think when he was ſlain there was an End of him.

Probably they had heard at Cæſarea ſome Talk of his being riſen from the Dead; but the Talk of it was ſoon ſilenc'd by that vile Suggeſtion of the Jews, That his Diſciples came by Night, and ſtole him away. And therefore Peter inſiſts upon this as the main Support of that Word which preacheth Peace by Jeſus Chriſt.

1. The Power by which he roſe is uncontestably Divine, v. 40. Him God rais'd up the third Day; Which not only diſprov'd all the Calumnies and Accuſations he was laid under by Men; but effectually prov'd GOD's Acceptance of the Satisfaction he made for the Sin of Man by the Blood of his Croſs He did not break Priſon, but had a legal Diſcharge: God rais'd him up.

2. The

3. The Proofs of his Reſurrection were unconteſtably clear; For GOD ſhewed him openly. He gave him to made manifeſt ἔδωκεν αὐτὸν ἐμφανῆ γενέσθαι, to be viſible, evidently ſo; ſo he appears, as that it appears beyond Contradiction to be He and not another. 'Twas ſuch a ſhewing of him, as amounted to a Demonſtration of the Truth of his Reſurrection. He ſhew'd him not publickly indeed, 'twas not open in that Senſe, but evidently Not to all the People, who had been the Witneſſes of his Death; by reſiſting all the Evidences he had given them of his divine Miſſion in his Miracles, they had forfeited the Favour of being Eye-witneſſes of this great Proof of it; they who immediately forg'd and promoted that Lye of his being ſtollen away, were juſtly given up to ſtrong Deluſions to believe it, and not ſuffer'd to be undeceiv'd by his being ſhewn to all the People; and ſo much the greater ſhall be the Bleſſedneſs of thoſe who have not ſeen, and yet have believed. Nec ille ſe in vulgus edixit, ne impii Errore liberarentur; ut & fides non præmio mediocri deſtinato difficultate conſtaret. Tert. Apol. cap. xi. But tho' all the People did not ſee him, there were enow ſaw him to atteſt the Truth of his Reſurrection; The Teſtator's declaring his Laſt Will and Teſtament needs not to be before all the People, 'tis enough that it be done before a competent Number of Credible Witneſſes; ſo the Reſurrection of Chriſt was prov'd before ſufficient Witneſſes. (1.) They were not ſo by Chance, but they were choſen before of GOD to be Witneſſes of it; and in order to that, had their Education under the Lord Jeſus, and intimate Converſe with him, that having known him ſo intimately before, they might the better be aſſur'd it was he. (2.) They had not a ſudden and tranſient View of him, but a great deal of free Converſation with him, they did eat and drink with him after he roſe from the Dead: This implies that they ſaw him eat and drank, witneſs their dining with him at the Sea of Tiberias; and the two Diſciples ſupping with him at Emmaus; and this prov'd that he had a true and real Body. But this was not all, they ſaw him without any Terror or Conſternation, which might have render'd them incompetent Witneſſes, for they ſaw him ſo frequently, and he convers'd with them ſo familiarly, that they did eat and drink with him. 'Tis brought as a Proof of the clear View which the Nobles of Iſrael, had of the Glory of GOD, Exod. xxiv. 11. That they ſaw God, and did eat and drink.

Fourthly, He concludes with an Inference from all this, That therefore, that which they all ought to do, was to believe in this Jeſus. He was ſent to tell Cornelius what he muſt do, and this is it; His Praying and his giving Alms was very well, but one one thing he lack'd. He muſt believe in Chriſt. Obſerve,

1. Why he muſt believe in him; Faith has Reference to a Teſtimony, and the Chriſtian Faith is built upon the Foundation of Apoſtles and Prophets, 'tis built upon the Teſtimony given by them.

(1.) By the Apoſtles; Peter as Fore-man ſpeaks for the reſt, That GOD commanded them and gave them in Charge to preach to the People, and to teſtify concerning Chriſt, ſo that their Teſtimony was not only credible, but authentick, and what we may venture upon. Their Teſtimony, is GOD's Teſtimony; and they are his Witneſſes to the World; they do not only ſay it as Matter of News, but teſtify it as Matter of Record, by which Men muſt be judg'd.

(2.) By the Prophets of the Old Teſtament; whoſe Teſtimony before-hand, not only concerning his Sufferings, but concerning the Deſign and Intention of them, doth very much corroborate the Apoſtles Teſtimony concerning them, v. 43. To him gave all the Prophets witneſs, &c. We have Reaſon to think, Cornelius and his Friends were no Strangers to the Writings of the Prophets. Out of the Mouth of theſe two Clouds of Witneſſes ſo exactly agreeing this Word is eſtabliſh'd.

2. What they muſt believe concerning him.

1. That we are all accountable to Chriſt as our Judge; This the Apoſtles were commanded to teſtify to the World, That this Jeſus is ordain'd of GOD to be the Judge of the Quick and Dead v. 42. He is impower'd to preſcribe the Terms of Salvation, that Rule by which we muſt be judg'd; to give Laws both to Quick and Dead, both to Jew and Gentile; and he is appointed to determine the everlaſting Condition of all the Children of Men at the Great Day; of thoſe that ſhall be found alive, and of thoſe that ſhall be rais'd from the Dead. He hath aſſur'd us of this, in that He hath rais'd him from the Dead, Acts xvii. 31. ſo that it is the great Concern of every One of us in the Belief of this to ſeek his Favour, and to make him our Friend.

2. That if we believe in him, we ſhall all be juſtify'd by him as our Righteouſneſs, v. 43. The Prophets when they ſpoke of the Death of Chriſt, did witneſs this, That through his Name, for his Sake, and upon the Account of his Merit, whoſoever believeth in him, Jew or Gentile, ſhall receive Remiſſion of Sins. That's the great Thing we need, without which we are undone, and which the convinc'd Conſcience is moſt inquiſitive after, which the carnal Jews promis'd themſelves from their Ceremonial Sacrifices and Purifications; yea, and the Heathen too from their Atonements; but all in vain, 'tis to be had only through the Name of Chriſt, and only by thoſe that believe in his Name, and they that do ſo may be aſſur'd of it; their Sins ſhall be pardon'd, and there ſhall be no Condemnation to them. And the Remiſſion of Sins, lays a Foundation for all other Favours and Bleſſings, by taking that out of the Way that hinders them. If Sin be pardon'd, all is well; and ſhall end everlaſtingly well.

44 ¶ While Peter yet ſpake theſe words, the holy Ghoſt fell on all them which heard the word. 45 And they of the circumciſion which believed were aſtoniſhed, as many as came with Peter, becauſe that on the Gentiles alſo was poured out the gift of the holy Ghoſt: 46 For they heard them ſpeak with tongues, and magnifie God. Then anſwered Peter, 47 Can any man forbid water that theſe ſhould not be baptized, which have received the holy Ghoſt as well as we? 48 And he commanded them to be baptized in the name of the Lord. Then prayed they him to tarry certain days.

We have here the Iſſue and Effect of Peter's Sermon to Cornelius and his Friends. He did not labour in vain among them, but they were all brought home to Chriſt. Here we have Firſt, GOD's owning Peter's Word, by conferring the Holy Ghoſt upon the Hearts of it, and immediately upon the hearing of it, v. 44. While Peter was yet ſpeaking theſe Words, and perhaps deſign'd to ſay more, he was happily ſuperſeded by viſible Indication that the Holy Ghoſt, even in his miraculous Gifts and Powers, fell on all them which heard the Word, even as he did on the Apoſtles at firſt; ſo Peter ſaith, chap. xi. 15. Therefore ſome think it was with a ruſhing mighty Wind, and in cloven Tongues, as that was. Obſerve.

1. When the Holy Ghoſt fell upon them: While Peter was Preaching. Thus GOD bore Witneſs to what he ſaid, and accompany'd it with a Divine Power. Thus were the Signs of an Apoſtle wrought among them, 2 Cor. xii. 12. Tho' Peter could not give the Holy Ghoſt, yet the Holy Ghoſt being given along with the Word of Peter; by that it appear'd he was ſent of GOD. The Holy Ghoſt fell upon others after they were baptized, for their Confirmation; but upon theſe Gentiles before they were baptiz'd, as Abraham was juſtify'd by Faith being yet in Uncircumciſion, to ſhew that GOD is not ty'd to a Method, nor confines himſelf to external Signs. The Holy Ghoſt fell upon thoſe that were neither circumcis'd nor baptiz'd for it is the Spirit that quickneth, the Fleſh profiteth nothing.

2. How it appear'd that the Holy Ghoſt was fallen upon them, v. 46. They ſpake with Tongues which they never learned, perhaps the Hebrew, the holy Tongue; as the Preachers were enabled to ſpeak the Vulgar Tongues, that they might communicate the Doctrine of Chriſt to the Hearers, ſo probably the Hearers were immediately taught the ſacred Tongue, that they might examine the Proofs which the Preachers produc'd out of the Old Teſtament in the Original. Or, their being enabled to ſpeak with Tongues intimated that they were all deſign'd for Miniſters, and by this firſt Deſcent of the Spirit upon them, were qualify'd to preach the Goſpel to others, which they did but now receive themſelves. But Obſerve, When they ſpake with Tongues they magnify'd GOD, they ſpake of Chriſt and the Benifits of Redemption, which Peter had been Preaching of, to the Glory of God. Thus did they on whom the Holy Ghoſt firſt deſcended, ch. ii. 11. Note, Whatever Gift we are endu'd with, we ought to Honour GOD with it, and particularly the Gift of Speaking, and all the Improvements of it.

3. What Impreſſion it made upon the Believing Jews that were preſent, v. 45. They of the Circumciſion which believ'd, were aſtoniſh'd; thoſe ſix that came along with Peter; it ſurpriz'd them exceedingly, and perhaps gave them ſome Uneaſineſs, becauſe that upon the Gentiles alſo was pour'd out the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt, which they thought had been appropiated to their own Nation. Had they underſtood the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament, which pointed at this, it would not have been ſuch an Aſtoniſhment to them; but by our miſtaken Notions of Things we create Difficulties to our ſelves in the Methods of Divine Providence and Grace.

Secondly, Peter's owning GOD's Work in Baptizing thoſe on whom the Holy Ghoſt fell. Obſerve,

1. Tho' they had receiv'd the Holy Ghoſt, yet it was requiſite they ſhould be baptiz'd; Tho' GOD is not ty'd to inſtituted Ordinances, we are; and no extraordinary Gifts ſet us above them, but rather oblige us ſo much the more to conform to them. Some in our Days would have argu'd, Theſe are baptiz'd with the Holy Ghoſt, and therefore what need have they to be baptiz'd with Water, 'tis below them. No; 'tis not below them, while Water-Baptiſm is an Ordinance of Chriſt, and the Door of Admiſſion into the viſible Church, and a Seal of the New Covenant.

2. Tho' they were Gentiles, yet having receiv'd the Holy Ghoſt they might be admitted to Baptiſm, v. 47. Can any Man, tho' never ſo rigid a Jew, forbid Water that theſe ſhould not be baptiz'd, who have receiv'd the Holy Ghoſt as well as we? The Argument is concluſive; Can we deny the Sign to thoſe who have receiv'd the Thing ſignify'd? Are not thoſe on whom GOD has beſtow'd the Grace of the Covenant, plainly entitled to the Seals of the Covenant? Surely they that have receiv'd the Spirit as well as we, ought to receive Baptiſm as well as we; for it becomes us to follow GOD's Indications, and to take thoſe into Communion with us, whom he hath taken into Communion with Himſelf? GOD hath promiſ'd to pour his Spirit upon the Seed of the faithful, upon their Off-ſpring, and who then can forbid Water that they ſhould not be baptiz'd who have receiv'd the Promiſe of the Holy Ghoſt as well as we. Now it appears why the Spirit was given them before they were baptiz'd, becauſe otherwiſe Peter could not have perſuaded himſelf to baptize them, no more than to have preach'd to them, if he had not been order'd to do it by a Viſion; at leaſt, could not have avoided the Cenſure of thoſe of the Circumciſion that believ'd. Thus is there one unuſual Step of Divine Grace taken after another, to bring the Gentiles into the Church. How well is it for us that the Grace of a Good GOD is ſo much more extenſive, than the Charity even of ſome good Men.

3. Peter did not baptize them himſelf, but commanded them to be baptiz'd, v. 40. 'Tis likely ſome of the Brethren who came with them, did it by his Order, and that he declin'd it for the ſame Reaſon that Paul did, leſt thoſe that were baptiz'd by him, ſhould think the better of themſelves for it; or he ſhould ſeem to have baptiz'd in his own Name, 1 Cor. i. 17. The Apoſtles receiv'd the Commiſſion to Go and diſciple all Nations by Baptiſm: But it was Prayer and the Miniſtry of the Word, that they were to give themſelves to. And Paul ſaith, that he was ſent not to baptize, but to preach; which was the more noble and excellent Work. The Buſineſs of Baptizing was therefore ordinarily devolv'd upon the inferiour Miniſters, who acting by the Apoſtles Orders, they might be ſaid to do it. Qui per alterum facit per ſeipſum facere dicitur.

Laſtly, Their owning both Peter's Word, and GOD's Work in their Deſire of further Advantage by Peter's Miniſtry; They pray'd him to tarry certain Days. They could not preſs him to reſide conſtantly among them, they knew he had Work to do in other Places, and that for the preſent he was expected at Jeruſalem; yet they were not willing he ſhould go away immediately, but earneſtly beg'd he would ſtay for ſome Time among them, that they might be further inſtructed by him in the Things pertaining to the Kingdom of GOD. Note, 1. Thoſe who have ſome Acquaintance with Chriſt, cannot but covet more. 2. Even thoſe that have receiv'd the Holy Ghoſt, yet muſt ſee their Need of the Miniſtry of the Word.

CHAP. XI.

In this Chapter we have (1.) Peter's neceſſary Vindication of what he did in receiving Cornelius and his Friends into the Church, from the Cenſure he lay under for it, among the Brethren and their Acquieſcence in it, v. 1—18. (2.) The good Succeſs of the Goſpel at Antioch, and the Parts adjacent, v. 19—21. (3.) The Carrying on of the Good Work that was begun at Antioch, by the Miniſtry of Barnabas firſt, and afterwards of Paul in Conjunction with him, and the laſting Name of Chriſtian firſt given to the Diſciples there, v. 22—26. (4.) A Prediction of an approaching Famine, and the Contribution that was made among the Gentile Converts for the Relief of the Poor Saints in Judea upon that Occaſion, v. 27—30.

AND the apoſtles and brethren that were in Judea, heard that the Gentiles had alſo received the word of God. 2 And when Peter was come up to Jeruſalem, they that were of the circumciſion contended with him, 3 Saying, Thou wenteſt in to men uncircumciſed, and didſt eat with them. 4 But Peter rehearſed the matter from the beginning, and expounded it by order unto them, ſaying, 5 I was in the City of Joppa praying; and in a trance I ſaw a viſion, A certain veſſel deſcend, as it had been a great ſheet, let down from heaven by four corners; and it came even to me. 6 Upon the which when I had faſtened mine eyes, I conſidered, and ſaw four-footed beaſts of the earth, and wild beaſts, and creeping things, and fowls of the air. 7 And I heard a voice ſaying unto me, Ariſe, Peter, ſlay and eat. 8 But I ſaid, Not ſo, Lord: for nothing common or unclean hath at any time entred into my mouth. 9 But the voice anſwered me again from heaven, What God hath cleanſed, that call not thou common. 10 And this was done three times: and all were drawn up again into heaven. 11 And, behold, immediately there were three men already come unto the houſe where I was, ſent from Ceſarea unto me. 12 And the Spirit bade me go with them, nothing doubting. Moreover, theſe ſix brethren accompanied me, and we enter'd into the man's houſe: 13 And he ſhewed us how he had ſeen an angel in his houſe, which ſtood and ſaid unto him, ſend men to Joppa, and call for Simon, whoſe ſirname is Peter: 14 Who ſhall tell thee words, wherby thou and all thy houſe ſhall be ſaved. 15 And as I began to ſpeak, the holy Ghoſt fell on them, as on us at the beginning. 16 Then remembered I the word of the Lord, how that he ſaid, John indeed baptized with water; but ye ſhall be baptized with the holy Ghoſt. 17 Foraſmuch then as God gave them the like gift as he did unto us, who believed on the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, what was I, that I could withſtand God? 18 When they heard theſe things they held their peace, and glorified God, ſaying, Then hath God alſo to the Gentiles granted repentance unto life.

The Preaching of the Goſpel to Cornelius, was a Thing which we poor Sinners of the Gentiles have Reaſon to reflect upon with a great deal of Joy and Thankfulneſs; for it was the Bringing of Light to us who ſate in Darkneſs. Now it being ſo great a Surprize to the Believing, as well as the Unbelieving Jews, its worth while to enquire, How it took; and what Comments were made upon it? And here we find Firſt, That Intelligence was preſently brought of it to the Church in Jeruſalem, and thereabouts; for Cæſarea was not ſo far from Jeruſalem, but they might preſently hear of it. Some for Good will, and ſome for Ill-will, would ſpread the Report of it; ſo that before he was himſelf return'd to Jeruſalem, the Apoſtles and the Brethren there, and in Judea, heard that the Gentiles alſo had received the Word of God, that is, the Goſpel of Chriſt, which is not only a Word of GOD, but the Word of GOD; for it is the Summary and Center of all Divine Revelations. They receiv'd Chriſt; for his Name is call'd, The Word of God, Rev. xix. 13. Not only that the Jews who were diſpers'd into the Gentile Countries, and the Gentiles that were proſelyted to the Jewiſh Religion, but that the Gentiles alſo themſelves, with whom it had hitherto been thought unlawful to hold common Converſation, were taken into Church-Communion, that they had receiv'd the Word of God. That is,

1. That the Word of GOD was preach'd to them; which was a greater Honour put upon them than they expected. Yet I wonder this ſhould ſeem ſtrange to thoſe who were themſelves commiſſion'd to preach the Goſpel to every Creature. But thus often are the Prejudices of Pride and Bigotry held faſt againſt the cleareſt Diſcoveries of Divine Truth.

2. That it was entertain'd and ſubmitted to by them, which was a better Work wrought upon them than they expected. 'Tis likely they had got a Notion, That if the Goſpel were preach'd to the Gentiles, it would be to no Purpoſe, becauſe the Proofs of the Goſpel were fetch'd ſo much out of the Old Teſtament, which the Gentiles did not receive; they look'd upon them as not inclin'd to Religion, nor likely to receive the Impreſſions of it; and therefore were ſurpriz'd to hear that they had receiv'd the Word of the LORD. Note, We are too apt to deſpair of doing Good to thoſe, who yet when they are try'd, prove very tractable.

Secondly, That Offence was taken at it by the Believing Jews, v. 2, 3. When Peter was himſelf come up to Jeruſalem, they that were of the Circumciſion, thoſe Jewiſh Converts that ſtill retain'd a Veneration for Circumciſion, contended with him, they charg'd it upon him as a Crime, that he went into Men uncircumcis'd, and did eat with them, and hereby they think he hath ſtain'd, if not forfeited the Honour of his Apoſtleſhip, and ought to come under the Cenſure of the Church; ſo far were they from looking upon him as Infallible, or as the Supreme Head of the Church; that all were accountable to, and he to none. See here,

1. How much it is the Bane and Damage of the Church to monopolize it, and to exclude thoſe from it, and from the Benefit of the Means of Grace, that are not in every Thing as we are. There are narrow Souls that are for engroſſing the Riches of the Church, as there are that would engroſs the Riches of the World, and would be placed alone in the midſt of the Earth. Theſe Men were of Jonah's Mind, who in a Jealouſy for his People, was angry that the Ninevites receiv'd the Word of God, and juſtify'd himſelf in it.

2. That Chriſt's Miniſters muſt not think it ſtrange if they be cenſur'd and quarrel'd with, not only by their profeſs'd Enemies; but by their profeſſing Friends, and not only for their Follies and Infirmities, but for their good Actions, ſeaſonably and well done; but if we have prov'd our own Work, we may have rejoycing in our ſelves, as Peter had, whatever Reflections we may have from our Brethren. Thoſe that are zealous and couragious in the Service of Chriſt, muſt expect to be cenſur'd by thoſe that under Pretence of being cautious, are cold and indifferent. Thoſe that are of Catholick, generous Charitable Principles muſt expect to be cenſur'd by ſuch as are conceited and ſtrait lac'd, that ſay, Stand by thy ſelf, I am holier than thou.

Thirdly, Peter gave ſuch a full and fair Account of the Matter of Fact as was ſufficient, without any further Argument or Apology, both to juſtify him, and to ſatisfy them, v. 4. He rehears'd the Matter from the Beginning, and laid it before them in order, and then could appeal to themſelves, whether he had done amiſs; for it appear'd all along GOD's own Work, and not his.

1. He takes it for granted, that if they had righly underſtood how the Matter was, they would not have contended with him, but rather have concurr'd with him, and commended him. And it is a good Reaſon why we ſhould be moderate in our Cenſures, and ſparing of them, becauſe if we rightly underſtood, that which we are ſo forward to run down, perhaps we ſhould ſee Cauſe to run in with it. When we ſee others do that which looks ſuſpicions, inſtead of contending with them, we ſhould enquire of them, what Ground they went upon; and if we have not an Opportunity to do that, ſhould our ſelves put the beſt Conſtruction upon it that it will bear; and judge nothing before the Time.

2. He is very willing to ſtand right in their Opinion, and takes Pains to give them Satisfaction; doth not inſiſt upon his being the chief of the Apoſtles, for he was far from the Thought of that Supremacy which his pretended Succeſſors claim. Nor did he think it enough to tell them, He was ſatisfy'd himſelf in the Grounds he went upon, and then what need they trouble themſelves about it; but is ready to give a Reaſon of the Hope that is in him concerning the Gentiles, and why he had receded from his former Sentiments, which were the ſame with theirs. 'Tis a Debt we owe both to our ſelves and to our Brethren to ſet thoſe Actions of ours in a true Light, which at firſt lookt ill, and gave Offence; that we may remove Stumbling-blocks out of our Brethrens Way.

Let us now ſee what Peter pleads in his own Defence:

1. That he was inſtructed by a Viſion no longer to keep up the Diſtinctions which were made by the Ceremonial Law; He relates the Viſion, v. 5, 6. as we had it before, chap. x. 9, &c. The Sheet which was there ſaid to be let down to the Earth, he here ſaith came even to him, which Circumſtance intimates, that it was particularly deſign'd for Inſtruction to him. We ſhould thus ſee all GOD's Diſcoveries of Himſelf which He has made to the Children of Men, coming even to us; applying them by Faith to ourſelves. Another Circumſtance here added is, that when the Sheet came to him, he faſtened his Eyes upon it, and conſider'd it v. 6. If we would be led into the Knowledge of divine Things we muſt fix our Minds upon them, and conſider them, He tells them what Orders he had to eat of all Sorts of Meat without Diſtinction, asking no Queſtions for Conſcience Sake, v. 7. 'Twas not till after the Flood, as it ſhould ſeem, that Man was allow'd to eat Fleſh at all, Gen. ix. 3. That Allowance was afterwards limited by the Ceremonial Law; but now the Reſtrictions were taken off, and the Matter ſet at large again. 'Twas not the Deſign of Chriſt to abridge us in the Uſe of our Creature-Comforts by any other Law but that of Sobriety, and Temperance, and preferring the Meat that endures to eternal, Life, before that which periſheth.

He pleads, That he was as averſe to the Thoughts of converſing with Gentiles, or eating of their Dainties, as they could be, and therefore refus'd the Liberty given him, Not ſo, Lord; for nothing common or unclean has at any Time enter'd into my Mouth, v. 8. But he was told from Heaven, That the Caſe was now alter'd, that God had cleans'd thoſe Perſons and Things which were before polluted, and therefore he muſt no longer call them common, nor look upon them as unfit to be meddled with by the peculiar People, v. 9. So that he was not to be blam'd for changing his Thoughts, when GOD had chang'd the Thing. In Things of this Nature, we muſt act according to our preſent Light; yet muſt not be ſo wedded to our Opinion concerning them, as to be prejudic'd againſt further Diſcoveries, when the Matter may either be otherwiſe, or appear otherwiſe; and GOD may reveal even this unto us, Phil. iii. 15.

And that they might be ſure he was not deceiv'd in it, he tells them, it was done three Times, v. 10. the ſame Command given, to kill and eat, and the ſame Reaſon, becauſe that which GOD hath cleans'd, is not to be call'd common, repeated a ſecond and third Time. And further to confirm him, that it was a divine Viſion, the Things he ſaw did not vaniſh away into the Air, but were drawn up again into Heaven, whence they were let down.

2. That he was particularly directed by the Spirit to go along with the Meſſengers that Cornelius ſent. And that it might appear that Viſion was deſign'd to ſatisfy him in that Matter, he obſerves to them, the Time when the Meſſengers came, immediately after he had that Viſion; yet leſt that ſhould not be ſufficient to clear his Way, the Spirit bid him go with the Men that were then ſent from Cæſarea to him, nothing doubting, v. 11. 12. tho' they were Gentiles he went to, and went with, yet he muſt make no Scruple of going along with them.

3. That he took ſome of his Brethren along with him, who were of the Circumciſion, that they might be ſatisfy'd as well as he; and theſe he had brought up from Joppa, to witneſs for him with what Caution he proceeded, fore-ſeeing the Offence that would be taken at it. He did not act ſeparately, but with Advice, not raſhly, but upon due Deliberation.

(4.) That Cornelius had a Viſion too, by which he was directed to ſend for Peter, v. 13. He ſhew'd us how he had ſeen an Angel in his Houſe, that bid him ſend to Joppa for one Simon whoſe Sirname is Peter. See how good it is for thoſe that have Communion with GOD, and keep up a Correſpondence with Heaven, to compare Notes, and communicate their Experiences to each other; for hereby they may ſtrengthen one another's Faith: Peter is the more confirm'd in the Truth of his Viſion by Cornelius's, and Cornelius by Peter's. Here is ſomething added in what the Angel ſaid to Cornelius; before it was, ſend for Peter, and he ſhall ſpeak to thee, he ſhall tell thee what thou oughteſt to do. chap. x. 6, 32. But here it is, He ſhall tell thee Words whereby thou and thy Houſe ſhall be ſaved, v. 13. and therefore 'tis of vaſt Concern to thee and will be of unſpeakable Advantage to ſend for him. Note, 1. The Words of the Goſpel, are Words whereby we may be ſaved, eternally ſaved; not merely by hearing them and reading them, but by believing and obeying them. They ſet the Salvation before us, and ſhew us what it is, they open the Way of Salvation to us, and if we follow the Method preſcrib'd us by them, we ſhall be certainly ſaved from Wrath and the Curſe, and be for ever happy. 2. They that embrace the Goſpel of Chriſt, will have Salvation brought by it to their Families. Thou and all thy Houſe ſhall be ſaved; Thou and thy Children ſhall be taken into Covenant, and have the Means of Salvation; thy Houſe ſhall be as welcome to the Benefit of the Salvation upon their Believing, as thou thy ſelf, even the meaneſt Servant thou haſt. This Day is Salvation come to this Houſe, Luke xix. 9. Hitherto Salvation was of the Jews. Joh. 4. 12. But now Salvation it brought to the Gentiles as much as ever it was with the Jews; the Promiſes, Privileges and Means of it convey'd to all Nations, as amply and fully to all Intents and Purpoſes, as ever it had been appropriated to the Jewiſh Nation.

5. That which put the Matter paſt all Diſpute, was, the Deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt upon the Gentile Hearers; this compleated the Evidence that it was the Will of GOD that he ſhould take the Gentiles into Communion.

1. The Fact was plain and undeniable, v. 15. As I began to ſpeak, (and perhaps he felt ſome ſecret Reluctancy in his own Breaſt, doubting whether he was in the right to preach to the Uncircumcis'd) preſently the Holy Ghoſt fell on them, in as viſible Signs, as on us at the Beginning, in which there could be no Fallacy. Thus GOD atteſted what was done, and declar'd his Approbation of it; That Preaching is certainly right with which the Holy Ghoſt is given: The Apoſtle ſuppoſeth that, when he thus argues with the Galatians, Receiv'd ye the Spirit by the Works of the Law; or by the Hearing of Faith? Gal. iii. 2.

2. Peter was hereby put in Mind of a Saying of his Maſter's when he was leaving them, chap. i. 5. John baptiz'd with Water, but ye ſhall be baptiz'd with the Holy Ghoſt, v. 16. Which plainly intimated, (1.) That the Holy Ghoſt was the Gift of Chriſt, and the Product and Performance of his Promiſe, that great Promiſe which he left with them when he went to Heaven. It was therefore without Doubt from him that this Gift came; and the filling of them with the Holy Ghoſt, was his Act and Deed. As it was promis'd by his Mouth, ſo it was perform'd by his Hand, and was a Token of his Favour. (2.) That the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt, was a Kind of Baptiſm. They that receiv'd it were Baptiz'd with it in a more excellent Manner, than any of thoſe that even the Baptiſt himſelf baptiz'd with Water.

3. Comparing that Promiſe, ſo worded, with this Gift juſt now conferr'd, when the Queſtion was ſtarted, Whether theſe Perſons ſhould be baptiz'd or no? he concluded, that the Queſtion was determin'd by Chriſt himſelf, v. 17. For as much then as God; gave them the like Gift as He did to us; gave it to us as believing in the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, and to them upon their Believing in him, What was I that I could withſtand God? Could I refuſe to baptize them with Water, whom God had baptiz'd with the Holy Ghoſt? Could I deny the Sign to thoſe on whom He had conferr'd the Thing ſignify'd? But as for me, who was I? What? able to forbid God? Did it become me to controul the Divine Will? or to oppoſe the Counſels of Heaven? Note, Thoſe that hinder the Converſion of Souls, withſtand God; and thoſe take too much upon them, who contrive how to exclude thoſe from their Communion, whom GOD has taken into Communion with himſelf.

Fourthly, This Account which Peter gave of the Matter, ſatisfy'd them; and all was well. Thus when the two Tribes and a half gave an Account to Phineas and the Princes of Iſrael of the true Intent and Meaning of their building them an Altar on the Banks of Jordan, the Controverſy was drop'd, and it pleas'd them that it was ſo, Joſh. xxii. 30. Some People when they have faſten'd a Cenſure upon a Perſon, will ſtick to it, tho' afterwards it appear never ſo plainly to be unjuſt and groundleſs. 'Twas not ſo here; for theſe Brethren tho' they were of the Circumciſion, and their Byaſs went the other Way, yet when they heard this,

1. They let fall their Cenſures; they held their peace, and ſaid no more againſt what Peter had done; they laid their Hand upon their Mouth, becauſe now they perceiv'd that GOD did it. Now they who prided themſelves in their Dignities as Jews, began to ſee that GOD was ſtaining that Pride, by letting in the Gentiles to ſhare and ſhare-like with them: And now that Prophecy is fulfill'd, Thou ſhalt no more be haughty becauſe of my holy Mountain, Zeph. iii. 11.

2. They turn'd them into Praiſes; they not only held their Peace from quarelling with Peter, but open'd their Mouths to glorify God, for what He had done by and with Peter's Miniſtry; were thankful that their Miſtake was rectify'd, and that GOD had ſhew'd more Mercy to the Poor Gentiles than they were inclin'd to ſhew them, ſaying, Then hath God alſo to the Gentiles granted Repentance unto Life! Hath granted them not only the Means of Repentance, in opening a Door of Entrance for his Miniſters among them; but the Grace of Repentance, in having given them his Holy Spirit, who wherever he comes to be a Comforter, firſt convinceth; and gives a Sight of Sin firſt, and Sorrow for it; and then a Sight of Chriſt, and Joy in him. Nb. Repentance if it be true, is unto Life; it is to ſpiritual Life; all that truly repent of their Sins evidence it by living a new Life, a holy, heavenly, and divine Life. Thoſe that by Repentance die unto Sin, from thence forward live unto GOD; and then, and not till then we begin to live indeed; and it ſhall be to Eternal Life. All true Penitents ſhall live, i. e. They ſhall be reſtor'd to the Favour of GOD, which is Life, which is better than Life; they ſhall be comforted with the Aſſurance of the Pardon of their Sins, and ſhall have the Earneſts of Eternal Life, and at length the Fruition of it. (2.) Repentance is GOD's Gift; 'Tis not only his Free-Grace that accepts it, but his mighty Grace that works it in us; that takes away the Heart of Stone, and gives a Heart of Fleſh: The Sacrifice of God, is a broken Spirit; 'tis He that provides himſelf that Lamb. (3.) Wherever GOD deſigns to give Life, He gives Repentance; for that is a neceſſary Preparative for the Comforts of a ſeal'd Pardon, and a ſettled Peace in this World, and for the ſeeing and enjoying of GOD in the other World, (4.) It is a great Comfort to us that GOD hath exalted his Son Jeſus, not only to give Repentance to Iſrael, and the Remiſſion of Sins. Acts v. 13. but to the Gentiles alſo.

19 ¶ Now they which were ſcattered abroad, upon the perſecution that aroſe about Stephen, travelled as far as Phœnice, and Cyprus, and Antioch, preaching the word to none but unto the Jews only. 20 And ſome of them were men of Cyprus and Cyrene, which when they were come to Antioch, ſpake unto the Grecians, preaching the Lord Jeſus. 21 And the hand of the Lord was with them: and a great number believed, and turned unto the Lord 22 ¶ Then tidings of theſe things came unto the ears of the church which was in Jeruſalem: and they ſent forth Barnabas, that he ſhould go as far as Antioch. 23 Who when he came, and had ſeen the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted them all, that with purpoſe of heart they would cleave unto the Lord. 24 For he was a good man, and full of the holy Ghoſt, and of faith: and much people was added unto the Lord. 25 Then departed Barnabas to Tarſus, to ſeek Saul. 26 And when he had found him, he brought him unto Antioch. And it came to paſs, that a whole year they aſſembled themſelves with the church and taught much people; and the diſciples were called Chriſtians firſt in Antioch.

We have here an Account of the Planting and Watering of a Church at Antioch, the chief City of Syria, reckon'd afterwards the third moſt conſiderable City of the Empire, only Rome and Alaxandria being prefer'd before it, next to whoſe Patriarch, that of Antioch took Place. It ſtood where Hamath or Riblah did, which we read of in the Old Teſtament. 'Tis ſuggeſted, that Luke the Penman of this Hiſtory was of Antioch, and Theophilus, to whom he dedicates ti; which might be the Reaſon why he takes more particular Notice of the Succeſs of the Goſpel at Antioch; as alſo becauſe there it was that Paul began to be famous, the Story of whom he is haſtening towards.

Now concerning the Church at Antioch, Obſerve,

Firſt, That the firſt Preachers of the Goſpel there, were ſuch as were diſpers'd from Jeruſalem by Perſecution, that Perſecution which aroſe five or ſix Years ago (as ſome compute) at the Time of Stephen's Death, v. 19. They travell'd as far as Phœnice, and other Places, Preaching the Word. Therefore GOD ſuffer'd them to be perſecuted, that thereby they might be diſpers'd in the World, ſown as Seed to GOD, in order to their bringing forth much Fruit. Thus what was intended for the Hurt of the Church, was made to work for its Good; as Jacob's Curſe of the Tribe of Levi, I will divide them in Jacob, and ſcatter them in Iſrael, was turn'd into a Bleſſing. The Enemies deſign'd to ſcatter and loſe them, Chriſt deſign'd to ſcatter and uſe them. Thus the Wrath of Man is made to praiſe GOD. Obſerve,

1. Thoſe that fled from Perſecution, yet did not flee from their Work, Tho' for the Time they declin'd Suffering, yet they did not decline Service; nay, they threw themſelves into a larger Field of Opportunity than before. Thoſe that perſecuted the Preachers of the Goſpel, hop'd thereby to prevent their carrying it to the Gentile World; but it prov'd that they did but haſten it the ſooner: Howbeit, they meant not ſo, neither did their Heart think ſo. They that were perſecuted in one City, fled to another, but they carry'd their Religion along with them, not only that they might take the Comfort of it themſelves, but that they might communicate it to others; thus ſhewing, that when they got out of the Way, it was not becauſe they were afraid of Suffering, but becauſe they were willing to reſerve themſelves for further Service.

2. They preſs'd forward in their Work, finding that the good Pleaſure of the Lord proſper'd in their Hands. When they had preach'd ſucceſsfully in Judea, Samaria and Galilee, they got out of the borders of the Land of Canaan, and travell'd into Phœnicia, into the Iſland of Cyphrus, and into Syria. Tho' the further they travell'd, the more they expos'd themſelves; yet they travell'd on; Plus ultra, was their Motto, further ſtill; grudging no Pains, and dreading no Perils in carrying on ſo good a Work, and ſerving ſo good a Maſter.

3. They preach'd the Word to none but to the Jews only, who were diſpers'd in all thoſe Parts, and had Synagogues of their own, in which they met with them by themſelves, and preach'd to them. They did not yet underſtand that the Gentiles were to be Fellow-heirs, and of the ſame Body; but left the Gentiles either to turn Jews, and ſo come into the Church, or elſe remain as they were.

4. They particularly apply'd themſelves to the Helleniſt Jews, here call'd the Grecians, that were at Antioch. Many of the Preachers were Natives of Judea and Jeruſalem; but ſome of them were by Birth of Cypurs and Cyrene, as Barnabas himſelf, chap. iv. 36. and Simon, Mark xv. 21. but had their Education in Jeruſalem; and theſe being themſelves Grecian Jews, had a particular Concern for thoſe of their own Denomination and Diſtinction, and apply'd themſelves cloſely to them at Antioch. Dr. Lightfoot ſaith, they were there call'd Helleniſts or Grecians, becauſe they were Jews of the Corporation, or Enfranchiſement of the City; for Antioch was a Syrogrecian City. To them they preach'd the Lord Jeſus. That was the conſtant Subject of their Preaching; What elſe ſhould the Miniſters of Chriſt preach, but Chriſt? Chriſt, and him crucify'd; Chriſt, and him glorify'd.

5. They had wonderful Succeſs in their Preaching, viz. (1.) Their Preaching was accompany'd with a divine Power; The Hand of the LORD was with them. Which ſome underſtand of the Power they were endu'd with to work Miracles, for the confirming of their Doctrine; in theſe the LORD was working with them, that He confirm'd the Word with Signs following, Mark xvi. 20. in theſe GOD bare them Witneſs, Heb. ii. 4. But I rather underſtand it of the Power of divine Grace working on the Hearts of the Hearers, and opening them, as Lydia's Heart was open'd, becauſe many ſaw the Miracles that were not converted, but when by the Spirit the Underſtanding was enlighten'd, and the Will bow'd to the Goſpel of Chriſt, that was a Day of Power, in which Voluntiers were liſted under the Banner of the Lord Jeſus, Pſal. xi. 3. The Hand of the LORD was with them to bring that home to the Hearts and Conſciences of Men, which they could but ſpeak to the outward Ear. Then the Word of the Lord gains its End, when the Hand of the Lord goes along with it to write it in their Heart. Then the people are brought to believe the Report of the Goſpel, when with it the Arm of the Lord is reveal'd, Iſa. liii. 1. when GOD teacheth with a ſtrong Hand, Iſa. viii. 11. Theſe were not Apoſtles, but ordinary Miniſters, yet they had the Hand of the Lord with them, and did Wonders.

2. Abundance of Good was done; A great Number believ'd, and turn'd unto the Lord, many more than could have been expected, conſidering the outward Diſadvantages they labour'd under; ſome of all Sorts of People were wrought upon, and brought into Obedience to Chriſt. Obſerve, What the Change was, (1.) They believ'd; They were convinc'd of the Truth of the Goſpel, and ſubſcrib'd to the Record GOD had given in it concerning his Son. (2.) The Effect and Evidence of this was, that they turn'd unto the Lord; They could not be ſaid to turn from the Service of Idols, for they were Jews, Worſhippers of the True GOD only; but they turn'd from a Confidence in the Righteouſneſs of the Law, to rely only upon the Righteouſneſs of Chriſt; the Righteouſneſs which is by faith. They turn'd from a looſe, careleſs, carnal Way of Living, to live a holy, heavenly, ſpiritual and divine Life; They turn'd from worſhipping GOD in Shew and Ceremony, to worſhip Him in the Spirit and in Truth. They turn'd to the Lord; Jeſus, and he became All in All with them. This was the Work of Converſion wrought upon them; and it muſt be wrought upon every One of us. 'Twas the Fruit of their Faith; All that ſincerely believe, will turn to the Lord; for whatever we profeſs, or pretend we do not really believe the Goſpel, if we do not cordially embrace Chriſt offer'd to us in the Goſpel.

Secondly, The good Work thus begun at Antioch, was carry'd on to a great Perfection; and this Church thus founded, grew to be a flouriſhing One, by the Miniſtry of Barnabas and Saul, who built upon the Foundation which the other Preachers had laid, and enter'd into their Labours, Joh. iv. 37, 38.

1. The Church at Jeruſalem ſent Barnabas thither to nurſe this new born Church, and to ſtrengthen the Hands both of Preachers and People, and put a Reputation upon the Cauſe of Chriſt there.

(1.) They heard the good News that the Goſpel was receiv'd at Antioch, v. 22. The Apoſtles there were inquiſitive how the Work went on in the Countries about; and 'tis likely kept up a Correſpondence with all Parts where Preachers were, ſo that Tydings of theſe Things of the great Numbers that were converted at Antioch, ſoon came to the Ears of the Church that was in Jeruſalem. Thoſe that are in the moſt emminent Stations in the Church, ought to concern themſelves for thoſe in a lower Sphere.

(2.) They diſpatch'd Barnabas to them with all Speed; they deſir'd him to go and aſſiſt, and encourage theſe hopeful Beginnings. They ſent him forth as an Envoy from them, and a Repreſentative of their whole Body, to congratulate them upon the Succeſs of the Goſpel among them, as Matter of Rejoycing both to Preachers and Hearers, and with both they rejoyced. He muſt go as far as Antioch. 'Twas a great Way, But as far as it was he was willing to undertake the Journey for a publick Service. 'Tis probable Barnabas had a particular Genius for Work of this Kind, was active and converſable, and lov'd to be in Motion, delighted in doing Good abroad, as much as others in doing Good at home, was as much of Zebulon's Spirit who rejoyc'd in his going out, as others are of Iſſachar's, who rejoyc'd in his Tent, And his Talent lying this Way, he was fitteſt to be employ'd in this Work. GOD gives various Gifts for various Services.

(3.) Barnabas was wonderfully pleas'd to find that the Goſpel got Ground, and that ſome of his Countrymen, Men of Cyprus, v. 20. (of which Country he was, ch. iv. 26.) were Inſtrumental in it, v. 23. when he came, and had ſeen the Grace of God, the Tokens of GOD's good Will to the People of Antioch, and the Evidences of his good Work among them he was glad. He took Time to make his Obſervations, and both in their publick Worſhip, in their common Converſation, and in their Families he ſaw the Grace of God among them; where the Grace of GOD is it will be ſeen, as the Tree is known by its Fruits; and where it is ſeen, it ought to be own'd; what we ſee which is good in any we muſt call it God's Grace in them, and give that Grace the Glory of it; And we ought ourſelves to take the Comfort of it, and make it the Matter of our rejoycing, We muſt be glad to ſee the Grace of God in others, and the more when we ſee it there where we did not expect it.

(4.) He did what he could to fix them; and to confirm them in the Faith, who were converted to the Faith. He exhorted them, παρεκάλει 'Tis the ſame Word with that by which the Name of Barnabas is interpreted, chap. iv. 36. υἱὸς παρακλήσεως A Son of Exhortation; His Talent lay that Way, and he traded with it; Let him that Exhorteth attend to Exhortation. Rom. xii. 8. Or, being a Son of Conſolation, for ſo we render the Word, he comforted, or encourag'd them with purpoſe of Heart to cleave to the Lord. The more he rejoyc'd in the Beginning of the good Work among them, the more earneſt he was with them to proceed according to theſe good Beginnings. Thoſe we have Comfort in we ſhould exhort. Barnabas was glad for what he ſaw of the Grace of GOD among them, and therefore was the more earneſt with them to perſevere. (1.) To cleave to the Lord. Note, Thoſe that have turned to the Lord are concern'd to cleave unto the Lord, not to fall off from following him, not to flag and tire in following him. To cleave to the Lord Jeſus, is to live a Life of Dependance upon him, and Devotedneſs to him; not only to hold him faſt, but to hold faſt by him, to be ſtrong in the Lord, and in the Power of his Might. (2.) To cleave to him with Purpoſe of Heart, with an intelligent, firm, and deliberate Reſolution, founded upon good Grounds, and fix'd upon that Foundation, Pſal. cviii. 1. 'Tis to bind our Souls with a Bond to be the LORD's, and to ſay, as Ruth, Intreat me not to leave him, or to return from following after him.

5. Herein he gave a Proof of his good Character, v. 24. He was a good Man, and full of the Holy Ghoſt, and of Faith, and approv'd himſelf ſo upon this Occaſion. (1.) He ſhew'd himſelf to be a Man of a very ſweet, affable, courteous Diſpoſition, that had himſelf, and could teach others, the Art of Obliging. He was not only a righteous Man, but a good Man, a good-temper'd Man. Miniſters that are ſo, recommend themſelves and their Doctrine very much to the good Opinion of thoſe that are without. He was a good Man, i. e. a charitable Man; ſo he had approv'd himſelf, when he ſold an Eſtate, and gave the Money to the Poor, chap. iv. 36. (2.) By this it appear'd that he was richly endu'd with the Gifts and Graces of the Spirit. The Goodneſs of his natural Diſpoſition, would not have qualify'd him for this Service, if he had not been full of the Holy Ghoſt, and ſo full of Power, by the Spirit of the LORD. (3.) He was full of Faith, full of the Chriſtian Faith himſelf, and therefore deſirous to propogate it among others; Full of the Grace of Faith, and full of the Fruits of that Faith that works by Love. He was ſound in the Faith, and therefore preſs'd them to be ſo.

(6.) He was inſtrumental to do Good, by bringing in thoſe that were without, as well as by building up thoſe that were within; Much People were added to the Lord, and thereby added to the Church; many were turn'd to the Lord before, yet more are to be turn'd; 'Tis done as thou haſt commanded, and yet there is Room.

2. Barnabas went to fetch Saul to joyn with him in the Work of the Goſpel at Antioch. The laſt News we heard of him was, That when his Life was ſought at Jeruſalem, he was ſent away to Tarſus, the City where he was born, and it ſhould ſeem he continu'd there ever ſince, doing Good no doubt. But now Barnabas takes a Journey on purpoſe to Tarſus, to ſee what was become of him, to tell him what a Door of Opportunity was open'd at Antioch, and to deſire him to come and ſpend ſome Time with him there, v. 25, 26. And here alſo it appears, that Barnabas was a good Sort of a Man in two Things.

1. That he would take ſo much Pains to bring an active uſeful Man out of Obſcurity; 'Twas he that introduc'd Saul to the Diſciples at Jeruſalem, when they were ſhy of him; and 'twas he that brought him out of the Corner into which he was driven, into a more publick Station. It is a very good Work to fetch a Candle from under a Buſhel, and to ſet it on a Candleſtick.

2. That he would bring in Saul at Antioch, who being a chief Speaker (ch. xiv. 12.) and probably a more popular Preacher would be likely to eclipſe him there, by out-ſhining him; But Barnabas is very willing to be ſo when it is for the publick Service. If GOD by his Grace enables us to do what Good we can, according to the Ability we have, we ought to rejoyce if others that have alſo larger Capacities, have larger Opportunities, and do more Good than we can do. Barnabas brought Saul to Antioch, tho' it might be the leſſening of himſelf, to teach us to ſeek the Things of Chriſt more than our own Things.

Now here we are further told.

1. What Service was now done to the Church at Antioch. Paul and Barnabas continued there a whole Year, preſiding in their religious Aſſemblies, and preaching the Goſpel, v. 26. Obſerve, (1.) The Church frequently aſſembled. The Religious Aſſemblies of Chriſtians are appointed by Chriſt for his Honour, and the Comfort and Benefit of his Diſciples. GOD's People of Old frequently came together, at the Door of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, Places of Meeting are now multiply'd, But they muſt come together, tho' it be with Difficulty and Peril. (2.) Miniſters were the Maſters of thoſe Aſſemblies, and held thoſe Courts in Chriſt's Name, to which all that hold by, from, and under him, owe Suit and Service. (3.) Teaching the People is one Part of the Work of Miniſters, when they preſide in religious Aſſemblies. They are not only to be the Peoples Mouth to GOD in Prayer and Praiſe, but GOD's Mouth to the People in opening the Scriptures, and teaching out of them the good Knowledge of the Lord. (4.) It is a great Encouragement to Miniſters when they have Opportunity of teaching much People, of caſting the Net of the Goſpel, where there's a large Shole of Fiſh, in Hopes that the more may be incloſ'd. Preaching is not only for the Conviction and Converſion of thoſe that are without, but for the Inſtruction and Edification of thoſe that are within. A conſtituted Church muſt have its Teachers.

2. What Honour was now put upon the Church at Antioch; There the Diſciples were firſt called Chriſtians. 'Tis likely they call'd themſelves ſo, incorporated themſelves by that Title; whether by ſome ſolemn Act of the Church or Miniſters, or whether this Name inſenſibly obtain'd there by its begin frequently us'd in their Praying and Preaching we are not told; but it ſhould ſeem that two ſuch great Men as Paul and Barnabas continuing there ſo long, being exceedingly follow'd, and meeting with no Oppoſition, Chriſtian Aſſemblies made a greater Figure there than any where, and became more conſiderable, which was the Reaſon of their being call'd Chriſtians firſt there; which if there were to be a Mother Church to rule over all other Churches would give Antioch a better Title to the Honour, than Rome can pretend to. Hitherto they who gave up their Names to Chriſt were call'd Diſciples, Learners, Scholars, train'd up under him, in order to their being employ'd by him. But from hence forward they were call'd Chriſtians. (1.) Thus the reproachful Names which their Enemies had hitherto branded them with, would perhaps be wip'd away, and diſuſed. They call'd them Nazarenes, Acts. xxiv. 5. The Men of that Way, that By way, which had no Name, and thus they prejudic'd People againſt them, to remove which Prejudices they gave themſelves a Name which their Enemies could not but ſay was proper enough. (2.) Thus they who before their Converſion had been diſtinguiſh'd by the Names of Jew and Gentiles might after their Converſion be call'd by one and the ſame Name, which would help them to forget their former dividing Names, and prevent their bringing their former Marks of Diſtinction, and with them the Seeds of Contention into the Church. Let not one ſay I was a Jew, nor the other, I was a Gentile, when both the one and the other muſt now ſay, I am a Chriſtian. (3.) Thus they ſtudy'd to do Honour to their Maſter, and ſhew'd that they were not aſham'd to own their Relation to him, but glory'd in it; as the Scholars of Plato call'd themſelves Platoniſts, and ſo the Scholars of other great Men. They took their Denomination not from the Name of his Perſon Jeſus, but of his Office Chriſt; Anointed; ſo putting their Creed into their Name, that Jeſus is the Chriſt, and they are willing all the World ſhould know, That this is the Truth they will live and dye by. Their Enemies will turn this Name to their Reproach, and impute it to them as their Crime, but they will glory in it; If this be to be vile, I will yet be more vile. (4.) Thus they own'd their Dependance upon Chriſt, and their Receivings from him; not only that they believ'd in him who is the Anointed, but that through him they themſelves had the Anointing, 1 Joh. ii. 20, 27. And GOD is ſaid to have Anointed us in Chriſt, 2 Cor. i. 21. (5.) Thus they laid upon themſelves, and all that ſhould ever profeſs that Name a ſtrong and laſting Obligation to ſubmit to the Laws of Chriſt, to follow the Example of Chriſt, and to devote themſelves entirely to the Honour of Chriſt, to be to him for a Name and a Praiſe. Are we Chriſtians? then we ought to think, and ſpeak, and act in every Thing as becomes Chriſtians, and to do Nothing to the Reproach of that worthy Name by which we are call'd; that that may not be ſaid to us, which Alexander ſaid to a Soldier of his own Name that was noted for a Coward, Aut nomen aut mores muta; either change thy Name, or mend thy Manners. And as we muſt look upon ourſelves as Chriſtians, and carry ourſelves accordingly, ſo we muſt look upon others as Chriſtians, and carry ourſelves towards them accordingly. A Chriſtian tho' not in every Thing of our Mind ſhould be lov'd and reſpected for his Sake, whoſe Name he bears, becauſe he belongs to Chriſt. (6.) Thus the Scripture was fulfilled, for ſo it was written, Iſa. lxii. 2. concerning the Goſpel Church, thou ſhalt be call'd by a new Name, which the Mouth of the Lord ſhall Name. And Iſa. lxv. 16. 'tis ſaid to the corrupt and degenerate Church of the Jews, The Lord God ſhall ſlay thee, and call his Servants by another Name.

27 ¶ And in theſe days came prophets from Jeruſalem unto Antioch. 28 And there ſtood up one of them named Agabus, and ſignified by the ſpirit, that there ſhould be great dearth throughout all the world which came to paſs in the days of Claudius Ceſar. 29 Then the diſciples, every man according to his ability, determined to ſend relief unto the brethren which dwelt in Judea. 30 Which alſo they did, and ſent it to the elders, by the hands of Barnabas and Saul.

When our Lord Jeſus Aſcended on high, he gave Gifts unto Men, not only Apoſtles and Evangeliſts, but Prophets, who were enabled by the Spirit to foreſee and foretell Things to come, which not only ſerv'd for a Confirmation of the Truth of Chriſtianity, for all that theſe Prophets foretold came to paſs, which prov'd that they were ſent of GOD Deut. xviii. 22. Jer. xxviii. 9. but it was alſo of great Uſe to the Church, and ſerv'd very much for it's Conduct. Now here we have,

Firſt, A Viſit which ſome of thoſe Prophets made to Antioch v. 27. In theſe Days, during that Year that Barnabas and Saul liv'd at Antioch, there came Prophets from Jeruſalem to Antioch; we are not told how many, nor is it certain whether theſe were any of thoſe Prophets that we afterwards find in the Church at Antioch, ch. xiii. 1.

1. They came from Jeruſalem, probably becauſe they were not now ſo much regarded there as they had been; They ſaw their Work in a manner done there, and therefore thought it Time to be gone. Jeruſalem had been infamous for killing the Prophets, and abuſing them, and therefore is now juſtly depriv'd of theſe Prophets.

2. They came to Antioch, becauſe they heard of the flouriſhing State of that Church, and there they hoped they might be of ſome Service. Thus ſhould every One as he hath receiv'd the Gift, miniſter the ſame. Barnabas came to exhort them, and they having receiv'd the Exhortation well, now have Prophets ſent them, to ſhew them Things to come, as Chriſt had promis'd, Joh. xvi. 13. They that are faithful in their little, ſhall be entruſted with more. The beſt underſtanding of Scripture Predictions, is to be got in the Way of Obedience to Scripture Inſtructions.

Secondly, A particular Prediction of a Famine approaching, delivered by one of theſe Prophets, his Name Agabus; we read of him again propheſying Paul's Impriſonment, chap. xxi. 10. Here he ſtood up, probably in one of their publick Aſſemblies, and propheſy'd v. 28. Obſerve,

1. Whence he had his Prophecy; what he ſaid was not of himſelf, nor a Fancy of his own, nor an Aſtronomical Prediction, or a Conjecture upon the preſent Workings of ſecond Cauſes, but he ſignified it by the Spirit, the Spirit of Prophecy, that there ſhould be a Famine; as Joſeph by the Spirit enabling him, underſtood Pharoah's Dreams, foretold the Famine in Egypt, and Elijah the Famine in Iſrael, in Ahab's Time. Thus God revealed his Secrets to his Servants the Prophets.

2. What the Prophecy was. Firſt, There ſhould be great Dearth throughout all the World, by unſeaſonable Weather: That Corn ſhould be ſcarce and dear, ſo that many of the Poor ſhould periſh for Want of Bread. This ſhould be not in one particular Country, but through all the World, i. e. all the Roman Empire, which they in their Pride, like Alexander before them, called the World. Chriſt had foretold in general, that there ſhould be Famines, Mat. xxiv. 7. Mark xiii. 8. Luke xx. 11. but Agabus foretells one very remarkable Famine now at Hand.

3. The Accompliſhment of it: It came to paſs in the Days of Claudius Cæſar; it began in the ſecond Year of his Reign, and continued to the Fourth, if not longer; ſeveral of the Roman Hiſtorians make mention of it, as doth alſo Joſephus. GOD ſent them the Bread of Life, and they rejected it, loath'd the Plenty of that Manna, and therefore God juſtly broke the Staff of Bread and puniſhed them with Famine, and herein he was Righteous. They were barren and did not bring forth to GOD, and therefore GOD made the Earth barren to them.

Thirdly, The good Uſe they made of this Prediction: When they were told of a Famine at Hand, they did not do as the Egyptians, hoard up Corn for themſelves, but as became Chriſtians, laid by their Charity to relieve others, which is the beſt Preparative for Sufferings and Want ourſelves. 'Tis promiſed to thoſe that conſider the Poor, that GOD will preſerve them and keep them alive, and they ſhall be bleſſed upon the Earth, Pſal. xli. 1, 2. And thoſe who ſhew Mercy and give to the Poor, ſhall not be aſham'd in the evil Time, but in the Days of Famine they ſhall be ſatisfy'd, Pſal. xxxvii. 19, 21. The beſt Proviſion we can lay up againſt a dear Time is to lay up an Intereſt in thoſe Promiſes, by doing good and communicating, Luke xii. 33. Many give it for a Reaſon why they ſhould be ſparing, but the Scripture gives it as a Reaſon why we ſhould be liberal, to ſeven, and alſo to eight, becauſe we know not what Evil ſhall be upon the Earth, Eccl. xi. 2. Obſerve,

1. What they determin'd; That every Man according to his Ability, ſhould ſend Relief to the Bretbren that dwelt in Judea, v. 29. (1.) The Perſons that were recommended to them as Objects of Charity, were the Brethren that dwelt in Judea. Tho' we muſt as we have Opportunity, do good to all Men, yet we muſt have a ſpecial regard to the Houſhold of Faith, Gal. vi. 10. No Poor muſt be neglected, but GOD's Poor moſt particularly regarded. The Care which every particular Church ought to take of their own Poor, we were taught by the early Inſtance of that in the Church at Jeruſalem, where the Miniſtration was ſo conſtant, that none lacked, Acts iv. 34. But the Communion of Saints in that Inſtance, is here extended further, and Proviſion is made by the Church at Antioch, for the relief of the Poor in Judea, whom they call their Brethren. It ſeems it was the Cuſtom of the Jews of the Diſperſion, to ſend Money to thoſe Jews which dwelt in Judea, for the relief of the Poor that were among them, and to make Collections for that Purpoſe. Tully ſpeaks of ſuch a Thing in his time, Orat pro Flacco: Which ſuppoſeth there were many Poor in Judea, more than in other Countries, ſo that the Rich among them were not able to bear the Charge of keeping them from Starving; either becauſe their Land was grown barren, tho' it had been a fruitful Land, for the Iniquity of them that dwelt therein: Or, becauſe they had no Traffick with other Nations. Now we may ſuppoſe, that the greateſt Part of thoſe who turn'd Chriſtians in that Country were the Poor, Mat. xi. 1. the Poor are Evangeliz'd; And alſo that when the Poor turn'd Chriſtians, they were put out of the Poors Book, and cut off from their Shares in the Publick Charity, and it were eaſy to foreſee that if there came a Famine, it would go very hard with them; and if any of them ſhould periſh for Want, it would be a great Reproach to the Chriſtian Profeſſion, and therefore this early Care was taken, upon Notice of this Famine coming, to ſend them a Stock beforehand, leaſt if it ſhould be deferr'd till the Famine came, it ſhould be too late. (2.) The Argreement that was among the Diſciples about it: That every Man ſhould contribute according to his Ability to this good Work. The Jews abroad in other Countries, grew rich by Trade, and many of the rich Jews became Chriſtians, whoſe Abundance ought to be a Supply to the Want of their poor Brethren, that were at a great Diſtance; for the Caſe of ſuch ought to be conſider'd, and not only theirs that live among us. Charitable People are Traders with what God has given them; and the Merchants find their Account in ſending Effects to Countries that lie very remote and ſo ſhould we in giving Alms to thoſe afar off that need them, which therefore we ſhould be forward to do when we are call'd to it. Every Man determined to ſend ſomething, more or leſs, according to his Ability; what he could ſpare from the Support of himſelf and his Family, and according as GOD had proſpered him. What may be ſaid to be according to his Ability, we muſt judge for ourſelves, but muſt be careful that we judge righteous Judgments.

2. What they did, they did as they determined, v. 30. Which alſo they did. They not only talk'd of it, but they did it. Many a good Motion of that Kind is made and commended, but is not proſecuted, and ſo comes to nothing: But this was purſued, the Collection was made, and was ſo conſiderable, that they thought it worth while to ſend Barnabas and Saul to Jeruſalem, to carry it to the Elders there, though they would want their labours in the mean time at Antioch. They ſent it, (1.) To the Elders, the Preſbyters, the Miniſters or Paſtors of the Churches in Judea, to be by them diſtributed, according to the neceſſity of the receivers, as it had been contributed according to the Ability of the Givers. (2.) It was ſent by Barnabas and Saul, who, perhaps wanted an Occaſion to go to Jeruſalem, and therefore were willing to take this, Joſephus tells us, that at this Time, King Irates ſent his Charity to the chief Men of Jeruſalem, for the Poor of that Countrey: And Helena Queen of the Adiabeni, being now at Jeruſalem, and hearing of many that died of Famine there, and in the Country about, ſent for Proviſions from Cyprus and Alexandria and diſtributed them among the People. So ſaith Dr. Lightfoot, who alſo computes by the Date of Paul's Rapture, fourteen Years before he wrote the Second Epiſtle to the Corinthians, 2 Cor. xii. 1, 2. That it was in this Journey of his to Jeruſalem, with theſe Alms and Offerings, that he had his Trance in the Temple, which he ſpeaks of Acts xxii. 17. and in that Trance was rapt up into the third Heaven; and then it was that Chriſt told him, he would ſend him from thence unto the Gentiles, which accordingly he did, as ſoon as ever he came back to Antioch. It is no Diſparagement in an extraordinary Caſe, for Miniſters of the Goſpel, to be Meſſengers of the Churches Charity; though to undertake the conſtant Care of that Matter, would ordinarily be too great a Diverſion from more needful Work, to thoſe who have given themſelves to Prayer, and the Miniſtry of the Word.

CHAP. XII.

In this Chapter we have the Story (1.) Of the Martyrdom of James the Apoſtle, and the Impriſonment of Peter, by Herod Agrippa, who now reigned as King in Judea, v. 1, 4. (2.) The miraculous Deliverance of Peter out of Priſon by the Miniſtry of an Angel, in Anſwer to the Prayers of the Church for him, v. 5, 19. (3.) The Cutting off of Herod in the Height of his Pride, by the Stroak of an Angel, the Miniſter of GOD's Juſtice, v. 20, 23. And this was done while Barnabas and Saul were at Jeruſalem, upon the Errand that the Church of Antioch ſent them on to carry their Charity; and therefore in the Cloſe, we have an Account of their Return to Antioch, v. 24, 25.

NOW about that time, Herod the king ſtretched forth his hands to vex certain of the church. 2 And he killed James the brother of John with the ſword. 3 And becauſe he ſaw it pleaſed the Jews, he proceeded further to take Peter alſo. (Then were the days of unleavened bread.) 4 And when he had apprehended him, he put him in priſon, and delivered him to four quaternions of ſouldiers, to keep him, intending after Eaſter to bring him forth to the people.

Ever ſince the Converſion of Paul, we have heard no more of the Agency of the Prieſts in Perſecuting the Sains at Jeruſalem; perhaps that wonderful Change wrought upon him, and the Diſappointment it gave to their Deſign upon the Chriſtians at Damaſcus, had ſomewhat mollified them, and brought them under the Check of Gamaliel's Advice to let thoſe Men alone, and ſee what would be the Iſſue. But here the Storm ariſeth from another Point; the Civil Power, not now as uſual (for ought appears) ſtirr'd up by the Eccleſiaſticks, acts by it ſelf in the Perſecution. But Herod tho' originally of an Edomite Family, yet ſeems to have been a Proſelyte to the Jewiſh Religion: For Joſephus ſaith, he was zealous for the Moſaick Rites, a Bigot for the Ceremonies: He not only (as Herod Antipas was) Tetrarch of Galilee, but had alſo the Government of Judea committed to him by Claudius the Emperor, and reſided moſt at Jeruſalem, where he was at this Time.

Three Things we are here told he did.

Firſt, He ſtretched forth his Hands to vex certain of the Church, v. 1. His ſtretching forth his Hands to it, intimates, that his Hands had been ty'd up, by the Reſtraints which perhaps, his own Conſcience held him under in this Matter, but now he broke through them, and ſtretch'd forth his Hands deliberately, and of Malice pre penſe. Herod laid Hands upon ſome of the Church to afflict them: So ſome read it. He employ'd his Offices to ſeize them, and take them into Cuſtody, in order to their being proſecuted. See how he advances gradually.

1. He began with ſome of the Members of the Church, certain of them that were of leſs Note and Figure; play'd firſt at ſmall Game, but afterwards flew at the Apoſtles themſelves. His Spite was at the Church; And thoſe he gave Trouble to, it was not upon any other Account, but becauſe they belong'd to the Church, and ſo belong'd to Chriſt.

2. He began with vexing them only, or afflicting them, impriſoning them, fining them, ſpoiling their Houſes and Goods, and other Ways moleſting them. But afterwards he proceeded to greater Inſtances of Cruelty. Chriſt's ſuffering Servants are thus train'd up by leſſer Troubles, for greater, that Tribulation may work Patience, and Patience Experience.

Secondly, He kill'd James the Brother of John with the Sword, v. 2. We are here to conſider,

1. Who the Martyr was; 'Twas James the Brother of John, ſo call'd to diſtinguiſh him from the other James, the Brother of Joſes. This was call'd Jacobus major, that minor. This that was here crown'd with Martyrdom was one of the firſt three of Chriſt's Diſciples, One of thoſe that were the Witneſſes of his Transfiguration and Agony, whereby he was prepar'd for Martyrdom. He was One of thoſe whom Chriſt call'd Boanarges, Sons of Thunder, and perhaps by his powerful, awakening Preaching, he had provok'd Herod, or thoſe about him, as John Baptiſt did the other Herod, and that was the Occaſion of his coming into this Trouble. He was one of thoſe Sons of Zebedee whom Chriſt told, that they ſhould drink of the Cup that he was to drink of, and be baptized with the Baptiſm that he was to be baptized with, Matth. xx. 23. And now thoſe Words of Chriſt were made good in him; but it was in order to his ſitting at Chriſt's right Hand; for if we ſuffer with him, we ſhall reign with him. He was one of the Twelve who were commiſſion'd to diſciple all Nations, and to take him off now, before he was remov'd from Jeruſalem, was like Cain's killing Abel then, when the World was to be peopled; and one Man was then more than many at another Time. To kill an Apoſtle now, was killing he knew not how many. But why would GOD permit it? If the Blood of his Saints, much more the Blood of Apoſtles, is precious in his Eyes, and therefore we may be ſure is not ſhed but upon a valuable Conſideration. Perhaps GOD intended hereby to awaken the reſt of the Apoſtels to diſperſe themſelves among the Nations, and not to neſtle any longer at Jeruſalem. Or it was to ſhew that tho' the Apoſtles were appointed to plant the Goſpel in the World, yet if they were taken off, GOD could do his Work without them, and would do it. This Apoſtle dy'd a Martyr, to ſhew the reſt of them what they muſt expect, that they might prepare accordingly. The Tradition that they have in the Romiſh Church, That this James had been before this in Spain, and had planted the Goſpel there, is altogether groundleſs, nor is there any Certainty of it, or good Authority for it.

2. What the Kind of his Death was; he was ſlain with the Sword, i. e. His Head was cut off with a Sword which was look'd upon by the Romans to be a more diſgraceful Way of being beheaded than with an Axe; ſo Lorinus. Beheading was not ordinarily us'd among the Jews: But when Kings gave verbal Orders for private and ſudden Executions, this Manner of Death was us'd as moſt expeditious, and 'tis probable, this Herod kill'd James, as the other Herod kill'd John Baptiſt, privately in the Priſon. It is ſtrange, that we have not a more full an particular Account of the Martyrdom of this great Apoſtle, as we had of Stephen. But even this ſhort Mention of the Thing is ſufficient to let us know, that the firſt Preachers of the Goſpel were ſo well aſſur'd of the Truth of it, that they ſeal'd it with their Blood, and thereby have encourag'd us, if at any Time we are call'd to it to reſiſt unto Blood too. The Old Teſtament Martyrs were ſlain with the Sword, Heb. xi. 37. And Chriſt came not to ſend Peace, but a Sword, Matt. x. 34. in Preparation for which we muſt arm our ſelves with the Sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of GOD, and then we need not fear what the Sword of Men can do unto us.

Thirdly, He impriſon'd Peter, whom he had heard moſt of, as making the greateſt Figure among the Apoſtles, and whom therefore he would be proud of the Honour of taking off. Obſerve here.

1. When he had beheaded John, he proceeded further, he added, to take Peter alſo. Note, Blood to the Blood-thirſty, doth but make them more ſo; and the Way of Perſecution as of other Sins, is down Hill, when Men are in it they cannot eaſily ſtop themſelves; when they are in they find they muſt on, Male facta male factis tegere ne perpluant. They that take one bold Step in a ſinful Way, give Satan Advantage againſt them to tempt them to take another, and provoke GDD to leave them to themſelves, to go from bad to worſe. 'Tis therefore our Wiſdom to take heed of the Beginning of Sin.

2. He did this becauſe he ſaw it pleas'd the Jews. Obſerve, The Jews made themſelves guilty of the Blood of James, by ſhewing themſelves well pleas'd with it afterwards, tho' they had not excited Herod to it. There are Acceſſaries ex poſt facto, and they will be reckon'd with as Perſecutors, that take Pleaſure in others Perſecuting, that delight to ſee good Men ill us'd, and cry Aha, ſo would we have it; or at leaſt, ſecretly approve of it. For bloody Perſecutors when they perceive themſelves applauded, for that which every One ought to cry Shame upon them for, are encourag'd to go on, and have their Hands ſtrengthen'd, and their Hearts harden'd, and the Checks of their own Conſciences ſmother'd; nay, it is as ſtrong a Temptation to them to do the like, as it was here to Herod, becauſe he ſaw it pleas'd the Jews. Tho' he had no Reaſon to fear diſpleaſing them if he did not, as Pilate condemn'd Chriſt; yet he hop'd to pleaſe them by doing it, and ſo to make an Intereſt among them, and make Amends for diſpleaſing them in ſomething elſe. Note, Thoſe make themſelves an eaſy Prey to Satan, that make it their Buſineſs to pleaſe Men.

3. Notice is taken of the Time when Herod laid hold on Peter; Then were the Days of unleavened Bread. 'Twas at the Feaſt of the Paſſover, when their celebrating the Memorial of their typical Deliverance, ſhould have led them to the Acceptance of their ſpiritual Deliverance; inſtead of that they under Pretence of Zeal for the Law, were moſt violently fighting againſt it; and in the Days of unleavened Bread, were moſt ſower'd and embit-ter'd with the old Leaven of Malice and Wickedneſs. At the Paſſoever, when the Jews came from all Parts to Jeruſalem to keep the Feaſt, they irritated one another againſt the Chriſtians and Chriſtianity, and were then more violent than at other Times.

4. Here's an Account of Peter's Impriſonment, v. 4. when he had laid Hands on him, and it's likely examin'd him, he put him in Priſon, into the inner Priſon; ſome ſay into the ſame Priſon into which he and the other Apoſtles were caſt ſome Years before, and were then reſcu'd out of it by an Angel, chap. v. 18. He was deliver'd to four Quarternions of Soldiers, i. e. to ſixteen, who were to be a Guard upon him, four at a Time, that he ſhould not make his Eſcape, or be reſcu'd by his Friends. Thus they thought they had him faſt.

5. Herod's Deſign was after Eaſter to bring him forth unto the People: (1.) He would make a Spectacle of him; Probably he had put James to Death privately, which the People had complain'd of, not becauſe it was an unjuſt Thing to put a Man to Death without giving him a publick Hearing, but becauſe it depriv'd them of the Satisfaction of ſeeing him executed: And therefore Herod now he knows their Minds, will gratify them with the Sight of Peter in Bonds, of Peter upon the Block, that they may feed their Eyes with ſuch a pleaſing Spectacle. And very ambitious ſure he was to pleaſe the People, who was willing thus to pleaſe them. (2.) He would do this after Eaſter; μετὰ τὸ πάσχα after the Paſſover; certainly ſo it ought to be read; for it is the ſame Word that is always ſo render'd; and to inſinuate the introducing of a Goſpel Feaſt, inſtead of the Paſſover, when we have nothing in the New Teſtament of ſuch a Thing, is to mingle Judaiſm with our Chriſtianity. Herod would not condemn him till the Paſſover was over; ſome think, for fear leſt he ſhould have ſuch an Intereſt among the People, as that they ſhould demand the Releaſe of him according to the Cuſtom of the Feaſt. Or, After the Hurry of the Feaſt was over, and the Town was empty, he would entertain them with Peter's publick Tryal and Execution. Thus was the Plot laid, and both Herod and the People long to have the Feaſt over, that they may gratify themſelves with this barbarous Entertainment.

5 Peter therefore was kept in priſon; but prayer was made without ceaſing of the church unto God for him. 6 And when Herod would have brought him forth, the ſame night Peter was ſleeping between two ſouldiers, bound with two chains; and the keepers before the door kept the priſon. 7 And behold, the Angel of the Lord came upon him, and a light ſhined in the priſon: and he ſmote Peter on the ſide, and raiſed him up, ſaying, Ariſe up quickly, And his chains fell off from his hands. 8 And the angel ſaid unto him, Gird thy ſelf, and bind on thy ſandals: And ſo he did. And he ſaith unto him, Caſt thy garment about thee, and follow me. 9 And he went out, and followed him, and wiſt not that it was true which was done by the angel: but thought he ſaw a viſion. 10 When they were paſt the firſt and the ſecond ward, they came unto the iron gate that leadeth unto the city, which opened to them of his own accord: and they went out, and paſſed on through one ſtreet, and forthwith the angel departed from him. 11 And when Peter was come to himſelf, he ſaid, Now I know of a ſurety, that the Lord hath ſent his angel, and hath delivered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the expectation of the people of the Jews. 12 And when he had conſidered the thing, he came to the Houſe of Mary, the mother of John, whoſe ſirname was Mark, where many were gathered together, praying. 13 And as Peter knocked at the door of the gate, a damſel came to hearken, named Rhoda. 14 And when ſhe knew Peter's voice, ſhe opened not the gate for gladneſs, but ran in, and told how Peter ſtood before the Gate. 15 And they ſaid unto her, Thou art mad. But ſhe conſtantly affirmed that it was even ſo. Then ſaid they, It is his angel. 16 But Peter continued knocking: and when they had opened the door, and ſaw him, they were aſtoniſhed. 17 But he beckening unto them with the hand to hold their peace, declared unto them how the Lord had brought him out of the priſon. And he ſaid, Go ſhew theſe things unto James, and to the brethren. And he departed, and went into another place. 18 Now as ſoon as it was day, there was no ſmall ſtir among the ſouldiers what was become of Peter. And when Herod had ſought for him, and found him not, he examined the keepers, and commanded that they ſhould be put to death. And he went down from Judea to Ceſarea, and there abode.

We have here an Account of Peter's Deliverance out of Priſon, by which the Deſign of Herod againſt him was defeated, and his Life reſerv'd for further Service, and a Stop given to this bloody Torrent. Now

Firſt, One Thing that magnify'd his Deliverance was, That it was a ſignal Anſwer to Prayer, v. 5. Peter was kept in Priſon, with a great deal of Care, ſo that it was altogether impoſſible either by force or by Stealth to get him out; But Prayer was made without ceaſing of the Church unto GOD for him; for Prayers and Tears are the Church's Arms, therewith ſhe fights not only againſt her Enemies, but for her Friends; and to thoſe Means they have recourſe..

1. The Delay of Peter's Trial gave them Time for Prayer. 'Tis probable James was hurry'd off ſo ſuddenly and ſo privately that they had not Time to pray for him. GOD ſo ordering it that they ſhould not have ſpace to Pray, when He deſign'd they ſhould not have the Thing they pray'd for; James muſt be offer'd upon the Sacrifice and Service of their Faith; and therefore Prayer for him is reſtrain'd and prevented; but Peter muſt be continu'd to them, and therefore Prayer for him is ſtir'd up, and Time is given them for it, by Herod's putting of the Proſecution; Howbeit he meant not ſo, neither did his Heart think ſo.

2. They were very particular in their Prayers for him, That it would pleaſe God, ſome Way or other to defeat Herod's Purpoſe, and to ſnatch the Lamb out of the Jaws of the Lion. The Death of James alarm'd them to a greater Fervency in their Prayers for Peter; for if they be broken thus with Breach upon Breach, they fear that the Enemy will make a full End. Stephen is not, and James is not, and will they take Peter alſo; all theſe Things are againſt them; this will be Sorrow upon Sorrow, Phil. ii. 27. Note, Tho' the Death and Sufferings of Chriſt's Miniſters may be made greatly to ſerve the Intereſts of Chriſt's Kingdom; yet it is the Duty and concern of the Church, earneſtly to pray for their Life, Liberty, and Tranquility; and ſometimes Providence orders it, that they are brought into imminent Danger to ſtir up Prayer for them.

3. Prayer was made without ceaſing; It was, προσευχὴ ἐκτενὴς, fervent Prayer; 'tis the Word that is us'd concerning Chriſt's Praying in his Agony more earneſtly. It is the fervent Prayer of the righteous Man that is effectual and availeth much. Some think, it notes the Conſtancy and Continuance of their Prayers; ſo we take it: They pray'd without ceaſing; 'twas an extended Prayer. They pray'd for his Releaſe in their publick Aſſemblies, private ones perhaps for fear of the Jews; then they went home, and pray'd for it in their Families, then retir'd into their Cloſets, and pray'd for it there; ſo they pray'd without ceaſing. Or, firſt one Knot of them, and then another, and then a third kept a Day of Prayer, or rather a Night of Prayer for, v. 12. Note Times of publick Diſtreſs and Danger, ſhould be Praying Times with the Church. We muſt pray always; but then eſpecially.

Secondly, Another Thing that magnify'd his Deliverance was, That when the King's Commandment and Decree drew near to be put in Execution, then his Deliverance was wrought, as Eſth. ix. 2. Let us obſerve when his Deliverance came.

1. It was the very Night before Herod deſign'd to bring him forth which made it to be ſo much the greater Conſolation to his Friends, and Confuſion to his Enemies. 'Tis likely ſome that had an Intereſt in Herod or thoſe about him, had been improving it to get a Diſcharge for Peter, but in vain; Herod reſolves he ſhall dye; and now they deſpair of prevailing that Way, for to Morrow is the Day ſet for the bringing him forth, and 'tis likely they will make as quick Work with him, as with his Maſter: And now GOD open'd a Door of Eſcape for him. Note, GOD's Time to help, is when Things are brought to the laſt Extremity, when there is none ſhut up or left, Deut. xxxii. 36. and for that Reaſon it has been ſaid, The worſe, the better. When Iſaac is bound upon the Altar, and the Knife in the Hand, and the Hand ſtretch'd out to ſlay him, then Jehovah jireh, The LORD will provide.

2. It was when he was faſt bound with two Chains between two Soldiers; ſo that if he offer to ſtir he wakes them; and beſides this, tho' the Priſon Doors no doubt were lock'd and bolted, yet to make ſure Work, the Keepers before the Door, kept the Priſon, that no One might ſo much as attempt to reſcue him. Never could the Art of Man do more to ſecure a Priſoner, Herod no doubt ſaid as Pilate, Matth. xxvii. 65. Make it as ſure as you can. When Men will think to be too hard for GOD, GOD will make it appear, that He is too hard for them.

3. It was when he was ſleeping between the Soldiers; faſt aſleep. (1.) Not terrify'd with his Danger, tho' it was very imminent; and there was no viſible Way for his Eſcape. There was but a Step between him and Death, and yet he could lay him down in Peace and ſleep, ſleep in the Midſt his Enemies, ſleep when it may be they were awake; having a good Cauſe that he ſuffer'd for, and a good Conſcience that he ſuffer'd with, and being aſſur'd that GOD would iſſue his Tryal that Way that ſhould be moſt for his Glory; having committed his Cauſe to him that judgeth righteouſly, his Soul dwells at Eaſe; and even in Priſon between two Soldiers, GOD gives him Sleep, as he doth to his Beloved, (2.) Not expecting his Deliverance. He did not keep awake looking to the right Hand or to the left for Relief, but lay a-ſleep, and was perfectly ſurpriz'd with his Deliverance. Thus the Church, Pſal. cxxvi. 1. We were like that dream.

Thirdly, It alſo magnify'd his Deliverance very much, that an Angel was ſent from Heaven on Purpoſe to reſcue him; which made his Eſcape both practicable and warrantable. This Angel brought him a legal Diſcharge, and enabled him to make Uſe of it.

1. The Angel of the LORD came upon him, ἐπέστη, ſtood over him; He ſeem'd as One abandon'd by Man, yet not forgotten of his GOD; The LORD thinketh upon him. Gates and Guards keep all his Friends from him, but cannot keep the Angels of GOD from him. And they inviſibly encamp round about them that fear GOD, to deliver them, Pſal. xxxiv. 7. and therefore they need not fear tho' an Hoſt of Enemies encamp againſt them. Pſal. xxii. 3. Wherever the People of GOD are, and however ſurrounded, they have a Way open Heaven-ward, nor can any Thing intercept their Intercourſe with GOD.

2. A Light ſhined in the Priſon, tho' it was a dark Place, and in the Night, Peter ſhall ſee his Way clear. Some obſerve, that we do not find in the Old Teſtament, that were Angels appear'd the Light ſhone round about them; for that was a dark Diſpenſation, and the Glory of Angels was then veil'd; but in the New Teſtament, when Mention is made of the Appearing of Angels, Notice is taken of the Light that they appear'd in; for it is by the Goſpel that the upper World is brought to light. The Soldiers to whom Peter was chain'd, were either ſtruck into a deep Sleep, for the preſent, as Saul and his Soldiers were when David carry'd off his Spear and Cruſe of Water; or, if they were awake, the Appearance of the Angel made them to ſhake, and to become as dead Men, as it was with the Guard ſet on Chriſt's Sepulchre.

3. The Angel awak'd Peter by giving him a Blow on his Side, a gentle Touch, enough to rouze him out of his Sleep, tho' ſo faſt a Sleep, that the Light that ſhone upon him did not wake him. When good People ſlumber in a Time of Danger, and are not awak'd by the Light of the Word, and the Diſcoveries it gives them, let them expect to be ſmitten on the Side by ſome ſharp Affliction; better be rais'd up ſo, than left a-ſleep. The Language of this Stroke was, Ariſe up quickly; not as if the Angel fear'd coming ſhort by his Delay; but Peter muſt not be indulg'd in it. When David hears the Sound of the going on the Top of the Mulberry Trees, then he muſt riſe up quickly and beſtir himſelf.

4. His Chains fell from off his Hands; It ſeems they had Handcuffed him, to make him ſure, but GOD looſed his Bands; and if they fall off from his Hands, 'tis as well as if he had the Strength of Sampſon to break them like Threads of Tow. Tradition makes a mighty Rout about theſe Chains, and tells a formal Story, that one of the Soldiers kept them for a ſacred Relique, and they were long after preſented to Eudoxia the Empreſs, and I know not what Miracles are ſaid to be wrought by them; and the Romiſh Church keeps a Feaſt on the firſt of Auguſt yearly in Remembrance of Peter's Chains Feſtum vinculorum Petri, whereas this was at the Paſſover. Surely they are thus fond of Peter's Chains, in hopes with them to enſlave the World.

5. He was order'd to dreſs himſelf preſently, and follow the Angel, and he did ſo, v. 8, 9. When Peter was awake, he knew not what to do, but as the Angel directed him. (1.) He muſt gird himſelf; for thoſe that ſlept in their Cloaths ungirt themſelves, ſo that they had nothing to do when they got up, but to faſten their Girdles. (2.) He muſt bind on his Sandals, that he might be fit to walk. Thoſe whoſe Bonds are looſ'd by the Power of divine Grace, muſt have their Feet ſhod with the Preparation of the Goſpel of Peace. (3.) He muſt caſt his Garments about him, and come away as he was, and follow the Angel, and he might go with a great deal of Courage and Chearfulneſs, who had a Meſſenger from Heaven for his Guide and Guard; he went out and follow'd him. Thoſe who are deliver'd out of a ſpiritual Impriſonment, muſt follow their Deliverer, as Iſrael when they went out of the Houſe of Bondage did; they went out, not knowing whither they went, but whom they follow'd.

Now it's ſaid, when Peter went out after the Angel, He wiſt not that it was true which was done by the Angel, that it was really Matter of Fact, but thought he ſaw a Viſion; and if he did, it was not the firſt that he had ſeen: But by this it appears that a heavenly Viſion was ſo plain, and carry'd ſo much of its own Evidence along with it, that it was hard to diſtinguiſh between what was done in Fact, and what was done in Viſion. When the Lord brought back the Captivity of his People, we were like them that dream, Pſal. cxxvi. 1. Peter was ſo, he thought the News was too good to be true.

6. He was led ſafe by the Angel out of Danger, v. 10. Guards were kept at one Paſs, and at another which they were to make their Way through when they were out of the Priſon, and they did ſo without any Oppoſition; nay, for ought appears without any Diſcovery; either their Eyes were cloſ'd, or their Hands were ty'd, or their Hearts fail'd them; ſo it was, that the Angel and Peter ſafely paſs the firſt and ſecond Ward. Thoſe Watchmen repreſented the Watchmen of the Jewiſh Church, on whom GOD had pour'd out a Spirit of Slumber, Eyes that they ſhould not ſee, and Ears that they ſhould not hear, Rom. xi. 8. His Watchmen are blind, ſleeping, lying down, and loving to ſlumber. But ſtill there's an Iron gate after all, that will ſtop them, and if the Guards can but recover themſelves, there they may recover their Priſoners, as Pharaoh hop'd to re-take Iſrael at the Red-Sea; however, up to that Gate they march, and like the Red-Sea before Iſrael, it opens to them; they did not ſo much as put a Hand to it, but it open'd of its own accord, by an inviſible Power; and thus was fulfilled in the Letter, what was figuratively promis'd to Cyrus, Iſa. xliv. 1. I will open before him the two leav'd Gates, will break in Pieces the Gates of Braſs, and cut in ſunder the Bars of Iron. And probably the Iron Gate ſhut again of it ſelf, that none of the Guards might purſue Peter. Note, When GOD will work Salvation for his People, no Difficulties in their Way are inſuperable: but even Gates of Iron are made to open of their own Accord. This Iron Gate led into the City out of the Caſtle or Tower; whether within the Gates of the City or without, is not certain, ſo that when they were through this, they were got into the Street.

This Deliverance of Peter, repreſents to us our Redemption by Chriſt, which is often ſpoken of as the ſetting of Priſoners free, not only the proclaiming of Liberty to the Captives, but the bringing of them out of the Priſon-houſe. The Application of the Redemption in the Converſion of Souls, is the ſending forth of the Priſoners, by the Blood of the Covenant, out of the Pit where is no Water, Zech. ix. 11. The Grace of GOD, like this Angel of the LORD, brings Light firſt into the Priſon, by the Opening of the Underſtanding, ſmites the ſleeping Sinner on the Side, by the Awakening of the Conſcience; cauſeth the Chains to fall off from the Hands, by the renewing of the Will; and then gives the Word of Command, Gird thy ſelf, and follow me. Difficulties are to be paſs'd through, and the Oppoſition of Satan and his Inſtruments, a firſt and ſecond Ward, an untoward Generation, from which we are concern'd to ſave our ſelves; and ſhall be ſav'd by the Grace of GOD, if we put our ſelves under the Divine Conduct. And at length the Iron-Gate ſhall be open'd to us to enter into the New Jeruſalem, where we ſhall be perfectly freed from all the Marks of our Captivity, and brought into the glorious Liberty of the Children of GOD.

7. When this was done, the Angel departed from him, and left him to himſelf; He was out of Danger from his Enemies, and needed no Guard; he knew where he was, and how to find out his Friends, and needed no Guide, and therefore his heavenly Guard and Guide bids him farewell. Note, Miracles are not to be expected, when ordinary Means are to be us'd. When Peter has now no more Wards to paſs, or Iron Gates to get through, he needs only the ordinary inviſible Miniſtration of the Angels who encamp round about them that fear GOD, and deliver them.

Fourthly, Having ſeen how his Deliverance was magnify'd, we are next to ſee how it was manifeſted both to himſelf and others, and how being made great it was made known. We are here told,

1. How Peter came to himſelf, and ſo came himſelf to the Knowledge of it, v. 11. So many ſtrange and ſurprizing Things coming together upon a Man juſt wak'd out of Sleep, put him for the preſent into ſome Confuſion; ſo that he knew not where he was, nor what he did, nor whether it was Fancy or Fact; but at length Peter came to himſelf, was thoroughly awake, and found that it was not a Dream, but a real Thing; Now I know of a ſurety, now I know, ἀληθῶς truly, now I know that it is Truth, and not an Illuſion of the Fancy. Now I am well ſatisfy'd concerning it, That the Lord Jeſus hath ſent his Angel, for Angels are ſubject to him, and go on his Errands, and by him hath delivered me out of the Hands of Herod, who thought he had me faſt, and ſo hath diſappointed all the Expectation of the People of the Jews, who doubted not but to ſee Peter cut off the next Day, and hoped it was the one Neck of Chriſtianity, in which it would all be ſtruck off at one Blow. For which Reaſon it was a Cauſe of great Expectation, among not only the common People, but the great People of the Jews. Peter when he recollected himſelf, perceived of a Truth what great Things GOD had done for him, which at firſt he could not believe for Joy. Thus Souls who are deliver'd out of a ſpiritual Bondage, are not at firſt aware what GOD has wrought in them, many have the Truth of Grace that want the Evidence of it: They are queſtioning, Whether there be indeed this Change wrought in them, or whether they have not been all this While in a Dream? But when the Comforter comes, whom the Father will ſend ſooner or later, he will let them know of a Surety what a bleſſed Change is wrought in them, and what a happy State they are brought into.

2. How Peter came to his Friends, and brought the Knowledge of it to them; Here's a particular Account of this, and 'tis very entertaining.

1. He conſidered the Thing, v. 12. conſider'd how imminent his Danger was, how great his Deliverance; and now, What has he to do, what Improvement muſt he make of this Deliverance; What muſt he do next? GOD's Providence leaves Room for the Uſe of our Prudence; and what He has begun tho' He has undertaken to perform and perfect it, yet He expects we ſhould conſider the Thing.

2. He went directly to a Friend's Houſe, which 'tis likely near to the Place where he was; 'twas the Houſe of Mary, a Siſter of Barnabas, and Mother of John Mark, whoſe Houſe it ſhould ſeem was frequently made Uſe of for the private Meeting of the Diſciples, either becauſe it was large, and would hold many, or becauſe it lay obſcure, or becauſe ſhe was more forward than others were to open her Doors to them; and no doubt it was like the Houſe of Obed-edom, bleſſed for the Ark's Sake. A Church in the Houſe makes it a little Sanctuary.

3. There he found many that were gather'd together praying, at the dead Time of the Night, praying for Peter, who was the next Day to come upon his Tryal, That God would find out ſome Way or other for his Deliverance. Obſerve, (1.) They continu'd in Prayer, in Token of their Importunity; They did not think it enough once to have preſented his Caſe to GOD, but they did it again and again: Thus Men ought always to pray, and not to faint. As long as we are kept waiting for a Mercy, we muſt continue praying for it. (2.) It ſhould ſeem that now when the Affair came near a Criſis, and the very next Day was fix'd for the Determining of it, they were more fervent in Prayer than before; and it was a good Sign that GOD intended to deliver Peter, when He thus ſtirr'd up a Spirit of Prayer for his Deliverance, for he never ſaid to the Seed of Jacob, ſeek ye my face in vain. (3.) They gather'd together for Prayer on this Occaſion; Tho' that would make them obnoxious to the Government if they were diſcover'd, yet they know what an Encouragement Chriſt gave to joynt Prayer, Matth. xviii. 19, 23. And it was always the Practice of God's praying People, to unite their Forces in Prayer, as Eſth iv. 16. 2 Chron. xx. 4. (4.) They were many that were got together for this Work, as many perhaps as the Room would hold; and firſt One pray'd, and then Another of thoſe who gave themſelves to the Word and Prayer, the reſt joyning with them; Or, if they had not Miniſters among them, no doubt but there many private Chriſtians that knew how to pray and to pray pertinently, and to continue long in Prayer, when the Affections of thoſe who joyn'd were ſo ſtirred as to keep Peace with them upon ſuch an Occaſion. This was in the Night when others were aſleep, which was an Inſtance both of their Prudence and of their Zeal. Note, It is good for Chriſtians to have private Meetings for Prayer, eſpecially in Times of Diſtreſs, and not to let fall or forſake ſuch Aſſemblies. (5.) Peter came to them when they were thus employ'd; which was an immediate preſent Anſwer to their Prayer: 'Twas as if GOD ſhould ſay, You are Praying that Peter may be reſtor'd to you; now here he is. While they are yet ſpeaking, I will hear, Iſa. lxv. 24. Thus the Angel was ſent with an Anſwer of Peace to Daniel's Prayer, While he was Praying, Dan. ix. 20. Aſk, and it ſhall be given.

4. He knock'd at the Gate, and had much ado to get them to let him in, v. 13, 14, 15, 16. Peter knocked at the Door of the Gate, deſigning by it to awaken them out of their Sleep, and for ought appears, not knowing that he diſturb'd them in their Devotions. Yet if his Friends were permitted to ſpeak with him in private in the Priſon, 'tis poſſible he might know of this Appointment, and this was it which he recollected and conſider'd when he determin'd to go to that Houſe, where he knew he ſhould find many of his Friends together. Now when he knock'd there, (1.) A Damſel came to hearken; not to open the Door till ſhe knew who was there, a Friend or a Foe; and what their Buſineſs was, fearing Informers. Whether this Damſel was one of the Family, or one of the Church; whether a Servant, or a Daughter, doth not appear; it ſhould ſeem by her being nam'd, that ſhe was of Note among the Chriſtians, and more zealouſly affected to the better Part than moſt of her Age. (2.) She knew Peter's Voice, having often heard him pray and preach, and diſcourſe, with a great deal of Pleaſure. But inſtead of letting him in immediately out of the Cold, She open'd not the Gate for Gladneſs. Thus ſometimes in a Tranſport of Affection to our Friends, we do that which is unkind. In an Extacy of Joy, ſhe forgets her ſelf, and open'd not the Gate. (3.) She ran in, and probably went up to an upper Room where they were together, and told them that Peter was certainly at the Gate, tho' ſhe had not Courage enough to open the Gate, for fear ſhe ſhould be deceiv'd, and it ſhould be the Enemy. But when ſhe ſpoke of Peter's being there, they ſaid, Thou art Mad; 'tis impoſſible it ſhould be he, for he's in Priſon. Sometimes that which we moſt earneſtly wiſh for, we are moſt backward to believe, becauſe we are afraid of impoſing upon our ſelves, as the Diſciples, who when Chriſt was riſen, believed not for Joy. However, ſhe ſtood to it that it was he. Then ſaid they, It is his Angel, v. 15. (1.) It is a Meſſenger from him, that makes uſe of his Name; ſo ſome take it. ἄγγελος often ſignifies no more but a Meſſenger. 'Tis us'd of John's Meſſengers, Luke vii. 24, 27. of Chriſt's Luke ix. 32. When the Damſel was confident it was Peter, becauſe ſhe knew his Voice, they thought it was becauſe he that ſtood at the Door had call'd himſelf Peter, and therefore offer this Solution of the Difficulty; 'Tis One that comes with an Errand from him, and thou miſtook'ſt, as if it had been he himſelf. Dr. Hammond thinks this the eaſieſt Way of Underſtanding it. (2.) It is his Guardian Angel, or ſome other Angel that hath aſſum'd his Shape and Voice, and ſtands at the Gate in his Reſemblance; ſome think, That they ſuppos'd his Angel to appear as a Preſage of his Death approaching; and this agrees with a Notion which the Vulgar have, That ſometimes before Perſons have dy'd their Ward has been ſeen, i. e. ſome Spirit exactly in their Likeneſs for Countenance and Dreſs, when they themſelves have been at the ſame Time in ſome other Place; they call it their Ward. i. e. their Angel that is their Guard. If ſo, they concluded this an ill Omen, that their Prayers were deny'd, and that the Language of the Apparition was, Let it ſuffice you, Peter muſt dye, ſay no more of that Matter. And if we underſtand it ſo, it only proves, That they had then ſuch an Opinion of a Man's Ward being ſeen a little before his Death, but doth not prove that there is ſuch a Thing. Others think, they took this to be an Angel from Heaven ſent to bring them a grant to their Prayers. But why ſhould they imagine that Angel to aſſume the Voice and Shape of Peter, when we find not any Thing like it in the Apperance of Angels. Perhaps they did herein ſpeak the Language of the Jews, who had a fond Conceit, That every good Man hath a particular Tutelar Angel that has the Charge of him, and ſometimes perſonates him. The Heathen call'd it a Good Genius that attended a Man; but ſince no other Scripture ſpeaks of ſuch a Thing, this alone is too weak to bear the Weight of ſuch a Doctrine. We are ſure that the Angels are Miniſtring Spirits for the Good of the Heirs of Salvation, that they have a Charge concerning them, and pitch their Tents round, about them; and we need not be ſollicitous that every particular Saint ſhould have his Guardian Angel, when we are aſſured he has a Guard of Angels.

5. At length they let him in, v. 16. He continued knocking tho' they delay'd to open to him, and at laſt they admitted him, The Iron-Gate which oppos'd his Enlargement, open'd of it ſelf without ſo much as Knocking at it; but the Door of his Friend's Houſe that was to welcome him, doth not open of its own accord, but muſt be knock'd at, long knock'd at. Leſt Peter ſhould be puffed up by the Honours which the Angel did him, he meets with this Mortification, by a ſeeming Slight which his Friends put upon him. But when they ſaw him, they were aſtoniſhed, were filled with Wonder and Joy in him, as much as they were but juſt now with Sorrow and Fear concerning him. It was both ſurprizing and pleaſing to them in the higheſt Degree.

6. Peter gave 'em an Account of his Deliverance; When he came to the Company that were gathered together with ſo much Zeal to pray for him, they gather'd about him with no leſs Zeal to congratulate his Deliverance, and herein they were ſo noiſy, that when Peter himſelf begg'd them to conſider what Peril he was yet in, if they ſhould be over-heard, he could not make them hear him, but was forc'd to becken to them with the Hand to hold their peace, and had much ado thereby to command Silence while he declared unto them how the Lord Jeſus had by an Angel brought him out of Priſon and it is very likely having found them praying for his Deliverance, he did not part with them till he and they had together ſolemnly given Thanks to GOD for his Enlargement; or if could not ſtay to do it, 'tis likely they ſtaid together to do it; for what is won by Prayer, muſt be worn with Praiſe; and GOD muſt always have the Glory of that which we have the Comfort of When David declares what GOD had done for his Soul, he bleſſeth GOD, who had not turn'd away his Prayer, Pſal. lxvi. 16, 20.

7. Peter ſent the Account to others of his Friends; Go, ſhew theſe Things to James, and to the Brethren with him; who perhaps were met together in another Place at the ſame Time, upon the ſame Errand to the Throne of Grace, which is one Way of keeping up the Communion of Saints, and wreſtling with GOD in Prayer, acting in Concert though at a Diſtance; like Eſther and Mordecai. He would have James and his Company to know of his Deliverance, not only that they might be eas'd of their Pain, and deliver'd from their Fears concerning Peter, but that they might return Thanks to GOD with him, and for him. Obſerve, Though Herod had ſlain one James with the Sword, yet here was another James, and that in Jeruſalem too, that ſtood up in his Room to preſide among the Brethren there; for when GOD has Work to do, He will never want Inſtruments to do it with.

8. Peter had nothing more to do for the preſent, but to ſhift for his own Safety, which he did accordingly. He departed and went into another Place more obſcure, and therefore more ſecure. He knew the Town very well, and knew where to find a Place that would be a Shelter to him. Note, Even the Chriſtian Law of Self-Denial and Suffering for Chriſt, has not abrogated and repeal'd the Natural Law of Self-preſervation, and Care for our own Safety, as far as GOD gives an Opportunity of providing for it by lawful Means.

Fifthly, Having ſeen the Triumph of Peter's Friends in his Deliverance: Let us next obſerve the Confuſion of his Enemies thereupon, which, was ſo much the greater becauſe Peoples Expectation was ſo much rais'd of the putting of him to Death.

1. The Guards were in the utmoſt Conſternation upon it, for they knew how highly penal it was to them to let a Priſoner eſcape that they had Charge of, v. 18. As ſoon as it was Day, and they found their Priſoner gone, there was no ſmall Stir, or Strife, as ſome read it, among the Soldiers what was become of Peter; He is gone, and no Body knows how, or which Way. They thought themſelves as ſure as could be of him but laſt

Night yet now the Bird is flown, and they can hear no Tale or Tydings of him. This ſet them together by the Ears; One ſaith, It was long of you. The Other, Nay, but it was long of you; having no other Way to clear themſelves, but by Accuſing one another. With us, if but a Priſoner for Debt eſcape, the Sheriff muſt anſwer for the Debt. Thus have the Perſecutors of the Goſpel of Chriſt, been often fill'd with Vexation to ſee its Cauſe conquering, notwithſtanding the Oppoſition they have given to it.
